Proposals

Schoolcraft County Medical Care Millage Renewal

Care Millage Renewal
Shall the limitation of the amount of property taxes that may be assessed each year against all taxable real and personal property in Schoolcraft County be continued up to a maximum of 1.5 mills ($1.5 per $1.000 of taxable value) for a period of five years, 2018 through 2022, inclusive to provide funds for operation and maintenance of the Schoolcraft County Medical Care Facility and shall Schoolcraft County levy the millage for this purpose thereby raising an estimated $539.286 in the first year of the levy? This proposed millage is a renewal of a previously approved millage.

Schoolcraft Conservation District Millage Proposal

Shall the limitation of the amount of taxes which may be imposed on taxable property in the county of Schoolcraft, Michigan, be re-established at the rate of .22 mills (22 cents per $1,000 of taxable value) for a period of 10 years, 2018 to 2027 inclusive, to provide funding for conservation, forestry and education purposes by the Schoolcraft Conservation District. It is estimated that the proposal, if approved by the voters, would raise approximately $78,240 when first levied in 2018.

Care Facility, we are writing to thank the community for its sup-port of the facility, and also pro-vide information about the vital role the millage plays in making the medical care facility a place of healing and comforting care to the facility's residents and their family members.

This year, Schoolcraft Medical Care Facility celebrated providing 50 years services to residents of Schoolcraft County. Over these years, the facility, which is the only skilled nursing facility within 50 miles of Manistique, has provided high quality care to thou-sands of residents regardless of heir ability to pay.

As a result, the community's support by funding the millage is a critical part of the facility's bud-

Made possible in no small part to the generosity of the residents in Schoolcraft County, we would also like to highlight some of the outstanding accomplishments of the facility and its dedicated staff, most of whom live in the Manis-tique area. Most notably, the med-ical care facility has achieved the highest possible five-star overall rating from the Centers for Medi care and Medicaid Services.

The high quality of care provided to residents is not only reflected in government inspections, but also in the feedback from respons also in the feedback from responses provided by the facility's residents and their family members on a recent June 2018 survey. In this survey, 98 percent of respondents stated the care (concern) of the staff was excellent or good, and 100 percent of people responding felt the staff was respectful, and the facility was a safe place to live.

These are outstanding numbers and put Schoolcraft Medical Care Facility far above many other nursing facilities in its peer group.

However, to us who know the medical care facility well, these results are no surprise. We are proud of, and grateful for, the dedication of the staff, who make Schoolcraft Medicare Care Facility a great place for rehabilitative care, or to live, and we appreciate the continued support of the community that makes the facility possible.

Sincerely Sincerely Jacquie Heath, Charles Richey, and Keith Aldrich

Vote No On Soil Conservation District Millage

Vote No On Soil Conservation District Millage

This is in regards to the upcoming millage request for the Schoolcrafl Soil Conservation District. The District currently gets a millage that generates roughly $20,000 per year and is requesting an increase millage that will raise local taxes and generate roughly $80,000 per year. I am opposed to this increase. The Soil District has a history of mismanagement and the current services are either not essential or paid for by other programs. The requested millage increase has been voted down before, this attempt was deliberately scheduled for an August vote to IV and slip it in.

The ads run by the District are misleading. The Soil Erosion program is funded by less generated in the permit process. The District changed the procedure and it now loses money when it made the District money in the past. What the District wants, that hey do not say, is to hire their own forester. Landowners in Schoolcraft County curently receive free forestryhyldidife services from a state grant provided by the neighboring County Soil District. Their forester covers Schoolcraft County for free, why should Schoolcraft County residents raise heir taxes to pay for a currently free service?

Wildlife grants are available to private clizizens and organizations. The Schoolcraft Soil District applied for a wildlife grant last year and received it. They had failed to make arrangements with the state or Forest Service for a place to plant.
This was a matching grant and the District lost money they really could not afford.
Also in the past they did not pay their Michigam employment taxes. The District was in default on the tax payments to the State of Michigan. This is gross msmanagement.
The annual three sale barely breaks even when it is billed as a morey maker. The fliers announcing the sale are sent out tate, orders mishandled, and the trees are mishandled so they are of poor quality. This is interesting as neighboring Soil Districts all make huge money on their annual tree sale.

