MAS Board

2019-20 budget to take $80K hit, balance still $1M

Uncertainty over School Aid factor in calculations

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Area Schools Board of Education recently held a required public hearing on and approved the 2019-20 budget. The district's general fund budget balance is expected to take a slight hit in 2019-20 as uncertainty over State School Aid looms.

According to MAS Business Manager Donna Winkel, the district had to once again create a budget based on estimates.

"We had to make a lot of assumptions this year as compared to recent years, based on state aid," she explained. "There's no clear picture at all as to what our state aid package might look like."

The School Aid Fund was established in 1955 and is used exclusively to fund K-12 schools, guaranteeing schools a certain amount of money per student. According to the Michigan Department of Education, the School Aid budget for fiscal year 2020 is currently still a work in progress.

The MDOE's most recent "State School Aid Update" states, "while in recent years we have enjoyed early budgets, the 2020 budget still requires some negotiation. We have proposals from the governor, the senate, and the house. The differences in these three proposals will have to be negotiated in conference until a compromise solution is reached."

In a January 2019 Michigan House of Representative Fiscal Agency Budget Briefing, it states that the State School Aid appropriation areas include: Foundation Allowances, which provides per pupil payment for general school operations; Special Education, which uses both state and federal funds to reimburse districts for a

As promised, the 30th annual Folkfest, presented by the Manistique Recreation Department, was better than ever. Headlining the event was the first-ever Yoopers Got Talent show. Performing stand-up, Roberto Lundgren Rodrigues, at top, took first place in the competition. At top right, Emily Potratz took second place for singing, and Malia Stube, top left, took third place with a lyrical dance routine. They won $500, $300, and $200, respectively. Among the musical entertainment for the weekend was "Not Quite Canada", pictured above. At left, attendees were strolling through vendors even before the official open of Folkfest Saturday.

Garden to take possession of former retreat center after receiving donation

GARDEN — After 71 years, the Catholic Diocese is transferring the ownership of the Marygrove Retreat Center back to the Village of Garden.

According to village officials, this transfer will serve as an economic development opportunity for the village in terms of potential redevelopment, use, and future tax revenue.

Since the village did not have time to budget for the additional expenses associated with the transfer — including acquiring liability insurance and an appraisal of the facility and the surrounding 37.5 acres — a donation from Martin and Olivia Laguna allowed the village to renew ownership of the site.

Potential uses of the site are currently being proposed to the community. Village President Jacob Allison and the village trustees

AG intervenes in several utility cases, including SEMCO case

LANSING — Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel said recently she has intervened — or plans to intervene — in the following utility cases:

SEMCO Energy Gas Company's natural gas rate increase case SEMCO Energy Gas Company filed an application with the MPSC seeking a $28-million rate increase for natural gas service — a 14-percent increase for the company's 300,000 residential customers in Southeast Michigan and the Upper Peninsula. On June 29, Nessel's office filed a notice of intervention in the case.

"Protecting the pocketbooks of Michigan ratepayers is a top priority for the Michigan Department of Attorney General, which is why I intervened in SEMCO's request for a rate increase for its natural gas service," Nessel said.

Indiana Michigan Power Company's electric rate case Indiana

Michigan Power Company filed a request for a rate increase with the MPSC seeking a $58.5 million rate increase to its electric rates. If granted by the MPSC, rates would increase for residential customers by nearly 25 percent. The company currently serves about 129,000 retail electric customers in Southwest Michigan.

Last week, Nessel filed a notice of intervention, saying, "On the heels of a 20-percent rate increase for customers just last year, I&M has no business looking for another exorbitant rate hike on the backs of our residents. This increase is simply unaffordable and unreasonable on its face," Nessel said.

DTE Electric Company's rate case After receiving a rate increase of $125 million earlier this year that raised residential consumers' rates by seven percent, DTE filed for another $328 million rate increase Monday. The request would raise its residential customers' monthly bills an additional nine percent.

Nessel will intervene, saying, "Months after it received a rate increase from MPSC, DTE shows it is completely unconcerned about the savings accounts of its consumers. Today I'm putting them on notice: I plan to vigorously review all their filings and make certain the priority in this case is ensuring affordable energy for Michigan consumers, not dividends for their shareholders."

Consumers Energy's Ray Compressor Station fire case In April, Consumers Energy issued a report to the Michigan Public Service Commission on its internal investigation into the fire at its Ray Compressor Station; responses to

Fayette State Park to host family-friendly 'Front Porch Concert' July 20

FAYETTE — Fayette State Park will celebrate its 60th Anniversary with a Front Porch Concert at the Historic Fayette Hotel July 20 from 7-8 p.m.

"This is the first of a series of free events that will help us celebrate 60 years of Fayette State Park," said park's director, Randy Brown. "It is unlike any other state park with its historic town-site. Located on Snail Shell Harbor, it's surrounded by wilderness and is steeped in history."

A Michigan Recreation Passport is required to enter the park.

"Come on down and set a spell" on the front porch with singer and songwriter, Steve Hooper from "Under This Cold Sky," said Brown. "Hopper's combination of traditional and modern folk styles pay tribute to the land, the people, and the folklore of the Upper Peninsula. It's a family-friendly good-time, so don't miss it. Rain or shine."

