FIND WARNERS MANIPULATED STOCK PRICES

MAGNATES OF FILM INDUSTRY MADE MILLIONS

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, May 21 (AP)—The three Warner brothers, moving picture magnates, were pictured before the senate banking committee today as having made $9,000,000 in 1930 through under cover buying and selling of the stock in their company, Warner Brothers, Inc.

The description was given by William A. Gray, committee counsel, who said that while Warner brothers were selling, certain newspapers published articles boosting the value of the stock, and when they began to buy depressing stories were published.

Harry M. Warner, president of the company, denied that the operations were "unethical," contending he and his brothers sold the stock partly to lend to the corporation which was in need of cash.

Frequently interrupted He denied that he knew when he was selling the stock the earnings of the company were dropping off or that dividends would be passed, as they were later in the year.

Warner presented his own figures, showing their profits were slightly over $7,000,000 but he did not challenge the accuracy of Gray's which were taken from brokerage records.

Gray was frequently interrupted by members of the committee as he told the story. Senator Couzens (R. Mich.) protested that he was going in too much detail and Senator Glass (D. Va.) questioned the relevancy of the case to the stock market investigation which the committee is making.

Toward the end, however, Couzens asked Warner if "it is ethical for the official of a large corporation to trade back and forth of his own company."

"I think it is ethical and helpful," Warner replied, without explaining.

"I just want to get before the committee the ideas and standards of some of these office holders whose operations affect the market," Couzens said.

"The officers certainly know more than outsiders and have inside knowledge of company affairs," As Gray and committee members questioned him about the organization of his company, Warner called Samuel Schneider, his counsel, to his side at the

Ford Lost Money In Germany In 1931

Cologne, Germany, May 21 (AP)—The report of the Ford Motor company of Germany disclosed today that the 1931 business year ended with a deficit of 1,686,000 marks (approximately $404,000), which was balanced, however, by a profit in 1930 and extraordinary reserves.

Business transactions were unsatisfactory at the beginning of the year, the report said, the economic situation having reduced sales. The new Ford factory at Cologne was used to a small extent.

Toledo Sues For Non-Payment Of Indemnity Claim

Toledo, O., May 21 (AP)—The City of Toledo today filed suit in federal court against the Ohio Savings Bank and Trust company, the London and Lancashire indemnity company of Hartford, Conn., and Ira J. Fulton, state superintendent of banks, asking payment of $118,073 with interest, for alleged non-payment of a claim secured by the indemnity company's surety bond.

The petition alleges that the city had on deposit in the Ohio bank $1,700,000 plus interest when the bank closed, August 17, 1931. Surety bonds in the amount of $2,750,000 in various indemnity companies secured this deposit.

HOUSE SET FOR VOTE ON BEER

Supporters of Bill Do Not Expect Passage In This Session

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The house today cleared the way for a vote Monday on a 2.75 beer while a senate sponsor of a similar measure changed his bill so that it, too, called for an alcoholic content of 2.75 percent by weight.

The impending vote on the beer-revenue proposal was the only reason the house met. Parliamentary requirements made the session necessary if the O'Connor bill, which calls for a 2.75 beer, is to be taken up on the legislative day.

Approval Not Expected He also amended his proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment to provide that no state could prohibit the shipment in bond of intoxicants across its borders when they are intransit between points not in the state.

Bingham's beer proposal, like the pending measure in the house, calls for a tax. He does not, however, expect it to be approved by the senate but said he looked for about thirty favorable votes. The senate last week defeated, 61 to 24, a beer amendment introduced by Senator Tydings (D. Md.).

Representative William E. Hull (R. Ill.), one of the sponsors of the house beer bill, today predicted between 170 and 175 favorable votes for it.

The proposition was defeated by a standing vote during consideration of the tax bill but anti-prohibitionists in the house want to get the membership on record before the fall elections.

Rev. Coughlin Is Backed By Bishop

Detroit, May 21 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Detroit, announced today that he had "no intention of interfering" with the radio activities of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin.

Father Coughlin's radio sermons recently came under the criticism of Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston. Bishop Gallagher returned today from Havana where he has been recuperating from a broken shoulder suffered last fall.

He said that Father Coughlin in discussing in his radio sermons the use and abuse of wealth and the rights and powers of labor has "said nothing stronger on these subjects than Pope Leo or Pope Pius XI. To accuse him of fomenting class bitterness is to accuse the popes and to accuse Christ of setting class against class."

TOLD OF CRIME BEFORE BODY WAS LOCATED

BELIEVE HE HOLDS KEY TO SECRETS OF MYSTERY

BY FRANCIS A. JAMESON (Associated Press Staff Writer) Hopewell, N. J., May 21 (AP)—The Lindbergh murder investigation turned tonight into a concerted hunt for a Jersey rum-runner, who, two days before the famous baby's body was found, told how the infant had been killed and where the battered little form had been hidden.

There is a possibility this unnamed character may hold the key to the secrets of what is already one of the world's strangest crime-mysteries.

He has boasted, it was disclosed today, that he knows several of the band who perpetrated the fiendish kidnaping and killing.

DO-X REACHES HORTA, AZORES

Airliner Carries Crew Of 13 on Third Leg Of Her Journey

New York, May 21 (AP)—The DO-X, giant of all heavier-than-air craft, tonight completed the third leg of her homeward flight to Lake Constance, Switzerland. Sixteen hours and 55 minutes after she lifted her bulk from the waters of Holyrood, Nfld., the 12-motored seaplane came to a halt in the harbor at Horta, the Azores, at 7:55 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

The DO-X, built by the Gothaer Werke, was expected to make early efforts to obtain the prisoner's release on bail.

At the same time another of the bills used in paying the $50,000 ransom was reported to have turned up at a New York bank. Direct confirmation of the report was lacking.

Told Of Killing The two-day hunt for the man identified by state police only as a gangster reported in Maryland and thought to be connected with the case, was given real significance by Arthur Mills, identification expert at the Maryland house of correction.

At Baltimore Mills refused to identify the fugitive, but said he is a character long identified with the liquor traffic in New Jersey. Two days before the broken body of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was found by chance in the woods five miles from his parents' estate, the rum-runner discussed the mystery with Mills.

He told the identification expert the child had been killed by blows on the head and hidden within five miles of where the kidnaping occurred.

Knows Those Involved He said, Mills repeated, that three or four persons had been involved in the crime and that he knew several of them.

He prefaced these disclosures with a complaint that police activities in the case were hampering his liquor business.

"If somebody doesn't do something about the case soon, I will," Mills quoted the man as saying. "I didn't pay any attention to"

Four Of Burglary Gang Imprisoned

Detroit, May 21 (AP)—Recorder's Judge John A. Boyne today imposed prison sentences on four more members of what the police call the McAllister burglary gang. The leader of the gang, John McAllister, Sr., 45, was sentenced Tuesday to five years in the Michigan state prison at Jackson for larceny.

Campaign To Cut Off Glover's Pay Started By King

Washington, May 21 (AP)—A campaign to prevent postmasters from engaging in political activities and to cut off the pay of W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, was opened in the senate today by Senator King (D. Utah).

In two amendments he proposed to the pending treasury-post office supply bill, King asked that no funds go to pay the salaries of Glover or of postmasters who mixed in political activities while in office.

In submitting his proposals, King and Glover recently told a Missouri postmasters' convention in effect "to actively engage in supporting the president," telling them if they did not do so, he would be in Washington in a few days and would be glad to receive their resignations.

Senators Watson, of Indiana, and Robinson, of Arkansas, the Republican and Democratic floor leaders, respectively, both issued statements tonight that no adjournment or recess for the conventions would be considered until the tax and appropriation measures are enacted, assuring the government's credit for the new year.

Earlier in the day Senators Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Moses, of New Hampshire, both of whom had been expected to take leading parts in next month's Republican national convention, issued a joint statement announcing they would stay at the capitol to finish the job.

On the house side of the capitol, Representative Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic leader, said he would oppose recessing for the conventions unless the annual supply bills are passed beforehand.

Tonight Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, a leader of the Democrats in the tax fight, in a radio speech promised enactment of the revenue bill and in a form that "will give confidence to the people, renewed hope to business and make for the strength and stability of the government and its credit."

Deploring the extended row over the tariff provisions to which he is opposed, the Mississippian would predict no outcome of this dispute and the "repercussions" which may result from it. He did appeal for public support for the "obnoxious" but "necessary" excise levies still to be acted upon.

Senator Brookhart (R. Iowa) carried the debate in today's brief session, assailing the present tariff system as an aid to industry alone and against agriculture.

Bay City Banking Campaign Succeeds

Bay City, Mich., May 21 (AP)—With approximately only $300,000 of deposits yet to be pledged, the general depositors' committee is scheduled to meet Monday at the main office of the closed First National and Bay County Savings Banks to plan the windup of the campaign to organize the National Bank of Bay City. Announcement was made today by J. Stanley Ee, secretary of the organization committee.

Pledged deposits in the movement totaled nearly $5,700,000 late today, Mr. Ee reported. The goal is approximately $6,000,000.

Creating Surprises Not New for Amelia

BY OSCAR LEIDING (Associated Press Aviation Editor) New York, May 21 (AP)—Creating surprises is nothing new for Amelia Earhart Putnam. She took off from Harbor Grace on the fifth anniversary of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's solo flight to Paris; it may have been a coincidence that she landed at Culmore, northern Ireland, five years to the day after Colonel Lindbergh landed.

Born in 1896 Then, as now, George Palmer Putnam was left behind though the time as the husband of the noted aviatrix where four years ago he had charge of arrangements in America for the backer, Mrs. Frederick Guest.

NO RECESS IN SENATE UNTIL BUDGET JIBES

TARIFF ITEMS ARE TROUBLESOME IN REVENUE BILL

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, May 21 (AP)—Senate leaders today called for continuous sessions of congress through the political conventions to drive through the budget balancing revenue bill before the start of the government's new year on July 1.

The demand came as the third day of debate over the tariff items in the tax measure brought no end in sight and left filibuster signs still flying.

A vote is in prospect Monday on the remaining two import taxes carried by the revenue bill—lumber and copper. The tariff coalition has shown its strength in retaining the oil and coal duties and it claims the other two will be kept.

Oppose Adjournment Senators Watson, of Indiana, and Robinson, of Arkansas, the Republican and Democratic floor leaders, respectively, both issued statements tonight that no adjournment or recess for the conventions would be considered until the tax and appropriation measures are enacted, assuring the government's credit for the new year.

Amelia Tells Husband All About Ocean Trip

Amelia Earhart Putnam yesterday became the first woman to succeed in a solo trans-oceanic flight when she landed her trim monoplane in a farmers field in northern Ireland. Incidentally, she became the first person ever to span the ocean twice by air. Mrs. Putnam is the only person besides Colonel Lindbergh to successfully solo fly over the sea.

Mr. Gallagher offered her tea but she was in too much of a hurry to take it. So he motored her to Londonderry, five miles away, and there she put in a transatlantic call.

"I did it!" she exultingly told her husband, George Palmer Putnam, publisher, who was waiting anxiously in New York for news of her.

Mrs. Putnam made approximately 2,000 miles in 14 hours and 54 minutes, giving her the best time record of any of the transatlantic fliers. She was headed for Paris when she took off from Harbor Grace, but she encountered too much trouble to make it possible to go any farther—almost too much to get to Ireland.

"About four hours after leaving Newfoundland," she said, "I noticed flames from the exhaust, and became very uneasy. But it would have taken four hours to get back and I thought it safer to go ahead."

3 Escape Lightly When Amphibian Tips On Landing

Detroit, May 21 (AP)—Two men suffered bruises and cuts and a third escaped unhurt when an amphibian plane overturned and dropped them into the Detroit river during a test landing this morning.

