City sells property to shelter

Eva Burrell Animal Shelter move from lessee to owner

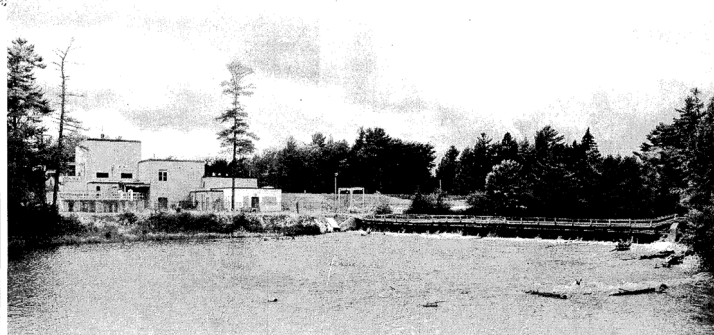

MANISTIQUE — The Eva Burrell Animal Shelter has found its “forever” home by purchasing the land its leased for nearly 20 years. The decision for the city to sell the parcel of land to the organization was made during Monday’s meeting of Manistique City Council.

In a meeting earlier this month, council agreed to seek bids for the property on which the shelter sits. The sale was prompted by a request from the Eva Burrell Animal Shelter Board President Victoria George. The shelter board has been leasing the property from city since 2000, but in March decided to pursue the purchase of their leased 2.74 acres in order to secure additional grants for expansion.

Planned improvements to the shelter include a training area to allow shelter volunteers and staff to work with shelter animals regardless of weather and allow school groups to visit; an entry way for and updates to the cat quiet room; new cat kennels; a larger meet and greet area; and an improved quarantine area for dogs.

Manistique water receives ‘non-detect’ result for PFAS

Six months of testing for chemical comes to an end

MANISTIQUE — The city of Manistique has recently fared well in PFAS testing — landing “non-detect” results for its water supply. The testing results, as well as an update about the status of the wastewater PFAS testing, was provided during Monday’s meeting of the Manistique City Council.

PFAS (per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances), a group of man-made compounds that includes PFOA, PFOS, GenX, and many other chemicals, have been used in thousands of applications globally. According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency website, PFAS can be found in: food packaging in PFAS-containing materials, processed with equipment that used PFAS, or grown in PFAS-contaminated soil or water; commercial household products, including stain- and water-repellent fabrics, nonstick products (e.g., Teflon), polishes, waxes, paints, cleaning products, and firefighting foams (a major source of ground-water contamination at airports and military bases where firefighting training occurs); the workplace, including production facilities or industries (e.g., chrome plating, electronics manufacturing or oil recovery) that use PFAS; drinking water, typically localized and associated with a specific facility (e.g., manufacturer, landfill, wastewater treatment plant, firefighter training facility); and even living organisms, including fish, animals and humans, where PFAS have the ability to build up and persist over time.

According to Corey Barr, Manistique water/wastewater superintendent, the state has mandated the PFAS testing —

SPREADING THE LOVE

The 52nd annual CBC Fundraising Drive has officially come to an end and organizers are deeming it a “huge success”. Donations toward the drive have grown each year, with 2019 receiving the most donations — a total contribution of $60,500 to be divided amongst the three charities. The CBC Fundraising Drive always supports the American Cancer Society and Bay Cliff Health Camp, with a rotating third, local charity. This year, it was Good Neighbor Services. Donations amounts were as follows: American Cancer Society, $20,000; Bay Cliff Health Camp, $20,000; Bay Cliff Schoolcraft County Committee, $500; and Good Neighbors, $20,000. Organizers thanked all the businesses who sponsored fundraising events, as well as auction item donors, talent show participants, and all the volunteers. Local businesses take part in Habitat projects

MANISTIQUE - Last week, Habitat for Humanity - Hiawathaland held its Local Build Week.

According to Ann M. MacGregor, executive director for Habitat for Humanity Hiawathaland, Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital kicked off the work week Aug. 19.

In its ninth year, the Women's Build Day took place Aug. 20. Originally, the Women's Build Day took place in May.

"Continuing to donate their time to make improvements within the community, Graymont worked the construction line Aug. 21.

Employees from St. Francis de Sales School wrapped up the construction week Aug. 22.

"Last year, Stephanie Pierce (Graymont) challenged other businesses and organizations to join them in giving back to our community," said MacGregor. "That sparked the addition of SMH and St. Francis. She made the same challenge to our community again this year. I am willing to fill two weeks in 2020 and am looking forward to hearing from others who would like to join us.

"We are very grateful to everyone who joined in this year and for all of the work that was accomplished," she continued. "Next year is our affiliate's 25th anniversary and I hope to really be able to celebrate that all year long in everything we do."

If any local business is inter-isted in sharing their talents, MacGregor can be reached at 341-7437 or by email at amacgregor@hiawathalandhabitat.com.

Human trafficking investigation leads to seven arrests in Menominee County

MENOMINEE COUNTY - On August 22, seven men were arrested during a joint operation in northern Menominee County aimed at reducing the demand for sex trafficking.

Law enforcement agencies initiated the operation by placing online advertisements on websites used for prostitution. During the investigation thirty-two individuals responded to the website advertisements.

