MDEQ rule could 'drastically' impact city

Expense of replacing lead-based service lines will now fall on city

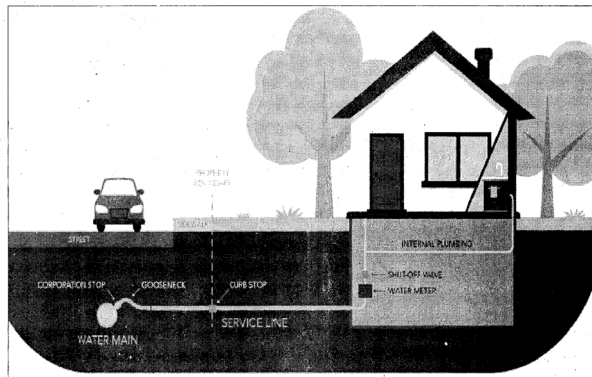

MANISTIQUE — A rule change by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality may have a significant impact on the city of Manistique. A section of the rule change, discussed during Monday's Manistique City Council meeting, will mandate the replacement of all lead-based service lines supplying water to houses.

According to the Michigan DEQ website, in 1974, the U.S. Congress passed the Safe Drinking Water Act, giving the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency responsibility for establishing and enforcing drinking water standards nationwide. The Michigan Safe Drinking Water Act, Public Act 399, was enacted in 1976 and enables the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to maintain direct control over the public drinking water program in the state.

The DEQ website states that, "as part of a larger statewide effort to reduce lead exposure, DEQ recently underwent rule promulgation efforts to update the Lead and Copper Rule provisions of the Michigan Safe Drinking Water Act."

"The purpose of the Lead and Copper Rule is to protect public health by minimizing lead and copper levels in drinking water, primarily by reducing corrosivity," the site states. "Lead and copper enter drinking water mainly from corrosion of lead and copper containing plumbing materials."

According to Manistique Water/Wastewater Superintendent Corey Barr, the rule changes are a result of the water crisis in Flint, Mich., which Barr noted was "human error" made by elected and non-lected officials.

Above, a graphic from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's Lead and Copper Rule change presentation shows the service line system for housing. Currently, a rule change stipulates that all lead service lines will need to be replaced from the water main to the house's supplies, at the city's expense. In the past, the water service line from the property boundary to the house was the homeowner's responsibility.

"The state of Michigan ... (is) passing new rules," he said. "These new rules are going to drastically affect us financially."

According to the draft rules "Department of Environmental Quality Drinking Water and Municipal Assistance Division Supplying Water", if a water supplier, such as the city of Manistique, controls the entire service line, it is responsible for replacing the entire service line that it owns.

"If the supply does not own the entire lead service line, the supply shall notify the owner of the line, or the owner's authorized agent, that the supply will replace the portion of the service line that it owns and shall offer to replace the owner's portion of the line at water supply (city's) expense," the rules state. "If the building owner does not consent, the supply shall not replace any portion of the service line, unless in conjunction with emergency repair."

The draft rules stipulate that the city would have to replace all lead service lines and galvanized service lines, if that service line was or is connected to lead piping.

"Beginning the year after the preliminary distribution system materials inventory is complete, service lines ... shall be replaced at a rate averaging 5 percent per year, not to exceed 20 years total for replacement of all service lines ... unless an alternate schedule in an asset management plan is approved by the department," the rules state.

Barr explained that from 1920-1940, most water service lines to houses were made with lead. He noted that when Manistique completes water-related projects, they have replaced all lead pipes up to where their right-of-way ends, which is on the side of the sidewalk closest to the street.

"That's where we can legally spend our money, according to the federal government," he said.

Barr explained that now, the state of Michigan wants the entire service line replaced.

"If it is lead and we expose it - we've always, for 35 years, have had a practice to remove it," he said. "We have special fittings ... and from the water main ... to

Daisies and Digs

Dear Editor,
We can agree?

I'm basically an Independent that leans toward Democrat. Even though we have different views, there are quite a few basic things that I believe we can agree on.

We stand for the Pledge and the National Anthem, we pay our taxes with grumbling, we join the military, and we would like it if others would try to understand why we believe what we believe. If we could be understood, our friends would find that we have lots in common in our vision for this country.