This concert is made possible free to the public through an Art-Place America grant to the Central Upper Peninsula Planning and Development and with assistance from Fayette State Park, Delta County Economic Development Agency, Visit Escanaba, and Michigan Department of Transportation.

Additional public events are slated through the fall. For more information, go to: www.michigan.org/property/fayette-historic-state-park-and-harbor.

The odor plagued plant of the Larko Chemical Co. will not run again until the smell control problem is solved. That was the word Plant Manager Carl Aldrich gave to the Manistique City Council at their regular meeting Monday night. Aldrich said they have contacted the State Health Department and will be working with their engineers on the problem. He also said that a stack burner, now located at the Dowagiac plant, would be brought here to burn out the odors. They had hoped to be able to use natural gas with the burner, he said, but added they are talking with area bottled gas representatives to see if this fuel may be used. Aldrich added that the plant would only run again to test the effectiveness of the new burner. Mayor Leo DeMars and several councilmen reported they received a large number of complaints last Friday when the plant was running. Aldrich said they had been processing alweives which were brought to the plant the same day they were lifted from the lake.

Fifteen Boy Scouts and two leaders from Manistique's Troop 402 leave next Sunday for a week of Scout fun at the new Camp Hiawatha near Munising. Those attending are Tom Barham, Ray Dorie, Junior Gerber, Jeff Harvey, Dave Hood, Tom Klagstad, Frank Malette, Steve Malette, Mike McKenzie, Alan Pace, Wally Peck, Mike Repp, Ricky Rogers, Kevin Thorell and Gilbert Vickery. Leaders attending are Francis Malette, Scoutmaster and Rev. Ingmar Levin, Red Buck District vice-chairman. Activities planned include hiking, canoeing, boating, swimming, Scout craft, sports merit badges and troop advancement. The troop will return to Manistique on July 26.

"The hiring of 10 new employees has boosted the total employment figure at Inland Line and Stone Co. to 344," it was announced last week. New employees are William B. Adams, Carey D. Farley, James Hoholik, Lawrence Knuth, Edward J. Smart, all of Manistique; Harry L. Burton and Gordon Gill, Germfask; Roy J. Butkovich and Robert C. Wagner, Engadine and Mark D. Lowry, Curtis.

Tuesday will be Moonlight Madness time in Manistique again. The traditional summer sales promotion offered by the retail division of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce is scheduled to run from 7 to 11 p.m. Special sales will be featured in participating stores, and a special issue of the Pioneer-Tribune will be distributed Monday. Participating merchants and their clerks will once again be wearing sleepwear as part of the promotion.

A severe mid-summer storm struck Schoolcraft County Saturday night, falling trees, snuffing power, and doing extensive damage to some buildings. Most severely damaged was the C-L Hardware building on River St. in Manistique. Half the roof was blown away, insulation and sheet rock inside was lost, and fixtures, carpeting, and the power panel and merchandise were all destroyed or damaged severely. The brick parapet along the top front of the building was loosened and had to be immediately strengthened. Everett Peterson, co-owner of the store, said he thought the damage total would approach the $400,000 to $500,000 mark before everything was restored to normal. His brother Fred said he thought it would take at least a month before the store could reopen again.

Gina Ann Lauzon, daughter of Louis and Sally Lauzon of Manistique, is a contestant in the 1984 Miss U.S. Teen Pageant at Lakepoint Resort in Eufaula, Alabama, July 19-22. Contestants from all over the country will be competing for the title of Miss U.S. Teen. They will be judged on scholastic achievement, community and school, personality, poise, grooming, and similar factors. Gina is being sponsored by the State of Michigan. She is a senior at Manistique High School. Among the gifts awarded to the Miss U.S. Teen will be a four year scholarship, one week vacation at Trelwyn Beach Resort, Jamaica, W.L., cash, watch, clothes, diamond pendant, and other items. Miss U.S. Teen for 1984 is Indiana's Miss U.S. Teen Lori Jo Riddle of Merrillville.

Shirley, John and Robert Wilkinson welcome you to "the best hamburger you'll ever taste," at the Bay de Noc Caf  in Garden Corners. The new owners are from Bitley, Mich. "We hope everyone will come in and give us a try," said Robert. Shirley and Robert and their son John bring a lot of experience to the business. They also own a restaurant in Bitley, which is being run by their three older daughters, Cindy, Diane and Cheryl. A son Joe lives in Bitley too. The Wilkinsons said they have been vacationing in the area for years. They own property in Garden. The restaurant will feature homemade soups, pies, bread and biscuits. Barbecued ribs will be a special on Sundays.

After 33 years of service, Nick and Phyllis Frankovich will be turning over the credit union operation to Dennis Cook and Janice Martin. Cook was appointed manager and CEO of the credit union June 20, 1999. Janice Martin will serve the credit union as office manager. Nick and Phyllis are looking forward to their retirement. They started the credit union 33 years ago handling the book-keeping from their home. Nick stated the credit union started with a total of $68. As the credit union grew, and with the concerns of robbery taking place, the office moved to Oak Street and then to its current location on Walnut Street.

Starting July 1999, Manistique Area Schools will no longer be providing driver's training services. The students will be receiving driver's education from a private company, Maki Driving School. There are several reasons for the shift of driver's education services from Manistique Area Schools to Maki Driving School. The biggest being lack of driver's education certified teachers within the school district. Most of the teachers with certification have retired. The ones who are still employed by the district no longer have an interest in teaching driver's education.