Lawrence C. Priestman, the pilot, and William Barkoff, mechanic, were taken to Delray general hospital for treatment. John T. Workman, an observer, was not injured. The plane floated downriver after the accident and was picked up by customs border patrol boats and towed to a dock in River Rouge.

Priestman said he was making a trial landing but could give no details of the accident.

FLIGHT ENDED DUE TO LACK OF GAS, TROUBLE

Culmore, Ulster, North Ireland, May 21 (AP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam, the first woman ever to fly the Atlantic alone, landed this afternoon in a field in this green countryside after a hazardous flight in which she conquered fog and storm and the even more dangerous menace of fire.

Four hours after she put out yesterday afternoon from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, she saw flames spitting from her exhaust. But she didn't turn back.

"I thought it safer to go ahead," she said.

Surprises Farmer Tonight she slept in the farmhouse of Robert Gallagher, owner of the field in which she landed. Tomorrow she will go on to Croydton, England, in a borrowed airplane, leaving her own red and gold monoplane to be crated up and shipped back home.

Flying on the fifth anniversary of the successful conclusion of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's New York-Paris hop, she put her name just under his on the roll of transatlantic honors, for Colonel Lindbergh is the only other person in the world who has made a solo transatlantic flight. It was 1:45 p. m. (7:45 a. m. TOLD OF CRIME BEFORE BODY WAS LOCATED

It at the time," Mills said, "but later when I read that the body had been found I communicated my information to Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf of the New Jersey state police.

"Two officers came here yesterday to investigate it." Identity known.

Although the rum runner's name has not been made public, those hunting him know his identity.

Mills said he first became acquainted with him when more than a score of men were arrested at Ocean City, Md., in December, 1925, while attempting to land a cargo of liquor on the beach.

The only information concerning the progress of the search came from Colonel Schwarzkopf in his morning bulletins, which said:

"Investigators who are investigating the whereabouts of the kangster reported in Maryland and thought to be connected with the case have been unable to locate him as yet and are continuing their investigations."

W. C. Pender, attorney from Curtis home town of Norfolk, Va., who had been engaged by relatives and friends of the shipbuilder, went directly to the Lindbergh estate upon his arrival from the south.

Then, accompanied by a state trooper, he went to the county jail in Flemington where his client is being held in lieu of $10,000 bail, on a charge of obstructing justice and furnishing false information, after confessing the whole story of his contacts with the kidnapers was a figment of his imagination.

He spent two hours in the little cell where the shipbuilder had been held since Wednesday. Then he conferred with District Attorney Anthony Hauck.

Later it was learned that attorneys Daniel Vioello and Matthew Alferio, both of Flemington, had been retained in Curtis' behalf. They said they would make no effort to bail Curtis out prior to the arrival of friends or relatives of the shipbuilder.

Condon Active

Dr. John F. Condon, who tossed $50,000 of Colonel Lindbergh's money over a cemetery wall to a man he knew only as "John," had been scheduled to visit the state identification bureau at Trenton and other New Jersey rogues' galleries today in a continuation of his efforts to pick out a likeness of the ransom-receiver.

Instead, he jumped into a car driven by his son and, trailed by two New York detectives in another automobile, went dashing up into Connecticut.

After a whirlwind trip to Danbury, Conn., he announced that his goal was Pawtucket, R. I., but declined to tell the purpose of the trip.

He returned to his home at 9:30 p. m., accompanied by the two detectives. He entered the house hurriedly but about ten minutes later rushed out to say: "I can't talk. I can't talk."

Cooperating Well

He refused to enter into any discussion about his activities during the day and again drove off with the detectives. He stopped a few blocks from his home to buy late evening newspapers, and then with the detectives walked off without further comment.

"Dr. Condon," said Colonel Schwarzkopf, "has at no time refused to come to New Jersey and still shows the most cordial and complete cooperation with investigators from these headquarters."

Two New Jersey troopers held two brief conferences with "Jafie" before he left his home this morning.

State police disclosed that Joseph Perrone, taxi driver who took a note to Dr. Condon from the man who received the ransom, also is attempting to pick out a likeness of the mysterious "John" by inspecting rogues' gallery pictures.

Ad Explained

Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney and the New York Evening Post explained a public notice ("Citizen—Guarantee absolute confidence—Jimmy") appearing in the New York Times yesterday.

The New York police head said he inserted the notice as the result of a letter.

The Post said the letter had been sent to Mayor James J. Walker by a dapper young man who offered a possible clue to the Lindbergh case if guaranteed safety.

Questioned by a detective called in by the Post, the man said his information was based on a confession a young woman made to him regarding her suspicions of her husband.

The youth, fearing gangster reprisals because the husband faces 60 years in prison if he returns to New York state, said he sought protection before telling his story.

storm curtailed my speed. "I saw land at about the middle of Ireland—probably it was Galway—and then I flew north. I soon saw a railway line and followed that to Londonderry, and I finally landed in the field.

"All I had to eat on the trip was some tomato juice. The only clothes I have with me are the flying suit on my back and the only money I have is twenty dollars that was handed to me as I was leaving. I haven't even a check to sign.

"I haven't slept since Friday morning but I don't feel the least bit fatigued. Mrs. Putnam revealed that she almost met disaster when she landed.

Her plane came to rest within a few yards of the farmer's cottage and she, very tired and half blinded by the continuous strain on her eyes, did not see the house until the ship stopped.

"It would have been exasperating to crash into the cottage after safely landing," she said, "but my luck held out."

As her plane started its sudden swoop earthward the racket of its motor startled a plowman and his horses in a field nearby. The horses bolted and the plowman had a hard time getting them back at their business.

Late tonight Mrs. Putnam sent her apologies to the man, but they were not needed.

The arrival of the slim, blonde 33-year-old airwoman was so unexpected that even the Londonderry police had a hard time finding her when they learned she had put her community in the all-time log of aviation feats.

Mr. Gallagher first took her to "The Elms," the home of Mrs. Francis McClure, a prominent Londonderry woman, and from there she sent out the messages that let the world know she was safe.

It was in Londonderry that she got her first taste of public acclaim. A great crowd gathered about her as she was starting back to have one more look at the plane that brought her across.

Mayor McCorkell broke through the ring of well-wishers, shook her hand and exclaimed: "You've done an amazing thing!"

When the round of congratulations was over, Mrs. Putnam hurried back to the Gallagher farm and went happily to bed. She left word to be called early, for she wanted to start her flight to England at dawn.

In addition to setting a speed record, the airwoman put herself in a special niche, for no one else ever flew from America to Europe and then went back and did it over again.

Her other crossing was in June, 1928. That time she was a passenger. Asked which trip she liked better, she said:

"There is no comparison. On this I was flying low the whole time and had to rely on myself. "I am afraid I am a bit deaf after the terrible roar of the engine in my ears all the time, but at any rate I have done it."

Minneapolis, May 21 (AP)—John Fischer, slender 20 year old youth of Cincinnati, today outdid the Big Ten's best golfers to win the Western conference championship in his first season of varsity play for the University of Michigan.

Going back to the lead from which he was ousted on the second eighteen holes, Fischer maintained a steady pace today to finish with a 302 score, five strokes better than the runner-up—Earl Larson of Minnesota.

Fischer's winning aggregate and low counts by his three teammates captured the team championship for the Wolverines with Minnesota second. The Wolverines compiled 1,248 and the Gophers 1,272.

Jolly Places 10th

In completing the last round in the 72 hole medal play, Fischer bore down while Larson and Edgard Bolstad, a Gopher, failed to keep the pace. Larson and Bolstad had led Fischer by a stroke at 36 holes.

James Reston of Illinois, also experiencing a last ditch fight to catch Fischer, took third place, with 309. Fred Damaske of Northwestern was a stroke behind Reston for fourth, while Jack Lenfestey of Michigan, finished fifth with 312.

Bob Kepler, a former caddy pal of Reston at Dayton, Ohio, was the leading Buckeye with 315, tying him with Ed Dayton of Michigan and Clifford Bloom of Minnesota behind Lenfestey.

James Whitaker of Northwestern followed with 317 and Alec Jolly who supplied Michigan's highest score, slipped into the first ten with a 318, and all four Wolverines won medals.

Other teams placed as follows: Northwestern 1,294; Illinois 1,298; Ohio State 1,305; Chicago 1,333; Wisconsin 1,349.

She is blonde and grey-eyed, of slender build, is nearly five feet eight inches tall, and still is called "Lady Lindy," not for ocean-hopping but because of her resemblance to Colonel Lindbergh.

Educated at a Philadelphia boarding school, Columbia, Harvard and the University of California, she has mastered five languages. As a social settlement worker, she continued her interest in this line after she had become famous and many times was found in Greenwich village among a group of children.

On her first flight, the first word of its success came from Capt. George Fied of the steamship America who was plying southeast of Queenstown when the "Friendship" roared over the water and circled to drop notes requesting a bearing. Mrs. Putnam said she lay on her "tummy" to get a picture of the ship before they proceeded to a landing at Barry Estuary, Wales. It was the same Captain Fied who, aboard the President Roosevelt, rescued Lou Reichers on May 13 off the southern tip of Ireland when the speed flier was on a leg of a projected roundtrip New York-Paris flight.

Youth Buried Under Debris Is Rescued

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 21 (AP)—Buried completely by the cave in of an eight foot embankment of Plaster Creek, 12-year-old Kenneth Toren of this city was dug free by two little playmates late today and is recovering in a hospital. The full extent of his injuries has not been determined, but he was believed to have been hurt internally.

Kenneth's two playmates, who disappeared without leaving their names, used their hands and sticks to uncover him and drag him free. He was unconscious, but was revived. He is suffering from shock.

Gray said that out of their 303,000 shares they sold about 180,000 in January and February.

Schools Close

Rock, Mich., May 21—Maple Ridge township schools closed Friday afternoon for the annual summer vacation.

At the Central school, the senior and junior high school students were given examinations on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The high school picnic was held at Pioneer Trail park, near Escanaba, on Thursday, while the children of the lower grades spent Wednesday at Gwin.

Final reports and marks were given out at a general assembly in the high school auditorium at one o'clock Friday afternoon. All text books were collected at that time.

In the rural schools of the township, the picnics were held on Friday.

Lindgren-Granholm

Word was received here recently of the marriage of Miss Elma Lindgren of Chicago, daughter of Mr. Mahilda Lindgren, of Rock, to Marjorie Granholm, also of Chicago. They were married in Chicago on March 24.

Miss Lindgren is well known here, having spent most of her life in Rock. She was graduated from Rock high school with the class of 1927, after which she was employed in Chicago until the time of her marriage.

Mr. Granholm is employed in the office of the Poole Bros. Printing company in Chicago.

Three Records Set As Ann Arbor Wins 5-A Track Contest

Ypsilanti, Mich., May 21 (AP)—Three new records were established in the 5A league track meet here today, in which Ann Arbor captured first places in six out of twelve events to win a total of 45 1-3 points. Lansing Eastern was second with 23 points, followed by Lansing Central, third with 21 points, Jackson high, with 22, and Battle Creek 8.

Tanto of Ann Arbor was high point man of the meet with 45 1-3 points. Kaiser of Lansing bettered the mile run record of 4:43.2 with 4:34.6, and in the high jump, Hutchison of Jackson raised the record distance from 5:5 5-8 to 5:7 1/2. Darling of Ann Arbor bettered his own record of 45:3 1/2 in the shot put with 47:10 1/2. Morris of Ann Arbor equalled his own record, when he ran the 440 in 52.4.

Penn Oarsmen Lead Badgers In Regatta

Marietta, O., May 21 (AP)—Red and blue tipped blades of the University of Pennsylvania eight-oared shell, flashed triumphantly today in the mid-America rowing regatta, finishing ahead of the University of Wisconsin by two lengths and three and a quarter lengths ahead of Marietta college.

