MAS budget showing progress

Fund balance in amended budget nearing $1 million

MANISTIQUE – The Manistique Area Schools District budget is improving, with an increased fund balance of nearly $1 million showing in the amended 2018-19 budget. The amended budget was approved during a recent MAS Board of Education meeting.

According to MAS Business Manager Donna Winkler, the amended budget reflects changes that have occurred since the budget was last amended in November. "Once that time, she said the district has received their new taxable values, with updated property taxes.

"They've (property taxes) been lowered by $36,885," Winkler explained. "What we don't receive in taxes, we receive in state aid and there were a couple other adjustments in state aid, due to some special education costs and some prior-year activity, so that actually went up $68,855."

Federal grants increased by just over $6,000, Winkler said. Additionally, the district also sold its front-end loader, causing the sale of school property to be increased by $3,685.

"Athletics is down $8,000 due to admissions and student fees and I think part of that is probably due to the crazy schedules we had this year (caused by weather)," Winkler explained. "We have to adjust the public library millage so that we only claim what we spend and since penal fines are up $20,000, we had to decrease the millage by basically that amount."

Food service revenue was down by $15,000.

"That is due to federal reimbursement and local collection because we've missed 11 days of school," Winkler said. "It makes a difference."

The total revenue for the district is up $18,846.

"Expenditures, unfortunately, are also up," Winkler said. "Salaries – there was a lot of activity, a lot of movement, which

Temporary signs take center stage at city council meeting

A business request leads to lengthy discussion Monday

MANISTIQUE – Signage is the latest cause of confusion and animosity between some members of the Manistique City Council and the public. The placement of a temporary sign to publicize a local business's day-long event was discussed at length during Tuesday's regular council meeting.

According to Chapter 50 – Zoning, Article IV – Signs, Section 50-156 – Intent, of the Manistique Code of Ordinances, the intent of the sign ordinance is to regulate the "location, size, placement, and certain features of signs ... necessary to enable the public to locate goods, services, and facilities without difficulty and confusion". Additionally, the intent of the sign ordinance is also to "prevent wasteful use of natural resources in competition among business for attention, to prevent hazards of life and property, and to assure the continued attractiveness of the community and protect property values."

Signs which may be "lawfully be erected and maintained" must prove consistent with customary usage, while signs that are not lawfully be erected or maintained will be found to be "not consistent with customary usage, are an abuse thereof, and are unwarranted invasions of the rights of legitimate business interests and of the public."

Section 50-163 of the ordinance – specifically addressing temporary signs – states "signs which are intended to identify or advertise a nonprofit annual or one-time event or occurrence, such as a fair or other event of general public interest, shall be permitted for a period not to exceed 30 calendar days. The section states that the sign may be placed as long as it is "not contrary to the spirit and purpose of this article and shall conform to all size limitations set forth by this article. The applicant is responsible for both the erection and removal of all signs. All signs must be removed no later than 10 days after the end of the event."

Section 50-159 – Off-premises sign regulations, states that "off-premises signs, other than billboards, are permitted along U.S. 2 in areas zoned B-2 and I." The signs must conform to a number of regulations, including a maximum sign area, maximum height not to exceed 40 feet and a minimum clearance of 10 feet measured from the ground level at the base of the sign to the bottom of the sign face, and a minimum of 300 feet from the intersection of public roads.

Elizabeth Douglas, owner of local business "Blue Mystique", a kayak and outdoor equipment rental business located on Traders Point Drive, recently submitted a special event request to receive permission to place a "non-intrusive" sign advertising a one-day event. Since her business is not visible from the highway, Douglas requested the signs be placed on city property adjacent to Traders Point Drive and U.S. Highway 2.

"I was told to go to the planning board – this would have been back in 2018, the planning board then directed me to the city council," and speaking with Corey Barr (member of the city's planning and zoning commission), he was the one who advised me to do this special events permit," Douglas explained. "Back in 2018 was my first letter from MDOT (Michigan Department of Transportation) saying I was allowed ... I wasn't in the clear vision

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor, The "war" of climate change provides an excellent opportunity to better understand the unscrupulous totalitarian actions constantly being put forth by the leftist democat party.

Of course, global cooling gained considerable traction with the general public. But then, instead of cooling as long predicted by man-made climate change advocates, the planet started warming again.

man-made climate chaos skeptics, and to stifle any debate. They all have financial, reputational [sic], and power stakes in the game. The next time you hear a politician cite "climate change", keep an eye on your wallet because higher taxes are coming in several hidden forms.

