Creation of the mBank Arts and Cultural Center is moving forward behind-the-scenes. With the building donation completed, there will be new signage this week and Lake Effect Community Arts organization will be hosting a variety of events to fundraise the grant match amount needed for the renovation of the building. LECA looks to raise matching funds for grant

MANISTIQUE — The mBank Arts and Cultural Center, to be operated by Lake Effect Community Arts, continues to see progress behind-the-scenes. The center will be located at the former Creighton Building on the corner of South Cedar St. and Oak St.

The building was purchased by mBank and will be donated to LECA to develop the center.

According to Teresa Bratton, president of LECA, the 501(c)(3) non-profit organization is currently pursuing a 90 percent grant, 10 percent match Community Development Block Grant. The Michigan Economic Development Corporation, on behalf of the Michigan Strategic Fund, administers the CDBG program on behalf of the Michigan Strategic Fund.

In July, Bratton said the organization received word that the CDBG program would be placed on a temporary "pause" while MEDC executive leadership evaluated the deployment of Michigan CDBG funds and possibly adjust the grant/match percentages. In early August, LECA was informed that Manistique will likely still be considered for the 90 percent, 10 percent match program as it was considered as "part of the current pipeline" of projects.

"So, essentially, they (MEDC executive leadership) talked about what they were looking at for the program and, in that, they've said that Manistique is in the pipeline," Bratton explained. "And it looks like, because we're considered in the pipeline, that we will get the 90 percent, 10 percent."

Bratton said the next step in the process is to make a project pitch to MEDC leadership, followed by a letter of interest, and then completing the full CDBG program application process.

In May, the Manistique Downtown Development Authority agreed to partner with the Manistique City Council to acquire the former Renze building parking lot, located on Arbutus Avenue in downtown Manistique. The purchase of the parking lot will also be funded using the CDBG program, with a 10 percent match required. The public parking lot will be available for LECA patrons, as well as the general public.

LECA will take place sometime in October, Bratton explained. An open house celebration will likely take place around that time, but that won't delay the timeline of LECA.

"They (mBank) are letting Lake Effect occupy it (now), so we are starting to," she said. "We have a class scheduled for this Saturday and we plan on holding it in the (new) building."

One welcome development, Bratton said, was that David Maxwell and Grover Real Estate donated back to the LECA the commission from the sale of the former Creighton building to mBank.

"We are grateful that they donated $5,000 ... to our building fund," she explained.

Since the building purchase was donated by mBank, Bratton said the grant funding, if received from the CDBG, will be used solely to renovate the building to outfit it as an arts and cultural center. These renovations cannot begin, however, until the LECA moves through the entire CDBG process.

"Once we get the letter of intent ... we may not get that until mid- to late October at the earliest, they're telling me six to nine months then to go through all of the hoops to actually get to the point where you actually write the grant application - that's the last step," Bratton explained. "We're looking six to nine months down the road to start any renovation work."

Despite the timeline, LECA plans to occupy the building, fully, by spring.

"Our plan is to open the gallery in the building next May, and somehow we'll just have to work around that for renovations," Bratton said, adding that the current gallery location on South Cedar Street is a rental. "Our last day that the gallery is open (in that location) will be Saturday, Oct. 12. Once all the artists have picked up their work, we will pack everything up and move it down to the (new) building," Bratton said. "We will be out of our current space by the end of October."

The total anticipated cost for the renovation is $3 million.

"(That's) for the complete building renovation - new roof, all new electrical, all new plumbing, new heating, air conditioning," she said. "For our 10 percent match, we would need about $300,000 or a little more. We kind of would like to have more so we have a little cushion - an operating cushion to get things off the ground."

To acquire the 10 percent match, Bratton said the LECA will be fundraising.

"We had our art auction fundraiser on Aug. 10, and we did really well - we made a little over $8,000 from just the art auction," she explained. "We are also taking pledges on our building campaign."

Donations to the community arts and cultural center over $5,000 will be recognized on a donor wall within the center. Donor levels are: "friend" $500-$2,499; "supporter" $2,500-$4,999; "patron" $5,000-$14,999; "advocate" $15,000-$24,999; "founder" $25,000-$49,999; and "visionary" $50,000-plus.

The next fundraising event will be held Oct. 13, from 2-4 p.m. at the Manistique School and Public Library.

"We have a Showtunes and Standards Fundraiser ... featuring Maurita Holland on piano and Roger Chard singing," Bratton said. "There will also be refreshments. Those tickets are $15 and they will be on sale soon in the LECA gallery and Bostique."

More events and fundraising activities will be planned and announced on the LECA Facebook page and featured in the local events section of the Pioneer Tribune.

