EDITORIAL

HERE AND THERE

IMPROPER wrapping and sealing of ballots and failure to seal the packages properly caused the returning board's refusal to include the vote of some precincts in Wayne county in the recent election. The average citizen will wonder why he should lose his vote merely because the election board failed to perform its duties as prescribed by law.

Announcement by City Manager... that the municipal rink would be put into shape comes as welcome news to the many folks, young and old, who enjoy the exhilarating outdoor sport of skating.

Washington street, Escanaba's business main, has taken on an attractive holiday appearance. Store windows are attractively decorated, and counters and shelves are lined with large stocks of good quality merchandise.

THE CONSTITUTION

THE voyage to the west coast of the old frigate Constitution is one of those old little events which remind us, unexpectedly, that our nation is actually beginning to get along in years.

The trip itself, made at the end of a toiling with a snug harbor and on all sails, doesn't amount to much. But the ship, rebuilt though it may be, is a living link with a past that seems almost infinitely remote—a relic of national youth which, by its very existence, emphasizes the fact that America has long since grown up.

Consider, for instance, the changes that have taken place since the Constitution made its first trip, way back in 1797. George Washington was still alive. Thomas Jefferson had not become president, Florida and Orleans were foreign soil and almost no one knew what lay west of the Mississippi. Revolutionary war veterans were beginning to seek homesteads in the wilderness of Ohio. No honeymooner had yet made a trip to Niagara Falls; no millionaire had ever strolled on the sands at Palm Beach. Orleans, Napoleon was just beginning to fame by virtue of a dazzling military campaign in Italy, and in the Mediterranean was being made because of the Barbary pirates—which, incidentally, was the chief way the Constitution had been built. England was still an agricultural nation, Liverpool was thriving as headquarters of the slave trade, and English sailing ships could be, and frequently were, captured to death at the whim of their commanding officers.

COMSTOCK TO REFORM PRIMARY

GOVERNOR-ELECT COMSTOCK has stated that he will recommend to the legislature an amendment to the primary election law, so that political parties will have control over nominees and their platforms.

This reform can be accomplished only by a law compelling every elector to vote in his own party primary according to his party affiliation at the time of registration or at a preceding election. So long as a Democrat can go into the polls, ask for a Republican ballot, and aid in nominating a man or woman not favored by a majority of the Republicans, or a Republican may do the same thing in a Democratic primary, our whole election machinery will continue in chaos.

Moreover, it frequently happens in states like Michigan that up till last fall were overwhelmingly Republican, Democratic office seekers, realizing their inability to get an office in their own party jump into the Republican primaries, and with the aid of Democratic voters, obtain a nomination which is equivalent to election. Any office obtained in that manner is purely for personal gain. Public service does not enter into the consideration at all. It is political and moral dishonesty combined, for it lacks political integrity and moral convictions.

The inconsistency and perverseness of our primary election law might well be illustrated. All churches and religious denominations have their own chosen creeds and about these creeds they have built their religious structures. Suppose one church has attained growth and prosperity, and in that pleasing state, members of another church enter into its deliberations over calling another pastor, electing officers, and strengthening its policy, and demand a voice in saying who the new pastor shall be, or what its future policy shall be; perhaps one of them insisting upon taking over the pastorate himself, or one of the officers, or the outside element demanding a change in its policy?

No such procedure would be countenanced by any church, or lodge, or organization of any kind. Outsiders would have to become affiliated with the church, or lodge, or organization, first; then prove their faith by their works and service before given a voice in anything. That is right from every angle. It is the only way any sort of institution might hope to maintain its integrity and accomplish its purposes.

But in shaping our government under which all have to live whether they like it or not, every sound principle of procedure is shattered to the four winds by an idiotic primary election law, a perverted system that would not be tolerated for a moment in any field of organization. We hope Governor Comstock will convince the legislature of this folly, and induce it to amend the freak law which every man and woman of intelligence knows is subversive of good government, a denial of party responsibility, an actual disfranchisement of sincere adherents of either party by refusing them control over their own primaries—Menominee Herald-Leader.