After many delays, Manistique's new fishing piers were installed on Tuesday. The floating, handicap-accessible piers are located adjacent to the west side boat launch, one north of the launch ramp and one south. They were paid for with a grant from the Great Lakes Fishery Trust with a 10 percent match from the Manistique Downtown Development Authority.

Just in time for this weekend's Manistique Trout and Salmon Derby, the Schoolcraft County Sheriff's Department has received its new search and rescue boat. The grant-funded boat purchase was completed this spring, after more than a year of research and a long-running debate with the County Board of Commissioners over operational costs and other issues.

When anglers head out onto the pre-dawn darkness Saturday for the start of the 24th annual Manistique Trout and Salmon Derby, they'll all be daydreaming about a catch like this. Bill Hoholik of Manistique nabbed his son's Broner last Friday, landing it in a "team effort" with his son Brad. The salmon measured 39 inches and tipped the scales at 26 pounds, 7 ounces. Hoholik was a day early to claim any of the prize money in the Salmon Derby pre-fishing, but hopes to make-up for it by hauling in another winner this weekend.

Dear Editor,

What our government is doing at the border is inhumane. Ninety-nine percent of refugees trying to enter the U.S. are honest, capable, hard-working, and willing to learn English if we give them the tools.

We, in the U.S., urgently need immigrant help for farming, hospitality, construction trades, disaster cleanup, and more.

Instead of separations and caging, let's provide humane family housing during the three- to four-month vetting process and teach entire families English, and computer literacy five to six hours a day; days that are otherwise idle. Vetted refugees can then be matched to areas needing workers. Newly settled families now have the skills to immediately start work, shop, drive, and integrate into the U.S. environment. This is a recipe for success.

Our government has reduced aid to Central American governments claiming corruption. Okay. Then bypass these governments and work with Central American churches.

Catholic churches in Guatemala, for example, have been building medical/dental clinics, schools, women's sewing centers and distributing small parcels of land to individual families for coffee and corn production for years. I saw this firsthand in 2013. They are making a difference. Everyone can help. Please consider a donation to Justice for Our Neighbors. (231) 620-1100.

Schoolcraft Memorial acquires new, tablet-based CT scanner

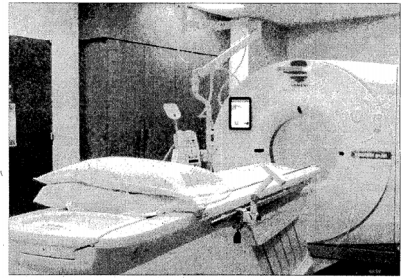

MANISTIQUE — Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital recently installed a new, tablet-based CT scanner from Siemens Healthineers. The system, called a SOMATOM go.All, enables the hospital to support routine and advanced CT (computerized tomography) procedures that may enhance diagnostic accuracy by providing additional diagnostic information to patients and their physicians.

This patient-friendly CT scanner offers faster scan times, shorter breath holds, reduced patient dose, a longer table and a 500-pound table capacity.

Technologists can operate the CT system with a touch-screen tablet and remote control, which can help them remain with patients longer during exam preparation. This may improve patient experience, particularly for children and patients who have mobility challenges and need additional support.

In addition, the SOMATOM go.All features automated technology that can take the guesswork out of selecting the most optimal radiation dose for every patient and exam. From pediatrics to the elderly, every patient undergoes a personalized dose reduction process based on size, weight and anatomy.

The SOMATOM go.All is also equipped with Siemens latest exclusive technologies for optimizing radiation dose such as Tin Filter Technology that can reduce unnecessary radiation for a wide range of routine procedures.

"Patients are our number one priority," says Jim Pann, Imaging Services Manager. "We carefully considered which CT system would provide the best possible experience for our patients and also provide our physicians with the information they need to deliver the best possible care."

With patient-centric technology and workflows that optimally adapt to each patient, the SOMATOM go.All delivers consistent, reliable results in all aspects of hospital imaging including the most advanced fields such as oncology, vascular, orthopedic, and neuro imaging, low dose pediatric scanning and CT guided minimally invasive intervention.

In addition, the physicians who rely on the images from this system to make clinical decisions may have a high level of clinical confidence in their diagnoses. The SOMATOM go.All offers features that can reduce imaging artifacts from implanted devices, such as knee and hip implants and dental fillings, which can improve image quality.

Hiawatha National Forest provides blueberry maps

GLADSTONE — Summer has come to the Hiawatha National Forest, bringing with it the promise of another blueberry season. Blueberries provide food for wildlife as well as for humans, and berries can be found based on recent forest management activities.

Over time, as its branches age, a wild blueberry bush naturally becomes less productive. In fact, blueberries evolved with periodic wildfires. Since the retreat of glaciers from this region approximately 10,000 years ago, certain ecosystems on the Hiawatha National Forest evolved with frequently recurring wildfires.

Native Americans also used fire to help manage vegetation and hunting habitat prior to European settlement of the area.

With these facts in mind, U.S. Forest Service land managers use vegetation management activities, such as clearcutting and low intensity prescribed fire, to mimic the natural and historic wildfire patterns. These practices benefit species native to the local environment — and they promote blueberry production by eliminating competing vegetation and removing worn out blueberry bush branches to make room for vigorous new branches with lots of flowers.

