

ALLIES SLASH GERMAN REPARATIONS

AMERICA WILL HEAR APPEALS TO CUT DEBTS

UNITED STATES HAS NOT PROMISED REDUCTIONS

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The United States stands ready to hear appeals from European powers for a reduction of the $11,000,000,000 they owe this country on loans during and immediately after the world war.

Since Europe has finally agreed at Lausanne to cut Germany's reparations down to $750,000,000, the state department said today the United States is willing to consider individual proposals for a revision of debts from the 15 nations which owe this country.

No promises to revise or cancel debts have been made by the United States. But this government has repeatedly stated in recent months that it would grant a rehearing to European debtors individually after they have agreed among themselves to settle reparations.

The United States has insisted it had no interest in reparations as it refused to take any from Germany.

Needs Congress' Okch

Until the Lausanne conference works out its agreement in detail and the full text is available to the state department, Secretary Stimson and his assistants will not be able to arrange plans for hearing appeals of the debtors.

Any change in the amount of war debt payments would have to be approved by congress which is on record against further reduction or cancellation.

Both the house and senate took this position in approving the Hoover one-year moratorium on intergovernmental debts.

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, told the house the Lausanne agreement "comes with crushing effect upon this country."

"Last June when President Hoover agreed to a year's moratorium, he cancelled for one year a $10,000,000,000 indebtedness," Rainey said.

"When the president did that he cancelled the $10,000,000,000 they owe us. Our taxpayers are going to be compelled to pay this $10,000,000,000 through the years."

"It already is admitted that the tax bill falls to balance the budget by $150,000,000. We counted as cash the $265,000,000 owed us this year."

"Therefore, it means that without further income losses there will be a deficit this year of $419,000,000."

Representative Stafford (R., Wis.), said "the two great countries that negotiated the agreement are to be congratulated."

"They are making it possible for Germany to recover industrially," he added.

May Ask 90% Cut

It remains to be seen how great a cut European powers will ask the United States to make in the war obligations. Some economists predict American debtors will suggest a reduction of 90 percent, which is approximately the slash they have just made in German reparations.

On this basis the United States would be offered slightly more than a billion dollars.

Senator Johnson (R., Calif.), predicted the reparations agreement.

Sheriff's Officers Find Hidden Booze

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 8 (AP)—Sheriff's officers hunting for stolen goods, quit work today after finding 500 gallons of alleged moonshine whiskey under trap doors and behind secret panels of two houses on the premises of Arthur Vanoy, 42, on Burlingame road outside the city limits.

The houses were connected by pipes from which liquor could be drained from one to another when a shortage occurred. The secret panels were discovered when deputies noticed that the house had nine windows outside and only eight inside.

BORAH HALTS VOTE ON BEER

Prohibition Controversy Swirls About Both Sides of Congress

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The whirling prohibition controversy swirled about both sides of the capitol today in extended debate but there was no final decision on proposals to repeal the eighteenth amendment and to legalize beer.

In the senate, a move by Bingham (R. Conn.) to obtain a vote on his bill to legalize beer was thwarted temporarily through a parliamentary maneuver by Borah (R. Idaho).

A little earlier, the senate debated vigorously and reached no agreement on a motion by Senator Barbour (R., N. J.) to bring up for consideration his legislation for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The motion remained on the calendar, however, and that will permit a decision anytime before adjournment. Barbour said he would press for an early vote.

On the house side a petition signed by 77 Republicans asking for an opportunity to vote on the legalization of beer was introduced.

After Borah had displaced the Bingham proposal with other legislation, the Connecticut Republican Republican charged that drys were attempting to save the "timid souls in the Democratic party" from having to vote on prohibition.

Borah, a prohibitionist, contended a currency expansion bill he introduced as a substitute for the beer "rider" on the home loan bank measure "is of more concern than either beer or red liquor."

The Borah proposal thus became the pending question before the senate and Bingham late in the day withdrew his amendment, but he promptly informed newspapermen he intended to offer it again this year.

Yacht Missing for Eight Days Found

New London, Conn., July 8 (AP)—The Ketch Curlew, missing since she entered the Montauk-to-Bermuda race eight days ago, was found safe tonight off Davis South Shoal by the coast guard patrol boat Marion from the local base.

The Marion radioed headquarters the Curlew, with all members of her crew accounted for, was proceeding to New York under her own sail.

London Minister Is Found Guilty

London, July 8 (AP)—An Episcopalian church court today decided that the Rev. H. F. Davidson had been guilty of immorality while posing as a reformer among unfortunate girls.

Chancellor F. K. North of Norwich diocese, who presided at the trial of the grey haired elderly rector of Stiffkey, said sentence would be pronounced later by the bishop of Norwich. The minister may appeal.

The Rev. Mr. Davidson heard the verdict with his son and daughter, and was immediately surrounded by a sympathetic group. One girl rushed up and kissed him. Then he left the courtroom on the run.

Ford Offers Jobs To Men Laid Off

Detroit, July 8 (AP)—The Ford Motor company today offered jobs to policemen and firemen who were laid off by the city last March.

The number who will accept has not been determined, as many of the 237 not recalled to duty have found temporary employment.

7-Year-Old Youth Burned To Death

Cadillac, Mich., July 8 (AP)—Trapped in a bedroom when fire broke out in the home of Mrs. Clara James here, seven year old William James, her grandchild, was burned to death Friday morning. William James, the boy's father, was seriously burned attempting to rescue him.

GARNER WILL NOT YIELD ON AID MEASURE

RELIEF BILL HEADS FOR ALMOST CERTAIN VETO

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, July 8 (AP)—A Democratic attempt to compromise on an unemployment relief bill that would receive President Hoover's signature collapsed today through Speaker Garner's insistence upon a provision for loans to individuals.

As a result of the failure of the negotiations, leaders predicted tonight that the $2,100,000,000 bill would be sent to the President probably tomorrow to receive an almost certain veto.

Garner, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, refused to compromise with senate Democrats, as he had previously declined to yield to President Hoover.

The new effort to seek a compromise from Garner was made by a committee of three Democratic senators appointed by a conference of the senate minority earlier in the day.

To Support Speaker

Some of those in the conference felt that it would be wiser to yield to the President before a veto than after, and proposed the negotiations with Garner.

Although there was considerable criticism in the conference of Garner's stand, there was a strong disposition to support the speaker if he insisted upon sending the bill to the President in its present form.

The committee appointed to talk the matter over with Garner was composed of Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, and Senators Wagner of New York, and Bulkley of Ohio.

They conferred with the speaker for about two hours, and it was finally decided not to revise the bill.

This decision will be reported to the minority conference tomorrow and the Democrats will then decide whether to support the measure.

The conference report was scheduled to come before the senate today, but was withheld until the Democrats could decide upon their course of action.

Already approved by the house, if it is adopted by the senate it will be ready for the White House.

In their discussion of the problem, the senate Democrats gave consideration to the question of a final adjournment of congress and expressed a desire to reach an agreement which would permit winding up the session as soon as possible.

The view was expressed by some that an agreement which would permit the president to sign the bill would clear the way for an early adjournment.

Veto Message Written

Garner, in his conference with the senators, however, indicated he was not convinced that President Hoover would veto the bill in its present form.

The issue for which Garner is standing is that the reconstruction bill.

Shirt, Pipe and Cigarette Case Are Believed Drowning Clues

Munising, Mich., July 8 (AP)—A khaki shirt, briar pipe and leather cigarette case, found last Sunday, July 3, on the Lake Superior shore 10 miles east of Munising, are believed to have belonged to Aubrey Swinton, 21, of Marquette, who drowned Wednesday, June 23, in the lake with his canoe chum, Donald Rains, 18, also of Marquette, shortly after they started from the Southworth camp, six miles west of Munising.

The shirt, pipe and cigarette case were found by Mrs. Lawrence Cady and Mrs. George Depew, of Munising, who were camping near Miner's river. They reported their discovery to Sheriff Frank Runast, of Alcona county, today after they received their first information of the drowning.

The articles found by the Munising women were on the shore at a point approximately 20 miles from the spot near Au Train point where wreckage of the young men's canoe was washed up. Rough weather today again interrupted the search. A party of eight men has established a camp near Au Train point and will continue to patrol the shore and lake.

PRESIDENTIAL PIE!

Cherry Queen Bears Toothsome Gift to Hoover at the White House

Globe Fliers Abandon Race as Plane Cracks Up in Western Russia

BY S. P. RICHARDSON (Associated Press Staff Correspondent) Moscow, July 8 (AP)—The globe-circling adventure of James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, which started in New York with a blaze of speed, has come to an abrupt end in western Russia with only one-third of the flight behind them.

The American pair cracked up their racy monoplane just over the Polish-Russian border, 500 miles east of Berlin, yesterday morning but word of the mishap was only received today.

Neither was seriously injured in the forced landing near Borisov, Russia, 50 miles from Minsk. Their "Century Of Progress" was believed to have developed control trouble. The pilots probably mistook the lights of Borisov for Moscow, and circled for an emergency landing.

Plane Badly Damaged

The end came in a peat bog, the most likely place they could find to set the ship down, and she cracked up in the soft surface. The plane was too badly damaged to proceed. The men spent last night in a hotel at Minsk.

They returned to Borisov today to find out if the ship could be repaired and flown out. If this can not be done, they will salvage as much as possible.

The fliers' luggage was left at Minsk, so they will return there before coming to Moscow. But their time of departure for the capital was uncertain, since they could not be reached by phone at Borisov.

Mattern and Griffin were obviously disappointed at their failure to beat the around-the-world record of 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes, set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty last year.

The fliers would have covered 5,000 miles of the 15,000 around the globe if they had reached the Soviet capital, but they fell more than 400 miles short of the one-third mark.

They left New York Tuesday at 5:01 a. m. (E. S. T.) and after 31 1/2 hours, this was nearly three hours ahead of the Post and Gatty time to Berlin.

The Mattern-Griffin team nevertheless established three records for other fliers to shoot at. They were the first to reach Berlin non-stop from America; they crossed the ocean in less than 11 hours; and they established a flight record from New York to Berlin.

Apparently the fliers' injuries were superficial. It was understood Mattern was the more seriously hurt, although the nature of his hurts was not known.