The Mic their advertising?

These are examples of the mismanagement at the Schoolcraft Soil District. The services they offer are either not essential and/or duplicated by free services from other agencies. I am asking Schoolcraft residents to again turn this millage down and keep their money in their own pockets. Some Michigan Counties have disbanded their soil if money in their own possion.

County/EDC conflict

mission meeting last Thursday. The letter, from the Foster, Swift, Collins, and Smith, P.C., indicated, in part, the county's concern that the EDC is operating outside the scope of its statutory author-ity and impermissibly blending its operations with those of a private corporation; making expenditures not authorized by statute; and has failed to provide reports, including annual audits, required by state law and its own articles of incorpora-

It's been more than a year since the functions, and most of the members, of the Manistique Merchants Association, Schoolcraft County Chamber of Commerce, and Schoolcraft County Economic Development Corporation were moved under the umbrella of the Schoolcraft Tourism and Commerce group. EDC Director Alan Barr also serves as the director and CEO of STC - a merger group he first pitched to the county board in late 2016.

By March of 2017, the STC group had fully formed, creating new bylaws, a board of directors, committees, and exploring the pos sible dissolution of the EDC. The group hoped to better serve the area by combining the administrative duties, expenses, and operations of multiple organizations in order to reduce an overlap in services

During Thursday's county board meeting, Commissioner Craig Reiter, who also serves as a member of the EDC board, introduced a letter that had been drafted by the county's law firm.

"Recently, I had submitted a FOIA (Freedom of Information Act) request for more information from the EDC/STC group and, from what we got back, there was some things of concern," he said. "Larry (Mersnick, board chairperson) and I met with our prosecuting attorney (Tim Noble) and he wen through it and he also mentioned there was some things of concern and recommended, because corpo-rate law is not his specialty, that we seek counsel with our law firm.

Following that meeting, Reiter said he, Mersnick, and Noble participated in a conference call with Michael D. Homier, of Foster, Swift, Collins, and Smith, P.C.

'From all that, and all the infor mation that we had sent on, the law firm has put together a letter that he (Homier) is recommending we give to all the EDC board mem-bers," Reiter explained. "First of all, I'd like to say the group has been doing an excellent job ... I have no qualms in all of that. What we've run into is our corporation Schoolcraft County EDC ... can not be melded with a non-profit group. It does not fall within the

He went on to say that the letter basically explaining this to the EDC board

"It goes through and explains why they're bringing up what they are, what all the laws are, what the laws of EDC are, and asking the board members to basically choose between one or the other (EDC or STC board) – because we're going to have to separate the two."

Reiter made a motion to send the letter to all the EDC board members Commissioner Allan Ott seconded the motion.

Chairperson Larry Mersnick, also an EDC board member, noted that the county board is "obligated to follow the rules."

"The rules were unclear, so we sought legal advice on it," he said.
"The legal advice told us that they can't be entities unto themselves. They have to be entities separate from themselves. So that's why I requested that Commissioner Reiter send this letter to each and every one of the present board members of the EDC. To give them an educational standpoint of view of why we're making this deci-

Mersnick went on to say that the EDC is an "intricate" part of the community.

"I believe in EDC and I feel slighted in regards to the fact that we haven't been there the way we need to be for EDC," he said, noting that the county hasn't financially contributed to the corporation as it has in the past. been in a financial situation where we haven't been able to support the EDC as much as we'd like to."

Mersnick encouraged the EDC board members to contact him or Reiter with any questions.

"Rather than take action that, not only I would regret, but this board may regret moving forward, I just want to put, basically, all the cards on the table. Let everybody know where we stand in regards to the interpretation of it (the letter) and then, hopefully, all of us together can come up with ... a denominator that we can all agree on," he said, adding that the county can look to other counties for examples on how to handle groups like the EDC and STC. "We're looking to make it work – looking for a way to try to keep EDC ... and how to Mersnick concluded by saying the letter is only meant for fication" and that the EDC or STC board members need to choose one board on which to serve.

