

HOOVER WILDLY CHEERED IN NEW YORK

THIEVES LOOT MONROE BANK, TAKE $40,000

POLICEMAN SHOT AS BANDITS MAKE ESCAPE

Monroe, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—Seven bandits, armed with machine guns and revolvers, looted the First National Bank of Monroe of $40,000 today, shot and wounded a policeman as they fled in a burst of gunfire, and apparently made good their escape although police believe one of their number was seriously wounded.

William Lynch, Monroe policeman, was shot in the head and hand as he opened fire on the bandits at the door of the bank. Physicians said he would recover. Charles Kruth, another policeman, was cut by broken glass from the bank's windows. Kruth said he wounded the driver of the bandit car with a shot from his revolver.

Bank employees said that six of the bandits, carrying machine guns and revolvers, entered the bank shortly after noon. They ordered the 18 persons in the bank to lie on the floor in front of the vault. But William Gutman, bank president, had seen the men enter the bank, and was able to reach his private office where he telephoned police. Another clerk managed to press a burglar alarm.

The bandits gathered up currency from all but one of the cash tills, ordered the employees not to move until they had departed, and ran for an automobile with the driver waiting outside the bank.

At the door they met Patrolman Lynch, who opened fire. He fell, however, with bullet wounds from bandit guns. Kruth, closely following him, also opened fire, and reported the driver of the car slumped on the steering wheel. Another man dragged him from behind the wheel, he said, and took his place. The car sped away with the bandits spraying the street with bullets, breaking many windows in the bank and adjoining buildings.

Sheriff's officers and state police, who organized a pursuit, reported they believed the bandit car passed through Bolles Harbor, three miles south of here, enroute to Toledo. No trace of the car was reported. The automobile, witnesses reported, bore Illinois license plates.

Meanwhile, Detroit police began an investigation in that city, acting on the theory that the bandits are the same men who early Sunday shot and killed Meyer Cohn in the lobby of the Angle-Terre hotel.

At Lansing, Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety, declared that the recent series of Michigan bank robberies had led to orders for the organizing of a patrol of radio-equipped cars along the Michigan border.

The robbery was the third major bank holdup in recent months in the state. Recently seven bandits obtained $72,000 from the Holland, Mich., State Bank, and only last week the Reading State Bank was robbed of $10,000 by four or five bandits. In both cases, the bandit cars were believed to have escaped across the state border.

Alabama Village Swept By Tornado, One Negro Killed

Dothan, Ala., Oct. 31 (AP)—A tornado, the third in as many years, swept Cowarts, a village six miles east of here today, and killed one person, injured about a score and jettisoned all buildings in three blocks.

A six-year-old negro girl was fatally hurt.

Eight of the injured are white people who were in such critical condition that they could not be brought here for treatment.

Their names were listed as follows: Mrs. B. R. Forrester, 40, a Mrs. McCarrie, 80, B. R. Forrester, Mick Dickerson, 40, Mrs. Mick Dickerson, a small daughter of the Dickersons, Charles Herrington, 40, and W. D. Watford.

A number of negroes, none of whom were identified, were severely bruised and cut by flying timbers and a number of others received minor injuries.

DISABLED VETS VISIT HOOVER

Country Also Will Take Care of Those Hurt In Battle, He Says

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—President Hoover told a delegation of disabled veterans whom he received at his hotel tonight that "the day will never come when this country will neglect or ignore the needs of those disabled in battle."

Speaking to the delegation, several hundred in number, in the roof garden of the Waldorf Astoria, the president said:

"I saw the last war. I know the sacrifice made by men who went to the World War. The men who were disabled have owing to them a larger consideration than is payable by money.

"The day will never come when this country is too poor or too niggardly to take care of those disabled in battle.

"It is a first charge not alone on our money but on our sympathy. That charge has never been questioned."

After these remarks the president retired to his suite to rest for his Madison Square Garden campaign speech.

He was applauded as he concluded his talk to the veterans.

The president was escorted by Colonel William Hayard who commanded the famous New York negro regiment in France during the World War, and Major Lillard Spencer, who commanded a battalion in the "Fighting Fifteenth."

Lieut. Richard W. O'Neill, who was wounded eleven times during the war and won the Congressional Medal of Honor, spoke in behalf of the veterans who were from the Brooklyn naval hospital and the veterans' bureau hospital of New York City.

O'Neill said he had been requested to speak in behalf of the disabled American war veterans and said:

"The have requested me to convey to you, Mr. President, the message that they are secure in the knowledge that the veterans disabled as a result of the World War are being provided for by the government of the United States, and that their well-being and comfort are receiving proper consideration and the deep concern of both you, Mr. President, and the legislative branches of the United States government."

Many of the veterans were on crutches.

Buck Jones Ill With Pneumonia

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 31 (AP)—Buck Jones, player of western film roles, was a pneumonia patient in a hospital today.

His physician, Dr. T. S. Regan, said Jones' fever broke last night and unless complications arise, he will recover. Before the pneumonia set in, Jones had been ill of influenza.

Love Conquers In Spite Of Obstacles

Manhattan, Kan., Oct. 31 (AP)—In Manhattan, as well as in fiction, love conquers obstacles.

When Cornelius C. Mathews applied for license to wed Miss Mary B. Hays today he handed Probate Judge Charles F. Johnson $50 penalty.

"It took a long time to save them," Judge Johnson said.

Search for Boy Missing 9 Days Grows Intense

Cleveland, O., Oct. 31 (AP)—Nine days ago a blue-eyed sturdy little fellow of eight said "G'bye" to his "mom" and dropped completely from sight.

Today, Ebert Holleran's disappearance has become one of the major mysteries of its kind and the search has grown to nationwide proportions.

Admittedly without tangible evidence of his fate, Cleveland detectives are holding two men for questioning. Every rumor, every clue—no matter how faint—has been followed and thrashed out by the men hunting Ebert.

On Saturday afternoon, Oct. 22, the lad skipped away to play, first taking the precaution to say: "G'bye, mom. What time shall I start back to get home by dark."

Youngest of Three Mr. George Holleran—"Mom"—feels sure tow-headed Ebert did not run away—"he was just a little afraid of the dark."

"He's alive, I know he's alive, and he'll come back to me," she insists. Her eyes are shadowed from loss of sleep and her face shows the strain of waiting for the boy who was the baby of the household.

Ebert was the youngest of three sons, his brothers are George, Jr., 18, and Walter, 16.

Many rumors have come to detectives. Particular credence is given one from a 13-year-old playmate of Ebert, who related that "a man in a gray sedan" recently attempted to entice Ebert into his car.

Three years ago Melvin can be seen at his home at Orrville, Mo., while at play and no word has been heard of him since. Authorities, after running down thousands of clues, have been convinced the child was kidnaped.

CRAZED MOTHER KILLS CHILDREN

Woman Slays Daughters, Then Fires House and Shoots Self

Sturgis, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—A crazed mother today shot and killed her two daughters, aged 15 and 7, as they slept at their farm home near here, then set fire to the house and shot herself to death with an automatic shotgun.

The woman, Mrs. William Ochs, 45, was said by her husband to have been brooding over the suicide a year ago of an aunt, and to have been in ill health. A coroner rendered a verdict of double murder and suicide.

The bodies of the children, Laura, age 15, and Alvina Yvonne, 7, were found by the husband as he ran from the barn where he had been at work with the morning chores. With the aid of a neighbor, Bert Hagdorn, he broke down a locked door, and extinguished a fire in a pile of kerosene-soaked rags, after furnishings in the home had been damaged.

The woman, Coroner Tom Keisler said, apparently shot the children as they slept, then went to her own bedroom, set fire to the rags, and shot herself.

Ochs said his wife for the past two nights had suffered from the delusion that bandits were trying to break into their home.

CAMPAIGN OF FEAR RAPPED BY CANDIDATE

ACCUSES PRESIDENT OF RESORTING TO PERSONALITIES

BY W. B. RAGSDALE (Associated Press Staff Writer) Arena, Boston, Oct. 31 (AP)—Declaring that some captains of industry were cracking "the whip of fear over the back of American voters," Franklin D. Roosevelt today accused President Hoover of resorting to personalities.

Speaking after a twelve minute ovation that climaxed a tumultuous reception to the suburban cities of greater Boston, the Democratic presidential candidate said the president had been forced by the response of the people to the Democratic program to recognize that there were two candidates for the White House.

"And then dignity died," he added.

"I shall not yield to the temptation to which the president yielded," he said.

Assaults Administration Mr. Roosevelt said a group of industrial leaders were "joining in the chorus of fear initiated by the president, secretary of treasury and the Republican national committee."

"They are telling their employees that if they fail to support the administration of President Hoover such jobs as they have will be in danger," he continued.

Again, and again the huge arena, well over-stuffed with men and women, echoed to shouts, hand-claps and the clatter of bells as Mr. Roosevelt assailed the administration and made occasional references to Alfred E. Smith.

Most of Governor Roosevelt's trip by motor to Boston was a procession through cheering crowds, but as the group passed the grounds of Harvard university, which Roosevelt is a graduate, there were boos from some of the students.

As he pressed down into the heart of his speech, Mr. Roosevelt spoke with a vigor that set the microphones ringing.

He charged again that President Hoover had failed to carry out the recommendations of a commission set up in 1921 to study depression, and of which Mr. Hoover was chairman.

"He did not do what in his 1923 report he said ought to be done," the New York governor said. "And on top of that he did what he said ought not to be done."

"What we need in Washington is less fact-finding and more thinking," he added a few minutes later.

Mr. Roosevelt reiterated various policies on unemployment relief, farm aid, railroad activities and other governmental proposals he has previously outlined.

He stirred clattering applause by an assertion that there had long been overdue a reduction in the hours of work and the number of working days a week and that the federal government should lead the way.

Before he finished his speech there were many vacant seats in the galleries.

Green Asks Voters To Reelect Hoover

Fred W. Green came back yesterday to his "second home"—the upper peninsula—to receive warm hand-claps and greetings from the hundreds of friends, who came to know him and love him as the first governor who ever gave due recognition to the needs of this northern section of the state.

The former governor addressed two large crowds, the first at the Rialto theatre in Gladstone in the afternoon and the second at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium last night. It was no bombastic, flag-waving political speech that he gave, but just a little heart-to-heart talk with old friends. He told amusing anecdotes here and there as only he can tell, touching only lightly on the highly technical phases of campaign issues but sent the crowd away feeling that the Republican party is a "grand old party" after all.