Seven men followed through and met with an undercover detective, who posed as a prostitute, to pay for services. All seven men were subsequently arrested for Prostitution/Engaging in Services and Using Computers-Internet to Commit Crime and lodged at the Menominee County Jail.

The names of the men are being withheld pending their arraignment.

The main purpose of the operation was to reduce the demand for sex trafficking and to identify possible victims by gathering intelligence from those responding to the online advertisements.

The men responding to online advertisements have no way of knowing if they are paying for sex from a victim of human trafficking, an alleged willing participant, or an undercover detective. Either way, those responding to advertisements are creating the demand that fuels sex trafficking.

The operation was a collaborative effort between the Upper Peninsula Substance Enforcement Team, the Bureau of Indian Affairs - Division of Drug Enforcement, Homeland Security Investigations, Hannahville Tribal Police Department, Michigan State Police Homeland Security Team, and the Michigan State Police Computer Crimes Unit.

Summer vacation will end for more than 2,000 students in the Manistique Area Schools next week, when the 1969-70 school year gets underway. The faculty will start work Tuesday, and students will begin classes at regular time on Wednesday. Buses will be operating Wednesday, but the hot lunch program will not start until next Monday, Sept. 8. Installation of new equipment at the central cooking kitchen at the Fairview School has delayed the start of the hot lunch program, it was explained. Prices for hot lunch will be the same as last year, 25 cents per meal for students. And 50 cents per meal for adults and faculty members.

An 8 a.m. Mass of the Holy Spirit next Tuesday will open the school year for almost 300 students at St. Francis de Sales School. Following the Mass in the church, students will complete registration, meet their new teachers, and pay tuition fees in their classrooms. They will probably be dismissed around 10 a.m. Sister Marceya, principal of the school, said that full-day sessions will begin next Wednesday. Faculty assignments include Sister Anne, first grade; Mrs. Rosemary Sablack, second grade; Mrs. Noreen McLaughlin, third grade; Sister M. Florian, fourth grade; Carl Rose, fifth grade; Sister Rita Mac, sixth grade; Karl Krepps, seventh grade; and Sister Marceyn, eighth grade.

There will be 14 new faculty members on staff when the Manistique Area Schools open next week. They include seven high school staff members. Six elementary teachers and an instrumental music teacher. New teachers and their assignments: Vernon E. Annelin, sixth grade, Lincoln School; Linda K. Curran, first grade, Doyle School; William W. Carmody, high school English; Sue Lynn Duncanson, kindergarten, Gernfask School; Kathryn D. Knudsen, high school German; Patricia G. Lehman, high school math, algebra and geometry; Kathryn Moberg, kindergarten, Lincoln School; Patrick A. Moberg, high school English; Rulsen Meyer, instrumental music; John M. Hanlon, third and fourth grades, Gernfask; Judith Rogers, first grade, Hiawatha School, Judith Ryanan, first and second grades, Gernfask; Helen Jean Voisine, director of vocational education program; and Gerald Wilson, eighth grade, Fairview School.

The cash flow problems of several local units of government in Schoolcraft County should be considerably eased during the coming year as the result of the bankruptcy auction of 16,000 acres of Blaney Resort property last Saturday. Ordered by the bankruptcy court, the sale raised in excess of $3 million, according to County Treasurer William Cowman. Auctioneers hammered off 280 separate 40 and 80 acre parcels to a large crowd of bidders at the sale, but the 1,000 acre townsite was excluded from the sale. Top parcel at the sale was for the Ford Lake retreat parcel that included seven cabins and lake frontage, that sold for $65,000.

The City of Manistique will be seeking a $3 million Urban development Action Grant from the federal government that would assist Manistique Papers, Inc. in putting together a financial package for major improvements at the local mill. Leif Christensen, president and general manager of Manistique Papers, stressed that corporate approval of the project is still forthcoming, but that city participation would provide relatively inexpensive financing that is an "important step" in the project's development. City Manager Charles Varum explained that the UDAG grant would be combined with $12 million in other financing for a $15 million project total. If the city is successful in securing the grant it will then negotiate a loan to Manistique Papers, at an interest rate and payback period to be determined. When the loan is repaid, the city may then use that money for further industrial development or capital spending for such items as streets, water and sewers.

A local headquarters has been established for the 1984 Jerry Lewis Labor Day Teletthon for muscular dystrophy. The Manistique Pledge Center will be at the Masonic Temple and manned by Job's Daughters, headed by Donna Mott.

It has been talked about for the past seven years, and now it looks like Manistique will soon be the newest Pamida location in the Upper Peninsula. At a special meeting held Wednesday morning the Downtown Development Authority announced it was in the position to make Pamida development a reality. Negotiations to develop the store hit a stand still as the project was $120,000 over budget. Additionally, the Michigan Department of Transportation would not back down from a requirement to have a turning lane constructed at the site. With an additional $75,000 to construct the lane, the project was dead. At the meeting, with a motion from Dick Keteik and support from Peggi Arnold, the DDA approved funding for the construction of the turning lane.

