County votes down jail millage request

MANISTIQUE — A proposed millage to construct a new jail split county voters and was narrowly defeated in Tuesday's General Election. The failed millage request will fall upon the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners, which will have to consider other options for the dilapidated facility.

On Tuesday's ballot, voters were asked to approve an up to three mill levy on property taxes for a period of 20 years to fund the construction, operation, furnishing and equipping of a new Schoolcraft County Jail, as well as the continuation of the sheriff's road patrol. The request was intended to fund the $7.1 million renovation of the former armory building on New Elm Street and provide an additional $899,000 to construct a holding area at the Schoolcraft County Courthouse for inmates being transported to court hearings.

Schoolcraft County voters headed to the polls Tuesday, with a 57 percent voter turnout, and cast 1,942 votes against the millage; 1,835 votes were cast in favor of the millage.

According to Schoolcraft County Commissioner Dan Hoholik, who served on the board's jail committee, the vote spoke volumes about the county's stance on the jail.

"I was surprised by the large voter turnout compared to what we normally see. I believe we gave the county one of the best options for keeping a jail and all of the sheriff department's functions," he said. "This was a one-time opportunity and the people have spoken and I respect them for that. However, the sheriff and commissioners will have some tough decisions to make in the future because these results were so close, there will be controversy on whatever path is chosen because the county seems to be split on the options."

Hoholik pointed out that the board does have the information it needs to move forward on the issue.

"Much of the ground work is already in place for next steps, which could include cutting services to support a jail or closing the jail and constructing a 72-hour holding facility," he added. "I see today (Wednesday following the election) that there will be some new faces on the board and I am looking forward to working with them to solve this problem and come up with the best solution."

Schoolcraft County Sheriff Paul Furman said he reiterates Hoholik's statements and the board and department will determine how to move forward.

"We're going to get together and see what we want to do with this, because it was really close," he added. "Thank you to everyone who voted, and thank you, especially, to those who voted to support the millage."

A local millage that did have success at the poll was the Schoolcraft County Transit Authority millage proposal. The request asked voters to authorize an up to .587 mill levy on taxable property in the county for five years.

The millage, which was approved with 2,384 votes, will provide funds for inclusive, for all public transportation authority purposes permitted by law, including serving the elderly, disabled, and the general public of Schoolcraft County. Only 1,361 residents cast votes against the millage request.

Statewide ballot requests included: Proposal 18-1, a proposed initiated law to authorize and legalize possession, use and cultivation of marijuana products by individuals who are at least 21 years of age and older, and commercial sales of marijuana through state-licensed retailers; Proposal 18-2 a

Residents elect commissioners

MANISTIQUE — The Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners will experience a slight shake up following Tuesday's General Election. Two new commissioners will be seated and three commissioners will retain their seats beginning in January 2018.

According to the unofficial results from the election, a total of 3,846 out of 6,735 Schoolcraft County voters cast ballots in the election — a 57 percent voter turnout rate. The election results will be now head to the Schoolcraft County Board of Canvassers, which will verify the official results.

In the District 1 commissioner race, incumbent Craig Reiter appears to have narrowly defeated write-in Bill Vandagriff, by just nine votes, to hold on to his spot on the board. Reiter received 295 votes while Vandagriff managed to bring in 286.

According to Schoolcraft County Clerk Beth Edwards, Vandagriff's total votes were part of 306 "unresolved write-ins" recorded in the race. An unresolved write-in means the machine detected a write-in.

"Vandagriff's 286 votes are part of the 306," explained Edwards. "The remaining 20 votes were determined at the precinct level to not be valid votes."

These write-ins will be certified by the board of canvassers.

Allan Ott will stay on as the District 2 commissioner, as his race was uncontested. He received 413 votes.

In District 3, newcomer Corey Barr claimed victory with 435

Locally, Republicans on top in state races

MANISTIQUE — Schoolcraft County residents proved to be overwhelming in support of Republican candidates for state races in Tuesday's General Election. The voting tendencies were in contrast to the overall statewide results in all but three races.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Isn't it strange that for every positive comment that is made, it seems that two negative ones are produced? Manistique has been making continual progress for the betterment of our city and those who stop to visit.