Its junior varsity crew outdistanced Wisconsin by four lengths and Marietta by four and a half. Penn's time for the mile and a half was 7:29.2 minutes.

Detroit City College 8 1/2; Kalamazoo College 3 1/2.

Back to third place today, Lerch of Western Teachers, javelin champion of last year, gave way to Lindbergh of Albion.

Eugene Beatty, Michigan Normal's negro hurdler ace, was the individual star of the meet, winning both hurdles, scoring a two way tie first in the broad jump, and running on the winning relay team. He made 12 1/2 points for his team.

NORMAL STARS DEFEAT STATE

Hurons Walk Away With Track Meet at East Lansing

East Lansing, Mich., May 21 (AP)—Michigan Normal's supercharged track machine turned into a steam roller as the Hurons ground out all opposition in the seventeenth annual state interscholastic meet today to win the title for the second successive year.

It was one of the most impressive team victories in the history of the spring classic. Normal's advantage was 70-2-5 points, with Michigan State trailing in second place with 39-1-5. Western State was a poor third with 17-1-5 points.

Others teams finished in the following order: University of Detroit 16; Detroit City college 9; Alma 6; Albion 5; Grand Rapids junior college 1. Michigan Tech, making its first entry in the meet, failed to place. It was Michigan Normal's sixth championship in the history of the meet.

Three new varsity marks and one new freshman relay record were established. Edwin "Ted" Bath, 19-year-old Niles youth, stepped over the 120 high hurdles in the preliminaries Friday in 15 seconds flat to clip 3-10 seconds off the old mark made by Edwin Spence of Detroit City college in 1927.

James McKinley, Michigan Normal pole vaulter, leaped 13 feet 1 3/4 inches to beat the old height of 13 feet set last year and held jointly by himself and Olsen, Michigan State.

Michigan Normal's great one-mile relay team comprised of Beatty, Fenner, Hershey, and Arnold ran the distance in the new time of 3:20.4. The old record was 3:23.2, made by Detroit City in 1929.

AMERICANS WIN FIRST MATCH

Women Golfers Defeat Crack British Team, 5 1/2 to 3 1/2

BY FRANK H. KING (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Wentworth, Surrey, England, May 21 (AP)—Although her stars met defeat, America's strongly balanced team of women golfers today fought its way through a maelstrom of English weather to defeat England's best, 5 1/2 to 3 1/2, in their first official team match.

The morning matches were played in a bright sunshine, but a light rain-fell through the afternoon and caused a falling off in the brilliant scoring that marked the play in the foursomes.

England's only consolation lay in the drubbing administered Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare by her old nemesis, the great Joyce Wethered. The American star, who at one time or another has beaten practically every noteworthy rival except Helen Hicks, America's national champion, also encountered defeat at the hands of Enid Wilson, English titleholder, 2 and 1, but not without a bitter struggle. Miss Wilson's victory came on the seventeenth green, where the American champion took three putts to get down.

In the long run, the victory was decided by the fact that the supposed weak end of the American team held up better than that of the British side. Virginia Wile's win over Wanda Morgan, 2 and 1, and Mrs. Leon Cheney's 4 and 3 triumph over Elsie Corlett clinched the series. Mrs. Opal Hill gained a half against Molly Gourlay after a hot 18-hole fight.

ILLINOI NOSE OUT WOLVERINES, 3 TO 2

Champaign, Ill., May 21 (AP)—Illinois won a Big Ten baseball game from Michigan here today, 3 to 2. Four pitchers took part in the hurling battle that resulted in Michigan's second loss in as many days.

Steuernagel's double for Illinois in the seventh was the only extra base hit of the game. He was put out on a fielder's choice, but hits by Schustek and Pike drove in Shervinke with the winning run. Michigan started a ninth inning rally, but the effort was cut short after Thompkins, who had walked, scored on hits by Superko and Daniels.

Score by innings: Michigan—0 10 0 0 1—2 6 1; Illinois—1 0 0 0 1 0 3—3 9 3.

Boston used six pitchers in the first game, starting with four in the first inning. Five of them issued 15 bases on balls and gave up 17 hits, including home runs by Fox and Williams, both of whom also hit for the circuit in the second game. Fox's homers brought his total for the season to 13.

Sugar Cain held Boston to six hits and outpitched Danny Fayden in the second game. One of the hits was a homer by Earl Webb, who also had one in the first game. Jolley hit two for the circuit in the opener.

U. P. Briefs

Iron River—Two letters threatening the life of E. C. Bradley, member of the board of education, because he was one of the three trustees who voted not to retain Carl A. Pfeiffer as superintendent of schools, were revealed to a representative of The News last night.

The author of the letters, which were sent a week apart, was traced by Robert H. Barnum, chief of police, who compared the handwriting with another communication the police department received some time ago. The author's name has been temporarily withheld by the police and Bradley.

The writer, who signed the letters with the name of Harry Fletscher, member of the Purple gang in Detroit, apologized to Bradley before Chief Barnum and two state troopers. He said he was often subject to "dizzy spells" and that he "really didn't mean" the threatening statements. He was released after he promised that no harm would come to Bradley, and said that he planned to leave the city soon.

WOMAN FLIES ALONE

ON THE fifth anniversary of Lindbergh's epochal flight from New York to Paris, Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam hopped off from Harbor Grace for Paris, but motor trouble forced her to land short of her destination at Londonderry, Ireland.

Fortunately, the plucky aviatrix was unhurt, and now the whole world acclaims her as the first woman to make a solo flight across the Atlantic ocean. Also, she and Lindbergh are the only flyers to travel safely alone over the broad expanses of the Atlantic, but the latter's performance may be considered superior because he successfully negotiated a longer scheduled hop and he was a pioneer in this field of activity.

As far as aeronautical science is concerned, however, there is not much further benefit to be derived from Amelia's spectacular flight, excepting to prove that the crossing of oceans by air is becoming easier and more common as improvement is made in the building of planes and the art of flying.

Aviation is making strides in combating the forces of the elements by employing science to surmount those obstacles which nature has thrown in the path of air travel. And despite many tragedies of the air which might have discouraged even the most skilled flyers and which easily could have been ruinous to air traffic, aviation's enthusiasts refuse to be daunted.

Confidence in the skill of a pilot and his ability to meet all situations in an essential requirement of all air travelers. Two instances recently in the news are illustrative of this brand of confidence. One occurred when a Paris-London plane was struck by a bolt of lightning in mid-air and badly damaged; 13 passengers narrowly escaped with their lives. The plane journeyed back to its home port, the passengers were shifted to another airplane and the voyage resumed. The resolute progress with which the giant Akron proceeded, fearlessly through the treacherous storms of the Western mountains of the Pacific trip reveals the hardihood of the men who flew her.

The men who go up in the air in ships are creating for themselves the same traditions that are a part of the men who go down to the sea in ships.

HOUSE VOTES FOR C. M. T. C.

MORE than 90,000 red-blooded American boys will observe with pleasure the action taken by the House on Friday in voting an amendment to the army appropriations bill to provide for the Citizens Military Training Camps this summer.

In the upper peninsula alone, almost eight hundred youths have applied to attend the camp at Fort Brady this summer. Delta county, which was assigned a quota of 40, has 103 youths who have sent in their applications.

Interest in Citizens' Military Training Camps is not induced by any jingoistic or militaristic fervor, but merely the desire of the boys to enjoy a group outing, where they may participate in various athletic activities that are both fun and health giving. Down in his heart every boy, too, wants to be a good citizen, and he is seriously interested in the principles of the course in citizenship that is offered at these camps.

A month at C. M. T. C. provides a splendid opportunity for many boys to spend the summer. Employment is not to be had for most of them, and to spend the same period at one of the many outdoor private camps would cost their parents a considerable sum of money.

The effort being made to reduce governmental expenditures is laudable, but the general public agrees that it is unwise economy to make the slashes at the expense of the country's youth, more than at any time in our history of steady citizenship.

A GOOD SHOWING

TO HAVE placed a winner three times in the state oratorical contest within the last ten years is a remarkable achievement for the Escanaba high school, and speaks well for the excellent training that Escanaba's boys and girls are receiving in the public speaking department of that institution.

Wendell Lund, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Lund, who is now a member of the English faculty of Augustana college, won first prize in the state oratorical event ten years ago. Later, Lawrence Hartwig, now a law student at the University of Michigan, placed second, and the third triumph for Escanaba high school is Edward Fuqua's capturing of similar honors in the contest held at Lansing Friday night.

In his oration, entitled "In Terms of Humanity," Fuqua makes a plea for racial equality. Since he is a member of the colored race, it is evident from the fact that he went through the local, district, regional and into the state contest that his plea was not intended for the white people of the upper peninsula. Recognition of his ability by the contest judges showed that there was no discrimination made against him because of color.

There is no more tolerant group of folks than our own Escanaba citizens. For three quarters of a century, Catholics, Protestants, Jews and people of different races have lived here in peace and harmony. The waves of intolerance that have swept across the country have found a stiff resistance here. While the Ku Klux Klan organizers were muttering the glibble at ten dollars a throw in other parts of the country, our good Escanaba people refused to become interested in their insidious sales talk.

It is because of the broad-minded and intelligent people who make their homes here that Escanaba is such a good place in which to live.

WHO WILL WIN?

(Lansing State Journal) WILL Roosevelt be nominated at Chicago?—or will the Smith forces be able to prevent his nomination? These are the questions of leading political interest. These questions are practically one: Will the democrats nominate Roosevelt? is the major political question before the nation.

The day of the convention draws near. Whatever else may be just around the corner, June certainly is. Developments bearing on democratic politics have speeded up in recent days. The definite withdrawal of Owen D. Young as a dark horse possibility, has unmistakably had a bearing. The decision of Kansas democrats to send a Roosevelt delegation, taken Monday, is also important. On the other side, the Connecticut delegation and the New Jersey delegation have gone for Smith, but that move was already discounted.

In Kansas, while the 20 votes from that state are now instructed for Roosevelt, the accomplishment of the Roosevelt forces has not been without heavy cost. The Kansas convention broke up in a row. The session is described by impartial news sources as the stormiest held since the days of populism. This break may have its bearing on the election, but it will not affect the convention result, it seems likely. Beside getting the decision in Kansas, Roosevelt has just gained six more delegates from New Mexico. As the matter now stands, competent observers predict that Roosevelt will go into the convention with close to a majority. A majority of the convention will be 578 votes. The two-thirds vote, necessary to a choice, will be 770 votes. But while Roosevelt still lacks something like 200 votes of a decision, the forces in opposition also lack something like 200 votes of the third necessary to deny Roosevelt the nomination.

There seems little disposition to regard Smith as a real contender for the nomination, but the opposition to Roosevelt is centering around him. The forces designated as the Smith forces seem set on beating Roosevelt with TOMORROW'S LOAD Why bear tomorrow's load today? Add to the burden that you bear The burden of tomorrow's care, The worry on tomorrow's way? We weary gazing at the hill, Who might be resting on the plain, And yet but little ground we gain, Who borrow of tomorrow's ill.

Perhaps the hill that frets us now May fret us little when it's near, For always higher hills appear Afar than on their slopes, somehow, So let tomorrow's worry wait, Not run to meet it, look to see, For light the load may prove to be Imagination makes so great.

Quotations

I don't believe this terrible tragedy (Lindbergh baby kidnapping) would have happened had it not been for the fact that a dangerous criminal class has been born, bred and nourished on the fruits of prohibition. —David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy.

The youth of the country does not constitute a large proportion of our modern criminal class. Crime is no longer an escape, it is no longer a profession; it is an industry. —Dr. Carleton Simon, former special Deputy Police Commissioner of New York.

"I want to do what's right," Susan insisted.

