

SAGOLA LUMBER FIRE LOSS $500,000

U. S. BRANCHES IN CANADA HIT BY NEW PLAN

EMPIRE CONTENT OF 60% DEMANDED BY ENGLAND

BY FRANK I. WELLER (Associated Press Staff Correspondent) Ottawa, Aug. 5 (AP)—American branch plants in British countries would become almost entirely alienated from their parent factories in the United States under a scheme of empire content which was said unofficially today to be under consideration by the imperial economic conference.

Sources which usually are reliable said the Canadian delegation had coupled a request for a 60 percent empire content all around the board with its offer to trade the United Kingdom industrial preferences for agricultural preferences involving an additional annual outlay for each of between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000.

If it were adopted, such a plan would mean that a subsidiary or branch plant of an American manufacturing firm, whether in Canada or any other nation of the British commonwealth, would have to guarantee that 60 percent of the total value of its product represented British labor and materials. Otherwise that plant would not enjoy any intra-empire tariff preference.

At present these branch plants can export to Great Britain on the same favorable terms granted to bona fide Canadian industries so long as 25 percent of the value of their output represents Canadian labor and materials.

If the empire content were increased to 60 percent, it is said, it would mean that the branch plants would have to produce more of the materials used in their manufacture. It would increase the use of Canadian labor at the expense of United States labor, since production of basic materials in branch factory products on this side of the line would take business away from the parent plants.

Automobile assembling plants which obtain their present empire content by hiring Canadian labor to put together parts imported from the United States would be dealt a severe blow. Some observers said this would virtually mean Canadian production of the parts assembled for the British trade.

The huge American investment in factories established in the British Isles would be affected in their sale of special products to the dominions.

The idea behind this plan was said to be the encouragement of purely empire industry.

Mayor McKeighan Flatly for Repeal

Detroit, Aug. 5 (AP)—Mayor William H. McKeighan of Flint, who is seeking the Republican nomination for governor, today answered the Crustlers' questionnaire by declaring flatly for repeal of national and state prohibition laws.

Mayor McKeighan, who had announced his stand previously, in a letter to Lewis L. Breden, state commander of the Anti-Prohibition organization, said that he does not drink personally but believes that those who desire alcoholic beverages should have them under the constitutional provision for "life, liberty and pursuit of happiness."

He favors legislation, the candidate said, which will permit states and communities to regulate sale of liquor in accordance with local sentiment. He also expressed the view that such action would be extremely advantageous from the standpoint of revenue.

Read This, Lady! Running World Is Job For The Men

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP)—Step right up, men, and hear—"Women should be content to let men run the world, for they can do a better job of it."

That came straight-from-the-shoulder today from the first woman in history to take a major circus on the road—Mrs. Charles Ringling of Evanston, Ill., 62-year-old widow of one of the five Ringling brothers.

"And that's what she had to say about women in executive positions as she is gathering into her hands reins guiding corporations which control four of this country's largest circuses. John Ringling, the last of the five brothers, is in poor health.

She handles details involving the housing and feeding of 1600 people and the routing of a six months tour of four trainloads of animals. "I was even against women getting the vote. Running the world is the men's job. Let them do it. They are used to it," she said.

TERRORISM IN GERMANY ACUTE

Socialists Propose to Form Self-Defense Organization

Berlin, Aug. 5 (AP)—The formation of a Republican self-defense organization was proposed by leaders of the Socialist party tonight as a result of the outbursts of political violence which have kept Germany in turmoil for the last six weeks.

Proponents of the organization charged that the government was equally responsible with Adolf Hitler's national socialists for the wave of terrorism.

Meanwhile Nazi headquarters in Munich denied reports that Hitler had made a secret journey to Berlin. The Nazi chief, his lieutenants said, is resting from the election campaign in the Bavarian mountains.

Six weeks of bloodshed and violence among Germany's political parties has brought the government to the point of issuing a decree which would impose the full force of its power upon those responsible for the purpose.

Plans Death Penalty President Von Hindenburg, no stranger to battle, is understood to have prepared a decree which would impose the death penalty for extreme acts of violence. It was said that he had submitted the document to the ministry of justice with instructions to go over all its phases to insure its legal efficacy.

Because the worst of the trouble has been in east Prussia, Rudolf Diels, counselor to the Prussian ministry of the interior, was appointed special commissioner today with orders to proceed to Koenigsberg immediately to investigate the situation.

Franz Bracht, federal commissioner for Prussia, published figures this evening which showed that between June 1, and July 20, 72 persons were killed and 497 were injured in 322 political brawls in Prussia, not including Berlin.

The instigators in 203 cases, the records show, were communists. In 75 brawls police said the national socialists were at fault. The Reichsbanner men started 21 fights, responsibility for the rest was not fixed.

Today the riots in East Prussia went on unchecked. There were street brawls at Lyck, Roesel and Deutchehau. At Flitst a communist's home was peppered with bullets. At Loetsen a branch of the Reichsbanner was fired upon.

At Hamburg the national socialist newspaper Hamburger Tageblatt was suspended for five days for inciting to violence. Adolf Hitler's Nazi party issued a veiled warning that such a decree as President Von Hindenburg is considering would do more harm than good.

Chicago Engineer Planning To Build 2,063-Foot Tower

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP)—A Chicago engineer, Frank A. Randall, today proposed to build as a World's Fair attraction on Chicago's lake front a 2,063-foot tower to be the highest structure in the world.

He said financing plans were nearly completed. He estimated the cost would be about $3,000,000. The tower—to dwarf the famous Eiffel in Paris and America's tallest building, the Empire State in New York City—would rise from a 500-foot base and would taper to 40 feet square at the observation platform, 1,933 feet above the ground. The tower would be 1,079 feet higher than the Paris tower, and 813 feet higher than the Empire State building.

The suspension leaves only one morning newspaper—the Detroit Free Press—in the city. The announcement of suspension stated that the management "has been forced to the conclusion that there is not room in Detroit for two morning newspapers."

GIRL SLAYER AT MARQUETTE

Funeral Rites Held At Freesoil for Victim Of Attacker

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 5 (AP)—Francis (Rusty) Nash, 31-year-old Freesoil recluse who was sentenced to life imprisonment at Marquette branch penitentiary for the murder of 17-year-old Evelyn Sanford of Freesoil last Saturday, arrived at the prison at 4:40 p. m. today to begin serving his term in solitary confinement at hard labor.

Nash was accompanied to the prison by Sheriff George L. Colyer, of Mason county and Trooper Charles Beukema, of the Michigan state police.

Nash immediately was assigned Number 5646 and was taken to the quarantine cell, where he will remain 30 days. While there he will be given prison clothing, fingerprinted and photographed, the same routine other inmates follow when received. After quarantine he will be assigned to work in the prison.

FUNERAL RITES Freesoil, Mich., Aug. 5 (AP)—A crowd of 800 persons—far beyond the capacity of the Little Latter Day Saints church here—attended funeral services this afternoon for 17-year-old Evelyn Sanford for whose murder Francis Nash is starting a life sentence in Marquette branch prison.

A mile-long procession of automobiles followed the hearse to the cemetery, two miles west of the city, where she was buried.

BONUS TROOPS TOLD TO MAKE SPEEDIER EXIT

JOHNSTOWN OFFERS FREE GAS TO GET RID OF MEN

BY LEO W. SHERIDAN Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 5 (AP)—All dressed up in the national colors, Johnstown watched two strangely different parades tonight as it turned its back on the departing shabby bonus army and welcomed groups of the American Legion.

No gypsy caravan could be more fantastic than the procession of rickety trucks and autos that rolled out of the dismal camp to the mountain highways.

Two days of impatient delay ended with the announcement that every tank would be filled with gas and every driver given a dollar and ordered to move on.

Few protests, some laughed, but the majority accepted the city's "last offer" and cars, battered and dirty and piled high with bundles, bedding and other belongings, began rolling out of the city.

A few blocks away, Legion drum and bugle corps, here for "Legion Day," paraded in gaudy uniforms to martial strains and the applause of townfolk.

There was no confusion as Johnstown closed its door on the bonus expedition.

No More Food McCloskey, who still hopes to obtain a Pennsylvania railroad train to aid in completing the evacuation, said he would take drastic steps if the delay continues and the veterans refuse to leave.

Hoke Smith, director of camp supplies, was told by the B. E. F. field staff that no more food will be forthcoming after today.

In less than three hours, 96 cars were supplied with gas and on their way.

Authorities were informed that radical leaders, supposedly from Pittsburgh, arrived today and attempted to mingle with the veterans and crowds around the camp. They also were spotted in the downtown district.

Eddie Atwell, representing Commander Walter W. Waters, said they undoubtedly talked with some of the veterans, urging them to remain, but he added that "the Hell's kitchen" and Gas House outfits of New York and a small group from New England were about all that were left at the camp and "they won't get very far with them."

The commissary was depleted after last night's raids, when it was broken into several times and much food taken by reveling veterans.

Police reported many veterans are remaining in Johnstown after leaving the camp. A dozen or more were found in cheap rooming houses. Others, protesting they had missed the evacuation trains, asked for transportation.

McCloskey said all of these will be sent out of town.

Libby's Father Seeks Early Trial for Her, Will Appeal for Bond

(BULLETIN) Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 5 (AP)—Sheriff Transoun Scott announced tonight he had reason to believe Libby Holman Reynolds was with Mrs. Louisa D. A'Jenny, of Montchannah, Delaware.

(BULLETIN) Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 5 (AP)—Habeas corpus proceedings seeking the release on bond of Albert Walker, indicted with Libby Holman Reynolds for the murder of the latter's husband, Smith Reynolds, were instituted here tonight and a hearing was set for noon tomorrow.

BY A. F. LITTLEJOHN (Associated Press Staff Writer) Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 5 (AP)—A desire for the trial of his daughter, Libby, at the earliest possible date was expressed here tonight by Alfred Holman, Cincinnati lawyer, who came to Winston-Salem with the announced purpose of trying to keep the former Broadway singer out of jail until she faces a jury for the alleged slaying of her young husband, Smith Reynolds.

"Why, of course, we want to have the trial as soon as possible," the tall, dark Holman said. His face was plainly careworn as he answered briefly a few questions and parried others.

Present Plea Today "That, and the natural desire to save my daughter all needless inconvenience before the trial, were the main reasons for coming here," he said, shortly before he went into conference with two attorneys engaged as local counsel to assist in presenting his bond plea for Libby in superior court tomorrow.

"Of course, I wanted to cooperate with the local authorities in clearing this case up," he added. In the midst of the conference with local attorneys one of them, Benet Polikoff, made a brief oral statement in which he said that Holman had no intention of defying the laws of North Carolina and that Libby would be produced whenever it was necessary for her to face a jury for murder.

Polikoff said one reason Mr. Holman was so eager to protect his daughter from incarceration in jail was the fact that she is an expectant mother.