Praise Green Glowing tribute to former Governor Green was paid by State Senator Herbert J. Rushton and John P. Norton of Escanaba before Green took the platform.

"Governor Green was the first governor to give the upper peninsula the recognition it deserves in the way of road building," Mr. Norton declared. "True enough, there were a few miles of good highways built here, and there during the preceding administration, but it was not until Governor Green took office that a program for giving the upper peninsula a continuous system of paved highways was inaugurated."

Decrying the fact that despite the heated campaign of four years ago only 46 percent of the American people went to the polls in that election, Green urged his hearers to exercise their right of suffrage in the coming election.

"We are not called upon by our government to do much," the former governor said. "We are not required to give army service like in the European countries. That government asks only one thing; that is, that we express our opinion on election day."

He added that he really has no right to complain about political conditions unless we take an interest in our government and go to polls in every election.

"I am confident that you people are going to think this thing through," he continued. "I know when you go home and consider the various issues in this campaign that you will do what is best, not only for yourself, but for the whole country."

See Better Times Admitting that the nation has gone through much suffering and distress during the last three years, the speaker stated that "it is my honest opinion that we are coming out of the depression, and that we have laid the foundation for better times."

"The only mistake we could make, when we have stopped the tide of the depression and are on the way to recovery, is to decide

Spinners in Cotton Mills Go On Strike

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 31 (AP)—Spinners in the Lancashire cotton mills rejected a wage cut of 5 to 8 percent today and 150,000 men went out on strike.

Representatives of the union and the mill owners got together immediately, but they made no headway toward a compromise.

This is the second cotton strike in recent months. Last July cut weavers went out over a pay cut and that argument was not settled until a few weeks ago.

Grandmothers Tour Nation for Hoover

Mystery Veils Doctor's Death

Martin Morrissey Dies Suddenly at Newberry Hospital

Newberry, Oct. 31 (Special)—Mystery surrounds the death of Doctor Martin Morrissey, 29, who was found violently ill in his home at the Newberry state hospital on Sunday afternoon and died in convulsions a few minutes later. Dr. R. E. Spinks, coroner, ordered an inquest which was held in the Beaulieu undertaking parlors at one o'clock. The jury viewed the body for purposes of identification. An autopsy was performed and the stomach and other organs sent to Ann Arbor for analysis.

Dr. Morrissey was in a cheerful frame of mind during the day and there is no known cause for suicide. The possibility that he may have taken a drug by mistake has been considered although none was reported found in his room.

The jury called by Sheriff Turnbull was comprised of Dr. A. L. Swanson, Larry Wyse, Sidney Foster, J. P. Rahilly, Archie and Judge John Quinlan.

A brother, Thomas, of Delavan, Wis., of the dead physician arrived in Newberry this morning and left with the body tonight, accompanied by Miss Margaret Beaudin of this town, for Delavan, Wis., where the funeral will be held on Wednesday morning.

Dr. Morrissey came here three years ago from Delavan, Wis. He was a graduate of Marquette University and had the position of one of the assistant physicians on the institutional staff. Active in musical circles, interested in Boy Scout work, he was popular in a group of friends.

Besides his mother living in Delavan he has two brothers, Thomas of Delavan and Ray, a student at Notre Dame.

DEMO POLICIES FLAYED AGAIN BY PRESIDENT

WARNS PEOPLE NOT TO UNDERMINE SYSTEM

BY JOHN F. CHESTER (Associated Press Staff Writer) Madison Square Garden, New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—President Hoover tonight told a throng which overflowed this huge auditorium, that if Franklin D. Roosevelt were elected president of the United States and the Democratic tariff policy adopted "the grass will grow in the streets of a hundred cities."

Cheered to the echo as he climaxed his bid here tonight for the east's electoral votes—after a day of active campaigning along the Atlantic seaboard—the president asserted that "to embark upon this inchoate new deal which has been propounded in this campaign would be to undermine and destroy our American system."

The hall was a wildly waving mass of American flags when Mr. Hoover entered. Cheers and shouts lasted for 13 minutes.

Hecker is Ejected During his today's swing through five states, the chief executive was riotously received at many stops, but twice, at Philadelphia and Newark, "boos" were heard, and tonight a heckler was ejected from the Garden.

In New York, there was some boos mixed with the cheering as Mr. Hoover was going to the Garden by motor car. Along 50th street at one point the boos drowned out the cheers. For most of the trip, however, the president was cheered.

After Mr. Hoover had listened to the 13-minute demonstration a man in one of the galleries shouted, "You are a liar" several times. The heckler, who was ejected by police, later identified himself as Jack Baron, a member of the Marine Workers Industrial union and said he wanted to make it clear he is not a Communist.

Late today friends of the president reported that he had tentatively decided upon a swift swing across the continent, speaking at Springfield, Illinois, Friday afternoon and St. Louis, Friday night before continuing on to his Palo Alto, California, home where he would arrive on Nov. 8, in time to vote.

The chief executive entered his address tonight principally in an attack upon what he called the "philosophies of government" of the Democratic leadership.

"This campaign," he asserted, "is more than a contest between two men. It is more than a contest between two parties. It is a contest between two philosophies of government."

"We are told by the opposition that we must have a change, that we must have a new deal. It is not the change that comes from normal development of national life to which I object, but the proposal to alter the whole foundations of our national life which have been built through generations of testing and struggle, and of the principles upon which we have built the nation."

Mr. Hoover early in his address said that the Republican administration had "saved this nation from a quarter of a century of chaos and degeneration. He said it had installed measures which today are bringing back recovery."

Attacks Democrats The Democratic leadership, he asserted, has been "appealing to the people in their fears and distress."

"They are proposing changes and so-called new deals," he said, "which destroy the very foundations of our American system."

Calling upon his audience to "look into the types of leaders who are campaigning for the Democratic ticket," the president listed Senators Norris of Nebraska, La Follette of Wisconsin, Cutting of New Mexico, all Progressive Republicans; Senators Long of Louisiana and Wheeler of Montana, Demo-

NORRIS SPEAKS FOR ROOSEVELT

Charges Hoover Supports Interest of Power Trust

Seattle, Oct. 31 (AP)—Charging President Hoover has used his appointees to serve the interests of the power trust, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska urged the election of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address here tonight.

Senator Norris contrasted the public records of President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt on the water power question and asserted the "contest is between monopoly and the people."

"The record proves that President Hoover has used the appointing power of his great office to Governor Roosevelt, in his appointees to serve the interests of the power trust," Senator Norris said, "while points in New York State, has selected men who could be relied upon to protect the public from the power trust."

Senator Norris said "there is no doubt but that President Hoover approaches this question (power) from the standpoint of the millionaire, from the standpoint of the man who floats securities and sells securities based on water to an unsuspecting public."

Scores Power Trust

"That was his principal occupation in life. He thinks—undoubtedly honestly so—that it is better for civilization that a few men should control the financial matters of the world than that prosperity should be divided among the people generally."

"This was all expressed by him long before he became a candidate for the presidency, long before he knew or even thought that he would ever return to his native land. . . ."

Senator Norris asserted pyramiding of power organizations and expense of propaganda in favor of private ownership has made the cost of electricity unduly high. Describing the "power trust as the greatest monopoly which was ever put together by the ingenuity of man," Senator Norris said, "there is no avenue of human activity which it has not undertaken to control."

The state of Illinois was said by Senator Norris to have been under the domination of power interests "under the control of Samuel Insull."

Senator Norris contended the

Insull companies collapsed because "he had used so much money to deceive the public that even x x x the fabulous prices his concerns charged for current, was not enough to keep the machine alive. . . ."

"Insull has failed and has taken down with him the savings of millions of honest men and women who believed his stories, who fell for his propaganda and who thought that his house of cards was really constructed of marble and granite."

Rates Too High

Referring to the distribution of propaganda by private ownership advocates, Senator Norris asserted that "if this terrible expense were not levied upon the backs of the people, electricity would be less than a third of what it now costs."

After discussing the water power situation in several states Senator Norris said: "We always find that power trust officials, wherever they come from and whatever may be their politics, have a friendly attitude toward Herbert Hoover."

DEMO POLICIES PLAYED AGAIN BY PRESIDENT

Heard, eastern chairman of the national committee, was introduced for a few remarks.

"The president," said Hebert, "has come to report to you personally on his four years stewardship of the federal government."

Outside, the crowds stayed on to see the president's arrival. They heard Senator Hebert say:

"The president has come to preach confidence, not despair; he came with the Stars and Stripes and not the red flag of radicalism."

F. Trabee Davidson, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, and the senatorial nominee, Medaille, then spoke briefly.

The president arrived outside the Garden at 8:52.

Speaking as if the president were present, Donovan welcomed him to New York and said "the conduct of your office during these troublous days is a simple and complete tale of service to high office."

The president did not enter the man hall until Donovan finished. The crowd stood and cheered with flags waving and paper floating through the air from the balconies high above.

Applause Tumultuous

Shrill whistling combined with ordinary yelling and hand applause of a solid mass of red, white and blue.

President Hoover stood quietly smiling during the ovation, but his smile broadened perceptibly as it continued. Mrs. Hoover joined her husband at the speakers' stand and the din increased.

Outside the Garden police said thousands were massed. In the immediate area around the presidential car as it came along 56th street which drowned the cheers.

There had been cheering along the route and the presidential party also was cheered when it left the hotel.

In the crush outside the Garden several persons were injured by the pushing crowds. A patrolman was trampled by a horse and suffered injuries to a leg.

When Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former president, appeared the crowd increased the volume of its applause. Colonel Donovan stood with the president for a moment and it gave the crowd another chance to let out.

Holding up a watch, Hebert tried to stop the crowd but it only yelled louder.

Over in one corner a group started yelling "We want Hoover" and the whole crowd took it up.

Beginning to talk, Hebert tried again to get order and finally the crowd quieted to let him say the time was limited.

Hebert introduced Mrs. Roosevelt, as "one we have all loved and revered" and the applause broke

Tracks Dynamited In Lansing Strike

Lansing, Oct. 31 (AP)—Renewed efforts were being made tonight to settle Lansing's traction strike as police were investigating the dynamiting of tracks between here and East Lansing early this morning.

A dynamite charge was blasted under the tracks at 5 o'clock but failed to dislodge the tracks or disrupt service. Police were without clues as to the responsibility for the explosion.

No agreement was reached this afternoon at a meeting of company officials, union representatives and members of the transportation committee of the city council, called in an attempt to settle the strike.

Alderman Martin Harper, chairman of the council committee, said he expected the group to draft a resolution tonight looking toward arbitration of difficulties and return to work of striking union men.