'Passport In Time' seeks participants for excavation

GLADSTONE – Hiawatha National Forest and the U.S. Forest Service's "Passport In Time" program are currently seeking 12 volunteers to participate in an archaeological excavation at the historic Camp Au Train July 29-Aug. 2.

No special skills are required to volunteer, but volunteers under age 18 must participate with a responsible adult. The minimum age for participation is 12.

Volunteers must commit to participate in the entire session.

Participants will join archaeologists from the U.S. Forest Service and the Industrial Heritage and Archaeology Program at Michigan Technological University. Passport In Time volunteers will help map the site, engage in a metal detector survey around the sites of the recreation hall and barracks, and excavate test units in the camp midden and near the mess hall.

Camp Au Train was established as a Civilian Conservation Corp camp in 1935 during the Great Depression (1929-39). As one of many established camps for this federal public work relief program, Camp Au Train served as the home for numerous, unemployed young men as they engaged in conservation work in the central Upper Peninsula of Michigan from approximately 1933 to 1942.

However, during the final years of World War II, the camp was re-purposed to house German prisoners of war captured during Rommel's failed Africa campaign. Camp Au Train was one of five POW camps located in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, and housed about 225 prisoners and 40 U.S. troops while occupied from 1944 through 1946.

Archaeological research at the Camp this year will focus on the everyday lives of both the CCC enrollees and the German POWs while they lived at Camp Au Train. There is ample history to take in, and much to learn about this site.

To learn more and apply for this volunteer opportunity, visit the Passport In Time website (<http://passportintime.com/camp-au-train-excavation-2019.html>). Applications are due June 3.

Settlement reached, rates lowered after UPPCO case

MARQUETTE – Upper Peninsula Power Company recently announced the Michigan Public Service Commission approved the settlement that was reached in its rate case. The approved settlement adjusts the rates being charged to all customers to reflect the cost of service, returns the full benefit of the Federal Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017, captures cost reductions achieved by UPPCO for energy purchases, recovers investments being made in the Smart Energy advanced metering infrastructure project and increases the cap for customer-owned distributed generation to 2 percent.

"It was encouraging that all eight parties in the case were able to reach settlement," said Jim Larsen, UPPCO's Chief Executive Officer. "Overall, UPPCO has reduced rates for residential customers by 12 percent and Industrial customers by 33 percent since the last rate case, three years ago. This case consolidates many of those savings and simplifies the rates being charged by the Company."

"As a state-regulated utility, the Company routinely submits regulatory filings to the MPSC to comply with Michigan's laws and regulations," said Brett French, UPPCO's Vice-President of Business Development and Communications. "Under the approved settlement, a typical residential customer that consumes 500 kilowatt-hours of energy per month will save approximately $2 off their monthly energy bill. Commercial and some industrial customers will see moderate increases in their rates; however, the new rates are still lower than the rates that were approved by the MPSC in 2014. Overall, these reductions reflect the Company's continued efforts to stabilize rates and provide increased value to our customers."

The MPSC approved settlement

also includes the Company's advanced meter reading infrastructure project. "Our Smart Energy project is designed to improve upon reliability, deliver increased customer service and eliminate the current practice of reading meters every other month," said French.

The new rates will go into effect beginning with the June billing cycle.

Andrea T. Colwell

MANISTIQUE — Andrea T. Colwell passed away on Sunday, May 26, 2019. She was born July 26, 1944, one of two children of Dorothea Ann (Leutheuser) and Bernard Lee Thompson. Andrea Thompson grew up with love and security in Somerset, Mich. She was a member of the Somerset Congregational Church and attended Somerset School through grade six, the one-room school attended by her mother, aunts, and uncles. Grades seven and eight were at her parents' Addison High School before the family moved to Jackson, Mich.

Andrea graduated from Albion College in 1966 with a major in German. She played the violin in the college orchestra for a time, a continuation of early interest and experience. Her time at Albion included Summer Honors College to participate at Harvard University's Widener Library in a Swedish novel bibliography project. She also spent a semester taking art history and literature courses at the University of Vienna in Austria under the auspices of The Institute of European Studies.

Andrea and Peter F. Colwell enjoyed a 52-year marriage with mutual love and dedication and with the pleasures of raising and appreciating their daughter. Peter's career meant that the family would live in Athens, Ga.; Frederick, Md., and Champaign, Ill. Andrea earned an MEd in the teaching of German from the University of Georgia. She was president of the honor society in the Department of Germanic and Slavic Languages. Years later she earned an MA in speech and hearing science at the University of Illinois. The most satisfying areas of her work and volunteerism were the diagnosis and treatment of stuttering and of language-based reading challenges.