Big money is ruining politics because people with millions of dollars are influencing our elections. Do we really want someone elected because of rich donors?

We don't want a Congress that serves as an extension of the rich. Healthcare is so, so important to all of us so shouldn't all citizens have equal healthcare and education?

The stock market is up, businesses can't find workers. People who are willing to work should be paid a wage to support basic human needs — food, clothing, shelter.

We need a strong military but not at the expense of enriching weapon manufacturers. We should not promote war.

Many years ago, Congress voted for Social Security and Medicare which has served to insulate the elderly from poverty. These programs are paid for by taxes and don't impact the national debt.

However, our government hasn't been paying the interest on these holdings which they agreed to do!

We need a tax code for all Americans... not just the rich. Our defense, public safety, education, healthcare, and infrastructure are important to all of us.

What do you think? Aren't these values in common to all of us no matter if you are Independent, Democrat or Republican?

A new $250,000 medical-dental facility is being planned for a site at the corner of Steuben and Cherry Streets. Dr. Arthur J. Brown's bid of $7,384 to purchase the 289 by 369 foot plot from the city was accepted Monday night at the regular council meeting. Details of the planned complex are not complete, Dr. Brown said, but said he is hopeful construction can start next spring on the building to house from four to eight local physicians and dentists. The site is approximately 2 1/2 acres in size. Dr. Brown said more complete details on the project should be available in a month or two. His bid was the only one received on the property, which was advertised for sale last month. The sale is contingent on the land being rezoned to allow such a facility. Dr. Brown opened his dental practice here earlier this year and shares offices with Dr. Robert Hawn in the Pioneer Tribune building.

A request from a group of parents that a kindergarten class be held at Germfask, rather than bussing the youngsters to the Doyle School, was approved by the Manistique Area Schools board of education at their regular meeting Tuesday night. Seven youngsters are involved. Their parents had boycotted the suggested class at Doyle, pointing out in a letter to the board that the children would be away from home for approximately six hours, and would also have to eat lunch as early as 10:45 a.m. in order to have time to catch the ride that would take them to the school bus at Blaney. A non-certified teacher will be hired for the half-day sessions. Although there will be some penalty in state aid because the teacher is not certified, the board agreed it was better to offer the class than to bus the youngsters.

Local residents in the Gulliver area, as well as State Police officers, are on the lookout for a six month old bull calf, owned by Stanley Zellar of Gulliver, which has been missing since Aug. 31. Zellar discovered the calf missing when he heard the mother cow bawling and a check of the fencing showed the calf had not broken out. The missing bull is described as having a white face, tan body, of the Charlais breed, and weighed 550 pounds.

Contract disputes have closed the Manistique Area Schools as teachers and auxiliary staff members entered into the fourth day of a work stoppage. A strike was called by a union vote after a 13 hour session with a state mediator on Saturday failed to settle the dispute. According to Bob Kanerva, president of the teachers association, salaries, wages and benefits are the major obstacles in the settlement of the contract talks.

A lawyer, representing a group of five local doctors presented the Manistique City Council with a request for a property description of the Manistique Medical Dental Center which would enable them to apply for a low interest loan through the Economic Development corporation to purchase the center. The council's action will allow the four doctors to apply for a loan which is not to exceed $700,000 through the EDC to purchase the center. The center is currently owned by the Manistique Health Associates, Inc., which is made up of six stockholders: Vesta Fyvie (widow of Dr. James Fyvie), Dr. A.J. Brown, Dr. William Gillette, Dr. Larry Sell, Dr. Merle Wahner and Dr. Duane Waters. Recently five of the six stockholders sold their shares to John Georgi and John Southard, who are associates of a real estate company of Traverse City and Jackson, Waters said. Dr. Waters stated he did not sell his shares. He has joined the Manistique Medical Services, Inc. Manistique Medical Services, Inc. is made up of five doctors including Waters. Other members include Dr. Robert Urban, Dr. Jose Espinoza, Dr. Neil Grossnickle and Dr. Steven Woodworth. As a group they will apply for the loan to purchase the building.