BAD CURRENTS HALT EFFORTS TO RAISE SUB

RESCUE CREWS NOT ABLE TO REVEAL SIGNS OF LIFE

Cherbourg, France, July 8 (AP)—Strong currents and a rising tide halted efforts to salvage the sunken French submarine Promethee today and small harbor craft, un-equipped for their heavy task, sought shelter in the harbor.

Early tomorrow they will load chains and cables and heavy lines and steam again to the spot, seven miles off Cape Levé, where the Promethee lies in 40 fathoms.

It is hoped that some time in the forenoon the Italian salvage ship Artiglio II and her sister ship, The Rosto, will be there to help. The naval authorities asked for their assistance today and the Artiglio II started immediately from Brest. The Rosto headed for Cherbourg from Havre where she was refueling.

Spot Hull of Boat

The location of the Promethee was clearly marked, the nature and strength of the currents in the vicinity have been fully determined, and everything was ready to proceed with the work of rescue tomorrow, naval officials said. They warned that the difficulties were great.

A special deep-sea diving apparatus was being rushed by train from Toulon and a technical expert was enroute to Cherbourg by airplane.

A scout ship, moving back and forth in the area where the submarine was known to have sunk, spotted the hull this morning and dropped a buoy there.

A few minutes later the Promethee's small telephone buoy was discovered and for a time it was hoped it might still be possible to talk with some of the more than 60 men who went down with the ship.

This hope proved groundless, for there was no sound from the other end of the telephone wire. There were bubbles on the surface, but that did not indicate that there was still life in the submarine.

There is no craft in this harbor with apparatus to send down a diver. Not until the Artiglio and The Rosto get here will the rescuers be able to learn just how the Promethee lies on the bottom.

Cherbourg, of course, buzzed with rumors.

The most exciting was an erroneous report that Lieutenant Amoury Du Mesnil, commander of the submarine, had shot himself. It was quickly denied.

One Door Jammed

There were many unofficial explanations of the cause of the disaster. One of them was the story of one of the seven sailors. A sailor who was on the deck when the Promethee went down said there was a loud hissing noise which brought the captain up from below in a hurry.

As soon as he got out of the hatch, the captain roared an order to all hands to go below and to close all the doors.

The sailor said several doors (Continued On Page Three.)

Long Sought Criminals Captured on Kansas City Golf Links

Kansas City, July 8 (AP)—Three high living, knicker-clad golfers arrested on a public links here were identified today in connection with half a dozen major crimes in the midwest, including bank robberies and the smuggling of firearms into Leavenworth federal prison.

Two of the trio, Thomas Holden, 35, and Francis L. Keating, 33, were returned late today to the Leavenworth penitentiary, from which they escaped with forged passes Feb. 28, 1930, to complete 25-year sentences for the $125,000 Evergreen Park, Ill., mail train robbery in 1926.

Their companion, John Brown, alias John Brennan, ex-convict, was held for authorities at Fort Scott, Kas., to face charges of participating in the $3,000 robbery of the Citizens National bank there June 17.

Bank employes identified his picture and a $500 bond taken in the holdup was found in his possession.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

Democratic attempt to compromise on unemployment relief bill collapsed when Speaker Garner insisted upon administration opposed provision for loans to individuals.

Bingham (R. Conn.) bill to legalize beer was withdrawn as rider to home loan bank bill when Senator Borah (R. Idaho) substituted Glass billion dollar currency expansion bill.

Speaker Garner pledged support for investigation of treasury and federal reserve system proposed in McFadden (R. Pa.) resolution.

President Hoover signed bill appropriating $100,000 for loans to "bonus marchers" for transportation home.

State department said United States is willing to consider individual European proposals for war debts revision.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—One hundred thousand dollars was available tonight to take members of the bonus army back home.

President Hoover late today signed the bill appropriating the money. He had suggested that the step be taken to disperse the thousands of ex-serviced men here and congress rushed it through yesterday.

The measure would provide the cost of transportation for each certified veteran of the World War, along with a subsistence fund of 75 cents a day.

The money would be advanced as a loan, however, to be paid back from future bonus payments.

It remained to be seen whether the men camped here would accept the offer although extremely low food supplies indicated that many of them would.

Responding to questions by newspapermen, Walter W. Waters, the veterans army's commander said he believed "some veterans" would take advantage of the plan. He has repeatedly urged that the men remain in the city until congress votes immediate payment of bonus certificates.

Freighter Docks With Fire In Hold

Boston, July 8 (AP)—The North German Lloyd freighter Hannover docked at pier 47 today with fire raging in her number 3 hold forward and with her crew near exhaustion from a five-day battle to keep the blaze from spreading.

Ships officers said the fire had started in a cargo of peatmoss and that the crew of fifty had tried to smother the flames with steam.

Fireboats and police craft were summoned to the outer harbor by radio and guided the Hannover to the dock.

Five Resolutions

The five resolutions were, briefly (1) an agreement regarding reparations between Germany and the former allies; (2) conditional measures extending a moratorium on intergovernmental debts; (3) an agreement to assist Austria and the Danubian states which are in financial difficulties; (4) creation of a committee to study the grain problem in the Danubian states which are embarrassed by a huge grain surplus; and (5) creation of the machinery for a world economic conference under the auspices of (Continued On Page Three.)

Animal Keeper Is Killed By Bear

Cleveland, July 8 (AP)—Locked in a pen with an ordinarily docile Russian brown bear, Thomas Earl, 56, was torn to death today a few minutes after he was dismissed as an animal keeper at the Brookside zoo.

Unarmed, Earl went into the pen with a breakfast of raw meat, bread and carrots for Sunshine, a 900 pound bear named for his usually even temper.

The keeper attempted to force Sunshine into a cement pit when the bear suddenly rose on his haunches, encircled Earl's shoulders with one paw and began clawing him with the other.

Edward Hagan, tender of the lions and tigers, saw what was happening and ran to the gate of the pen, but found the steel door locked. Earl must have reached outside the pen and locked the doors," Hagan said.

Two deputies each fired five times with .38 caliber revolvers, killing the bear as he slumped down over his victim. Coroner A. J. Pearce later found two bullets which would have caused death, struck Earl, but the victim was already dead.

CASE AGAINST FORD DROPPED

Judge Bell Grants Sen. Rushton's Motion for Directed Verdict

Iron Mountain, July 8 (Special)—The $40,000 damage suit of Willis McDonald, 403 East B street, against the Ford Motor company because of injuries he claims to have received while working at the Ford plant here in May, 1924, was discontinued in circuit court at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Judge Frank A. Bell granted the motion of Senator H. J. Rushton, of Escanaba, Ford counsel, for a directed verdict.

McDonald's complaint set forth that on May 24, 1924, he was injured while at work as a top-loader at the plant. He represented that he was paid compensation for a period of two and one-half weeks, under the workmen's compensation law, but that he resumed work with the company thereafter.

Asked Total Disability Allowance On June 19, it was set forth, McDonald filed a petition with the department of labor and industry asking compensation for total disability. An arrangement was entered into, the plaintiff said, whereby he was repaid $14 a week from June 11, 1929, to August 5, 1929, and that he was then to be sent to Detroit for examination and treatment. It was further agreed, he said, that upon his return from Detroit he would be given steady employment at work he was able to perform, receiving therefore $25 a week for the remainder of his life.

These promises, McDonald claimed at the hearing, were made to him by George Kuss, of the Ford compensation department, and Tom Homes, then in charge of the employment department at the plant.

McDonald, in his original petition and as he reiterated on the stand yesterday, said that the agreement had not been fulfilled, and it was wholly upon the basis of the verbal contract that the damage action was begun.

Job Too Hard, Claim

He related the conversation which he claimed to have had with Kuss and Homes, the trip to Detroit and his examination there, his further treatment at the Ford hospital here, his later assignment to light work, and, finally, his assignment to a job which, he asserted, he could not do because of his physical condition.

"When I told them I couldn't do the work," McDonald said, "they told me I was 'all washed up' with the Ford Motor company."

Yesterday's hearing was the third which has been started and discontinued in the issue. The first was begun in January, 1931, in Gogebic county and was discontinued upon the motion of McDonald's counsel, Ray Derham, because, Derham said, proper service could not be made in Gogebic county at that time on the parties directly involved.

Second Hearing Ends

Immediately thereafter the case was reopened in Gogebic county, and was later discontinued upon the motion of the Ford Motor company's counsel to the effect that no service could legally be made upon Tom Homes, a defendant, because Homes was then in Gogebic county as a witness in another case. Derham reopened the case a third time in Dickinson county, with the development yesterday afternoon when the court granted Rushton's motion.

In his cross-examination of McDonald, Attorney Rushton brought out that the plaintiff had resided in Ironwood for seven months, during the course of the proceedings there; that he resided at the Park hotel and paid $5 a week for his room, eating at restaurants; that he was unsuccessful in finding work and that at least a part of the money required for his maintenance was loaned to him by his attorney, Ray Derham, and some he obtained here from his mother.

Attorney Rushton entered a motion for a directed verdict immediately after Derham had presented his opening summary to the jury. Judge Bell took no action then, advising the Ford counsel that he would wait until the plaintiff's case was in before passing on the motion. And it was immediately after the conclusion of the testimony for the plaintiff that the court granted the motion and dismissed the jury.

Contract Would Be Void

As to George Kuss, one of the defendants in the issue, the court held that the testimony showed that whatever he did in the matter of the alleged verbal contract with McDonald he did as a representative of the Ford Motor company and not in his own belief; that even if he did make the promises claimed by the defendant he did so without consideration, and that such a contract was also void under the statute of frauds, and was unenforceable because it was a promise to pay the obligation of another, and not in writing.

As to the Ford Motor company, the court held that the plaintiff's evidence showed that the contract he sued under was in violation of the workmen's compensation law, which forbids any employe to waive the benefits of the law and provides that any contract made to that end is invalid; also that the contract was not approved by the department of labor and that even if it had been approved it was unenforceable because it was not in accordance with the terms of the statute.

Attorney Derham did not indicate

DOUBLE FEATURE

One of the most colorful screen dramas of the current season was revealed to local theatregoers yesterday, when Universal's "Night World" opened an engagement yesterday at the Delft Theatre.