So, instead of more grumbings, I want to thank the many employees of this city for their effort and hard work. At the top, our city manager who tirelessly puts up with the naysayers and continues to produce projects like the city's beautiful campground, new city infrastructure and street projects, thank you!

To our city council, past and present, and city attorney, thank you for growth. To our public safety, thank you for true 24-hour service and protection.

To our department heads and their hard working crews who are called out at all hours of the day and night, keep up the good work! Your efforts are noticed.

Laurie Barr

Dear Editor,
Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. One of my elves in Manistique has handmade 36 fishing lures which will be on sale for $50 each at Limestone Federal Credit Union, located at 131 River Street in Manistique.

These fishing lures have been dedicated as a memorial to Amiable Goudreau, Jr. (1855-1931). These wood lures are one inch in diameter and six inches long with a 5/0 treble hook. These lures will work very well for salmon, Northern pike, lake trout and muskies.

One hundred percent of the money raised selling these lures (36 x $50 = $1,800) will be used to pay for a Feeding America Truck for Schoolcraft County in 2019.

In addition, all buyers will be given a raffle ticket to win the book "Anatomy of the Lighthouse" by author Michael J. Rhein. Hopefully all the fine people of Schoolcraft County will support this great endeavor to help the less fortunate people of our area.

Dear Editor
Thank you, thank you, thank you! The best way I could think of to start this letter about the Big Band Concert at St Francis de Sales School held on the third of this month.

Thank you to Rev. Ben, Julie, and Therese for your help and support from the onset.

Thank you to the school staff: administration officials, teachers, and custodial staff for their help in set-up, concessions, 50/50 drawings and raffles.

Thank you to the local papers: both the Pioneer Tribune and The Advisor went way beyond "regular business practice" in helping us out (especially Chris and her award winning poster design).

Thank you to the merchants that let us advertise in their shop windows, and to those that assisted in selling tickets while promoting the event.

Thanks to the Elk's Lodge for providing the adult beverages while fundraising for the Elk's National Foundation (which, by the way, has donated over $55,000 back to the community since 2011).

Thank you to RRN Radio Network for their numerous public service announcements on all ten of their radio stations.

And a special thanks to our personal friends and family that stepped up, in some cases even before Mary and I saw the need, and worked before, during and after the event - wow - great to have friends and family!

To all those that bought tickets and attended, I'm sure you were not disappointed, thank you for your support. The Westerly Winds Big Band of Marquette, all 18 of them, certainly made the night a memorable one and told me several times how much they enjoyed the opportunity to play in Manistique.

What started as a bit of a selfish desire to hear a big band close to home, gradually morphed into a pretty good charity event.

Two major critics (St. Francis de Sales School and the Elk's ENF) in Manistique will definitely benefit from the effort of all those mentioned above.

Op-Ed

not resting but rather continually improving and expanding our programs to better serve Veterans. We continue to provide same day services for more urgent primary care and mental health needs. We have expanded our veterans' ability to directly schedule their appointments for nine specialty care clinics without needing a referral from their primary care provider, saving them time receiving the care they really need.

We also expanded the use of our state-of-the-art telehealth technology - now used by forty-nine of our clinics - to serve our rural Veterans, giving them access to care without having to travel to the VA provider's location. Additionally, VA's Video Connect program allows Veterans to connect with their provider from the comfort of their home.

Our VA medical center now provides VA's new Whole Health Program, which is designed to empower and equip our veterans to take charge of their health and well-being, and to live their life to the fullest. It is proactive care that takes into account a veteran's desires, community and family support, professional care, and other aspects of his or her health. Through our Whole Health Program we will help veterans set goals and connect them to VA and community resources to assist them in breaking down barriers and achieve their goals.

As we continue to expand services and programs, our top clinical priority remains veteran Suicide Prevention. The sad reality is that twenty veterans on average commit suicide each day. Fourteen of those twenty veterans do not receive VA health care, and of the six that do, only three use VA's mental health services and programs. We are continuing to reach out to veterans, their families, community health providers, and other stakeholders and provide them information on VA and community services to tackle this all-important concern. For more information on how you can help a veteran in need use #BeThere (www.VeteransCrisisLine.net/BeThere).

Veterans Day and National Veterans and Military Families Month is an opportunity to thank veterans in our communities for their service and sacrifice. At the VA, we have that opportunity every day.