JOBLESS JAM CHICAGO LOOP

Unemployed Parade for Increased Relief Allowances

Chicago, Oct. 31 (AP)—Chanting "we want bread," Chicago's unemployed surged through the loop today in a giant, orderly parade and joined in a mass demonstration at downtown Grant Park on the lake front to protest diminished relief allowances which had been cut in half during October for lack of funds. Full allowances are provided for November.

Traffic was snarled and thousands lined sidewalks as marchers, flanked by 1,000 policemen, snaked over streets in a drizzle of rain.

Defying police orders against red flags and "inflammatory" banners, the marchers held aloft crimson banners, the hammer and sickle of communism, placards protesting against authorities and signs demanding additional relief.

Chicago newspapers variously estimated the number of marchers from 10,000 to 15,000.

The signs and banners flared against the dull drizzle of the loop. Some of them read:

"Less cops, more bread!" "National Student League of the University of Chicago!" "The new deal, what is it?" "We want work, not charity!" "Millions will never work again!"

While the marchers trekked to Grant Park, a committee represented various organizations of the unemployed conferred with Mayor Anton Cermak and presented demands for an allowance of $7.50 weekly for each family of two; $5.50 for each single man; free car fare for unemployed and school children; free gas, water and electricity; release of unemployed under arrest; a public works program to build homes for the idle, and no distinction between white and negro workers.

The mayor assured the representatives he would do all in his power to improve the status of the unemployed and promised to the Chicago emergency commission whose members are charged with investigation of persons withholding taxes.

Road Construction Approved By Comish

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—The highway committee of the state administrative board today authorized the reconstruction of the paved road on US-25, from Monroe to the state line, a distance of 14.3 miles.

Other construction projects approved were the paving of the Buchanan spur, from Buchanan south to M-60, 1.7 miles; paving one mile on M-21, Pewamo west, and a bridge crossing the Lincoln river on the Ludington state park road, M-116, north of Ludington.

The committee approved for addition to the state trunk line system and for state maintenance a six mile stretch between Brooklyn and Wamples Lake; two miles from New Lothrop to the Shiawassee county line and 1.5 miles from Henderson to M-47, Shiawassee county.

CARNIVAL AND SHOW SCORES

2,000 Enjoy Entertainment at Senior High School

A crowd estimated at approximately 2,000 persons jammed the corridors and rooms at the senior high school building to attend the annual Halloween carnival last evening was unanimous in its praise of the party and the ten o'clock show which followed.

About 1500 witnessed the 10 o'clock show in the school auditorium.

The A. B. C. poster guessing contest was won by Dale Vinette. Costume awards were as follows: clearest costume, George Lawrence; prettiest costume, Jeanette Trudeau; funniest costume, Helen Joy Rose and Julie Sullivan; most depressed costume, Albertine St. Martin, dressed as a rag picker.

Students and adults alike enjoyed the carnival and show which climaxed the party. Police officials were especially enthusiastic in lauding the entertainment as hundreds of children who otherwise would probably be on the streets harrasing the public and the police in celebrating Halloween were in attendance at the high school event, having an enjoyable evening and into no mischief.

A STRONG COMBINATION

Madrid—Too many strong odors were concentrated in one place so the Spanish federal government decreed that onion and garlic must spill. The towns of (garlic) and Gebolla (onion) have had a joint common council for centuries. Henceforth they must have separate councils.

Hampshire today, I was assured that Hawkshaw, the detective, is not going back to the senate."

Former Governor Smith referred to Senator Moses of New Hampshire as Hawkshaw, the detective, in his speech in Boston.

The reference stirred new rounds of applause. The candidate then swung into his prepared remarks—beginning more applause for his attacks upon the administration.

The Republicans tell us that the world will come to an end on November 5th if they are not returned to power again," he said. "They won't be," came a woman's voice from the floor.

A reference to Ambassador Mellon brought resounding boos. "Hoover's overboard," shouted a man a moment later.

Mr. Roosevelt for the most part followed the text of his prepared address.

As he emphasized with a gesture or shake of his head, flakes of confetti that had been showered upon him, fell from his shoulders.

Frequent bursts of applause punctuated Roosevelt's references to unemployment relief.

"I pledge action to make things better," Mr. Roosevelt said as he approached the end of his speech. A sweep of applause broke again.

"Atta boy, Frank," shouted a man in the front row.

Mr. Roosevelt finished speaking at 11:41 p. m., after talking 19 minutes.

Elaborate Liquor Plant Uncovered

Detroit, Oct. 31 (AP)—A still and cutting plant described by them as the most elaborate yet found in this district was uncovered today by special prohibition agents in downriver Gibraltar.

The agents said the equipment was valued at $100,000 and that it undoubtedly was the source of rye whiskey which has been flooding Michigan and border states. They seized 1,000 gallons of whiskey which was being aged with ultra-modern equipment in a cutting plant across the street from the neatly kept two-story house in which the still was found.

There was a system of underground communication between the still, the cutting plant and several "look-out houses" nearby. A few gross of counterfeit revenue stamps were seized.

Muskegon, Oct. 31 (AP)—James T. Cockrill, 27, of Great Falls, Mont., a former Northwestern University athlete, died Monday of a bullet wound suffered in the Y. M. C. A. hotel here. Police said he believed Cockrill shot himself accidentally while cleaning a revolver.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

State Finances Are Explained by State Treasurer Lawrence

BY HOWARD LAWRENCE
State Treasurer

State finances may best be explained without the use of any figures.

The state collects its revenues in proportion to the ability of its citizens to pay and turns this same money back to its citizens in proportion to the need.

The state's income or revenue is derived from several general sources.

The general purpose revenue comes from the state property tax, state corporation tax and from fees. This money is appropriated by the legislature to carry on the work of the state institutions, state departments and other similar activities.

These revenues are appropriated at the general session of the legislature for a two year period in accordance with the need and with the funds available. Each of these appropriations come up for reconsideration at each regular biennial session.

Under a general heading of Revenue for Specific Purposes we have automobile operator's tax, malt tax, highway revenue, earnings on sinking fund investments and receipts from prison industrial operations. These are all distributed by act of some prior legislative body in making what is called continuing appropriations.

There is another general class of revenue that is distributed by provision of the state constitution, the state primary school fund, is the first to come to mind in this connection.

Thus you see that every dollar handled by your state officials is especially earmarked either by the last legislature, or by some former legislature or by constitutional provision. Administrative officers of the state can not allocate or spend one dollar of tax money except for the specific and definite purpose provided by law or the constitution.

Delinquent Tax Problem

The state budget is supposed to balance when the state legislature adjourns. It does balance insofar as figures are concerned and it would continue to balance if the taxes authorized, levied and spread were collected. It would balance if it were possible to make an accurate estimate of the amount of taxes that would not be collected. These conditions, however, do not prevail. Making an appropriation and providing for it by levying a tax on the one hand and collecting that cash and getting that cash into the treasury on the other are two entirely different problems in this day of economic stress. Tax delinquency is a disturbing factor over which your administrator has no control.

The second problem in connection with the state's cash flow, out of the fact that the state's spending year begins in July and its collecting year begins the following January insofar as the general property tax is concerned, which is by far the largest source of revenue in providing for the operating expenses of the state as previously mentioned.

It, of course, is impossible to collect taxes on a day to day basis. Spending, however, must be handled that way. The result is that the state does what any business would do and that is to set up at the beginning of the year its taxes that are later to be collected as an account receivable or as an asset. The state cannot borrow money without a vote of the people except in very limited amounts. Pending the collection of this proposed tax it is very common for what is known as the general fund (being the fund through which the state property tax is distributed) to be in the "red" or short of cash. This does not mean that the account is without assets, it simply means that its assets are not in the form of cash. It is just as reasonable to say that a man's net worth is represented by the amount of cash he happens to have on hand on any particular day as it is for our critics to fail to recognize these same principles and say that the state is "broke" whenever the general funds is overdrawn.

Any overdraft in the general fund is anticipated in our scheme of tax collecting and spending and it is expected by every member of the state legislature that this is exactly the condition that will prevail. This always will be the situation unless the state's collecting and its spending starts at the same time.

The Deficiency Bill

There is another type of deficit that grows out of the desire to do more with the state's dollar than it is physically possible to accomplish. This is a deficit that is realized at the end of a year when a final summing up is taken and it is found that collections have fallen short of the expectations that were incorporated in the budget at the beginning of the year. Had a margin been allowed for this shrinkage the state would have money left. It is more economical however in the state's affairs, as in our own private affairs, to set a standard and try to reach it even though in the endeavor we are not quite able to come within our objective. The state does not have one dollar in its possession at any time; that is not especially earmarked in advance by the legislature or the state constitution for a specific purpose. It has no reserve fund or cash reserve, or whatever you may wish to call it, from which it can make up shortages that grow out of our not being able to collect the revenues that are anticipated. Therefore the only way to make up this difference is to ask the next legislature to make an appropriation for it.

This is misunderstood and is subjected to unwarranted criticism and yet is the scheme that is by far the most economical in the handling of state's financial affairs. A deficiency bill in federal governmental affairs is always anticipated. There is no reason why it should not be dignified and proper in state affairs.

Of the money handled by the state as the agent of its citizens during the last fiscal year one-half was used directly to reduce local taxes. In this is included money coming from highway revenues and the cost of caring for the wards and unfortunates that otherwise would be a direct charge on the local communities. Next in order is the return to the local school districts of the primary school money collected from various sources from the state at large and returned proportionately down to the last school district in the state. Next comes the institutions of higher education that are maintained at state expense for the benefit of the entire state. Then the departments, boards and commissions that are responsible for the state's activities, including the administration of its general welfare program—hospitals, penal institutions, etc. Debt service or the provision for the repayment of money borrowed for the purpose of establishing the state highway system and to pay the bonus to the soldiers comes in for its share, and is followed by the money set aside for highway maintenance. All of these activities are for the benefit of the citizens of the state and funds are returned or expended in proportion to the need, as determined by the state legislature.

A strict accounting is kept on every item of receipt or expenditure handled by the state. These are summarized under their natural headings into a group of accounts each of which at all times shows the exact condition of the respective accounts. There is a reconciliation between the auditor general and the state treasurer every day on each of these accounts. There is no shifting of balances from one account to another. Further than that it is illegal to make such transfers and if such were made the state treasurer and the auditor general would be the primary parties in the arrangement. The state treasurer is under a heavy bond. The bonding company knows at all times the general circumstances surrounding the conduct of his office. This bond would not be continued one day if the law were being in any way violated through fund transfers.