Peter and Andrea made Manistique their home 15 years ago, which meant attachment to a welcoming community. Andrea participated in the Presbyterian Church of the Redeemer and the Schoolcraft County Historical Society. She was sustained through her illness by her faith, family, friends, and a dedicated team at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Lifelong interests included contacts with immediate and extended family, old and new friends, homemaking, history, music, art, reading, the company of dogs, and the study of language. Hobbies included needlework, beachcombing, painting, and writing.

Andrea enjoyed researching and documenting the history and meaning of heirlooms to the families who saved them. She wrote the book Kitchen Kin, to preserve memories of older generations through Old World regional cooking traditions. Kitchen words, practices, and preferences served as clues to family geographic origins.

She was concerned about the challenges learners face with the usual methods of teaching reading. In recent years Andrea was formalizing a long-term project she called Access to Reading. This project included a simplified system of speech sounds called SOUNDERS, the key to sounding out any word for natural and fluent early reading.

Andrea was predeceased by her parents; sister, Mary Kathleen; aunts and uncles, two cousins, and sister-in-law, Carol (Colwell) Messer. She is survived by her husband Peter; daughter, Dorothea Colwell and Steven Fox; brother-in-law, Michael Ritz; and sister-in-law, Judith (Colwell) Huse; an uncle and aunts; cousins on both parents' sides; and Colwell nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held this summer at the Somerset Congregational Church in Hillsdale County, Mich. Directly after that, a graveside service will be held in the Somerset Township Cemetery directly behind the church.

Funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian Church of the Redeemer in Manistique on June 1 at 11:00 a.m. Fausett Family Funeral Homes of Manistique and Garden is assisting the family with arrangements. Family and friends may send condolences or share a memory at Fausettfh.com.

MHS seniors attend annual GFWC tea, receive message

MANISTIQUE – “Get out of your comfort zone” was the message Maurita Peterson Holland brought to the graduating Manistique High School senior girls and their mothers April 24 at the annual Senior Tea sponsored by the GFWC Manistique Women’s Club.

Holland emphasized that “real learning happens when we use what we know and build on it and when we test what we don’t know and learn with it. That’s typically what we do when we join with others and create, build, or perform... when we do extra-curricular stuff. It’s where passion, effort – grit – are found. It’s where we practice living.”

Holland gave tips and challenges for expanding the comfort zone for the college bound, for those getting a job and staying in town, and for the mothers who will have a little more space in their home and a little more time, too.

She encouraged community service and volunteering with non-profits organizations, boards, and committees.

Holland concluded that, “You’ll never leave home; you’ll always have the U.P. somewhere inside you. Our lakes, trees, and natural beauty are available whenever you close your eyes and think about them, no matter where in the world you go to sleep.”

Holland gave each graduate $20 as an incentive for stepping a bit out of their comfort zone and as a symbol of her confidence in each of the graduates.

“It’s something you didn’t expect, so it may help you remember my message: step out of your comfort zone. Use it in some way that stretches the edges. Use it, then think about what you learned, what you’ll do the next time ...

and keep doing it.”

Holland was MHS valedictorian in 1962. In high school, she conducted the pep band, played flute, trombone, and accordion, accompanied numerous choral groups, served as church organist, participated in forensics and yearbook; she spent summers at the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

A graduate of the University of Michigan’s School of Music, where she pursued doctoral work in musicology, and the School of Information and Library Studies, she taught and did research in the UM’s College of Engineering and the College of Education and is an Emerita Professor in the School of Information.

She traveled extensively internationally studying technology applied appropriately among indigenous peoples and worked on American Indian reservations with the American Indian Higher Education Consortium. She divides time between her homes in Gulliver and Anni Arbor, continues active music performance, is an active Michigan State University Extension master gardener and conservation steward, has chaired several non-profit boards, and works with numerous environmental organizations.

Landscape structures provide function, beauty

Incorporate arbors, trellises and other structures into your designs when planning new or updating existing gardens and landscapes. These structures help form the framework of any garden, add year-round interest and provide years of beauty and function.

Utilize arbors to define and connect distinct areas of the landscape. Invite visitors into your landscape with a vine-covered arbor. Guests won’t be able to resist the invitation to enter and experience the beauty that lies beyond. Cover these structures with vines for seasonal interest, additional texture and blossoms.