Ford River Switch Church Dedicated; Big Crowd Attends

In spite of the inclement weather, a large crowd attended the dedicatory services at the St. Paul's Lutheran church edifice in Ford River Sunday.

Rev. L. Kaspar of Appleton, who served as pastor from 1898 to 1910, delivered the sermon at the morning services.

"There are many churches in the world," Rev. Kaspar said. "There are many large beautiful edifices, monumental palaces and temples, where people go to worship, but they really are not churches because God does not dwell therein. A church is not a church until God comes into it. This building will be a blessing for you members of St. Paul's church. The Law of God will be preached here and that is a blessing for you because by the law comes the knowledge of sin."

Rev. Arthur Gents of Marinette preached at the afternoon services, basing his sermon on Matthew, 6, 10. He said in part: "Prayer without faith is dead. This petition is a trumpet call to action. Young men, love not the world. If you are with man then you are not with God. The things of this world will soon pass away. Young women, practice goodness and modesty, as Mary did, serve Jesus as Martha did. Sister and brother, feed the flower of faith. Help it to bloom. Teach others to cultivate and plant with others so they may taste of the faith. We dedicate and consecrate in the name of God. When you dedicate, do not only dedicate these pillars, his building, but dedicate your hearts to the service of the Lord."

In opening the dedicatory ceremonies, Gust Porath, member of the building committee, handed the key of the church to the pastor. Rev. H. A. Kahr, who unlocked the door, William Buske, then opened the door to allow the parishioners to enter. The Misses Ruth and Anna Bruchardt rendered a vocal selection, accompanied by Miss Aurilla Gruendemann. Both services were conducted by Rev. Kahr, assisted by Rev. Kaspar.

Senator Lennon Backing Movement to Boost Prices of Farm Products

BY SAM B. MCCOOL
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

A revitalized movement to bolster farm prices in this state by withholding surpluses from the market may be undertaken within the next few weeks.

State Senator Peter B. Lennon, long an agricultural leader in the legislature, said today he plans to lead the movement to force up the price of farm commodities. He emphasized that he has no sympathy with any general farm strike.

"I intend to take an active part in the near future in a movement to get the farmers to withhold their surplus produce from the market if my health permits," Senator Lennon said. "In my opinion it is the only way we will ever get out of the awful mess in which we are entangled."

Milk Sells Under Cost

Senator Lennon indicated he will solicit the cooperation of leading farm organizations in the state to get behind the proposed movement. He particularly cited the possibility of enlisting the aid of the Michigan Milk Producers' association in an effort to raise the price of dairy products.

"Farmers know just how much milk the cities of the state need every day almost to a quart," his statement said. "If these cities were furnished with what they actually needed and the surplus turned over to the milk dealers it would not be long until the farmers would be getting the cost of production plus a reasonable profit for milk. As long as the milk reservoirs in the cities are kept over-flowing and the 'hoppers' in the elevators and mills are running over with surplus grain the farmer will continue in the state of pauperism in which he now finds himself. No other industry in the country would continue to flood the market with products for which it was receiving a price far below the cost of production."

Will Lead Prosperity

The statement challenged the leadership of state farm organizations to get behind the movement. Senator Lennon, who was singled out for an attack last year by the Michigan State Farm Bureau, insisted he has no quarrel with farm organizations, pointing to his membership in various groups. The senator, who was chairman of the senate taxation committee in the last session, was criticized by the farm bureau for refusal of the senate to consider an income tax and other tax reforms. He has been a consistent advocate of income and tobacco taxes.

"A farm organization that will control the marketing of farm products and bring about the cost of production plus a reasonable profit for the farmer will not only save the agricultural industry of this country but will restore prosperity to every other industry in the nation," the senator said.