RAY'S doll-face with its fringed, mascaraed lashes and its fluff of yellow curling hair looked unbelievably childlike. The words which issued from those palpitating lips, however, were unmistakably adult.

"Don't do as I did," Ray reminded her bitterly. "Don't let your one chance of happiness go and be sorry for it." She went on thinking of Sky Webb, of course, and the rich girl he'd married.

"You know how I used to rave," Ray continued. "All about an apartment on the drive and a milk coat and what-not. That," Ray told her, "was all the bunk I was kidding myself. We'd always been poor. Mamma and I, and I said to myself I was tired of it. When Sky asked me to run off with him I gave him a lot of smart talk about what I had to have to live in."

Susan had been listening seriously. When Ray finished and lapsed into a fit of musing Susan said, "Of course our problems aren't at all the same. I wouldn't mind being poor and Bob knows it. What I want to be sure of is what will make him happy?"

Ray snorted. "I'm telling you don't be like that! Take your chance and see what comes. You don't want to be an old maid all your life, do you?"

The two girls, so absurdly young, both sobered at the thought.

"Of course you don't," Ray went on. "Then grab this boy—I don't know who he is but he must be o. k. if you like him—before something happens. We're all such fools," said Ray wistfully. "Life is so short we have to take chances. That's the only way to find out what it's all about."

She gathered up her gloves, Ray sighed. "When this is a warm day for March!" She was trying to divert the conversation into livelier channels. "Doesn't it make you want to get out of this man's town to some place where you can see the sky?"

Suddenly through Susan's mind flashed the thought of the ranch Bob had described to her—herself in a printed apron, her hair blowing in the wind. It was a pleasant picture. She wondered how she had allowed a middle-aged man with a dull concept of life to let her think she could abandon it.

"You're sweet, Ray," Susan said humbly. "Don't try to kid me." The other girl blinked and there was a tear on the end of her foolishly heaved lash. "Come along and don't forget to ask me to the wedding."

"I won't," Susan promised. She hurried along the street with dancing steps.

The Man Hunters

(By NEA Service)

By MABEL McELLIOTT

CHAPTER XLVI "THAT'S exactly what I mean," said Mr. Dunbar. The faintest shade of regret tinged his voice. Susan sat silent, her hands locked in her lap. Her mind was in confusion. Yesterday everything had been clear sailing. It had been Bob's report of his father's anger had had a far-away, unreal aspect. Older people were always troubling themselves about things that really didn't matter. Susan had thought. Stocks and bonds, houses and money. What did they count when weighed against her love for Bob?

Bob had agreed with her. They would be married very quietly. He had an offer of a job on a ranch in Montana. Some man he had known at college was experimenting with wheat and there was a little tenant house they could have. Susan had thought of herself simply and joyously as a farmer's wife. It had all seemed quite idyllic. Now this purse-proud old man with his talk of inheritances had come to spoil everything.

She felt a little sick as she listened to him. His voice rumbled on, smoothly and persuasively. "I know you wouldn't want to stand in his way—we all go through these puppy love affairs—"

She felt in a daze. Was it true that her love for Bob would bring him only unhappiness and ill fortune? Would he tire of poverty and of her with it? The poison of the older man's cunning barbs infected her heart. Perhaps she and Bob had been wrong to think that life could be so simple and straight-forward as they, in their rosy dream, had envisioned it. Through her misery dawned the realization that her caller had repeated a question. She looked up, her eyes clouded with painful resentment.

"I beg your pardon, I'm afraid I wasn't listening."

He said, "I will make it worth your while if you let him go."

"Oh!" All the pain and wounded pride of the girl surged to the surface. She stood up proudly and menacingly. She said in a voice that trembled, "I think you'd better go before I say something I'll regret. After all, you are Bob's father."

He was now so reluctant admiration but he could not leave without attempting to justify himself. His carefully moulded sentences flowed on. Susan stared at a point some inches over the man's head, expressionless. "Don't be afraid," she said bitterly. "I shan't do any harm to your son."

The man, a power in the downtown world of affairs, departed feeling somehow humiliated and routed.

SUSAN fought a battle with herself that morning. Bob was to come at eight and through alternate chills and fevers she tried to make up her mind what to say to him when he arrived. She had explained to Aunt Jessie who had remained singularly unmoved by the news of the girl's change of plan that the caller had been Bob's father. Aunt Jessie had tacitly refrained from asking questions. She had seemed gentler since her illness. Aunt Jessie was looking forward to making a long visit to her sister who lived in southern Illinois.

"I'm going for a walk," Susan told her abruptly a few minutes later. Scarcely conscious of the direction she was taking, she boarded a street car headed for the business district. She must do something. She must keep active. She stopped at a drug store, telephone booth and called Ray Flannery.

"Well, stranger, where have you been keeping yourself?" Ray someone designated, in convention parlance, as a "dark horse." Newton D. Baker is more prominently in mind in that capacity since Owen D. Young is definitely out.

demanding. "I've missed you like the dickens." "Can you have lunch with me?" Susan asked. Ray agreed with enthusiasm. Half an hour later over the square, white-topped table in a sweet shop Ray stared at Susan with frank interest.

"Come into money or something?" she wanted to know. Susan tried to explain. Her aunt had been ill, she said vaguely, and she had been needed at home. Ray seemed satisfied with this answer.

"Say, the new girl in Heath's office sure is a lemon," Ray continued. "She looks like something the cat dragged in."

Susan smiled. She had heard about Miss Smith from Jack Waring but Ray's description seemed unduly harsh.

"The old man's gone away, I hear," Ray rambled on. "What do you know about that?"

Susan flushed. "He was talking about making a trip before I left," she said evasively.

"I don't know. I always kind of thought he was buzzing around you," said Ray.

SUSAN changed the subject but not for long because inevitably with Ray the talk turned to men and romances. Ray was never interested in abstractions. After a little sparring Susan burst out with the question closest to her heart.

"What do you think—I mean what would you do if you were going to marry a person and someone told you you'd be spoiling his life by doing it?" she floundered.

Ray's shrewd eyes searched her face. "What are you talking about? I don't get you."

Susan began to outline little squares and triangles on the table's gleaming surface with her spoon.

"It's this way," she said. "I'm engaged—it's a secret and you mustn't tell anyone—to a boy whose family is rightfully rich. His father is going to cut him off without a cent if he insists on marrying me."

Ray gasped. "It's just like in the movies!" she exclaimed.

Susan rushed on, eager to unburden herself. "Well, that was all right. We talked it over and he didn't care and I certainly don't. But today his father came to see me and said I'd be ruining his son's whole life if I married him. Her voice broke. "I don't now. It's sort of—got me. I don't know what to do."

"You're willing to take him without the money?" asked Ray. "Willing?" Susan was frankly aghast. "I was glad when he told me it was going to be that way. I thought it gave us a better chance to make a go of it. But now I'm not certain. He's always been rich and maybe he'd be lost without all the things he's been used to. Maybe he'd blame me for being the cause of his breaking away from his family and friends. I couldn't stand that," she finished wearily.

Ray planted her two small fists on the table. "You listen to me!" she said. "Don't be a fool!"

Who's Cooking in Amelia's Home While She's Flying on the Foam

Well I see where our Amelia landed in Ireland and there are many in Escanaba which will hand her a good pick to land but I do not wish to start an argument on the subject on account of having had past experience with a Irish relations but it is too bad Amelia had to land in such a hurry as she did not even have time to fix her hair or powder her nose it was so unexpected and I suppose her husband is glad to hear she did not get to Paris as there is no telling how much money she would spend there and him home doing his own cooking and I hope she is satisfied now and will hurry back home and tend to her household where she belongs but of course she had some spending money of her own by now and wanted a little vacation but to my idea that is a Heck of a way to take a vacation and you never get me to take a vacation in an airplane where you can not call on any body or stop off to take a drink and you got to figure that 15 or 20 Hrs. is a long time between drinks and I suppose for lunch Amelia took along some of this here mixed up salad with Shrimps and tummy fish and other stuff in it mix it up with salad dressing like the women folks like and women have got a funny idea of what makes up a lunch and you see it at bridge parties where a man would prefer just a ham sandwich and coffee but no the women have to have some kind of a fancy conglomeration with red stuff on top but coming back to Amelia I do not see why she did not take the old man along then they could have had the Honor of being the first married couple to fly alone across the Ocean but I suppose they was afraid they would be fighting all the way and probably he can not drive a airplane very good and she does not like back seat drivers any more than the rest of us automobilists.

A friend of mine says that these hard times is bad all right but he thinks a little Repealing would help us to Grin and Bear it ha ha

Peninsula Paragraphs

By Marjorie Hantoon Morrill

FISHING

These days men—and women, too—are fishing in the thousands of streams all over Our Peninsula. They are attracted by the sporting proposition presented by the speckled and brown trout. It is not a matter of food altogether. It is a matter of art and of gambling, a combination which has always been attractive to the strange animals we are...

Trout likes cold and clean water. They can live in no other kind. They will prosper in small lakes providing these bodies are spring-fed. But here, so fishermen tell us, they lose their graceful stream-lines and become chubby and fat, presenting rather a comical appearance with their little true-trout tails.

The trout in Holland Lake are like that, so they tell us. And some fine catches have been made by several gentry in that lake, so they should know.

Fishing calls to men when they are about four years old and continues to hold their love until age creeps upon them and the push of the fast water becomes too much for their old legs. Then they give it up for it is no longer a pleasure.

A boy and a pole, a cheap line, a penny hook and a tomato can full of worms may bring home a fine string of trout. A gentleman in yellow boots and a hundred dollar outfit can do as well, sometimes. But all along the line the people of the male persuasion and a trout stream belong, somehow.

Personally, we have trouble fishing. We forget to fish. One fine day, just the right kind with the right wind and fish supposed to be hungry we went fishing in the upper waters of the Tahquamenon. Properly equipped with boots and creel, some extra flies decorating the hat, and a full set of directions from one who had caught trout for more than half a century, we stepped into the golden water.

About each leg the stream sang a little tune, filled with chuckling and low gurblings as though this were a joke on someone. The trees made a decoration of shadow both against the sky and on the bottom of the river. Long delicate plants reached their fronds down stream with a yearning motion. A school of minnows came slowly from under the bank, their little shadows following them faithfully.

It was the time of the flowering of the wild carrot. Dragon flies, floating above the spread beauties of this great plant, and darting in swift decorative lines over the rushes, added the proper animation to the picture. Somewhere above, on a high twig, a song sparrow was singing the first seven notes of the "Holy City."

Something was moving along the bank, in and through the dusk of the shadows. No color. No shape. Just slow movement, felt rather than seen. It was like looking for the "hidden animal" in the newspaper puzzles. Then we could make out the line of a leg, the shape of a flank, the plume of a tail. Fox?

Where was the head? Dapples of light and shadow blended the green and gold in a dazzle. Then an ear moved and we saw it, plainly! A fox with a partridge in her mouth, one foot lifted in arrested motion, eyes bright and watching...

She placed the bird on the ground and set her foot on it and we looked at each other a long time. We do not remember catching any fish...

Do You Remember?

When Patrick Fogarty had a flour and feed store in a wooden building where the Daily Press is now situated?

When the J. Stephenson company had a sawmill at the foot of Ludington street, near the lighthouse?

When girls wore rats in their hair and bustles in their skirts?

Big Attendance
At Mother and Daughter Party

About 150 persons attended the annual Mothers and Daughters banquet, which was held at the First Presbyterian church parlor Friday evening.

An interesting program was presented, consisting of talks and musical numbers. A men's committee, headed by Andrew Bredahl, prepared the dinner, while another group, of which R. E. Cheney was chairman, was in charge of the serving.

