A FUTURE WORTH SEEING?

City council considering support for Triangle Park conceptual

MANISTIQUE — A conceptual plan for the enhancement of Triangle Park is being explored by the Manistique Downtown Development Authority and the Manistique City Council. The conceptual, discussed during Monday's Manistique City Council meeting, is a possible extension of a smaller plan to develop additional downtown parking near the planned Lake Effect Community Arts cultural center.

According to a pre-meeting memo from Mike Perilloux, mayor of Manistique, the Manistique Downtown Development Authority in May agreed to partner with the Manistique City Council in the possible acquisition of the former Renze building parking lot, located on Arbutus Avenue in downtown Manistique. The purchase of the parking lot, according to Perilloux, would be funded using the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Community Development Block Grant Program, with a 10 percent match required.

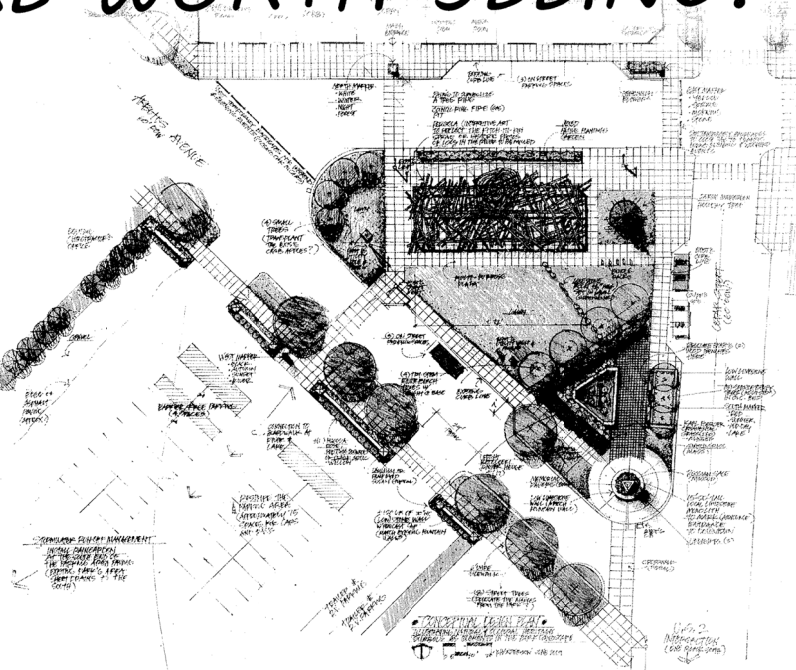

"The purchase and partnership with the city will enhance the possibility of obtaining the full Community (Development) Block Grant to revitalize the (former) Renze [sic] building," Perilloux wrote. "Once renovations have been completed using the grant, Lake Effect (Community) Arts will have a fully functional community arts building for all of Manistique's residents."

Perilloux ended his memo by stating that the council would have to decide whether or not to partner with the DDA on the possible acquisition and move forward with the initial application for the CDBG program.

According to LECA President Theresa Bratton, in March, Manistique City Manager Sheila Aldrich had contacted LECA to inform them that a CDBG opportunity was available if the organization still wanted to create an art center for the community.

"The Community Development Block Grant is a 90-percent funding, 10-percent match grant," Bratton explained. "This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity ... they're typically not funding that amount. So, what has started off as an arts center has the potential to become a whole lot more, because these grants will fund up to $10 million."

SMH corrects rumor, expresses dismay at circulated inaccuracies

Distributed letters prove to be unfounded, inaccurate

MANISTIQUE — Two members of the Schoolcraft Memorial Board of Trustees addressed Manistique City Council during the public comment period of the regularly scheduled meeting Monday. Their comments were intended to dispute recently circulated, misleading information regarding the financial affairs of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital — in particular, the timely filings of SMH's annual audit.

SMH Board of Trustees President Don Perigo and Trustee Peter Wood addressed council about what they claim were "alarming" and "disparaging" comments and misinformation being circulated throughout the community by a "council member".

A packet of information handed out to each council member included copies of two letters issued to SMH from the Michigan Department of Treasury indicating that SMH failed to file their annual audit with the state in a timely manner and, as a result, the state would withhold revenue sharing from the hospital.