Commissioner Dan Hoholik expressed concern about the letter.

"I don't agree with some of the demands in the letter and I don't demands in the letter and I don't really like the approach," he said. The board voted to approve sending the letter to the EDC board members, with Reiter, Ott, and Mersnick votting "yes" and Hoholik votting "no". The motion passed. Commissioner Chris Rantanen was absent

Following the vote, during the public comment portion of the meeting, Robert Crumb, EDC board member, spoke against the ction taken by commissioners

"I don't know what that letter has to say, and, to me, it doesn't mat-ter," he said. "This is probably the most difficult market interaction that I've ever seen between busi-ness and government of any place I've ever worked or lived. So, you don't have to send me a letter resign today.

Jennifer Watson, also an EDC board member, spoke next.

"I find it unbelievable that no one came to us to discuss this," she said. "Commissioner Reiter paid our annual dues to the chamber (of commerce) to help us merge these organizations, and, in the end, we have been operating two separate organizations to please the county and the local EDC.

This is unbelievable," she continued. "We work for the people. Shouldn't you at least be speaking to the people before you call the prosecuting attorney ... we're not fortunate enough to have an attorney at our fingertips — you've seen the financials — we don't have the money, because we need to pay for audits that are prior to our (the current board's) service.

Watson concluded by stating that she also resigns from the EDC board. Following her comments, EDC board members Amy Braun, Eric Sherbinow, and Bonnie Garvin stood and submitted their resignations.

EDC board member Kevin Knaffla also stood to submit his resignation and commented about his disappointment with commissioners. "I really am confused on why the county doesn't want to work with the economic group and the STC group," he said. "Craig (Reiter) was involved in the solutions ... my thought was that we were go-ing to do a letter of understanding with the county so the STC could do the EDC work ... it was your idea, actually, Craig, to have the nonprofit group and separate it. So this was all your idea and now, instead of supporting us, you're not. I don't understand what the change

It's unfortunate that the county wasn't able to ... support the EDC (financially) over the years, and now we have the opportunity to grow it again," Knaffla continued. "It just feels like the ... business community and the government agencies don't want to work together. I don't understand that

The remainder of the EDC board members submitted their resignations, with the exception of Reiter and Mersnick, following Thursday's meeting.

Following Thursday's meeting,
Commissioner Chris Rantanen released a statement addressing the board's decision.

"I am disappointed, angry, and embarrassed by what transpired at the meeting on Thursday night. I feel the way Commissioner Reiter elected to ignore his other board members and handle the situation his way was very disrespectful to the STC board members and his fellow commissioners," she said. "These board members are respect-"These board members are respect-able members of the community who donate their time, they de-served better treatment than what they received. I have no doubt a mutual agreement between both parties would have been better for all involved."

all involved." Barr also commented following the meeting, noting, "It is unfortu-nate that the county did not come to the EDC Board and staff and collaboratively work out any is-sues they had."

Additionally, those EDC board members who submitted resigna-tions (Jennifer Walson, Robert Crumb, Maryann Boddy, Amy Braun, Magan Peterson, Bonnie Garvin, Eric Sherbinow, Kevin Knaffla, Paul Stoll Jr., David Muxlow, Renac Kennedy, Don Erickson, and Scott Chartier) sub-

"At the July 26, 2018 meeting of the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners, Craig Reiter, Schoolcraft County commissioner, offered a motion in which he referenced a letter he initiated that had been emailed to all commis-sioners," the statement read. "Mr. Reiter, who serves in roles as a Schoolcraft County Commissioner, a Schoolcraft County Economic Development Corporation Board Member and as a board member of the Schoolcraft Tourism and Commerce governing body, had filed a FOIA request on the EDC board for which he is the longest board for which he is the longest serving current member. The re-quest was essentially for docu-ments already in his possession. Subsequently, a letter alleging impermissible activities by the EDC was drafted by Mike Homier Foster Swift Collins and Smith PC, a law firm located in lower Michigan," the statement contin-ues. "In that county board meeting, Craig Reiter raised a motion, which was seconded by Alan Ott, to send the letter to all Schoolcraft County EDC Board members. The letter alleges the EDC board of 'Failure to File Reports', namely railire to File Reports, namely audits dating back to 2015. The letter also alleges an 'impressible blending' of operations between the EDC and the Schoolcraft Tourism and Commerce group, a 501c3 non-profit. However, nei-ther of the county board members on the EDC Board (Alan Ott and on the EDC Board (Aran Oc. Craig Reiter) had raised these concerns at any time in the past, much less made any effort to engage in any dialogue prior to the issuance of the letter.

