With five snow days in the past week and a half, the Manistique Area Schools superintendent is reviewing what, exactly, prompts school closures and delays.

What prompts a snow day?

MAS superintendent talks cause, effect of closures

MANISTIQUE – The past couple weeks have brought unpredictable weather – dangerously low temperatures, freezing rain, and plenty of snow - to the area, causing and plenty of show — to the area, causing many snow days and delayed starts for Upper Peninsula school districts, including Manistique Area Schools. With even more severe winter weather expected to-day (Thursday), those with students are likely wondering what conditions warrant school closures.

According to MAS Superintendent Howard Parmentier, Delta-Schoolcraft ISD superintendents watch for National Weather Service warnings for severe weather in the area. Weather conditions are monitored to ensure that students can be safely delivered to and from schools, as

City discusses campground success, marina in review

Halfway through fiscal year, city amends budget

MANISTIQUE – For the second meet-ing in a row, members of Manistique City Council were briefed on the state of the city's finances – this time for the cur-rent fiscal year. The meeting, which took place Jan. 28, also included the approval of budget amondments. According to City Manager Sheila Al-dicity the budget projects agar as of Doc

According to City manager sheria Arich, the budget review was as of Dec. 31, 2018 – halfway through the city's fiscal year. Beginning in the general fund, she noted that the city continues to experience a decline in property tax revenue.

"It is something we have seen drop year after year," Aldrich said. "Our tax-able value has decreased by $12 million in the last several years, so we are hop-ing to see a turnaround with the value of homes going up, but it is certainly a challenge for us ... our electric and our water goes up and it really hurts when our (property) values don't go up immediately."

The Manistique Lakeshore Camp-ground, however, remains the star of the city budget.

"We are very proud of the campground and its performance," Aldrich said. "It has been a success story for us and for the community. We're hearing from the businesses that their traffic is really up, businesses that their traffic is really up, substantially, and they know a lot of it is because of the campground. It was a good decision on behalf of the city to acquire the land... and then put it to good public use," she added. By Dec. 31, 2018, the campground rev-enues were at $237,683, while expenses were $116,657. Adrich noted that the campground pays its own utility bills — including water and sewere.

According to Janell Irie, city clerk, the campground had 3,500 nights books by May 1 of last year.

"It's not just for overnight – it's three nights, five nights, 10 days, two weeks," Aldrich said. "And they're already filling up enough in that July and August timeframe that you will see someone there for five nights and they'll move, every night, to a different spot to be there for

It's a bigger success than I think I ever dreamed," she added.

While discussing the Manistique Ma-rina budget, Aldrich said the marina did not generate much income last year, and the city expects the same this year

The first phase of the project included dredging the Manistique River and harbor located adjacent to the marina, while the second phase, completed in 2014, included dredging; removal of existing structures, excavated material, side-walks, and drainage and sewer pipes; site work such as site grading, sidewalks and signage; the replacement of the fueling system; broadside docking installation. system; broadside docking; installation of water main and sewer main: the installation of a flag pole; landscaping; and the construction of the new harbormaster building.

"Michigan energy providers and scammers should heed this warning: Those who take advantage of consumers will be held accountable," Attorney General Nessel said. "My office stands ready to protect all residents from scammers and those who seek to prey on consumers during an emergency situation."

Nessel noted that energy consumers become an increased target by scammers looking to make a quick buck during states of

"Utility companies never call "Utility companies never call customers requesting immediate payment to keep services from being shut off," said Nessel. "They also don't ask for payment by gift card, bitcoin, or money order. If card, bitcoin, or money order. It consumers suspect a call to be fraudulent, they should hang up and immediately call the utility at the telephone number on their bill and ask to speak with a customer service representative.

If consumers believe they have become a victim of retailers engaging in behavior that violates the Consumer Protection Act, they are encouraged to file a complaint at Michigan.gov/agcomplaints or call (877) 765-8388.

An estimated 320,000 Michigan households use propane as their primary heating fuel. And although propane prices are not regulated, that may result in supply or price disruptions. Under the Michigan Consumer Protection Act, a retailer may not charge a price that is "grossly in excess of the price at which similar property or services are sold.'

Currently the statewide average for propane is approximately $2.03 per gallon. Consumers who have guaranteed price contracts with propane suppliers may be subject to higher market prices once they've used the guaranteed amount covered by their contract. After the 2013-2014 winter season the e Department General laun Attorney General launched two investigations into grossly excessive propane pricing after receiving hundreds of complaints receiving hundreds of complaints during the polar vortex and subsequent state of emergency declaration. The department investigated two of the nation's largest propane companies: Ferrellgas and AmeriGas. The Ferrellgas investigation resulted in an immediate assurance an immediate assurance agreement that brought roughly $100,000 in reimbursements to Michigan consumers while the AmeriGas investigation resulted in a lawsuit that was ultimately settled in an agreement that brought more than $500,000 in credits or reimbursements to consumers

The Michigan Agency for Energy has additional resources and energy saving tips for those who heat their homes with propane at Michigan.gov/propane.