Combine two different vines to extend or double your floral display. Plant an annual vine for quick cover with a perennial that takes a year or more to establish and cover the structure.

Beat summer’s heat by creating your own shade with vine-covered arbors. Plant annual or deciduous vines that let the sun and its warmth shine through during the cooler months. When the leaves return, they provide shade and cooler temperatures during warmer times.

Arbors are as much at home in the food garden as the flowerbed. Connect two garden beds with an over-the-top arbor.

Grow pole beans, melons or squash up and over the Titan Squash Tunnel (gardeners.com). You’ll expand your gardening space by going vertical and help reduce disease problems by increasing the sunlight and airflow reaching the plants. Secure large fruit to its obelisk with a net, cotton or macramé sling to prevent them from breaking off the vines.

Dress up any home, garage or shed with trellises covered with flowering vines, climbing roses or an espaliered fruit tree. Provide space between the wall and trellis when mounting them to a building. The space reduces the risk of damage to the wall and the plants benefit from the added airflow and light.

Many trellises are works of art in their own right, so when the plants go dormant the structure continues to dress up an otherwise blank wall. Whether you prefer simple squares and diamonds, circles, leaves or ceramic songbirds perched among the branchlike supports of the Enchanted Woods Trellis; select a design that reflects your personality and complements your garden design.

Combine several trellis sections to create a decorative screen or bit of fencing. This is a perfect solution for creating privacy or a bit of vertical interest in any size or shape of garden space.

Add colorful glass bottles and contemporary design to a vertical planting with a trellis like Gardener’s Achla Designs Vinifera Bottle Trellis.

Use obelisks as focal points and plant supports in the garden or containers. They’re perfect for creating scale in the garden, especially when new plantings are small and immature. Select a support tall and sturdy enough for the plants you are growing.

Add a bit of beauty and elegance when growing watermelons, cucumbers, pole beans or tomatoes. Train them onto decorative obelisks and they’ll be pretty enough to include in flowerbeds and mixed borders.

Add more beauty and a bit of hummingbird appeal with scarlet runner beans. The bright red flowers are followed by green beans that can be eaten fresh or its large seeds harvested and used fresh or dried.

Always consider the function, strength and beauty when selecting structures for your landscape. Team them up with plants suited to your growing conditions and you will benefit from years of enjoyment.

The 2019 Baccalaureate

The 19th annual Graduation Baccalaureate Service was held May 19 at the Manistique Middle and High School auditorium. The featured speaker for the service was Dr. David Schoenow, M.D. He challenged the graduates to utilize courage and faith as they move forward into their next steps in life. The annual service is sponsored by the Manistique Area Kiwanis Club. Pictured in front from left, to right: McKenna Ozanich, Ashley McDonald, Melanie Jones, Giulita Rota, Joslyn Muth, and Kaitlyn Arnold. Back row: Rev. Jay Martin, Matt Wood, Brett Boyd, Oscar Johnson, Levi Lakosky, Darren Hicks, Darren McCaffrey, and Dr. David Schoenow M.D.

The senior center is once again participating in the Michigan DHHS Aging and Adult Services Agency Senior Farmers Nutrition Program, also known as Senior Project Fresh program.

The Project Fresh program gives eligible seniors coupons worth $20 to purchase fresh produce from local farmers market and other vendors. We have the coupon books and they are available for pickup during regular business hours at the senior center.

To be eligible for the Senior Project Fresh coupons, you must be at least 60 years of age, live in Schoolcraft County and meet the income guidelines. For a household of one person, the guideline is $22,459; and for two people it's $30,451.

Stop into the senior center office to fill out the application and get your coupons. Coupons are limited to one per household and are limited in number.

There is still one seat left on the bus for the Pigeon Forge and Smoky Mountains Show Trip taking place on Oct. 6-12. If you're interested, call the senior center right away and be sure to reserve your spot.

Everyone seems very excited to be having this opportunity once again, you don't want to miss out!

We have an overstock of Saykly's specialty candy bars in stock that we're selling $1. The Chocolate Mint Meltaway, Chocolate Peanut Butter Bar, Chocolate Caramel and Chocolate Meltaway.

They are available for sale in the senior center office.

The Craft and Vendors Sale is only a couple of weeks away and coming up fast. June 22 will be here before you know it.