"I come before you at the request of the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees, which I am a member, Perigo said. "The board was very alarmed and dismayed by a number of items that perhaps were disseminated publicly last week and statements that were imminent and developed from the materials that were sent out."

The reference by Perigo is a letter dated April 22, 2019, issued to SMH by the Department of Treasury that said Public Act 2 of 1968, the Uniform Budgeting and Accounting Act, requires local units of government to file an annual audit of its financial records with the Michigan Department of Treasury within six months of its fiscal year end. It refers to a local unit of government, as defined by the Act, is any entity that is formed by a primary unit of government or group of local governments.

The second letter, dated May 28, 2019, referenced claimed the SMH audit had not been received by the Department of Treasury as required and in accordance with Act 140 of 1971, the Glenn Steil State Revenue Sharing Act of 1971, Section 21, indicating that the department will begin to withhold revenue sharing (presumably due to the hospital) until the audit is submitted.

Additionally, as part of the materials provided by SMH, Perigo referenced a rebuttal letter dated June 21, 2019 from Bodman P.L.C. which is general counsel for SMH.

Quick facts

- Recent letters concerning the audits and financial position of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, allegedly circulated within the community by or with the assistance of a Manistique City Council member were addressed during Monday's meeting.
- Members of the SMH Board of Trustees were present at the city council meeting to rebut the misinformation spread by the letters and encouraged those circulating the letters to "do the legwork" and access the hospital's readily available financial information.

Judge William W. Carmody sentenced her to serve 24 to 240 months in prison, with credit for 114 days served.

According to the judgement, Ackley-Beauchaine will be eligible for boot camp after serving six months of incarceration — including the 114 days served.

Michigan Tech student-built satellite now orbiting Earth

HUGHTON — Mission accomplished. Michigan Technological University's student-built nanosatellite Oculus-ASR now orbits Earth.

Pad 39A at NASA's Kennedy Space Center, the historic site of the Apollo missions which sent the first astronauts to the moon nearly 50 years ago, is now also a part of Michigan Tech history. In a dramatic example of space research in action, at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday morning the student-built nanosatellite Oculus-ASR — named for its role as an orbiting eye — rode the SpaceX Falcon Heavy rocket into a nine-month mission to assist the Department of Defense in more efficient and accurate monitoring of the myriad of objects circling the globe.

Many of the 800 students who have been Enterprise members, and other Michigan Tech alumni and friends watched the livestream of what SpaceX founder Elon Musk described as "our most difficult launch ever." The mission, Falcon Heavy's first night launch, involved four upper-stage engine burns and three separate deployments. Huskies able to witness the event firsthand joined the jubilant applause and cheers — and the indrawn breath when the Falcon Heavy's center core failed to land on the drone ship "Of Course I Still Love You," the single glitch in an otherwise successful multi-stage mission.

College of Engineering Dean Janet Callahan said that over the past 10 years, hundreds of students in the Aerospace Enterprise at Michigan Tech have worked on the Oculus-ASR and are now Michigan Tech alumni from a wide variety of majors. I am extremely proud of the team," she said, "as well as the team's advisor, Professor Brad King. He taught them, among many other things, the great value of perseverance."

It's been 15 years since Michigan Tech won first place in the University Nanosatellite program, funded by the Air Force Office of Science Research and administered by the Air Force Research Lab—where many Huskies currently work—and roughly 18 years since the Michigan Tech Aerospace Enterprise began. King, the Aerospace Team Advisor, said he can't take credit for the idea to start an Enterprise-focused on spacecraft design, testing and integration. Students John Verville and Casie Appin asked for it.

For more on the launch and the Aerospace Enterprise, read Huskies In Space on Michigan Tech News.