Holman was quoted in news dispatches yesterday as denouncing the grand jury indictment of Libby and Albert Walker, chum of Smith Reynolds, as "a frame-up and a terrible injustice to an innocent young woman."

He declined to reveal to officers the whereabouts of his daughter who was sought on a capias issued after the true bill on a murder charge was returned late yesterday.

Asked his plans in the event Judge A. L. Stack, presiding in superior court, refused his petition for bail arrangements while Libby is still not in custody, Holman declined to answer directly.

Libby Must Appear Solicitor Carlisle Higgins, with whom Holman conferred almost immediately after his arrival by train from Cincinnati this afternoon, has said bond for Mrs. Reynolds can be obtained only by means of a habeas corpus proceeding, which, he said, would require the physical presence of the defendant within the territorial jurisdiction of the court.

Ordinarily bond is not allowed defendants in capital cases, the indictment against the 26-year-old widow of the young tobacco millionaire and Walker, charged them with premeditated murder, conviction of which would entail a sentence of death in the electric chair.

Holman abandoned a plan to appear this afternoon before Judge Stack in his effort to arrange bond, after consulting his attorneys.

"Has W. N. Reynolds acceded to Mrs. Reynolds' request that he act as executor of her husband's estate?" Holman was asked. "That is a private matter, upon which I think I should not be expected to say," was his reply.

W. N. Reynolds, widely known horseman, is an uncle and co-guardian of Smith Reynolds, who was fatally shot on the sleeping porch of the family home, Reynolds, early on the morning of July 6, after a gay party. He let them know he had considered the request.

Asks Court How He Can Become Rid Of His Sister-in-Law

Detroit, Aug. 5 (AP)—George A. Gill has taken to circuit court his problem of how to get rid of an unwelcome sister-in-law who, he said, ignored pointed hints that she leave—such as locked doors. After hearing his story, Circuit Judge Dewitt H. Merriam issued an order calling upon Mrs. Jessie Gordon of Los Angeles to show cause why she should not be restrained from entering the Gill home or removing any of the $1,000 worth of household goods which Gill said she had stored in her room.

Gill said Mrs. Gordon moved in upon the death of his wife. She broke down two doors when he locked her out once, he said, and broke a window upon another occasion.

HOLOCAUST IN YARDS SET BY MALCONTENTS

20 MILLION BOARD FEET DESTROYED DURING NIGHT

Iron Mountain, Aug. 5 (Special)—Fire of incendiary origin last night destroyed the lumber yards of the Sawyer-Goodman company at Sagola, with a loss estimated at nearly $500,000. 20,000,000 feet of lumber were destroyed.

In addition, only a fortunate shift in the wind and valiant effort on the part of fire fighters saved the sawmill and the townsite itself from being wiped out. It was by far the most spectacular and most costly blaze in the history of Dickinson county and hundreds of persons were attracted to the scene, but were kept several hundred feet away from the flames by the intense heat.

The pumper trucks of Iron Mountain and Crystal Falls were sent to the little settlement to help rescue it from its peril, and although at 6 o'clock this morning the crisis had been passed, the trucks and their crews were still there to protect the community from any further danger.

An immediate investigation of the cause of the blaze was started by Sheriff Rudolph Freeman, who said that he was also going to notify State Fire Marshal Jeffries. In the opinion of all officials there is no doubt that the fire was deliberately set by malcontents, who, after deceiving one of the night watchmen, Oscar Olson, into the slab yard, ignited the piles of lumber in another section.

The fire was first noticed about 10:40 o'clock, a few minutes after the regular night watchman had passed the place in the south end of the yards where it originated. Swept forward by a brisk southwest wind, the flames leaped from pile to pile of lumber and within a short time the entire yards were a seething inferno.

Just a brief interval before the torch was applied Olson, ordinarily employed as the mill foreman when the plant is in operation but now a special watchman without any clock schedule to "punch in," noticed a flashlight in the slab yards. The rounds of the regular clock watchman could, of course, be timed, and it was only necessary to get Olson out of the way while the yards were put to the flame. And it was while he went to investigate the flashes of light that the blaze suddenly sprang up in a remote section of the yards.

Mill Is Endangered The alarm was immediately given, but there was nothing to stop the onward march of the conflagration. The eager flames ate into stack after stack of lumber as they approached within 200 feet of the mill. Although the plant has been shut down for several months, only the planing mill being operated, it so happened that last evening there was steam in the boilers and pressure could be put on the company's water system. There are about 15 hose connections on this system, but only half of them were available in combating the blaze, the others being in the residential sections.

However, there were stretches of hose from every hydrant, including those in the residential area, although the latter were not used.

While the company was getting its own fire fighting crew organized, calls were sent to Iron Mountain and Crystal Falls, and the pumper trucks from these cities sped to the town. When they arrived the sky was a brilliant red and it was at once realized there was no hope of saving the yards. All efforts, therefore, were concentrated on the mill and houses.

BRUCKER TALKS AT NEGAUNEE

Tells Crowd of 300 That Government Wants to Give Jobless Work

Negaunee, Mich., Aug. 5 (AP)—All other campaign issues are dwarfed in comparison to the problem of finding work for the unemployed, Governor Wilbur M. Brucker stated here this noon when he addressed 300 persons at an open-air meeting from the city band stand.

"I am bringing no gifts and am making no promises," the governor said, "but the biggest job in the state government today is to get the people back to work, and the other issues are very small compared to that. It is a big job to get business, industry and mining going again and you men, I know, want work and not a dole of charity."

"Laws will not bring back prosperity, but it will come through confidence and faith in the things that go to build up confidence in ourselves—our government and our industries. The government can help, but it cannot do it alone. Your leaders in business and industry must do their part and the people will also do their share. The reduction of taxes is one way in which the government can lend its assistance and that has been my job for the state of Michigan."

In referring again to the subject of reducing governmental expenditures, he told of the reductions made in operating state departments and institutions during the last year and how 25 percent of the state highway revenues will come to the upper peninsula. He also pointed out the highway projects which have been planned to help alleviate the unemployment in the upper peninsula.

The governor went from here to L'Anse for a late afternoon meeting and then to the Copper Country. He will address the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau meeting in Ironwood tomorrow and the annual convention of the Knights of Kaleva there Sunday.

DETROIT DAILY MIRROR QUILTS

Increasing both the paper's circulation and its advertising income, the prospect of the paper's making a profit still seems remote after more than a year of operating at a loss.

"Able to realize only 1 cent per copy from the retail selling price of 2 cents, and able to charge only very modest rates for advertising, the paper has been unable to climb out of the red. The capitalist system being one under which a profit must be made by any enterprise that is to keep its head above water, we are forced to call off the fight in this case."

"It is a matter of extreme regret to us that this action will cause some of the best newspaper workers in the United States to be out of employment for a while."

"Because they are such excellent newspaper workers, we hope and believe that they will be able to find other employment within a reasonable short time."

The announcement said that a number of features of the Mirror will be published hereafter in the Free Press.

their water supply from the hot pond. One stretch of hose laid through the yards caught fire and had to be abandoned. The heat was terrific and the firemen worked against great odds, but stood gamely by the while it appeared that they were fighting a losing battle. Onward and onward crept the flames, swirling into scorching fingers 100 feet high. There was a constellation of sparks that glowed and twinkled as they were whirled upward and spread out fan shape over the town. They settled upon roofs and porches, but were quickly extinguished by volunteers.

Sheds in the yards, two of them containing 150,000 feet of white end dried maple, a choice product, soon disappeared from view. And as the fire came forward, leveling everything in its path, the heat increased, driving spectators to cover.

At 3 o'clock this morning it seemed that the entire town was doomed. The wind continued to carry the flames about, and small tornadoes generated by the heat picked up burning brands and great mounds of ashes and carried them into the air. There were a number of grass fires, while nearby houses were blistering and in some instances beginning to smoke.

Wind Saves Mill
Then providence entered to help the firemen, the wind veering about to the north and forcing the flames back over the yards. It gave the only real opening to prevent the mill from being included in the holocaust.

Meanwhile, Sagola resembled a war torn town under shell fire as scores of families evacuated their dwellings. The streets and road-sides were lined with furniture and other household effects and calls were sent to Iron Mountain and various communities to send trucks to haul these belongings out of town. The residents of Sagola had been long asleep when arson entered their midst, and as they awakened they rushed from their homes as they were. Pajama-clad girls, hastily dressed men, and women in night clothing with coats or shawls wrapped about them were seen on every side. And then began the removal of their household furnishings. Homes were stripped bare within the space of a few minutes, the furniture, the radio, beds, kitchen utensils and odds and ends being dragged out and placed along the roadway. Trucks loaded with these articles raced out of town, in a number of instances the cargoes being placed in the yards of farmers within a distance of two or three miles. For a time the desolation of the village appeared to be general.

Under Control
At 2 o'clock this afternoon it was reported that the fire appeared to be entirely under control. While there were huge heaps of smoking and flaming debris, they no longer were of any danger to the mill, with the possible exception that a wind might stir them about.

It was also learned this afternoon that the threatening letter received by Goodman stated that unless the mill was reopened there would be trouble and that "fire was always the friend of oppressed people." The letter started out in the scrawl of a woman's handwriting and then quickly was changed into an apparent forged backhand slant.

The company's loss is practically covered by insurance, it was stated, protection of at least 90 per cent being carried. However, even under the best of circumstances, operations cannot be resumed before fall, if then, and Goodman himself made no statement as to whether the mill would be opened again.

The difficulty of conducting a successful investigation of the fire was admitted today by Sheriff Freeman. He pointed out that because of the extensive area of the yards it would be comparatively easy for some person or persons to set fire to the lumber and then hide in the swamps until a sufficient crowd of persons had collected to make it safe to emerge and join them. The sheriff, however, is determined to press the inquiry and if at all possible to apprehend those guilty.

estate of his father, the late R. J. Reynolds, has been estimated in excess of $15,000,000. It is held in trust, however, and the elder Reynolds will stipulated that his children were not to receive their parts of his estate until they were 28 years old.

The will also provides that in event of the death of one of the heirs, the children of the heir, if any, should receive that portion of the estate set aside in the will for the heir who died.

Attorneys familiar with the will believe that if Libby Holman becomes a mother, her child will share in its grandfather's estate.

Libby was Smith Reynolds' second wife. Three years ago he married Anne Cannon of Concord, N. C., daughter of the world's largest manufacturer of towels, and a daughter was born to them.

Their romance, however, was short-lived and six days before he married Libby in Monroe, Mich., they were divorced. Smith settled $1,000,000 on his wife and their baby daughter when they separated. At the same time she renounced all claim for herself and her daughter upon Smith's share of his father's estate.

GRAIN MARKET SURGES AHEAD

Prices of All Cereals Advance in Chicago Trading

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP)—Grain and commodity markets surged forward again today, continuing the advance started more than a week ago.