The state's cash is deposited in banks within the state. The total of the deposits in the banks at all times agrees with the amount of money for which accounting must be made as shown by the state's books both in the treasurer's office and the office of the auditor general. Cash is used as available various subdivisions of the record as required by law.

These records are open for daily inspection in either of these state offices by any interested parties. These records are printed for presentation to the public from time to time and are subject to general distribution.

The best answer to the charge of misappropriation is the invitation that is always extended to anyone to make his own inquiry or investigation. If the law is being violated the public should know it.

WELSH TALKING FOR DEMOCRATS

Escanaba and Gladstone Meetings Booked Wednesday

State campaign issues, especially the present financial status of the state of Michigan, will be discussed by George W. Welsh of Grand Rapids in two addresses scheduled at Gladstone and Escanaba Wednesday. Mr. Welsh comes to Delta county under the auspices of the Independent Voters' League of Delta county, on a speaking tour which he is making on behalf of the Democratic state ticket.

The address at Gladstone will be at the Rialto theatre at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, and the Escanaba talk will be at the Junior high school at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Welsh is known throughout the state as a fluent campaign orator. His first political experience came in 1914 when he was elected alderman at Grand Rapids. He held the office without interruption until the city commission form of government was adopted. He served three terms in the legislature, the last in 1923, as speaker of the house. I was in the legislature that Welsh first attracted the eye of Alexander Groesbeck and they soon became warm friends and political allies. Welsh was elected lieutenant governor as a running mate for Groesbeck in 1924 and was re-elected in 1926. In 1928 he was a candidate for governor against Fred W. Green and was defeated. In 1929 Welsh was elected Grand Rapids city manager, in which position he made many innovations and won wide notoriety for the city.

REAPPORTIONMENT AMENDMENT

Oct. 31, 1932.

Escanaba Daily Press, Escanaba, Mich.
Dear Editor:

Among other amendments to be voted on at the election, Nov. 8, is what is called the reapportionment amendment. This should interest every citizen in the upper peninsula, whether he be Republican, Democrat or a member of any other party.

If this amendment carries it will mean the loss of more than half of our representation in the legislature from the upper peninsula.

The amendment, which is Amendment No. 3 on the ballot, was initiated within the city of Detroit and is intended to gain for that city more representation at the expense of the outstate.

This amendment does away with the moiety clause in the constitution, which entitles this county to one representative. It will mean that the counties of Delta, Schoolcraft and Alger will have one representative in the legislature in the future.

I am submitting a resolution, adopted at a meeting of the upper peninsula members of the Michigan legislature at Crystal Falls some time ago.

Whereas, Detroit and others of the more populous cities of the state of Michigan have seen fit to place upon the November ballot by petition, a proposition for a constitutional amendment which is Amendment Number Three (3), and

Whereas, we, the upper peninsula members of the Michigan state legislature, have thoroughly studied, compared and digested this proposition and find that this amendment would cut down the present number of eleven (11) members from the upper peninsula in the house of representatives to five (5) members;

It is therefore our opinion and conclusion:

That constitutional amendment number three is harmful and undesirable and contrary to the best interests of the upper peninsula of Michigan, that it is our unbiased and unprejudiced opinion that Democrats and Republicans alike in the upper peninsula of Michigan should by all means vote "no" and against amendment number three (3) which will be submitted at the November election and, we further urge that every voter will make it a point to vote "no" on this amendment. An extensive campaign is being carried on in lower Michigan cities for the adoption of this amendment and it is necessary that every voter in the upper peninsula should vote "no" on this proposition.

In our opinion, this is the most

WASH-OUT YOUR SICK UPSET ACID STOMACH

Feel Fine and Dandy

Here is wonderful news for you stomach sufferers!

Don't put up another minute with a sour gassy stomach—indigestion, heartburn, belching and all the miseries that go with an acid stomach.

Your tongue is coated with a thick, bad-tasting fuzz, isn't it? Well, so is your stomach, too—covered with sour, slimy matter that brings on your acid indigestion troubles, makes you feel so "rotten" and mean, and if neglected often leads to serious results.

It will simply amaze you to see how top-top you feel when you give yourself a pleasant STOMACH WASH and clean out all this filth.

All you do is take 1 Flunder Tablet followed by a glass of water, hot or cold. Your stomach swirls this around and gives itself a "bath". Sour acids are instantly neutralized. The film or fuzz is cleaned away, so the glands can start to pour out the 35 to 50 ounces of gastric juice your stomach needs daily to digest your food.

Give your weak, run-down acid stomach this STOMACH WASH. What a zest for food you will have! How free and easy after meals you will feel—no stuffy and groggy. You will sleep sounder and wake up refreshed, with pep and vigor that will delight you.

Do not confuse Flunder's Tablets with ordinary indigestion remedies. Flunder's Tablets have won the profound gratitude of thousands upon thousands, to whom it has brought relief from the curse of stomach troubles due to hyperacidity. It is not the CHEAPEST medicine—the BEST is better. After taking 1½ bottles (50 tablets), if not fully satisfied, money will be refunded, by returning unused half-bottle within 30 days.

AMENDMENT NO. 6

ONE of the constitutional amendment proposals, on which the people of Michigan will vote Nov. 8, provides that the pardoning of persons convicted for first degree murder be prohibited.

There are some who will say that this is a good measure, since those who take the lives of others should be shown little mercy, and that it is better to keep them confined in prison...

The penologist's view of this question is also interesting and quite convincing, however. William E. Hollinrake, former deputy warden at Michigan state prison in Jackson, believes it would be a mistake for the people to vote to curb the governor's pardoning power.

Deprived of all hope of ultimately regaining liberty the 435 life prisoners convicted of first degree murder, now confined to the three Michigan prisons, their number constantly augmented by Michigan courts, will, first, become despondent; then unamenable to prison discipline...

It is true, like Mr. Hollinrake points out, that the prisoner who loses all hope of ever regaining freedom through mercy of the law, will think nothing of making a break from prison. He convinces himself that it is worthwhile to risk death in the attempt to escape spending the rest of his life behind prison walls.

A POTATO COUNTRY

A NEWS story appearing in the Sunday issue of the Press told of the large yields of potatoes that are being recorded on the various farms in the St. Nicholas colony. It was twenty years ago that the Association of Belgian and Holland Priests, of which Rev. Fr. Notebaert of Rochester, N. Y., was president and Rev. Fr. Jodocy of Marquette, vice-president, established the colony along the Escanaba River.

The outbreak of the world war in 1914, however, halted what had started out to be a vast colonization project. The farmers, who had already arrived and those who have gone there since the war, tackled the job of clearing land and erecting buildings with an indomitable spirit that augured nothing but success.

THE MAN IN THE WHITE HOUSE

ONE service the current campaign has performed, if no other, is to acquaint the American people with their President. The traits of character which so long kept Mr. Hoover from coming closer to the man in the street are not easy to define.

much to an inability to dramatize himself?

The fact has been there at any rate. For better, for worse, Mr. Hoover for the first three years of his term was for most Americans an aloof and distant figure. Close friends from time to time attempted to explain what a warm and human sort their friend in the White House was.

But for the fact that Republican leadership was overconfident and that Mr. Hoover suddenly found himself toward the end of September clearly behind his active and skillful opponent the revelation might never have happened. Just how dark the Republican outlook then was the "Literary Digest" polls now appearing bear witness.

He fought back instantly and hard. Acceptance of defeat, quitting under fire, never occurred to him. What was revealed to the American people in these weeks was a leader who was only fired to new energy by heavy odds, who knew only one way to meet adversity, and that was with a dogged courage.

The President had planned and hoped not to campaign actively. Public speaking was not his forte; he obviously hated the publicity of a tour. Yet when necessity called he plunged in without hesitation. He made his Des Moines speech on October 4 and from that day dates the new picture of the President which Americans have gained.

There is a new respect for President Hoover abroad in the land. Part of it is already showing in the drift of voters to him. Part of it is among those who may yet vote against him. It is the admiration which bravery never fails to win. One's mind goes back to the moving sentences which the President uttered in his speech of acceptance in August:

"If it shall appear that while I have had the honor of the Presidency I have contributed the part required from this high office to bringing the republic through this dark night and if in my administration we shall see the break of dawn to a better day, I shall have done my part in the world. No man can have a greater honor than that."

As the campaign nears its climax in a thickening atmosphere, clouded by dark emotions, we would recall this high note on which it began. They were the words of a brave and wise President, as his countrymen, for all their disgruntlement over hard times, are at last coming to realize.

Governor Pinchot says we think too much of our bankrolls. Well, there's no harm in reminiscing once in a while. Henry Ford recently repeated his first suggestion to his employees that it might be a smart thing to vote for President Hoover, probably to just let them feel sure that he wasn't spoofing.

CALL of the WEST

(By NEA Service) By E. G. MONTGOMERY

CHAPTER XII

THE cow town of Radiant is known to the straggling riders who come down out of the hills as the "jumping-off place."

It is a short half day's ride from the Mexican border and it is close to the rough country on the north and touches the edge of the burning desert on the right. In Radiant no one asks questions of strangers, and the past of each resident is a closed book.

Stan Hall leaned against a plank bar and watched a half dozen Mexicans playing poker with a deck of greasy cards. He was restless and would rather have been riding in the hills for one of the many big outfits near town, but he had not been able to get a job.

He had wandered from one cow town to another. Now he had only a few silver dollars left and he would have to find a job. It might as well be Radiant as any other in the sun-baked country.

Stan half turned upon one elbow as the swinging doors of the pool room cracked open. Few men of interest came into a place like this in the daytime, but Stan had reason to look every man over carefully.

beyond doubt. He was covered with dust and plainly thirsty. He slapped a dollar on the bar and called for a glass of something cold.

The sound of his voice made Stan jump. With one great stride he was at the stranger's side and had slapped him on the back.

"How are you, Malloy?" Stan grasped his friend's hand. "Hot, dried up and mad," Malloy grinned as he recognized Hall.

"But darn glad to see you." "What brings you down here?" Stan asked.

"We'll find a corner and I'll tell you why I dragged over all these miles of half-baked grass land." He led Stan to a table across the room.

STAN was eager to ask questions but held his silence and allowed his friend to take his own time.

"I just came down from Three Rivers," Malloy's mouth hardened. "There's a job up there for you in the eyes." He looked Stan squarely in the eyes.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch (Copyright 1932 by Douglas Malloch)

ENOUGH The old home place is not as fine As lots of places up the line, If size is all you care about, But I can shut all that all out: I know, within this house of mine, Or hers, or ours, that of our own stuff, Though plain, has always been enough.