The off-street parking program for downtown Manistique is a dead issue. Following a heated city council session Monday night, council approved a motion that "the parking project be dropped, and that if the property owners want the alley paved, they (must) present a petition requesting it." Such paving would be on a special assessment basis, it was indicated. Leading the opposition to the proposed parking program at the Monday night meeting were G. Leslie Bouschor, who owns the Creighton Ford garage building and John Anderson, owner of the White Steer Market. Mayor Leo DeMars presented his report on a survey he had taken of property owners in the four block area that would be affected. It showed 15 in favor and 23 opposed. The only block in which a majority of the property owners approved the plan was the block bounded by S. Cedar, W. Oak, Pearl and Walnut streets. The vote there was 8-4. Cost of the project in that area was estimated at $31,345.75. Council had drawn up the proposal at the request of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce. The plans would have created 307 off-street parking areas. A committee of the Chamber had earlier appeared before the council to urge approval of the project.

For awhile there early this week, Manistique seemed like one of the busiest ports on the Great Lakes. Two steamers entered the harbor Monday to unload cargoes of crushed stone and sand that will be used in the US-2 surfacing project eastward from Thompson. The steamer J.L. Reiss arrived about 2 a.m. Monday with 4,200 tons of crushed stone from Port Inland. The Reiss is a 7,800 ton vessel, is 489 feet long, and has John Meissner as captain. It is owned by the Reiss Steamship Co. of Sheboygan, Wis. Unloading was completed in several hours and the Reiss left about 7 a.m. The next visitor was the steamer Crispin Oglebay, owned by the Columbia Transportation Co. of Cleveland, Ohio and captained by Joseph Galicky. The 532-foot long vessel, with a carrying capacity of 10,600 pounds, is probably the largest vessel to ever dock in the local harbor. It was only half loaded, bringing 5,400 tons of sand from Grand Haven, and drew only about 12 feet of water. The harbor depth here is listed officially as 18 feet. Both vessels were equipped with bow thruster propellers, and could easily back out of the harbor.

Jobless workers in Schoolcraft County will now have to travel to Escanaba to file their unemployment insurance claims. The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MES) announced this week that the Manistique office is one of 19 part-time locations in the state that will be permanently closed within two weeks. All are in sparsely-populated areas of the state. The MES has maintained office hours in the Manistique Armyory every Tuesday and Wednesday. Claimants will now have to travel to the MES office in Escanaba at 2827 N. Lincoln Rd. "To minimize the hardship of long traveling distances that some jobless workers might experience by the closings of these locations, the MES will offer a limited claims-by-mail option to some claimants," the announcement said.

Telephone exchanges switching to the new system are Garden, Gulliver, L'Anse and Manistique. "The new system, called Trouble Administration System, creates an efficient, paperless environment to handle repair requests," Kowalski said. "It cuts the time needed in half to get trouble reports to the proper repair group."

For the second time this year, economic conditions have forced a one-week shut down at the Carmeuse Lime and Stone Port Inland Plant. According to Site Operations Manager Jeff Himes, the facility suspended limestone production on Monday, June 29, with operations expected to resume next Monday, July 6. A similar one-week shut-down occurred at the plant in May. Shipments of limestone are continuing out of Port Inland harbor, with the goal of letting the facility's inventory "catch up with demand." Himes said that the demand remains soft.

Whitmer signs bills to combat opioid overdoses

LANSING — Gov. Gretchen Whitmer Wednesday signed House Bills 4367, 4121, and 4296 as well as Senate Bills 200, 282, and 283.

The bill package including SB 200, 282, 283 and HB 4367 will allow most state and municipal entities, including public libraries and public universities, to purchase, possess, and distribute opioid antagonists, and will allow properly trained employees of those entities to administer opioid antagonists.

"This legislation will be useful in combating the public health crisis of opioid overdoses and deaths affecting families across the state," said Whitmer. "With this bill package Michigan is demonstrating our bipartisan commitment to reducing opioid deaths and abuse here in Michigan."

Governor Whitmer also signed HB 4121 which will help keep Michigan residents in their homes by giving economically vulnerable residents an alternative to foreclosure while protecting property tax revenue for Michigan communities.

"We have seen firsthand how these avoidance agreements can help counties, residents and the economy," said Whitmer. "That is why this bill is an important part of protecting Michigan residents and taxpayers."

Nessel Joins FTC and 25 Other States in National Crackdown on Illegal Robocalls

LANSING — Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel recently joined the Federal Trade Commission and other states in announcing a sweeping crackdown on illegal robocalls, including 94 actions targeting operations around the U.S. responsible for more than a billion robocalls nationwide.