Under the bullish stimuli of a deluge of buying orders, the published report of the formation of a $30,000,000 wheat pool, a rise in the Liverpool market, and reports of unfavorable harvesting weather in Europe, prices of all cereals rose from one to two cents for the day's high and closed generally about one cent higher than yesterday.

The market opened with a buying rush which soon carried prices upward, where they remained for considerable time, only to settle towards the close.

September old wheat opened at 51 3/4 to 52, rose to 52 3/4, and closed at 51 3/4 to 7 3/4, as compared with Thursday's close of 50 5/8 to 3 1/4. December and May new wheat closed 1 3/8 to 2 and 1 1/8 to 1 3/8, respectively, above the previous close.

Corn, rye and oats followed wheat price upturns, but closed unchanged to 3/8 lower for corn and practically unchanged for oats compared with Thursday's close. Rye was up 3/8 to 1 1/2.

The pool report published in New York linked the name of Arthur W. Cutten with the $30,000,000 undertaking, supposedly designed to buoy the market, but the veteran Chicago operator later denied he was associated with the purported venture.

In other commodity markets, buying orders lifted butter and egg futures to new highs for the year with the former commodity advancing 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents a pound and eggs rising 1/4 cent a dozen. The market eased towards the end under a heavy wave of selling for profit taking.

The livestock market was firm with a slight rise in hogs and cattle and lambs holding steady. The trade, except in hogs, was light.

Father and Son Of Detroit Convicted Of Murder Charge

Detroit, Aug. 5 (AP)—James Trombley, 42, and his son, Ralph, 19, were convicted today of first degree murder for the slaying of Adolph Krupka, 48, whose body was found June 8 in a hastily dug grave in the outskirts of the city.

George Fitzpatrick, assistant prosecutor, told the court the elder Trombley had confessed he was in love with Mrs. Krupka and that the slaying, planned for several months, was carried out while Mrs. Krupka was visiting in Geneva, O. The Trombleys were arrested as they brought Mrs. Krupka back from Geneva to attend her husband's funeral.

Sentence will be pronounced next Friday by Recorder's Judge Thomas M. Cotter. Life imprisonment is mandatory.

Wife Of Norway Editor Killed In Automobile Crash

Iron Mountain, Aug. 5 (Special)—Mrs. Bertha Tesseyman, aged 44, wife of Charles Tesseyman, editor of The Norway Current, was fatally injured and her uncle, Ralph C. Knight, of Wapato, Wash., was killed in an automobile accident that occurred late yesterday afternoon near Ellensburg, Wash., about 100 miles from Wapato.

Mr. Tesseyman was badly cut and otherwise hurt, but his condition was reported as not serious. The driver of the car, George Stuber, was not injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Tesseyman had left recently on a tour during which they attended a convention of editors in California and also the national convention of Lions International, of which he is governor in the tenth district. They were guests at the home of Ralph Knight, who has been a frequent visitor in upper Michigan and who was last here a few weeks ago on the occasion of the burial of Mrs. William Knight of Bessemer.

The Tesseymans' daughter, Jean, was reported safe, although the dispatch from Ellensburg did not mention whether she was with the party when the accident occurred.

JUST A SLEEP

Washington—Raymond, Graton, of Alexandria, Va., drove his car into town to do some shopping. After he had made his purchases he got in the car and drove home. Police met him there and charged him with stealing a car. He was taken back to Washington where he met Daniel Cave, the owner of the car. Raymond found he had parked next to Cave's car, which was identical with his and which could be started with his ignition key. All he had done was to get in the wrong car.

Purdue Slashes Grid Prices

Purdue University has lowered seat prices for its two fall grid attractions, the homecoming and dad's day games with Wisconsin and Indiana, respectively, from the $3 rate to one of $2.50. The Boiler-makers also will sell "popular-priced" dollar seats.

Houghton county authorities notified. The telegram asked if money would be furnished to send her home.

The reply was, "Let Susie hitch-hike home, the same way she went."

And that Policewoman Marjorie Crull commented, seems to put it right up to Susie.

Bolivia Reports She Must Plan for Her Own Defense

La Paz, Bolivia, Aug. 5 (AP)—The foreign office informed 19 American neutral nations tonight that "in view of active mobilization by Paraguay, Bolivia must take necessary precautions for her own defense."

The Bolivian note was in response to an urgent request that the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay over Thereran Chaco region be settled amicably. This request was accompanied by the assertion that the 19 neutrals would not recognize any territorial changes effected by armed force.

After the foreign office note had been made public the following communique was issued: "Suspension of hostilities proposed by five neutral representatives in Washington is a matter which only has been accepted in principle, being subject to subsequent emergencies. The country should be prepared for all eventualities."

Garner Notified By Letter Of His Demo Nomination

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—Capital Hill heard today that Speaker Garner already had been officially notified of his nomination for the vice presidency, but instead of the usual ostentation and formality of Uncle Sam's new three-cent stamps carried the message.

In deference to the Texas plainsman's modest wish, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, temporary chairman of the recent Democratic national convention, informed the speaker of his nomination by letter.

Garner's acceptance is expected in a few days and both communications will be made public simultaneously, either here or in Kentucky where Senator Barkley has gone to be on hand for tomorrow's primary.

estate of his father, the late R. J. Reynolds, has been estimated in excess of $15,000,000. It is held in trust, however, and the elder Reynolds will stipulated that his children were not to receive their parts of his estate until they were 28 years old.

The will also provides that in event of the death of one of the heirs, the children of the heir, if any, should receive that portion of the estate set aside in the will for the heir who died.

Attorneys familiar with the will believe that if Libby Holman becomes a mother, her child will share in its grandfather's estate.

Libby was Smith Reynolds' second wife. Three years ago he married Anne Cannon of Concord, N. C., daughter of the world's largest manufacturer of towels, and a daughter was born to them.

Their romance, however, was short-lived and six days before he married Libby in Monroe, Mich., they were divorced. Smith settled $1,000,000 on his wife and their baby daughter when they separated. At the same time she renounced all claim for herself and her daughter upon Smith's share of his father's estate.

GRADING EGGS FARM FEATURE

Chatham Poultry Plant Has Exhibits for Roundup

On Saturday, August 13, when Upper Peninsula farmers and annual Round-Up at the Upper Peninsula Experiment Station, they will find exhibits at the poultry plant showing the recognized grades of eggs. Grading eggs for special markets is increasing the income and helping to maintain a market for many poultrymen. The day of saying an egg is an egg is past. Quality in eggs counts just as it does in other market commodities. Visitors will also be shown the latest equipment in killing and preparing dressed poultry for the market. Methods of heating houses for increased winter production will be discussed and records of two years heating vs. no heating of pens in the experiment station flock explained. Two years results of substituting barley for corn in the poultry ration will be given. Records of individual birds that make up the special mating pens in breeding work will be explained. One bird in particular will be of interest. She has made the unusual record of laying 205 eggs with out missing a day. Round-up visitors who are interested in any phase of poultry work will find something of value in a trip to the poultry plant.

THE CHACO DISPUTE

WHAT'S all the scrapping about? Revolutions and other disputes break out so often in the "Balkans" to the south of us that the casual reader may wonder what has brought about the threat of war between Bolivia and Paraguay.

Recent dispatches disclose that actual fighting in the Chaco region has commenced, while the League of Nations and other neutral nations are bending all efforts to bring about peace.

The dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay dates back to the 15th century when Spain owned all the South American continent.

The Bolivia-Paraguay boundary lies somewhere within the confines of the Gran Chaco, a large swamp known as "the great hunting ground," comprising 100,000 square miles and inhabited mostly by Indians, numbering 50,000 in all.

Paraguay is scarcely any match for Bolivia, the latter having about three million inhabitants to the former's 850,000.

The first attempt to determine a mutual boundary between Bolivia and Paraguay failed in 1879, and efforts for settlement in 1887 and 1894 also met similar results.

Intervention was suspended by the League, however, when Bolivia and Paraguay in January, 1929, accepted the offer of the Pan American Arbitration Conference for a commission of inquiry and conciliation.

If the League of Nations is able to settle the Chaco dispute it will be in a position to draw more support from the South American countries.

WE STILL HAVE MONEY

DEPRESSION or no depression, the American public still seems able to pay its way to sports events in record-breaking numbers whenever it gets an attraction that looks good to it.

All of this, of course, doesn't mean that the nation has suddenly regained its prosperity.

er is not yet completely broke. Offer him a real spectacle and he'll set the turnstiles clicking at a yore.

MARQUETTE POINTS THE WAY

MARQUETTE county spread, for the current year, taxes to cover a budget of $440,000. The supervisors last week approved a report of a budget committee reducing this figure for next year by $185,000.

It is not to be expected that the budget adopted in October will be close to 50 per cent less than the 1931 budget.

Certainly it has been conducted with no thought for keeping expenditure in reasonable relation to changes in population and value of property.

The report of the Marquette budget committee is worthy of the thoughtful consideration by the boards of all counties that are grappling with this problem.

Assuming that Marquette is an average county, it follows that what it proposes to do to lighten the weight of its next budget can be done in most other counties that have the will to act in an aggressive and courageous manner.

The forehandedness of the Marquette board, as well as the matter of the report of its budget committee, suggests the wisdom of an immediate start of an equal comprehensive survey of county finances by boards of supervisors that have not already taken steps to that end.

The importance of lightening taxes at every possible point cannot be over-accentuated or be the subject of too much agitation.

Another thing the depression has changed: More passengers are killed now in freight than in passenger train wrecks.

CHAPTER XV

Mona's voice trembled. "But I don't know what you mean, Steve!" she said. "Why did you say I won't see Bud for a long while? What's happened? Where are you?"

She sat at her desk in the downtown law office. Steve's voice came to her over the telephone.

"I'm talking over long distance," he reassured her. "Bud is with me and he's okay. I'll explain it all when I see you. Let me meet you tonight, will you?"

At five o'clock Mona found Steve on the curb in his roadster. She listened carefully while he explained. Without sparing her Steve sketched the previous night's happenings.

At five o'clock Mona found Steve on the curb in his roadster. She listened carefully while he explained. Without sparing her Steve sketched the previous night's happenings.

"But won't they suspect?" Steve shook his head. "I don't think so. You see, even if they think we helped him get away, which I doubt, they won't think of the Canadian boat. We're shipping our machinery via the Mirandas. They might think we'd smuggled Bud aboard."

think so. You see, even if they think we helped him get away, which I doubt, they won't think of the Canadian boat. We're shipping our machinery via the Mirandas. They might think we'd smuggled Bud aboard."

"The machinery didn't go on the Lady Bradford?"

"English boats—or Canadian, either—can't pick up American freight."

"For a moment Mona was silent. Then this means that beside rescuing Bud from the gang, you've risked your life—"

"I have none of them," Steve interrupted. "You have only one brother."

"And you paid Bud's fare to South America. We owe you all that!"