Seven members of a new county Board of Supervisors were elected by Schoolcraft County voters Tuesday. Democrats swept six of the seven contests, failing only in the city's 7th District. In the 1st District, composed of Seney, Germfask and Mueller townships, Democrat Thurman Skarritt defeated Republican William Miller, 241-168. Democrat Lindsley Frenette won in the 2nd District, composed of Doyle and Manistique townships, by defeating Republican Robert Hubble, 314-240. Russell Tennant, a Democrat, won the 3rd District of Inwood and Hawsatha townships, defeating Republican Mervin White, 308-272. In the 4th District, split between a portion of the city and Thompson Township, Democrat Ernest Hoholik defeated Republican Clarence Johnson, 344-171. Democrat Homer Weber was the winner in the 5th District in the city, defeating Republican candidate Richard Keteck, 267-184. A close race in the 6th District in the city found Democrat Norman Jahn edging Republican John P. Quick, 239-216. Republican Edward Jorgenson defeated Democrat David Rood in the city's 7th District by a 302-264 margin. The new board will take over the administrative and executive functions of the county on Jan. 1.

Charles Stark of Munising is the apparent winner in the race for the new 93rd District Judge's post, encompassing Alger and Schoolcraft Counties. Late returns from Alger County show Stark with a 3,933 to 2,563 lead over Robert Berger of Manistique. Stark rolled up a big margin in Alger County, leading 2,554 to 556, while Schoolcraft County went for Berger, 2,007 to 1,379.

Prizes were awarded for original costumes at the "empty Frankfurter" Halloween dance Saturday night in the old gym, sponsored by the Medical Health Careers Club. First prize of $5 went to Jeff Fountain, who came dressed as "The Phantom"; second prize of $3 went to Nicki Johnson, dressed as "Our Gang" baseball player, and third prize was awarded to Karyn Bignall, costumed as a Tibetan princess.

Sorry Folks! No pictures! There's a button on the front of the Pioneer-Tribune camera that controls the synchronization of the flash and shutter. The idiot...er, editor... discovered Monday that said button had been moved out of place, and as a result, no pictures of any of the Halloween costumes and parade are available. The negatives are a beautiful blank, as is the editor's mind when he tries to explain this sort of thing to his loyal readers.

Work on the county senior citizens housing projects in Manistique and Germfask is slightly behind the established construction schedule. County Commissioner Louis Lauzon presented a report on the progress of the construction at a special meeting of the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners on Monday night. Lauzon said with 33 percent of the established time schedule expired, the Manistique project is 20 percent complete and the Germfask site is 28.9 percent complete. The projects were delayed several weeks ago while the cement used in the project underwent testing to determine its strength. The septic system installed at the Germfask site may have to be dug up and inspected, Lauzon said. "The septic system was put in by Erickson, (of Tezak Construction), but it was not inspected before it was put in. Either they're going to dig it up and inspect it or guarantee it for 10 years," he said. Contract terms with the builders and the architect stated the system was to be inspected before installation.

A Christmas tree decorated with hats and mittens and scarves adorns the entry-way at C-L Hardware in Manistique. Bay Cliff Committee members Dorothy Hoholik, Becky Charter and Nancy Demers trimmed the tree with all the handmade items last Tuesday. The items were donated by area citizens and will be distributed to needy children through the school system. There are over 40 pairs of mittens currently hanging on the tree and additional contributions are welcome.

Radio station WTQI is currently undergoing a number of format changes according to station owner Frances Jo Curtis. With the installation of new satellite equipment, WTQI listeners will now receive news from Mutual Broadcasting instead of CBS. Also included in the new format will be national talk shows hosted by Larry Cain, Dick Clark and Jack Anderson. In addition, Curtis said, WTQI will offer its listeners "more beautiful music". State and local news with Jack Krueger will remain the same.

One of the fiercest November storms on record ripped through the Upper Peninsula Tuesday, Nov. 10, causing damage to homes, businesses and widespread power outages. In the Schoolcraft County area, the storm downed many trees, destroyed several signs and caused much beachfront erosion along Lake Michigan. High winds with gusts reaching nearly 60 miles per hour were reported by the National Weather Service, and 1.37 inches of rain fell at the City of Manistique wastewater treatment plant weather station near Lake Michigan. Despite the wild weather and property damage, no storm-related injuries were reported.

by the Schoolcraft County Sheriff's Department or the Manistique Post of the Michigan State Police.