The old home place is just a farm. Dad cleared the brush with his own arm And sowed the seed with his own hand. With larger fields, and that's no harm— Unless we quit remembering That we've enough of ev'rything.

The old home place, or any spot, By this is judged, though big or not; If it has housed you, fed you, too, And both seemed good enough to you, That's all that matters such a lot. And this old place, through dry and wet, Has never really failed us yet.

The old home place has warmed and fed, And kept a roof above our head, So we can pass the others by Without a jealous look or sigh, And live contented, as I said, Because, when times were good or tough, The old home place has been enough.

VOTERS LISTED FOR NOV. 8TH

Twenty Days in Precinct Constitutes Voting Residence

About 100 more voters registered at the Escanaba city clerk's office Saturday afternoon and evening, the last day for Escanaba voters to register in order to become eligible to vote Nov. 8. The total registration in the city is about 6,500.

The last registration cards are now being tabulated and filed in their proper precinct record books. Any voters who change their place of residence in the city between now and general election time will still vote in the precinct in which they formerly resided, due to the fact that the city charter provides a 20 day residence in a precinct in order to establish a voting residence in that precinct. Those who have moved since the primary election, and will have resided in the new precinct 20 days by Nov. 8 are required to notify the city clerk of their change of residence so that the precinct poll books may be corrected to avoid delay on election day.

Trout Feeding Station Closes

The trout feeding station operated by the conservation department on the east branch of the Fox river, eight miles north of Seney has been recently closed for the season. The station has been in charge of Mr. Weller Squires, who reports that about 50,000 trout have been planted daily for some time. A few fish have been weighed and measured and are being left in a pond to determine just how much they will gain on natural food found on the river bottom. Probably the outstanding feature of the station is its location and the buildings. The caretaker cabin, a two-room log structure is built on the bank overlooking the river. A porch leads into the living room. In one end of the living room there is a fireplace made of flat stones and in the other end is a combination hearth and stove also built of flat stones with a large fire box and a huge oven. Floors, two divans, a table and benches are made of puncheon boards. Skins of various animals are hung in a decorative way on the walls and the past season fish came from the Thompson hatchery and were placed in four ponds, all having screened partitions. There are two upper ponds and two lower ponds. The trout were fed three times a day and their meals consisted of two hundred and fifty pounds of ground, raw liver.

Speaker at Rotary Tells How Modern Homes Are Heated

Telling of the marked progress made in recent years in air conditioning for homes, offices and factories, I. W. Rowell, general manager of the Lakeside company of Hermansville, manufacturers of ventilating and air conditioning systems, delivered a most interesting address before members of the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday.

The Hermansville company has only been in operation for three years, but most substantial progress has been made in the development of a permanent and a growing business. Mr. Rowell showed that while the average man consumes approximately seven times more air than food and water combined in a day, it has only been in comparatively recent years that serious thought has been given to the quality of air breathed, while much improvement has been made in the quality of food and water consumed. He showed that nine-tenths of the daily hours of the average man are spent inside a building and stressed the importance of providing clean air for that great portion of man's daily life. He described the development of machines that not only control a building's heat, as to warmth and coolness, but wash, cleanse and circulate air within a building, that is 98 percent pure.

He showed that the cost of installing such a system in the average home is not prohibitive and told of the growing recognition of the value of such systems both in maintaining health and in the prevention of the spread of disease. Every part of Mr. Rowell's address was most interesting and was listened to attentively by his audience.

Contract Bridge Scoring Changes Effective Today

Announcement of the changes in the rules and scoring of contract bridge, effective today, arranged through an agreement reached by the Whist club, New York, the Portland club, London, and the Commission Francaise du Bridge, will be of particular interest to players of contract.

Five major changes in scoring have been made and changes in penalties for infringements of the rules.

The changes follow: 1. No trump values have been reduced to 30 points for the first, third, fifth and seventh tricks and increased to 40 for the second, fourth and sixth odd tricks.

heavily in the revised code of laws. If you look at the last trick to refresh your memory, you will find it has been quitted, your opponents may call a lead. If you look at any of your cards when they are being dealt, your opponents may demand a new deal.

Table with columns: Contract Bridge Score (Official, effective Nov. 1), Suit Values, Spades, Hearts, Diamonds, Clubs, No. Tricks, Undoub'd, Doub'd, Redoub'd.

Among other things, all five have been eliminated from the scoring column, so that the score keeper, if he wishes, may drop all naughts, also. But the real reason for the change is no trump scoring was to make the count for three odd an even 100, so that the super-expert, playing the so-called Howell system of duplicate, would not have to bid three no trump on hands that should be played at five in a minor suit.

BONIFAS GIVES TARIFF VIEWS

Need for Protection of Pulp Developed Just Recently

Pointing out that the need for an emergency tariff, for the protection of the pulp and paper industry of the upper peninsula, has only developed in recent months through the difference in the value of the money of the United States and that of other countries and further stressing the fact that the action of the Democrats in congress, at the last session, in voting almost solidly against a tariff on lumber and copper, must be taken as the attitude of that party when a tariff on pulp and paper is proposed, William Bonifas of this city, largest purchaser of pulpwood in this district, yesterday issued a statement answering criticism of an interview given by him in the Press last week.

Mr. Bonifas' statement follows: "In order to correct any misunderstanding that may have arisen because of an interview recently given by me to the Press, I wish to take this opportunity to explain further my ideas in the matter.

"In the first place, I wish to make it clear that it was not until this past year when the difference in our currency and that of foreign countries, particularly England, became such as to cause a difference in our economic affairs, the pulp and paper industry of this country was endangered.

"I am not of the opinion that we should have had a tariff on pulp before that time and I believe all that the industry needs now is an emergency tariff to offset the difference in our currency and that of foreign countries. Dating from the time of this difference, the pulp and paper industry has had a desperate struggle to maintain its position in our own country, until today our company is considering purchasing, just as other companies have already done, its sulphite pulp abroad. I don't have to go into details as to what such a program would mean to the people in the upper peninsula.

"It is true that large interests, with investments in Canada, have fought the tariff on pulp and paper, but I believe if the issue was presented to them as an emergency measure, to offset the difference in their money and ours, they would withdraw their opposition to the matter.

"The difference in currency, in my opinion, thoroughly justifies our high tariffs as inaugurated by President Hoover, and unless we continue to build and repair our tariff walls we are in my opinion, going to find our country flooded with goods made in foreign countries. The only reason we haven't felt a great deal of this sort of competition is because our buying power during the last six months has been so sadly depleted.

"At the last session of congress, when Republican party leaders of Michigan were endeavoring to secure a tariff on lumber and copper, for the protection of those industries in the peninsula, I believe a fair example was offered as to what might be expected from a Democratic administration should a tariff on pulp and paper be proposed. On the question of a tariff of lumber and copper, aside from the support given by a few conservative Democrats, the vote of members of that party was cast solidly against those tariffs and we can have no reason to believe that their vote would be any different, when a protective tariff on pulp and paper is proposed."

THEATRES

Warner Baxter, popular screen star, is said to have the most powerful character role of his career in his latest Fox picture, "Six Hours To Live," which opens today at the Delft Theatre. Adapted from the original story, "Auf Wiedersehen," by Gordon Morris and Morton Bartheaux, this picture presents Baxter in the role of an international diplomat, standing firmly in the face of ruin and death, in defense of his country at a disarmament conference.

At Geneva, partial disarmament means merely a reduction in taxes for their burdened countrymen but to Baxter's tiny republic, it means placing it at the mercy of powerful and unscrupulous neighboring states which covet its valuable resources. How he successfully combats a conspiracy to wreck his country, although his mind is distracted by a beautiful girl, forms the central theme of the film.

"Six Hours To Live," directed by William Dieterle, marks the screen debut of Miriam Jordan, beautiful young English girl recently recruited from the Broadway stage. She is said to be generally endowed with that illustrious charm which distinguishes the more successful stars, and studio executives are confident that this unusual vehicle will place her within the realm of stardom. John Boles has a featured role and figures very prominently in the denouement of the story.

TAX REDUCTION

Dear Editor: Next week will be the big day for every office holder as well as office seeker in our great beloved country and I believe just as big and important to the voters and taxpayers of our land, it behooves us as electors to think and think hard so as to cast an intelligent vote for the best man for the office he is seeking. To my way of reasoning it is not so hard to choose when you have officers who, has been tried and found true and efficient. It is easy for any one of us to understand how an employee can give better service, who has experience as compared with one who has no experience. We have heard a lot lately of tax reductions, particularly from Mr. Comstock, who aspires to be governor of Michigan. I am one of those taxpayers who likes tax reductions, but I believe that men with experience has more of a chance to reduce taxes, inexperience and promises does not reduce taxes. Mr. Comstock as I understand it is a Detroit man and Detroit is Michigan, the rest of the state does not count just like the southerner thinks that the states north of the Mason Dixon line is not in United States, and does not count. In my opinion Governor Brucker is one of our best we have had and his actions has convinced us that he believes the upper peninsula is also Michigan. How our people here particularly Delta county can forget that is inconceivable to me. If we here in Delta county which of course is nearest to our interest, wants and expect tax reductions, old and tried out officers should be elected, you may be sure a new and untried officer will cost the taxpayer extra money no matter how good and how intent the new officer may be in handclapped by inexperience and get to learn, so if we want tax reduction and service elect those who has proved themselves efficient and true. I believe that this holds true in our presidential election. In 1916 Mr. Wilson campaigned and got elected on the slogan "I Kept You Out of the War". Mr. Roosevelt is now campaigning on the slogan, "I Will Get You Out of the Depression."

Make your own conclusion.
E. JOHNSON,
Gladstone, Mich.

Escanaba, Oct. 30, 1932.
Dear Editor: It seems the fashion to break into print and out of a strong conviction, here goes—

Ex-Governor Green, Herb Rushton and Lawyer O'Hara are putting party welfare before personal preference and are taking the stump for the Republican ticket. All praise to these three men.

Personally I hope to vote for Green as senator—Rushton for Governor and O'Hara for congress one of these days.

While there can be something said in favor of the proposed amendments, it is my intention to vote No on all of them. Regardless of our opinion of the 18th amendment we should not weaken police powers, as long as that law is on the statutes. Vote "No" on that amendment.

On the proposal to issue $60,000 bonds for road work, one should vote "no" as to vote for it nullifies the act of the legislature, who, in the interest of the economy changed the laws with the intention of postponing road work. Now the bond issue means borrowing money so there will be no cessation of A good safe policy to follow is to vote "No" on every one of those amendments.