The Schoolcraft County Economic Development Corp. Board of Directors received the organization's 1997 audit during its Tuesday, Sept. 15, meeting. Alan Stolz of Anderson Tackman and Co. accounting firm presented the audit and said the process went well. The audit showed a total of roughly $363,500 in net revenue for the EDC last year and $359,000 in expenses. These figures meant the EDC showed a net profit of $4,448 for 1997, Stolz said.

With approximately 190 Manistique-area residents ready to spend a day on Beaver Island Sunday, Sept. 20, many of those making the trip are wondering: what does the island have to offer? The island offers a wide variety of peaceful, natural settings and several quaint shops, restaurants and businesses, according to the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce and Schoolcraft County Chamber of Commerce Director Angie Clark.

Manistique used a strong opening drive, big plays by its defense and a long fourth-quarter touchdown run to produce a 28-8 win at Ishpeming Friday, Sept. 11. The Emeralds (1-1 overall and in Mid Peninsula Conference play) forced four Ishpeming turnovers and held the Hematites to 158 yards of offense to claim the victory.

The GFWC Manistique Women's Club had a busy summer, participating in and donating to various events and organizations. Above, some of the GFWC members are shown at Folk Fest. At right, GFWC brought some "wizardry" to the Independence Day parade.

GFWC Manistique has busy summer

MANISTIQUE – GFWC Manistique Women's Club may not have had any business meetings or programs this summer, but the ladies remained busy.

The "Emerald City" came alive during the Independence Day celebration with the characters from "The Wizard of Oz." GFWC members used the "discover" theme of the parade to emphasize the emerald city and to "discover" the GFWC Manistique Women's Club.

Members also provided lunch, for one week, to the art group that painted the "discover" mural.

During the Folk Fest, GFWC members again sold pies in support of the maintenance of the fountain at Triangle Park. They also sold used and refurbished jewelry and donated to Operation Smile, an international group that does operations for cleft palates.

GFWC Manistique Women's Club, in appreciation of area teachers, put together some "survival packets". The packets were delivered to the school on teacher orientation day.

Labor Day weekend brought the car show and again GFWC Manistique Women's Club had a presence with jewelry for Operation Smile.

They also sold "paw prints" in support of Canine Companions for Independence. GFWC Michigan and GFWC International has partnered with CCI to raise funds to assist with the training of specialty service dogs. For more information on this partnership, see CCI.org or gfwc.org (click "what we do" then click on "partnerships", and "Home Life").

The monthly Medicare birthday parties continued through the summer and so has the GFWC's community improvement project – the flower/tree planters downtown.

The group also has a Free Little Library near the new campground. More free Little Libraries are being installed at The Grind and Pioneer Park soon.

GFWC is seeking members and meets the second Tuesday of the month, Sept. through May, at 12 p.m. at the Comfort Inn in Manistique.

Grandparents Teach, Too

The Constitution and Bill of Rights are celebrated every year in September. Families actually can celebrate them throughout the year whenever rules come up in family discussions. There are checks and balances in families, too.

In clinical psychologist Jordan B. Peterson's best seller "12 Rules for Life, An Antidote to Chaos" he tackles the difficult concept of rules for children in chapter five. The title is Do Not Let Your Children Do Anything That Makes You Dislike Them.

Social Rules

According to Dr. Peterson children should be taught social rules by parents by about age four or their peers and other around them will do it for you by ignoring them, excluding them, taking away liberty, or bullying them. Your children will be ignored, pushed aside, and

Tips: Colorful vines for the fall garden

Create a colorful and fragrant fall finale in your garden with groundcovers and vines. Blanket the earth with hardy groundcovers that add seasonal interest. Then direct your eye skyward with vines climbing on trellises, fences and arbors.

Add a cloud of fragrant beauty with the white flowers of sweet autumn elematis. This vigorous vine quickly covers arbors and trellises, providing a colorful screen, vertical accent or backdrop for other plants. Double the impact and increase bloom time by combining it with a hardy rose or the annual hyacinth bean vine.

Enjoy the colorful fruit of the native American bittersweet on the vine or in fall decorations. A relatively new introduction Autumn Revolution™ is self-fertile. That means only one plant is needed to produce fruit. No more planting at least two, a male and female, plant to enjoy the colorful fruit display.