"In order to maintain an ample supply of productive blueberry bushes, we methodically plan our management in blueberry habitats," said U.S. Forest Service Wildlife Biologist Micah Reuber, who is stationed at the Hiawatha National Forest's Gladstone headquarters.

On a rotational basis, each year different parts of the National Forest are treated to benefit blueberries and support other management objectives.

"Blueberries and other native species benefit from vegetation management activities like clearcutting and low intensity prescribed fire," said Eric Rebitzke, Hiawatha National Forest Fire Management officer.

Tired, old blueberry bushes begin to rebound soon after treatment.

"Ofcourse production depends on the weather, but generally blueberry bushes are most productive between two and four years after treatment," said Brenda Dale, Hiawatha National Forest's East Zone Fire Management officer. She noted that late July and August are usually the peak of the blueberry season here.

Maps of the recent treatments in blueberry habitat areas will provide a starting point.

There are a few important things to remember:

Berries must be picked for personal use only, not marketed commercially. Commercial gathering requires a permit.

It is important to recognize and properly identify the berries picked and eaten. Consuming wild plants may cause serious illness or death. Never eat plants that can't be confidently identified. Forage at one's own risk.

Get a national forest map and use it. Downloading a map onto a cell phone for use when "out of range" is a good idea.

Never drive on roads that aren't identified as open on the Motor Vehicle Use Map.

Be safe. Dress appropriately. Be prepared for biting insects. Bring a map, compass, water and other necessities.

"Blueberries are a nutritious native food source, but many people find berry picking is also a great way to relax and enjoy the Forest," said Cory Henry, a Hiawatha National Forest Zone Fire Management officer.

For more information about blueberry management on Hiawatha National Forest, contact Brenda Dale (906) 643-7900, Cory Henry (906) 387-2512, or Eric Rebitzke (906) 428-5800.

Bay sets next 'Lunchtime LIVE!'

ESCANABA — Pete and Paul Strom will be the featured performers during Bay College's Lunchtime LIVE! music series July 25 from 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m.

Food will be available on-site from local food trucks including The Brisket Barn and Toby's Dog House.

The Strom brothers have spent their lives writing and performing their own original songs, many of which were inspired by the Great Lakes and the beautiful Upper Peninsula.

Attendees will be treated to variety of acoustic originals spanning the genres of folk and blues.

Lunchtime LIVE! takes place in Bay College's outdoor courtyard between the Student Services and Catherine Bonifas Buildings. Attendees may access the courtyard either from parking lot "E" or enter through the Besse Center. In the event of rain, the event will take place in Bay's cafeteria.

The event is supported from the generous sponsorships of local businesses, including Delta County Credit Union, First Bank and Peninsula Federal Credit Union. Upcoming Lunchtime LIVE! events include Aug. 1 with Wingin' It, and Aug. 8 with Jason Rudden. More information about Lunchtime LIVE! and other music at Bay College may be found at www.baycollege.edu/music.

Weber earns MA degree from Southern Illinois

CARBONDALE, Ill. — On May 31, Millicent A. Weber of Manistique graduated from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill., with a Masters of Arts degree in psychology, specializing in industrial organizational psychology. Weber was one of 2,464 graduates receiving degrees during Spring Commencement held in three separate ceremonies in the SIU Arena. Degrees were awarded in the university's colleges of agriculture, liberal arts, medicine, science, business, education, engineering, and communications.

Weber is a member of the Applied Research Consultants Group, a student lead group at SIU that assists businesses and various units of government in human resources fields. She plans to continue her studies at SIU toward a doctoral degree while being employed as a Librarian at the Morris Library on the SIU campus.

She is the daughter of Jim and Barb Weber of Manistique.

Students earn degrees at Northern Michigan

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan University recently announced its graduates. The following students from the local area satisfied their degree requirements in May 2019.

Associate degree: Cassandra Walters, Associate in Applied Science, general university studies, Manistique.

Baccalaureate degree: Alicia Rareon, Bachelor of Science in cognitive impairment/elementary education, Cum Laude, Cooks; Alex Ranguette, Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education, Magna Cum Laude; and Colton Richard, Bachelor of Science in history, Summa Cum Laude; Garden; Amber Hoholik, Bachelor of Science in Nursing; Morgan Kangas, Bachelor of Science in integrated science/elementary education; Brett Lalonde, Bachelor of Science in management; and Kelsey LaLonde Bachelor of Social Work, Magna Cum Laude, Manistique.

Master's Degree: Diana Thill Master of Arts in Education—Learning Disabilities, Garden.

Grand Valley releases winter 2019 dean's list

GRAND RAPIDS — Grand Valley State University recently announced the names of students who were placed on the dean's list for the winter 2019 semester concluding in April. The list includes those students who have maintained a 3.5 grade point average and been credited in a minimum of 12 credits.

The honor is noted on the students' official records. Local students honored for the winter semester include: Shelby Carlson, Anthony Hoholik, Justin Hoholik, and Megan Weber.

Ackerman receives degree from Alma College

ALMA — Alma College recently announced the following student has completed the requirements for their respective degrees, which were conferred in April 2019. Several students also earned graduation honors, awarded in three levels, recognizing outstanding academic achievement.