Thank you,
T. M. JUDSON.

City Buys Property
Menominee—City council in special session last night purchased the Juttner property, embracing all the land and buildings on the east side of Sheridan road from the Quimby building south to the Jones building.

The purchase price was $12,400; $6,400 of which goes to the heirs of the Juttner estate and $6,000 to retire a mortgage on the property held by Mrs. George Bauer of Marinette.

Bank Closes Doors
Negaunee—The Negaunee State bank will not open its doors today, its directors having decided, Saturday, to close the institution for the protection of its depositors.

Saturday night Y. S. Heinonen, assistant cashier of the bank, was arrested by Bert Agnoli, Negaunee chief of police, on a warrant charging him with appropriating $20,000 of the bank's funds to his own use. He was taken to the county jail in Marquette and probably will be arraigned here today before Justice Thoren.

The affairs of the bank are now in charge of Peter Taliento, examiner for the state banking department.

Would Honor Osborn
Sault Ste. Marie—Regardless of whether the state officially consents to it, Sault citizens will probably continue to call the new US-2 the Osborn Highway as a signal tribute to the city's first citizen, Hon. Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, and the prime mover behind the concrete road from the Straits to St. Mary's river.

It was Gov. Osborn who enlisted the backing of the federal government in 1927 and unselfishly devoted much of his time and energy towards the new federal aid highway. How it came about is one of the romantic chapters in Sault history and another eloquent monument to him who has done more for the city than any other man.

Drove Over Trail
Sault Ste. Marie—John Knox, 75, now living near Hotton's corner on what he still likes to call The Mackinaw road, believes he is the first man ever to drive a team of horses over the Mackinaw Trail.

That was 59 years ago. He took a wagon load of sailors to St. Ignace where they were to get a boat. Mr. Knox vividly recalls the trip. He said there were no "stopping places" on the road then.

Mr. Knox came here from Meaford, Ontario.

Army Clothing Is Offered to Needy

There is now available at the State warehouse in Lansing a large supply of surplus army clothing for distribution to Accredited Welfare Agencies of the State. This clothing has been drawn from the several army depots scattered from coast to coast and is available to welfare agencies at government prices, plus 10 percent handling charge, freight charges from army depots to Lansing being absorbed without cost to the agencies.

Governor Brucker desires that this clothing be made available to needy persons in ample time for cold weather use and urges welfare agencies to avail themselves of these low cost garments while Michigan's quota is available. They are advised to order early before the supply becomes exhausted.

Beware the Cough or Cold that Hangs On Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

HE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may get sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, get the druggist who wants a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup (peppin). Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day, and you'll know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescription preparation of pure peppin, active acids, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup peppin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup peppin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

8 PROPOSALS CONFUSE VOTERS

Election Official Summarizes Questions to Be Voted On

The eight proposals appearing on the "Amendment Ballot" are causing consternation among the voters who have already received the ballots under the absent voter's law, according to city officials. When the large ballot is handed them they look at the columns of finely printed matter, they express their inability to comprehend just what they ought to do about it and most of them declare that they are going to make no vote on any of the questions which are presented to them.

Little information has been made available to the public concerning the various proposals and most people are entirely in the dark. Election officials fear that on election day a great deal of confusion will result and that those who desire to read the ballot before they vote will delay the voting. One of these officials, in the interest of informing the people as to the various questions to be voted on.

No. 1. This proposal is to abolish the state prohibition law. If you favor prohibition you should vote No and if you are a wet you should vote Yes.

No. 2. This is a proposal to limit taxation to $15.00 per $1,000.00 of assessed valuation. This total levy to be for all purposes, state, county, school and city. This proposal has been condemned as dangerous to the extreme. It is pointed out that it will force the closing of schools and otherwise hamper government.

A vote No on this has been recommended by leading men throughout the state.

No. 3. This proposes a new apportionment of the senators and representatives in the state. This measure would reduce the representation from the Upper Peninsula. A vote No on this proposal is to the interest of this section of the state.

No. 4. Exemption to the value of $1,000.00 from taxation household goods, etc., and also homesteads to the extent of $3,000.00 other than to pay a mortgage debt heretofore incurred. This proposal would take from the tax roll most of the property in Gladstone and seriously cripple the school system. A vote No on this measure is recommended by those who have made a study of the situation.

No. 5. A proposal relating to the residence requirement for voting to make possible the holding of township elections within the limits of an incorporated city within the township. This proposal should receive the approval of the voters and a Yes vote is recommended.

No. 6. This measure would make it impossible to pardon those who are convicted of First Degree Murder. If you favor the proposal you should vote Yes and if you are opposed to restricting the pardoning powers of the governor you should vote No.

No. 7. This proposal would ban non-property owners from voting on bond issue proposals. If you believe that only those who own property should vote on bond questions you should vote Yes and if you believe that all citizens should be permitted to vote on the question you should vote No.

No. 8. This is, in brief, a proposal to protect the dairyman by placing a tax on butter substitutes, such as oleomargarine. If you favor such a tax you should vote Yes and if you believe that butter substitutes should not be taxed you should vote No.

Speaker Is Noted Son Of Sweden

Carl Gideon Wallenius, minister, educator, lecturer, traveler and writer, who is to be the speaker at the George Washington and Gustavus Adolphus Memorial programs to be held in Gladstone, Sweden, was born in Upsala, Sweden. His father was a clergyman and had the distinction of being one of the first seven Methodist ministers in Sweden.

Mr. Wallenius was graduated from Vassar college in 1886 and later continued his studies at Upsala University, preparing for the ministry in the State Church in Sweden. Later he joined his father's church and in 1888 he came to the United States for the purpose of studying in the Boston School of Theology. Before completing his course he was called by the board of directors of the Swedish Theological Seminary in Evanston to teach in the academic department of the school and serve as an associate editor of "The Watchman," a religious weekly. He was connected with the Wesley Academy and Theological Seminary for a period of thirty years, except for brief periods when he served pastorates at different places. For sixteen years he was president of the school. From 1917 to 1919 he served as writer of "The Messenger," the official organ of Swedish Methodism in America.

In 1913 the degrees of Doctor of Divinity, "honoris causa," was conferred upon him by the Northwestern University of Evanston. He was a member of the Methodist General Conference in 1923, representing his conference.

Doctor Wallenius has traveled extensively in both Europe and America and has written about 100 travelogues in the "Sandbadet" and other papers. He has been in great demand as a lecturer on historical, patriotic and religious subjects, appearing in this capacity in many states, from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Minnesota to Texas. For many years he has edited an illustrated Christmas calendar, "Vinterrosen," and is the author of a history of "Swedish Methodism in America," an illustrated volume of 550 pages, written in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of that movement in this country.

In recognition of his services and attainments Dr. Wallenius was created a Knight of the Swedish Order of the North Star of King Gustav V in September, 1929.

Doctor Wallenius was in Gladstone a few years ago in connection with the drive for membership in the Sons and Daughters of America, and those who heard him at that time have expressed their pleasure at his return at this time.

Doctor Wallenius will speak at both programs, the first of which will be in English and the second in Swedish.

ROTE GOVERNOR HERE YESTERDAY

Frank Carter, Eagle River, Lauds World Peace Efforts

Frank Carter, Eagle River, governor of the Tenth District of Rotary, comprising northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, paid an official visit to the Gladstone club yesterday and spoke to the members on the objectives of Rotary.

Particular stress was paid by the speaker to international relations and the efforts put forth by Rotary to promote world peace. The world court, the Kellogg peace pact and the efforts toward disarmament were lauded by the speaker, who declared that war should never be invoked in this civilized age to settle disputes.

Governor Carter cited the long existing peace between Canada and the United States as an example of the results that can be achieved through an understanding between nations. The unprojected border between Norway and Sweden was given as another illustration of peace through good will. A dramatic word picture was also painted by the speaker of the boundary dispute between Argentina and Chile, which was amicably settled and resulted in the erection of a large monument of the Christ moulded from the bronze of cannons that had been built by the two countries in preparation for war to settle the boundary differences.

The speaker appealed to the Rotarians to carry their ideals of Rotary with them to their places of business and to live up to the standard of ethics that Rotary teaches. He told them to apply their principles of community service and work toward the upbuilding of the community.

Mr. Carter is a good speaker and a fine gentleman and his selection as governor of Rotary was given unanimous endorsements by the membership throughout the district.

GREEN PRAISES HOOVER RECORD

Says Demo Theories Unsound; Norton Lauds Brucker

A crowd estimated at 500 people yesterday greeted former Governor Fred W. Green, who appeared on the platform of the Rialto theatre to plead for the support of the Republican national ticket under the auspices of the Gladstone Republican club and was introduced by the chairman, R. J. Riley. Accompanying Mr. Green were Senator H. J. Rushton, Escanaba, Wm. Bonifas and J. P. Norton, publisher of the Daily Press.

Former Governor Green devoted his talk to national issues and urged the support of President Hoover on his record. He pointed to Roosevelt policies as a menace to the financial structure of the nation and charged that Democratic theories were unsound. He cited President Hoover's world-wide experience as especially fitting him to cope with the problems now confronting the nation.

Following the address by the former governor, J. P. Norton, editor of the Daily Press, spoke for a few minutes on state issues. Mr. Norton praised the administration of Governor Green and declared that Governor Brucker had continued these policies. He urged the support of the Republican ticket.

The high school band and drum and bugle corps were out in uniform to parade for the former chief of the state.

Ask Women To Sew For Needy

Aid of Gladstone ladies who sew is being sought by the Child Welfare club, which is endeavoring to convert the cloth received from the Red Cross into warm winter apparel for the needy of Gladstone. Many of those in need of clothing are unable to sew or have no machine. It is pointed out, and only through the volunteer aid of those who can do so will the club be able to supply the clothing to those who need it.

It is pointed out by members of the Welfare committee that the need for clothing is urgent and that the cooperation of women in this worthy cause is no less urgent than during the war period when all aided in preparing clothing for the soldiers.

Those who are willing to assist in this work are urged to call Mrs. D. N. Kee, chairman of this phase of the relief work, and the cloth will be provided.

It is expected that the aid of the volunteer seamstress will be needed throughout the winter.

THEATRES

Why all men hate crooning and "romancers, while women go into raptures over them? This is a question causing an immoderate amount of discussion over this form of entertainment at the night clubs.

Ann Dvorak, Hollywood's latest sensation who plays the leading feminine role in "Crooner," a First National picture, which is now showing at the Rialto theatre, asserts that she believes the underlying reason is jealousy. "Come and see the 'Crooner' and find out."