The fanciful leaves of hostas provide texture and beauty at ground level. Enjoy their lovely yellow fall foliage that echoes the yellow fall color of ginkgoes, witchhazel, birches, and many other trees and shrubs.

The subtle reddening of barrenwort's (Epimedium) heart shaped leaves add a delicate beauty to any shady spot. Watch the bold leaves of Bergenia transform from green to red. The large leaves persist through winter and combine nicely with early spring bulbs like the squirrel resistant Crocus tomasianus.

Add a splash of reddish purple to the fall landscape with perennial geranium. The lobed colorful leaves persist through mild winters, adding color to the winter and early spring garden.

Help the pollinators and enjoy some late season blooms with fall-flowering sedums. Autumn Joy has been a long time favorite, but Autumn Fire is an improvement with larger flowers and a longer bloom time. Mr. Goodbud is another upright sedum with purple stems and smoky green foliage, providing the perfect backdrop for the purple-pink flowers.

The fall color of others like the bronzy-gold foliage of orange stoncrop add a blast of color to the garden.

Include some evergreen groundcovers to brighten the often brown and gray winter landscape. European ginger, creeping phlox, candytuff (Iberis), creeping junipers, creeping mahonia, and many ferns are just a few to consider.

As always, make sure the groundcover and vine will thrive in the growing conditions. Start a list of colorful vines and groundcovers needed to set the fall landscape ablaze.

Limited Rules Dr. Peterson suggests limiting rules and figuring out what to do with the least force necessary...

Here are his rules: "Do not bite, kick or hit, except in self-defense. Do not torture and bully other

Be good company when something fun is happening, so that you're invited for fun. Act so that other people are happy you're around...

Life expectancy estimates available by neighborhood in Michigan, other states

LANSING, Mich. — Life expectancy estimates by Census tract nationally are now available for the first time, allowing public health officials in Michigan and other states to work to improve health outcomes by comparing data neighborhood-by-neighborhood.

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) plans to analyze the new data working in coordination with local health partners.

The life expectancy initiative is called the United States Small-Area Life Expectancy Estimates Project. It is a joint effort of the National Association for Public Health Statistics and Information Systems that serves as the national nonprofit organization representing the state vital records and public health statistics offices in the United States.

The U.S. Small-Area Life Expectancy Estimates Project has been working with MDHHS and other states in the months leading up to the public release of the data today. "These Census tract-level life expectancy estimates — based on state death records and population estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau — have previously been unavailable nationwide.

With this kind of information, community leaders can examine the factors that may be influencing differences in longevity — such as access to health care, safe and affordable housing, educational opportunities, and other factors that impact the health of community members — and target solutions more effectively.

"Every day MDHHS works to protect, preserve and promote the health and safety of the people of Michigan," said Dr. Eden Wells, MDHHS chief medical executive. "This new data is exciting because it gives us a greater opportunity to better address barriers to healthier and longer lives for Michigan residents. We look forward to working with our local health department partners and others to take positive action based on thorough analysis of this new information now available at the neighborhood level."

Although county-, city-, and ZIP code-level data have provided similar information, they often don't tell the full story as neighborhoods right next to each other — located within the same ZIP code, city, or county — can provide drastically different opportunities for health and well-being.

These estimates can vary simply due to random variation or data errors. Census tracts cover an average of 4,000 people who typically have similar characteristics, such as social and economic status.

For more information on the U.S. Small-Area Life Expectancy Estimates Project and to access life expectancy estimates by neighborhood, visit www.naphis.org/us-aleep.

Fall prevention series 'Matter of Balance' begins at tribal center Sept. 21

MANISTIQUE – Michigan State University Extension and Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians Elder Division are collaborating to offer a free series entitled "Matter of Balance" at the Manistique Tribal Center. The series will take place in the main dining hall starting Sept. 21.

The eight-session series will then continue for seven consecutive Fridays from 1-3 p.m. Oct. 5-Nov. 16. There will not be any class Sept. 28.

The series is open to tribal and non-tribal participants and is intended for those who have fallen in the past, are concerned about falling, or have restricted activity due to fear of falling. Those interested in learning how to improve balance, flexibility, and strength are also encouraged to attend.