"You owe me nothing. The boy is going down there on a job. He's going to make good at it. Just being free from this crowd will be a godsend." Steve put his hand over Mona's tiny gloved one and looked at her. "You mustn't blame Bud too much. There are a dozen ways kids get caught in these things. Promise of big money, assurance they won't be asked to break the law, bluffs, and then, too late, the realization that things have gone so far there's no road back. I found one. Barry gave it to me. It was up to me to find a way out for Bud."

"The gang will shoot you if they find it out, Steve!"

"He nodded in nonchalant agreement. "Yes, but the newspapers with the story about the sale of the Empress will give them such a pain they'll forget Bud ever lived. You'll see!"

"I'll fix you up, Min. There, child, sit still! I'll get your supper in no time. A cup of tea will do you good."

promised the job would make a man of Bud.

"Steve gets my boy a job! His interest, I'm thinking, is in you, Min, not Bud."

Mona smiled. The task of the telling had been simpler than she had dared hope. Ma seemed undisturbed at the departure of her son.

"He's been such a worry to me, Min, I do declare," Ma said presently, as if in answer to her daughter's thoughts. "I never liked to tell you. Maybe this job will be the making of him!"

"But," Mona reminded her, "we're not to tell anyone—anyone, Mother—where he is. We aren't even to say 'down south.' Just say he's out of town or in the country."

"I'll get myself something, Mother," Mona insisted after a look at Sony, flushed and cosy in his improvised crib. "I'm not very hungry."

"I thought you might be eating with Steve. You often do when you are late this way," her mother remarked with eyes carefully watching Mona's reaction to this observation.

"The girl sat down and removed her hat. She turned to place it on a chair.

"Steve asked me," she said. "Oh, I'm so tired. So many worries!"

"I'll fix you up, Min. There, child, sit still! I'll get your supper in no time. A cup of tea will do you good."

"Drinking the tea a few minutes later, Mona knew that she should have to broach the subject of Bud."

"I was saving it for Bud," she announced. "Eat it, Min. I made it with nuts the way you like it."

"I must tell her," Mona thought, watching her mother settle in her chair again and thrust her hand into a heavy gray sock.

"Sure Bud's in some scrape, I'll be bound," Ma confided surprisingly. "The telephone was ringing half the day asking who he around."

"He'll straighten out," said Mona confidently. "He's young."

"Young! He's old enough to be a better lad, surely!"

"Mother," Mona began, "what would you say if I told you that Steve had taken a hand with Bud?"

Then, without dwelling too much on the fact of Bud's connection with the gang, without mentioning the famous diamond, Mona told her mother of Steve's interest in the boy.

"Steve had found him a job, 'down south,'" she said. "Half of Bud's pay would be sent each week to the family. Steve had promised the job would make a man of Bud.

"Steve gets my boy a job! His interest, I'm thinking, is in you, Min, not Bud."

Mona smiled. The task of the telling had been simpler than she had dared hope. Ma seemed undisturbed at the departure of her son.

"He's been such a worry to me, Min, I do declare," Ma said presently, as if in answer to her daughter's thoughts.

"I never liked to tell you. Maybe this job will be the making of him!"

"But," Mona reminded her, "we're not to tell anyone—anyone, Mother—where he is. We aren't even to say 'down south.' Just say he's out of town or in the country."

"I'll get myself something, Mother," Mona insisted after a look at Sony, flushed and cosy in his improvised crib.

"I'm not very hungry."

"I thought you might be eating with Steve. You often do when you are late this way," her mother remarked with eyes carefully watching Mona's reaction to this observation.

"The girl sat down and removed her hat. She turned to place it on a chair.

"Steve asked me," she said. "Oh, I'm so tired. So many worries!"

"I'll fix you up, Min. There, child, sit still! I'll get your supper in no time. A cup of tea will do you good."

"Drinking the tea a few minutes later, Mona knew that she should have to broach the subject of Bud."

"I was saving it for Bud," she announced. "Eat it, Min. I made it with nuts the way you like it."

"I must tell her," Mona thought, watching her mother settle in her chair again and thrust her hand into a heavy gray sock.

"Sure Bud's in some scrape, I'll be bound," Ma confided surprisingly. "The telephone was ringing half the day asking who he around."

"He'll straighten out," said Mona confidently. "He's young."

"Young! He's old enough to be a better lad, surely!"

"Mother," Mona began, "what would you say if I told you that Steve had taken a hand with Bud?"

Then, without dwelling too much on the fact of Bud's connection with the gang, without mentioning the famous diamond, Mona told her mother of Steve's interest in the boy.

"Steve had found him a job, 'down south,'" she said. "Half of Bud's pay would be sent each week to the family. Steve had

MEET THE DAY

We must rise and meet the day As the day meets all mankind. Morning put the night away, Leaves the darkness all behind. Yet in human hearts we find Shadows lurking, gaunt and gray. Shuttling out the morning's ray From the chambers of the mind.

We must rise, the day to meet, As the things of earth arise: Birds that face the eastward skies, By the dew of night made sweet. From the hills the shades retreat, With the dawn the darkness dies, Only golden sunshine lies On the valley, on the street.

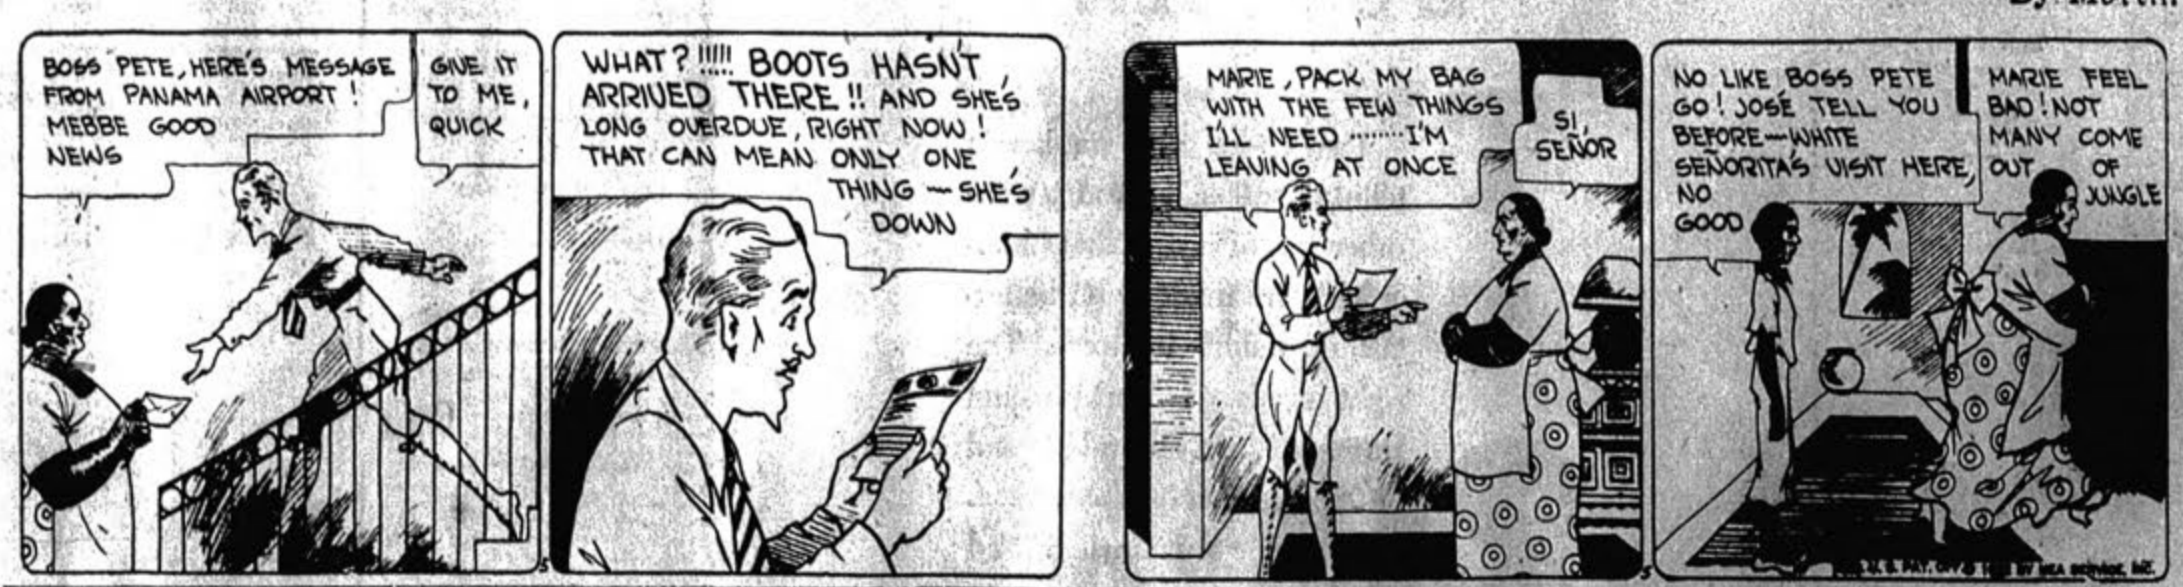

Let us put the past away, Face the future, fair and bright, What men do or what men say, This alone can make them right: Looking eastward to the light, Trying some untraveled way, We must leave behind the night, We must rise and meet the day.

MOLLOY'S NAME NOT ON TICKET

Voorhies Rules Petition Not Filed According to Law

Under a ruling handed down by the state attorney general, Lawrence Molloy of Lathrop, candidate for the Republican nomination for register of deeds, is not entitled to have his name placed on the primary election ballot due to the fact that his nominating petition was received one day too late.

All petitions were required to be filed with the county clerk by July 26. Molloy mailed his petition on the morning of July 26, but it was not received at the clerk's office until July 27.

The opinion of the attorney general was expressed in a letter received here as follows:

"August 3, 1932.
"Mr. Rayne H. Labra,
"County Clerk,
"Escanaba, Michigan.

"Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of July 27, the various clerks were authorized to receive nomination petitions for the September primary which were filed up to 4 o'clock, Central Standard time, July 26. Obviously a nomination petition received by a clerk on the morning of July 27 was not filed according to law and does not entitle an individual to have his name placed upon the primary election ballot. The burden is placed upon the one who wishes to file petitions to see that the same are filed with the clerk within the time limit prescribed by law.

"Very truly yours,
"PAUL W. VOORHIES,
"Attorney General.
"By E. R. Boyles,
"Deputy Attorney General.

As a result, only the names of Frank J. Hess, incumbent, and Anthony Roesser will appear as candidates for register of deeds on the Republican ticket.

THEATRES

"Unashamed" and "By Whose Hand," the double feature program which played at the Delft yesterday, will be shown again today.

Taking your nerve around the corner and playing pit-a-pat with your heart beats. "By Whose Hand," a Columbia mystery picture opened last night at the Delft Theatre. It is difficult to conceive of more dramatic action than is packed into this unusual film, which is unfolded on a train bound for "Frico. Many strange and interesting things transpire. The audience is kept on edge every minute as the logical but utterly baffling plot unfolds—and then gets a final thrill in the surprise ending.