The picture stars Lew Ayres, and presents this popular young man in a characterization of an entirely new type. He handles the role like the capable actor he is, and makes us sympathize with him even while we condemn many of his actions. No role in his career has demanded a greater measure of forceful acting ability.

Not the least remarkable feature of this fast-moving screen play is the fact that the entire action of the story is laid, within a gay night club, a gigantic setting which is a marvel of motion picture craftsmanship. The story covers the events of a single night, and it is a night filled with a swift succession of exciting incidents.

Now's the time to catch up on all the laughs missed this season by going to the Delft Theatre to see George Sidney and Charlie Murray in "Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood."

Nothing more rollicking has appeared on a local screen this year than the sky-rocketing burst of humor that abounds in this Universal feature length farce. Irish Charlie Murray and Jewish George Sidney, with wives and children respectively, carry their genial, friendly feud to the very citadels of Hollywood, where fame, temperament and vanity lay them low.

THIS MAN HAD THE LAST WORD

Aroused in the night to attend to the wants of her small son, an Escanaba woman turned on the light in a room and a moment afterward nearly dropped through the floor as she heard a man's voice behind her say:

"Good evening, everybody!"

Naturally it gave her a fright, for she knew that the house was locked when she retired, and the first thought was that a stealthy intruder had secreted himself in the house to pillage and rob.

Then the voice continued—

"—Vincent Lopez speaking."

It was the radio, plugged in to a light socket of the chandelier. Usually the key was turned off at night, but on this occasion it chanced that only the wall switch was turned off, and when the lights were turned on again the radio went into action, just by chance at the introduction of a new orchestra number on the program.

Novelty

We had the extreme pleasure of seeing a new view of this picture a short while ago... it affected us as few pictures can... so we took time out to analyze it at leisure... and suddenly came face to face with the startling fact that we had just witnessed a striking example of rare screen entertainment... a practically perfect picture...

xxxx We are fully aware of the fact that this is a pretty strong statement... but if you will give us the privilege of the floor for a spell... we will attempt to justify it. Then come see the picture... and judge for yourself...

xxxx Let's first consider the story... by J. K. McGuinness... one of the most cunningly contrived scenarios since talkies began... it seems to have every element that goes into the making of screen entertainment... There is not an emotion... an appeal... in the entire range of audience interest... That you cannot find projected somewhere in this most remarkable production... It simply grips you... Holds you with taut nerves... A Plays on all the gamut of emotions... and holds you spellbound right to the final smash surprise climax...

xxxx The Story is a beautifully balanced combination of powerful situations and powerful human touches... The latter King True... So uncanny was the sensation created in us... that several times we felt like butting into the proceedings... to warn the hero... to take a sock at the villain... and get up and cheer the courtroom scenes... and, boys and girls... when a picture can get a hard bodied crit like that... it must be elevated to a select niche all by itself...

CURRENCY BILL GETS SUPPORT

Expansion Advocated by Borah to Halt Fall Of Prices

Washington, July 8 (AP)—In an appeal for the return of increased and stabilized commodity prices, Senator Borah (R. Ida.), today offered in the senate the Glass billion dollar currency expansion bill as a substitute for the Bingham amendment to legalize beer.

"Any measure to stop deflation must be of greater concern than either beer or red liquor," shouted the Idaho Republican in the midst of debate over prohibition repeal and modification proposals.

Declaring nine million persons were out of employment and farmers were unable to sell their products, the Idahoan said there was "no escape from chaos unless the government stays the fall of commodity prices."

Suggests Conference

"If we are going to hold our ground and not let it go to other nations to build up their trade," he said, "we certainly ought to use it as a basis for expanding our currency—not only into the millions, but into the billions." Borah also urged the calling of an international monetary conference immediately without waiting until after the elections.

"The situation is so serious," he said, "that any step that can possibly be taken should be taken now."

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, expressed the hope the Borah motion to substitute the currency bill proposed by Senator Glass (D. Va.), for the beer amendment would prevail.

"It contemplates a sound arrangement," Robinson said, "by which the currency can be expanded about $955,000,000."

Borah said it had been estimated the deflation had cost the United States from $150,000,000,000 to $200,000,000,000 compared with the $35,000,000,000 cost of the World War.

The Glass measure, he added, was "conservative" and by no means could it be assailed "as inflation in the objectionable sense in which that word is used."

SIX EUROPEAN NATIONS WILL SIGN ACCORD

The League of Nations. There was nothing about a "gentlemen's agreement" linking reparations with war debts nor was there any reference to the "war guilt" clause of the Versailles treaty.

It was in the early morning hours today that the break occurred in a Franco-German deadlock over this nearly final chapter in postwar finance.

Germany had been insisting, through her new chancellor, Franz Von Papen, that the war guilt clause, placing the stigma on Germany, must be eliminated. France was equally firm against this political demand and also refused to accept 1,900,000,000 marks (currently about $450,000,000) as a final bonded settlement.

Make Concessions

Chancellor Von Papen rejected the allied suggestion for a series of bonds totalling 4,000,000,000 marks (currently about $1,000,000,000).

And there were when the clouds broke.

Germany finally dropped the war guilt point, and it was understood to submit the question to the League of Nations later.

Then Premier Edouard Herriot of France met this gesture by announcing a willingness to scale down the final settlement bonds to a total of 3,000,000,000 gold marks, or $750,000,000.

This was a bargain.

The details of the bond issue were in brief that German bonds for the equivalent of $750,000,000 would be issued when Germany's credit would permit, and the price would be 90. The bond issue would be withheld, however, for at least three years.

The sinking fund requirement was fixed at one per cent and maturity in 37 years was agreed upon, but if the issue is not floated within 15 years it would automatically be cancelled.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Herriot were the happiest statesmen here over the settlement, which came at the climax of protracted conferences since June 16.

Several times failure stared the delegates in the face, and as many times did they return doggedly to the task. More recently they were prodded by Mr. MacDonald, who insisted on an agreement before the week-end.

He got it.

President Hoover has insisted upon the terms of the senate bill, which limits loans to self-liquidating projects of a public character.

Senate Republican leaders decided late today to vote against the conference report in view of President Hoover's objections to it.

They were advised that President Hoover has already written his veto message and will send it back to congress as soon as the bill reaches him.

Comptroller Rules On Pay Reductions

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The 30-day furlough imposed on more than 500,000 of the government's employees by the economy bill will result in deduction of two and a half days' pay from each monthly pay envelope, effective July 1.

This was ruled today by Comptroller General McCarl. "At the same time administrative orders were in the making by which the federal workers would serve through these unpaid days each month and accumulate vacation time later."

The council of personnel administration, on whose recommendation President Hoover is to promulgate regulations, decided today that while the five-day week was desirable in principle, it would work great hardship on many departments and could not be applied except in a few branches.

McCarl's ruling prevented employees from taking leave now and paying for it later. All time taken off in excess of payless days already worked will be deducted immediately from the employee's next check. He also shut the door on taking leave accumulated from past years.

ment would be followed after the election in this country with renewed demands for war debt cancellations.

"There will probably be a deep and significant silence by the administration until after the elections," Johnson said off the floor, "but then those who believe America should receive its due must be on guard."

"It means that the United States must pay the ultimate cost of the great war, just as the moratorium has meant, as events have demonstrated, that the overburdened American people must pay in heavy taxes what European debtors of ours should pay."

Probe Actions Of Tax Commissioner

Detroit, July 8 (AP)—Investigations have been ordered of Arthur C. Whitcomb, county tax commissioner, following his admission that he has obtained options on real estate which the county had expected to purchase as a new office building site. Whitcomb admitted he already has profited between $4,000 and $5,000 in option purchases.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Freight Car Looted—Police at Escanaba were advised yesterday of the theft of foodstuff from a C. & N. W. freight car on the track for Train 137. The missing goods included: three boxes canned meat, a box of meat for a recreation club, three cases of milk and cocoa compound, all destined for the Marquette district.

Fewer Babies Arrive—Birth records at the city health office show 31 new babies in Escanaba for the month of June. During the same period there were 24 deaths.

Market Today—Benches and tables have been newly painted, ready for the first municipal market of the season today at the corner of Ninth and Ludington. Berries, chickens, eggs and other farm and garden produce are expected to be in stock.

Fair Meeting—The executive committee of the Upper Peninsula State Fair will meet at the office of George E. Harvey, secretary, Monday morning to discuss plans for the 1932 fair. Members of the committee are: W. W. Blake Arkool, Marquette; John T. Turnbull, Newberry; and A. A. Lundgaard, Cornell.

TRIO OF THUGS UNDER ARREST

national Leavenworth federal prison break of last December, various bank robberies and a murder or two.

Federal agents, whose two-year search for the escaped convicts ended on the golf links late yesterday, said the questioning about the Lindbergh kidnaping was routine, but that the men had been suspected of aiding in the smuggling of arms into Leavenworth prison last year.

They were known as friends of Harold Fontaine, charged with having furnished arms to the seven prisoners who made a break from Leavenworth last December, kidnaped Warden T. B. White, and wounded him before four were captured and three died in a besieged farm house.

While at large from Leavenworth, Keating and Holden are charged with having participated in the spectacular robbery of the Kraft State bank at Menomonee, Wis., in which James Kraft, son of the bank president, and two robbers died.

They are suspected of the $21,000 Yankton, S. D. bank robbery a year ago. Duluth officers hold a warrant charging Keating with robbing a bank messenger there of $8,500 in cash and $50,000 in bonds last October.

Max Towl, county attorney at Lincoln, Neb., said he would have the two men questioned about the $2,500,000 Lincoln National bank robbery September 17, 1930.

U. P. Hen Lays Egg 205 Days Straight

East Lansing, July 8 (AP)—A new consecutive day egg laying record today was claimed for an upper peninsula white leghorn hen. G. W. Putnam, director of the experiment station there, informed the Michigan State college poultry department that bird No. 308 had laid an egg for 205 consecutive days. College authorities said it was a record for the state.

as soon as the currency expansion measure is out of the way.

The parliamentary maneuvering marked a hot prohibition struggle which lasted most of the day. Debate was sharper and less humorous than yesterday.

Barbour led the fight for his motion with the assertion he could not understand "the hesitancy of the senate" to act on prohibition.