The series is designed to help people to maintain and increase a sense of balance. Many older adults experience concerns about falling and restrict their activities. A Matter of Balance is an award-winning program designed to manage falls and increase activity levels. Participants will learn to:

- View falls as controllable
- Set goals for increasing physical activity
- Make changes to reduce fall risks at home
- Exercise to increase strength and balance

Winter is right around the corner. Participation in this series can help start or maintain a physical activity routine to help improve and maintain a sense of balance and well-being.

For more information or to register, contact Tracie Abram, Michigan State University Extension educator, at (906) 235-2985.

MDEQ change

the right-of-way, we've always taken all of the lead out and put copper in its place.

Now they're (the state) saying that that's not legal," Barr continued. "You can't do a partial lead service line replacement. You have to chase it all the way to inside the house – which means we're crossing the right-of-way line, which means we're on private property without an (utility) easement ... Yet the state's saying that we have to be there, we have to replace it. So there's a conflict of law."

Currently, the city is planning a Combined Sewer Overflow Project for 2019 to help eliminate the combined sewer system, which allows high snowmelt or significant rainfall to cause diluted sewage overflows on the way to the wastewater treatment plant.

The city has completed approximately 65 percent of its CSO with past infrastructure projects, and the upcoming project will likely bring the city to 75 percent completion. The city has been approved for USDA – Rural Development funding, up to $6 million to help correct the CSO. Areas that may be included in the project are located on the east side of town: Oak Street, Range Street, Park Avenue; Washington Avenue; Gero Avenue; Terrace Avenue; Cherry Street; and Steuben Street.

Barr said that because of the proximity of the water and sewer service lines in the trench, the water service line can't be replaced without damaging the sewer line – so both would need to be replaced. As an example, he noted that if the city replaces 100 service lines in their 2019 project, the cost could be nearly $10,000 per house.

"That money has to come totally out of our pocket," he said. "The federal loan and grant system will not fund it. So it's an unfunded mandate that has conflicting laws."

To include the service line replacements in the 2019 project, Barr explained the engineering firm will need to return to Manistique to complete site surveys in order for the city to request utility easements for each house.

"So right there is another cost," he said. "This thing just bleeds and bleeds more costs."

Currently, the DEQ rules state that partial lead service line replacements are banned.

Barr pointed out that his recommendation would be to seek out other municipalities and enter into a class action lawsuit – "Because this is unachievable," he said.

Councilperson Rick Hollister asked if the mandate will affect every municipality in Michigan.

"It does," said Barr. "It affects everybody."

Additionally, Barr explained that the city is currently in its required year of completing lead and copper testing.

"We've completed that testing, and we have the results," he said. "Our results ... not only are they both under the new limits that they're trying to propose."

Barr added that the city has not exceeded the lead or copper testing in 21 years.

"Here we are doing the right water treatment, we have the right staff, we have the right protocols in place to ensure that the ... staff is doing the right work – we're going to get penalized now because of stuff that happened downstate," he said.

Hollister asked if the federal government could stop the state from imposing the service line replacement mandate. Barr said he doesn't expect that to happen.

City Manager Sheila Aldrich pointed out that the mandate it not yet law.

"But they pretty much said, accept it as law, because it's going to be," she said.

For those water and sewer replacement projects completed in prior years, the city would be required to return and replace the service line from the sidewalk to each resident's house, Barr explained.

Aldrich noted it was unknown that if city installs the new service lines, if they would be responsible for them moving forward.

Currently, if a service line breaks or freezes, the repair is the responsibility of the homeowner.

Barr said the number one priority at this time is to see if the mandate will affect the upcoming project which is funded by USDA Rural Development.

"If it does not, we will move forward with that project without a hiccup," he said.

The final rules were filed with the Office of Regulatory Reform June 14. The rules also: reduce the Lead Action Level from 15 parts per billion to 12 ppb in 2025; require a second sample collection at sites served by lead service lines; create a statewide water system advisory council; and require all public water systems to conduct asset inventory.

Currently, two bills – House Bill 6249 and 6248, address the creation of a "Lead Abatement Grant Program" and subsequent "Lead Abatement Fund". The bills, both introduced in June, would provide funding for replacing mains, connectors or service lines to remove lead from contact with drinking water.