In response to the number of crashes on U.S. Highway 2 in the past three years, police agencies and the Office of Highway Safety Planning are combining their resources in the implementation of a new campaign designated as Operation "Hope" (High Observation and Preventative Enforcement). Operation "Hope" is targeted at reducing the number of crashes on U.S. 2 throughout the Upper Peninsula. A coordinated effort between local, county and state police agencies will provide enhanced enforcement along U.S. 2.

Crews began working this week to clear the site where the new Jack's SuperValu store will be built, just east of Pamida on U.S. Highway 2. Construction on the new store is expected to start soon, with a grand opening slated for next year. The 43,000 square foot store will be more than twice the size of the current Jack's SuperValu on Maple Street.

At a special ceremony this Friday night, Sept. 4, the football field at A.F. Hall Stadium will be dedicated in memory of one of Manistique High School's best, and best known athletes. The gridiron will officially be named the "Ron Rubick Memorial Field" during a 7 p.m. dedication, prior to kickoff of the varsity football game between the host Emeralds and the visiting Ishpeming Hematites.

In a special presentation during last week's Schoolcraft County Fair, long-time volunteer Deb Gierke was named the fair's 2009 VIP. Gierke has worked for the Michigan State University Extension for the past 10 years and has been involved with the fair for six years. She is the head of Clover Kid College, a day camp for children 5-12, is a peer mentor for 4-H and just started the 4-H Recycle Fair, among many other community activities.

News from MAS

Superintendent Howard Parmentier

Hello to you all! I'm excited to be starting a new year and the staff and I are looking forward to seeing all of our students!

I wanted to share with you a couple of notable changes to the student's handbook for the start of the 2019-20 school year. The first and most notable will be our cell phone policy for Emerald Elementary and Manistique Middle School students.

Emerald Elementary Students are not permitted to have cell phones or other electronic devices in school. Cell phones and/or other electronic devices that are brought to school will be given to and stored with their teacher for the duration of the school day. Students will have their cell phones and/or other electronic devices returned at the end of the day.

Emerald Elementary will not be responsible for cell phones and/or other electronic devices lost, damaged or stolen. Please see handbook for consequences.

Middle school students are not permitted to have cell phones (or other devices that record images and connect to the internet) in school. Cell phones that are brought to school will be stored in the office upon entering the building.

The phone will remain in this stored location until the end of the school day. The Manistique Middle and High School will not be responsible for lost or stolen devices. The process of storing (or retrieving) cell phones will not be used to excuse tardiness to classes or buses.

Please see handbook for consequences. This decision was discussed with parents, students, community members, and staff. The goal of this decision is to allow students to be more focused, to decrease behavior problems due to the electronic devices, and to increase student achievement.

One concern that we heard was, "How am I to get ahold of my child?" If a situation arises that you need to get ahold of your child, please call the main office of your child's building.

Another change to our Man-

Howard Parmentier

istique Middle High School Handbook is the use of our in-school suspension room.

There are several offenses that have been adjusted to include an in-school suspension as opposed to three days out-of-school suspension.

An example of this is vaping. Last year, this would have been a three day out-of-school suspension. The committee felt that we were not educating our children on why vaping is a danger. So, we adjusted the consequence to one day of out-of-school suspension and two days of in-school suspension with an educational piece to educate the student on why vaping is dangerous.

I hope this article gives you an understanding as to why some of these changes were made. Again, we are looking forward to seeing all our students and we are excited about the new school year.

Annual Bridge Walk set, multiple options available

ST. IGNACE – Walk halfway and make the U-turn? Walk all the way across and arrange a ride? Start early and walk the bridge twice? With less than a week to go until the 2019 Mackinac Bridge Walk Sept. 2, there's still plenty of time to plan your participation in this annual tradition.

As in 2018, the walk will again start in both St. Ignace and Mackinac City with three options for walkers. A video posted on the MBA website at www.MackinacBridge.org/Walk explains the bridge walk schedule and the choices people will have whether they start from the north or south ends of the bridge.

"We heard from many people last year that the new options worked well and that the walk was very enjoyable without vehicles on the bridge," said Mackinac Bridge Authority Executive Secretary Kim Nowack. "Whether you've walked the bridge before or not, Labor Day 2019 will be a great day to participate in this 62-year tradition."

Walkers have three main options, outlined in the video:

Start from either end of the bridge and walk toward the center, turn around at the midpoint and return to the city they started from, where their transportation is located. The turnaround points will move toward the ends of the bridge beginning at 10 a.m., but walkers can walk at least a portion of the bridge if they start by 11:30 a.m.

Walk the entire length of the bridge starting from either end. Those who choose this option must reach the midpoint before 10 a.m. or they will be turned back. Anyone who walks the entire bridge must arrange their own transportation back to the side they started once the bridge reopens to public traffic at noon.

Quick facts

- The annual Mackinac Bridge Walk will take place Sept. 2.

Cross the bridge, starting from either end, and then turn around and walk back to the side they started from. In this option, walkers will need to cross the midpoint on their return trip by 10 a.m. or they will be turned back and need to find their own transportation back across the bridge after it reopens at noon.

Because walkers can start from either end of the bridge when they arrive, there will be no buses transporting participants across the bridge.

The bridge will again be closed to public traffic during the 2019 walk from 6:30 a.m. to noon on Labor Day, Sept. 2, based on recommendations from the Michigan State Police and U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

Emergency vehicles will still be permitted to cross the bridge, but no public vehicles until the walk concludes and participants are off the bridge.