Further, both were aware of all the activities of the relevant organizations that lead up to this. The county clerk called for a vote, which passed three to one. immediately thereafter, the entire board of the EDC resigned except board of the EDC resigned except for Craig Reiter and Alan Ott. It should be noted that EDC board members who resigned do not agree with the assumptions and conclusions in the Foster Swift let-

More importantly, most of the current EDC board was appointed in mid- to late 2016 through 2017 (after the period when the EDC failed to leave advants reported failed to keep adequate records and failed to file its 2014 and 2015 audits) and have since attempted to revitalize the EDC, recover its fi-nancial records, create a financial accounting system, and find ways to fund the EDC since neither the city or the county would do so.

The EDC board is comprised of a 15-member, all volunteer board, made up of civic and business leaders from our community and two current county board commis sioners, Craig Reiter and Alan Ott.

The current board chair, along with the CEO, have been working with Anderson Tackman dating back almost two years trying to complete the 2014 audit with the limited financial records available This is from a time when none of the current or recent board members were on the board other than Mr. Reiter. Completing that 2014 audit was a monumental task beaudit was a monumental task be-cause of inadequate records, but the 2014 EDC Audit was finally provided by Anderson Tackman on Dec. 27, 2017 to the EDC board chair and the CEO. It was subsequently filed with the state of Michigan and provided to the county.

Since then, the EDC has been working diligently to obtain quotes from other auditors for the 2015-17 audits after Anderson Tackman de-clined providing a quote to do so. Recently, the EDC received confirmation from another firm that they would complete the audits That auditor has been provided all the financial information and will begin the audits in October 2018. The CEO of the EDC has been in regular contact with the state of Michigan to keep them abreast of the situation and even discussed the state coming in to provide the au-dits. State officials were surprised that EDC's audit was not done as a routine part of the county's audit That was never an option provi to the current EDC board by county

It should also be noted that this 2014 audit highlights material and significant deficiencies in the organization in 2014 stating 'ma-terial audit adjustments were nec-essary to properly record revenues and expenses' and 'management was unable to produce financial statements and the required disclosures in accordance with accounting principles. This was a regular concern that was highlighted in the audits prior to 2014, too. This is all during a time when the hoard was comprised mostly of Schoolcraft County and city of Manistique officials. This is what we, the current board inherited - an organization with no internal financial controls, no financial statements, and delin-quent audits. Cleaning up these is-sues has been a long and tedious process which is obviously not yet complete. It is now unclear what will be the status of this effort, to restore financial integrity and func-tion to the EDC, and who will fund the EDC in the future.

The letter from Foster Swift also alleges that the board spent funds on a drive-in movie, as well as 'Business after Hours' events to promote networking and opportunities among the businesses. Mr. Reiter and Mr. Ott are well aware of the fact that these events were sponsored and fully funded by local businesses. These were at no cost to the EDC, Schoolcraft County or its taxpayers: Further, the Foster Swift letter states that 'the county asserts that the EDC must be operated sepa-rately from a nonprofit corporation

(the STC) and that the EDC ac tivities be limited to projects that are authorized by statute.' This was already being done by utilizing two separate organizations

Since the city and county ceased funding the EDC for years and it was virtually defunct in 2015, the STC-EDC arrangement was essentially created to carry out many of the functions of the EDC (repre the functions of the EDC (representing the interests of the community and its businesses) by funding its efforts from the private sector without any cost to the taxpayers. It is now unclear who will fund the to snow uncrear who will fund the EDC unless they shift the burden to the taxpayers through govern-ment expenditures. Additionally, Foster Swift letter states that the EDC must maintain board members different than those of the STC, implying that these volunteers cannot serve on two boards simultaneously. Ironically enough, as of July 27, 2018 the Schoolcraft County Economic Development Board of Directors consists of only Alan Ott and Craig Reiter, both serving roles as county commissioners, STC board members, and EDC board members.