Playing with a new point guard in a traditionally hostile environment, the Manistique girls varsity basketball team did something Thursday night, Nov. 5, at Ishpeming, that no Emerald team has accomplished in four years: Win a Mid Peninsula Conference game. The Emeralds scored 28 second-quarter points, then made clutch free throws and baskets down the stretch to earn a 73-70 win over the Hematites. It was the first conference victory for the girls varsity basketball team since it defeated Munising in November of 1994.

One year to the day after it changed hands for the first time, the former Lincoln Elementary School in Manistique will once again get new owners. A ceremony is set for 10 a.m. this Friday, Nov. 14, to deed the building from the Blanchard family to the local Habitat for Humanity affiliate. The Manistique Area Schools sold the old elementary property to the Blanchards last year, when the consolidated Emerald Elementary School opened for business. That transaction closed Nov. 14, 2007. Officials from Habitat for Humanity Hiawatha-Land will now accept the property as a donation from the Blanchards, with plans to use it for a variety of purposes.

Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital may soon have a new chief executive officer. At a special meeting Tuesday morning, the hospital board of trustees voted to negotiate a contract with George Montgomery, one of the three finalists for the CEO position who were interviewed by the board last week. Montgomery is currently the vice president and nursing home administrator for Mercy Memorial Hospital System in downstate Missouri. Mercy is a 239-bed hospital with a 70-bed skilled nursing facility and gross revenue of $270 million a year.

Communities That Care brings opioid presentation to public

MANISTIQUE – The Schoolcraft County Communities That Care Collaborative will host a community presentation featuring double board certified Dr. Kevin Piggott Nov. 16. The presentation will be held at Manistique School and Public Library from 1-3 p.m.

Piggott will brief the community on the national opioid crisis and what is being done on the national, state, and local levels. Currently, "low perceived risk of drug use" is a priority risk factor for Schoolcraft County, based on the 2016 CTC Youth Survey conducted in area schools. The SC3 is a community-based coalition that helps identify risk factors of youth problem behaviors and works with community members to build protection in all aspects of the community to buffer against youth problem behaviors. Piggott will be addressing the community in hopes of educating community members on the opioid crisis and providing a clear understanding of what is currently being done to combat it. Piggott is "semi-retired" after 30 years in clinical practice, hospital admission, public health and medical education. He is board certified in family medicine as well as general preventive medicine and public health. Piggott completed his family medicine residency at Marquette General Hospital and his preventive medicine residency at the University of Michigan. He received his medical degree from Wayne State University School of Medicine while receiving his Masters of Public Health in health management and policy and Bachelor of Science degree in biology from the University of Michigan. During the presentation, Piggott will review the epidemiology of the "Opioid crisis in the U.S.". He will also discuss CDC-issued guidelines on the management of pain and what one can expect in the management of pain based on these recommendations. Piggott will also address the recently enacted State of Michigan laws addressing the prescription of controlled substances. Additionally, he will address questions regarding the laws, including what is known about the prescribing of opioids in the J.P., and how the laws effect patient care. The SC3 encourages the community to attend the event. To register, contact Jen Levins at 286-0159 or by email at jlevins@greatlakesrecovery.org.

$5M commercial loan program created to stimulate Gogebic County economy

Initiative a response to Ojibway facility closure

MARQUETTE — InvestUP is supporting economic development activities to help offset the Ojibway Correctional Facility closing in Marquette Township of Gogebic County. Their efforts are focused on developing a resource stimulus program to create jobs within existing businesses and start-ups.

InvestUP members mBank, headquartered in Manistique, and People's State Bank of Munising, stepped up immediately and led a partnership with Gogebic Range Bank and First National Bank of Wakefield to provide a $5 million low fixed interest rate commercial loan pool that is easily accessible to companies in that region of the U.P. The loan pool will assist existing companies with expansion plans, needed capital improvements, new equipment, or working capital. The fund is also available to business start-ups with industrial or technological ventures that may want to locate into the Gogebic County area.

According to Kelly George, InvestUP Board Member and President and CEO of mBank, "This collaborative approach shows exactly the potential we have as a U.P. region to work together to address opportunities and challenges alike. It's important to think regionally, to do what's right for the U.P. first and foremost, not just the domiciled local area. Growing the Gogebic area and retaining critical workforce infrastructure will be a win-win for all in the Upper Peninsula in the long run."