Bratton said the vision of the community arts and cultural center is to be a place where people of all ages can gather to share ideas and interests. Patrons of the art center will be able to shop for

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The Alliance for Schoolcraft County (the "Alliance") believes that elected county, township and city officials, when fulfilling their local governance responsibilities, must adhere to the principles of transparency, accountability, integrity and proper oversight. Citizens and businesses in both the private and public sector should also demand this and support those who embrace these principles.

Each local elected official must ensure that his/her conduct is above reproach in the view of a reasonable observer. The principles of integrity, transparency and accountability are mutually reinforcing.

Local elected officials that behave with integrity are more willing to be open about decisions and actions taken and be held accountable for them. Conversely, transparency and accountability provide incentives to behave with integrity which leads to proper governance and oversight. These governing principles can be defined as follows:

Integrity - each local elected official must ensure that his/her conduct is above reproach in the view of a reasonable observer.

Transparency - each local elected official must make openness a central element of his/her governance and report on these activities. A governing board's information must be made available to citizens in a timely, useful and comparable way and in an accessible format.

Accountability - each local elected official must be held answerable for executing his/her powers properly and in a timely manner. They must take responsibility for the impact of their decisions and not conceal problems and tensions. All documents supporting decisions and outcomes must be discussed and approved at public meetings and made readily available to the public.

Proper Governance and Oversight - each local elected official must take the time to understand, recognize and appreciate the needs and interests of the community it serves in order to fulfill its governance and oversight role. That community includes its citizens, businesses, governmental agencies, legislative and regulatory bodies, charitable and nonprofit organizations, volunteers and staff, all of whom are critical to its efficient and effective operation.

The Alliance is neutral when it comes to party lines. It will support candidates and current elected officials, who adhere to and display these principles whether they are republicans, democrats or independents.

When the upcoming local November election occurs, the Alliance respectfully requests registered voters embrace candidates who adhere to the principles of integrity, transparency, accountability, governance, and oversight when fulfilling their elected role. If you have yet to register to vote, please do so.

Your vote is important - it drives the direction and success of our community.

The Senior Citizens Center will be moved and open for business today (Thursday) at the building across from the Post Office in Triangle Park. A movie will be shown in the new building next Wednesday, Sept. 17 and a social security representative will be there the morning of Friday, Sept. 19.

A proposed airport expansion project will top the agenda when the Schoolcraft County Board of Supervisors - soon to be known as County Commissioners - meet for their September session next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the courthouse. An agreement between the county and Peckham Engineering on the project, and a report on the plans and an agreement with the airport manager are slated. Resolutions and reports are also listed on the agenda.

The Seney National Wildlife Refuge has announced that nearly 4,000 acres has been added to the area open to small game hunting. Starting Sept. 15 with the opening of grouse season hunters can pursue most small game legal under state regulations, except waterfowl, on 33,525 acres of the refuge. Archery hunting for deer and bear with a deer license is also permitted. However, the Sept. 10 - Nov. 5 bear season with a bear license and use of dogs will not be legal. On Nov. 15 with the start of deer season, 85,200 acres of this 95,455 acre refuge will be open to hunting. In order to avoid inadvertent hunting or trespass violations anyone hunting the refuge is urged to pick up a map and regulation sheet at the Refuge office two miles north of Germfask or from State District Offices and Local Conservation Offices.

Enrollment in the Manistique Area Schools totaled 1,901 as of Tuesday, the board of education was told Tuesday night. This includes 971 students in grades kindergarten through sixth, 303 in grades 7 and 8, and 627 in the four grades of high school. Last year's enrollment total on the fourth Friday in September was 1,966, plus 53 adults enrolled through the Community School program. The projected enrollment figure for this year had been set at 1,892.

Public safety firemen were called to a fire in the front seat of a locked vehicle at 8:50 a.m. Tuesday. The car, owned by Parris Devine, was parked at the rear of the Harbor Bar. The blaze started in a blanket on the front seat, and the entire front seat was burned. Firemen had to break a window to gain entry to the car.

An unexpected increase in kindergarten enrollment will require the addition of an additional half-day section, the Manistique Board of Education decided at their regular meeting Tuesday night. "It's a positive situation - a full house," Supt. Richard Bonifas told the board, pointing out that the state financial aid is based on enrollment totals. Stressing that the preliminary totals are only tentative until membership day, Sept. 28, Bonifas reported that total enrollment in the kindergarten to 12th grade sector last year was 1,339. This year the tentative figure is 1,370. The start up of the new "readiness" kindergarten class accounts for 21 new students, he said, and there are also eight additional special education students added from the Big Bay de Noc district. There have also been some transfers between the private/parochial schools and public schools he said.