Industry experts estimate that 1.2 billion robocalls were made to Michigan residents in 2018. Experts are estimating residents have already received nearly 700 million robocalls in 2019.

The joint crackdown, dubbed "Operation Call it Quits," is part of the FTC's ongoing effort to help stem the tide of universally loathed pre-recorded telemarketing calls that range from pitching products and services to credit card interest reduction services, money-making opportunities and medical alert systems. The initiative also includes new information to help educate residents about illegal robocalls.

As part of the operation, Michigan's actions include forcing a settlement with Ardent Natural Gas, LLC in March 2019, which resolved alleged violations of the Home Solicitation Sales Act for using robocalls to illegally solicit Michigan consumers.

As part of the effort, the Michigan Attorney General's Office has already hosted 125 consumer education seminars focusing on robocalls and e-scams through May 30, 2019.

Boot Lake Bar and Grill celebrates relaunch

MANISTIQUE — Established in 1926, Boot Lake Bar and Grill has gone through a lot of changes in 93 years. From the early years as a trapping shack, to 1979's Jeanette's Boot Lake Bar, to its current launch as Boot Lake Bar and Grill with new owners Craig Trzeciak and Jennifer Champagne.

"I am so happy that the legacy of Boot Lake Bar is carrying on with Craig and Jennifer, including the old timer wood stove that my father, Bill, Chris Graves, and I hauled into the bar in 1979," said Brian Scarborough. "I have so many amazing memories growing up in Boot Lake and of my mother Jeanette (née Jeanette's Boot Lake Bar) and my father, Bill. As a young boy, my sister Barbara and I, were always struck by the unique characters that imprinted on us and carried through to the adults we have become." Trzeciak has more than 31 years of restaurant and bar hospitality experience. In 1994, he launched the highly successful Northlight Land-ling with partner Michael Dausey, which offered a full spectrum of culinary delights, including the highly sought after Sunday brunch. In 2004, Trzeciak took over Boot Lake Bar with then partner Ashley Webster, where they developed a diverse menu reflecting the tastes of the surrounding community. Trzeciak is excited to jump back in to Boot Lake Bar and Grill with partner Jennifer Champagne. "I absolutely love Boot Lake and its community. I am excited about the ideas that Jennifer and I

the Michigan Strategic Fund. According to Bratton, Jen Tucker, MEDC Region 1 community assistance team specialist, had previously noted that CDBG program participants must have financial support from the city in which the application originates.

"That could be as minimal as the public restrooms or as much as adding that public parking and possibly even some makeover renovations for Triangle Park," Bratton said. "This is really a golden opportunity for both Lake Effect and the city of Manistique. Lake Effect is prepared to take on the arts center portion of the project ... we need to know if the city is willing to take on the parking lot/Triangle Park portion of the project.

"We're currently under a time crunch - there is a pool of money, but there are a lot of people ... with projects," she continued. "We have kind of set our own goal of July 8 for having all of the (CDBG) intake materials to Jen Tucker. We pretty much have the majority of ours done."

Bratton added that by working together, "we can do amazing things for Manistique and our downtown."

Kent Anderson, an architect with KH Anderson PC who provided the conceptual plans for the overall LECA project, was also on hand during the meeting.

"This is some conceptual ideas ... taking advantage of the opportunities that are created by the arts center moving to this location and how we can use it as a stepping stone or the next step for a bigger project," he said. "In every downtown, one of the most important elements is an outdoor space that functions, basically, as the outdoor room - the outdoor living room - not only for the downtown, but for the community as a whole also.

I think Triangle Park has that opportunity," Anderson continued. "It also is an important link to U.S. (Highway) 2 and all that traffic, so whatever can be done to make it more attractive, makes the whole downtown more attractive."

Anderson went on to explain that Triangle Park, as it exists today, has elements that add "value," but is "generic," as it doesn't take into consideration the cultural and historical elements of Manistique.

"Building toward a park that reflects the heritage of Manistique has a lot of benefit," he said. "That's basically what these ideas are about."