"This is the most affordable way to start and grow a business in Gogebic County right now," says InvestUP's Interim Executive Director Karyn Olsson. "We encourage businesses in Gogebic

MAS News

November is going to be a busy month at MAS. Not only are we hoping to hire two new teachers, a transportation director, and a superintendent, we are hiring an architect for the 2019 Sinking Fund projects.

Currently, MAS has posted for a kindergarten teacher, an elementary physical education teacher, and a transportation director. Ideally all of these positions will be recommended for approval at the Nov. 19 board of education meeting.

That is also the meeting when the architect for the middle and high school locker room renovations will be awarded. Other information that will be shared will be the results of the recent water testing at all three school buildings. All good news!

Other good news includes the success of the girls' volleyball team and Coach Nixon. The team recently captured their second District Championship and will be looking to continue their run in the MHSAA tournament Tuesday night, in Marquette as they face Calumet.

Winter sports practices, including boys' basketball, swimming and wrestling, will begin this week. Girls' basketball practice will begin Nov. 12. Watch for winter sports schedules in the school offices with a full listing of the winter sports schedule of competition.

Parent-Teacher Conferences will be Nov. 8 from 1-6 p.m. The new Emerald PTO will also be sponsoring a Scholastic Book Fair. We look forward to seeing parents and students during parent-teacher conferences and encourage everyone to participate.

Keep in mind that to accommodate for the conference schedule students will be dismissed early Nov. 8. Students at the middle high school will be done at 11 a.m. with lunch being served until 11:35 a.m. Students at Emerald will have an early lunch schedule and be dismissed at 11:55 a.m. with buses departing at 12 p.m.

This year school will not be in session Nov. 15 or Nov. 16, in observance of the opening of deer hunting season. It is the hope that families will take this time to honor the U.P. tradition and get out in the woods and hunt to promote the sport with the next generation.

In observance of Thanksgiving there will be no school Nov. 21, through Nov. 23. Classes will resume Nov. 26.

November will be a busy month at MAS. If you have any questions about the schedule or any upcoming events please contact the school at 341-4300.

County looking to expand and people thinking of starting a business who need some capital to leverage this loan pool opportunity."

The low interest rate loan pool is supported by the Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC) through several loan programs designed to augment cash flow or provide collateral support in financing packages. The MEDC is also currently working with a local steering committee to develop a roadmap to move the region's economy forward now and well into the future. The MEDC has committed to fund the study as part of the state's effort to help area leaders identify opportunities for success.

"This loan fund highlights how businesses working together with state and local officials can address the unique challenges this region is currently facing," said MEDC CEO Jeff Mason. "These types of strategic partnerships will provide the foundation for rebuilding the Gogebic area economy by attracting private investment and creating jobs." Businesses interested in these loans should contact Mr. Anton Ringsmuth, President of First National Bank of Wakefield at 906-224-9581, ext. 105 or Mr. Neil Beckman, President and CEO of Gogebic Range Bank of Ironwood at 906-932-7646 to discuss their plans and submit their loan applications for consideration.

Emeralds win District Championship Title

After accepting the District Tournament trophy, Head Coach Amy Nixon turned to present it to her team. This is the second time in her career at Manistique High School that she has had the opportunity to do so. Nixon was coaching the Emeralds in 2015 when her girls won the Mid-Peninsula Conference and District Championships.

MANISTIQUE - It's been an exciting year for the Manistique varsity volleyball team. A Mid-Peninsula Conference Title, five players receiving honors on Conference team selections, and a Coach of the Year selection received by Head Coach Amy Nixon.

Most recently, the squad took the District 66 Championship Title Thursday night at home against the Negaunee Miners 3-1.

The Emeralds' district journey began in Bark River-Harris Oct. 29 when they beat the Broncos 3-0. Advancing in competition, the Emeralds traveled north to Weswood for the semi-finals, where they also upended the Patriots 3-0.

On their home court with bleachers full of community support, the Emeralds topped the Negaunee Miners 3-1 (25-21, 25-20, 22-25, 25-12) for the championship title.