Ben Lyon, as Jimmy Hawley, a reporter, doesn't profess to be a detective, but his newspaper training has taught him enough "inside" stuff to enable him to trap a "killer," who has escaped from the penitentiary—and further unravel a string of mysterious happenings.

As mentioned, all this takes place on a trans-continental train at night, which affords opportunity for vivid camera work. It so happens that the same train has aboard many notorious underworld characters, who contribute their respective parts with interesting and compelling developments.

"Unashamed," sensational drama of the modern age, in which mystery is dressed in the cloak of today's city life, marks a new phase of the many-sidedness of Bayard Veiller, famous author of "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and "The Thirteenth Chair." The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, written directly for the screen by the noted stage playwright, and now showing at the Delft Theatre, provides thrills that are all the more intense because of their ultra-modern aspect.

The story deals with a woman who sacrifices honor for love—then, when her brother kills the man who has disgraced her, must choose between disgrace and her brother's life, as only her story can save him.

South Africa now has its first airplane ambulance, one having been fitted out at the Durban airport.

PILOT RECOVERS AFTER JUNGLE RESCUE

A life-time or horror and physical struggle had been packed into his 18-day Mexican jungle adventure, but Clarence McElroy, shown on crutches, was on his way to recovery when he was brought to Mexico City by plane. The Indiana aviator had been flying to Honduras when his plane crashed and his companion was killed. Rescuers found McElroy injured and starving after more than two weeks of searching. Next to him, in the light suit, is the pilot's brother, Richard, who went to Mexico City to greet him.

BIG VETERANS' PICNIC SUNDAY

Record Crowd Expected at Pine Grove for All-Day Event

Responses received by the committee in charge indicate a record crowd at the American Legion picnic to be held at Pine Grove Sunday under the auspices of the Escanaba drum and bugle corps. Invitations have been sent to a dozen or more posts in the peninsula, and all promise to be represented with a crowd of merry-makers for the all-day event. The picnic is open to veterans, their families and friends.

Members of the Escanaba corps, under John Pettier, general chairman, have arranged a program of sports and entertainment, and will operate stands of all kinds on the grounds. One of the features will be a golf game between the Legionnaires and the Politicians.

In the evening there will be a dance at the Pine Grove pavilion with a famous band playing. Located at Moss Lake, almost midway between Escanaba and Manistique on U.S. 2, the picnic site is readily accessible from all directions, and the Escanaba committee is making big preparations to entertain the assemblage.

Clothing Needed For Children and Other Poor Folks

Clothing and shoes, particularly garments for children, are sorely needed for the poor families of the city. Captain Larson of the Salvation Army stated yesterday.

Of late, the Salvation Army is deluged with requests for various articles of apparel, and the supply has been exhausted. More contributions are desired as a result. Anyone having any clothing to donate is asked to telephone the Salvation Army headquarters, No. 165, and someone will be sent to collect the articles.

George Mecholson
Concert Program
To Attract Many

An event of unusual interest to residents of Escanaba and Gladstone who enjoy music will be the presentation in concert Thursday evening, August 11, at Marinette, of George Mecholson, baritone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Mecholson of Marinette.

Mr. Mecholson is well known here through appearances on various programs, during his visits in Gladstone as the guest of Attorney and Mrs. G. Raymond Empson. He will be assisted in the concert program by Freeman Empson, son of Attorney and Mrs. Empson, an experienced pianist, whose remarkable talent evident in interpretation and technique has won him a considerable following.

The concert recital Thursday evening will be presented by the members of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, in the church building, at 8:15 o'clock. The sponsors have issued a cordial invitation to everyone to attend and have announced that the ticket sale for it will be in charge of the Krueger drug store.

Mr. Mecholson, who has won recognition here and while studying abroad, was a leading soloist at Lawrence colleges, Appleton, Wis., traveling with the Lawrence Concert Four on tours through Wisconsin and Michigan. Upon completing his course at the conservatory, he taught choral music in the high school at Janesville and in University City high school in St. Louis. Later he went abroad and studied under prominent teachers, making his Berlin debut in Steinway Hall. His accompaniment on the occasion of his first Berlin concert was Michael Rauchsissen, noted pianist, to whom Marlon Talley was recently married.

The program of the concert which will be announced in detail later, will include and aria from Handel's "Macedonians," a group of old English love songs, a German group, a number of Norwegian songs and the closing selections, English-American.

"AY TANK AY GO HOME!"

Greta Garbo, shy as ever, sought to avoid public gaze by leaving the train at an outlying station when she arrived in New York recently. She is expected to sail soon for her home in Sweden. There have been hints that she may abandon film work for good.

Favorite Recipe
Betty Ann

A Gladstone reader who has given Betty Ann readers any number of good recipes, sends her recipe for canning string beans.

Canning Beans

Pick, string and wash beans. Either wax or green may be used. Cut in desired lengths, put into cheese cloth sack and plunge into boiling water shaking the sack so that all will be thoroughly heated. Keep in boiling water ten minutes. Then plunge into cold water, shaking well so that all of the center beans as well as those on the outside will be thoroughly chilled. Pack well in sterilized jars, to within one inch from the top. Fill with luke warm water to one-half inch from top. Add one teaspoon salt to quart can of beans. Run knife down the sides to be sure the air is all out. Seal tight, then turn cover once back. As in every cold pack, put in cold racks in cool water, let come to a boil and keep boiling steadily from 45 to 60 minutes. Seal while hot. Be sure covers are tight. I have kept beans canned in this manner three and four years. Bettie Ann Reader.

LEARNING SOCIAL SERVICE

Twelve girls, chosen from the junior classes of eastern colleges, are spending four weeks in New York to become thoroughly inculcated with social service activities by the New York Charity Organization society. Miss Clara M. Townsend, assistant director of the organization, says that dim tenement steps, garlic, crying babies and crowded housing conditions will form the stage against which the dozen college girls, who just strolled away from the campus, will get their practical training.

Part of Federal Emergency Relief Bill Is Explained

Many persons are uninformed as to what the newly passed Federal Relief bill is, what it attempts to do, and how it will operate. Schoolcraft county has applied for a substantial loan under its provisions and residents of this county should, we believe, know something about it. A bulletin recently sent out by the American Road Builders' association explains a part of its workings as follows:

The Federal Relief bill providing $300,000,000 for relief or work relief in states is available to states, cities, and counties upon the request of the state governor.

Title I of the act, relating to "relief of destitution," establishes a fund of $300,000,000 which is to be available for loans to states and their political subdivisions and (according to the bill) "to be used in furnishing relief and work relief. . . . This is a separate section from the one providing the emergency highway appropriation; any amount obtained from it for highway work would be in addition to the amount to be available to the state from the emergency federal aid appropriation of $130,000,000.

Loans must be repaid to the Reconstruction Finance corporation either directly or by deduction from future federal aid appropriations. If used by the state, (whether for "relief" or "work relief"), loans are chargeable against future federal aid. It is used by political subdivisions of a state, an arrangement is required in advance providing for repayment through the political subdivisions.

The governor of each state is granted full authority to decide the necessity of federal loans in his state, and any funds obtained (according to the bill) shall be administered by the governor, or under his direction, and upon his responsibility. He may use the relief for either direct "relief" or "work relief," but it is highly desirable and generally agreed that general preference should be given to work relief and the date avoided as far as practicable.

High way construction and maintenance has already proven itself as a form of work relief both from the standpoint of the worker and on the basis of returns to the public and such work should prevail wherever appropriate projects can be undertaken promptly and conducted economically to provide a maximum of employment.

The fact that all loans to states (whether for direct relief or work relief) are chargeable against future federal aid highway appropriations is further reason why state loans should be invested in highways.

According to the bill, loans to the states "shall be repaid to the Reconstruction Finance corporation with interest thereon. . . by making annual deductions, beginning with the fiscal year 1933, from regular appropriations made from future federal appropriations in aid of the states and territories for the construction of highways and rural post roads, of an amount equal to one-fifth of the share which such state or territory would be entitled to receive under such apportionment, except for the provisions of this section and all accrued interest thereon. . . . If any state or territory shall, within two years after the date of enactment of this act, enter into an agreement with the corporation for the repayment of the corporation of the amounts paid under this section to the governor of such state or territory, with interest thereon as herein provided, in such installments and upon such terms as may be agreed upon, then the deduction under this section shall not be made unless such state or territory shall be in default in the performance of the terms of the agreement."

The arrangement for reimbursement of relief funds through the deductions from federal aid to which reference was made in earlier releases is not desirable from a highway standpoint, but the liberalization of the use of the fund to embrace "work relief" and the extension of credit to political subdivisions do somewhat temper highway opposition to it. Federal credit to municipalities, counties, and other political subdivisions of the state may be extended upon the request of the governor, disbursement and expenditures of funds then to be at the direction of the municipality, county, or other subdivision. Repayment by municipalities and counties, and other political subdivisions is independent of federal aid highway grants, such a loan is conditional with "such municipality political subdivision enters into an agreement with the corporation for repayment."

As in the case of the state, it would, for the same obvious reasons, be advisable that, so far as practicable work relief, be adopted by political subdivisions, and again the advantage of highway and street work would merit consideration. Thus highway and street work by cities and counties, likewise qualifies as "work relief."

Chief J. Peterson Urges Car Owners to Check On Vehicles Now

The Safety First campaign in regard to the operation of motor vehicles will start in this city on September 1, according to an announcement made yesterday by Chief of Police John Peterson. Seven garages in the city have been authorized as agencies for the accomplishment of the work. The garages which have been provided with stickers and which will inspect cars free of charge are Lundstrom Chevrolet, Ford, Zack Bays, Manistique garage, Ed Gray, Joe Osterhout, and Crawford and Holland. All car owners are expected to have their cars in proper condition by September 1 when the tests will be made by the police.

NO SNAKE FOOD
Quincy, Ill.—A group of amateur naturalists kept a few rattlesnakes. When it came feeding time they threw the husky reptiles a little mouse. Mr. Mouse vowed he'd not make snake fodder. He danced in and around the reptiles and, with lightning-like thrusts, bit their lips and chewed off their rattles. The naturalists, fearing for the lives of their snakes, hastily withdrew the rodent and freed it.

Home Demonstration Leader Advocates Use Of Fruits, Vegetables

"For health's sake, each individual in the family should have two servings each of fruit and vegetables every day in addition to potatoes," said Miss Harris, home demonstration leader, in her talk before home-maker groups at Germfask, Cooks and in the city of Manistique, on Monday and Tuesday of this week. The kind of fruits and vegetables may vary with the varieties on hand and the particular likes of the individual, but the total number of servings should be kept standard. Where citrus fruits are served daily in the diet, they must be substituted in part for tomatoes.

It is a simple matter to follow the above standard during the summer months when the supply of fresh fruits and vegetables may be secured either at the store or from the garden. It may be a difficult problem to maintain the standard during the winter months unless plans are made now so that an ample supply of fruits and vegetables are canned or stored for winter use.

