MHS rates show promise

Data puts MHS near top for graduation, college entry

MANISTIQUE – The Manistique Area Schools District is performing impressively according to the latest from Michigan Department of Education's MI School Data. The data for the 2015-16 school year reflects graduation rates, as well as the number of students enrolling in post-secondary education within six months of graduation.

According to the MI School Data (https://goo.gl/40IN9p), Manistique Middle and High School experienced a 92.3 percent graduation rate – with only a 1.5 percent dropout rate. In all schools statewide, 97,146 students graduated out of 121,969 enrolled in the 2016 graduating class – a 79.6 percent graduation rate with an 8.9 percent dropout rate.

Also in the MI School Data (https://goo.gl/mclbP), Manistique Middle and High School had 59 students graduate in 2016. Of those graduates, 49, or 83.1 percent, enrolled in some type of post-secondary education within six months of graduation. In the entire Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District, of which MHS is a part, 309 out of 439 graduates – 70.4 percent – enrolled in a college during the same period of time.

When all schools statewide are tallied, 62,653 of the 101,878 graduates in 2016 enrolled in post-secondary education in that time period – or 61.5 percent.

According to MAS Superintendent Maryann Boddy, this data places MHS 29th in the state for college enrollment within six months – and first in the Upper Peninsula. She said the district has many positive factors contributing to student success.

"We have a strong K-12 teaching staff, a strong guidance office that works with the students on planning and their post-secondary options, and a rigorous curriculum

UP Paper announces new investor

Despite paper price hikes, CEO optimistic about mill

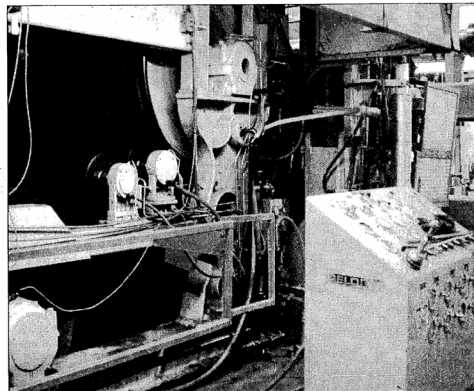

MANISTIQUE – UP Paper has taken yet another step to ensure its continuing operation, adding a new investor to its ownership team. The announcement was made Friday.

According to officials at UP Paper, Tim Magnusson recently elected to join the existing investment group of local entrepreneurs who had re-started the former FutureMark Manistique paper mill. UP Paper now operates the paper mill, which produces lightweight, unbleached Kraft papers for the domestic market.

"Expanding the investor base was always a goal of UP Paper, but we needed to find the right partner who shares our vision for the future and who compliments what we already have in place," said UP Paper Chairman and partner Mike Biehl.

According to UP Paper CEO Lars Dannberg, the addition of Magnusson will allow the company to broaden its investor base, bringing in "fresh capital" to allow for production and profit goals to be met in a "shorter period of time."

"In many ways, Magnusson is a perfect fit for us," explained Dannberg. "He's enthusiastic about what we are doing here at UP Paper. Like us, he wants to see UP Paper thrive, and he wants to see the community benefit from good jobs and a steady industrial base."

Magnusson grew up in Germfask, graduating from Manistique High School and spending the early 1990s working summers at the paper mill while attending college.

"He has an understanding of the paper-making process and he understands what it takes to build a thriving and profitable business – something he has done in his own career in the asset management industry," said Dannberg.

"Tim's background in finance and capital markets will be a welcome addition to our investment team as we navigate the future and look for opportunities to grow."

After being shut down in early 2015, the paper mill was purchased in October 2015 by Zellar MPI Real Estate, Inc. By the following April, UP Paper, LLC had agreed to lease and operate out of the facility.

"Everything has gone according to plan, except for one thing," explained Dannberg. "The wastepaper, which we are buying, skyrocketed in November, December, January, February – and still are high. The price... really went up."

He added that the wastepaper prices more than doubled by the time January came.

"That was a shock to our system," Dannberg said. "But we have been struggling through."

The addition of Magnusson, as well as increased funding from the other investors has helped the mill move forward, he noted.

"We are in good shape right now," Dannberg said. "The wastepaper prices are coming down... and our paper prices are coming up."

He added that right now, the mill is sold out and things are looking "fairly good."