The proposed movement will not be the first attempted in the state. Rep. James N. McBride, of Burton, last summer led a short-lived effort to persuade farmers to withhold beans from the market. The state agricultural department and elevator operators throughout

C. H. Thordarson Gives Animals to Washington Island

Washington Island—Last Saturday afternoon there occurred on Rock Island and Washington Island, at the extreme end of the Door county peninsula, an event of such unusual occurrence that probably nothing like it has ever taken place elsewhere.

On Rock Island, which is about a mile square, there is a large herd of wild deer, which has increased in numbers so rapidly of late years that the owner of the island, C. H. Thordarson, of Chicago, believed it would be better for the animals if they had a large area in which to roam around and better food during the winter months. He formed a plan whereby these deer should be driven from their native haunts on Rock Island to the larger neighboring island of Washington, about one mile to the southwest. These islands are separated by deep water with the exception of a narrow reef over which the water is shallow, and a narrow channel that cuts through for the passage of fish boats.

75 Volunteers

With 75 volunteers from Washington Island, armed with guns, not to shoot the deer but to fire in the air to stampede them, Rock Island was invaded Saturday afternoon and a bombardment was started that resembled a battle on the frontier with the Indians in the early days. Not only were hundreds of shots fired into the air, but the shouting and yelling to start the deer from their favorite haunts in the thickets resembled the war whoops of Redskins.

The deer which had never before been molested, having been accustomed to the quietness of the wilderness, were frightened as the army of drivers pressed down upon them from the north, the lines stretching across the island from east to west. Driven from the thick woods and underbrush, they stampeded to the southern end of the island into the open, and as the shot and war whoops drew near they crossed the open space and took to the water to swim the narrow passage way leading to Washington Island and into the thick woods where it is expected they will remain.

Thirty-two deer were in the drive, large bucks with antlers that were a sight to see and does with fawns galloping at their side. The army of hunters was not successful in driving the entire herd from Rock Island, however, for it did not take long before the deer seemed to realize that it was a sham battle and halted being driven from their native haunts doubling back upon the drivers and re-entering the forest. In many instances, the men and boys were forced to jump out of the way of the advancing bucks. In one instance, one of the boys did not move quickly enough, and a big buck crashed into him, knocking him down, stepping upon his gun and breaking it. The big fellow

Funeral Rites for Capt. Larson Held

The funeral of Captain Louis Larson was held Monday afternoon from the Community church in Grand Marais. Rev. Alvin Doren of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating.

He was lost from the fish tug "Lydia" of which he was master and part owner, on the night of November 25 at the month of the Grand Marais harbor of refuge. Four members of his crew lost their lives at the same time, among them being Thomas Larson, his nephew. Besides his wife he leaves a step daughter. Burial will take place at Grand Marais.

CROSSING ACCIDENT

John Fyvie, Sr., had a narrow escape from death or serious injury on Sunday night when he failed to see the evening passenger train at the crossing on the western edge of town. Mr. Fyvie was about in the middle of the track when the train struck his car, throwing it off to one side. Excepting for a bad shaking he was uninjured. The car was damaged to the extent of about $60.00, officers report.

caught his antlers in a tree, breaking off a piece, which the boy picked up as a souvenir. Another story is that a fawn swimming around in deep water had to be rescued with a boat.

To Protect Deer

The transfer of the deer from Rock Island to Washington Island was arranged for through the state conservation commission by Mr. Thordarson, who presents the deer to the people of the island under the condition that they will be protected, and a club known as the Washington Island Deer Farm club, with Robert Gunnerson as president, has been formed for that purpose.

Bronchial Troubles Need Creomulsion

Bronchial troubles may lead to something serious. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Stolen Rides May End Up In Court

Youngsters who persist in catching on automobiles at corners or hooking on with sleds may find themselves in trouble. The Escanaba police department is determined to stop this dangerous practice, and warnings apparently are being disregarded, so in the future the boys or girls who are caught hooking on will be taken before the probate judge.

Officers yesterday were watching various corners where the most complaints have been received.