Believe that if a great leader did come to America, he would find a sincere following. For you need at this moment in your American life the magnetic influence of a saint.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL NOV. 11

Plans Being Made for Red Cross Drive by Chapter Officers

The annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, announced for November 11 to 24, will find more than 3,000 chapters seeking memberships for support of regular and emergency activities throughout 1933.

E. J. Lafave, chairman of the local chapter has summed up the national organization's relief activities during the past year as follows:

To prevent suffering in this period of unemployment and general economic depression, the Red Cross has made widespread distribution of wheat, flour, clothing, medicine and other supplies. More than 2,200 chapters have participated in community unemployment relief programs.

Approximately 15,000,000 persons, residing in every state in the union, have received flour through the Red Cross, while the clothing needs of tens of thousands of distressed families have been supplemented by the organization's present cloth and clothing distribution program. The task of converting government wheat and cotton into flour and garments was assigned to the Red Cross this year by congress.

After fifty-one years as the official national relief agency, the American Red Cross finds itself in 1932 carrying the largest peace-time load in its history, the chairman said.

Ninety-five disasters—in addition to unemployment—commanded the relief facilities of the organization during the last fiscal year, according to the local chapter official. That disaster played no favorites is revealed in a Red Cross report which shows 23 disasters visited the continental United States and 28 struck insular possessions during the fiscal year. Five foreign disasters were of sufficient severity to bring help from the American Red Cross.

Altogether, the agency extended assistance to 486,000 victims of disaster during the 12-month period. That figure does not include the millions reduced to dependency as a result of economic conditions.

"Since 1881, the date of its founding," the chapter head declared, "disaster relief has been outstanding among Red Cross activities, and a continuous state of preparedness has been maintained. Although it is sometimes necessary to issue a national call for disaster relief funds, the great bulk of relief work is supported—as are other regular Red Cross services—wholly by membership dues forthcoming during the membership campaign."

Final plans for an extensive campaign here are being completed this week and those directing the community-wide appeal have expressed the belief that the membership quota will be reached or exceeded in a comparatively brief period.

LOCAL TEAMS FACE TROUBLE

Eskymos and Parochials Expect Hard Tilts On Saturday

The two local prep football teams, enjoying the fruits of victory harvested in their battles of last Saturday, last evening began another week of preparation for important battles on November 5. The Eskymos will meet a strong Manistique eleven in Escanaba and the Parochials will journey to Norway where they will face a tough Viking machine.

The Eskymos Saturday showed impressive improvements in their season's play by defeating Iron Mountain, 19 to 6, and the Parochials captured the Delta county mythical title by eliminating Gladstone, 20 to 0.

Escanaba expects an exceptionally hot battle with the Schoolcraft county aggregation this week. Manistique boasts a record that outshines that of the Nordberg athletes and will go into the game as the favorite. Coach Wassberg's team won from Gladstone, Newberry and Negaunee and played a tie battle with St. Joseph. Last Saturday they lost a tough scrap to Soo, 6 to 2. The Eskymos, on the other hand, lost to St. Joseph and fell to the Soo, 6 to 0.

Because of the keen rivalry between the two schools, Coach Brunelle figures his Parochial warriors will be in for a tough afternoon at Norway this week. St. Joseph defeated Norway 12 to 0 here last year and then dumped Norway in the regional basketball tournament last year. Those two defeats handed the Vikings have not been forgotten by them and a bitter battle has been promised the Parochials when they journey to Norway on Saturday.

GOOD TO HAVE AROUND

William Nicolet of Shurtieff College, Alton, Ill., is quite an athlete. He is fullback on the squad, a guard on the school's basketball team, one of the leading hitters on the baseball team, a track threat with the discus and javelin and can play an acceptable game of tennis.

MAYBE THEY NEED THEM

The Chicago White Sox hurling staff is studying moving pictures of Ted Lyons' hurling form at the training camp next year.

PLENTY OF VETERANS

The University of Pennsylvania had 23 lettermen return for football this season.

THE HONOR ROLL

Scoring 14 touchdowns for the first four weeks of the football season, Louis Bush, Massachusetts State back, shown above, leads all scorers in the east with a total of 84 points. Cliff Montgomery, flashy Columbia back, was his nearest rival with a total of 82 points—10 touchdowns and two points after touchdown.

THREE 'TOUGHS' FACE MICHIGAN

Indiana, Chicago, Minnesota Will Be Hard To Beat

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—Several Michigan football regulars were absent from practice today because of bumps and bruises and Monday afternoon classes. Those present were put through a forward passing drill as their first preparation for the clash with Indiana Saturday. Ted Petoskey, fullback, was in University hospital, but principally for rest and is expected to be ready to play at Bloomington.

Johnny Regecci, the Wolverines' star punter, also was on the injured list due to a hard shanking up by Princeton tacklers. Regecci also is expected to reach playing condition for the Hoosier game. Along with these casualties, a word of comfort was brought to Michigan fans today with the announcement that Stan Zay, star halfback, has regained perfect health.

Coaches Are Happy Coach Ray Cortright, who scouted the Indians, had charge of a freshman eleven today and showed the yearlings some of the Hoosiers' favorite plays which will be demonstrated against the varsity later this week. Michigan scouts who saw Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota in action last Saturday brought back reports which indicate three tough games for Wolverines.

Maize and Blue coaches and players were in a happy frame of mind as another Monday found them with another victory to their credit. As the squad warmed up spectators saw some unusual sights. Herman Everhardus, halfback, was playing center and snapping the ball to Chuck Bernard, while the regular pivot man got off some long punts. Quarterback Harry Newman played center for Willis Ward, sophomore end, who also was getting off well directed spirals.

Newman later showed the spectators some plain and fancy forward passing while Coaches Blott, Oosterbaan, Cappon and Weber played defensive backs. The passes clicked today better than at any practice this fall. Coach Harry Kipke was satisfied with the Michigan passing game against Princeton, but is hoping for a dry field for the Indiana game.

Mungo Signs Early

Van Mungo, right-handed pitcher who went up to the Brooklyn Dodgers last season, has returned his signed contract to the Flatbush management. Mungo is expected to be one of the sensations in the national circuit in 1933. He hails from Pageland, S. C.

Record to Shoot At

Dr. Clarence Spears, present football coach of the University of Wisconsin, has lost only 26 games out of 136 in 15 years of coaching at four schools.

Right From Greece

On the University of Florida freshman football squad is a young fellow from Athens, Greece. He's George Arfaras, who plays right guard.

They're Old Rivals

Anderson Wields Big Stick After Setback, Orders Team Shakeup

BY PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer) South Bend, Ind., Oct. 31 (AP)—Coach "Hunk" Anderson was a hallowed goblin, striking terror in the hearts of his Notre Dame football regulars tonight.

After the Ramblers took it on the chin at Pittsburgh Saturday in probably the biggest upset of the season, "Hunk" hauled out the big stick for the first time in his coaching career at Notre Dame and ordered a drastic shakeup.

Captain Paul Host was deposed from the first string end to the second team in favor of Hugh Devore; Nick Lukats was ousted from left halfback on the regulars for Mike Koken; and Ben Alexander was replaced at center by "Kitty" Gorman.

Expected Victory

"And that's just a start if I don't find what I want," Anderson boomed fiercely to the regulars as he huddled in the gymnasium to escape the rain and darkness. "We've got a lot of good material here and I'm going to find out just who wants to get in there and fight."

Blame Schedule

Naturally, Anderson was in for some criticism for his optimistic utterances but his supporters blamed the showing at Pittsburgh on the current schedule, which "Hunk" did not arrange. The first three games of the season, it was pointed out, were scheduled by the late Knute Rockne when the Haskell Indians, Drake and Carnegie Tech were regarded as powerful trial horses at the least, but this season they were mere "push overs," a result that gave the first string regulars only 45 minutes of service under fire.

"We're not alibing at all," Coach Anderson said, "Pitt beat us with a fine team with a great spirit and deserves all the credit the players received. We weren't ready, I guess, but we'll be from now on with some different faces in the regular lineup, too, unless I'm convinced that some of the other regulars can hit the ball."

SPARTANS SEE WEEK OF REST

South Dakota Game Will Be Easier, Coaches Figure

East Lansing, Oct. 31 (AP)—Michigan State's football squad rounded out a busy month today, returning here from its second conquest of the east for the season.

The Spartans arrived at Lansing early this morning following their 27 to 13 victory over Syracuse and were greeted by the R. O. T. C. band and a delegation of business men, who escorted them to the college.

Coach Jimmie Crowley excused his men from practice today and secluded himself for some much-needed rest after the nervous preparations for Fordham and Syracuse. The squad will be called into action again tomorrow as drills open for the homecoming battle here Saturday with South Dakota.

Plan for Detroit

Crowley will look to the South Dakota game to give his "iron men" their first rest in three weeks. They have had to bear almost the entire burden of the last two intersectional battles, but South Dakota's record is not so impressive as to prevent the liberal use of reserves.

The real task ahead of Crowley and his assistants is to shape his campaign for the annual Detroit game here Nov. 19. The Spartans are anxious to avoid a repetition of the upset last year when Detroit humbled State.

DETROIT HAS NEW ICE TEAM

"Red Wings" Expected to Make Strong Bid for Hockey Title

BY W. H. BEATTY (Associated Press Staff Writer) Detroit, Oct. 31 (AP)—Smiling Jack Adams, manager of Detroit's newly christened Red Wings, formerly called the Falcons, of the National Hockey League, is standing knee-deep in hockey players this season and still he is only faintly optimistic about the prospects.

The trouble, Adams says, is that his mob of bulging-muscled young athletes are all in the doubtful stage—that is, all except a few of last year's regulars and John Ross Roach, newly-purchased goalie.

It all came about when the Chicago Shamrocks of the "outlaw" American league, with the consent of Frank Calder, National league president, agreed to disband and were taken back into the fold of organized hockey. Most of the Shamrocks came to Detroit, and Adams found himself shaking hands with 26 hockey players, all desirous of remaining with a team that carries about 14 men through the regular season. He even has four goalies.

Last Four Men

Detroit lost four good men when Ottawa decided to resume its franchise this year. The four, Hee Killea, Danny Cox, Alex Connell and Alex Smith, were loaned to the Detroit club and returned this year to Ottawa.