In regard to the need for wastepaper,

Language and the history of a place

He has more business than Charlie Coon! I grew up in the Detroit area and, about ten years ago, I caught myself uttering those very words. What an odd saying! It seemed vaguely familiar, perhaps from my childhood, but I had no real idea where it came from. With its rather questionable ring, I started thinking I should probably refrain from using it. Then, a couple years later, I was reminded of the expression when I heard my mother use it in reference to me: You've got more business than Charlie Coon! I asked where she thought it came from. Although she wasn't sure, she believed her mother used to say it along with others in her mother's family, the Harts, who were from the Upper Peninsula. That was all she needed to say for the history of an expression, and of a people and place, to soon unfold.

I teach French and Linguistics at Grand Valley State University. The Hart family (Hart was an Americanized version of the French-Canadian name, Francœur, either assigned when immigrating to the United States or adopted later on) lived in Manistique in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Olivier Francœur (or Oliver Hart, Sr.) worked in the lumber industry. Oliver Hart, Jr. ran a grocery store in the center of town. In the 20s, the entire clan moved to Flint in search of employment in the automobile industry; Oliver either sold his business or just boarded up his shop and headed downstate with the family. The Manistique area continued, all the same, to hold an important place in the life of the Hart: for many years after the move, it was their favorite destination for summer vacation. An opportunity to reconnect with friends, clergy and others who remained behind. My mother still remembers rather vividly those family trips to Manistique and Indian Lake in the 30s and 40s. She especially recalls visiting friends and making trips to Kitchitikiipi.

I've long been fascinated with language and its history. My mild interest in genealogy was strong enough to prompt me — on a trip from Petoskey to Marquette in 2012 — to add a few extra miles as I headed north, taking US-2 all the way to M-94 in order to make a quick stop in Manistique's Lakeview cemetery. I wanted to see if I could find my great-great grandfather's gravestone, which, although my mother had no recollection of it, the internet clearly showed me was there: Oliver Hart (Francœur), Sr. Section 12, Lot 39, Grave 3, buried in 1911 along with a few others of the family. Under a beautiful blue sky that August day in 2012, just over a hundred years since his passing, I had no trouble locating the small cemetery plot. For much, I wondered, or how little, has the view from here changed? I lingered a moment and took some pictures. If we are

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,
Trump budget "Makes America Great or Billionaires".
Donald Trump's 2018 Budget was promoted as "Taxpayer First." A more accurate description is "Billionaires First." There is little benefit for the average American, and the poorest among us are simply getting tossed under the limos of the wealthiest Americans. The Washington Post summed up the budget as, "Helps the Rich at the Expense of the Poor."
At a time when the wealthiest one-tenth of one percent owns as much wealth as the bottom 90 percent of Americans, the Trump budget is loaded with corporate welfare and tax cuts for the super wealthy. The rest of us simply get cuts.
Trump wants to eliminate the real estate tax. Unless you have an estate worth over 5.5 million, you are not affected by this tax.

Wealthy investors will no longer be subject to a surcharge. That's great news if you were fortunate enough to make 200k on your investments last year. For the rest of us, we still have to pay high sales taxes, expensive licensing fees and other regressive taxes that hit the poorest Americans very hard.
There is no question we need to reduce our national debt, but there must be shared sacrifice. If you want to cut social welfare, then cut corporate welfare as well. If you want to reduce Medicare, pass a bill allowing the taxpayer to negotiate for lower prices on prescription drugs. Cutting things like "Meals on Wheels" and heating assistance programs for seniors citizens while handing billions in tax cuts to the wealthiest Americans is grossly unfair, but not surprising given the influence of big money in our nation's capital.

Multi-millionaires and corporations have legions of lobbyists and lawyers to do their bidding in Washington. The average person has only their U.S. Representative. Unfortunately, many U.S. Representatives are bought and paid for by the very same people who are getting all of the breaks in the Trump budget.

Remembering WWI in Schoolcraft County

MANISTIQUE — Continuing with the "In Remembrance: World War I" highlights from the Schoolcraft County Historical Society's recognition of the 100th anniversary of World War I, this week's article features First Lieutenant Harry A. Williams.

Harry Williams was born on a farm in Cooks, Mich., on Feb. 7, 1887. He was the son Mr. and Mrs. Milton Williams. For six years prior to entering the service, he was employed as a government clerk in Washington, D.C.

In the fall of 1917, he entered an officers' training camp near Chattanooga, Tenn., and was sent overseas in the spring of 1918.

First Lieutenant Harry A. Williams, 7th Infantry, was posthumously issued a Silver Star Citation for action near Fossoy, France, on July 15, 1918. During an intense artillery preparation by the enemy, Lieutenant Williams voluntarily took command of a platoon of the company to which he was attached for the purpose of liaison.