Mrs. Leighton talks speaking in behalf of the mother. Mrs. Fred Leighton gave a highly inspiring talk. She said in part:

"To you girls who are leaving school this year, to those who have already left school, I say, do not close your books, but train your mind, cultivate your soul, and learn to sort out the dross from the pure gold of life.

"Often one has heard it said, 'Enjoy yourself while you are young,' giving the impression that youth is the only age of pleasure. This is not true, for we grow happier as we grow older. The older you grow the more freedom you have.

Of course, to you young people of the so-called jazz age, life of the older generations looks rather drab and uninteresting, but with proper preparation in youth it becomes more comfortable and pleasant. Youth must lay the proper foundation for that delightful old age.

"Youth must early learn to discriminate between what is cheap and tawdry and real elegance. Learn to enjoy only good books, good picture shows, and the good in art, music and drama. There is much that is necessarily sordid in life. Learn to pick the fine gold nuggets from the dross."

Directing her remarks to the mothers, Mrs. Leighton said: "It is our duty as mothers to train our daughters in that spiritual insight and moral discernment as well as in sound logic and clear analysis."

The response to the toast by Mrs. Leighton was given by Miss Lucia Edwards who said in part: "Most of all the beautiful things in life come by twos, and threes, by dozens and hundreds. Plenty of roses, sunsets, stars, aunts and cousins, brothers and sisters, but only one mother in the whole wide world."

She continued by telling of the beauty of mother-life and the advantages available to children who will in every possible way make real "pals" and friends of their mothers. In closing she quoted the answer to the question: "Why have we mothers?" "Because God couldn't be everywhere, so He made mothers."

Mrs. James Ladd acted as toast-mistress. The other numbers on the program were: Assembly singing, with Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom as accompanist; invocation by Mrs. W. J. Miller; violin solo by Jean Cheney, with Mrs. R. E. Cheney as accompanist; vocal solo, "Mother o' Mine," by Mrs. A. N. Wilson. Mrs. L. K. Edwards was chairman of the banquet committee, assisted by Mrs. Sarah French, Mrs. R. E. Cheney, Mrs. H. I. Davies and Mrs. John Fredenberg.

Women Summarize
Repeal Sentiment

At the annual meeting in Detroit on May 17th of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, it was reported by Mrs. Sidney D. Waldon, Secretary of the Michigan Branch, that membership in the organization has practically doubled in the past year—reaching a total of nearly 63,000.

Mrs. Daniel L. Quirk of Ypsilanti stressed the fact that work for prohibition repeal has become "respectable" now in the smaller towns. She also believes that there is a distinct change of sentiment in favor of repeal throughout all sections of the State.

From Marquette, Mrs. Myron J. Sherwood reports that the timidity in coming out for repeal is fast disappearing and that sentiment is changing rapidly in favor of repeal.

All state chairmen were enthusiastic in their reports of progress in the past year.

Library Books
Help Graduate
Choose Career

Of interest to young people about to graduate from high school, as well as to their parents, are books on vocational guidance. Such books may help young people to decide for what kinds of work they are best suited, and may disclose to them some of the advantages and disadvantages to be met with in various trades and professions. The following books on vocational guidance may be borrowed at the Carnegie Public Library:

The Young Man in Business, by Howard Lee Davis. For all men and women in business, but especially for those of younger years and limited experience, and for those who take an interest in assisting young people to lay foundations for successful business careers.

Careers for Women, by Catherine Filenka. Describes briefly various kinds of work, the training required, and the advantages and disadvantages likely to be met with.

I Find My Vocation, by Harry Dexter Kitson. A textbook for high school use. Biographical material is emphasized. Contains a summary of principles to be followed in choosing a vocation.

Fields of Work for Women, by Miriam Simons Lueck. The preface states that the book is "intended for girls and women who have completed at least a year or two of high school work, although it opens many roads in which lack of such formal training can be made good through extra study."

Also intended for the older employed girl who wishes a change of work. Contains excellent bibliography.

Success Through Vocational Guidance, occupational analysis by James McKinney and A. M. Simons. Interesting analysis of occupations open to young men, describing character of work, qualifications necessary, etc.

The Young Doctor Thinks Out Loud, by Julian P. Price. Has vocational value for the young man or woman who thinks of studying medicine.

My Life Work, by Robert L. Cooley and others. This set of books contains four volumes dealing with a number of vocations, as follows: Building and Metal Trades. Office and Store Occupations. Representative Industries. Printing and Servicing Trades.

A Book
A Day
By Bruce Catton

If you missed any of the developments in the Lindbergh kidnaping mystery you'll find them all compressed into the 275 exceedingly readable pages of the "True Story of the Lindbergh Kidnaping," by John Brant and Edith Renaud.

"The interests of the world and of the Lindberghs were exactly opposed from the instant that the colonel called in police," say the writers.

The conclusion is not new, nor are many of the facts and theories that are related of the Sourland abduction.

The book recounts the tangled versions of what transpired on that blustery March night when word of the abduction was flashed to the world.

With more modesty than their publisher, the authors, in depicting events immediately before and after the kidnaping, confess that in "presenting their deduction" they "wish it clearly understood that they do not believe any conclusive, unquestionable, complete and final record of the facts is or can be in existence."

The writers stress the fact that Lindy neither opened nor read the ransom note left pinned to the nursery window until two hours after the baby was gone, because he wished to disturb nothing that might afford a telltale clew to authorities.

Had he read it promptly and heeded the warning not to inform authorities, negotiations for payment of ransom and the baby's return might have been accomplished speedily, the writers suggest.

Parochial Seniors
Offer Class Play
Wednesday Evening

"The Clay's the Thing," a three-act farce comedy, will be the St. Joseph's high school senior class play presented in the school auditorium on Wednesday evening, May 25, at 8 o'clock.

These characters introduce a brilliant array of talent. Jack and Luke, two happy-go-lucky college youth, conceive the brilliant idea of dressing up their chum, Jerry, as a woman and entering him into a national beauty contest, not only to win the prize money but to launch the sale of a beauty clay which Jack has concocted. So Jerry, who is clever at female impersonation, enters upon a wild and perilous career as a professional beauty and, posing as Luke's sister, soon has the trio in hot water up to their ears. Descending upon the summer home of Jack's uncle, a manufacturer of cosmetics, to whom Jack hopes to sell his beauty clay, the boys stumble into an impromptu house party that turns out to be a wisp's nest. They meet a theatrical magnate who promptly falls in love with the masquerading Jerry, whereas that harassed youth has lost his heart to Jack's sister, who is impersonating a maid. The ridiculous tangle is eventually straightened out, but not until the audience have laughed themselves sick over the absurd situation and wise-cracking speeches. Other good roles are a poetic and hebesheeked capitalist, his snobbish wife, a forlorn maid, and a hisping ingenue.

The cast includes: Jack Norman, a college student—Edmund Hengesh.

Luke Calloway, his friend—Lawrence Girard.

Jerry Taylor, Jack's roommate—Willard Clark.

Dudley Briggs, Jack's uncle—Gordon Sullivan.

Millie, the Briggs' maid—Lorraine Ammel.

Mary Norman, Jack's sister—Grace Bennett.

Jessie Stewart, her friend—Dorothy Pointer.

Sarah Briggs, Dudley's wife—Marguerite Welch.

Clayton Farmer (Clay), a poetic capitalist—Grant Larson.

Julia Farmer, his wife—Marion Frederickson.

Thomas Deems, a theatrical magnate—Edward Lagault.

Tickets are on sale at Groos' and the Hill drug stores and at Bloomstrom & Peterson's jewelry store.

Mrs. Peter Hanson, Mrs. Nellie Smith and Ellen Malcolmson moved to Green Bay Thursday and visited Mrs. Stacy Carlson of Cornell, who is a patient at St. Vincent's hospital.

CAPTAIN GUYNEMER had many unique records to his credit. He once caught a bullet while engaged in combat with an enemy plane. The bullet had passed through several parts of his own ship and its force was spent when it came to rest between Gynemer's finger and thumb. Seven times he was shot down from the air, each time escaping unscathed. But on the morning of Sept. 11, 1917, he sailed away to battle, and never returned ... and to this day no reliable clue to his disappearance has been discovered.

THE SORA, or Carolina Rail, disappears so mysteriously when cold weather comes, that old-time naturalists believed they turned into frogs, and spent the winter months in the water. Swallows were thought to bury themselves in mud and become torpid through the cold weather. As an experiment, John Hunter, the English anatomist, shut several swallows in a room and placed them at their disposal. Of course the birds died of starvation late in the nineteenth century, hibernation of birds was proved in many persons.

Kitchens of Today Built for Efficiency

HOUSEWIFE DOESN'T TAKE AS MANY STEPS AS HER GRANDMOTHER DID

Compactness and efficiency in the kitchen where the family meals are prepared, and the dishes washed is what the modern housewife demands. The modern kitchen is gay with colored tile walls and it is one of the most inviting rooms in the entire house. It isn't hot and stuffy like the kitchen grandmother had. Heat and fumes from brightly enameled gas or electric ranges are instantly withdrawn by ventilating fans.

Needless steps have been eliminated because much used items are grouped. The time and study that engineers have placed on kitchen equipment and arrangement is largely responsible for this change from the invariably large and gloomy kitchens of grandmother's day.

Cabinets of efficiency and beauty have taken the place of awkward and unattractive cupboards. Cabinets are now constructed by millwork factories from different sized units so made that they will fit together into an almost limitless variety of installations. One manufacturer has even gone so far as to make a miniature set of these units, out of small blocks, so that housewives can assemble them into the cabinet installations they always have wanted in their kitchens.

Cabinets with compartments, drawers and nooks combine in one unit many items of equipment that formerly were spread all over the kitchen and becoming at once the successor of the storage pantry and the bread box, places supplies and utensils within arm's reach.

All forms of refrigeration has divided the space required for the ice-box, and modern skill in design and construction has cut the size of the gas and electric stove without reducing production capacity.

Even the kitchen sink has been transformed both in size and appearance. The availability of such new materials as monel metal and other white metal alloys have developed fixtures so light in weight that they are hung from the wall without the need for legs or other supports and thus can be placed over radiators, low cabinets or other similar items of equipment.

In planning a kitchen several important factors should be located, beneath a window. This conserves space and assures adequate light and ventilation. It should be close to the sink and cabinet, and away from the dining room door.

Cabinets should be located close to the sink and range, beside the sink if possible. An ideal place is on the opposite side of the sink from the range, either facing the same direction as the sink or at a right angle to it. The refrigerator should be located as close as possible to the cabinets, dining room door and sink.

The key to an efficient kitchen is the centralization of equipment to eliminate steps.

Cooling of Homes New Summer Idea

Cooling of America's homes for comfort in hot weather as they have long been kept comfortable by heating in winter will make its debut on a big scale this summer, a survey made by the Holland Institute of Thermology, Holland, Mich., indicates.

The survey, which was nationwide in scope, revealed that cooling devices have been developed and are being marketed by approximately a score of the country's leading manufacturers. The devices, according to the institute, range from small units capable of cooling only the room in which they are set up, to complete air-conditioning systems which not only cool the entire house, but provide constant circulation of air, adequate humidity in winter, and keep out dirt and dust by filtering and washing the home air. Prices are well within the reach of even the smallest home-owner.

SINCERELY SIMPLE AND ECONOMICAL TO BUILD

BY CORA W. WILSON

H.C. KNEDEL, DES. - 230 PARK AVE. - NEW YORK, N.Y.