We resigned because we are frustrated and baffled as to why frustrated and battled as to why our effort to clean up the EDC and re-energize its charge, of which both county board members on our board were well aware, now follows with this disproportionate attack undermining of our efare attack the thinning of your circles, "Although this should be a concern for the entire community, this is particularly disconcerting to the many successful business and civic leaders on the EDC board who have worked so diligently and creatively to revitalize the EDC, the chamber of commerce and other organizations that serve our community's sustainability and development. The Friends of Indian Lake and Palms Book State Park committee recently purchased a shower tower and installed it next to the beach shelter at Indian Lake next to the beach shelter at Indian Lake State Park. The shower tower is for rinsing off after leaving the water. Rinsing and drying off after leaving the water will help prevent contracting swimmers' itch. All ages are encouraged to take advantage of the shower tower after leaving the water. The Friends committee also received a donation of a kayak rack to place kayaks on when not in use. Two more kayaks on when not in use. Two more kayaks uonation of a kayan tack to piace kayans on when not in use. Two more kayaks were also purchased by the committee and can be rented by visitions and campers at the campground. Above, although a bit chilly, two young campers from Gladstone knew the benefits of taking advantage of the shower tower.

Seeing our town has the privilege of having the replica of the Vietnam Walf once again I thought I would run this article by John Barbour of the AP that is in one of my books which I have permission to use

Ontonagon, MI (AP) This is a quiet town, never so busy you can't hear the call of the birds wheeling over the river, nor so empty you won't be rec-ognized as a stranger or friend along the seven blocks of downtown.

It is a town where children grow free to wonder woods and build campfires on the Lake Superior shore, where a school board member runs a pool room on River Street ber tuns a pool room on River Street as a leenage club, where the weekly newspaper prints personal notes of thanks on the front page, where people know each other's license plate and family, where winter draws people together, piles driftwood on the beach, and drives 200 inches of snow at the land, and yields slowly

Ontonagon is a quiet town, a long way from Vietnam

But on a cold night in April, Vietnam came to Ontonagon with brutal switness. A military car made two stops, a dutiful hand knocked softly on two doors. The words were brief, the facts few everybody, they were much more than names. They were a polite boy and a laughing child, an ambitious teenager and a good friend. They were intimate parts of people's lives: Emic, whose parents died in a plane crash when he was two, whose high spirts led him through the troubles of growing up to become a young man with drive and promise. Billy, whose father died when he was 15, whose quietness was a puzzle to some, and gentleness to others, whose first thought was always the welfare of a

Because Ontonagon is a long way from the center of dissent and dis sension, a long way from draft card burning and war protest, its feelings are never noted in headlines. But it is a town with a high sense of duty and pride. It measures its losses and it hurts personally

So it was when Ernie and Billy were killed, and the word brought to their homes with all reasonable human speed by a military messenger who is somehow forgotten.

From those two centers of grief and dismay, like ripples on a dark-ened pond, the shock spread through the town, from family to family, from the mill to Stubb's Bar, by telephone and hushed words of mouth, ending always in frustrated, unbelieving sigon High School, was on a week end gon right school, was on a week end pass. He was shot by a sniper. "My God," said one townswoman, "What kind of war is this? You can't tell your friends from your enemies." It was a week between the first word that Billy and Ernie had been killed. and the arrivals of their bodies in On-tonagon. In stunned silence of that week most of the town came to grips with the reality.

For many, it was a time to count ories, and a time for anger and worry.

A Mother who knew both boys found it hard to think about them with her own son waiting to be draft-ed. A mother with a boy already in Vietnam could no longer hide her personal terror. A usually quiet man where Billy worked broke into an unwhere Billy worked broke into an un-explainable meaningless fit of curs-ing one night in front of his friends. "Ontonagon only has 2,500 people, and it's lost three," Said Mrs. Irene Wolf, editor of the weekly Herald, We have a feeling it isn't over yet.