The Emeralds played strong and steady the first two sets, looking to close the night out in three. Unfortunately, the Miners regrouped in the third to force the match into the fourth set. Dropping the set by three only made the Emeralds more determined to end the night on top, dominating the entire set, which ended at 25-12.

"Our defense both at the net and in the back court did a good job setting up our offense," stated Nixon. "Our hitters did a good job staying offensive and getting kills. Winning a district championship on our home court with the bleachers full of community support meant so much to our team."

For the Emeralds, junior Lenna Smith finished the night with four aces, 30 serve receives, nine kills, and three blocks. Abby Burnham had two serve receives, five digs, one assist, and two kills.

Emilee McDaniel had an ace, four digs, 16 kills, and two blocks. Erin LaBar had an ace and dig.

Jeanni Charter had an ace, three digs, six kills, and a block. Joslyn Muth had two aces, 14 digs, 37 assists, and a kill.

Kayla Muth had four aces, two digs, 11 kills, and four blocks. Madison Zellar had an ace, nine serve receives, and eight digs.

McKenna Charter had five serve receives and six digs. Sydney Peterson finished with an ace, 19 serve receives, and 13 digs.

The Emeralds will advance to Regional Tournament action where they will take on the Calumet Copper Kings in Marquette Nov. 6.

.....and advance to finals

MARQUETTE - To look at the Emerald roster, one would think it is a young team, perhaps in a building year. It's quite the contrary. With four seniors on the team, the balance is comprised of juniors and sophomores who have lived and breathed volleyball for years.

It's that balance that has brought the Emeralds to the next level of play. On Tuesday night, the team won the semi-final game of Regional 17 competition against the Calumet Copper Kings in Marquette.

Tense in the first set, the Emeralds dropped it to the Kings 24-26. With the pressure on, the Emeralds rallied in the second to take the score to 29-27, followed that up with a 25-19 in the third, and 25-22 in the fourth to take the match.

"Our team started set one a little tense and then we loosened up and did what we do best," said Head Coach Amy Nixon. "Calumet is a strong attacking team and got some good kills, but we played great defense and really made it tough for them to score. Our offense was firing, too, and although Calumet has a great defense, we were able to find the holes and keep pressure on them."

The Emeralds will now take on Traverse City St. Francis tonight (Thursday) for the Regional Title at home in the Richard Bonifas Gymnasium. Game time is set for 6:30 p.m. Doors will open with ticket sales at 5:30 p.m.

A reminder to fans that passes will not be accepted.

For the Emeralds, Sydney Peterson had 20 serve receives and 30 digs. McKenna Charter had 11 serve receives and five digs.

Joslyn Muth had 10 digs and 44 assists. Erin LaBar had a dig. Jeanni Charter had an ace, 10 digs, and 12 kills.

Lenna Smith had an ace, 40 serve receives, 34 digs, and seven kills. Kayla Muth had an ace, 10 kills, and four blocks.

Emilee McDaniel had eight aces, three digs, 16 kills, and three blocks. Abby Burnham had two serve receives. Madison Zellar had an ace and 17 digs.

From the Forester

Bill Cook

A potential spore producing tree marked for special handling.

common but seldom generate concern. Although, the microclimates of tree trunks can produce some intriguing life forms. In addition to mosses are many common lichens (pronounced LIE-kens), which are sometimes mis-identified as mosses or harmful fungi.

Lichens are a weird classification of living things, partly defined by what they are not. They are not plants. They do not have roots, leaves, or flowers. Lichens defy absolute descriptions.

Lichens have curious relationships, often complex and variable. Basically, a specialized fungus provides shelter for either a species of green algae or blue-green bacteria (or both, in some cases!).

In turn, the algae/bacteria provide food and energy to the fungus via photosynthesis. These algae or bacteria grow within the fungal filaments. Lichens are different from either of their constituent parts.

Lichens are not parasites on trees or other plants. Lichens use tree trunks merely as a substrate, or a place to grow. They'll grow on rocks, buildings, and other structures, too.

Worldwide, there are thousands of lichen species. They can occupy some fairly extreme environments. Lichens are long-lived and slow-growing. There's an entire science involving lichens. They are classified by the shape and size of the non-reproductive structures, the "thallus" (not a term unique to lichens). Lichen biology has its own lexicon of unique terms.