Starling Noted Among Sparrows Is Rare Visitor

The presence of a starling, an English bird unusual to Michigan, noted among a flock of English sparrows seeking crumbs at the back door of an Escanaba home, on December 8, was reported Monday. The starling, English as well as the sparrows, is nearly twice their size. His plumage is an iridescent metallic green, black and purple, which, in winter, is thickly spotted with white. His bill is long, sharp and white. "A black bird with a yellow bill." Starlings and sparrows, it was learned from Mrs. W. J. Clark, 224 Lake Shore Drive, chairman of the Audobon society and an authority on birds, trace their history in this country to 1890 at which time they were brought to New York from England. They spread widely, the starlings mainly in the south and east. Michigan is out of the range of these birds and they are rarely seen in this state. The bird noted a few days ago, is the second appearance of the starling this year, a flock of six having been seen during the mid-summer. It is believed that the species may prove a menace to our songbirds. Mrs. Clark said, as they are very quarrelsome and often drive songsters away, although the government investigators believe that the starling's good deeds, destroying cutworms and other noxious insects, outnumber his misdemeanors.

Dance Program Monday Evening Pleases Patrons

A crowd which filled William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, Escanaba Junior high school, to its capacity Monday evening, was genuinely entertained and delighted with the presentation of "The Dance of the Nations," presented by the girls of the Escanaba Senior high school physical education classes under the direction of Miss Elaine McDermann.

The clever steps of the various dance numbers, which were typical of the nations represented, the attractive costuming of each number, the effective staging, settings and lighting effects, combined to make the program a most satisfying and a pleasing affair. The dances, which in addition to their attractiveness, are also a part of the regular physical education program, included the Maypole and Morris dances of England, the lively Highland Fling of Scotland, a charming dance of Germany, "Come Let Us Be Joyful"; the graceful minuet of France; the gay Irish Hitt and Irish jig numbers; a pretty Dutch dance; the typical Russian number; two dances of Denmark; the clever tumbling of the Swedish number, and the Virginia Reel and Pop Goes the Weasel of the early American period.

The modern American dances, Lindy Lee, Banjo, Flirtation Waltz, Big-a-Jig and Military Taps, clever and intricate numbers presented by talented and well trained groups, closed the program. Miss McDermann was assisted in her presentation by Miss Lois Gaut, Miss Faye Auble, E. J. Nicholas.

Miss Lillian Schram was accompanist and the high school orchestra under the direction of R. P. Bowers assisted in the program.

Informal Supper Best Mixer For Holiday Season

Coming home for Christmas holidays after being away at boarding school is one of those major crises in the social life of youngsters that parents rarely understand.

"I suppose she'll be a perfect snob and talk about how marvellous the girls at her school are all the time," the girls will be whispering. "Wonder if he'll know us when he comes back, or will we have to be introduced," the boys are wondering.

"That is the time for some tactful mother to bring all the youngsters together and show them that they are just as good as friends as they always were and that the travellers haven't changed a bit. Delay is fatal, so a welcome-home party should be planned for the very evening when the visitors come back to town. A jolly informal supper is the best means of getting the youngsters together. Don't set a definite time; just send the message around that everybody is to pile over to the house as soon as they have washed the train cinders out of their eyes. Then when the crowd has gathered and had a chance to exchange athletic records and stories about school dances, serve a simple buffet dinner made up of the home-made goodies that the youngsters have missed at school. Start with a tomato juice, clam juice or cranberry cocktail just to show them that you know how sophisticated they have grown. Then serve delicious chop suey, followed by the very best dessert you know how to make. It will have to be awfully good to be better than the one below.

Quick Chop Suey 2 lbs. lean pork, diced. 2 tbsps. fat Salt and pepper. 1 cup celery, chopped. 1 green pepper, shredded. 1 1/2 cups flake soda crackers. 1 1/2 cups meat stock or hot water.

Brown pork quickly in hot fat in frying pan. Season and add vegetables and cook covered over low flame until tender, adding a little water occasionally to prevent sticking. Crumble crackers fine and pour over them the hot stock or water. When meat and vegetables are tender combine with crackers. Serve hot. 6 portions.

