

BOOTLEG WORT PROVES COSTLY
Tried to Save 25c Tax; Distributor Pays $200 Fine
 Hauling in wort from Wisconsin and selling it in the Upper Peninsula without the Michigan malt tax stamps proved an expensive venture for Herman Beaulieu, 511 Maple street, Sault Ste. Marie. Beaulieu was arrested at Escanaba by Arthur J. Erdlitz, department of state investigator, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned Saturday before Justice H. E. Ransette, and was bound over to circuit court under bonds of $500. Monday, he was brought before Judge Frank A. Bell in Delta county circuit court and fined $200 and costs of $25 or 50 days in the county jail.

 Beaulieu held a distributor's license to sell wort, and had been bringing it from Wisconsin. The investigator found, selling it along the route to the Sault as he went through with his truck. Failure to affix the Michigan malt tax stamps enabled him to save 25c on each five gallon can of the wort.

Adventures of "Billy" Walters "Billy" Walters, 17 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Walters of this city, who recently returned home from an adventurous trip throughout 13 states, relates some interesting stories of his hitch-and-hike trip which lasted nearly two months. He left Munising after school closed, taking $5 and a pack sack containing extra clothing. He went from here with a companion to Milwaukee and Chicago, but the two parted company in Arkansas.

"Billy" says he traveled about six thousand miles during the course of his wanderings, headed for nowhere in particular, but he traveled through the southwest and crossed the Rio Grande and went into Mexico. On his way he found his pack sack too heavy and sent his extra clothing back home. He rode in automobiles and on freight cars. With others he was thrown off a freight train, spent a night in jail and was put to work on the street, being arrested on a charge of vagrancy. On one occasion he fell asleep near a railroad track and upon awakening saw a large rattler crawling towards him. He killed the snake with rocks. At one time he went without food for three days. Most of the people were very good, some refused to give him a meal, others made him work for it, and still others refused to give him a lift. During his journey through the southwest he fell in company with a man who was a graduate of Oxford, Eng., and another who was writing weekly stories for a newspaper, for which he received $5 per letter. Another was writing stories. All were tramping over the country. "Billy" says he met many likable and intelligent persons who were hitch-hiking about, like himself.

PIONEER VISITS HERE
 Patrick Keyes, of Pueblo, Col., accompanied by his brother-in-law, Garret Kalkin, of Ishpeming, were visitors in the city yesterday. Mr. Keyes, coming to visit old time friends and look around the city which he left about thirty-two years ago. When the new town of Munising was started by Tim Neater in 1895, Mr. Keyes came here as an engineer for the Munising Railroad company. He had previously served for a period of 15 years as engineer on the South Shore. When Mr. Keyes came to Munising he purchased the lot on the east corner of Elm and Munising avenue and erected a store building thereon, long known as the Keyes block. Later this property was acquired by Thos. G. Sullivan and is now known as the Sullivan block. In the early days Mr. Keyes was a prominent figure in business and political circles. He resigned his position here as engineer for the Munising Railroad and moved, with his family to Pueblo, Col., 32 years ago, where he has since remained an engineer. He is now on the retired list, having served over 50 years as a locomotive engineer. He enjoyed his visit here very much, visiting with old time friends. Mrs. Keyes died five months ago, after a married life of fifty years. One daughter, Sister Winnifred, recently went to China, locating at Woo Chang, about 500 miles up the Yangtze River from Shanghai.

Visitors Dwindle; Parks Close Soon
 With the peak of the summer camping and touring season reached Labor Day, attendance at Michigan's state parks has started to diminish and it is probable that several of the parks will be closed before the first of October, according to the Parks Division of the Department of Conservation. The year's total attendance including all of the parks is expected to show a drop under 1931. Parks will remain open to the public but caretakers will be removed and the park equipment will not be available.

WISCONSIN'S PRIMARY

POLITICAL interest is attracted today to the primary election in Wisconsin, where Governor Phil La Follette and Walter J. Kohler are opposing each other for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and the veteran Senator John J. Blaine has as his rival in the contest for the senatorial nomination the young, scrappy newspaper editor, John B. Chapple of Ashland, Wis.

The two Progressive candidates are reported to be facing a real test in their quest for renomination. One of the main reasons why Governor La Follette finds himself in difficulties with the voters this year is that he promised too much when he asked the voters of the Badger state to elect him to office two years ago. In that election, he defeated Kohler, who had held the office for one term but was denied the second term, which he now seeks after two years retirement from political life.

Conditions beyond his control have prevented young Phil La Follette from carrying out many of his promises, but many Wisconsin voters feel that he was insincere at the time that his promises were made simply to get votes. Unemployment has increased under La Follette's regime; farm prices have gone down; high taxes have driven industries out of the state and crippled others that have remained; and instead of the promised economy in government the state's expenditures have been $20,000,000 more than during former Governor Kohler's administration.