New funeral home owners making changes, settling into community

MANISTIQUE - The past few months have brought gradual changes to 211 Arbutus Ave. in Manistique. While most the changes have been quietly made, the most prominent has been the arrival of a new family to the ommunity. Ryan and Lindsay Fausett are the new owners of the former Messier-Broullire Funeral Homes - now known as Fausett Family Funeral known as Fausett Family Funeral Homes.

A huge sports fan, Fausett had begun his college education by studying athletic training/sports medicine at Central Michigan University. A few years into the program, while his love of sports continued, Fausett realized his true calling was as a funeral director caning was as a funeral director.

Originally from Shepherd, Mich., Fausett received his mortuary science degree from Wayne State University. Through the years, he has worked for several funeral homes in southern Michigan

Comfortable with the thought of raising his family and being a part of a smaller community, he said he of a smaller community, he said he felt the timing was right to make the move to achieve his ultimate goal – owning his own funeral home. Fausett and former funeral home owner, Tom Broullire, met through a mutual friend.

"I was looking for a small-town funeral home where I could be a part of the community and raise my girls," said Fausett. "I grew up in a small village. That old saying it takes a village to raise a family is true. Everyone knew who I was, everybody knew my family. My great-grandmother and greatgrandparents went to school there. That's where my family was from,

"My goal in all of this is to help people," said Ryan. "I wanted to help people. That's part of what I first started doing in sports – helping people. I was an athletic trainer, helping people get through

I've lost a lot of people at a very young age, friends and family members, so I always felt there was a better way of doing this and I wanted to do it," he added. "It wasn't until I had finished college that said I needed to go back to school and do this. This was a calling for me.

School closures

student safety remains the prima-

During the winter months, road conditions are checked beginning at approximately 4:45 a.m. If there is concern, school officials check with surrounding schools, local law en-forcement, the Schoolcraft County Road Commission, and rural bus route drivers.

By 5:20 a.m., the superintendent will make the decision to close or delay school. Once the decision is made to delay or close school, the media is notified no later than 5:30 a.m. and parents are informed via the news media, automated text messages, calls, and emails created through PowerSchool, Facebook, and Twitter.

Those with students are encour-aged to sign up for these automated messages by contacting either the Manistique Middle and High School or Emerald Elementary offices.

Decisions to close or delay school due to hazardous road conditions take in to consideration the ability of busses to navigate the roadways.
Weather conditions across the district can vary greatly due to lake effect snow and other factors.

The temperature and wind chill The temperature and wind chill factor, as well as the safety of children who walk to school are also considered. As a general rule, a wind chill factor of -30 degrees will lead to a school closure or delay, as frostbite can occur on exposed skin in a relatively short time.

If weather conditions are unpredictable, there is a change a delayed school status will be changed to a closed status. If a school closure takes place, the status of afterschool activities, such as athletic activities, will be determined on an individual basis.

For days when school has a layed start, the middle and high school will begin at 10:15 a.m., white Emerald Elementary will be-gin at 10:25 a.m. Buses will arrive at the designat-

As for the effect the recent school closures - five in the past two weeks - have on the district, Parmentier states that staff members will have to adjust schedules to make up work missed during the snow days.

'With state testing, staff want to make sure students are prepared for these assessments," he said. "There is stress involved in this because we want our students to do well."

Parmentier pointed out that the Parmentier pointed out that the district can request up to three additional "forgiveness days" to compensate for the school closures.

"Every district is allowed six days. They can request three more.

days. I ney can request three more. These days are not a given," he explained "While Gov. Gretchen Whitmer signed Executive Order 2019-01 to declare a State of Emergency in Michigan ... (it) does not call for the required closing of schools. That remains a decision by local school leaders.

COs respond to numerous calls during winter storms

MARQUETTE - With temperatures dropping to 18 degrees below zero, rescuers in Alger County were sent to Clyde Lake to find three snowmobilers whose sleds had fallen through the ice into the water.

Conservation officer Mark Zit-Conservation officer Mark Zit-niand U.S. Forest Service officer Dave Tembruell were the last dis-patched to the scene, but the first to find the snowmobilers. "We found them huddling around a fire, soaking wet," Zitnik said.

With a stream feeding into the lake, the ice the riders' sleds dropped through measured only about an inch thick. The water was about an inch thick. The water was 3 to 4 feet deep.