People who are interested in receiving text messages about bridge closures, including closure information for the annual bridge walk, can sign up for Mackinac County 911's RAVE Alert System updates.

There is no cost to receive these updates, aside from any texting fees from the participant's mobile coverage plan. To opt in to this text alert system:

News Brief

LMAS gives 'all clear' to South Manistique

MANISTIQUE – LMAS District Health Department has lifted all alerts for South Manistique Lake after test results returned Aug. 22, were well within acceptable limits for E. coli. LMAS states it is important to remember that all lakes contain E. coli from wildlife.

All lakes will experience an increase in E. coli after rain events, and when there are high winds – the increased wave action churns up the bottom sediments that contain E. coli from settled wildlife excrement. Officers from the Michigan DNR are at the lake today continuing their investigation for the original source of the initial sewage event at South Manistique Lake.

The department stated that they appreciate the information and observations from the public during this event and asks the public to continue to contact LMAS with any information about any sewage discharge in South Manistique Lake. Call (906) 293-5107, or 800-562-4832. Additional information will be shared on Facebook.com/LMAS-DHD and through local radio.

Colleen Cody

MANISTIQUE — Colleen Evelyn Cody, 89, a longtime resident of Manistique, Mich., passed away Tuesday, Aug. 27, 2019, at the Schoolcraft Medical Care Facility.

Born Colleen Evelyn Shampine on Feb. 12, 1930, in Pontiac, Mich., to Thomas F. and Evelyn (Ottosen) Shampine, she attended school in Battle Creek, Mich., Fort Wayne, Ind., and finally Manistique before graduating with the class of 1947. While living in Manistique, she worked at Hoholik's Dairy. She also enjoyed her position working with the Manistique School and Public Library. Colleen relocated to Hazel Park, Mich., in 1973 where she graduated from the Portia Business School and accepted a position with the Cuna Insurance Company in Southfield, Mich. Retiring in 1992, she joyfully returned to Manistique.

During her retirement years, Colleen served on a local zoning board and worked at the polling locations of many elections. She served as a senior companion for 15 years, helping other seniors at the Medical Care Facility and Woodland Meadows.

She was a member of the Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians and a member of the First Baptist Church, serving on the Mission Board for many years.

Colleen was an avid reader with a great love of books; she enjoyed the opera and musical theater, and greatly enjoyed being a member of the Senior Writers of Manistique Group. She contributed many short stories to the group's annual publication over the years. Her writings were a window into her life and inspired, entertained, and enlightened her readers.

A firm believer in broadening her knowledge, she subscribed to numerous archeological and scientific journals and enjoyed taking online classes studying history and world religions. She took meticulous care of her home, family, pets, and enjoyed cultivating beautiful flowers throughout her lifetime. Her greatest pleasure was the time she spent to spend with her family and taking her little dog, Jimmy, on walks.

She is survived by her sons, Francis (Maribeth) Kasur, David Kasur, and Michael (Jill) Johnson; daughter, Carol (Darrell) Dixon; brother, Art (Lola) Hedger of Battle Creek, Mich.; sister, Arlene Lahn of Battle Creek, Mich.; grandchildren, Benjamin Stoll, Brandon Burns, Rebecca Johnson; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Colleen was preceded in death by her parents; brother, Thomas Shampine; sisters, Carol Rudd and Constance Wickens; and grandson, Thomas Kasur.

Colleen will be deeply missed by her family, friends, and community. Visitation will take place at 12 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 3, at the First Baptist Church in Manistique. A memorial service will follow at 1 p.m. with Pastor Jay Martin officiating. Burial of ashes will follow at Lakeview Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be directed to the First Baptist Church of Manistique.

News Brief

Nessel urges FCC to crackdown on robocalls

LANSING — Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel and 50 other Attorneys General today urged the Federal Communications Commission to encourage telecom providers to implement default call blocking technology and call authentication solutions to block illegal and unwanted robocalls, and to protect consumers from caller-ID spoofing.

The letter from the Attorneys General comes after the FCC issued a declaratory ruling and proposed new rules related to federal and industry efforts to block illegal robocalls and eliminate caller-ID spoofing. In their letter, the Attorneys General state that telecom providers should:

Offer free, default call-blocking services to all customers based on reasonable analytics that do not block important calls such as emergency alerts or automated calls requested by customers;

Implement the caller-ID authentication technology — known as STIR/SHAKEN — which will help ensure telephone calls are originating from secure, verified numbers as quickly as possible;

Develop separate landline caller-ID authentication to prevent illegal and unwanted robocalls to seniors or those that live in rural areas; and,

Ensure that call blocking and call authentication efforts protect consumer data.

These principles address illegal and unwanted robocalls through prevention and enforcement.

Anniversaries

Allen and Ann Marie Hubble recently celebrated 60 years of marriage by having a dinner with their sons and family. They are the parents of two sons, Faron and Brian; grandparents of two grandsons; and great-grandparents of one great-grandson. They were married in August 1959.

So what does the typical school morning look like in your house? Quiet conversation over a leisurely breakfast, everyone dressed and ready to depart on time, all their books, papers and lunch neatly packed and ready to go? No? Not quite? More like a minor riot with lots of stress? If so, it's time for a change.