A FUNNY LAW

THE revision of the election laws, providing that the board of canvassers be composed of the judge of probate, county clerk and county treasurer, may be laudable from the standpoint of governmental economy, but it seems it may lead into many embarrassing situations, since it provides that a candidate for office may count his own votes and those of his opponents.

We do not mean to cast any bad reflections upon the incumbent officers, but it is natural that considerable dissatisfaction and suspicion might arise in the event of close contests. Demands for recounts are more likely to follow.

In the event of recounts, however, if the contestants are members of the canvassing board, provision is made under the law for their replacement by other county officers. But, the Press believes there is much possibility for embarrassment in the ordinary canvass of votes, which will occur again after the November election, when Republican incumbents will be making the official count of the votes cast for themselves and their Democratic opponents. This appears to be an economy measure that will cause more trouble than the saving is worth.

CHINA OBJECTS

ASSOCIATED PRESS dispatches inform us that China has appealed to the United States to halt Japanese aggression into Manchuria, claiming that the independent state of Manchukuo that has been set up in that territory is merely a puppet government under complete control of Japan.

China fears that this is Japan's first step to the ultimate annexation of Manchuria, such as was done in the case of Korea.

A review of the events that led to the annexation of Korea by Japan might be of interest to our readers.

CALL of the WEST

(By NEA Service) By R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN TODAY STAN BALL, an agent for cattle interests, faces ASPER DELO in his office in the city. Asper is accused by the cattle men of infringing on their range with his timber cutting. Ball accuses DeLo of crooked work at his Three Rivers camp. He accuses DeLo of having men shot who try to check up on him. Ball says he is going up to make a check himself. DeLo retorts that he will personally see that Ball does not.

Standing before the office building Stan Ball sees kidnapers slip a girl into a car. He catches the car and saves DONA DELO, Asper's daughter. When he learns who she is he slips away after telling her he is STANLEY BLACK.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with Dona, agrees to get Asper DeLo back off his wild trip to Three Rivers if she will marry him. She gives him some encouragement. Dona goes with Dudley. They stop at SETH DOBY'S place. Doby refuses to help Dona but says Asper has been there and that he was ready for a killing.

Dudley puts a plan to Dona. She is to marry him at Doby's place. Asper can hardly go on with a manhunt under those circumstances. Reluctantly, Dona agrees. Dudley has a license, obtained the night before. While he is seeking a man to marry them Stan Ball, who is on his way to Three Rivers, steps out of the night and kisses Dona.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V STAN BALL strode through the night, avoiding the roadway and never looking back. He crossed an open stretch of parched, yellow "doby" and came to the corals at the back of Seth's place. With an easy lift of his lithe body he vaulted over the top pole and whistled softly. An eager nicker welcomed him and a moment later a black mare slid out of the gloom. She was saddled and her bridle reins dragged on the ground. Stan caught up the reins and leaped into the saddle.

The course he took away from Seth's hotel was not by the main road but through the hills without trail or marker except the stars, shining palely in the white moonlight. He put the mare to a brisk pace and pushed on toward the rough mountains. His tall form seemed a part of the horse as they swung along. Stan Ball was in a hard mood and he kept his lips grimly closed.

Back in Seth Doby's garden three people were standing in a patch of white light. Dudley was talking eagerly.

"You can't back out now, Doby!"

such aggression. What the report will do to back up the interest.

you," Dudley sulked. Dona could stand the strain no longer. With a little cry she whirled and fled toward the hotel. She stumbled blindly down the road and ran up the steps of the ancient hostelry. Seth Doby rose from a rickety chair to greet her but she only waved a hand and hurried to her room.

The next morning Dona appeared for breakfast looking fresh and attractive but with a defiant light in her eyes. She had made a decision and she meant to stand by it. The set of her mouth indicated that Asper DeLo was in for a real clash of wills.

Dudley greeted her with a grin. He had made a decision himself. "Sleep soundly, princess!" he bled her gaily. "As on a bed of down, sir knight," she answered. They went in to breakfast and nothing was said about the affair of the night before. Dudley ate all the eggs and bacon he could hold and would have had more if Dona had not stopped him by degrees. Dud. This high air and the sun give you a terrific appetite but you have to keep it down for a week or so.

"In a week we'll be back on the sidewalks and can get in out of the sun," he reminded her. "If I have to subsist on steak and bacon and eggs I'm going to do a real job of it!" But he took her.

Across the hall she heard the door of Dudley's room scrape shut. She felt sorry for him because she felt that he really loved her. Then she spent another half hour wondering if it was so bad

LYRICS OF LIFE

THE REBEL

Each morning we arise at seven, Step out and take a look at heaven To note the day, if wet or dry, Then eat our breakfast, light our briar, And to a certain cell retire.