On both sides of the capitol the spectacle was afforded of wet Republicans entreating the Democrats, in the name of the new repeal and modification plank, to help them put through beer legislation.

After beckoning futilely for two days for united support from the Democratic side, Senator Bingham said hopes he had held that the Democratic prohibition plank meant that members of the party in the senate would join his move for beer were unfounded.

The house beer petition was read by Representative LaGuardia (R. N. Y.). It said with both parties now on record "for a change in the prohibition policy of the United States, there can be no honest justification" for delay.

During the senate debate, Barbour questioned by Glass (D. Va.), said he personally does not favor the prohibition plank adopted by his party.

Then Senator Reed (R. Pa.) asked Glass whether he favors the plank of the Democratic party, and the Virginian replied in the negative.

Defending prohibition, Senator Sheppard (D. Tex.), co-author of the eighteenth amendment, said he intended to oppose any effort to change the dry laws unless instructed otherwise by the people of his state.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, denounced the prohibition discussion as a waste of time.

"The real question, while the legislation remains unchanged, is what constitutes an intoxicating beverage," he said, adding he would not accept Bingham's definition.

Bingham during the day modified his bill to call for beer of 3.45 percent by volume instead of four percent. The Volstead act allows an alcoholic content of one-half of one percent by volume.

Charlie Chaplin Is Richest Celebrity In Film Industry

Los Angeles, July 7 (AP)—The county assessor has answered one of Hollywood's great speculations, namely: Who is filmdom's richest celebrity?

The assessment roll revealed today he is none other than that prince of comedians, Charlie Chaplin.

Chaplin possesses taxable stocks and bonds valued at $7,687,570, cash and solvent credits totaling $295,600 but his automobile is worth only $770.

There were also a variety of other intriguing secrets about Hollywood's finances which came out of the assessors' office, such as:

That Greta Garbo owns taxable stocks and bonds valued at $122,010, an automobile listed at $220.

That Gloria Swanson has a harn worth $350.

That Douglas Fairbanks is runner-up to Chaplin, possessing taxable stocks and bonds worth $689,000.

FORD RIVER ROAD

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made that bids for the paving of the old Ford River road will be opened on July 26, and that construction of the concrete pavement will be started within a few days afterward.

The old Ford River Road has been immortalized by the well known poet, Douglas Malloch, who was inspired to write a poem about it several years ago while he was visiting relatives here. It is with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure that many citizens await the improvement of this highway. They admit that the heavy traffic that is imposed upon this road calls for a better type of pavement, but their sentimental hearts are hurt to no little extent when they realize that many of the crooks and turns, which they came to know so well, will be straightened out and many familiar trees and other landmarks will be removed.

They appreciate the fact, however, that the state highway department will bend all efforts to retain as much of the scenic features of the Ford River road as is possible. The beautification of roadsides is one of the important programs of highway building in Michigan because such work has been found to be decidedly worthwhile. Highways are built now with due regard to both the utilitarian and aesthetic aspects, making riding on them a real pleasure to tourists and also our own citizens.

And once again, the Press feels compelled to publish Douglas Malloch's poem, knowing it will be appreciated by the many readers who have come to love that winding, scenic road:

The Ford River road ambles out of town

As an urchin runs out to its play,

And it bids a goodbye to the "swellings of brown"

And is out in the woods and away.

The hills is runs up and the vale it runs down

And it follows the shore of the bay.

For the Ford River road runs wherever it wills

And it knows both the gull and wren;

It looks on the waves and it clammers the hills

And is lost in the forest again; It looks on green islands and crosses the hills

And it follows the field or the fen.

The Ford River road runs wherever it please

By the farmer's or fisher's abode;

The laughter of waters, the sighing of trees,

Making lighter the heaviest load—

And I wish I might follow as happy as these

A life like the Ford River road.

WORK APPRECIATED

SO SELDOM does the city council receive a word of praise for its efforts that its members must have been exceedingly surprised when a delegation of North Escanaba citizens expressed its appreciation of the beautification work carried on at Rose park.

The public is usually quick to voice its dissatisfaction of the work done or not done by its servants, but constructive accomplishments go by without a word of mention in many instances. It is this attitude assumed by the people that makes public service so uninviting to many good citizens.

Public service is a thankless job, in some respects, but still it is one of the responsibilities of citizenship that everyone should be ready to accept. Time was when many sought public office for the honor attached, rather than for its compensation, but now many citizens feel that to accept such duty is merely to put themselves up as targets for abuse.

One famous man said, however, that the citizen who goes into politics should not expect any thanks for the good service he has performed. The satisfaction that comes from honest, public service, he explained, should come from the individual's own knowledge that he has always followed the dictates of his conscience and given the best of his abilities. There is much truth in this line of reasoning, but it is not altogether consoling to those in public life. Everyone enjoys a little recognition from the public, after all.

RAILROADS IN THE CAMPAIGN

"IN VIEW of present conditions in the railroad industry and industries dependent upon it for a market, it might reasonably have been expected that the railroad problem would have been given careful and grave consideration by the two great political parties in selecting their candidates and in framing their platforms," says the Railway Age in a current editorial. "Nevertheless, the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention at Chicago contains no direct reference to the transportation problem.

"The Republican platform contains a plank which commits the Republican party to the proposition that the terms of competition fixed by public authorities should operate without discrimination so that all common carriers which will at least give the railroads that equality of competitive conditions for which the Republican platform declares, but of which there is no mention in the Democratic platform.

"If the Democratic party wants the votes of those who are directly and indirectly dependent upon the railroad industry for their employment and incomes, it should find some way of making that fact known before the election in as unequivocal terms as those used by the Republican party in its platform."

"There is little room for choice between the past records of the Republican and Democratic parties in their dealings with the problems of transportation. The radicals in both parties usually have dominated transportation legislation and apparently have been determined to ruin the railroads and drive them into government ownership at any cost. Both Republican and Democratic presidents have usually appointed men to the Interstate Commerce Commission whose records regarding transportation matters, if they had any, indicated that they would be more likely to be hostile than helpful to the railroads.

"With the record that it has at the present time, there can be no doubt whatever as to the ticket and platform which should be regarded with the more favor by the millions of voters who desire to see the traffic and earning capacity of the railroads restored. The Republican platform unquestionably expresses the views of the Republican nominee for re-election as president, and the declaration we have already quoted from it represents a policy which, in common fairness to the railroads, should be adopted, and which every employee and security owner of a railway company or a railway equipment supply manufacturing company ought, in his own interest, to work and vote to get adopted. The Democratic national convention did not see fit to make any similar declaration, and nobody who can speak authoritatively for it has yet made any such declaration.

"Excepting as regards transportation question, there is little choice for those directly interested in the future of the railroad industry between the candidates and platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties. The action of the Republican convention in adopting the declaration of policy regarding the transportation problem that it did, and the failure of the Democratic convention even to refer to it, has therefore thus far given the Republican party and its candidates a claim upon the votes of those who want to see transportation policies adopted which will be fair to those directly and indirectly dependent upon the railroad industry, and in the interest of the public welfare, which the Democratic party and its candidates do not

"Leap Year Bride"

(By NEA Service) By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

CHAPTER XXXIX CHERRY stood looking out at the wet street. The rain had begun early in the morning, a steady downpour that threatened to continue throughout the night. It had rained every day of the week so far. October apparently was trying to masquerade as April, but the wind was colder and the days were growing shorter. Now at 5:30 dusk was gathering and in half an hour the street would be in darkness.

A slight noise attracted the girl's attention. Cherry's exclamation was only half annoyed. Pinky, the kitten, had pushed the basket of socks and darning supplies to the edge of the window seat. It had fallen and the frightened kitten was in the midst of the deluge.

"Pinky!" the girl scolded. "I told you to leave those spoons alone! Aren't you ashamed?" The sentence went unfinished. There was a knock at the door and Cherry hurried to open it. Dixie Shannon stood in the hallway in dripping raincoat, gaiters and limp felt hat. "Look at me!" she moaned. "My permanent's ruined! I had it put in only a week ago. Did you ever see such a sight? I couldn't get a taxi and I had to wait hours for a car. I'm simply soaked!"

"You certainly are!" Cherry agreed. "Come in and get that wet coat off."

Dixie struggled with the clumsy gaiters. "Might as well have left these at home," she grumbled. "Holes in both heels. Oh—what a day this has been! What a day!"

Cherry took the wet raincoat and spread it over a chair. Raindrops trickled in a little stream from Dixie's hat. The brown hair that had been waved "permanently" a week before was indeed a sorry sight. At one side of her face it hung down longer than the other and was almost straight. The part that had been protected from the moisture frizzed outlandishly.

Dixie caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror and squealed in dismay. "What'll I do?" she exclaimed. "I look like a Hot-tentot!"

"Better get into dry clothes," Cherry suggested. "I'll see if I can set that wave for you if you want me to."

"You lamb! Will you really?" "Yes, but you'll have to take a hot bath first and put on something warm. Otherwise you'll have pneumonia!"

Dixie reached for her coat and hat. "I'll be right back," she promised. Almost at the door she stopped. "But I forgot—Dan will be coming—"

"He's having dinner down town tonight," Cherry told her. "Slip into a bathrobe, Dixie, and come down and eat with me. Everything's ready and I was dreading the meal alone."

"Give me 10 minutes and I'll be here with bells on!"

It was a little more than that before Dixie returned. She pushed the door open, raised her tip-tilting nose and sniffed appreciatively. "Food!" Dixie announced. "And such food!"

The table had been drawn out and places laid for two. The odors of baked pork chops, fresh vegetables and muffins mingled appetizingly. Cherry was pouring water into amber tumblers.

"Everything's ready," she announced. "And does it look good? Cherry, you're a genius, that's what you are. I've never heard of anyone who could learn to cook the way you have in such a short time. Here I've been struggling with a frying pan for years—and what does it get me?"

Dixie wore a green and white striped bathrobe that apparently had shrunk. She wore floppy blue satin mules on her feet and black lace hose. Her bobbed hair, partly dry now, looked more than ever like the exaggerated coiffure of a Fiji Island princess.

Cherry glanced at her and laughed. "You did wreck that permanent!" she said. "I'm no professional but I think I can promise a little improvement!"