Through absolute disregard of personal danger and high qualities of leadership these men were safely conducted from their support position, through Fossoy, under terrific shell fire, arriving at the front line in time to assist in stopping the enemy's advance.

THE DINNER DIVA

By LEANNE ELY

One of my favorite things in life is sushi. I love it anyway you give it to me—rolled, not rolled, plenty of wasabi ... just load me up!

But sushi means soy sauce and soy is definitely not a health food — especially considering non-organic soy sauce most likely will be GMO soy.

Soy seemingly has a wonderful nutritional profile. But at issue here are the lectins and the fact that every time you eat soy, you're slowing down your metabolism function (thyroid) by 30 percent! Not to mention that it is a top phytoestrogenic food and endocrine disruptor — who needs that?

Anyone suffering with thyroid disease knows that threatening the already weak thyroid is not a wise move. So years ago, when I discovered a tasty substitute called Coconut Aminos, I was beyond excited.

Coconut Aminos are made from two ingredients — aged sap of coconut blossoms and sea salt. That's it. It is a low-tycemic, vegan, and gluten-free with 17 amino acids.

Plus, Coconut Aminos have about 55 percent less sodium than regular soy sauce. And just to make it even better — Coconut Aminos have a whole load of health benefits, including weight loss!

Here are 5 to get excited about:
1. Weight Loss: Adiponectin, a hormone that lives in your fatty tissue, is increased by eating coconut products such as Coconut Aminos. This is a good thing because adiponectin regulates a number of metabolic processes, including fat burning! Coconut Aminos help to increase adiponectin, score!

2. Immune System Enhancement: Antioxidant-rich, Coconut Aminos naturally support the immune system by providing protection against free radicals, atoms that cause cell damage and aging, to name just a few of the damaging problems associated with free radicals.

3. Heart protection: Coconut Aminos and other coconut products, increase HDL (the good cholesterol) and help to regulate blood pressure.

4. Lowered Risk of Colon Cancer: A University of South Carolina study showed that people who ate coconut products had reduced inflammation and greatly reduced occurrence of malignant tumors in the colon.

5. Mental Health Benefits: Coconut is rich in inositol. According to WebMD, this may help balance certain chemicals in the body to possibly help with conditions such as panic disorder, depression, and obsessive-compulsive disorder.

But, there are downsides to Coconut Aminos and both of them give a lot of folks pause — the price and the scarcity, they can be hard to hunt down.

A small 8 ounce bottle can cost anywhere from $5 to $10 online or at the local health food store; it's not cheap to get your faux soy sauce on!

That is till I found Coconut Aminos and Trader Joe's! For just $2.99 a bottle, these loveables taste just the same as the aforementioned Coconut Aminos, so you can imagine the happy dance that ensued once I discovered them sitting on my local TJ's shelf.

(Those poor customers in the store that day...they had to see that! :-O)

Anyway, when I find something great, you know I love to share it. And this discovery is way up there in the Land of Great!

Here's a fabulous recipe from Dinner Answers that will introduce you to this wonderful flavor!

Pan Seared Salmon with Coconut-Herb Greens

Serves 4
Ingredients:
-1 cup canned full fat coconut milk
-1 large lime, juiced
-4 teaspoons fresh grated ginger

-3 cloves garlic, minced and divided
-1 teaspoon minced jalapeno
-4 tablespoons fresh chopped cilantro, divided
-4 tablespoons fresh chopped chives, divided
-3 tablespoons coconut oil, divided
-8 (4-6 oz) wild salmon filets, (4 filets will be for another meal)
-1 large tub super greens
-sea salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Instructions:
In a medium sauce pan, stir together the first 3 ingredients along with 2 gloves garlic, coconut aminos, jalapeno, 1/2 the cilantro and 1/2 the chives, over medium heat. Bring to a low simmer for 2-3 minutes then remove from the heat and set aside.
In a large skillet, heat 2 tablespoons of the coconut oil over medium-high heat. Cook the salmon, skin side down for 2-3 minutes per side, or until each side has a nice seared crust and is cooked through to the desired doneness. Remove the salmon from the skillet and place half into an airtight container and store in the refrigerator for later use.
In a separate skillet, heat the remaining coconut oil and add the spinach and remaining garlic, salt and pepper to the skillet with the remaining ghee. Cook until the greens wilt, about 2-3 minutes.
On 4 serving plates, place some wilted greens, a piece of salmon and then pour over some of the coconut-herb sauce to serve.