The highest honor, summa cum laude, is given to students who have achieved a 3.8 grade point average; magna cum laude honors are awarded to students who have achieved a 3.6 GPA, and cum laude honors require an achievement of 3.4 GPA.

In addition to graduate honors, Alma graduates may earn department honors by demonstrating superior performance in a particular academic discipline. To receive this award, graduates presented a thesis of honors caliber and achieved a GPA of 3.5 or higher in their major field.

Nesiah Ackerman, of Manising, received a Bachelor of Science degree in integrative physiology and health science in April 2019.

Parade, on a boat

Courtesy photo Sunny skies and warm weather greeted the participants in the annual Gulliver Lake Boat Parade. Sponsored by the Gulliver Lake Property Owners Association, the event is a chance for lake residents to kick off Fourth of July activities. This year, 20 water craft of all types participated in the July Fourth parade. The boats were decorated in a variety of themes and were judged by Carl and Nancy Holbrook, and their daughter, Tracy Bates. First place for the best decorated boat was awarded to the Price family and friends' pontoon while second place went to the Hughsen's family entry. GLPOA thanked Bowman's Gas and Gulliver Crossroads for donating prizes for the winning boats.

Grandparents Teach, Too

What's more fun for young children than playing with their toy cars? Here is an exciting way to incorporate science into playtime. You will need boxes, books, small cars, balls, marbles, thin boards at least 8 inches wide, or a series of tubes, and masking tape.

Gravity and Friction

Choose a space where cars can roll freely and use a board and one box to build a ramp with one end higher than the other. Show children how to hold cars at the top and let go without pushing. How far will the cars go without our help? Experiment with several cars and determine which is the fastest or slowest? Does the kind of vehicle make a difference?

You can experiment with ways to add boxes to make the cars go faster and farther. Children may add as many books as possible or a series of ramps. It is not easy to make a good racing ramps. Some will be too low or too high. Encourage cooperation and finding the best strategy.

Encourage problem solving and discussion as you work together to find ramps that do what you want. Draw a design for the best ramp.

"What can we do if the board keeps falling off? How can we fix the ramp so that the cars don't crash or go off the side?"

Have trial runs to compare distance and mark the distance on the floor with tape. You may want to show how to measure with yard stick or a number of hands. Place the ramp on a checkered tablecloth and count how many squares each car travels. Which ramp style is the best for making cars go farther? Explain the concept of gravity that pulls things like balls and cars down a ramp. What happens when you add masking tape strip bumps or sandpaper and the friction slows objects. How slowly can you make the cars go but still roll to the bottom?

Early Physics Young children learn science best with hands-on activities that give them a chance to explore, ask questions, manipulate objects, and seek answers and solutions. Adult interaction during playtime nurtures this style of learning.

Children can try other materials like paper towel, and toilet paper tubes with marbles if they do not put those in their mouth. Try to predict which size will be best. Does weight make a difference? Experiment to see which predictions are correct. Discuss why some objects work better than others. Then take a walk to look for ramps on playgrounds, handicap access areas, and businesses.

Visit the library for books on ramps such as "Roll, Slope, and Slide" by Michael Dahl. For more science fun see grandparentsteachtooblogspot.com; vnu.edu; Learning Through the Seasons; Pinterest, and Facebook since 2009.

SMH Auxiliary 'Flower Show and Tea' planned for Aug. 5

MANISTIQUE — The 63rd annual Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Flower Show and Tea will be held Aug. 5. The event will take place inside the Zion Lutheran Church in Manistique.

The public is invited to enter flower arrangements for judging. Arrangement categories include: Annuals, Perennials, Roses, House Plants/African Violets, Unusual Design, Miniatures, Garden Bouquets, Weeds and Wild Flowers, Entries by Children, Single Blossom, and Artificial.

Flower registration will take place from 10 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. To keep the afternoon activities on schedule, no arrangements will be accepted for judging after 11:15 a.m.

Attendees do not need to bring an arrangement, as there will also be a tea time and speaker for the public to enjoy. Tea time will start at 12 p.m.

A donation of $5 will be taken at the door and sent to Beacon House to help with their fund raising for a new building.

Flower arrangement winners will be announced immediately following the tea.

Did you get out last weekend and go down to enjoy the festivities of the annual Folkfest? I was there both Friday and Saturday and enjoyed it very much. My hats off to everyone who was involved in making this happen.

For the first time, I witnessed the Manistique Paper Chase. I was told this year there were over 300 runners. Wow! I was certainly impressed. For being a small town and community like we are, we sure do a lot of great things in our community.

Be sure to thank all the individuals who work so hard to make these things happen! I certainly enjoyed it, so thank you from me.

Speaking of "thank you", one goes out to Darryl Norden. Darryl comes in every day and helps with the congregational meal program and has designated himself as the water car man who makes it his job to make sure that all the flowers get enough water. Thank you, Darryl, for your dedication! The girls and I in the office truly appreciate all your efforts.

Tonight is our monthly potluck beginning at 4 p.m. with live entertainment by Fran Derwin. Bring a dish to pass and come on down. We would love to see you!

The senior center's Open House will be here before you know it. Mark your calendars now so you don't miss it. This year it will take place on Sept. 5.