How it happened:
What the town didn't know, except for rumor, was how the boys had died. Considering the shock the town endured, perhaps it was just as well, because they had died as they lived. Their company was on patrol in the heavily forested area near CuChi, some 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

Fish Report

Ret. Sgt. John Walker

They came under heavy fire from Viet Cong guerrillas. One Sergeant saw three of the enemy running into the underbrush and gave chase. He didn't come back.

Sgt. Ernie Skinner started out to look for him. He moved barely 15 yards when a burst of enemy auto-matic weapon fire cut him down. Corp. Lundberg saw him hit, leaped from his position and firing his 25-pound M-60 machine gun as he charged, ran toward the enemy line. Another burst from the concealed enemy position hit him and he slumped emy position fit firm and he stumped to the ground. When the battle was over, they were found in the brush only a few feet apart. Lundberg was awarded the Silver Star, and Skinner the Bronze Star both postburguely.

Star, and Skinner the Bronze Star both posthumously.

The town wondered what fate had taken these two boys from them, two boys so unalike, who knew each other casually at home. What had brought them to Vietnam, and to the same company, and the same patrol, and the same moment of death, both victims of their own bravery and self-sacrifice.

My Thoughts

The complete article is in one of my books but I have always felt this article tells about the heart and soul of the U.P. and what makes it so

DNR offering reminders about upcoming hunting seasons

LANSING - The DNR is offer-ing important reminders for upcoming seasons.

Reserved waterfowl hunt appli-ations are available now through

To apply for reserved hunts on certain managed waterfowl areas, visit a license agent or michigan. gov/waterfowl. Applications are $5, and hunters may only apply once. Drawing results will be posted Sept. 17

Reserved hunts will be held both mornings and afternoons of the opening weekend (Oct. 13 and 14) of waterfowl hunting season at Fish Point State Wildlife Area, Harsens Island and Shiawassee River State Game Area

The maximum party size is four hunters. For morning hunts and the second-day hunts, successful applicants must have appropriate licenses and stamps and be accom-panied by one to three other ap-propriately licensed hunters. Youth have a special opportunity because the opening-day afternoon hunts are for those 16 and younger. Successful applicants for the opening-day afternoon hunts can have up to two adults who are 18 years of age or older with appropriate licenses.

For more information about waterfowl hunting, visit www.michi-gart.gov/waterfowl.

The antierless deer license ap-plication period runs through Aug.

Some areas of the state have a limited number of antlerless deer license applications available, making applying for that deer man-agement unit important for some.

It might be August but it's not too late!

With bird hunting season just around the corner, it's a great time to plan a fall hunting trip.

Michigan has millions of acres of huntable public land, with excel lent young forests that have made northern Michigan a destination for many.

GEMS and Mi-HUNT are two

DNR-developed programs to help build a public-land hunting itiner-

Nineteen GEMS (Grouse Enhanced Management Sites) in the northern Lower Peninsula and Upper Peninsula will be available to explore this fall. GEMS are large blocks of land managed for young forests, with winding hunter walking trails that provide added comfort to those unfamiliar with an area or those with mobility challenges.

Fall bird-hunting season is arriving soon

Private-land applications do require a landowner phone number, so have it ready!

Private-land applications are not needed for chronic wasting disease (CWD) areas, such as DMU 033, 041 and 062. These licenses will be available without application beginning Sept. 10 at 10 am. See antlerless deer license quotas for the complete list of CWD areas.

Young hunters, 16 and under, can buy antlerless deer licenses over the counter through Aug. 15.

Any leftover licenses that remain will go on sale Sept. 10 at 10 a.m.

For more details about antlerless deer hunting and to buy an application online, visit michigan.gov/deer.

To allow more time for public comment on CWD before regulations are finalized, the Natural Resources Commission is scheduled to finalize regulations in August. Updated early/late season antler-less maps will be posted after Aug.