"In order to have some basis for determining the amounts of the various products which should be preserved," said Miss Harris, "the Home Economics Department of Michigan State college has worked out a budget showing the quantities of the various products necessary for each adult in the family. By multiplying the number of adults and allowing for the proportionate share necessary for growing children, it is a simple matter to determine the quantities of products to be canned for any particular family." Copies of this "canning budget" may be secured from the county agricultural agent's office for the asking.

In her demonstration this week Miss Harris explained in detail the various methods of canning with the pressure cooker, hot-water bath, and the open kettle method. "Much of the difficulty from spoilage in canning," says Miss Harris, "is due to not following in detail the directions which have been carefully worked out by the Home Economics Department of the United States Department of Agriculture and in cooperation with the various agricultural colleges throughout the country. The methods as recommended have been worked out after a great deal of research and if properly followed will enable the home-maker to successfully can either meats, fruits or vegetables.

Prepares Chicken
In the demonstration at Cooks, the bloodless method of drawing a chicken was shown as well as the art of packing a chicken into a jar so as to assure a good looking jar as well as one which would assure the product being properly canned. "I would much rather draw a chicken and can usually do it with much less fuss and difficulty than my experience in preparing beefs," said Miss Harris. Once you have learned to properly use the bloodless method of dressing a chicken you will agree with me that it is the only method which should be used by the home-maker.

It is important, not only to be assured that you have the necessary supply of fruits and vegetables preserved for next winter's use, but it is equally important that the meat supply for next winter be preserved for use in emergency when it is not possible to get a supply of fresh meat from the store. Old hens, broilers, are quite commonly canned by the home-maker. It is just as easy to preserve veal, pork, beef and venison by the same method used in canning chicken. If you are unable to dispose of a veal calf at a profitable price, rather than sell it at a loss it would be an economy to can it for next winter's use.

I even find many women living in the city who make a practice of buying meats, particularly chicken, during the summer and fall and of preserving them for their use in the winter when prices for dressed poultry is usually higher. There is yet time for every farm woman and homemaker to can and store sufficient meats, fruits and vegetables for use next winter and from the increased demand for help in canning work this summer, I am confident that more products are being preserved for next winter's use than any year previous."

Fine Progress Is Reported as Bible School Term Ends

New progress, in fact knowledge and Christian experience in sixteen old locations and a beginning of Biblical information in two new locations, is reported by Rev. C. E. Morrison, whose schools close this week. Sunday schools do not intensively relate Bible history, geography and chapter memorization as is done in a Bible school. They know the geography of Palestine in facts and figures better than Upper Peninsula is known. They know the life of Jesus and Paul and of Daniel, David and Joseph, much better than the lives of Hoover and Governor Roosevelt to know the divisions of the Bible doctrines, these are only some of the accomplishments of certain Bible schools and the plan in progress for all the schools. "We are also adding to this program, fascinating stories of modern builders of the church, missionary heroes who in medicine, surgery, civil engineering and carpentry together with gospel evangelism have revolutionized illiterate and bowed down peoples in dark corners of the earth. The Bible schools also definitely try to make the scholars doers of the Word and not hearers only and this year especially there have been a number of decisions registered for Christ.

A resume of the 1932 schools by teachers follows: The number given being the number of children enrolled with an average attendance in many cases of 90 percent of the roll. To be on the roll, one must have attended three times.

Robert Pare, Green school, 15; Calmar 23; Dorothy Williams, Gould City, 30; Dick, 28; Wood 17; Garne, 15; Sadie McCann and Carl Messer, Raro, 43; Cora Habcock, C. Germfask, 15; Pickford, 50; Rudyard, 50; Marjorie Morrison, Kendall, 17; Van Meer, 17; Walter Morrison, Brick, 12; Jeanette Brandt, Germfask, 28; Miss Williams and Miss Brandt, Strong, 28; St. Ignace (returns not in); Peter Monsena, Neeshish Island and Oak Ridge (returns not in).

Author Praises Big Spring In Magazine

Kitch-it-ki-pli was given a big boost in the July number of The Northern Sportsman by Floyd Flanders in an article entitled, "Michigan's Great Park System." Speaking of the interest of Indian lore to the tourist and of the wonders of the Big Spring, the author writes as follows:

"Some vacationists are real 'history hounds,' always looking for the historical. A school superintendent and his family from a city in Ohio, last year visited the scenes of Hiawatha and they got a real thrill from the adventure. Indian lore always interests the people of a historical turn, and the park superintendent in the park where at some dim time in the past, Chief Pokagoo, Osawinamakee, or Waugun, of Wauksa camped his braves anywhere from three hours to a hard, long winter, and does not share this knowledge with his visitors, is losing out on an excellent chance to sell his park to his public.

"In the Big Spring, the Palms-Book park near Manistique, Michigan has one of the greatest natural attractions a place could wish for. Picture a pool of icy water, 300 feet long and 150 feet wide, in a natural setting of spruce and balsam, a pool that is 47 feet deep and the water so clear that a dime can be seen lying at the bottom. Marvellous! But nevertheless true. The writer of this article was skeptical until no less a person than Chase S. Osborn proved it by providing the coin, and incidentally accompanying it with an interesting history of the spring. A visitor to the upland peninsula who fails to see Kitch-it-ki-pli, the real name of the spring, has failed to complete his vacation."

Miss Catherine Shay is returning from Detroit tomorrow after spending several days there.

Grasshopper Control Is Proving Effective

"Grasshoppers are being effectively controlled," says Lee Stewart, county agricultural agent, "in communities where they have been a menace this year and where the farmer is carrying out a consistent program of spreading poison bait.

There was some question in the minds of a number as to the effectiveness of the poison bran or sawdust mash. Any doubt of the efficiency of the mash can soon be cleared up by visiting a number of the farms where effective control work has been done. The writer visited the farm of J. H. VanDyck of Cooks about two weeks ago. In going over the breeding grounds of the grasshoppers and along the control border set up in the grain fields, there was evidence of millions of dead hoppers everywhere. It was also evident that, had not poison bait been spread, there would not have been any grain left.

In talking with Mr. VanDyck about the methods used, he stated that it was necessary first of all to put in considerable fencing in order that he might safely poison the breeding grounds. He then carried out a program of having the poison mash spread on one-fifth of the entire area every day and oftener where rains interfered. The breeding grounds were given first attention and after several applications control borders were set up protecting all of the barley and oat fields.

At that time Mr. VanDyck had spread over 250 bushels of poison sawdust bait. All of the mowing was done at the farm. His success in controlling the hoppers was due to the working out of an effective control program and then carrying it out. Results were obtained by others in Wood township and in the other townships throughout the county where a systematic grasshopper campaign was carried out.

Hannah Clarifies Election Laws In State Of Michigan

County Clerk Thos. N. Hannah calls attention to a new feature of the election law, enacted by the 1931 legislature, which will prove of interest to the voters. The new law changes the character of the primary ballot, having a tendency to shorten the form. The law now provides that in the case of a candidate who has filed his petition and who has no opposition from his own party, neither his name nor the name of the office he is running for shall appear on the primary ballot.

In Alcona county, among Republicans, the only offices contested for are those of sheriff, judge of probate, prosecuting attorney and drain commissioner. Names of contesting candidates for these offices will be printed on the Republican primary ballot, but the names of candidates who have no opposition will not be printed on this ballot. Thus, such offices as county clerk, county treasurer, county surveyor, and candidates for these offices, who have no opposition, will not appear on the ballot. Among Democrats there are but two candidates contesting for a single office, that of sheriff. The names of two candidates for the office of sheriff, therefore, are the only names that will appear on the primary ballot.

In former elections the names of the offices were printed on the ballot and it was optional with the voter to write in a name or paste on a slip for some candidate he wished to nominate. There will be no opportunity of doing this this year. This may be somewhat confusing to the voters who are not posted on the new law affecting the character of the ballot and who may wish to make a nomination independent of candidates who have filed petitions.

County Clerk Hannah has written to the attorney general's department regarding the placing of the names of William Duffet and Wallace H. Masters on the Republican ballot for road commissioner. The board of supervisors having resolved to dispense with the election of such office and decided to appoint. Both have filed petitions for the primary election but if the attorney general's department upholds the action of the supervisors the names will not appear and the coming vacancy of January 1, 1933, will be filled by appointment.

Pertinent Comment

That reduction in costs of government here this week when the board of education adopted a budget that will reduce expenditures $15,000.00 during the next school year and cut school tax bills 21 per cent. Even greater reductions could have been made had the board followed the policy adopted by any communities and reduced the school facilities. A scrutiny of the budget discloses that the tax reduction is not so much due to emergency curtailment as it is the result of careful planning over a period of years, through which debt reduction has been accomplished. Several years ago the school board adopted a program through which it aimed at wiping out the school debt and, regardless of protests that taxes were high, maintained a tax rate that would make certain the retirement of the bonds as they came due. Economies were effected during the boom days and while other school districts were expanding, Gladstone hewed to the line and added the savings to the sinking funds of the district. A year ago, the board found itself with sufficient cash on hand to make advance retirements of bonds possible. They sought out bond holders and negotiated with them for the purchase of bonds that would be due during the coming year. Finding immediate need for cash, the bond holders agreed to sell, and as a result the bonds were retired and the school district relieved of the interest costs. Because of the policy pursued during the heyday of prosperity, the board was enabled to make tax reductions now when they are most needed, without depriving the student body of any of the advantages that they have the right to expect.

MURRAY UPSETS TOURNEY DOPE

Bob Skellenger, Favorite, Eliminated Yesterday Afternoon

Spilling the dope all over the place, Ronald Murray defeated Bob Skellenger two straight sets yesterday and became a leading contender for the singles tennis champion of the Gladstone courts. Murray came from behind to take the first set 9 to 7 and then came back to win the second set easily 6-2. Skellenger had been doped to go through to the semi-finals and was looked upon as a real threat to championship honors. Damitz and Rouman, other favorites, won their matches and will probably go through to the finals. Damitz won easily from Minnie, taking two straight sets 6 to 0. Rouman had a more difficult time defeating Freeman. He won the first set 6-3 and after a hard battle took the second 7-5. The victory over Freeman sends Rouman to the semi-finals. Mathison and Rouman will meet to determine the finalist in their bracket. Murray's victory over Skellenger brings him to the semi-finals where he will probably meet Damitz. There is a possibility however, that Damitz may be defeated by the winner of the McDonald-Ted Murray match, which is the only match between him and the semi-finals. It is likely that the final matches will be played today, although at a late hour yesterday it appeared as though rain might interfere with the games scheduled for last evening. In the event of postponement, the games will be played Monday.