UP Paper

Dannberg says the mill gladly accepts local donations submitted to Zellar Sanitation.

"It takes too much time to sort it out for us," he explained. "We have certain rules and regulations to follow ... We want to focus on operating and running the paper machine as efficient as possible - we are not going to sort wastepaper."

Once wastepaper is donated to Zellar Sanitation, it is sorted and taken to UP Paper.

Currently, the mill is averaging more than 300 tons of paper per day - operating 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Mill shut downs are sporadic.

"We should produce 10,000 tons a month ... 10,000 tons is our target," Dannberg said.

Approximately 86 people are currently employed at the mill. Dannberg said this number will likely increase to around 90-95.

As far as short term goals for the mill, Dannberg noted that UP Paper has only been operational for one year, but has accomplished much in this year.

"We have over 65 customers," he said. "We have all the permits and quality assurance that we need, we have an upgraded paper machine ... now the focus is on maintaining it and making sure that we can produce this 10,000 tons."

For long term goals, Dannberg said not much is known, other than they may look for additional investments.

"I am excited that we have a five-member board right now," he said. "It's looking good, so I am happy."

(including the AP (Advanced Placement) offerings and dual enrollment) that prepares the students for post-secondary opportunities," she explained. "A strong foundation, at home and at school, gives students the confidence that they need to be successful after high school. Parents don't give them-selfs enough credit as to the influence they have on their kids. Supportive parents are very important in producing successful students."

In addition to the existing stronghold for students, Boddy said increased focus in recent years on career and technical education has boosted the district.

"I also think that building our Career and Technical Education programming has been a positive thing," she noted. "These programs have opened kids' eyes to a whole new world of options for post-secondary training in one or two-year college programs."

Last Friday, 75 students in the MHS 2017 graduating class earned their diplomas. Nine graduated from the Jack Reque Alternative High School. Boddy said the data from this round of graduation will likely be available next year after January, when final enrollment numbers are calculated.

Food waste and schedule meals or use a paper list, meal planning can help cut down on waste as well. But even with great intentions sometimes things get forgotten, or meals get pushed off until it's almost too late.

You can save vegetables from the trash by roasting them, making soup or turning them into a casserole. Carrots, potatoes and other root veggies (plus zucchini) can be grated and fried to make fritters. You could bake fruits into breads, throw them into smoothies or freeze them for later. In the end, the goal is to use everything you buy.

Bottom line: Food waste could be draining your wallet, hurting the environment and in some cases, may be completely unnecessary. Learning to correctly interpret food labels and performing a sight and smell test before throwing something away could help. Taking the time to prepare before you shop, having a plan for how you're going to use the food you buy and being okay with a last-minute backup plan can help even more. In the end, taking the extra time to evaluate the true condition of your food can save you money.

Free Fishing Weekend June 10-11

LANSING — Grab a fishing rod and enjoy some of the finest fishing Michigan has to offer during the 2017 Summer Free Fishing Weekend, June 10-11. That Saturday and Sunday, everyone—residents and non-residents alike—can fish without a license, though all other fishing regulations still apply.

Additionally, during #MiFreeFishingWeekend the DNR will waive the regular Recreation Passport entry fee for vehicle access to Michigan's 103 state parks and recreation areas. Several of these locations will host official 2017 Summer Free Fishing Weekend events perfect for the whole family.

Michigan celebrated summer's #MiFreeFishingWeekend every year since 1986 as a way to promote awareness of the state's vast aquatic resources. With more than 3,000 miles of Great Lakes shoreline, tens of thousands of miles of rivers and streams and 11,000 inland lakes — Michigan and fishing are a perfect match.

"Being outdoors and enjoying Michigan's world-class fisheries never gets old," said Jim Dexter, DNR Fisheries Division chief. "We encourage avid anglers to consider inviting a new angler out for this year's Summer Free Fishing Weekend to show them how simple and fun it can be."

Official summer #MiFreeFishingWeekend activities are being scheduled in communities across the state to assist with public participation. These activities are coordinated by a variety of organizations including constituent groups, schools, local and state parks, businesses and others. A full list of these events can be found online at michigan.gov/freefishing.

Last Thursday was a day to celebrate for the Emerald girls' golf team, as they claimed the 2017 Mid Peninsula Conference Championship at Indian Lake Golf Club. It was, in essence, a "three-peat" for the team — the Emeralds have claimed the title for 2015, 2016, and now 2017. From left are: Megan Annelin, Sydnee MacPhail, Brooke Whiskin, Megan Boyd, Abbi Popour, and Coach Deb Taylor

GIRLS REPEAT AS MID-PEN CHAMPIONS

MANISTIQUE — In front of a home crowd and saving some of their best play under the stretch, the Manistique Emerald girls' golf team captured the Mid-Peninsula Conference Golf championship by an impressive 24-stroke margin last Thursday.