Kim and the fundraising committee are committed to making this a success. There are several craft sellers and vendors already signed up, but she still has some table space available. Kim will have pasties and cinnamon rolls available the day of as well, so be sure to call us and pre-order if you know you're going to want some to eat or some to take.

A while ago I had mentioned in the article that we have a Home-town Heroes board honoring military members. If you have a loved one that you would like to put up on the board, please bring a picture on down and we will display it for all to see.

I have observed many people looking over that board to see who's on it. We also send out military packages to active military members, so if you have a member or know of one who would like to receive a package, please bring us their name and address.

Please make sure the address is current to avoid the package being returned.

A special "thank you" to William E. Deloria for once again providing a one-year gift subscription to the Readers Digest Large Print books that continue to be added to our library. If you are a reader and haven't checked out our library, you are invited to come and do so.

MTU Summer Youth Program kicks off June 16

HOUGHTON —Michigan Technological University's Summer Youth Program is gearing up for another season of learning, adventure and fun.

Things kick off June 16 and the one-week sessions will continue through Aug. 3. SYP explorations, designed for middle and high school students, offer more than education. Featured explorations in this summer's course catalogue include:

- Calling All Writers (June 16-22) — This new course is designed to show high school students where writing can take them. Creative writing, technical writing and writing for digital media platforms are among the styles examined in this exploration. Students will meet professional writers who will critique their work.
- Aquatic Ecology (July 7-13) — This exploration is for sixth, seventh and eighth graders who desire to get wet and muddy. Students will learn about freshwater ecology in the U.P.'s Keweenaw Peninsula. Find out who's eating who in the Great Lakes, what makes a species invasive and what could be lurking in your back-yard stream. Learn why some lakes are clear while others are green and murky. This exploration takes place in the great outdoors as well inside Michigan Tech's labs.
- Biotechnology (July 7-13) — Technology based on biology is used to improve your life and the planet all around you. In this exploration, middle-school students will learn techniques in microbiology, genetics and molecular biology to understand how microorganisms can be used to solve problems. They'll explore another world unseen by the naked eye with microscopes and insert foreign DNA from jellyfish into bacteria to give it the ability to glow in the dark.

cards, I do posters -- the rack cards don't work... posters are okay," she said. "I do a ton of Facebook. I spend a ton of money promoting Manistique on Facebook. I boost posts to 12 different locations within Wisconsin and Michigan every Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday year-round. So, I'm doing my due diligence to try to advertise Blue Mystique and advertise the area. I think we can work together and have professionally-made signs that are put in the morning of the event and taken out that evening."

ing to lure the tourists' business about other signage, such as that for Folkefest and the Manistique Farmers' Market, which benefits the small businesses who set up during these events.

Following Golat's presentation of the ordinance, Vandagriff questioned why the planning commission had denied Douglas's request for signage.

Barr explained that the denial by the planning commission was linked to the city ordinance allowing only non-profit signage.

"We followed the rule," he said. Douglas said the letter she received from the planning commission noted that the "planning board and any other city department can only make recommendation for ordinance changes to the city council for their review and decision-making" - which is why she brought it to city council.

Manistique City Attorney Bruce Plackowski noted that there is "nothing in the sign ordinance that allows for a waiver".

"If you want to change the sign ordinance, you have to come and change the ordinance," he said.

Under Section 50-162 of the sign ordinance, signs for conditional use, a conditional use permit may be issued by the planning commission. The commission is tasked with stipulating the "maximum sign area, setback requirements, location, sign height and other requirements of a sign on the parcel."

Douglas requested clarification

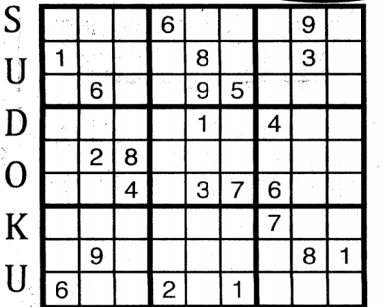

Vandagriff explained that a 2014 Supreme Court decision "Reed v. (Town of Gilbert) Arizona dealt with a church placing directional signs throughout the area regarding church services which were placed and taken down the same day."

"The finding was the sign ordinance cannot discriminate on content, who put up the sign or the purpose of the sign," he said. "In other words, if you have to differentiate the type of sign being regulated by reading the sign content... then the regulation is unconstitutional. That means that when Ken (Golat) drives down the street, the only thing he can look at is the shape of the sign, the size of the sign."

Perilloux interjected, noting, "I'm sure Ken knows his job."