"It cost $7.50," Dixie announced dolefully. "And I thought it was going to make me look like Joan Crawford. Well—there's no use crying over a rolling stone—whatever it is they say. Looking at those pork chops makes me feel a lot better even if my beauty is ruined."

They were sitting at the table now and Cherry served the plates. Dixie broke open a steaming muffin and the golden butter melted as it touched the bread.

"Dan Phillips is missing an elegant dinner if anyone should ask me," Dixie said. "By the way, what's Dan doing? Working on that play of his?"

Cherry shook her head. "No. Dan's at the office. He said he had a lot of extra work and wanted to stay until it was finished."

"At the office?" The other girl looked up. For an instant she seemed about to speak but then her eyes lowered. "Didn't you see him there?" Cherry asked. "Why—oh, yes, he was there when I left." There was another pause and Dixie broke it to say, "Umm! These muffins are marvelous. If I could bake muffins like this one I'd be the proudest person in the world!"

"You can have the recipe," Cherry told her. "They're awfully simple to stir up."

At the other side of the room Pinky, the kitten, was playing with a rubber ball. He gave the ball a smart slap and it went rolling across the floor. Pinky flew after it.

CHERRY looked at the kitten. She said, "I'm glad you stopped in tonight, Dixie. Pinky's been the only company I've had all day. It's lonesome here when it's so dark and gloomy outside."

"Well, it was a break for me to walk into a meal like this," Dixie assured her heartily. "Don't know when I've had such food!"

"I wish I had a job like you have," Cherry went on. "I wish I could write or draw or know shorthand. I've always wanted to do something worth while."

"Say—what could be more worth while than cooking a meal like this?"

Cherry shrugged, but her smile was wistful. "How's Dan's play coming?" the other girl asked.

"It's been finished and now they're writing the second act over again. It seems to take an awfully long time to write a play."

Quotations

I feel and believe that we are at the bottom of the depression through which we have been passing, and from now on we may reasonably hope for a gradual but none the less constant improvement.

—Daniel Willard, President Ballre & Ohio Railroad.

There is abroad in our modern democracies an infectious disease which may best be described as candidantitis. It thrives upon platitudes and upon rhetorical expressions of truths so old and so universal that one must wonder why they are repeated.

—Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University.

I guess women are no judge of looks. They've passed me up all my life.

—Senator Huey Long of Louisiana.

I believe that in 190 or 200 years there will be no more democracies in existence. We do not know enough to govern ourselves. It is an extreme sorrow to me that the country I love, where I have lived and where I have many friends, seems to be going through a period where nobody can step on the bridge and steer the ship. —H. Gordon Selfridge, native of U. S., now mercantile leader in England.

Do You Remember?

Who was the first white child born in Escanaba? He was Martin L. Dunn, whose date of birth is given as 1863. The child was presented with a town lot.

When the Greenhoo Brothers started one of the leading mercantile and real estate firms of early years? Simon Greenhoo came from Austria in 1869, and started a men's furnishings store, dealing in socks, lumbermen's mackinaws and other articles. In 1870, he was joined by his brother, Solomon, and a short time later another brother, Julius, came here. Julius is the only surviving member of the firm. About 1879, the Greenhoo brick block on lower Ludington street, was built, recently occupied by the Escanaba Broom company. In 1896, the Greenhoo's established the Delta County Bank, which they conducted for several years.

When the first family residence was constructed here? It was erected by J. N. Hiller in 1864, and was located upon the present site of the freight yards.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch (Copyright 1932 by Douglas Malloch)

WHAT IS FAILURE? What is failure? Not the falling. What your cause or what your calling. For the feet of climbing men slip and slide, and climb again. They who fail are those who falter. Goal abandoned, purpose altered. He who turns again to valets is the only one who fails.

What is failure? Not returning to the task, by losing learning. But to lay the task aside, With surrender satisfied. Ships meet storms and mortals sorrow. But the ship sails on tomorrow And the mortal walks the name. Tries again, the task the same.

What is failure? Not the dying. But the man who ceases trying. Not until you try no more Cause is lost or battle o'er. He who onward, upward presses Every day wins new successes. Here a bit, and there a bit. What is failure? 'Tis to quit.

Hitch-Hiking Candidate
For Governor Aights
In Manistique Yesterday

The hitch-hiking Republican gubernatorial candidate, Oris
Bailey, who will oppose Governor Brucker in the fall primary election, visited in Manistique yesterday as a part of his campaign which will carry him into the four corners of the state.

Bailey, a dirt farmer who owns 300 acres in Shiawassee county, has taken the novel means of "thumbing" his way about the state in the interests of his candidacy, although he has a good car which he can well afford to drive.

"I could drive my car about the state," declared Bailey yesterday,
"but I find I get in touch with a more representative cross-section of voters by hitch-hiking. I ride with all kinds of people, tell them who I am and get their viewpoints on public affairs with particular reference to the state."

Bailey, a man of 50, is quiet and unassuming and neatly dressed. He is glad to give his views, however, on any subject of state politics.

"I am getting a great kick out of my campaign, enjoying every minute of it. Also I am getting a great deal of encouragement. I realize that under normal conditions I wouldn't have a chance of winning the governor's office."

Bailey has been on the "go" for more than three months now and plans to continue his vagabond method of travel until the September election. During his absence his farm is being taken care of by his son, a high school graduate. Bailey jots down the name and address of every driver who gives him a lift, in his little red book which now contains over 600 names.

Munising News

July 26 Is Last
Date For Filing

Candidates for all county, legislative or state offices must file their nomination petitions not later than 6 o'clock, standard time, on July 26. The primary election will be held on the 13th days of September and the new law requiring filing of nominating petitions must be within seven weeks of the time of the primaries. So far, very little interest is manifested in Alger county over the county offices. Recently the board of supervisors passed a resolution to appoint a county road commissioner instead of electing, as has been the custom in the past. This removes one contest in the coming election. On the Republican side of the political game there is little or no opposition to the present incumbents of county offices and it is expected that the officials will all be candidates for re-election. There is some talk for the nomination of an entire Democrat county ticket, but up-to-date the only avowed candidates are James Hoy, for treasurer and James Hosking for judge of probate. Mr. Hoy has already circulated his petition.
In the city of Munising all voters must re-register in order to vote at the forthcoming primary election. The last day for re-registration is Saturday, the 10th day of September. Applicants for re-registration must apply to City
Clerk Potter at the city hall.

40 Planes Will Stop
At Munising Tuesday

Airplanes for the Michigan air force will stop at Hanley field Tuesday forenoon if they arrive on schedule time, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Mayor Kemp has issued a proclamation asking the business places to close from the hour of arrival until 2 o'clock for the purpose of affording all our citizens an opportunity to visit the field and view the fleet of forty airplanes which are expected to be here at that time.

RETURNED THURSDAY

Rev. H. T. Broughall and wife and son Henry, returned home Thursday from a ten days' visit at Lansing, where the Presbyterian synod of Michigan held its annual meeting. While in the lower peninsula they visited with friends in Saginaw and vicinity.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Baldwin returned home Thursday night from a two weeks' trip through the lower peninsula. They were accompanied back by their daughter, Mrs. Bert Miles and daughter Marilyn, of Detroit, who will visit here during the summer.

Miss Idele LaBlue of Marquette is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eli St. Amour.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Shampine leave today for Manistique where they will be the guest of friends over the week-end.

Miss Florence Root of Kalkaska is visiting at the home of Mrs.
Ella Schwartz.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs.
Ray Adair last Thursday.

Dr. Scholtes and daughters,
Gretchen, Alice Mary and Elizabeth, returned Wednesday evening from Wabasha, Minn., where they visited the doctor's parents.

Attorney George A. Baldwin, Jr., of Grand Rapids, is here on a visit to his parents for a couple of weeks.

NATURAL PHENOMENA OF GREAT BEAUTY

Drivers on M28 between the Pines and as far as Evelyn, a distance of about 12 miles, witnessed a beautiful sight last Thursday evening between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock. The pine plains on the right side of the road appeared to contain a lake, dotted with numerous islands, the glades resembled bays, fringed with trees, branches and foliage reflected in the water. It was a most unusual sight, resembling a mirage, but likely caused by the peculiar cloud formation reflected by a very brilliant moon.

ELECTION MONDAY

The annual school election will be held next Monday in all school districts. In the Munising township school district there is but one polling place, located at the old city hall on Lynn street, which is the polling place for predict No. 1, for all elections. Voters have to come here from as far as Melstrand to vote at the school election, consequently, unless there is some contest on, the vote is generally very light. There are but two candidates in the

14 SCOUTS TO ATTEND CAMP
Seek Odd Jobs to Pay
Tuition Fee for 10
Days Encampment

Fourteen members of the local boy scout troop intend to leave here on Sunday, July 17, for Camp Harlow, nine miles northwest of Marquette, on their annual outing, that is, all can earn enough money between now and that time to pay their tuition fee of $7.50. Camp Harlow is the official camp for all boy scout troops in the Hiawatha area boys can learn at first hand the wonders of nature through the various scouting activities administered by able directors.

A stipulation made by the local troop is that all scouts who intend to make the encampment must earn their tuition fee—it cannot be given or donated to them. Some of the group have already found sufficient work so that they have the sufficient funds on hand, but others are having difficulty in securing work.

Persons having odd jobs for which they would be willing to spend a small amount of money to have done are urged to call either Ed Lafave, local scoutmaster, or E. R. Monroe, chairman of the troop, who will make the proper assignments. Scouts who are looking for part time work so as to accumulate funds for the trip are Pete Peterson, Chester Currie, Harold Cockram,
Dick Katzenstein, Ed Carrington,
Bruce Peasley, Billy Raredon,
Leonard Mulhaupt, and Sony
Williamson. The time is now very limited and residents who have odd jobs for the boys should notify those in charge as soon as possible. The local troop is being sponsored this year by the American Legion post.

Manistique scouts will attend the camp during the first ten day period, from July 18 to July 27;
the second period will be from August 22 to September 2.

Take Movies Of Big Spring Last Monday

Kitch-it-ki-ki, familiarly known as the Big Spring, broke into the movies Monday and in a short time local residents may be able to see it projected upon a screen.
Free lance movie men touring the country in an attempt to screen natural wonders took movies of Schoolcraft county's biggest attraction from all angles and will try to induce either the Nature's Curiosity Co. or the Buffet News to purchase it.