Where duties wait us, mountains high, And buy and sell and pay and borrow, And know we'll do the same tomorrow.

To some it seems a life of virtue To never rise and re-assert you; To stand, get hitched, and then to pull; And yet I've often recollected A horse I very much respected.

His bucking was so beautiful, Yet here we are, the smug descendants Of men who fought for independence.

Some day, I know, in desperation I'll rise and break some regulation, Assert myself, and have my way, Though some may say I've lost my senses, I shall not care for consequences.

Or care what other people say, What happens will be immaterial— Some day I'm going to change my cereal.

COURT IS BUSY FOR FIRST DAY

Several Sentences Given Out Monday Afternoon by Judge Bell

Cutting through a large calendar of criminal cases which crowded the docket at yesterday's opening session of the September term of circuit court, Judge Frank A. Bell swiftly disposed of several offenders who had pleaded guilty upon arraignment.

Edward Koehler, who with George Davis, was charged with breaking into the Delta Hardware warehouse July 15, and stealing dynamite, was placed on probation for two years. Koehler's crippled condition was one of the considerations moving the court's decision. Davis, who likewise pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary, will be sentenced later this term.

Rudolph Mathieson, who pleaded guilty to possession and sale of intoxicating liquor, was placed on probation for two years, with a sharp warning that should Mathieson violate the terms of his probation he would be sent immediately to state's prison.

Albert John Zoellner, of Gladstone, guilty of a bastardy offense, was charged with support of the infant for five years and $65 costs. He was required to furnish a $500 bond or serve not more than a year at the Marquette prison.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Walter Lafave, who was arraigned yesterday afternoon charged with selling and transporting intoxicating liquor September 17.

Cases Dismissed

Pleas of guilty were entered by Percy Richer and Richard Newman who were charged with breaking and entering the William Peterson store at Ford River September 14. Their sentences will be meted out later.

First on the list of criminal cases scheduled for trial this morning is the case of Edward LaMotte, of Garden, who is charged with practicing medicine without a license. He will be defended by Attorney William Miller, of Rapid River. Following the LaMotte case, disposition will be made of the case of Frank Billman who pleaded not guilty to violation of the prohibition laws at the last term of court. Other cases scheduled for trial tomorrow are: John Terrien, and Edward Menard, both charged with prohibition law violations; and Richard St. Martin, charged with bastardy.

Judge Bell refused to reinstate the case of Globe Indemnity Co. vs. Joseph Ribber, following argument yesterday afternoon.

Quo warrant proceedings brought by Walter C. Hornstein against Charles Gauthier were dismissed yesterday by Judge Bell when it developed that Gauthier could no longer be ousted from the office of justice of the peace since his term expired in July. The proceedings had been instituted to test the validity of Gauthier's incumbency of two offices, supervisor of Garden township and justice of the peace.

That the two offices are incompatible was emphasized in the dictum of Judge Bell's decision yesterday. Not only do the functions of these offices often overlap, but one is judicial in character, and the other executive hence they should be clearly separate from each, Judge Bell said.

While holding both offices at the same time is illegal, the acts performed by such an official are nevertheless binding, it was stated.

THEATRES

"Congorilla," the only talking picture entirely made in the African jungle, with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, brings to the audience screen for the first time the roars, shrieks and cries of not only primitive savages and wild animals, but the unexplored wilderness of Central Africa is shown in all its hectic splendor. Rivers alive with rhinos and crocodiles, wildernesses vibrant with man-eaters, forests shrieking with savage cries and treacherous mountains hysterical with shouts of gorillas are realistically brought to you in "Congorilla," thanks to science and the daring of the world's most fearless explorers.

Incidentally the natural sounds record of the jungle will furnish innumerable surprises. Theories are blasted. Claims of writers of animal stories are likewise jolted by "Congorilla" which is showing at the Delitt Theatre.

Charcoal May Be State Park Fuel

Increasing scarcity of fuel and increasing demand for camp stoves which the state is unable to supply is causing the Parks Division of the Department of Conservation to consider using charcoal camp stoves and selling charcoal at the state parks.

If the contemplated action is made effective some of the parks would have the small charcoal burning stoves to rent at a nominal fee to campers and the permanent stoves in the parks would be removed.

Growing scarcity of "free fuel" in the parks will sooner or later make such action necessary, it was said. Larger numbers of campers each year are carrying their own portable stoves.

Many campers are now also carrying their own camp tables, according to the parks division.

"Mr. and Mrs. Harger have been spending the summer at their home in Benzonia and will reside in Lansing during the fall and winter."