"Well, I'm sure that Supreme Court Justice (Clarence) Thomas understands his job also," Vandagriff replied. "City officials cannot subjectively deny a permit if the permit is used and all areas of the requirement are fulfilled. Now,

"Our guiding policy on the issue is that the ordinances and what MDOT, what their policies are involving clear vision areas," Bill Vandagriff, who accompanied Douglas in making her request, noted that Douglas was provided with a special event permit application in lieu of a sign permit because there is no sign permit in existence for the city.

"I called them (MDOT) ... I said I just need clarification to move forward with the city to get the permission because the city feels that it's an MDOT issue," she said. "We went through the whole procedure of applying for a permit through MDOT... MDOT sent me another letter clarifying that it's not their jurisdiction, this is the city."

Perilloux said that Douglas's request was "really ambiguous" and that he needed to know where the signs were to be placed so they could all be on the "same sheet of music". Douglas provided detailing the location of the proposed signage, noting again that MDOT had denied her permit request through their agency by citing that it was not within their jurisdiction.

"This is your opportunity to present your case," Perilloux said. Douglas noted that when she holds events, which is frequently, attendees ask why there is no signage publicizing the event.

"People need signs. We do rack

He also pointed out that there are no signs permitted on the right-of-way of a public road.

"There are no provisions for her sign," Golat said. "We do have provisions for non-profits to post signs in legal places, but this is not a non-profit organization... There is no provision, that I can see, to legally have the sign unless the city gives her permission."

He added that if Douglas is allowed to place the signage, that it may prompt other businesses to place temporary signs.

she (Douglas) fulfilled every one of those requirements - all you asked was her name, where she was putting the sign - that's all you asked."
Vandagriff also pointed out that there are other businesses who display temporary signage in Manistique throughout the year.
"I want to know, in this town, is it who you know or are you for business?" he asked.
Golat noted that there is no favoritism for any business and that each business is treated equally.
Councilperson Cathy Rohde expressed interest in finding a way to "work out something amicably."
"Well, you can't make a waiver for a law," Perilloux said.
When Rohde replied that she understood that, Perilloux responded with "Do you have a motion then?"

"No, I just wanted to have more discussion on it," Rohde said. "I would like to be able to somehow help and I realize that we have ordinances."
Plackowski recommended that the city's newly-formed ad-hoc committee, along with Golat, meet to look into changing the sign ordinance to include a waiver system.
Perilloux mentioned that a petition could also serve to change the ordinance.
Rohde made a motion to explore changing the sign ordinance. The motion passed with "yes" votes from Rohde, Councilperson Paul Walker, and Councilperson Mia Broullire. Perilloux cast the sole "no" vote. Councilperson Kimberly Shiner was absent.

is unusual between November and April... When it all washed out, they (expenditures) only increased by about $5,000."
Winkel said that a couple teachers may retire after the 2018-19 school year, and so that was considered as part of the amended budget.
"I built in almost $35,000 for retirement bonuses," she said.
"Fringe benefits are up because we had some teachers who went from taking just dental and vision to taking full health insurance in January - that's an option that they have."
Also on the expense side, Winkel said instructional services increased.

"We had a couple of long-term substitutes in the buildings and we put a teacher in the Spanish class and that makes a difference there," she said. "Purchased services are down, mostly due to the change in the business office where we switched from contracted service to in-house."
The new phone system installed this year led to an increase of $6,000 in that budget, while bus repairs, parts and labor required $32,000.
"(There was) a total increase in expenditures of $181,999," Winkel explained. "This makes the total decrease in fund equity $163,153. At this point, which is still a very conservative budget and hopefully it will only get better... we're looking at a fund balance of $946,522."

Board members asked if the fund balance was over five percent of the total general fund balance, which is a requirement of districts under Public Act 109. Winkel noted that the fund balance was more than 10 percent of the total general fund balance.

The budget amendments were unanimously approved by the MAS board.

Grants program was used to obtain a $30,000 grant.
According to the USDA RD project description, "This Rural Development investment will be used by Inwood Township to purchase a fire tanker truck. This vehicle will be used in tandem with another tanker truck. Depending on the fire call location, a deleted tanker will need to travel miles to obtain a water source to get refilled. The addition of this vehicle will likely save life and property."
The total project cost is expected to be $180,000, with Inwood Township pursuing private lender financing for $130,000.
According to Allen, the grants are a "great resource for the community to have, allowing for 24-hour Manistique Public Safety Department and Inwood Township Fire Department protection."