Be sure to watch the newsletter and this article for updates.

We have several Senior Project

Fresh coupon books still available. Show in today and get yours before they are all gone. This program is open to Schoolcraft County citizens aged 60 and over who meet the income requirements. Stop on the center during business hours to get yours.

We have six seats (three double rooms) available for the bus trip coming up Oct. 6-12. The destination for this year's trip is Pigeon Forge and the Smoky Mountains Show Trip. If you missed the initial sign up, take advantage now. For more information, call the senior center at 341-5923.

Coming up in November and December, we will be offering a Matter of Balance class here at the senior center. This class will be free of charge. Be sure to keep your eyes open for further information. The senior board and the SCCOA

USFS planning to convey former Manistique office

GLADSTONE - The USDA Forest Service is conveying the Manistique Ranger District office and complex in Manistique through the General Services Administration. These historic properties are eligible to the National Register of Historic Places. GSA first offers excess properties to other federal agencies. The Bureau of Indian Affairs may be interested in holding the properties for the Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians. If no federal agency wants the properties, GSA determines them as surplus and can offer them through public benefit conveyance, in the category of Historic Monument, to the State or local governments. The cost to purchase the properties is determined during the process.

Quick facts

The former Manistique Ranger District and Complex will be conveyed through the General Services Administration. According to the USFS, community will benefit from the conveyances because new investment in the historic structures will enhance rural economic development and the visual appeal of the east entry to town along U.S. Highway 2 and across from the city park and Lake Michigan. The Forest Service has completed the required assessments so the conveyances may be completed in the next three to six months. Interested purchasers will be kept informed. For more information, contact Joanne Sanfilippo at (906) 438-5800.

News Brief

BBDN School will now offer free meals

COOKS - The Big Bay de Noc School District announced a change to its policy for serving meals to students under the National School Lunch Program and School Breakfast Program beginning in the 2019-20 school year. This spring, the Big Bay de Noc School Board voted to implement the Community Eligibility Provision in order to provide free breakfast and lunch to all children at no cost and eliminate the collection of meal applications for free, reduced-price, and paid student meals. This means all students enrolled at Big Bay de Noc School will receive free breakfast and lunch through the School Breakfast Program and National School Lunch Program. This new approach reduces burdens for families and helps ensure that students receive nutritious meals.

"It (the budget) includes not replacing one special education teacher, reducing some of the one-sixth teaching assignments in this (the middle/high school) building, and the addition of one (new) bus payment," she added. "We anticipate ending this year (2018-19) right around $1,089,000 (general fund balance), and with all the assumptions above - which are conservative - we will overspend (in 2019-20) by $284,334."

By November 2016, however, the district's general fund balance had improved, and the 2016-17 projected year-end general fund balance was approximately $616,000. Since that time, the district has been steadily adding to its general fund balance - reaching the $1 million mark in the 2018-19 fiscal year. In other business, the MAS Board of Education also: -Accepted the resignations of teachers Melissa Schwartz (for purpose of retirement), Bill Boddy, Emily Litzner, and Emerald Elementary principal Deanna LaFolle. -Approved administrative, supervisor, and non-union contracts. -Approved incentive pay for the superintendent, Howard Parmentier - a pay increase based on job performance - which was included as an option for the board

"We chose a $180 per pupil increase because that seems to be the most logical one to use," she said. "If we don't get $180 per pupil in the foundation, we will most likely get at least that ... (from) the other things that are involved in state aid. It's a lot of guesswork." Since the total amount of Foundation Allowance (per pupil amount) based on the number of students in the district, Winkel said MAS was also forced to guessimate the number of students they will have for 2019-20. "Basically, what we do is we take our February count, we deduct our seniors, we add 50 for kindergarten - it's a real guess," she explained. "Fortunately, we've always come pretty close." Winkel noted that other high-lights of the 2019-20 budget include the Marygrove Retreat potential future uses. The most popular suggestion was an assisted living facility, along with a corporate retreat center. We're working to protect Michigan's water.

The Great Lakes are important to Michigan, and we all want to protect the Straits of Mackinac.

That's why we've implemented enhanced safety measures to protect the environment, including increased monitoring and alerts to ships to prevent anchor strikes.

We're also replacing Line 5 at the St. Clair River with a new, state-of-the-art pipeline crossing far below the riverbed using horizontal directional drilling technology.

Line 5 is critical infrastructure that provides the energy Michigan residents and businesses use every day. It would be irresponsible to shut down a safe pipeline that's essential to Michigan and the region.

We are committed to doing what it takes to uphold our pledge to protect our Great Lakes while safely meeting Michigan's energy needs.

And they're off... with a new beginning, new ending, and record number of participants as the Manistique Paper Chase kicks off Saturdays activities for Folkfest 2019. Additional photos from the race may be viewed at www.mstqioneertribune.smugmug.com.

Paper Chase exceeds expectations

MANISTIQUE - As is customary, the Manistique Paper Chase kicked off Saturday's events for Folkfest. With construction taking place at the marina, organizers had to make adjustments to both the start and finish lines.

Among the changes, the most noticeable was participation on. Every year the total participation fluctuates slightly, but typically stays near the same amount. In 2018, a total of 217 participants posed finishing times. This year, however, organizers handed out all 300 bibs and had a record number 281 finish the race.