Additionally, House Bill 5898, introduced in April, seeks to amend PA 399 and expand use of the annual fee paid by water suppliers to include funding for infrastructure grants and loans for lead service line replacements.

None of the aforementioned bills have gone past introduction in the Michigan House of Representatives.

Student fire safety tips offered

LANSING—As young adults start another academic year at Michigan colleges and universities, State Fire Marshal Kevin Schlemmer urges students and their parents to make fire prevention a top priority and practice life-saving fire safety measures whether living on- or off-campus.

According to Schlemmer, common factors in on- or off-campus fires include: lack of a fire sprinkler system; missing or disabled smoke alarms; careless smoking; unattended candles; overloaded electrical circuits and extension cords; alcohol consumption which impairs judgment and hampers fire evacuation efforts; and fires originating on upholstered furniture and decks or porches.

Fire safety tips for all college students living on- or off-campus.

- Know all emergency exits and have two ways out... of a dorm, movie theater, nightclub.
- Use stairs to get out, not elevators.
- Most fatal fires happen at night. Get up, get out and stay out.
- Don't allow smoking inside a dorm room. NEVER smoke in bed.
- Make sure cigarettes and ashes are out. After a party, check for smoldering cigarette butts, especially under cushions. Chairs and sofas catch on fire fast and burn fast.
- Never leave a lit candle unattended. Keep candles away from curtains, furniture, bedding and papers. Extinguish all candles when leaving the room or going to bed.
- Don't use the stove or oven to help heat a cold dorm room or apartment.

- Keep space heaters away from anything flammable and never leave them unattended.
  - Keep a fire extinguisher close by and know how to use it.
  - Plug microwave ovens or other cooking appliances directly into an outlet. Never use an extension cord for a cooking appliance as it can overload the circuit and cause a fire.
  - If a fire starts in a microwave, keep the door closed and unplug the unit.
  - Don't overload electrical outlets, power strips and extension cords.
  - Use a surge protector for a computer and plug the protector directly into an outlet.
- For more information about fire safety go to the Bureau of Fire Services website at www.michigan.gov/bfs

School is back in session and that means more traffic on the roads. That increased traffic includes our Manistiquette Area School buses, transporting students to and from school. Getting our students to and from school safely is something we take very seriously. For that reason, here are a few things to keep in mind as our students are going to and from school.

Research has proven that riding a school bus is the safest way for students to get to and from school. School buses are designed with student safety in mind, from the flashing lights to the high backed bench seats. School bus drivers are also highly trained in safety processes and procedures.

Motorists are reminded to stay alert when traveling near a school bus. School buses stop frequently, including at all railroad crossings and for student loading and unloading. At least 200 feet prior to stopping the bus driver will turn on the amber flashing lights indicating an upcoming stop. The red flashing lights indicate the door of the bus is opening and students will be loading or unloading. It is illegal to pass a school bus when the flashing red lights are on. Motorists who pass a bus with flashing red lights can be fined up to $500.

Keeping safety in mind, schools are required to hold 10 emergency drills annually. Those drills include six fire drills, two lock down drills and two tornado drills. Those drills are done at all schools in partnership with public safety. This year, Manistiquette Area Schools is expanding on the required emergency drills and will be holding two bus emergency drills.

The first bus emergency drill is planned for Sept. 25. All seven buses will stop at predetermined locations on their way to the school to hold safety drills in cooperation with local law enforcement, Manistiquette Public Safety, the Schoolcraft County Sheriff, and the Michigan State Police will be on location for the drills and to support and reinforce the lessons taught by the bus drivers. Students on the buses will be taught procedures to follow if an emergency were to occur. The safety lessons will include students learning how to open the emergency exits and evacuation from the rear of the bus. We highly encourage all bussing students to ride their assigned bus Sept. 25, to be part of the safety lessons. Student should also dress appropriately and wear proper shoes to participate in the drills.

If you have any questions about the planned bus safety drill, or any of the required safety drills, please contact Maryann Boddy at 341-4330.

Nearing the end of the long home stretch, the Big Bay de Noc Black Bears hosted the Soaring Eagles from Hannahville Tuesday night. The Bears took the match 3-1.