We must build today as economically as ever a house was built, and with as much good taste. Aside from the decorative element of a house, its shape and contours greatly influence its cost. Few of us can actually afford much decoration and ornament for their effect alone. We must receive them as part of the necessary structure itself and regard them merely as important by-products. A strict adherence to any foreign style comes nearly in the class of pure ornament and for that we must pay. We have an abundance and wide variety of good modern materials; let us use them to build, not English or French houses, but plain American homes. There is no advantage in working for economy in one respect and then losing it in another. Costs are further minimized by using the simplest of details and trim, which are, for the most part, taken from standard stocks. The endeavor at economy, playing an equal part with those of convenient plan and good looking elevation, starts with the very beginning of the design and leaves little that may be eliminated.

Within the house the suppression of excessive cost is continued. Ceilings are fairly low, as with the exterior special millwork and intricate construction have been avoided.

As they are shown here, house and garden are designed each to make the most of the other and the two together pleasantly to fill the lot. Along the curving walk which skirts the front and sides of the house, there may be played up much of the varying joy of a woodland path, with flowering shrubs, dogwoods, rhododendrons and low trees, with wild flowers planted under to border the boundary line.

With the first touch of frost in the air our thoughts turn naturally towards the welcoming warmth and comfort of our homes.

For further details of this house and price of plans address C. W. Wilson, 521 Fifth Avenue, New York City, Suite 1836 enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope together with this article.

RAPID RIVER

ANNUAL POPPY SALE

Rapid River, May 21, (Special)—The Ladies' Auxiliary of Walter W. Cole Post of the American Legion will conduct the annual poppy sale next Saturday, May 28. Mrs. Frank Wolfe, president of the Auxiliary has appointed a committee of three, Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts, Miss Phyllis Grandchamp, Miss Ella Johnson, to have charge of the sale.

This sale of poppies has become an annual activity of the Legion and Auxiliary posts throughout the entire nation. The proceeds of the sale will go to the funds set aside for relief and rehabilitation work. In fact, the sale has a two fold purpose, one to remind all the world of the sacrifices of the young men who gave their lives that this nation might live, and the other, an appeal to all our people to lighten the burdens of all of our maimed, and gassed and shell shocked victims of the World War, men who are paying a dear price in suffering, and hardships that beggar description.

It is to be hoped that even in these hard times there will be no slackers. There should be no excuses for not buying a poppy. It is a matter of patriotic duty that should come first in purpose and action.

AMUSEMENTS

Modern society, the younger generation and a terrific harvest from past indiscretions figure in a kaleidoscopic romance in "Letty Lynton," in which Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery will be seen, starting today at the Delft Theatre.

The story is a filmization of the Marie Belloc Lowndes novel, based on the problems faced by an heiress who played with men's loves until she found herself in a trap of her own making. Miss Crawford plays the dramatic heroine amid tropical South American resorts, the whirl of New York life and aboard a great liner in mid-ocean. Montgomery is the "right man" who comes along just in time to save her from her own folly.

The plot deals with an heiress who makes a romantic trip through South America, charming men and then leaving them. After a hectic affair with a romantic Argentinian, she departs for home, meeting on the ship the first man whom she really can love. It is a case of "love at first sight" on both sides, but the South American follows and in her struggles to extricate herself from the dangerous situations which ensue, she finds herself faced with the choice of prison or a blasted reputation. By a clever twist, her lover and mother solve the problem.

MEMORIAL DAY RITES PLANNED

Program Will be at Park; Senator Rushton to Be Speaker

Memorial Day services at Escanaba this year will be centralized at Ludington Park. It is announced by T. J. Lynott, general chairman in charge of the program, which is sponsored by the American Legion. Instead of splitting up the program, and holding a part at the cemetery, all of the services will be at the park, doing away with the inconvenience to the spectators. Memorial rites at each of the local cemeteries will be carried out, however, by the Legion firing squad and buglers, prior to the starting time for the morning Memorial Day parade.

Forming at the city hall, the parade will move off at 9:30 a. m. and will go directly to Ludington Park. In the line of march will be represented veterans of the World War, Spanish American War, and Civil War, together with the W. R. C. Legion auxiliary, and other civic and patriotic organizations. One section will be made up of school students, and boys who have been attending the C. M. T. C. camps at the Sault will act as leaders for the school groups. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will also march, and there will be three bands, the Escanaba municipal band, high school band, junior high school band, and the Escanaba Legion drum and bugle corps.

Begins at 10:15 a. m. The program at Ludington Park will start at 10:15 a. m. and will consist of the marine memorial service, followed by a song service and address from the speaking stand at the park, with

Recital Presented By Rock Teacher

Rock, Mich., May 21, (Special)—Miss Grace Williams, high school instructor, presented a fine piano recital by her students, to a large crowd at the Rock high school auditorium on Thursday evening.

The program consisted of piano solos and duets by the students, all of which were well presented and won much applause from the crowd.

A special feature, which received hearty encores from the audience, was a bass solo by Richard Carleton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Carlton of Escanaba. Mr. Carleton sang "Home On the Range" and "The Sunshine of Your Smile." He was accompanied by Miss Jane Christenson, of Escanaba.

A mixed quartet, composed of Betty Gibbs, Gwendolene Uitt, Runar Sjoland, and Albert Sayen, sang "The Kashmir Song" by Senator H. J. Rushton as the speaker of the day. The public address system will be in place to carry the program to all parts of the audience. It is planned to distribute song sheets so that all may take part in the singing. A special invitation is being extended the clergy to take part in the memorial service, which will be of a nature in keeping with the solemn spirit of the day and a space will be reserved for this group.

The cooperation of motorists will be asked in parking their cars for the Memorial Day program, and adjacent streets will be used as much as possible to avoid congestion on Lake Shore Drive.

Further details of the arrangements will be worked out at conferences Monday or Tuesday, and members of the clergy will be asked to announce the May 30 program from their pulpits next Sunday.

Finden, and "Keep On Hopin'" by Maxwell.

A baritone solo, "The Rosary," by Nevins, and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" by Stultz, was sung by Charles Larson Jr. Miss Williams played the accompaniment to the latter two numbers. The program was as follows: Duet, "Bobolink Poika," Wolcott—Dorothy and Bernard Larson; "Song of the Pines," Adair—"The Happy Dorkie," Kerr—Jane Molloy.

Holland Air-Conditioner

A late, modern and efficient unit which washes and tempers every cubic foot of air going into your home.

This is accomplished by drawing the air through a copper mesh filter which forms the top of the unit, after which it is forced through a series of fine, swirling water sprays in the washing chamber. This filtering and washing process removes 98.2 per cent of the dust and dirt. The air then enters the heating chamber of the furnace.

Winter humidification and summer cooling are accomplished by the same washing process.

PLANT FORESTS IN LUCE COUNTY

School Tracts Doing Well; Latest Planting Just Finished

Newberry, May 21—School forests and road side planting are slowly but surely changing the geography of Luce county as can be seen by driving along some of the locations where planting has gone on for several years. Trees planted west of the Sink hole several years ago by Boy Scouts have now reached a height of six or eight feet and make a pretty sight on what was once a scrubby hill side. They are spruce and white pine and are all thrifty.

School Plots

There are two school forests in the county. In 1930, with proper dedication services, a tract of 100 acres east of Newberry on the Tahquamenon river landing road was turned over to the school for a forest project. Here 5,000 pine and spruce seedlings were set out. During that summer the extremely dry weather and a bad forest fire killed more than half of this planting.

Last spring another 5,000 were planted, replacing much of those lost the previous year. Of the total planting on this site about 90 per cent are now alive and thrifty.

Last week the third planting was made when about 50 high school boys under the direction of Messrs. Kipela, Fisher and Kemp of the local school faculty set 2,500 little trees as a part of the local Washington Bicentennial celebration. The seedlings came from the Michigan State college Dunbar nursery near the Soo and from the state owned Higgins lake nursery. The local conservation department furnished truck and spades for the work.

The boys who assisted in this work will each receive a membership in the American Tree association for 1932. They were Erwin Ballack, Jay Berry, Wilbur Bottrell, Lawrence Brown, Clarence Bouchard, Max Chapman, Kenneth Clark, Louis Dwyer, William Fancette, John Fitzpatrick, Tom Gormley, Leo Johnson, Arvo Juhola, Verner Johnson, Arthur Kotlov, Earl Kronquest, Charles Larson, Royal Lackley, Stan Larson, Norris Mar, Edward Munson, Rex Martin, James and Jack Minard, Alex and Henry Normand, Wesley North, John Ott, William Palmer, Robert Pell, Lloyd Pardee, John Peters, James Quinn, James and Leonard Richey, Peter and Robert Rahilly, William Sando, Oscar Sundstrom, Frank and Arthur Taylor, William Vage and Donald Young.

The Pentland school forest located south of the Robert's corners, first planted in 1930, has passed through the same sort of experience as that McMillan plot. On that location about 2,000 seedlings have recently been planted under the direction of M. A. Kroodema of the Michigan state college assisted by W. B. Stevens and Pentland township school boys.

GENTS OF THE ROAD Three young men, one of them showing that somewhere in the history of his family was the blood of the Indian, walked briskly along a highway the other day. They were rather tattered but very clean, their faces freshly shaven, and each wore in his hat a flower. One had a trillium and the other a little bunch of spring beauties.

"Where are you going?" they were asked. "No place." "Any where?" they answered. "Just walking," they answered.

Grins were exchanged. "Who's the liar?" "All of us." "Not that it's any of my business," we told them. "The taller one smiled, 'always a lady's privilege to ask anything.' 'And always a gentleman's privilege to lie?' " "Well, more or less."

A pause. Then the explanation. "You see, you all looked so full of pep... and those flowers in your hats... and so bright and shining."

"Up. We shaved and had a bath back at that river. The Sage the sign board said?" "Wasn't it cold?" "I'll tell the world!" "So long, lady."

STARTS FIRE, IS ARRESTED

Shacker Admits Blame For Forest Fire in National Reserve

Charles Duell, shacker living within the boundaries of the Hiawatha National Forest reserve, was assessed a fine of $25.00 and costs, in the court of Justice A. D. Aiguire yesterday after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of starting a brush fire without a permit and leaving the fire without quenching the embers. Duell's neglect resulted in a forest fire which destroyed 42 acres of white and red jack pine on section 22-43-18 in the reserve.

The arrest of Duell was made by Forest Ranger George D. Ferris, who investigated the fire and had charge of lighting it. The fire occurred on May 14, when a high wind was blowing and, but for the timely action of the forest fire crew, might have resulted disastrously to the reserve. Forty men, two tractors and several trucks were used in fighting the blaze. It was disclosed in court.

GLADSTONE

BRIEFLY TOLD

LARGE CROWD AT PROGRAM

Friday night Gladstone parents crowded the school gymnasium to witness a festival staged by the pupils of the high school for the purpose of exhibiting the progress that has been made during the year in the various departments of the school. Gymnasium classes, glee clubs, commercial classes and dancing pupils combined to make up a program that was highly entertaining and was more than a revelation to those who attended.

Opening with a group of dance numbers by students of Miss Elsie Haller, in which tap and ballet dances were featured, the program at every stage held the interest of the crowd in attendance. Solo dances by Claire Sword, Mary Creten, Dorothy Selbert, Mary Willie, Gerry Turgeon and Mary Norton, a tap duet by Jane and Ruth Warner and two numbers by the class in tap dancing were well received. Miss Haller also directed a gymnasium class in the presentation of pyramid building which won the approval of the crowd.

The Boys' Glee Club, which appeared next on the program, brought down the house with two numbers. They opened with Gypsy Love Song and next sang Little Close Harmony. The numbers were presented under the direction of Robert N. Haskins and without accompaniment.

Eldon Kell's class in gymnastics was next on the program. A series of drills and setting up exercises presented by the group were well executed.

The Fashion Operaetta, feature presentation of the evening, in which 100 high school girls participated was then presented under the direction of Miss Mable Harris, Miss Ally Nuttilla and Robert Haskins. The dance numbers were directed by Miss Nuttilla, costuming and arrangement of the operaetta was directed by Miss Harris and Mr. Haskins directed the song numbers. The students were all costumed in tones made by themselves in the sewing classes of the school.