There's no magic way to guarantee that the bedlam that marks those getting ready for school times in too many homes will totally disappear, but there are steps to take to help minimize the school-morning frustration, stress and anger.

You can start by not blaming the kids for all the problems.

Make it clear that you're not happy with how you're acting (you know, that yelling and lecturing virtually every day). Tell them you want to change and you need their help in making it happen.

An important step is give the kids more responsibility. A kitchen timer, for example, is a great way to help young children finish that breakfast with time left to get dressed for school. For older kids, let them use an alarm clock, maybe on their phone, and have them agree to a "no-snooze-alarm" rule.

For both younger and older children there have to be consequences, discussed and agreed to ahead of time, if they don't stick to the time rules.

They give up a favorite something if they slide back into the old ways. And you also need to set a consequence for yourself if you flip back into yelling and nagging to get them moving.

You can also make changes to move things along faster. No morning TV for starters and that cell phone can wait until after breakfast and getting dressed before it becomes the center of their lives.

Being more organized will also help. Have a designated place for backpacks and school

Counseling Corner

American Counseling Association

and make sure they're in place before bedtime. School clothes get laid out the night before. Have a special in-box for school papers that need to be signed.

If your child forgets to put the papers there after school, consequences should kick in.

There's no perfect cure to school morning craziness, but making the kids shoulder more of the responsibility, and giving them a system to help make things more organized, can not only make that morning rush more civilized, but can also provide skills that will help them throughout life.

Grandparents Teach, too

Step one for helping children focus on school related tasks is to start with correct information. It helps to read everything the teacher sends home including textbook instruction, if needed, and the assignment book. Children may insist something absolutely must be done a certain way when it is not true.

Moving the Body and the Brain

Before doing a task, consider a study by Faber-Taylor. It shows that playing in a green setting helps children to focus and pay attention. Planning a little time outside in nature before sitting down to do something that requires focus helps concentrating, following directions, and completing tasks.

Turn off technology

You can turn off all screens and phones and place them by a family charging station. When older children insist they can multitask with music, often the moment you are out of the room they will play a game or talk to friends. Before children tackle homework or anything else that takes concentration, turn off the noise of technology, unless technology is part of the homework. Studying regularly in the same quiet place next to an adult, with an adult on call, or checking often is a good family habit.

Make a List

Having homework and chores can overwhelm children. Help them focus on getting things done and done correctly. To avoid a melt-down make a list together and cross of the item when completed.

Have some signals

To avoid conversations that get off the track, avoid conversations. Ask about the day before homework. Children are masters of delay. Point or raise your hand slightly back to the work when they stray and praise them for working and getting things done.

Take Breakers

Homework can be exhausting. After working for 10 minutes or more depending upon the age and skill level stand up and take a drink located close by and then get back to work. Make the relaxing time short.

Develop Habits

Child psychologists suggest we create magic moments within our family as incentives to finish tasks. Little children like a bath and talking time with a parent. Older children can take a relaxing shower, washing their hair, having a snack, brushing teeth, and reading before lights out. Playing video games, watching videos, or texting friends turns on the brain again and interferes with a great sleep.

Zion welcomes return of altar painting, to host conservator

MANISTIQUE - Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church in Manistique will soon welcome the return of its historic altar painting, "Gethsemane". The oil on canvas work was completed in 1893 by Norwegian artist, August Klagstad.

The painting has spent the spring and summer at Conservation and Museum Services in Detroit, where it has undergone re-stretching, complete cleaning and the application of a clear, protective varnish. The painting is notable as it is the first of more than 1,000 altar paintings completed by Klagstad during his long career.

Klagstad came to Manistique in 1871 at age five and grew up in the pioneer lumbering settlement.

Kenneth Katz, from Conservation and Museum Services, will be returning the Klagstad painting to Zion Sept. 1. He and his crew of three other art conservators will spend the week cleaning and restoring the painting currently behind the altar in the chancel area of the sanctuary. The painting, "Ascension", an oil on plaster work by Swedish artist, Jonas Olaf Grafström, was completed on-site soon after the current church was built in 1906. Katz will be available Sept. 3, beginning at 9 a.m. to explain the process of art restoration and attendees will be able to observe workers as they go about their craft restoring the Grafström painting of the Ascension. The public is invited to attend this informational event.

Next week is the Manistique Senior Center Open House. Please call to sign up now if you are planning to attend! It takes place Sept. 5 from 11 a.m.-3 p.m.

Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. by MDS-CAA Senior Nutrition Program and the menu consists of barbecue ribs, braised potatoes, salad, baked beans, corn bread, and sherbet.

Donation is $3 for aged 60 and older and $5 for anyone under age 60. The kitchen does need a head court for lunch. Sign up is required by Friday, Aug. 30.

There will be door prizes, raffles and entertainment will be Karaoke provided by Mary Larson and her crew. We hope to see you here for this annual celebration!

Help! Our bingo machine is in desperate need of repairs and we are trying to raise funds to help with this. Susan Hattas-Krumrey is holding a Tupperware fundraiser to help with this and is also hoping to earn enough to start a bingo repair fund for future expenses.