DNR: Beware of rabies this spring in Michigan

LANSING — Warmer weather creates additional opportunities for outdoor activities in Michigan and increases the chances of wildlife encounters. Michiganders are reminded to adopt practices that protect their families and animals from rabies.

Rabies is a viral disease of mammals that is transmitted through the bite or scratch of an infected animal. Bats and skunks are the most common carriers of rabies in Michigan. In 2018, there were 79 cases of rabies in animals in the state, including 77 bats and two skunks.

Rabies testing at the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is ramping up, and as of May 22, the MDHHS Bureau of Laboratories has identified rabies in five bats and two skunks of 928 animals tested.

Michigan health departments experience increased calls from citizens about bat encounters during the warm weather months between May and September. During this time, bats are more active, searching for food and rearing their young. While bats are beneficial to our ecosystem, they are also one of the species that is a natural host for the rabies virus.

People or pets usually get exposed to rabies when they are bitten by an infected animal. Other situations that may present a risk are when a bat is found in a room with people who have been asleep, or a bat is found with an unattended child or an impaired adult who cannot be sure they didn't have contact with the bat. In these cases, it is important to collect the bat for rabies testing.

Rabies is fatal to humans. Post-exposure treatment is given to people who are exposed to a potentially rabid animal. Treatment is not necessary if the animal tests negative for rabies.

Protect your family and pets from rabies by taking these simple steps:

Avoid contact with wildlife. Do not keep wild animals as pets and do not try to rehabilitate wildlife yourself. Wild animals can carry rabies without looking sick.

If a wild animal appears sick, please report it to the Department of Natural Resources online at Michigan.gov/eyesinthefield or at (517) 336-5030.

If you are bitten or scratched by an animal, seek immediate medical attention and alert the local health department. A directory of local public health departments is available at Malph.org.

If you find a bat in your home, safely confine or collect the bat if possible and contact your local health department to determine if it should be tested for rabies. More information on how to collect a bat safely can be found on the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's website.

If you are unable or would prefer not to confine or collect a bat yourself, you may consider hiring a bat/wildlife removal service.

Protect your pets by getting them vaccinated against rabies. Even cats that live indoors and never go outside need to be vaccinated, as they can encounter a bat that gets inside the home.

If your animal is bitten or scratched by a wild animal or if you believe they have had unsupervised contact with wildlife, contact your veterinarian as soon as possible. Even if your pet is currently vaccinated against rabies, additional actions may need to be taken to prevent them from becoming infected.

Fish Report

Ret. Sgt. John Walker

Well, the end of May is here and we have made it through the first of our three "summer" holidays and it seems like there were a lot of family get-togethers where there were good times had by all. There is never a bad time or a poor excuse to justify not having a good time with family and friends. Life is always good if you take the time to go there and enjoy it.

With the opening of bass season being this weekend, too, there were those out trying their luck. In some cases it seems that with the crazy weather we have been having that the water is still so cold that the bass did not seem to be willing to cooperate with the fishermen. Still some did manage to catch a few pan fish and have a nice fish fry with the crew.

With all the rain we have had those out picking night crawlers for the summer fishing season have managed to pick enough already for all summer. But doing this with each passing year if I want to remind myself just how much things have slowed down all I have to do is go out and still think I am fast enough to spot then grab a night crawler before he is back in his hole. When I try doing this I soon find out that being over three-fourths of a century old it is much easier to just stop by Linda's Bread Box and buy a dozen worms.

Speaking of the weather we have been having, needless to say, it is super wet in any low spots out in the woods. Also the lakes are super high right now and this includes both the Great Lakes and the inland lakes. In some cases the boat launches and some boat docks are under water. If you are used to using some of these launches you may want to be ready for almost anything when putting your boat in. This also means in some areas where you are used to walking out to do a little fishing you may find the water a whole lot deeper this summer. So be ready for almost anything this summer on your adventures.

I always try in my articles to take a minute to remind people to always be careful when out making use of all we have up here. It seems over the weekend there were a couple of ATV accidents that ended up being fatal accidents. What seems to make both of the accidents I was reading about even more interesting was the fact that both victims were older men not some youth out there tearing around. So I guess this means no matter what your age, may be you should still always make it a point to think safety first.

Over the Memorial Day holiday I came across something rather interesting that there is no doubt in my Yooper mind that those politically correct people out there are in for a real bad day when they find this out. Those that were for pulling down all the monuments of the Civil War are now going to have a big project on their hands.