Fly Fishing For Smelt, New Sport

Smelt, which appeared in large numbers in the waters of Little Bay de Noc for the first time this spring, are now giving fly fishermen a chance to work out. The discovery that smelt would rise to a fly was made by a fly caster this week, when he noted that fish were coming to the surface to feed on the Green Bay flies that were floating about the bay. Believing that the fish might be trout, the fisherman secured a fly rod and began casting. His fly had barely touched the water before he got a strike and to his surprise he landed a smelt. The smelt which he caught were small and gave little battle, but they rose with regularity and did not seem particular as to the type of fly which was offered.

Carr Beats Eastman and Sets 400-Meter Record

LEHTINEN COPS 5,000 METERS

Spectators Boo As Great Finnish Runner Cuts Off Ralph Hill

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
Olympic Stadium, Los Angeles, Aug. 5. (AP)—In two thundering finishes that shook the Olympic arena today, Bill Carr raced to spectacular victory over Ben Eastman in the 400 meter final after Lauri Lehtinen, ace of Finland's distance runners, barely missed out Ralph Hill, American star, in a wildly disputed climax to the 5,000 meter final.

The crowd of more than 50,000 spectators, who rose to their feet roaring as Carr administered his third and most convincing setback to Eastman in a dazzling all-American duel for speed lured, gave a demonstration of disapproval unprecedented in the history of Olympic track and field competition as Lehtinen three times side-stepped in front of Hill to lead the American to the tape by a scant three inches.

Spectators Boo
No sooner had Lehtinen stepped off the track, after blocking Hill's last futile rush, than the spectators let loose a reverberating chorus of boos in the belief that the Finnish star had deliberately frustrated the American's attempts to get a clear path for the rush down the stretch.

Lehtinen's tactics, doubly astonishing for the reason that he still seemed fresh and strong enough to match Hill's challenge, drew the wrath of official disapproval. Charges of unsportsmanlike tactics, if not actual fouling, were lodged and it was more than an hour before the official verdict finally was reached to accept Lehtinen's victory. Finland's first in the distance races, and credit him with a new Olympic record of 14 minutes 30 seconds.

Unofficially it was reported a majority of track judges at first favored disqualifying Lehtinen but the only official statement they issued was signed by Arthur Holz, of Germany, of the opinion that number 125 (Lehtinen) did not willfully interfere with number 433 (Hill) in the finish.

Holz, for diplomatic reasons, acted for the nominal chief judge, Gustavus T. Kirby of the United States. In making the final announcement of Lehtinen's victory.

No Official Protest
At the same time, however, Lehtinen was censured in effect by a statement from J. S. Edstrom of Sweden, president of the international federation, who said: "Although the authorities of the Amateur Athletic Union (of the United States) consider the race not fair run there will be no official protest from either Mr. Hill or the United States."

The American delegation had decided at first to file formal protest but after a lengthy discussion changed its attitude, although making no secret whatever of resentment over Lehtinen's performance. The crowd retained its feeling of partisanship in the matter and again boomed when the official announcement of the decision was made, softened somewhat though it was by the statement Hill was so close to Lehtinen that he also was credited with the record time 14 minutes 30 seconds, wiping out the last of Paavo Nurmi's Olympic records.

This weird and unfortunate episode so upset the Olympic proceedings that it was necessary to delay the 400 meter final a half hour but the crowd found it well worth waiting for as Carr, with another of his dazzling finishes, ran away from Ben Eastman in the stretch to win by two good yards.

The boy from Arkansas and the University of Pennsylvania, who never ran the quarter mile until this year, turned in the greatest performance of five dazzling days of Olympic competition. His slim legs whirled him around the sun-baked, lightning fast oval in as fine an exhibition of speed-racing as has ever been witnessed at any distance.

Carr not only smashed all records but obliterated them with his unbeatable drive down the stretch. His time of 46.2 seconds wiped out the listed world mark of 47 seconds as well as his own unofficial mark of 46.9 seconds, made in the final American trials.

It clipped a full second and four-tenths off the old Olympic mark of 47.6 seconds, made in 1924 by Eric Liddell of Great Britain and was a full second faster than the one Carr registered in the semifinals earlier in the afternoon.

For the third and final time, at least, for 1932, Carr's mastery over Eastman was proved to the complete satisfaction of all concerned. The big blonde Stanford runner, again in superb form, ran a great race. He negotiated the first 200 meters in the remarkable time of 22.7 seconds as he took the lead but yielded to Carr's rush around the final turn and down the stretch.

Asa Long of Toledo, checker plover, made an eastern tour and returned with 308 victories out of 337 games and 23 draws.

Johnson Says It's His Duty To Try to Win

Detroit, Aug. 5. (AP)—Here's what some of the principals in today's almost perfect baseball game at Navin field had to say about it.

Manager Walter Johnson of the Senators who sent in the pinch batsman that spoiled Tommy Bridges' perfect game: "As a manager, my duty is to win ball games for Washington. I must never give up even when my club is trailing 13 to 0 with two out in the ninth inning. We fought hard all day. We didn't give Bridges anything."

"I was a pitcher and know how those things affect a fellow. But as a pitcher I wouldn't want to receive credit for a perfect game if I didn't earn it."

Dave Harris (who made the hit that blasted Bridges' hopes): "I'm getting paid to hit, and he (Bridges) is getting paid to pitch. He never gives me any breaks at the plate. Why should I give them to him?"

Manager Bucky Harris of the Tigers: "Bridges weighs only 155 pounds or so, but most of him is heart. He's one of the greatest pitchers I have seen. This league will hear plenty from Mr. Bridges before he is through."

Grimm Learns Manager's Job Isn't All Bed of Roses

Philadelphia, Aug. 5. (AP)—Charley Grimm experienced the sadder side of managerial life today when the Phils hammered the offerings of three Chicago pitchers for fifteen hits and a 9 to 2 victory.

While Ray Bengo held the Cubs safe, the Phils returned to their slugging ways and evened the series. It was Bengo's ninth win of the season.

One inning was all the Phils needed. They pounded out four runs in the third, Chuck Klein cracking out his 32nd home run of the season with Hartell on base, and Hal Lee following with his 15th homer to send Don Hurst home ahead of him.

Grimm failed to keep up his hitting pace of yesterday and could do no better than a single in four times at bat.

New York, Aug. 5. (AP)—Two misjudged pitches in the fifth inning cost Bill Walker a no-hit game today as the Giants turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 2 for their fifth straight victory.

Ray Blades and Jimmy Wilson bounced these two balls off the left field stands for successive homers and the only hits of Walker.

St. Louis, Aug. 5. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns went ten innings today to take the second game of the series from Philadelphia, 9 to 8, each side using three pitchers.

Zombro Hanover Is Winner At Salem

Salem, N. H., Aug. 5. (AP)—Zombro Hanover, 2:00 1/2 favorite, today gave the grand circuit meeting its third state and track racing record of the week by capturing the $10,000 Parker House stake event from a field of eight on the Rockingham track.

This son of the great Dillon Arworthy, owned by H. Stacey Smith of Newark, N. J., and driven by Will Crozier of Hartford, Conn., turned in his record performance in the second heat.

The victor trailed J. B. Reynolds' Hollywood of Kansas City and the Lyle Brothers' Miss Kitty of Cleveland in the third heat, slowest one of the race. Zombro Hanover won in 2:01 and 2:00 1/2.

Detroit Hurler Robbed Of Perfect Game When Pinch Batter Singles

Detroit, Aug. 5. (AP)—Dave Harris, utility outfielder for the Washington Senators, blasted the hopes of Tommy Bridges, Detroit right-handed hurler, for a perfect game today after Bridges had retired twenty-six men in order.

With two out in the ninth and the score 13 to 0, Manager Walter Johnson sent Harris in for Pitcher Bob Burke. The crowd of 8,000 that had watched Bridges pitch a no-hit, no-walk, no-run game for eight and two-thirds innings, sat in tense silence, wondering at Johnson's action when his team had no chance to win.

Harris hit the first pitched ball into left field for a clean single and became the first Washington man to reach first base. Then

WORLD STARS TO PLAY HERE

Vines Will Have Plenty of Opposition in National Meet

New York, Aug. 5. (AP)—Ranking stars of France, England and Japan have entered the national tennis championships at Forest Hills, Long Island, Sept. 3-10, the United States Lawn Tennis association announced today, making the field one of the strongest and most cosmopolitan of recent years.

The English team of H. W. (Bunny) Austin, Fred Perry, J. S. O'Hill and Edward Avoary is enroute to this country with the United States Davis cup forces on the liner Olympic due in New York Tuesday.

Henri Cochet and Marcel Bernard sail Aug. 10 and Jiro Satch and T. Kuwabara, of Japan, will sail from England tomorrow.

The field thus will include nine of the first ten players of the world, Jean Borotra being the only ranking player missing, and Ellsworth Vines, Jr., will have his hands full defending the title. Foreigners have not won the title in several years. Cochet being the last in 1928. Rene LaCoste won in 1926 and 1927. Those are the only three times it has been taken by an outsider.

The nine internationally ranked players competing in the national and their order of placing by A. Wallis Myers, English tennis critic and editor, are: Cochet, Austin, Vines, Perry, Frank X. Shields, Sidney B. Wood, Jr., Lott, Satch and John Van Ryn. Borotra was ranked seventh, behind Wood and ahead of Lott.

Miss Hilding Will Play Miss Holton In Golfing Finals

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 5. (AP)—Renewing a rivalry that has extended through several tournaments, Miss Mary Holton, Battle Creek, and Miss Elsie Hilding, Grand Rapids, will fight it out tomorrow over the Battle Creek Country club course for the Western Michigan women's golf championship.

Miss Holton, champion in 1929 and 1930, vanquished Miss Mildred Shoultice, Battle Creek, 7 and 5, while Miss Hilding was hardly more hard pressed to eliminate Miss Josephine Bender, Grand Rapids, 5 and 4.

Miss Holton had the best mark today, taking 43 strokes over the first nine holes to 47 for Miss Hilding.

The Battle Creek finalist emerged victorious over her Grand Rapids rival in their last meeting, it was the quarter final of the state women's tournament recently. Miss Hilding, however, was victorious when they met in the Western Michigan tournament last year.

Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Harper Reach Tournament Finals

Easthampton, N. Y., Aug. 5. (AP)—America's No. 2 and No. 3 ranking women tennis players today gained the final round of the Maidstone club invitation tournament as Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., eliminated Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Calif., and Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper defeated Joan Ridley of England in the semi-finals.

Miss Jacobs, defeating Miss Cruickshank for the second time in ten days, allowed her opponent only three games, winning 6-1, 6-4. Harper, former national titleholder, was carried to three sets before she managed to turn back the hard hitting British star, 10-8, 2-6, 6-3.

Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, Mass., took the court with Miss Jacobs and the team won its way to the doubles semi-final round by defeating Mae Ceurvorst, Wichita, Kans., and Grace Surber, Jackson Heights, N. Y., by scores of 6-2, 5-7, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

John C. Calhoun, Hamilton, O., chief of police, has eight baseballs gathered this year, each autographed by the complete roster of a National league baseball team.