Susan's Tupperware Book Party fundraiser will yield 40 percent of sales for this purpose and will run from Sept. 10-23, although orders can be placed beginning now. You can contact Susan directly at (906) 235-9843 or stop by the senior center office.

We have a book available with the selected items available for this fundraiser. We are also graciously accepting donations for bingo repairs if you are willing to help us out in that way.

Mark your calendars and call in your RSVP for the presentation "Ten Ways to Love Your Brain". Jake from the Alzheimer's Association will be here on Sept. 19 at 10 a.m. to offer this free presentation. Call the senior center at 341-5923 so we can have a head count. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Coming up Sept. 24, is the Senior Expo at the Terrace Bay Hotel in Gladstone. Tickets to the event are free and lunch is provided.

We will once again be utilizing the Schoolcraft County Transit Authority for transportation to this event. Bus tickets will be $8 and must be paid for in advance at the senior center office. We are limited to 20 tickets to this event, so be sure to sign up early if you want to go.

The Kountry Klass Variety Band country music concert presented by Munising Moose Lodge No. 1386. This will take place on October 12. We will be departing at 3 p.m. from our own parking lot and stopping for dinner at The Tanglewood Inn in Shingleton. Tickets for the concert are free; bus tickets are $8 per person; and dinner will be dutch treat. Seats are limited, so be sure to reserve yours now.

We are still in need of board members for both the Schoolcraft County Commission on Aging and the Manistique Senior Citizen's Board. If you have time to volunteer and like to help make a difference, then here is an opportunity for you. PFAS testing once last summer, and a current monthly testing spanning six months (April, May, June, July, August, and September). Each of the tests thus far, which sample and test both Manistique intake supply (from the Indian River) and finished "tap water" product, have returned with a "non-detect" result for PFAS.

City Manager Sheila Aldrich noted that the city was "very happy" to receive the non-detect results for the water.
Barr said he's happy with the results of the testing.
"On the water plant side, we're in great shape," he explained. "On the wastewater (side), we don't know because there's no regulations yet."

when a new regulation comes out like this ... you still might have to clean up, but you're not liable for the damages. In this case, one of our Michigan House of Representatives (legislators) wants to make all municipalities eventually liable for past stuff that we didn't know about.
He added that his hope is legislators, when they eventually pass their own set of regulations regarding PFAS, will exempt municipalities from liability prior to the enactment of the regulations.
"It's going to require us to do a whole bunch of testing, which is a lot of money - there is only one lab in the entire country that does PFAS testing right now," Barr explained. "That's where it's going to initially impact us is more testing, more sample collection, more shipping costs."

imported into the United States in consumer goods such as carpet, leather and apparel, textiles, paper and packaging, coatings, rubber and plastics.
Barr explained while one of the largest contributors to PFAS are airport bases, there is still a presence in the everyday products "still in use today."
"Most of our clothes do not come from the United States - they come from China, Indonesia, and Bangladesh, and they do not adhere to the standards," he said. "Those clothes being imported still have the potential to have that waterproofing agent in it."
Barr went on to note that the difficulty with PFAS is it is a "forever chemical."
"It cannot be really broken down in the environment," he said. "It has to be collected through absorption with charcoal or carbon and then it still has to be disposed of. You didn't actually get rid of it, you just collected it in a sponge basically - in the carbon - and now you're going to move that carbon to a landfill somewhere."

as a possible method to destroy PFAS, Barr explained it is unclear if this would produce "particulate" problems in the atmosphere.
"They haven't proven it out that it's a viable way of permanent disposal," he said.
Barr stated that, on a separate note, the city water supply is currently undergoing its lead and copper testing - which is expected to be completed this week.
"We have most of the results back - everything's in great shape," Barr said. "We're doing the proper chemistry and corrosion control."
He also pointed out that the city's water and wastewater labs recently performed well in testing.
"We passed both our laboratory proficiency testing that's required annually," Barr said. "I don't give kudos enough to my staff. I've turned this over to both head operators as one of their primary responsibilities and they've come through with flying colors. 'Acceptable' is as good as you can get and everything was acceptable."

Shelter purchase

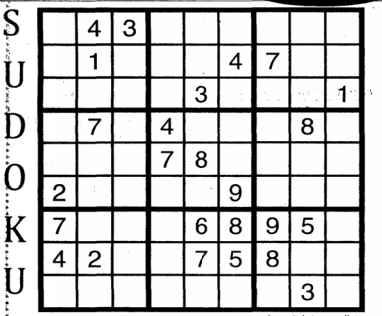

the property to the Eva Burrell Animal Shelter, council took steps to ensure the organization would be the only qualified bidder for the property.
In their bid request the city stated the following minimum requirements: the bidding party must show the ability to finance the sale; purchaser takes the property subject to a binding 30-year lease entered into with the Eva Burrell Animal Shelter, at $100 per year, to expire August 2045; the property must be used as an animal shelter.

During Monday's meeting, Mayor Mike Perilloux began by opening the sole bid received by the city for the piece of property.
"We have a bid from the Eva Burrell Animal Shelter," he said. "The Eva Burrell Animal Shelter has funds available in the amount of $6,850 to purchase the property that the current shelter sits on."