Two song numbers, "Gypsy Girls" and "Love's A Merchant," by the Girls' Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Haskins closed the musical part of the program. The songs were especially well presented and the members of the group and their director were commended by the audience generally.

A demonstration by the commercial class of the school was another high light of the evening. Twelve students participated, among whom were Anne Zerle, who recently made a perfect record in transcribing after taking dictation at the rate of 120 words per minute for 5 minutes. Three hundred words were dictated to the group at this same rate and the transcribing was completed with remarkable rapidity. Conan E. Fisher, instructor in the commercial department of the school, stated that this group was far above the average of high school commercial students.

Concluding the festival a spelling contest was staged. In this, Dorothy Slye, winner of second prize in the Daily Press contest recently, placed first and Ruth Snyder was second.

At the close of the program, the sewing and manual training departments of the school were thrown open to visitors and the work of the students displayed.

CREATE BEAUTY SPOT AT FARM

Crystal Pools, Sparkling Brooks, Terraces, Being Built at Farm

That it is the plan of the Ford Motor company to create a beauty spot along the Escanaba river where they have purchased more than 500 acres of land is no longer in doubt. Landscaping was put under way during the past week and already sufficient progress has been made to give an indication of the plans.

At the roadside there has been laid out a series of pools into which water from a spring creek has been diverted and surrounding the pools the ground is being terraced. From the pools the stream is carried over a series of falls to the Escanaba river, upon the banks of which the pools have been created. Trees have been set out and the ground is to be seeded.

From the banks of the river the drift wood is to be cleared away and birch, spruce and elm trees are to be set out upon the terraced shore. The extent to which the work is to be carried on has not been made known, but in the clearing operations every tree was conserved which was so placed as to add to the beauty of the landscape. For nearly a mile the Escanaba river flows through the Ford land. The water of the stream has been dammed but a short distance below by the power company and the appearance is more that of a lake than a river. The dam makes certain little variance in the water level.

While one crew is proceeding with beautification of the grounds others continue with the clearing operations. Some land that has been cleared is already being leveled and plowed, and preparations are going forward for the drainage project which is soon to be undertaken.

No information as to what use the land will be put has been forthcoming from Ford officials, but the general presumption has been that this project is similar to those put under way at Iron Mountain, L'Anse and other places where Ford has plants in operation.

At Iron Mountain 1000 garden plots have been staked out by the Ford company and 800 of these have already been assigned to workers in the plant. The demand still continues and E. G. Kingsford has stated that if more ground is needed it will be furnished. Each lot is 50 by 100 feet. Men, other than employees of Ford, have also been given permission to make use of the garden plots.

It has not been made public whether or not the land here will be put to use this year.

Wear A Poppy To Honor Dead And Aid Living

"Wear a poppy to honor the World war dead and aid the war's living victims." is the plea that the women of the American Legion Auxiliary will make to the American public on May 28th, the Saturday before Memorial Day, when they will offer poppies on the streets of virtually every city and town in the country.

Final preparations for the memorial poppy sale are being completed. Mrs. Clyde Fitzpatrick, Legion Auxiliary Unit President here said. Throughout the country an organization of volunteers poppy workers, expected to include 100,000 women, is being formed.

Posts of the American Legion are working with the Auxiliary units, aiding them in arrangements for "Poppy Day" when it is hoped to place the little red flower of remembrance on ten million coats and to raise one million dollars for the relief activities of the Legion and Auxiliary among the disabled veterans and their families.

Made by Disabled Poppies for the sale have been made by disabled veterans working in governmental hospitals and workrooms maintained by the Auxiliary. The work has given employment to many hundreds of disabled men during the winter and spring months, enabling them to help support themselves and families. Every poppy these veterans have made is marked by a distinctive tag bearing the official emblem of the American Legion and Auxiliary, and the words "Veteran-Made Poppy." No other poppies are sold by the Legion and Auxiliary.

Supplies Sent to Eight Communities In Delta County

A poison campaign against the grasshopper is being planned in Delta county to prevent the pest from getting a start this season. County farm agent J. E. Turner is suggesting the early placing of poison, as soon as the young hoppers appear, as they are easier to control before they start flying.

To facilitate the prompt distribution of the poison, Mr. Turner is placing a barrel of about 600 pounds in eight different localities, where it will be quickly available when grasshoppers appear.

RITCHIE WINS IN CONVENTION

Defeats Smith by Seven votes in Democratic Assembly Friday

Albert C. Ritchie, governor of Maryland, won the presidential nomination at the mock Democratic national convention held Friday afternoon at the high school auditorium, thanks to the expert handling of his campaign by Bernard Cody and the ill-tongued speakers in his behalf.

The announcement was followed by a burst of applause which heralded the popularity of the victorious candidate. Alfred E. Smith ranked second in the balloting with 77 votes, seven less than Ritchie obtained; Franklin Delano Roosevelt came in third with 68; John Garner fourth with 63; Newton Baker fifth with 54; and "Alfalfa Bill" Murray last with 18.

The convention had all of the earmarks and spirit of a genuine national assembly with the 55 delegations sitting beneath their respective banners, bands playing lively tunes, and vociferous applause and bronx cheers preceding and following the nomination speeches. All of the usual fanfare was in evidence as well as some excellent and intelligent speeches extolling the virtues and qualities of the respective candidates.

Opening the convention was the announcement of the temporary officers. Jack McIntosh was chosen temporary chairman and delivered a brilliant keynote address, deriding the Republicans and bringing forth the splendid attributes and accomplishments of the Democrats. Following this unusually fine address the chairmen of the four major committees gave their reports. Edith Brown for the committee on credentials, Louise Boltho for the committee on rules and order, Sam Gaylor for the committee on platform and resolutions and Helen Cayla for the committee on permanent organization.

Clayton Burrell was selected as permanent chairman and explained the stand of the Democrats upon the leading issues facing the country. In brief, his Democratic platform was as follows:

1. Labor—unemployment problem facing the government, opposition to the dole.

2. Tariff—universal reduction in tariffs in order to permit extensive exchange of goods with other nations and especially with debtor nations.

3. Taxation—levying of taxes according to the ability to pay.

4. Finance—strict federal supervision of dealings on the stock markets and exchanges to prevent recurrence of the 1929 crash.

5. Agriculture—lowering of taxes and adjustment of tariffs so as to give farmers same benefits as manufacturers have been enjoying in the past.

6. International Relations—Recognition of Russia and membership in the world court.

7. Prohibition—recognition of public sentiment; states' rights.

Then followed the roll call by states and the 22 speeches for candidates. All of the speeches were given from memory and denoted a great deal of research work and study of the various candidates. Five speeches were made for Roosevelt: four each for Ritchie, Baker, and Smith; three for Garner; and two for Murray. Each of the 55 states, territories, and possessions were called, some of them yielding to other states and some having no nominations to make.

Hits At Roosevelt Following three successive speeches extolling the virtues and capabilities of Roosevelt, Leon Illoighy, speaking on behalf of the state of Connecticut, precipitated a ballyhoo of applause from the galleries and a portion of the delegates when he launched into a brilliant anti-Roosevelt tirade denouncing the New York governor as an ally of Tammany and branding him as being afraid to take a stand on important issues—a reason for his absence at the Jeffersonian celebration. Willoughby then contrasted Ritchie to Roosevelt, showing how the former eclipsed the latter on Democratic policies.

The following students delivered nominating speeches and speeches seconding the nominations: W. Fagan (Ohio) nominated Newton D. Baker; Evelyn Grosa (Maryland) nominated Albert C. Ritchie; Hildegard Zell (Arizona) seconded Ritchie's nomination; Jeanette Craver (Pennsylvania) nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt; H. Peterson (California) seconded Roosevelt's nomination; Henrietta LaFolle (Colorado) seconded Roosevelt; Leon Willoughby (Connecticut) seconded Ritchie; Louise Boltho (Delaware) nominated Alfred E. Smith; E. Carrington (Florida) seconded Smith; Katherine Huffer (Oklahoma) nominated "Alfalfa Bill" Murray; Katherine Husband (Illinois) seconded Baker; Hildreth LaFolle (Indiana) seconded Baker; Helen Chapman (Iowa) seconded Roosevelt; Catherine Herbert (Maine) seconded Baker; Henrietta Hoholik (Minnesota) seconded Smith; Nigella Mattson (New Mexico) seconded Murray; Helen Cayla

H. S. BAND WILL GIVE CONCERT

Annual Spring Musical Entertainment To Be Held Wednesday

The splendid 46-piece high school band which made such a favorable showing in its appearance at the Music Festival at Escanaba two weeks ago, will entertain the local public next Wednesday evening when they will present their annual spring concert at the high school auditorium under the direction of Wayne Martin, director of the band and instrumental teacher in the public schools of this city. The program will start at 8 p. m. and no admission will be charged.

In addition to the band numbers the program will be further enhanced by several instrumental solos and vocal numbers by the newly organized Manistique women's chorus.

Following is the tentative program for the spring concert: Light Cavalry Overture—Von Suppe. L'Arlésienne Suite, 1. Pastoral, 2. Intermezzo—Bizet. Monarch Polka—Pinard. Trombone solo played by Boyd Boltho. Northern Pines March—Sousa. Golden Dragon Overture—King. The New Corn Palace March—King. Manistique Woman's Chorus—My Heart at thy Sweet Voice, Saint-Saens; The Kery Dance, Malloy. Variosa Caprice—Clappe. Clarinet Solo by Clayton Burrell. Violin Ensemble—Selections. Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna—Von Suppe. Prelude to the Suite Ancienne—Hadley. Semper Fidelis March—Sousa. A saxophone selection. The Fox Hunt—McKinley. Iridesence, Caprice—Holmes. The Stars and Stripes Forever March—Sousa.

From a modest beginning the Manistique high school band has evolved into one of the finest musical units in the upper peninsula. Instrumental music was not a part of the curriculum of Manistique high school until 1920, when George Hamill, leader of the W. O. W. band, came to the high school twice a week to lead the orchestra. In 1923, R. H. Wilson, now principal of the high school, became leader of the orchestra and since that time the orchestra has been an active extra-curricular activity.

The orchestra had usually been in the hands of a vocal teacher until 1925 when Wayne S. Martin, present instrumental teacher, became director. The most active year had by the orchestra was in 1929 when the organization contained thirty members and furnished a large part of the community musical entertainment.

The high school band was organized in 1927 by Principal R. H. Wilson when a few instruments were given to the school by the Manistique city band. In 1928 when Mr. Martin became instrumental director, the band procured uniforms and the board of education furnished several large instruments which have served as a foundation for an enlarged band.

At the beginning of the present school year the concert band contained 52 members. The instrumental teacher visits each grade school once a week for two hours and gives class and individual instruction.

Kingsford Wins Class B Meet, St. Joseph Class C

MOUNTAINEERS BEAT ESKYMOS

Olson and Chrisman of Flivver City Stars Of Afternoon

Iron Mountain, May 21 (Special)—Individual stars enabled Kingsford high school to unexpectedly capture first honors in the regional class B track and field meet here today, scoring 48 points while Iron Mountain, the pre-meet favorite, nipped Escanaba for second place with 33 2-3 points to 32 1-3 for the Eskymos. Other schools in the class B competition scored points as follows: Menominee 15; Manistique 3.

Led by Chrisman and Olson who scored 20 points between them, Kingsford grabbed the lead in the very first race, the 120-yard high hurdles which Olson won in 17.9 seconds, and held the lead practically throughout. Chrisman was high point man with 15 points while Olson followed with 14.