Pictures were taken of the buildings and grounds and the approach to the spring. Persons visiting the spring on that day were lined up and filmed as they boarded the raft and then floated out upon the water. From the raft the photographers filmed the sides and bottom, picturing the craters bottom on the spring floor.

Approximately 6000 people have visited the Big Spring since it was opened on May 15, according to Stanley Reid, supervisor, with 531 seeing the spectacle last Sunday.

A complete moving picture of the Big Spring will be taken later in the summer in a movie to be shown at the World's Fair next year at Chicago.

RAPID RIVER

Rapid River, Mich. (Special)—
Gordon Caswell, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Caswell, submitted to an operation for appendicitis at an Escanaba hospital Tuesday morning. About a year ago Gordon had both legs broken when he was struck by an automobile while he was in the act of pouring water into the radiator of his father's car.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris left Wednesday for Flint where they will visit for several days with their son, Hugh Harris and family.

Arnold J. Kirch and daughters,
Mary Lou and Patricia, of Ann Arbor arrived here Tuesday for a visit at the home of Mr. Kirch's father, C. E. Kirch. They were accompanied by Helen Kirch who has been visiting at Ann Arbor for the past three weeks.

The members of the Congregational Ladies' Aid society had a picnic Wednesday at the American Legion park at Nahma.

Miss Mary Lavolette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lavolette, left Wednesday for Ann Arbor where she will enter the University hospital for surgical treatment on her right ear which has become deaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Bartholomew and family returned to their home at Monroe after visiting for several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Olson.

Napoleon LaPorte, accompanied by his nephew, Gus LaPorte, and his two sons, Lawrence and Paul, returned to his home in Escanaba Thursday evening after spending the day with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs.
Clyde Tank, 505 Pearl street.

Mrs. Leonard Saunders and son, Bill, have returned to their home in Ann Arbor after spending the past several weeks in the city visiting with Mrs. Mayme Saunders. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Saunders' sister, Mrs. Olson, of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tank to Escanaba tomorrow to spend the day. Mr. Tank will return here in the evening, but Mrs. Tank and Joyce will remain there for a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs.
Napoleon LaPorte.

Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Oden, Chicago, are spending a few weeks' at their cottage on Harrison Beach, Indian Lake. Dr. Oden is a member of the staff of surgeons at Augustana hospital.

Congressman and Mrs. Frank F. Bohn, of Newberry, visited with friends in the city on Tuesday.

Dr. W. K. Wright is leaving today for Flint after visiting here for one week with friends.

Andrew Johnson, north Second street, returned home yesterday from the St. Francis hospital in Escanaba, where he has been confined for the past three weeks.
Mr. Johnson submitted to an abdominal operation and is much improved in health.

Diamond Ball

The cellar teams couldn't snap out of their losing streak Thursday evening when the Central Markets defeated the Inlands, 9 to 2, and the Sinclair Oils won from the Manistique Cleaners, 27 to 11.

Both the Cleaners and Oils played an improved brand of ball, however, but did not have sufficient punch to put over victories on their stronger opponents. The Centrals took the lead in the first inning when they tallied headed,
and thereafter were never headed.
The Inlands tallied once in the fourth and again in the sixth.
Stoor and Heatschall formed the battery for the Centrals and Wilcox and Harrington worked for the Inlands.

SCHOOL TAXES WILL BE LESS

Reduction of 14 Per Cent Predicted by Board Members

A reduction of 14 per cent in school taxes for the City of Gladstone are in prospect, according to members of the Board of Education, who are now planning the school budget for next year. While definite figures are not yet available, it is contended that a reduction of not less than $10,000 under the budget figures for last year will result from economies that are to be effected. Last year the budget totalled $70,000.

With the announcement of the budget reduction comes the information that the bonded indebtedness of the schools has been reduced to $28,000, through the retirement during the past year of $56,000 of bonds. Advance payment of $5,000 on bonds that were to come due during the coming year and the retirement of all bonds due in 1934 has placed the schools in excellent financial condition and will make necessary tax provision for bond retirement of only $7,000 during the current year. Next year, no tax need be raised for bond purposes.

The application of all receipts from the Turner fund to bond payments is largely responsible for the sound financial position in which the schools now find themselves. Determined that liquidation of indebtedness should take precedence over tax reductions, the Board of Education has resisted efforts toward a cut in levies until such time as its position was secure. This policy now makes possible a reduction when it is most needed.

The audit of the school accounts is now being made by George Cobb, Escanaba accountant, and when completed will reveal a cash balance of approximately $4,000 in school funds, officials state.

Marble To Report International Meet

The program for the Monday meeting of the Gladstone Rotary club will be under the direction of W. S. Skellenger. It was announced yesterday by Lewis Empson, club secretary. The program to be presented has not yet been announced but Mr. Skellenger indicated yesterday that it will probably consist of a report by Floyd W. Marble, delegate to Rotary International at Seattle, who is expected to return to the city prior to the meeting. In the event that Mr. Marble does not return, Mr. Skellenger will present an outline of his plans for programs for the coming year.

The Monday meeting will be the first under the direction of the recently elected club officers. Mr. J. Magoon, who was elected president at the annual election, will preside.

Leave for Beloit.

Ironwood—Mr. and Mrs. Du Fay R. Rice and Miss Grace Peables, sister of Mrs. Rice, left today for Beloit where Mr. Rice will take up duties as superintendent of the Beloit schools and president of the board of education.

Mr. Rice came here as superintendent of schools in 1920 and announced early in the year that he would not be a candidate for re-election by the Ironwood board. A few months ago he was chosen by the Beloit board from a large field of applicants to become superintendent of the schools there.

Ask $40,000 Damages.

Iron Mountain—Damages of $40,000 are asked by Willis McDonald, residing at 408 East B street, from the Ford Motor company in a suit which opened this morning in circuit court here, the plaintiff contending that he was seriously injured in an accident at the Ford plant in May, 1924.

Ray Derham, attorney, is representing McDonald and H. J. Rush-ton, of Escanaba, is counsel for the Ford company. Indications were that this case would reach the jury probably late this afternoon.

Street Car Ties Offer Solution To Fuel Problem

Removal of the rails from the street car tracks has provided a source of wood supply for a large number of Gladstone families. As fast as the rails were removed in the eastern portion of the city, they were claimed and hauled away. The Traction company has permitted the general public to take the ties without charge.

The removal of ties, however, will be limited to those sections where they are above the street surface, it was stated yesterday, by City Manager F. R. Buechner, who has issued a warning against tearing up the streets. Taking ties that are buried cannot be contemplated, Mr. Buechner said; owing to the cost of refilling the streets. He also pointed out that to dig out the ties would make dangerous holes in the street which would involve the city and traction company in damage suits in the event of an accident.

A large part of the mileage of the street car tracks are at the side of the streets and the ties lie fully exposed. These may be taken by those who avail themselves of the opportunity. No distribution will be made and it will be entirely a case of "first come, first served."

BRIEFLY TOLD

Service at Perkins—At 2:00 Sunday afternoon a service, in both the Swedish and English languages, will be held at the Bethany Lutheran church at Perkins with Rev. C. E. Olsson in charge.

Dance Tonight—Charlie Meln and his Aristocrats of Rhythm will be at Hillside Pavilion this evening.

Ladies' Aid—A meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Lutheran church will be held Sunday afternoon at the Ed. Jackson home, Flooring Plant Addition, beginning at 3:00 o'clock. Everyone is welcome to attend.

THEATRES

When does a big city sleep? Is there ever a time when the whirl and hum of a giant metropolis hush to a whisper?

According to Basil Woon, the answer is never. His research into the unknown of the world's most famous places has led him into many strange adventures.

Among this class, and in the world's most colorful city, Paris, Woon found the inspiration for his latest movie thriller, "White Paris Sleeps," Fox melodrama featuring Victor McLaglen, which will be shown at the Rialto Theatre today. A father's devotion forms the dramatic theme, Helen Mack and William Bakewell are the sweethearts for whose happiness McLaglen risks everything.

Allan Dwan directed "White Paris Sleeps," the entire action of which is laid in fascinating, colorful and sometimes dangerous Montmartre of Paris.

Seven-Run Rally Defeats Lierman's

Hupy's kittenball leaguers staged a seven-run rally in the sixth inning yesterday to defeat Lierman's and drive Mastaga from the mound. Mastaga had relieved Cole in the second inning when a four run attack drove the regular hurler to the showers. Besch's home-run in the sixth, with the bases loaded, was the finale for Mastaga.

Stambulich, Hupy hurler, was touched for 13 hits during the game but kept the blows sufficiently scattered to hold the Lierman team to 8 runs.

RELIEF PROBLEM FACED BY CITY

Improvement Program Limited; Few City Jobs Available

Payroll figures for the last two weeks in June, released yesterday by F. R. Buechner, city manager, show that $1,217.23 was paid for labor to 75 men. Sixty-five of these were temporary employees of the city who had been given work as a relief measure. A total of 33114 hours of work were performed.

During the present period the number of men has been decreased to about half the number employed in June and the prospects now are for little increase in city employment.

Mr. Buechner pointed out that the program of construction for the present year is limited to three blocks of sewers in Montana avenue, with only incidental street repair and utility maintenance. No paving is contemplated and no new water main or power line construction is planned.

Last year the city extended itself in providing employment and advanced its construction program as a relief measure. Five blocks of service sewers were constructed, in addition to the trunk line sewer of 10 blocks laid in Montana and Eleventh streets, 2,000 feet of six-inch water mains were laid, auxiliary power lines were built, city buildings were painted, four blocks of concrete paving were constructed in Michigan avenue, grading work in the cemetery was done and street grading and graveling were carried on on the largest scale ever attempted by the city.

This construction activity carried the community through the year with a minimum of unemployment and kept the costs of direct relief at a low figure.

This year the situation finds the city with no needed water extensions and with sewer facilities adequate. Street improvements have been extended to meet all traffic requirements and paving of streets through special assessments is frowned upon as inopportune.