Two weeks out, organizers were excited to have 170 participants preregistered. That excitement turned to anxiety as Friday's preregistration ended with only a few bibs to distribute Saturday morning.

Months of planning and assistance from various organizations came to fruition as runners crossed under the rainbow arch, recording a finishing time while their names were announced over a loud speaker.

Superior Timing was at the finish line to record the chip-timed event. Runners can print out a copy of their time at www.superiortiming.com.

The first to cross the finish line was Riley Hough of Fenton, Mich., competing in the five-kilometer run. Hough finished the 3.1 miles in a time of 17:08.2, for a pace of 5:30.

Allie Nagy of Manistique crossed the finish line first in the female division with a time of 22:57.7. Her pace was 7:23.

Covering the 5.2-mile distance of the 10K to take first place for the male division was Manistique resident Mark Calhoun. Calhoun finished the 6.2 miles in a time of 38:19.7 and pace of 6:10.

Karen Nelson, of Gwinn, Mich., covered the same distance for the women in a time of 48:29.7 to take first. Her pace was 7:48.

Recovering America's Wildlife Act legislation reintroduced

LANSING — On-the-ground wildlife and habitat conservation in Michigan and around the country earned critical support this week...

The bulk of the funding — roughly $1.3 billion — would be shared among all U.S. states with an approved, congressionally-mandated Wildlife Action Plan...

Passage of the Recovering America's Wildlife Act would help Michigan:

Keep common fish and wildlife species common.

Prevent extinction of fish and wildlife species currently listed as threatened or endangered.

Have cleaner air, water and land, supported by healthier fish and wildlife habitats.

Connect people with nature.

Implement a strategic approach for priority conservation actions.

Gov. Gretchen Whitmer praised the legislation as a smart, creative and much-needed step for the nation and for Michigan.

"Michigan is known, for its Great Lakes and natural areas, but invasive species, climate change and disease have led to declines in Michigan wildlife and their habitats. One-third of our country's fish and wildlife species are at risk of becoming threatened or endangered unless we proactively implement on-the-ground conservation measures..."

The beloved songbird, which nests in young jack pine forests in northern Michigan, had once fallen to just 167 nesting pairs in the early 1970s. Today, the DNR says, it has more than 2,000 nesting pairs...

The Kirtland's warbler comeback truly is a Michigan wildlife management success story, aided by efforts from the DNR, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the U.S. Forest Service, conservation groups and many individual volunteers..."

Funding provided under the Recovering America's Wildlife Act is a once in a generation opportunity for wildlife conservation..."

Amy Trotter is the executive director of Michigan United Conservation Clubs. The organization is the National Wildlife Federation's Michigan affiliate...

eration affiliate here in Michigan, as well as a longtime partner on many DNR wildlife conservation and habitat improvement projects. "Conservation is a team sport. It isn't something only a hunter or angler partakes in..."

Michigan's Wildlife Action Plan is a key piece of the puzzle in successfully conserving fish and wildlife and their habitats, and a required component for RAWA funding eligibility...

In developing the plan, conservation partners across the state worked together to identify priorities and goals for a 10-year period (2015-2025). They first selected priority habitats — like water and land habitats on which to focus...

The resulting Wildlife Action Plan provides the framework for these resources' long-term protection and health, which are a big part of Michigan's history, identity and appeal. The plan would help determine prioritization of RAWA funding...

Keweenaw Bay: Fishing was slow. Those heading out from all ports were putting in their time to catch a few fish. Reports have been coming in that the season line is up in Eagle Harbor and fishing there was good...

Marquette: Fishing was hit-or-miss with some boats getting four to eight fish while others reported zero to three. The fish were scattered throughout the water column...

Little Bay De Noc: Had a very large mayfly hatch and slow fishing overall. Walleye were caught with a crawler harness in 20 to 30 feet near the "Black Bottom"...

DNR Weekly Fishing Report

were casting plastics, spinners or crawlers.

Big Bay De Noc: Was producing some northern pike. Smallmouth bass were hitting spinners and crank baits off Indian Point and St. Vital Island.

Manistique: Salmon anglers were searching but few fish were marked. Lots of baitfish in the area as surface water temperatures were between 60 and 70 degrees.

Manistique River: Anglers reported fair catches of smallmouth bass, northern pike and walleye with crawlers along the breakwalls and weed beds.

Manising: A few boats out targeting lake trout had good results when trolling or jigging various drop-offs along the reef. The salmon and splake action were slow.

Grand Marais: Lake trout anglers continue to do well near Au Sable Point, Five Mile Reef and the Southwest Bank area.

Detour: Atlantic salmon, rainbow trout, and lake trout are still being caught 18 to 35 feet down. When salmon and trout are in feeding mode, they still want a smaller four-inch spoon behind flashers. The best colors were orange and metallic green.

Drummond Island: Those launching from the DNR boat launch in Detour Village have caught a few jumbo. Target the islands on the north end like Macomb, Butterfield and Maple Island.

Cedarville and Hessel: A fly hatch at the yacht entrance to the Les Cheneaux Islands may have triggered the perch bite at Island No. 8 and reports of Atlantic salmon at Boat Island.

Well, this week is a tough week because I lost my little brother and my best buddy as this chapter from one of my books tells best.