Bears top Eagles at home

COOKS — Nearing the end of a long string of home games, the Big Bay de Noc varsity volleyball team hosted the Soaring Eagles from Hannahville Tuesday. The Bears emerged victorious after four sets to take the match 3-1 (25-22, 19-25, 25-22, 25-13). Again, several of the Bears who are competing in dual sports jumped from the soccer field to the volleyball court. The Bears also won their soccer match 8-0. "Our energy and enthusiasm really put us over the edge tonight," said Head Coach Angie Paulson. "The girls did a great job of encouraging one another and coming back from mistakes. My captains really stepped up tonight in their roles as leaders. All the girls were moving their feet and adjusting to the hits and really covering the floor well — all of these things helped us take the match with a win." For the Bears, Rylie Lawrence finished the night with seven aces, two kills, five digs, and two assists. Hollie Stapleton had nine aces and kills, three digs, and two blocks. Finishing with six aces, four kills, three digs, and 12 assists was Meagan Yonker. Kaitlyn Messingill had three aces, one dig, and an assist. Piper Jones added an ace and two kills.

The few who were able to suit up Friday evening battled it out on the Ron Rubick Memorial Field when the Emeralds hosted the Wykons from West Iron County. Finishing the game with only 10 players, the Emeralds dropped the contest 41-0. ## Balance of Emerald schedule tenuous

MANISTIQUE — With player safety an issue at all levels of the sport, the remaining schedule for the Manistique Emeralds varsity football team hangs in the balance just three weeks into the season. Following a forfeit of their second game, the Manistique Emeralds varsity football team suited 12 for Friday's contest against West Iron County. When the clock ran out in the fourth quarter, 10 Emerald players exited the field following a 41-0 loss to the Wykons. It's safety versus stats according to Coach Todd Kangas. There is also an element of uncertainty as to the rest of the 2018 schedule due to the limited number of players. "We had an ineligible player and one injured who is waiting doctor's permission to return Friday," said

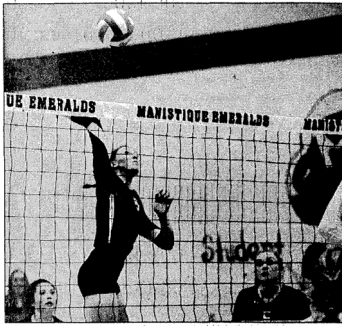

Kangas. "I know it is a tough situation, and it is tough not to play a game, but it is in the best interest of the program at this point to do what is best for the kids." With that in mind, the decision was made Monday night to forfeit Friday's game against the Negaunee Miners. Kangas said he hopes they have hit the bottom and is anticipating the return of 14 healthy players when Manistique hosts Westwood Sept. 21. He said he has 14 players that have committed to playing out the season and, if healthy, that is what they will do. "They seemed to have made a commitment," said Kangas. "Earlier we lost the guys that couldn't

On Sept. 6, the Bears hosted Stephenson, with their visitors sweeping the match in three for the win (25-6, 25-12, 25-12).

"Their strong hitters and blockers really helped them dominate the game," said Paulson. "They were the first team that we played that really played heavily on the net and we weren't used to seeing that. The occasional blockers, sure, but this was totally new for my girls."

We could also see that they were a well seasoned team and they've been playing for a long time; that's something that we don't have here," she continued. "We are working with eighth through 12th grade girls and we are doing the best we can. My girls had some great volleys and showed what they are capable of so we just have to keep focusing on the positive and move forward."

make that same commitment, so as long as we can get healthy, stay healthy, and get a couple of breaks, we will finish the season off. I wish I could say that there is not a chance it will not happen again, but at this point I can't."

Kangas went on to say that they will continue to practice, work to get better, and deal with it week by week.

"It's going to be a (difficult) situation the rest of the year, but it is better than the alternative – (which is) cancelling the rest of the season," he added.

Cancelling the rest of the season will jeopardize the program going forward, Kangas said, including the practice time underclassman will get or miss out on if the season were to be cancelled. When this year's varsity team kicked off the season, 11 players were underclassmen, including four sophomores.

Friday night, West Iron County (3-0) didn't take long to take an early lead, scoring on their opening drive. Following a short kick return to the 50-yard line, Bryant Schram to the 6-foot, 285 pound running back, chewed up yardage, later scoring on a three-yard run at the 10:22 mark in the opening quarter. Following a bad snap on the extra-point, West Iron County held a 6-0 lead.