Faced with the inability to provide employment, City Manager Buechner has concentrated his efforts toward an economical administration of the welfare department. Requests for assistance are carefully scrutinized. Records are kept of food allotments and those receiving aid are required to be frugal. Looking toward the future with a possibility that needs may be increased, every dollar spent for relief is being extended to its limit. No aid is given where real need is not apparent.

The city program, as outlined by City Manager Buechner, contemplates relief so administered as to provide for those who are worthy, without placing an unwarranted tax burden upon the property owners of the city.

Twenty To Attend Rotary Outing

Twenty Gladstone Rotarians will go to Grand Island today to attend the annual outing of upper peninsula Rotary clubs. The day will be spent at out-door sports, including fly-casting, horseshoe pitching and golf, with teams from the various clubs competing.

In the evening a banquet will be served and an excellent after-dinner program presented. The speaker of the evening will be Prof. W. D. Henderson, of the faculty of the University of Michigan. Britt Hall, Escanaba tenor, will provide several vocal selections.

Rotarians will register at 11 o'clock this morning at the Beach Inn.

Pertinent Comment

A number of years ago Lemmon, a South Dakota village, had dreams of becoming the metropolis of the west. Situated in the center of a huge basin, which in prehistoric days had been the floor of a tropical sea, its surrounding surface was liberally sprinkled with geological specimens which were believed to indicate oil and its typographical formations were pointed to as confirming that belief. Surveys were made, opinions of leading geologists were secured, lands were leased and wells were drilled.

Their spirits roused to a high pitch of optimism by the promise of wealth that oil would bring, merchants, bankers, farmers and professional men invested to the extent of their credit in the oil speculation. The venture failed, the wells proved barren of oil and the community was prostrate. One by one its banks closed, its merchants were bankrupt, wealthy ranch owners were sold out and despair was imprinted upon every brow.

There was one among those who had been prominent in the unfortunate venture, however, whose vision was undimmed by the failure of the wells to be productive. He saw, in the fossilized petrified logs and other geological specimens, an opportunity to provide for his city something so unique and so unusual that the losses from oil speculation would be returned to the community from the pockets of the tourist.

Because of this man's vision the citizens of Lemmon now have in their public park a strange-looking and newly erected building which is probably the oldest building in the world. On the face of it this statement may seem paradoxical, but more than one scientist has ventured the opinion that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to find a man made structure fashioned of more ancient materials.

Lemmon's unique building is made entirely of the bones of dinosaurs and other extinct monsters that roamed that part of the world millions of years ago; of fragments of petrified trees that were inundated no one knows how many centuries ago, and of prehistoric fossils of ferns, grasses and insects.

Years of painstaking effort were required to gather the materials and the job of arranging the relics of primitive animal and vegetable life was not an easy one, but the castle-like groto which resulted has attracted tourists from all parts of the world.

Today, Lemmon is prospering in the midst of the depression. Her hotels and garages are crowded. Special trains bringing hundreds of visitors are not unusual. This story of Lemmon is so unique as to offer no parallel by

Delta Democrats Meet Wednesday

A meeting of Delta county democrats will be held Wednesday evening, commencing at 8:00 o'clock, at the Eagle's Hall in Gladstone, to make plans for the coming campaign. It was announced yesterday by Gerald Cleary, county chairman, a general discussion of county, state and national tickets will be the chief object of the meeting.

Mr. Cleary, in calling the meeting, has issued an invitation to the general public, regardless of political affiliation to attend.

Several prominent upper peninsula democrats are expected to be present and address the meeting.

City Receives Primary Notice

Notice of the general primary election has been received by the City of Gladstone from County Clerk Rayne Labre. The election is to be held on September 13, at which time the various political parties will select their nominees for state, congressional and county offices.

The last filing date for nominating petitions of candidates is July 27.

Athletics Win Pair to Pass Defeated Tigers

CHISOX BEATEN IN DOUBLE BILL

Mackmen Triumph, 5-4, and 11 to 2 Over Pale Hose

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP)—Winning both ends of today's double-header with the Chicago White Sox, the Athletics leaped into second place over the Detroit Tigers, six and a half game behind the Yanks. The scores of the Mack triumphs were 5 to 4 and 11 to 2.

Two runs scored in the sixth inning to break a 3 to 3 tie gave the Athletics the first contest. The Mackmen clinched the second game early, scoring four runs that finished Gaston in the first inning, and coming back with five more in the second.

Jimmy Fox hit his 30th home run of the season in the first game and Simmons, cracked his 17th with two on base in the second contest. Roger Cramer hit in both games to run his record of hitting in consecutive games to 22 in a row.

COMBS' HOMER PUNCH ENOUGH

Yankees Defeat Detroit Crew, 3-2, as Result of Circuit Blow

New York, July 8 (AP)—Prof. Earl Combs terminated the Yankees' losing streak suddenly and effectively today when he knocked one of Vic Sorrell's offerings into the distant bleachers with two mates aboard, the big punch being sufficient to give the leaders a 3 to 2 decision over Detroit.

Combs' blow, which came in the third inning, was about all the damage the Yanks could do to the Tiger star. He held them to two scattered hits the rest of the way and yielded only seven in all, but he couldn't match Charles Ruffing.

The Yankee righthander pitched brilliant ball all the way, striking out ten Tigers and allowing only three hits until the ninth frame, when he granted three more. Jonathan Stone, whose bat had wrecked the Yankees' chances the previous day, struck out four times.

The defeat sent the Tigers into third place, below the Athletics, who took a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox.

Catcher Dick Hayworth knocked across both scores off Ruffing, the first in the seventh when he hit into a double play and the other in the ninth on a clean single. The tying and winning runs were on base when Ruffing struck out Rhiel, a pinchhitter, to end the struggle.

Paavo Nurmi Arrives With Finland Runners

BY EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, July 8 (AP)—The sphinx of Finland, inscrutable Paavo Nurmi, came back today to the scenes of some of his greatest triumphs, three years older, married and quite bald at 35, but still one of the world's greatest foot racers.

He stood on the deck of the Mauretania as the giant liner slid up the bay, his floppy felt hat tilting forward fore and aft as it always did, his face the same thin brown mask it always was, the most interesting figure in the advance group of Finland's 1932 Olympic contingent, yet a man apart.

Paavo will not state until just before the Los Angeles games whether or not he is a full-fledged member of Finland's small but brilliant squad of ten track and field athletes, qualified to seek in one last marathon the final glory of a record-smashing career that already has stretched through three Olympics. The International Amateur Federation will meet then to reconsider, at Finland's request, the ban placed on Nurmi last winter for alleged expense account irregularities and failure to appear at scheduled meets in Germany.

He seemed to feel that as he stood in the sun on the top deck while cameras ground and newspapermen vainly sought to pierce the impassiveness and shyness of the slender, hawk-haired, drawn-faced—not a man among them except Paavo who understood a single word of English.

A particular highlight seemed to have fallen on Paavo's command of the language, expanded to "I run fast," "good" and "ugh" during previous American campaigns. He blinked impassively and shook his head at most questions. Interpreters tried their hand in Finnish.

"Did Paavo think his suspension unjust? Did he feel as well as he looked? What time did he expect to run the 25 miles, 385 yards in the Los Angeles if he were reinstated?" Nurmi listened thoughtfully, then he burst forth in a flood of Finnish oratory that lasted several minutes. The interpreter heard him through and spread his hands helplessly.

"Paavo says 'No,'" he announced. Perseverant questioning through reluctant interpreters, did reveal, however, that Nurmi will time himself with a stop watch in the Olympic marathon, if he gets a chance to run, just as he did when he was competing in the shorter distances. His marathon will be his last competitive effort.

Nurmi's companions were Lauri Lethinen, who recently broke Paavo's records for 5,000 meters and three miles; Harri Larva, Martti Luomanen, and Eino Purje, 1500 meters stars; Lauri Virtanen in the 10,000 meters and Vilmar Iso-Hollo, in the 5,000 meters; Verner Tolonen, 3,000 meters; Aklies Jarvinen, in the decathlon, and his brother Kale, in the shot put and weights. They leave tomorrow at noon for Los Angeles.

Another batch of four Americans had 14th. Ed Dudley and Horton Smith posted 73a for their second round while Wiffy Cox had a 74 and Mortie Dietz of Long Beach, Calif., clipped a stroke off par with a 72. Tied along with them for eighth place was the leading Canadian, Andy Kay of Lambton, Ont., who had 75-72-147.

Von Elm, tied for second place with Hagen yesterday with 70, lost his putting touch completely and posted a 78 that tied him with Walter Smithers of Ottawa for 13th place.

Further back and with only an outside chance of winning in the final 36 holes were Phil Perkins, 149; Bobby Crutchshank and Johnny Farrell, 150; Joe Kirkwood and Tomekichi Miyamoto of Japan, 151; Jose Jurado, Argentina, 152; Bill Burke and Tony Manero, 153; Emmett French 154; and Tom Cravy, American professional champion, 156.

Watrous' round of 70 was the best turned in today. Miyamoto, Lex Robson, Islington, Ont., and C. Ross Somerville, London, Ont., all had 71s.

Meat Cutters Beat Doughnut Slingers
Manager Matt Kress of the Doughnut Slingers provided poor leadership for his team by fanning four times and committing several errors so the Meat Cutters took a 25 to 8 victory in the first game of a blood series played at the Shell diamond.

Anderson and Swanson were the batteries for the Meat Cutters. Lafleur performed on the mound for the Doughnut Slingers.

Watrous Leads Canadian Open

Birmingham, Mich., Golfer Scores 142 for 72 Holes

Ottawa, Ont., July 8 (AP)—Al Watrous, Birmingham, Mich., pro, shot his way into the lead in the second 18-hole round of the 72-hole Canadian open golf championship today.

While yesterday's leaders, Harry Cooper, Walter Hagen and George Von Elm, were running into all sorts of difficulties, Watrous, holder of the title in 1922, added a par-breaking 70 to his first round 72 for a total of 142 at the halfway mark.

That 70, three under golf perfection for the long 6,770 yard Golf of the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club, gave Watrous a two-stroke advantage over Cooper and Hagen, defending champion, another stroke behind.

Cooper, who had equalled the course record with a 63 yesterday, fell back to a 75 today, chiefly because of weakness on the greens. Hagen, playing through a rainstorm all the way, also scored a 75 for his 36-hole total of 145. Sir Walter used up 40 strokes on his first nine but steadied and clipped a stroke off par on the last nine.