If you have read my other books, there can be no doubt in your mind how I felt about my parents. My mom and dad were special, and I feel in my heart that if all kids had parents like I had, we would not have all the problems we have in this country today.

I am writing this story to let you get to know my mom and dad a little. I hear over and over from my kids and others today: "We cannot afford to have kids in this day and age! Look at what things cost and how expensive it is to just make ends meet..."

My Brother Timmy Timmy came along just about 10 years after I did. Tim was the youngest of the six kids in our Walker tribe. We all loved our little brother and dad nicknamed brother Tim, "Caboose".

At about 18 months old, Tim was doing great and walking around. He was also cutting his teeth. One Sunday morning, Mom and I went to early church, so we could return home and let the rest of the kids go.

Mom and I returned from church and came into the house. Mom asked the other kids, "Where's Tim?" She was told that he was still up in his crib. Plain as day, I can still hear mom say, "He should be up now. Tim never sleeps this late." Mom went upstairs, and I was right behind her. When she opened the door to their bedroom, Tim's crib was off to the right against the wall. We saw that Tim was lying in his bed in convulsions. One arm and one leg were twitching, but nothing else. We could not wake him up or get him to respond at all.

Tim was rushed up to the local hospital where they worked on him and plans were made to try and get him to the big hospital in Marquette. As they were pushing him down the hall to the waiting ambulance, Tim came out of his convulsions. The doctors later told us that he had gotten a high fever due to cutting his teeth and this caused him to go into convulsions which caused brain damage.

We brought Tim home just like he was a little baby again. Tim had to learn to walk and talk all over again. We all loved him and learned to help him do things. Why am I telling this story? In all the years I was at home, and even for the years my parents were alive after I got married, I never once heard a word of complaint from mom or dad.

I have often wondered after I got older with a family of my own if there were ever any tears shed behind closed doors in my parents' bedroom. Maybe there were, but we kids never saw any.

As Tim grew older he could throw a ball like you would not believe. Mom and dad always did things so that Tim would feel important. Even when my kids were growing up, and we went to grandma's for Christmas, it was always Tim's job to read the names and pass out presents.

As the older boys grew up, dad would take Tim out to deer camp with him. Dad would cut firewood, and Tim would stack it. They would spend hours doing things together. I always thought that dad figured in years to come there would just be him and Tim at home. The one thing dad always told us boys, "Tim can go hunting with us and be a part of things, but it would be better if he was made to feel important without teaching him to use a firearm."

Fish Report

Ret. Sgt. John Walker

Dad always told Tim that someday he would be buried up at deer camp under the big oak tree across the field. Today that is where my mom and dad are, under the big oak tree waiting for the day that Tim can join them.

As I sit here trying to put this story into words to let you see my heart and the feeling I have for my parents, I marvel at the wisdom the two of them had back years ago in raising all of us kids along with their special one and making us all feel as one and loved by both of them.

The type of parents you are is so important, because it will affect your kids for the rest of their lives. You do not have to be college educated or someone special, just care for them and love them to death.

Just remember in your later years, it will all come back to you from them.

I guess everyone should have a brother like Tim. No matter what happens I am always his brother "Big John" as he greets me with a smile. Tim never sees my bad points, never looks at my mistakes, and just always seems to be glad to see me.

Tim grew up to be a friend to just keep me going, all I have to do is stop by and see Tim for a while in the home he stays at. I can hear it now, "Hi, John! This is my brother, "Big John!" he tells all the people in the home for the hundredth time. It just gives you that feeling that you're someone special to Tim. Growing up and living with Tim has made me, my kids, and so many other people better people just from knowing and being around him.

HOROSCOPES
July 22 - July 28
ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20
Aries, you have the temptation to complete projects that others may never even attempt. Put your best foot forward and get to work so you can start producing some results.
TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21
Taurus, a friend or family member looks to you for advice this week. Do your best to put yourself in this person's shoes and let him or her know that you support it unreservedly.
GEMINI - May 22/June 21
Gemini, a great opportunity to express yourself comes along this week. Make the most of this chance to let others know who you are. You won't be sorry you did.
CANCER - Jun 22/Jul 22
A trial that seems unlikely is still worth working toward. Cancer. Others will be there to offer support and guidance as you tackle this very rewarding goal.
LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23
Your financial savvy comes into play this week, Leo. Put your skill for finding deals to work and you will see your balances grow as much as possible.
VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22
Give yourself time to form an opinion on an important issue in your life, Virgo. The more time you take, the more clearly you will see the issue as you go along.
LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
A budding friendship commands your attention this week, Libra. Be sure the relationship the attention it deserves and you just may establish a great connection.
SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
Think before you speak this week, Scorpio. Quiet will only lead to some easy laughs, but it's best to consider how your words affected those around you before you speak.
SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Sagittarius, criticism is coming your way and it is intended to be constructive. Recognize others are trying to help and take their opinions to heart.
CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
Give yourself a little more time to solve a puzzling problem, Capricorn. Within a few days, you might have the fresh perspective you need to find a solution.
AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
Not everyone moves at high speeds, Aquarius. It's important to remember not to keep up with you, doesn't mean they do not have anything to offer.
PICES - Feb 19/Mar 20
Pisces, focus on doing an activity that brings you joy. This activity is a great way to spend some free time each day being productive.