Did you know that the land where Arlington National Cemetery is was once owned by George Washington's family? Do you know that in the year 1831 this property had a new owner a man that had married Washington's adopted son's daughter and lived on the land for 31 years and raised his family there. Would you believe it, the place that we now know as Arlington National Cemetery was once the home of Robert E. Lee? How are those that want to re-write history going to handle this when they find out that this sacred ground was once Robert E. Lee's home? There is no doubt in my mind that there could be a bionic meltdown when this is found out by those that are trying to change history. I have always said that looking at history can be a rather interesting adventure as to what you might learn.

I have the whole article sitting here in front of me if you are a history buff and would like to read it I personally found the whole article rather interesting as to how all the flags are placed at Arlington and the respect as to how things are done to the history of Arlington itself. It was sure an eye-opening article to read. As seeing Memorial Day 2019 is now in the history books, I hope you took a minute to think about why we all go to enjoy it like we did and those that made it possible.

Outdoors Brief

DNR accepting applications for Youth Conservation Council

Young people with a passion for protecting and improving Michigan's natural areas, meeting new friends, gaining leadership experience and having fun outdoors are encouraged to apply for a spot on the Michigan Natural Resources Commission's Youth Conservation Council.

The Department of Natural Resources is accepting applications from youth ages 14 to 18, and all applications must be postmarked or emailed by June 7.

Council members will explore Michigan's outdoor recreation opportunities, work as a team to develop ideas to get other youth outside and discuss solutions to natural resource challenges — all under the guidance of the DNR.

"The council is a great opportunity for young people to discuss and share their unique perspective on all aspects of Michigan's outdoors," said Ray Ruster, Youth Conservation Council advisor. "These youth get to make new friends that have similar interests, too. Several of our first members tell me they still maintain social media connections with members they met on the council. It is these associations that will grow and be a base for continuing our state's remarkable outdoor tradition."

A council appointment lasts two years, and members will be expected to participate in two to three meetings each year. During the meetings, members participate in discussions, conduct research and brainstorm ideas about ways to protect, promote and enhance outdoor recreation and the use of Michigan's natural resources. During their time on the council, members will meet with local department personnel to enhance their learning experience.

In addition, members will be expected to:

-Write and submit three articles on outdoor activities for the Youth Conservation Council blog.

-Help develop and participate in local events to encourage kids to get outdoors.

The council is continuing to explore how to use social media to engage youth, and already has developed a Facebook page, established a youth blog and an Instagram account (@youthoutdoors) to share their favorite outdoor experiences.

Applications are available on the DNR website, along with frequently asked questions that offer more detail about the Youth Conservation Council.

Applications can be emailed to ruster@michigan.gov. Physical applications must be postmarked by June 7 and can be mailed to: NRC Youth Conservation Council, ATTN: Raymond Ruster, P.O. Box 30028 Lansing, MI 48909

ANSWERS FOR MAY 30, 2019

CROSSWORD
June 3 - June 9
HOROSCOPES
ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20
Aries, you may want to cut back on physical activity for a while while, especially if you have been recovering from an injury. Don't worry, you'll get back in the saddle again soon.
TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21
Taurus, someone you thought was a friend may be looking for something more. If you are in a relationship, you'll have to set this person straight.
GEMINI - May 22/June 21
Focus your attention on something creative instead of analyzing this week. Gemini, you can probably use a break from spreadsheets and bar graphs.
LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23
Cauter, too many projects and people vying for your attention make it tough for you to see anything through to completion. There will be time to get it done in the future.
VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 23
There is a lesson to be learned this week, Leo. But you will not know what it is until you're in the thick of things. You will come out ahead either way, so don't fret.
LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
Wise, you have the future on your mind, specifically where you will be in a few months or years. If you are not content, start mapping out a plan to follow.
SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
Scorpio, intuition naturally comes your way, and you want to do anything out of the ordinary to direct more of it to you. In fact, spend some time out of the intellect if you can.
SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Give yourself a few days to lounge around and enjoy some rest and relaxation, Sagittarius. You can probably use it right now if the pace has been hectic.
CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
Avoid making any binding promises this week, Capricorn. You may just feel lousy into things, and you need extreme focus to follow through.
AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
Aquarius, focus on bringing some more romance to your relationship this week. Some cute texts or leave love notes around the house. These little gestures will add up.
PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20
Your charm is off the charts lately, Pisces. You can get just about anything you want. Just make sure your powers are put to good use.