Lichen taxonomy is largely based on the constituent fungus. Sometimes, the same fungus will harbor different species of algae. It's the fungus that also produces the fruiting bodies, which produce spores. Identification to the species level may require the application of certain chemicals to see how the lichen color reacts. Needless to say, lichen ID isn't always easy.

The more common lichen types in the Great Lakes area are grouped by "fruticose", "foliose" and "crustose" appearances. The fruticose lichens are branched or tubed, and resemble mosses. The foliose appear flattened or leafy, and the crustose, as the name implies, are crusty. Most are pale green or brownish-green. Some are orange or yellow. However, the variety of appearances ranges widely.

Old man's beard (Usnea longissima), British soldier (Cladonia cristatella) and reindeer "moss" (Cladonia rangiferina) are fruticose lichens, familiar to many people. Interestingly, the Latin genus for reindeer is Rangifer.

The "green fungus" on a tree is usually a foliose or crustose lichen, often the genus Flavoparmelia. Again, harmless to the tree, although it's been argued only an ailing tree grows bark slow enough to accommodate lichens.

The leafier lichen forms are often indicators of good air quality. These lichens decline or die when air becomes polluted with components such as sulfur or ozone. However, some of the crustose lichens may actually fare better in these environments.

Lichens are highly vulnerable to dry conditions, as they cannot control water loss.

They will "come alive" and "go dormant" depending on moisture conditions. Pale, brittle lichen usually suggests a dormant state.

Lichens with pliable thalli that are dark brown or dark green suggest that they're actively growing.

The thalloid liverworts resemble foliose lichens. In fact, the green structures of this liverwort subgroup are also called thalli.

Some of the mosses resemble lichens, too. However, without much practice, it's usually pretty easy to identify a lichen as a lichen.

Lichens are one more intriguing and fascinating element of our northern forests.

As an MSU Extension forester, Bill Cook provides educational programming for the entire Upper Peninsula. His office is located at the MSU Forest Biomass Innovation Center near Escanaba. The Center is the headquarters for three MSU Forestry properties in the U.P., with a combined area of about 8,000 acres.

What's That Growing on My Tree?

Lichens are common and highly variable life forms. They are a symbiotic association between a fungus and an alga or bacterium.

They grow in a wide range of environments, on many substrates. Ever notice something growing on the trunk of a tree? Mosses are

Fish Report

Ret. Sgt. John Walker

"deer" corn! When I went in to get a couple of bags I made it a point to point out I wanted "deer corn" not "turkey corn"! So what did I end up with, some bags that must have had a mixture of both deer and turkey! What's a guy to do, but then again it is fun to sit and watch both of them.

Speaking of going to get some supplies, I was talking to a party way younger than I am who was saying all he had to get done before deer season. I told him he had better make a note and list all he had to get done so he wouldn't forget any. He told me he had a note listing them, I told him I usually make a note when going over to Escanaba so I don't forget anything but more than once I get about halfway home and remember the note which is now only good to tell me what I forgot.

After much deep thought, we decided my only hope was after making a note with my list on it I should make a second note telling me not to forget to look at my first note with my list on it. Then it was suggested just to be safe I should inform my smart phone to remind me about note number two so this would remind me to look at my list of needs. I guess there may be hope for this old fossil after all.

Maybe it is just me but it sure seems that there is a whole lot less activity out in the woods now than there was back when I was working. I can drive for miles now through the woods and never meet a vehicle. And if I do now it is usually someone out trying to make a few bucks cutting greens. It seems I never come across any tents or temporary camps set up just for deer season anymore. I used to know where guys would come up in the fall and set up little villages of five-six campers in a circle with a big fire pit in the middle. Either these crews have moved on to another place or some may have ridden off in the sunset.

I have said over and over to enjoy your time at camp and with your hunting buddies because we never know what quirk in life may take place to change things. Not only do I spend time at camp wishing some of the kids-grandkids or buddies could make it up but I know of a lot of other hunters having seasons now and then when you feel like the Lone Ranger when even Tonto rode off over the hill going someplace else. Unless you have been there and went through these times like this there is no way I could explain that empty feeling in the pit of your stomach and then just be glad for all the memories you had through the years from those at dad's camp, years later out at Ollies' camp and then at our own camp.

As I have always said, remember the day may come when all you do have left is the memories.