Pineapple Cheese Cake 1 cup zwieback. 2 tbsps. butter. 2 tbsps. sugar. 1 cup cottage cheese. 1-1/2 tsp. salt. 1/2 cup sugar. 2 beaten eggs. 1/2 cup crushed pineapple. 1/2 cup rich milk. Roll zwieback fine. Reserve 3 tbsps. for top. Mix remainder with softened butter and 2 tablespoons sugar. Press this mixture firmly against sides and bottom of buttered loose-bottom cake pan. Mix cheese with remaining ingredients and beat thoroughly. Pour into crumb-lined pan. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F and bake until firm. Makes one 8-inch cake.

Dental Health During November Sets New Record

The dental health report issued by the public school system covering conditions during November shows that more Escanaba children are now listed on the dental honor rolls than have been recorded in any previous school year for the same month. The Franklin and Barr schools are placed well in the lead of the other school buildings in this respect with the Franklin showing to have 44 per cent of the pupils in good dental condition.

Miss Ella Bacon's third grade room at the Barr school is listed as having the best record in the city. Sixty three per cent of the children in this class are on the dental honor roll. Two Franklin school class rooms, Principal Barbara Semer's sixth grade, Miss Dorothy Rose's third grade are placed next, highest while Miss Alice Johnson's fifth grade at the Barr is given fourth place on the school report. Miss Kathryn LeMire's ninth grade section and Miss Myrtle Beaton's seventh grade section are credited with having the best dental records at the Junior high school.

BUCS ACQUIRE F. LINDSTROM

Spencer, Dugas, Davis Fullis Included in "Swap"

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—On the eve of the annual major league meetings, the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight accomplished one of their great aims for 1933, acquiring an outstanding right handed outfielder, Freddy Lindstrom, to pair with left handed Waner brothers, in a five-player swap involving three National League clubs.

Opening the trading division of the players with a bang, the Pirates sent Glenn Spencer, a right handed pitcher with an ordinary record, to the Giants, and Gus Dugas, left handed rookie outfielder, to the Philadelphia Nationals. With Dugas went an announced cash consideration. Completing the deal, the Giants swapped outfielders with the Phillies, getting George Davis, a youngster who last season starred in his first year in the majors, in return for Chuck Fullis, veteran utility outfielder.

CHICAGO BEARS TRIM PACKERS

Windy City Eleven Goes Into Tie With Portsmouth

Chicago, Dec. 12 (AP)—Batting in a snow storm, the Chicago Bears Sunday capitalized on fumbles and penalties on the part of the Green Bay Packers, national professional league champions last year, to defeat the Wisconsin team, 8 to 0, and go into a tie with Portsmouth for the championship. Portsmouth and the Bears meet here next Sunday to play off the tie.

The scoring came in the final quarter as both teams squinted to get the ball on the snow white field. Swirls of snow at times obscured play.

Miller, Bear center, took the ball on a Packer fumble, and Nagurski led plunges to carry it to the five-yard line. Two stabs at the line failed to gain for the Bears and on the fourth down, Paul Engbretsen backed up and place kicked from the 13-yard stripe.

Football Attendance Declined About 15%

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—Football attendance figures gathered by the Associated Press from all over the country indicate that the football fan of 1932 could either take his football game or leave it alone, depending on the particular game itself.

Notre Dame played to 27,000 more than in 1931; Pittsburgh's attendance figures were up 53,000; Brown almost doubled its 1931 totals, and the University of California at Los Angeles played to almost 100,000 more cash customers than last year.

Among the big losers in attendance were New York university, playing only one less game than in 1931 but to 124,000 fewer persons, Yale off almost 100,000,

Harvard some 60,000 under 1931. Stanford down 40,000, Fordham down 40,000 and Army 39,000 under 1931.

FOOT OF SNOW COVERS GROUND

Roads Drifted; Below Zero Temperatures Felt Last Night

Nearly a foot of snow fell at Escanaba in the storm of Sunday and Monday, more than twice as much as there was for the whole month of December last year. Intermittent flurries of light snow continued yesterday and last night, accompanied by sub-zero temperatures and a wind which whipped up drifts on unprotected highways. All roads were reported open last night, but drifting snow made heavy going in some sections.