Nevertheless, Adams has developed strong forwards in Larry Aurie and Herbie Lewis, regulars last year. Three former Shamrocks, Eddie Wiseman, Jack Riley and Tony Preleznic made up the tentative second line. In the third is Frank Carson and "Happy" Emms of last year's squad, and Gordon Brydon of the Shamrocks.

The defense probably will include the veteran Reg Noble and Douglas Young of the old Falcons with Ralph Taylor and Walter Buswell, former Shamrocks, to relieve them.

Roach, purchased a few weeks ago from the New York Rangers, will hold the goalie's job, with Mike Karakas, Shamrock goal minder, and a couple of others in reserve.

Most of the remaining players will be delegated to the Detroit Olympics, International league team, for tryouts and possible berths. Some will have to be cut loose before the season gets under way.

SOME KIND OF RECORD

Otha Tiner, little Texas Christian University quarterback, got into the recent T. C. U.-Texas Aggie game for only three plays. On each play he made a score and yet didn't touch the ball with his hands. He kicked a field goal and two points after touchdown.

"MUGGSY" CAN TALK

FOOTBALL? JUST A PINK TEA GAME

When someone talks about the roughness of football, Charley Marr, big University of Alabama lineman shown above, just chortles. For Charley, football's just another game. Two years ago he broke his neck in diving. This year, while playing baseball, he sustained a fractured skull. Charley discarded his head brace, saying, "Them's for sissies," and joined the squad.

NEW COACH AT GEORGETOWN

Jack Hagerty Takes New Duties in Middle of Grid Year

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—Jack Hagerty, a determined looking young Irishman, fresh from the professional game, today took charge of Georgetown football and in his first five minutes on the job tossed the Notre Dame system out of the window.

The well-knit young Georgetown star of seven years ago made it instantly clear he was going back to the principles taught in his own playing by Lou Little, now at Columbia, with perhaps an added dash of what he has learned in several seasons as quarterback of the professional New York Giants.

Few men have been tossed into as tough a coaching spot in mid-season. Over the week-end Tommy Mills, one time disciple of the great Knute Rockne, resigned after two and one-half disappointing seasons on the hilltop above the Potomac, and Hagerty was called back to his alma mater to try to put it on the winning track after three straight defeats.

With the schedule calling for a game with West Virginia at Morgantown Saturday, Hagerty gave his men a full afternoon. Characteristically emphasizing the "from the neck up" aspects of football, he spent the first hours of his coaching regime on new plays.

Although Hagerty hopes to do well in the remaining four games against West Virginia, West Virginia Wesleyan, Bucknell and Carnegie Tech, he said the biggest part of his job will be preparing for a good season next year. He is working under a contract covering next season.

PACKERS BEAT STAPLES 26-0

Green Bay Holds First Place in National Pro League

Sunday's Results Chicago Cardinals 27; Brooklyn 7. Portsmouth 6; New York 0. Green Bay 26; Stapleton 0. Boston 7; Chicago Bears 7.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 31 (AP)—The powerful Packers eleven held fast to first place in the National Professional Football league by scoring an impressive 26 to 0 victory over the Stapleton club here Sunday afternoon.

The Packers had all the best of it, scoring a touchdown in the second period, two in the third and another in the fourth. The game, played before 5,000 spectators, was the last home stand of the Packers this season.

Touchdowns, resulting from a mixed passing and running attack, were scored by Grove, Herber and Bruder, Grove counting twice.

Giants Blanked

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Portsmouth Spartans won their third National Professional Football league victory here beating the New York Giants, 6-0.

The Spartans scored in the first period on two long passes from mid-field, the first from Clark to Ebbing and the second, and scoring aerial, from Clark to Lumpkin.

Portsmouth dominated play through the second and third period but the Giants, using an effective passing attack, twice penetrated the Spartans' 20-yard line in the final quarter. One 42-yard pass, from Molenda to Flaherty, took the ball to the eighty-yard line, but Portsmouth held there.

Red Grange Stopped

Boston, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Boston Braves managed to keep Red Grange under control and gained a 7-7 tie with the Chicago Bears in a bruising contest witnessed by 18,000 persons at Braves field.

Both teams tallied early in the opening period. After the Braves muffed up a Chicago punt on their 30-yard line, where the Bears regained the ball, Red Grange plowed through steadily to the eight-yard line and scored from there on an end run. That was the only effective work accomplished by Grange. Paul Enselbren place-kicked the Bears' extra point.

Card Rally Brings Victory

Chicago, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals scored three touchdowns in the fourth period to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers in a National league football game, 27 to 7.

Playing without Bennie Friedman, who was called away by illness in his family, the Dodgers put up a brisk struggle until the final session. Irvin Hill scored on an 18-yard drive through the line, but the Dodgers came right back with a rush that netted five straight first downs and to a touchdown. Jack Crossman going over. Hill scored again in the fourth and Martin and Holmer accounted for the last two Cardinal touchdowns.

MINNESOTA CONQUERS WILDCATS

The battle of the Pugs, Renner of Northwestern versus Lund of Minnesota, ended with the Gophers victorious by 7 to 0 in their clash at Minneapolis. Pug Lund, sensational sophomore halfback who carried the ball 32 times for 138 yards, returned a punt for 37 yards in the fourth quarter, then fumbled it. The accident is shown above, the ball bouncing free as Lund was tackled.

GREEN ASKS ELECTORS TO ELECT HOOVER

to make a change," he added. Former Governor Green declared that this is a time when we should put together our best brains, our best thoughts and our best efforts to speed the return of better times.

Lauds Hoover In praising the Republican administration and Hoover's leadership, Former Governor Green called attention to the Democratic opposition to the president's economy plan, Speaker Garner's "post-office" bill, and the Patman measure for paying the soldiers' bonus by issuance of two billion dollars worth of greenbacks.

What we need now is not promises, but a man who can stand firm like Hoover," Green declared. "We've always had in this country a man who has raised himself in a great emergency; a man with a definiteness of purpose, which has enabled him to come through over all obstacles to victory."

Unsound Money Warning

In closing, Green warned of the dangers of the unsound money theories of the Democratic party, calling attention to the hardship that depreciated Canadian currency was causing the pulpwood producers in the upper peninsula.

Mr. Norton appealed for the reelection of all Republican incumbent candidates, naming Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald, State Treasurer Howard Lawrence and Auditor General O. B. Fuller.

Speaking on the pulp and paper situation, he stated that it is possible to import pulp from Sweden and Soviet Russia at six dollars less per ton than it can be produced at Niagara, Wis., from where the Escanaba Paper Company has been receiving this product for use in the manufacture of newspapers.

Senator Rushton bitterly assailed the "power of the press," which he claimed has seen to it that pulp and paper products were imported into this country free. He mentioned the Chicago Tribune, Detroit Free Press and Minneapolis Journal as the large metropolitan newspapers that are getting Canadian-produced paper.

Here is the huge crowd, estimated at more than 50,000 that heard Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in Indianapolis. The scene is the Indiana capital's famed Monument Circle. ministration, he charged, an exception was made to this regulation, which permits Canadian products to be shipped into this country without the label.

Favors Tax Limitation

The state senator also announced that he was heartily in favor of the constitutional amendment proposal, which would place a limitation of $15 per $1,000 on the property tax, because "it will relieve the heavy burden upon the farm and home owner."

Mr. Norton appealed for the reelection of all Republican incumbent candidates, naming Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald, State Treasurer Howard Lawrence and Auditor General O. B. Fuller.

He cited statistics showing that Delta county taxpayers paid only $285,000 into the state treasury, but received the sum of $708,000 in return during the past year.

"How can we afford to make a change when the present administration has been so good to Delta county?" Mr. Norton asked. He also attacked the campaign statements made by William A. Comstock, Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

Elimination of the property tax as promised by Mr. Comstock can only be done by diversion of the gas tax, which would injure the upper peninsula road building program, Mr. Norton asserted. He declared that the Comstock program would also imperil the Turner Act, from which Escanaba and other upper peninsula communities have received much needed aid for their educational systems.

TOURING U. P.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 31 (P)—Former Governor Fred W. Green and Monsignor Patrick H. Dunigan, of Flint, left today to stump the upper peninsula "on behalf of the entire Republican ticket."

Two years ago Green and Msgr. Dunigan toured the counties north of the straits and were credited with substantial results. The former governor, however, was not viewed as being politically friendly to Brucker this year.

Supporters of the campaign development enthusiastically. Green and Msgr. Dunigan are to appear in Escanaba, Gladstone, Menominee, Crystal Falls, Ontonagon and other points. Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, also will campaign in the upper peninsula for the party ticket this week.

Vote for Road Bond Issue

W. R. SMITH Escanaba

One of the things we shall have to do on November 8 is to decide which way we are going to vote on the proposed $60,000 bond issue of Delta County.

As I understand the proposition, the money obtained from the sale of these bonds is to be used during the winter largely on road work, so as to give employment to as many of our unemployed as possible.

We are all interested, or at least should be, in giving work to the unemployed, and especially now so as to tide them over the winter.

The proposition looks sound and sensible to me, and feel that in behalf of the unemployed in Delta County that we should surely vote "Yes" on this important matter.

BANK CASHIER UNDER ARREST

Officials of Negaunee Institution Held, Doors Closed

Negaunee, Mich., Oct. 31 (P)—Thomas Pascoe, cashier of the Negaunee State Bank, the doors of which were closed by voluntary action of the bank's directors Saturday, was arrested about 5 p. m. today by Chief of Police Bert Agnoll on a warrant charging him with carrying a concealed weapon without a license and with uttering threats against a Negaunee resident.

Pascoe was released from the city jail at midnight, two bonds of $10,000 each being furnished by an Ishpeming and three Negaunee men. They were set earlier in the night by Justice T. A. Thoren, although Pascoe has not been arraigned.

The warrant for Pascoe's arrest was issued at the request of Chief Agnoll when it was reported to him that Pascoe was carrying a revolver and that he had uttered threats of violence. When Pascoe was arrested Chief Agnoll found a loaded .38 caliber revolver on his person.

Pascoe has been in poor health for some time and it was said today by some of his friends that since Saturday, when directors of the bank decided to close the institution for protection of the depositors, his condition had become worse and that he appeared to have suffered a nervous collapse.

The arrest of Pascoe followed closely upon that of Y. S. Heino, assistant cashier of the bank, who was taken to the county jail Saturday night to await arraignment on a warrant charging him with misappropriation of the bank's funds. It was understood today that Heino would not be arraigned until Peter Talento, examiner for the state banking department, who has taken charge of the affairs of the bank, has completed his check of the institution's books.

The warrant on which Heino was arrested charges him specifically with misappropriating $20,000.