More impressive than the victory is that the win is the girls' third consecutive conference championship under the direction of Coach Deb Taylor.

Setting the pace for the championship run, Abbie Popour finished the tournament runner-up with a 105. Westwood's Lauren Farley medaled in the match with a 98.

While Popour stole the show for Manistique, it was the consistent play by the Emerald girls that sealed the win.

With all five golfers finishing in the top 10, Manistique's Sydnee MacPhail cracked the top five. Coming off an opening round 61 she caught fire on the back nine, turning in a 54.

In third place with a 54 following the turn, Brooke Whiskin held on to a sixth place finish, shooting a 61 on the back nine.

On her heels, Megan Boyd (59-60) and Megan Annelin (60-59) each shot a 119 to capture seventh and eighth place, respectively. Tied for total score only, Annelin's card counted toward the team totals.

Team scores: Manistique 454, Westwood 478, Iron Mountain 499, Ishpeming 514, Norway 569, Negaunee 629.

The Negaunee Miners won the boys' championship with a team score of 330. Westwood came in second with a 380, Manistique 402, Iron Mountain 405.

With a round of 94, Curtis Byrns (45-49) was the lone Emerald to crack the top 10, finishing in eighth place.

Other Emeralds scores: Louis Berry (44-54), Whiskin (51-55) McKinney (51-54), Alex Oas (47-59).

Anglers asked to report marked, tagged fish

LANSING — The Michigan Department of Natural Resources again this year is encouraging Great Lakes anglers who catch marked and tagged fish to report them. The DNR has used the coded-wire tag program to mass mark various fish species in Michigan since the 1980s. Mass marking provides critical data as fisheries biologists look to determine the value of naturally reproduced fish versus stocked fish, and lakewide movement of fish.

The coded-wire tag program involves implanting a small, coded-wire tag, which is invisible to the naked eye, into the snout of a fish. A fish containing a coded-wire tag can be identified because its adipose fin (the small, fleshy fin between the dorsal and tail fins) has been removed. An angler who catch a tagged fish then can record needed information about the fish, remove and freeze the fish's snout, and drop it off at a designated location. A statewide list of dropoff locations can be found on the DNR website.

For years the DNR primarily tagged Chinook salmon and lake trout as part of its mass marking effort in Lake Huron. Tagging these fish has helped biologists understand more about lakewide natural reproduction and how many wild fish are available in the Great Lakes. It also has helped determine if the percentage of wild fish varies from year to year and how fish stocking locations contribute to lake and river fisheries. Additionally, it provides insight into fish movement and where fish are stocked compared to where they are caught. Because of the value of information the mass marking effort brings, the DNR, in conjunction with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, has continued to coded-wire tag all lake trout Chinook and Atlantic salmon stocked into lakes Huron on Michigan, as well as a subsample of rainbow trout (steelhead) from the Au Sable River. NEWS FROM MAS

BY MARYANN BODDY

With the school year winding down this will be the last submission for the 2016-2017 school year. However, as we head into the summer months there are several things that you need to be aware of. MAS in partnership with Schoolcraft County 4-H will be hosting a summer activity program for students in grades 6-12. The Student Activity Program will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays, June 13 through August 3, from 10 a.m.-noon. Activities will be organized and supervised by MAS coaches and 4-H volunteers. The program is free and transportation is available upon request at pre-determined pick up sites. For more information, stop by the Superintendent's Office or the 4-H Office.