Taking advantage of an Emerald fumble, the Wykons scored their second touchdown of the period when Caden Peltzler hauled in a one-handed catch from Trey Bociek at the 8:36 mark. Schram added two on the conversion to make the score 14-0 early.

Unable to move the ball, the Emeralds were forced to punt following a pair of sacks on Gerald Jack. With the ball at mid-field, West Iron pushed their lead to 21-0 off a quarter back sneak by Bociek.

Turnovers continued to be an issue for Manistique. A fumble by the Emeralds gave the Wykons the ball at their 33-yard line. Two plays later, Blake Lindberg crossed the goal line for West Iron County, who controlled a 28-0 lead at the end of the quarter.

With yards hard to come by, mistakes continued to plague Manistique into the second period. Back to pass, Jack was intercepted by Zach Quintero, who scored to give West Iron County a 35-0 lead early in the second period.

The final score of the night for the Wykons, who had more than 300 yards in offense, came late in the third off a short run by Nathan Thomson.

The Emeralds were held to 76 yards (60 rushing, 16 passing) in the loss.

With the Negaunee game cancelled this week, Manistique will look to field enough healthy players to play host Westwood (2-1) Sept. 21.

Well, here we are going into the fall season with bear season already open. It sure has been a nice week weather wise with the nice cool nights where it is perfect for sleeping and then warming up during the day to where it becomes T-shirt weather. I guess this is one of the main reasons I love being up here in the U.P.

If you have any doubt of the fall season being upon us all you have to do is take a ride by Linda's in Cooks and see the big pile of sugar beets that are already there. One thing for sure with so few of these little corner stores left it is nice to have one between home and camp in case I forget something which I have been known to do. It seems that they carry a bigger assortment of outdoor items now so this makes it nice.

After much deep study I have come to the conclusion that there are a lot of politicians out there that are like a number of flocks of turkey I have seen in the last few days. This has happened two to three times in the last week but the other day when returning home from camp a big flock of turkey ran across the road right in front of the vehicle coming towards me near the Moose lodge. They stopped and I stopped while they all ran across, the other car took off but before I could do more than just start moving the flock of turkey that was now on my side of the road decided maybe they did not want to be on this side after all and made a move to return to the side of the road they were just on. It was a panic move some flew over my car some ran in front of it, while others half flew and half ran almost under the car.

I'll let you guess why this reminds me of certain people who cannot decide which side of the road they really want to be on.

I am going to have to do some deep thinking about the use of a bird feeder to attract deer. I know of a number of cases where people had a bird feeder out and here comes a nice buck to eat lunch at their bird feeder. There were some people that had a regular bird feeder along with a hummingbird feeder only to have the three bears come in at night to have a midnight snack.

In talking to them I told them we could get up one of my game cameras to see if we could get a picture of the bear. We never got any pictures of the bear but two to three bucks came in to eat at the bird feeder. There is only one technical problem with hunting the bucks that were on the game camera and that is they usually made their move to the bird feeder right around 3 a.m. when it is still rather dark out to say the least. But at least one knows there are some nice bucks out there.

This falls under my opinion and that old saying, "It's just a matter of time." I know that there are a good number of ATV-4-wheelers that are now street legal so to speak. This means they have a legal right to operate on a road the same as cars and trucks. But I would recommend that when some people do they maybe should engage their brain before racing up a road flying and meeting vehicles going the other way.

There is no doubt in my mind that the time will come when driving like some of them do in a vehicle with no protection when there is an accident the ORV will lose big time. I know they are out there having a good time and fun but the consequences could be disastrous. Some of you out there may get upset when I say something about this but in my time working I have seen too many fatal accidents where people were just out having fun.

Fall is a busy time and a great time to go out and have some fun and there are so many things for a Yoooper to do this time of year. But before you do, take the time to check out all the safety equipment you need for your adventures. Take time to read over the rules and treat the other people out there like you would like to be treated.

Even when I was working I tried to live with this in mind and for the most part it always seemed to work out. If you stop and think about it for a minute, this may be one of the things that has become a lost art in today's world but it does still work.