Performances which thrilled the crowd included the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash, both of which Chrisman won from L. Johnson of Iron Mountain, and the pole vault in which Anderson of Escanaba and Olson of Kingsford tied for first at a height of 11 feet, 6 1/2 inches. Chrisman stepped off the century in 10.1 and capped the furions in 23 flat. L. Johnson, the present peninsula sprint champion, was suffering from an injured tendon and was only able to press Chrisman for about half the way in both races.

The closest thing to a grand slam all afternoon was the Escanaba victory in the mile run, in this event while Murphy of Iron Mountain picked up the point for fourth place. Klein, Iron Mountain's peninsula mile champion, again failed to place. C. Johnson won the event for Escanaba in excellent time, 4:45, with his teammates Rose and Ottensman only a few steps behind.

The Eskymo hopes, however, failed to come up to expectations in the quarter and half mile races. Christensen, the ace of the Escanaba quarter milers, failed to get into the first four but his teammate, Logan, slipped in for a fourth place. Monson was nipped in the half-mile by LaSalle of Kingsford but the time of 2:12 was comparatively slow for the event.

The summaries: 120-yard high hurdles: won by Olson, Kingsford; V. Johnson, I. M., second; Charles, Menominee, third; Perine, Kingsford, fourth. Time 17.9.

100-yard dash: won by Chrisman, Kingsford; L. Johnson, I. M., second; R. Johnson, I. M., third; Burns, Escanaba, fourth. Time 10.1 seconds.

Mile run: won by C. Johnson, Escanaba; Rose, Escanaba, second; Ottensman, Escanaba, third; Murphy, I. M., fourth. Time 4:45.

Lou Moore Winner Of Pole Position For 500-Mile Race

Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 21 (AP)—Lou Moore, ordinarily a conservative driver, late today won the pole position for the 500-mile automobile race to be run here May 30 with a sensational qualifying speed of 117.63 miles per hour. A total of twenty-one drivers qualified.

It was the fastest ten-mile dash ever made over the Indianapolis motor speedway track with a motor that did not have a supercharger.

The exhibition, made in a rear drive light cylinder car, was given after it appeared certain that the 116.68 miles per hour speed of Hilly Arnold, Intrepid Chicago driver, had earned the pole.

WOLVERINES CAPTURE BIG TEN MEET

YANKS TAKE 2 FROM SENATORS

Ruth and Lazzeri Lead Assault on Washington Hurlers

New York, May 21 (AP)—The Yankees treated close to 60,000 fans to an exhibition of an unbeatable baseball combination, excellent pitching and heavy hitting today as they defeated the Washington Senators in a double header. The scores were 14 to 2 and 8 to 0.

The Senators collected only eleven hits in the two games, getting six from Herb Pennock in the opener and five from Johnny Allen in the second contest.

Babe Ruth and Tony Lazzeri were the leaders in the assault on six Washington hurlers. The Babe hit two homers in the opener, bringing his total for the season to ten, and Tony gathered six hits in seven times at bat, including a homer, two doubles and a triple.

Ruth's first homer came in the fifth inning with the bases full and helped put the game away with a seven run rally. It was the fifteenth time in his career he had hit for the circuit with loaded sacks. The other was in the next inning with one on, Lou Gehrig also hit his sixth homer of the year in the first game.

Allen won his own game in the second inning when he hit for the circuit after Chapman had walked and Dickey had singled. He later added a double as the Yanks kept right on hitting to bring their total up to 26 blows for the two games.

Baseball Players Will Report Today

Candidates for the Escanaba baseball team are requested to report at the fairgrounds diamond this afternoon at two o'clock for workouts. A number of athletes are expected to answer the first call for players.

Because of the heavy rain on Friday, work on the diamond was considerably slowed up but the field is in good enough condition for today's tryout.

Managers of teams in the twilight league are asked to attend a meeting at the city hall on Monday night.

TIGERS WALLOP WHITE SOX, 5-1

Sorrell Allows But Five Hits as Mates Are Garnering 10

Chicago, May 21 (AP)—Vic Sorrell and his hard-hitting teammates set down the White Sox to the tune of 5 to 1 today.

Due to Sorrell's masterly pitching the Sox were able to register only five hits and not one of their batters reached first after the fifth inning. In the third, fourth and fifth Chicago hits were made after two men were out.

Stone led the Tiger barrage today. He clouted a double, a triple and a single. Two of his safeties were made off Thomas during the five innings the latter pitched. Pat Caraway started for Chicago.

The first Detroit score came in the second. Walker had been browned out by Kress, Johnson had walked and then advanced to second when Richardson lined to Bob Fothergill. Richardson advanced to second and Johnson brought in the run when Hayworth got a single.

The other four Tiger runs came in the fourth inning. Johnson walked and Richardson fouled to Selph, then Johnson stole second. Next Hayworth flied to Seda. Sorrell grounded to Selph but the latter's throw to first was wide so Vic was safe and Johnson reached third. Davis singled to score Johnson and later stole second. Rogell got another one-bagger to score Sorrell. Davis and Rogell came in on Stone's triple.

All told the Tigers got ten hits off Chicago.

The teams resume their rivalry here tomorrow with a double-header.

KELLER COPS HURDLES IN 14

Ohio State Second With Indiana Third at Evanston

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)
Dyche Stadium, Evanston, Ill., May 21 (AP)—Michigan's plucky track team, scoring in thirteen of the sixteen events, carried off the Western Conference outdoor track and field championship today to the accompaniment of record-breaking performances.

Two world records were eclipsed, two others were tied, and three Big Ten marks were shattered as the events reeled off. The record breaking, however, including the new conference marks, may not, and in the cases of the world marks undoubtedly will not stand, as a 25 or 30 mile wind blew at the backs of the runners.

The Wolverines amassed a total of 50 1-2 points. Ohio State was second with 46 1-2, Indiana third with 43 1-2, and Illinois fourth with 31 1-2. The balance of the points was divided as follows: fifth, Minnesota, 18 1-2; sixth, Iowa, 17 1-2; seventh, Wisconsin, 17; eighth, Purdue, 9; ninth, Chicago, 6. Only Northwestern, host to 300 athletes, failed to break into the scoring.

The world records eclipsed were in the 120 yard high hurdles and the 220 yard dash. Jack Keller, Ohio State, captured the highs in 14 seconds flat, clipping four tenths of a second from the accepted world mark set by Earl Thompson of Dartmouth, in 1920, and two tenths of a second from the unofficial world mark made last summer in the National A. A. C. championship at Lincoln, Nebraska, by Percy Beard, of the New York Athletic club.

Donald Bennett, teammate of Keller, flashed to victory in the 220 yard dash in 20.5 seconds, one tenth of a second better than the world record set by Roland Locke of Nebraska in 1926, and later equaled by George Simpson of Ohio State, in the 1929 Western Conference championships.

Neither performance, however, will find its way into the record books, according to officials, because of the helping wind, and the same fate may befall the Western Conference marks, including the 23.5 seconds by George Salling of Iowa in the low hurdles. Salling's mark tied the accepted world record set by Charlie Brookings of Iowa, in 1924 which also stood as the conference record.

Two Double Winners
Bennett, with Henry Brocksmith, the hustling Hoosier, were double winners. Bennett, after taking the century in :09.5, tying the world record, came back to annex the 220 yard dash in better than world record time. Brocksmith, lacking competition, jogged to victories in the mile and two mile events. He won the mile with a margin of 70 yards in 4:21.1. Harmon Wolfe, of Michigan, provided the surprise of the race by diving ahead of Herbert Spears of Purdue in the last jump to finish second. The strong breeze undoubtedly kept Brocksmith's time down in this event and also in the two mile. Brocksmith won the two mile, with no opposition in 9:37.9.

The Wolverines, leaving the record breaking to others, picked up points in almost every possible direction. They failed to score only in the broad jump, pole vault and javelin. They won three firsts with brilliant victories in the quarter mile, in which three men placed, the discus and the one mile relay.

Ohio's chances of overtaking Michigan were lost when Keller was forced to drop out of the low hurdles because of a pulled muscle. He quit midway of the event while trailing the field.

The triumph of the Wolverines was their twelfth in thirty two years of Big Ten competition, breaking their tie with Illinois.

Shot Put Record
The only record that probably will be allowed was in the shot put. Clarence Munn, Minnesota's all-American guard, in no way aided by the wind, tossed the 16 pound missile 49 feet 5 1-2 inches, to exceed the conference record of 49 feet 1 1-2 inches established by Sammy Behr of Wisconsin, two years ago.

Relocation of '41' Near Marquette Being Considered

Marquette—Directors of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, at a special meeting yesterday, were informed that Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, is giving serious consideration to the relocation of U. S. 41 at the south entrance to the city of Marquette and that he hopes his department will be able to get well along with the project this year.

Discuss New Plan

The Chamber directors were called into conference for the purpose of discussing the U. S. 41 situation with Charles H. Richardson, state senator. The Marquette Chamber is advocating improvement of U. S. 41 between Marquette and Gladstone along a route approximately the same as the present one.

Yesterday Senator Richardson showed the Chamber directors a new plan, which he said was looked upon with favor by Commissioner Dillman, for rebuilding U. S. 41 between Gladstone and the end of the concrete pavement at Duke's corners in Marquette county.

The Chamber directors, however, pointed out that this route would be much less scenic than the present one through Treney and Rapid River and would not be shorter. After the conference Senator Richardson wrote a letter to Commissioner Dillman telling him of the preference of the Marquette Chamber.

Endorsed in Delta The position taken by the Marquette Chamber has been endorsed by the Chambers of Commerce and the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in Escanaba and Gladstone.

Commissioner Dillman, it is understood, is disposed to proceed as soon as possible with the improvement of U. S. 41 between Gladstone and Marquette rather than wait for development of the proposed federal highway from Spalding to Marquette, surveys for which were made several years ago.

It is not probable, the Chamber directors were told yesterday, that much progress can be made on the U. S. 41 project this year, because of the sharp curtailment of funds for new construction, but it is possible that the present route between Marquette and Gladstone could be improved enough so that its dirt and gravel portions will not be impassable during spring breakup periods.

Brewery Warehouse Destroyed By Fire

A fire believed to have been started by boys playing ball in the rear of the building completely destroyed the old Escanaba Brewing Co. warehouse on Lake Shore drive yesterday noon. Firemen answered the call from both the north and south side stations about 12:45 p. m. and found the structure all in flames when they arrived.

The warehouse was a one-story frame structure, filled with bar-room furniture, household furniture, and other stored articles, including a truck and trailer. Nothing was saved. Barrels of oil used in treating fishnet floats which were in the warehouse added fuel to the unusually hot fire.

Twenty-three nations made declarations of war between 1914 and 1918.

CARIDEO GETS MISSOURI JOB

"Little Napoleon" Has Knotty Problems on His Hands

Columbia, Mo., May 21.—(AP)—Frank Carideo, the famous Notre Dame quarterback who was named as head football coach of the University of Missouri, will face two knotty problems in his new position.

The first is the task of changing Missouri's style of play to that of the late Knute Rockne and the second, to overcome the effects of two years of gridiron adversity through which the university has passed.

He will also be handicapped by lack of spring practice, beginning next Monday and closing Friday, when final examinations will call the squad to classrooms.

But these hurdles are not expected to daunt the young athlete who directed Rockne's last two teams to 19 straight victories as a player.

Salary of $6,000 His selection as the successor to Gwinn Henry, who resigned several weeks ago, was announced here today through the office of President Walter Williams.

The salary which Carideo will receive was not announced, but it is believed to be around $6,000, or $2,000 less than Henry was getting.

Carideo is regarded as one of the greatest field generals football has known.

He comes to Missouri as one of the youngest coaches in the country, and perhaps the youngest at a major institution. Yet his youth—he is only 24 years old—was no handicap to him last fall as back-