Diegel Shoots 146
In a four-way tie for fourth place at 146 were two former champions, Leo Diegel and MacDonald Smith, and two other United States players, Tom Kerrigan of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Olin Dutra of Brentwood, Calif. Dutra, Kerrigan and Diegel all had 74s today while Mac Smith added another par 73 to his aggregate.

Another batch of four Americans had 14th. Ed Dudley and Horton Smith posted 73a for their second round while Wiffy Cox had a 74 and Mortie Dietz of Long Beach, Calif., clipped a stroke off par with a 72. Tied along with them for eighth place was the leading Canadian, Andy Kay of Lambton, Ont., who had 75-72-147.

Dubuque Ball Club Retains Franchise
Cedar Rapids, Iowa, July 8 (AP)—The Dubuque club will retain its franchise in the Mississippi Valley baseball league under the direction of Fred J. Lelser, former owner, it was decided at a meeting of representatives of the eight league clubs today.

The league also voted to split the season, the second half starting with tomorrow's games.

The largest class in history was graduated at Louisiana State university this year. There were more than 400, compared with the first class of eight in 1865.

Perkins Plays Night Baseball

Detroit Team to Oppose Delta Crew Under Floodlights

The Perkins baseball club will offer fans their first glimpse of night baseball in this territory when they lock bats with the Detroit Night Hawks under floodlights at the Perkins ball diamond tonight.

The game will be called as soon as it gets dark enough to prevent glare from the floodlights.

Manager Harris had his team under several long practice sessions and announced the boys are ready for duty. Gibbs has been given the whirling assignment with Deloria behind the plate.

On Sunday Perkins will suffer to avenge an earlier defeat tryout at the hands of Trenary. Trenary won the first game, 14 to 12, but Perkins expects to even the count this week with Miron on the rubber and Stephenson receiving.

Six Run Drive In Second Too Much For Boston Sox
Boston, July 8 (AP)—A six run drive by the St. Louis Browns in the second inning was a big factor in their win over the Red Sox, 8 to 4, today.

Ed Gallagher, former Boston college star, started for the Sox and five of the six runs in the second were charged to him. He received poor support from his team mates, however. Stewart yielded nine hits to the Sox, but the early lead was sufficient to give him an easy win.

Foster City Will Play Bark River
The Bark River baseball team plays the strong Foster City team on the Bark River diamond Sunday afternoon. Bark River has suffered defeat in the two last starts and all players intimate that these are the last.

A GOOD IDEA
Lebanon, Pa.—Needy persons here, unable to pay their taxes, are permitted to pay them by working for the borough. When the tax collector reported delinquent taxpayers who were unable to raise funds, but were willing to work out their taxes, the borough council decided that such persons be given employment. A standard hourly wage rate was fixed, and payment, made by checks, been turned over to the tax collector.

Lost Child Found.
Menominee — While more than 50 farmers combed the woods near a picnic grove two miles northeast of Spalding, Mich., Monday evening for five-year-old Fred Depotki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Depotki, of Spalding, missing for three hours, the child made his way a mile and a half to the Ray Peterson farm, where he was found by Fred Poquette of Spalding.

When Deputy Sheriff Tom McGinnis of Powers and state policeman called to assist in the search arrived at the picnic grove the child had been found.

Phillies Lose to Chicubs 6-4

Bob Smith Tightens in Pinches to Turn Back Sluggers

Chicago, July 8 (AP)—Bob Smith, making his first start in five weeks today, was hit safely in every inning, but the Cubs, with the aid of five Philadelphia errors, took the final game of the series, 4 to 1.

Smith was punched for eleven hits, but was tight in the pinches, while the five errors, all of which were made in the third inning, helped the Cubs to three runs, enough to win.

BRADY C. M. T. C. PROGRAM OPENS

About Five Hundred Boys Enrolled in Camp at Sault

The 1932 C. M. T. C. Camp at Fort Brady is now in full swing with the largest enrollment since the establishment of a camp at the Sault. Approximately five hundred young men were retained this year, while around seventy-five were rejected after a very stiff physical examination.

This year's camp is called Camp Thomas F. Grant after Corporal Grant who was killed in action at the Meuse-Argonne drive in the autumn of 1918. The company streets are called Marcus Ruppe, and George Erickson after other northern Michigan men killed in the war.

A full quota of Delta county trainees helps to swell the enrollment to its record figure. Escanaba has a large number of young men here while each of the other neighboring towns contributes slightly to the enrollment. Among the returning Escanaba boys are Russell Doty, best base of 1930; Robert McEwen, former tennis champion; and Phillip Brazeau, winner of last year's award for the best baseball player of camp, and several others who have distinguished themselves in other C. M. T. C. campaigns.

The camp is again divided into two rifle companies, one machine gun company, and the band company. The machine gun company consists of only experienced men this year, or men of the Red, White and Blue classes. Melvin Varney of Marquette, Harold Fogz, Bay City, and Roger Corliss of Iron Mountain are the company commanders.

Because of the large quantity of men and of the unusually strict physical examinations all of last Tuesday and Wednesday were spent before all of the trainees had settled down ready for business. Rain hampered work Thursday, but Friday, the drill was stiff. On that day Camp Grant received Major-General Parker, head of the Sixth Corps Area for the U. S. Army and C. M. T. Camps. The first dance, that of L. company was held Friday night and was very successful, mainly because of the untiring work of the camp hostess, Mrs. Hodges.

FAVORS PROBE OF TREASURY

Speaker Garner Pledges His Support for Inquiry

Washington, July 8 (AP)—A sweeping investigation of the treasury and federal reserve system impended tonight after a house floor exchange during which Speaker Garner pledged his support for the inquiry.

"The rules committee meets at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning," Garner said in the midst of debate. "Speaking as I may for the majority, I will request them to bring out the resolution of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, Mr. McFadden, put it on passage and make this investigation."

Representative Michener (R., Mich.), was acting as Republican floor leader in the absence of Representative Smell. Garner asked him if he would help to pass the resolution for the inquiry.

"Yes," replied Michener, "I think I will."

Garner later told newspaper men that if an inquiry is ordered the resolution will be drafted to include the treasury, comptroller of the currency and federal reserve board.

Garner interrupted the discussion was started by McFadden (R., Pa.), who in a speech urging action on his resolution of inquiry, reminded Garner that the latter had said he favored an investigation.

The speaker was sitting on the Democratic side, listening to the debate. For the first time this session he interrupted another member.

"I still have the same opinion I expressed at that time," Garner said. "The reasons I have not pressed on the rules committee the investigation demanded by the gentleman from Pennsylvania are two.

"For the last six months the country has been very much disturbed in economic matters. I do not want to investigate the treasury department with a view to having the people of the country lose confidence in it.

"The only thing they seem to have left in confidence in the government of the United States in its fiscal matters. To make an investigation at this time and discover such things as the gentleman from Pennsylvania and I believe would be discovered in that department would certainly unsettle that confidence and would not be beneficial to the American people.

"Secondly, I thought if we undertook to do it at this time with an election immediately in front of us, it would be charged during the campaign that we attempted to use the investigation for partisan purposes. These are the two reasons why I did not ask for it to be done."

WIDOW HEARD IN REYNOLDS CASE

Jury Told by Her That Her Mind Was Absolute Blank

BY A. F. LITTLEJOHN (Associated Press Staff Writer) Winston-Salem, N. C., July 8 (AP)—Apparently on the verge of a breakdown, Libby Holman Reynolds was quoted as telling a coroner's jury in a secret session tonight that she had no recollection of her husband's death, except for a brief "flash" in which he called her name, followed by a pistol shot.

An official connected with the closely guarded inquiry at the magnificent Reynolds estate gave a synopsis of the testimony of Mrs. Reynolds, former blues singer on Broadway, but declines to permit the use of his name.

"She said her mind was an absolute blank from the time she went to bed Monday night," he said, "until some time Wednesday afternoon, except for a brief 'flash' when she saw Smith Reynolds with a pistol, heard him call her by name, 'Libby,' and then heard a shot."

Reporters barred Reynolds, heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco millions, was found dying on a sun porch of the palatial Reynolds home, Reynolds, about 1 a. m. Wednesday. He died in a hospital four hours later.

Mrs. Reynolds was said to have testified that she had not been drinking, had taken no medicine, and had undergone no accidents in the period from Monday night to Wednesday afternoon, but she was described as unable to describe her failure to remember occurrences of the period.

After attending her husband's funeral in a state of near-collapse, the young widow was reported to have approached a breakdown. She gave her testimony while lying in bed, with eyes half closed.

Forayth county officials ordered the inquest conducted with the greatest possible secrecy. They said all members of the board would be sworn not to reveal the testimony, and that the stenographic record would probably be impounded as soon as transcribed.

Reynolds, a 600-acre estate, was guarded almost like a feudal castle. Armed guards were at every entrance, specifically ordered to bar reporters and photographers.

streets and in the cafes great relief was expressed today that the American round-the-world fliers, though they came to grief in Russia, escaped with their lives.

"Their flight is still a great achievement," said one newspaper, and another: "Those courageous Americans will surely try again. Accidents happen to all pioneers."

Captain Hermann Koehl, himself a transatlantic flier, said possibly one of the Americans had fallen asleep at the controls.

in baseball games. His Donkey Prophetic. One of his first interests was a donkey. He probably did not consider it then as a political emblem, as it was in later years to become. After the donkey there was a horse, on which he got early training as a horseman.

He made several trips abroad with his mother, toured Europe on bicycle, and otherwise satisfied what has always been a considerable curiosity about many things. Sailing, boating, swimming and stamp-collecting were early hobbies. Today he is known as an authority on the old United States navy, has a remarkable collection of old naval prints, and is one of the most successful stamp collectors in the country.

His interest in sailing was so intense that he tried hard to get permission from mother to seek entrance to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. She prevented this, sending him instead to Groton preparatory school and thence to Harvard.

Swimming, likewise an intense youthful interest, still is a major pursuit, though it has become a necessity as well as pleasure, as it helps him regain the use of his legs made partly useless from an attack of infantile paralysis in 1921.