Perilloux noted that amount offered was half of the amount at which the property is currently appraised.
Councilperson Paul Walker made the motion to accept the shelter's bid of $6,850 to purchase the property. The motion included the city's first right of refusal - meaning if the shelter ever decides to sell the property, the city would have the first opportunity to re-purchase the property at fair market value.

("I want to thank the shelter for the great service they do for the community," he said. "I think that service they provide is priceless.")
Councilperson Cathy Rohde seconded the motion, which was then unanimously approved. Councilperson Kim Shiner was absent.
Following the vote, George thanked the board for selling the property to the shelter.

We're working to protect Michigan's water.

The Great Lakes are important to Michigan, and we all want to protect the Straits of Mackinac.

That's why we've implemented enhanced safety measures to protect the environment, including increased monitoring and alerts to ships to prevent anchor strikes.

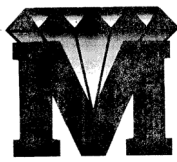

We're also replacing Line 5 at the St. Clair River with a new, state-of-the-art pipeline crossing far below the riverbed using horizontal directional drilling technology.

Line 5 is critical infrastructure that provides the energy Michigan residents and businesses use every day. It would be irresponsible to shut down a safe pipeline that's essential to Michigan and the region.

We are committed to doing what it takes to uphold our pledge to protect our Great Lakes while safely meeting Michigan's energy needs.

Back on the field... tradition continues

MANISTIQUE — Following the cancellation of the 2018 season, the Manistique Emerald Varsity Football team is set to start anew with a trip to Ishpeming in their season opener.

The Emeralds' 2018 season started with a loss to Ishpeming. Following that game, a decision to forfeit their second game of the season was made due to lack of healthy players to field a team. Healthy for a short period of time, the Emeralds played host to West Iron County Sept. 7, 2018, finishing that contest with just 10 players. They have not played since cancelling the remainder of their schedule.

Ishpeming went on to finish the 2018 campaign undefeated, capturing the District 8 title with a 32-0 win over West Iron County before falling to the Breckenridge Huskies in the regionals.

Coach Todd Kangas now in his 28th year at the helm of the Emerald football program will field 21 players when they board the bus this Friday. Only six players have varsity experience.

"We will be very inexperienced, not only young but inexperienced," Kangas said.

This year's squad consists of five sophomores and a freshman that were brought up to play on the varsity team. Additionally last year's juniors only played two

Emeralds take first at Munising Invite MUNISING — The Emeralds are off to a powerful start for their 2019 volleyball season. The varsity team traveled to Munising Saturday to compete in the Munising Invitational.

Hard work during the off season helped them work their way through the brackets to secure a first place finish in the final round beating Brimley 2-0. The Emeralds' quest began when they took first place in Pool B of pool play with a record of 7-1.

In game one of pool play, the Emeralds topped Superior Central 2-0 (25-9, 25-12). They tied with Mid-Peninsula 1-1 (22-25, 25-21) in game two. Another win over Gwinn (25-19, 25-19) and a final win over Newberry (25-16, 25-14) sent them to the semi-final round.

Defeating the Mustangs 2-0 (25-16, 25-11) in the semi-final round, the Emeralds advanced to the finals to match up against Brimley.

The Emeralds beat the Bays with match scores of 25-16 and 25-21. Lenna Smith and Emilee McDaniell were selected to the All-Tournament Team. Smith finished the game with nine aces, 44 serve receives, 23 digs, 17 kills, and three blocks. McDaniell had three aces, three digs, 28 kills, and eight blocks.

The Emeralds host Newberry tonight with the junior varsity game set to begin at 5:30 p.m. The varsity squad will play after that.

Opinion

Inappropriate adult behavior at high school athletic events in Michigan has reached epidemic proportion.

When more than 2,000 high school athletic directors were asked in a recent national survey what they like least about their job, 62.3 percent said it was "dealing with aggressive parents and adult fans."

And the men and women who wear the black and white stripes agree. In fact, almost 80 percent of officials quit after the first two years on the job, and unruly parents are cited as the reason why. As a result, there is a growing shortage of high school officials here in Michigan, and in some sports like wrestling, swimming and diving and track and field, the shortage is severe. No officials means no more games.

If you are a parent attending a high school athletic event this fall, you can help by following these six guidelines:

- Act your age. You are, after all, an adult. Act in a way that makes your family and school proud.
- Don't live your life vicariously through your children. High school sports are for them, not you. Your family's reputation is not determined by how well your children perform on the field of play.
- Let your children talk to the coach instead of you doing it for them. High school athletes learn how to become more confident, independent and capable — but only when their parents don't jump in and solve their problems for them.

• Stay in your lane. No coaching or officiating from the sidelines. Your role is to be a responsible, supportive parent — not a coach or official.

• Remember, participating in a high school sport is not about getting a college scholarship. According to the NCAA, only about two percent of all high school athletes are awarded a sports scholarship, and the total value of the scholarship is only about $18,000.

• Make sure your children know you love watching them play. Do not critique your child's performance on the car ride home. Participating in high school sports is about character development, learning and having fun — not winning and losing.