When investigating the elements that set Manistique apart from other communities, Anderson explained that the lumbering, paper-making, the city's location adjacent to Lake Michigan, the Manistique River, the forests, art, commerce, boardwalk, Kitch-it-iki, and native culture are all important to consider.

"I think that we can create a physical representation of all these elements and characteristics as part of the park," Anderson said. The conceptual park, he explained, would include three parts - the LECA arts center, the former Renze sales lot, and the current back parking lot for downtown buildings off Arbutus Avenue. Anderson said he engaged in a work session with Perilloux, Aldrich, Bratton, and LECA Treasurer Pam Shiel.

"We went over some ideas together ... to sort out the ideas that make the most sense," he said. "One of the things that we need to attract attention from U.S. 2 is to get some canopy and some structure. An easy way to do that in a park is with a pergola ... where events could be staged."

Other features of the park would include narrower streets that would allow for widened sidewalks and easy closure for events, defined grassy areas, as well as a connection to the boardwalk and planned Walk Manistique Riverside Pathway. The former Renze sales lot would be transformed into a public parking space, with space for recreational vehicle parking, and the existing fountain would be reworked to make it "contemplative," as Anderson said it was intended.

Anderson said the conceptual leaves space for future development.

"The idea is that we would take it one step at a time and look for opportunities to do more," he explained. "At this point there's an opportunity to do something that would capture attention from U.S. 2."

Perilloux asked if the theme of the mural planned for the side of the LECA art center building would clash with the re-imagined Triangle Park. Anderson replied that the mural will contain the word "imagine" and would mesh well with the park.

Perilloux added that he is concerned about the overall cost of the project, which he said has not been specified.

"A 90/10 percent match is a wonderful thing ... at the same time, there's a 10 percent (match)," he said.

Anderson stated it is important for the community to have a larger plan to improve and give back to the community.

"At this point, the most important thing to get funded is the art center - to make sure that goes forward, and the parking area (former Renze sales lot) - you can do a first phase of that parking area," he said. "It might be time for Manistique to look toward how the heritage and how the arts can feed the future and it can create a special place and create an identity that no other community has and something we can all be proud of."

Perilloux noted that he sees the conceptual as an introduction of the project to the community and that it's "really more of a DDA jurisdiction." He also said the primary goal, at this point, was for the city to partner with the DDA to help acquire the former Renze sales lot to create a parking lot.

"I think the idea is to introduce the possibilities and the potential, but it's also very important to, if you're going to invest in the area, make sure that you're spending money and looking at the big picture and what could happen so you don't spend money badly," Anderson explained.

Councilperson Kim Shiner agreed with Anderson.

more in the long run to not pursue an endeavor like this," she said. "I think the plans are dynamic ... with us investing in the parking lot, we need to really think about how it works with the art center and continue to plan and move forward.

As a council member, I am in full support of ... working with ... this group to see this to fruition," Shiner added. "I think it's got great potential for our community."

Anderson noted that Aldrich has viewed the conceptual and forwarded it on to the city's engineering firm for a cost estimate.

Council person Cathy Rohde said she believes the conceptual is worth looking into.

"(We need) to try our hardest to be able to have it come to fruition," she said. "I think it would be a huge step to uniting the community and to moving us forward."

Perilloux reiterated that while he agrees it's a good idea, he is worried about the cost.

Bratton noted that she had received word from mBank that it would be willing to provide a loan for the 10 percent match if needed. Dick Keteik, chairperson of the DDA, explained that the DDA has been looking to acquire the former Renze sales lot for a while.

"It has to be kept in mind the multi-purpose (use) of that parking lot," he said.

Perilloux asked David Muxlow of Grover Real Estate, who was in attendance at the meeting, if there had been a price established for obtaining the Renze sales lot. Muxlow stated that the property, which also contains a house, is being offered at $175,000.

Perilloux stated that cost, along with the engineering firm's estimates for the conceptual project, would provide the city with enough information to decide whether to move forward with the project.

Council person Paul Walker stated that he'd like to have the public involved in the process prior to committing to spend taxpayer funds on the project, and that the city's general fund is not in the position to support a large financial burden.