One of the snowmobilers had climbed a ridge to reach enough cellphone signal to notify county dispatchers. EMS personnel treated the men and officers got them safely back to their vehicle. The follow-ing day, the three sleds were pulled from the lake.

This incident from Jan. 26 illustrates the conditions officers were working under over eight days of in-tense winter weather, which ranged from wind chills approaching 40 degrees below zero to blizzard conditions that forced the closure of a section of more than one of the Up-per Peninsula's major highways. "Our conservation officers re-spond to dangerous, potentially Boudreaux approached the vehicle, which wasn't running, and noticed it was unoccupied but still in drive with its headlights on. Seeing this as odd, Boudreaux at tempted to locate contact info for the registered owner of the vehicle, but the car was a Wisconsin rental. While attempting to contact rental companies, a vehicle pulled up and dropped off the driver of the car, who said she had run out of gas while driving home from a concert. She was worried she was going to have to stay the night in her car. Boudreaux helped refuel her vehi-cle and was about to leave when she flagged him down, stating her car wouldn't start. Boudreaux pulled wouldn't start. Boudreaux putted his truck around and jump-started the battery. Boudreaux followed the thankful driver to the next gas sta-tion to ensure she didn't have any further issues along the way. CO David Miller was on patrol in Baraga County when he encoun stranded motorist on Bay shore Drive whose vehicle would not start. Miller was able to jump-start the stranded vehicle and safely get the motorist on their way.

the officers arrived, they saw the vehicle had left the highway, went through a guard rail and traveled approximately 100 yards before crashing into a tree. The driver of the vehicle had several deep lacera-tions to each of his hands. The officers rendered first aid until EMS

CO Zach Painter received reports of a roughly 70-year-old snowmod-biler who had gotten separated from his group earlier that day of Lake Gogebic and could not be located. Painter was notified early in the af-ternoon and responded to Bergland where the subject had been seen the day Painter located the man, uninjured, at a local bar, looking for his group.

CO Painter was on patrol in Gogebic County during white-out conditions when he located a car stopped and partially in the lane of traffic near a busy intersection. The driver could barely see out of her windshield. Painter assisted the mo windshield. Painter assisted the mo-torist in getting into a nearby park-ing lot where she could wait for the snow to let up.

CO Doug Hermanson patrolled Keweenaw County roadways to check for any disabled vehicles in the face of sub-zero weather condi-tions. A vehicle was located stuck in a lookout area where a family had attempted to turn around. They had attempted to turn around. They had been unable to get a cell phone signal to call for help and were at-tempting to dig snow from under-neath the car by hand. The car was then pushed out with the assistance of the family.

CO Hermanson stopped two snowmobiles operating on Hough-ton County roads in white-out conditions. Directions were given and a subsequent checkup at the hotel is done to verify they had arrived Still in Houghton County, CO Hermanson came across a vehicle that had run out of gas in the middle of the roadway. Traffic control was conducted to avoid collisions and arrangements were made for deliv-arrayments are sponded to a report of a northern Chippewa County. Three snowmobilers had left the Paradise area to ride the snowmobile trails.

Their day quickly turned to panic when one of the three snowmobilers went missing. With limited cell phone coverage and frigid tempera-tures, it became a desperate search for their missing friend. After searching for nearly three hours, the riders decided to call 911 for assis tance. The officers quickly loaded their snowmobiles and responded to the last known location of the group. The party was soon reunited,

CO Ethen Mapes pulled out a snowmobiler stranded in remote area of state land in Charlevoix

CO Andrea Albert and PCO Andrea Dani pulled a stranded motor-ist out of a ditch in Antrim County, They also conducted traffic control county roads. In separate incidents, they also pulled out two stuck snowmobilers.

CO Paul Fox assisted two motorists who were stuck on M-33 in Presque Isle County.

Conservation officers reported extremely cold temperatures during Tip-Up Town on Houghton Lake. Despite the extreme conditions, the COs were out on patrol on UTVs

COs John Huspen and Jame Garrett responded to a report that a snowmobile had gone through the ice near the mouth of the Muskegon River. Arriving in the area. the officers were flagged down by the owners of the snowmobile. Af-ter determining that no one was injured and no one was in the water, they assisted in the removal of the sidyinobile. A nearby homeowner, wearing a pair of chest waders, of-fered to help. The helpful citizen stood in water three feet deep and lifted the back of the snowmobile as the COs pulled it out of the water by the skis, back onto the ice

On Jan 25 CO Mike Evink and PCO Todd Sumbera were on their way to conduct a patrol on Indian Lake in Schoolcraft County when a call of a missing 7-year-old came over the radio. The two-COs were on scene with Manistique public safety within minutes. The girl was found within half an hour.