The weather bureau at Escanaba predicted a cold snap which might hit as low as five below zero. In 1931, a total of 5.1 inches of snow fell for the entire month of December, and there was none on the ground at the end of the month, but Jan. 1, 1932, brought about 5 inches, which was about the best 1932 could do in the way of snowstorms until Dec. 11 came along.

THEATRES

Give Marie Dressler and Polly Moran something to fight about—and watch the laughs roll up. They're at it again—this time as mothers-in-law battling over the lives of their married children. In Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Prosperity," now showing at the Delft theatre.

The heroines of "Caught Short" and "Politics" have as many battles as of yore, but the battles are louder and funnier. Then, too, there is a dramatic twist in the new story, and Marie does some straight character acting that tugs at the heartstrings.

The story deals with two widows who are friends, in a small town, until their children get married. Each starts in to regulate the new family—and fur flies. Polly goes broke, there is a run on the bank, Marie gets a job in a grocery store and figures out a way to put it on a paying basis by "trading" and "swapping," their battles cause the youngsters to get a divorce—and then everything crashes. Marie sacrifices herself and is planning to end her life for the insurance money when Sonny comes home, with the profits of a big deal. All ends happily.

There are howling incidentals, like the battle of the three rival Santa Clauses, the hilarious adventure in the grocery store, the comical battle that disrupts the wedding, and a tense, gripping dramatic scene. Sam Wood directed the production.

Ice On Bay Too Thin for Safety

Now that ice has started to sheath over lakes, bays and streams, the Escanaba police department and Delta county sheriff's department are again warning local residents not to go out on the ice too soon. The officers point out that the ice is still too weak for safety, even for pedestrians, and should be avoided until continued cold weather has built up the thickness.

Last year four drownings were reported because of unsafe ice, and authorities are urging caution so that there will be no repetition of the tragedies this season. Fishermen and others have been out on the ice in some parts of the bay, but conditions are still hazardous.

William F. Cody, known as Buffalo Bill, received a rank of colonel from the governor of Nebraska.

Ferry Rate Reduction Of Fifty Per Cent Is Proposed by Dillman

A recommendation that state ferry rates be reduced 50 percent will be included in the state highway department's report to the next legislature, State Highway Commissioner G. C. Dillman announced in an address before the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at the Delta hotel yesterday noon. Mr. Dillman discussed various highway policies in his talk.

"The Michigan state ferry began services in 1923 under Act 106 passed that year," Mr. Dillman stated, in discussing the state ferry rate question. "The legislature made available a revolving fund of $150,000 for the purpose of buying boats, docks and other necessary facilities needed in the operation of such a line. The law creating the service required that the charges and tolls should be based on the cost of such facilities, operating and maintenance expenses, and including interest on investment and a proper allowance for depreciation.

Traffic Exceeded Expectations "At the time the law was enacted it was not believed that the number of vehicles carried would increase as rapidly as experience has proven. Between the first full season of operation and 1932, the increase in the various classification of traffic was 225 percent for passenger cars, 431 percent for trucks, and a corresponding increase in the number of trailers, foot or extra passengers. In 1931, over one-quarter of a million people were carried, exclusive of the drivers of vehicles. During this same period the operating revenue increased 254 percent.

"The present indebtedness, covering amounts due to the state highway department for advances on capital investment, is approximately $200,000. This amount, together with the original revolving fund of $150,000 made available by the legislature, indicates a total cash deficit of $350,000 as compared with a value of capital improvements for docks, boats, buildings, etc., of $1,500,000.

"During 1932 there has been a uniform decrease in receipts of 25 percent and similar conditions may be anticipated for 1933. It is believed, however, that such decreases are temporary and will be relieved with any improvement in present economic conditions.

Financial statements indicate that the present rates are equitable under the existing statutes but the department has been endeavoring to find a solution of the problem which would permit an appreciable decrease in toll charge.