"I certainly don't want to take away from the greatness of this project," he said. "I absolutely applaud, but we also have to put on our fiscal hat and say what we can do and what can't we do."

Bratton clarified that the LECA would be fundraising for their CDBG 10-percent match on the art center, and that the other CDBG 10-percent match for the development of the parking lots and enhancement of Triangle Park is what the city and DDA will be considering.

Shiner made the motion to partner with the DDA in the possible acquisition of the Renze parking lot and move forward in the initial application for the CDBG program for LECA. Rohde supported the motion.

Manistique City Attorney Bruce Plackowski advised Shiner that her motion was merely "exploratory" commitment. Shiner replied that she understood, and would proceed with her motion.

The motion passed unanimously.

West Nile

Mosquitoes that transmit West Nile virus may breed near people's homes in storm drains, shallow ditches, retention ponds and unused pools.

The best way to prevent West Nile disease or any other mosquito-borne illness is to reduce the number of mosquitoes around your home and to take personal precautions. Precautions include:

Using EPA registered insect repellents with one of the following active ingredients: DEET, picaridin, IR3535, oil of lemon eucalyptus or para-menthane-diol, and 2-undecanone; follow the product label instructions and reapply as directed.

Don't use repellent on children under two months old. Instead dress your child in clothing that covers arms and legs and cover crib, stroller and carrier with mosquito netting.

Wearing shoes and socks, light-colored long pants and a long-sleeved shirt when outdoors.

Making sure doors and windows have tight-fitting screens. Repair or replace screens.

Using bed nets when sleeping outdoors or in conditions with no window screens.

Eliminating all sources of standing water that can support mosquito breeding around your home.

Delta County team takes 4-man

MANISTIQUE — The 37th annual Bud Malloy Four-Man Scramble Golf Tournament was held over the weekend at Indian Lake Golf Course in Manistique. The course hosted 288 golfers for the two-day event from around the Midwest.

Team U.P. advances to state shoot

Manistique Rifle and Pistol Club was host to the 2019 Zone 1 Trapshooting Championship June 22 and 23. A total of 8,000 clay targets were thrown in the two-day event. Team U.P. ### Family affair for Black team staff at annual All-Star game

MARQUETTE — The U.P. Football All-Star Game will take place on June 29 at the Superior Dome in Marquette. Game time on Saturday is set for 1 p.m. with doors opening at noon.

For the third season, the players selected as all-stars for the 12th annual event were drafted by the coaches, just like NFL fantasy football leagues. Athletes are either on the Red team or the Black team.

This year it will be a family affair for the Black team coaching staff. Manistique Emerald Football Coach Cody Kangas will be part of the sideline crew. Joining him will be his brothers Garde Kangas, Tyler Kangas and father, Todd Kangas.

The draft took place back in March at Buffalo Wild Wings. in Marquette. Coaches from both teams were in attendance and did extensive research of all players, so they could put together the best team possible that fits their offensive and defensive schemes. Having the players "mixed" by the draft means not only will players be competing against traditional rivals from other schools, they might also be competing against players from their own school.

Many activities are planned throughout the week for the players and coaches.

On Monday, players and coaches checked in at Meyland/Magers Hall on Northern Michigan University campus. There was also a food drive for the St. Vincent de Paul House food pantry at the check-in location.

Tuesday evening was media day and team and individual pictures were taken.

The Line 5 Straits tunnel is the right solution for Michigan.

Protecting Michigan's waters is critically important—and so is providing the energy that fuels Michigan's quality of life.

That's why Enbridge is making a $500-million private investment to improve safety in Michigan.

A tunnel for Line 5 at the Straits of Mackinac provides multiple layers of protection.

Placing the pipeline in a concrete tunnel about 100 feet below the lake bottom reduces the chances of a leak into the Great Lakes to virtually zero. It also completely eliminates the possibility of an anchor strike in the Straits.

With the tunnel, there will be no interruption to the energy that heats homes, cooks food, powers industry and keeps people mobile and connected.

Shutting down Line 5, even temporarily, would mean lost union jobs, refinery closures, gas price spikes and greater harm to the regional economy every year.

For the environment, and the economy, the Line 5 Straits tunnel is the right solution for Michigan.