EQUIPOISE SET AT SARATOGA

Plucky Play Leads Field at $25,000 Race at Hawthorne

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, Aug. 5. (AP)—The kings of the turf, led by the mighty Equipoise, will go forth on two fronts tomorrow in quest of two pots of gold totalling more than $40,000.

Equipoise, holder of the world's record at one mile, and four other speedy thoroughbreds will face the barrier at Saratoga in the $10,000 Wilson mile, co-feature with the $10,000 United States Hotel stakes for which eleven classy two-year-olds have been named.

Plucky Play, conqueror of Equipoise in the Arlington Handicap, and Faerno, claimant of three-year-old honors, have been selected to lead a field of 17 postured in the $25,000 Hawthorne Handicap at Chicago.

The juvenile feature at the Spa, run over six furlongs, figures to be a battle between Happy Gal to the Belair stud, and J. H. Louchheim's Sandy Hill.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Surtica, winner of the Latonia, Kentucky and Illinois Oaks, showed Saratoga racegoers a sample of her speed today by accounting for the best stakes and $2,975. The bay daughter of Sun Briar, under 128 pounds, got up in the final strides of the seven furlong test to beat Mrs. Payne Whitney's Parry, the odds-on choice, by a nose. Unique from the Wheatley stable was third. As the second choice, Surtica paid 13 to 5.

A heavy rain started just before the feature race at Hawthorne but it failed to stop Mrs. Emil Denmark's Miss Marr from winning the Rose at Sharon purse. Coming from behind after Supreme Sweet had set the early pace, Miss Marr finished the six and one-half furlongs a half length in front of 1 Say with Seven Vells third.

For the first time since the second half of the rural kittenball season started one team is in undisputed possession of first place. The Humdingers, first half winners, are alone on top by virtue of their victory over the Offnoons and the defeat of the Hodtogs by the Hounds.

The Humdingers got revenge on the Offnoons, who were the only outfit to beat them so far this half. The score was 6-2. The Hounds, who had only won one game, sprang a big surprise when they nipped out the Hodtogs 15-11 in a thriller. Until Thursday, the Hodtogs had been tied for first place with the Humdingers. The Kittys won a forfeit game when the Cats failed to appear. No games were played Tuesday on account of rain.

Next Tuesday's games will be: Cats vs. Humdingers; Hounds vs. Offnoons; and Kittys vs. Hodtogs.

On Thursday, the Hodtogs will meet the Humdingers; the Hounds will meet the Kittys, and the Cats travel to the Offnoons.

Cleveland Defeats Boston Sox Again

Cleveland, Aug. 5. (AP)—The Red Sox matched hit-for-hit with Cleveland today but lost their third straight of the series, 7 to 2. Mel Harder was headed for a shutout until Morgan fumbled two chances in the eighth. The Tribe's first baseman redeemed himself at bat, however, by slugging out a triple, double and single.

The victory was Cleveland's thirteenth from Boston in fourteen meetings this season.

SEWAGE PLANT WORKING FINE

Experts Commend New Establishment at Escanaba

Although certain adjustments in machinery are still being made, Escanaba's new sewage treatment plant is now in full operation, and the plant outflow at Portage creek is a stream of clear water, appearing even clearer than the drainage water of the creek itself. Several experts and authorities on sewage treatment have visited the local establishment since it was placed in operation, and has pronounced it highly efficient, ranking it with the best of its kind in the country.

The formal dedication of the plant and "open house" day for the public will be held later in the season. The grounds are being leveled and all of the construction debris removed. Landscaping will not be done until next year, the site offering possibilities for an attractive layout which will take some time to complete. A register of visitors at the pump house office shows that many people have already taken advantage of the opportunity to see the plant in operation.

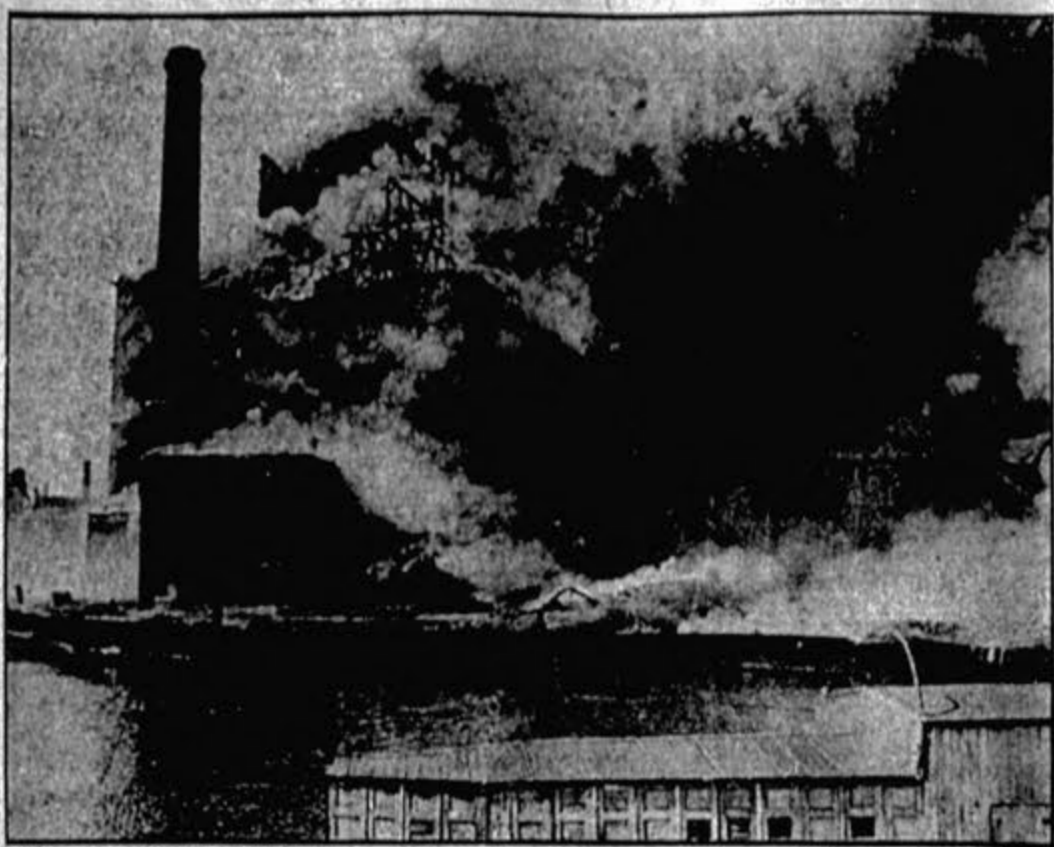

An added feature of interest this season at the site of the treatment plant is the 60-acre tract of garden planted by the unemployed of the city. Potatoes, corn, beans, tomatoes and other garden vegetables are growing in plots which show the evidence of good care, and the only enemy appears to be the grasshopper. At present the city is plowing and discing all cleared land in the vicinity of the plant not previously cultivated for gardens. This will be seeded eventually to become a part of the landscaping around the new plant.

Tourist Camp Not Crowded This Year

Patronage of the Escanaba tourist camp on the south shore has been fair so far this season, not as heavy as in past years. Tenting parties now carry more comforts and conveniences, however, and a number of completely equipped homes have been noted. Registrations at the camp so far run heavily to Wisconsin, Illinois and lower Michigan parties, with a scattering of more distant locations.

Officers Watching For Stolen Trailer

Prosecution is promised by police for someone who "borrowed" an automobile trailer unless the vehicle is brought back to its home yard or the near vicinity very soon. The trailer is the property of Ed P. Johnson, 303 Stephenson avenue, and he reported to police that it was stolen out of his yard at 5:30 a. m. Friday. Police also learned that the trailer was seen that morning being towed behind a Model A Ford coupe on Third avenue north, and they play to institute a search for this car and issue a warrant for the arrest of the owner if the trailer is not restored to Mr. Johnson.

The trailer is described as newly painted in green, and is a Sears Roebuck model. A license for the vehicle, Michigan 13-059, was reported as previously stolen from Johnson.

LIBBY'S FATHER SEEKS EARLY TRIAL FOR HER

quest, but did not reveal his decision.

Under North Carolina law, 30 days are allowed the widow after the death of her husband to ask letters of administration. If she fails to make application, a citation is issued by which she is given 20 additional days, upon the expiration of which any relative, or creditor, may ask appointment. Additional Evidence

The 30-day period after Smith Reynolds' death expires tomorrow.

The coroner's jury found that young Reynolds came to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown.

The grand jury returned a secret presentment against Libby and Walker, upon which Higgins drew up a murder indictment. The current grand jury voted a true bill on this indictment, and Walker was arrested at once.

Sheriff Scott, chief investigating officer and one of the two witnesses called by the grand jury, said additional evidence had been gathered since the coroner's jury returned its verdict but he would give no inkling of its nature.

Walker, lifelong friend of the man he now is accused of killing, is already under arrest here.

Bailey Lipfert, attorney for young Walker, announced he did not intend to seek the release of his client at present.

As Holman conferred here with court officials, authorities in Ohio were hunting Libby. They held a telegram from North Carolina officials asking her arrest.

Before leaving Cincinnati, Holman flatly refused to reveal his daughter's whereabouts, but said she was ill at a country retreat and under the care of physicians and nurses.

"At the proper time," he said, "she will appear to answer the charges."

Brother Returning

"Meanwhile, Richard Reynolds, elder brother of Smith, sailed today from Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, for the United States with the announced intention of seeing "that justice is visited upon the guilty party" if it appeared to him after his arrival here that his brother was murdered.

"I'm sure the authorities are doing everything they can to find the solution, but before I can reach any definite opinion I will have to talk with them and with my family's attorneys," he said.

Richard was on the east coast of Africa when his 20-year-old brother was shot to death. He expects to arrive in this country in about 12 days.

Dr. W. N. Dalton, the county coroner, recorded Smith Reynolds' death as a suicide the day after he was killed, but the case was reopened when Sheriff Transou Scott refused to accept this verdict.

While a formal inquest was in progress, Libby and Walker were held in custody as material witnesses. She was placed under guard at Reynolds and Walker was lodged in jail.

The coroner's verdict automatically released Libby and Walker from custody.

She went to Cincinnati to the home of a sister, Mrs. Myron Kahn. Several weeks later it was reported in official circles here that she was no longer at her sister's home and Holman sent the sheriff and solicitor a telegram denouncing North Carolina justice and saying his daughter was ready to appear in Winston-Salem at any time her physical condition would permit and her presence was desired by officials here.

Holman declared in his telegram that his daughter was forced to undergo an inquisition here which he likened to those of the dark ages. During testimony before the coroner's jury it was brought out that Libby said shortly before her husband died that she expected to become a mother. Whether her present illness is a result of approaching motherhood was not revealed by her father.

Walker told the coroner's jury that Reynolds threatened to kill himself shortly before he was shot on a sleeping porch adjoining Libby Holman's bedroom.