Grouse Now Legal

With the opening of the waterfowl hunting season throughout the state October 1, upper peninsula hunters will have their first opportunity in years to hunt Ruffed Grouse. The 1932 rabbit and fox squirrel hunting seasons also open October 1, north of the Straits of Mackinac.

In addition to changes in the length of the waterfowl hunting season this year, several changes were made in other waterfowl hunting regulations by the federal government and the Conservation Commission has acted to make state regulations conform to the federal requirements. Woodducks, elders and ruddy ducks and buffleheads (butterballs) may not be taken this year. The total daily possession limit remains unchanged at 15, but of the 15 not more than 10 may be of any one or the aggregate of canvasback, redhead, greater and lesser scaup, ringneck, bluewing, greenwing, cinnamon teal, shoveller and gadwall. The possession limit is two days' legal bag and the season's limit is 100 ducks, and birds may not be held in possession more than 10 days after their close of the season, which is November 30.

Opens at Noon

The limit of geese and brant is four in a day and eight in the season. Ross' and cackling geese are protected.

Ten Florida gallinules or rails may be taken in one day with a limit of 20 in possession at one time.

Occupants of two automobiles were cut and bruised in a collision at Rapid River Saturday night in which one of the cars crashed through the window of the Caswell garage. According to officers of the sheriff's department who were called to investigate, one of the drivers, Don Sullivan of Escanaba, going south on US-41, collided with a coach driven by Miss Elna Mattson, who was going east on US-2. Both cars swerved up on the sidewalk at the garage, the Mattson car breaking the window.

Those in Sullivan's car were: Viola Nye, Eileen Carey, Milton Carlson and Roy Larson. Accompanying Miss Mattson were Doris LaCasse and Eileen Chase. Miss Mattson was cut about the face and head and Miss LaCasse has an injured ankle.

Three presidents of the United States—Martin Van Buren, Millard Fillmore and Theodore Roosevelt—were born in New York State.

RAIL BUSINESS IS LOOKING UP

North Western Railway Reports Signs of Recovery

A material increase in the volume of traffic is noted throughout the Chicago and North Western railway system, it was reported yesterday by D. B. McIntyre, assistant superintendent, who returned Sunday from a business mission to the general offices of the railroad in Chicago.

"The business outlook for this fall and winter is very encouraging," Mr. McIntyre said. "More optimism prevails in railroad circles than has been in evidence for some time."

He called attention to the fact that the Simmons company at Kenosha is now shipping about twenty carsloads daily. The gravel and sand business in the Chicago area has increased to the extent that it has been necessary to call for a large number of gondola cars from the Peninsula division.

The grain movement is well under way on the western divisions of the system, and shipments of potatoes have begun in Wisconsin and northern Michigan. About fifty carsloads are expected to be shipped off the Beaver Branch alone.

During the past three weeks, the upper peninsula lumber industry has enjoyed an increasing demand for its product. Orders are being received by telegrams, indicating that stocks at the retail yards in the country are very low.

Orders for placing fifty empty boxcars in the Marinette-Menominee area have been received by the division offices from shippers there. The manufacturers of paper, lumber and other products at the twin cities are reporting an unusual spurt in orders.

Harry Broad Returns From Trip Abroad

Harry A. Broad, Eighth avenue south, returned Sunday morning from a seven weeks foreign tour, during which he spent most of his time visiting with his only sister in Plymouth, England.

Mr. Broad made both trips on the giant ocean liner, the Leviathan. On the return voyage, he left Cherbourg, France, Sept. 11 and arrived in New York City Sept. 16.

The Escanaba man said yesterday he enjoyed the visit abroad very much, but that he was glad to be "back-home." He found economic conditions in England about the same as in this country, he said, and the prevailing opinion among business men there was that adjustment was in progress, although they felt it is to be a slow process.

The early evils of the dole system are not apparent now, Mr. Broad said, because many of the defects have been ironed out, and the unemployment benefit plan is now being operated more efficiently.

Mr. Broad stated he saw no evidence of drunkenness while in Plymouth, a city of 300,000. The public houses, or saloons, are conducted under strict government supervision, and remain open only from 10:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. The English have a profound respect for law, Mr. Broad noted, and there is no attempt to any extent to obtain liquor during the forbidden hours.

While abroad, Mr. Broad obtained a good idea of the English people's impressions of this country.

"They think we are not civilized over here," Mr. Broad said. "They cannot understand how such an atrocious crime as the Lindbergh baby kidnapping could occur in a civilized country. It is surprising how many times the Lindbergh case was mentioned in conversations I had with the folks there."

OUTLAW OF THE JUNGLE

"Nature in the Raw"
—as portrayed by the great animal painter, Paul Bransom... inspired by the leopard's fierce fighting power and relentless hunt for prey which makes him the terror of every beast of the African jungle.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man writes a better book, preaches a better sermon, or makes a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, too he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door." —RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