Purchasing a ticket to a high school athletic event does not give you the right to be rude, disrespectful or verbally abusive. Cheer loud and be proud, but be responsible and respectful. The future of high school sports in Michigan is dependent on you.

Well, as I write this week's article we are getting a good steady rain here in town and hopefully across most of the area. It was really dry in some areas I covered over the weekend. I just hope when the rainy weather comes we do not go into a rainy season this early. It seems it is just too early for us to get into a fall weather pattern this early in the year, but only time will tell.

Many times through all the years I have been writing my article I have heard about all the fishermen I heard about that when the fish were hitting good they would go out early in the morning and limit out and return to their camp to take a break, clean their fish, and later in the day go out and limit out again. I even heard about there being some who did it more than just in the morning and evening. It was really a hard case to ever prove or get enough evidence to even make a case. This week someone sent me the following article where the law of averages finally caught up with one party.

Officers with the Department of Natural Resources found more than 1,400 illegal panfish in a Michigan fisherman's garage freezers, officials said.

DNR officials said they received multiple tips from anglers about possible over-fishing on Gladwin County's Lake Lancer. Fisherman are only allowed to catch 25 panfish per day.

Officers went to the boat launch the morning of Aug. 14 and saw a vehicle with a boat trailer that matched the reported description. They spoke with a 67-year-old Gladwin man who showed them a fishing license and had 13 panfish in his possession, according to authorities.

When officers returned to the boat launch later that morning, the man's boat and vehicle were gone. They checked again later in the day and he had returned, according to officials.

"The angler's vehicle often was spotted in the parking lot of a private boat launch and the angler himself

Fish Report

Ret. Sgt. John Walker

was witnessed fishing Lake Lancer several times per day," Conservation Officer Mark Papineau said.

The fisherman returned to the dock about an hour later and spoke with officers.

"I'm not over my limit," he said, according to DNR officials. Conservation Officer Joshua Wright asked the man how many fish he had and he again said he wasn't over his limit.

The officers learned he was in possession of 24 panfish, but he confessed to having the additional 13 panfish he'd caught earlier in the day, officials said.

He invited the officers to his home to get the 13 fish as evidence. At his home, the man let Wright and Papineau search his garage freezers.

They found 19 panfish that had been caught earlier in the day, which was six more than he had claimed, according to authorities.

Officers also found more than 70 bags of filleted panfish. In total, the man had more than 1,400 illegal fish, DNR officials said.

The officers confiscated the fish and issued the man a ticket.

Once the fish is no longer needed as evidence, it will be donated to a food bank or church, officials said.

Cases like this one do not come up to often but when they do I take my hat off to the officers that worked on this case and made it happen. It seems when a case like this is made it takes a lot of officer hours plus some super important help from other sportsmen that witness this illegal activity and take the time to report it.

It is hard to believe that we are in the last week of August and September is soon to be upon us and with that bear season is only a few days away. Then life up here in the U.P. goes into that normal fall Yooper mode that every normal, red blooded sportsman waits for all year. Each year when this time of year rolls around so do all those great memories of growing up in the Copper Country with siblings and parents who made those years so special. I just wish every kid could grow up with the type life I was blessed with.

We still have a private corner up here in the U.P. on some of the greatest areas to take the time to just go out and enjoy. And too when you get my age you just maybe enjoy being able to still be physically able to get out in the woods. Remember time is a fleeting thing and once it's gone you can never hit rewind and bring those minutes you lost back games adding to the challenges Kangas and his coaches face in putting together a competitive team.

"There has been some growing pains, but I think if we stick with it, we can field a competitive team and have a chance to win our fair share of games," Kangas said. "A lot of things need to go right including staying healthy."

Captains for this year's team are Jerry Jack and Andon Rodman. Jack will also be under center quarterbacking the 2019 Emerald squad.

In an offense that will focus on the run, senior Schyler Anderson is expected to handle the majority of the work load.

"Schyler will have plenty of opportunities to show what he can do," explained Kangas. "He has the size, he runs hard and has good speed."

Kangas went on to say that his squad is not really stacked with skilled position players, but should be strong up front, with lineman on both sides of the ball.

He noted that, along with Anderson running, the ball they hope to be able to control the tempo of the game, convert on downs to control the clock, limiting the amount of time they will need to play defense.

Looking no farther than Friday's contest against Ishpeming, Kangas said they lost a lot of skilled position players from last year's squad, but he expects them to be good up front, saying that he expects them to field another pretty good team.

On the sidelines assisting Kangas will be Ed Marietti and Cody Kangas, the son of the head coach.

"We got to coach together in the All Star games the last two years and really enjoyed it," said Kangas. "Cody loves and enjoys football as much as I do and has a lot of good ideas. It is a community effort, to have an experienced guy that loves football on our staff certainly does help out."

Do you love kids? Do you want to make a difference? We would love for you to join our team!

LABOR DAY

In our daily routines, we do business alongside other hardworking people. Even when we are outside of work - at the movies, the grocery store, driving on the highway - we encounter people who are working just as hard, even on weekends, nights or at two jobs.

Labor Day is a day to honor all of the men and women who work to provide for themselves and their families. We celebrate our accomplishments and everyone who supports the progress and success of our community.

Happy Labor Day from these proud sponsors

We salute our hard working staff this Labor Day!