"It is our belief, and I will so recommend to the next legislature, that the present law be amended to permit the carrying of interest and depreciation charges, if same are to be required, by the state highway department out of its funds, in order that the effect of such charges may be eliminated in the fixing of toll charges. It will also be recommended that the amounts due the state highway department for capital expenditure advances, $200,000, be amortized over a long period of years. This would add further to the favorable opportunity of making a rate adjustment at this time. It is further believed that an equitable rate schedule should be established arbitrarily and that any net operating deficits which might be experienced should be considered as a proper charge against the highway system.

The adoption of such legislation would make possible an immediate reduction in rates of 50 percent. Passenger cars on which the rates are now $2, $2.50 and $3, could under the new schedule be carried for $1 and $1.50."

Explains Highway Policies In opening his address, Mr. Dillman gave a brief history of the state's highway system, mentioning the fact that the county road act was established in 1890 and that now all 83 counties are operating under it. At the present time, there are 8,600 miles of trunk line highways, he said, and he cited that the $6,000,000 bond issue in 1919 gave much impetus to road building in Michigan.

He discussed briefly the McNitt act, whereby state aid is given to counties to absorb all township roads during a five year period; and the Horton act, whereby refunds are made to counties out of the weight tax for the purpose of eliminating or materially reducing the property tax levy for county road purposes.

Road Funds Reduced Mr. Dillman stated that the funds available for new highway construction in 1933 would be greatly reduced. He estimated total receipts under the weight and gas tax as $34,670,000, of which 64 percent will be returned to the counties under the Horton, McNitt and other county aid acts; 16 1/2 percent will be expended for maintenance; 8 1/2 percent for widenings in the county of Detroit; 10 1/2 percent for sinking fund; 1 1/2 percent for miscellaneous purposes, leaving only 8 1/2 percent or about $3,329,000 for new construction this coming year. He compared this with an average of 23 1/2 million dollars spent annually for construction during the last four years, and 19 1/2 millions annually in the last ten year period.

No Federal Aid? There is little likelihood of federal aid next year, Mr. Dillman said. He based this prediction on President Hoover's economy program recommendations in his message to congress last week.

A sum of $11,000,000 was expended by the state last winter for highway work as a means of relieving unemployment, Mr. Dillman said. Although he admitted that the building of roads in adverse weather conditions and with men who are not selected because of ability but because of the need to help them, does not represent the best of efficiency, Mr. Dillman declared that some worthwhile highway improvements were made and substantial relief was given to the jobless. The real need is for work relief and not outright charity, Mr. Dillman said, and he explained that road building and repairing offers one of the best means of achieving this end since 90 percent of the money expended goes directly or indirectly to labor.

Snow Removal Mr. Dillman also told of the snow removal and roadside beautification programs of the state highway department.

"There are 1800 miles of trunk line highways in the upper peninsula, and almost every mile will be on the snow-removal program this winter," he said. "Snow removal is quite costly, but I dare say that no one up here would favor the discontinuance of this program. During the winter of 1929-30, the average cost of snow removal in the upper peninsula was $205.31 per mile, as compared to $119.67 in the state. Last winter, the average cost was $94.61 per mile in the upper peninsula, while in the state as a whole it was $47.46."

U. P. Needs Highways Mr. Dillman stated that the highway department recognizes the need for good roads in the upper peninsula, and he said that there were many miles of roads still waiting to be improved. He cited that US 2-41 have a total mileage of 631 in the upper peninsula, and go through townships and cities having 78 percent of the population of the peninsula. Only 60 percent of the mileage of US 2-41 is concrete or bituminous macadam, he said. Good roads will promote the development of the upper peninsula's tourist industry, Mr. Dillman said. He explained that the department's roadside beautification program is intended to preserve those natural beauties of this section, and to make the tourist's traveling an enjoyable experience. He said that the upper peninsula needs more improved roads so that the tourist public can be influenced to visit the Pictured Rocks, Porcupine Mountains and other scenic attractions.