Both Emerald Elementary and the middle/high School will be undergoing summer construction funded through the voter supported sinking fund millage. At the middle/high school the four public restrooms on the main floor will be completely remodeled and updated with new plumbing, fixtures, lighting and flooring. At Emerald Elementary the main parking lot will be reconfigured with a new one way driveway, student drop off location, parking lot and lighting. Both projects are expected to run through the summer with a target completion date of Aug. 23. Summer school programming for middle and high school students will begin on June 12 and run through July 21. Summer school classes are an opportunity for students who have failed classes to participate in credit recovery options. For information on summer school opportunities for Middle and High School students contact Mr. Shiner at (906) 341-4300. Summer school programming for Emerald Elementary students will be held August 14 - 25 (M-F) from 8-11 a.m. for students entering grades 1-5. Summer school is a great opportunity to get geared up for the new school year. In an attempt to make summer school accessible to all MAS students, transportation will be available upon request. Please contact the school office to make arrangements. Beginning June 12, all MAS offices will be operating on a four-day work week. Offices hours in all buildings will be 6:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday-Thursday. The Emerald Elementary Office will be closed from June 23-Aug. 7. The middle/high school office will be closed from June 30-Aug. 7. The District Business Office will be on the Monday-Thursday schedule throughout the summer. Regular office hours will resume in all three offices on Aug. 7. Any questions during the building closures should be directed to the District Business Office at 100 N Cedar St. or by calling 341-4300. Families who are interested in attending Manistique Arc Schools to take advantage of expanded Career and Technical Education options - including Timber Harvesting Equipment Operator class, dual enrollment AP offerings, band, and other new classes like computer programming through the "School of Choice" option will need to complete the School of Choice application and registration packet prior to Sept. 8. Information regarding the start of the 2017-18 school year will be available in August online at www.manistiqueschools.org, via Twitter at @EmeraldShine or @boddymaryann and in the Pioneer Tribune.

If you have questions on any school topic please call (906) 341-4300. Have a safe, relaxing and enjoyable summer.

FISH REPORT

BY RET. SGT. JOHN WALKER

Well, I have to admit the weather around where I have been is a wee bit warmer than it has been up in Manistique. When you have been in our weather back home where it is in the 40s and 50s and all of a sudden it is up around the 90s it kind of takes your breath away. Wife and I are what you would call happy medium weather people if we had a choice. One other thing you soon realize is there cannot be much as any carbon build up in vehicle engines the way people drive down in Florida. Of course the lack of carbon build up is replaced by the brake dust build up as they use the brakes way harder than a Yooper would. It goes something like this, foot it-brake it hard, then floor it only to brake it hard again. It is how they seem to drive which is something we will never get used to. Having just spent time with family during the Memorial Day weekend it sure makes one realize how blessed he was with the family he had growing up. I would have to say I sure was fortunate with the mom, dad and the siblings I grew up with. Then even after all those great years I came across Wife down in the Ozarks to just continue the good life. The following poem speaks of my feelings of what my dad gave to me and hopefully I passed it on. The Bridge Builder. By Will Allen Dromgoole. An old man going a lone highway. Came, at the evening cold and gray, to a chasm vast and deep and wide. Through which was flowing a sullen tide The old man crossed in the twilight dim. The sullen stream had no fear for him; But he turned when safe on the other side And built a bridge to span the tide. "Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near. "You are wasting your strength with building here; your journey will end with the ending day, you never again will pass this way." You've crossed the chasm, deep and wide, why build this bridge at evening tide?" The builder lifted his old gray head; "Good friend, in the path I have come," he said, "There followed after me to-day a youth whose feet must pass this way. This chasm that has been as naught to me today is a pitfall be; He, too, must cross in the twilight dim; Good friend, I am building this bridge for him!" My dad was everything a dad should be without all the book learning that is so prevalent today. In looking back I guess mom and dad just raised us as their hearts told them to and it seemed to work out great for all of us. I am so thankful. You add on top of this fact that I grew up around all the men returning from war and later was in the service during the Vietnam War. This old fossil will always have that special feeling for those that served and very little use for those that don't respect them for their service. When I see a person in one of the uniforms of those that served or are serving I will always give them the respect they have coming to them. I have always felt that the following poem tells the heart of a lot of those that serve. They did it for family, friends, and our nation. Lord God, I have never spoken to you, but now I want to say how do you do? You see God they told me you didn't exist, and like a fool I believed all this. Last night from a shell hole I saw your sky, I figured right then they had told me a lie. Had I taken time to see the things you made, I would have known they weren't calling a spade a spade. I wonder God if you'll take my hand, somehow I feel that you'll understand. Funny how I had to come to this hellish place, before I had time to see your face. I guess there really isn't much more to say, but

I'm sure glad God that I met you today. I guess zero hour will soon be here, but I'm not afraid since I know you're near. The signal, well God I'll have to go, I like you lots, I want you to know. Look now this will be a horrible fight, who knows I may come to your house tonight. Though I wasn't friendly to you before, I wonder God if you'll wait at your door. Look I'm crying, I'm shedding tears, I'll have to go now, God, goodbye. Life is really good even with all the peaks and valleys we sometimes have to travel through so just take a minute and recall how good it has been and the reason why as these two poems remind us.