Five historic houses in and near Manistique will be featured in an Historic House Tour sponsored by the Manistique Women's Club. Only 100 people will be permitted on the guided tours through some of Manistique's oldest and most unusual houses. Transportation will be provided by the county public transit bus. Participants will meet at the county courthouse where refreshments will be served. Houses to be toured include Rick Pawley's, Vesta Fyvie's, Liz Nelson's, Tom Brezniski's all on Range Street and Joe Davis' on Tannery Road.

Schoolcraft County's jobless rate continued to decline through May, figures released this week by the Michigan Employment Security Commission reveal. The civilian labor force in the county totaled 4,325 during May, the figures show, with employment pegged at 3,425 and 900 jobsless, for a rate of 20.8 percent. That's the lowest for the first five months of 1984. The unemployment rate here peaked in February at 34.3 percent, with a labor force of 4,450, with 2,925 working and 1,525 unemployed.

Schoolcraft County Emergency Management held a Y2K Emergency training session on Thursday, Sept. 9. This session was held to give participants a feel for what a real emergency might entail. Prior to arrival, the participants had no idea what emergency was given was presented to them. The scenario date they were given was Jan. 3, 2000. A ship has lost its navigational system and was forced to anchor at Port Inland. The Coast Guard had to be called, and the necessary steps taken. In another situation, a power shortage was experienced in all townships surrounding the city of Manistique. Due to the winter cold, shelters had to be set up at the schools. Concerned citizens called in questioning a rumor on bank failure. Due to the rumors, the banks had to close, and the emergency staff was forced to deal with rumor control. Staff from various industries came and spoke to the attendees after the exercise.

Due to a resurgence of members and officers, the for sale sign at the Elks Lodge were taken down Tuesday, Sept. 15. To help the Lodge out of financial trouble, volunteers held chicken barbecues throughout the summer. The Friday fish fry has returned and efforts to reinstate a bowling league are underway.

Could construction of a new Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital campus begin next year? That's certainly the hope of hospital officials, who believe the long-delayed project could finally move from planning to reality early in 2010. SMH Chief Executive Officer George Montgomery said they should be able to go "back to the table" with the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development over the winter, and if HUD approves their financial package, could be breaking ground at the building site west of Manistique by spring.

The Manistique Pizza Hut held its fourth annual Firemen's Fundraiser Night Monday allowing area families the chance to tour fire department vehicles and the smokehouse, and also have a little fun trying to dunk the firefighters.

A fixture at home football contests each fall, the Schoolcraft County All-Vets Color Guard plays an important role in helping the A.F. Hall Stadium crowd take a few moments to honor America during the pre-game ceremonies. There was a special significance to the traditional flag raising at last Friday's game between Manistique and Gwinn, as the country was observing the eighth anniversary of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

Currently, the LECA organization has an art gallery, offers classes, and more.

"This summer we had our first kids' free art exploration program," Bratton explained. "That was held in conjunction with the summer day camp program at the Schoolcraft County Fair Building, using a grant from CUP-PAD (Central Upper Peninsula's Planning and Development Regional Commission) and MCACA (Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs). We ended up with 92 kids participating over six weeks. If you look at all the kids who participated, and the number of times, it ended up being 694 hours of free art instruction and activities and over 120 volunteer hours.

It was so well loved," she added. "The kids just loved those art days."

LECA will also be assisting with the organization of the third Power of Words Project mural, which will be painted in the alley of the St. Vincent de Paul thrift shop next summer.

Sea Lamprey control planned for offshore Manistique River

MANISTIQUE — U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service personnel will apply lampricides to the area offshore of the Manistique River (Schoolcraft County) to kill sea lamprey larvae burrowed in the stream bottom. Applications will be conducted on or about Sept. 17, in accordance with State of Michigan permits.

Applications will be complete in about two days. Application dates are tentative and may be changed based upon local weather or stream conditions near the time of treatment. Sea lamprey larvae live in certain Great Lakes tributaries and transform to parasitic adults that migrate to the Great Lakes and kill fish. Failure to kill the larvae in streams would result in significant damage to the Great Lakes fishery. Infested tributaries must be treated every three to five years with lampricides to control sea lamprey populations.

The U. S. Environmental Protection Agency and Health Canada Pest Management Regulatory Agency have reviewed human health and environmental safety data for lampricides, and in 2003 concluded that the lampricides (Lampicide and Bayluscide) pose no unreasonable risk to the general population and the environment when applied at concentrations necessary to control larval sea lampreys.

However, as with any pesticide, the public is advised to use discretion and minimize unnecessary exposure. Lampricides are selectively toxic to sea lampreys, but a few fish, insect, and broadleaf plants are sensitive. Persons confining bait fish or other organisms in stream water are advised to use an alternate water source because lampricides may cause mortality among aquatic organisms stressed by crowding and handling. Agricultural irrigation must be suspended for 24 hours, during and following treatment.

The program is contracted through the Great Lakes Fishery Commission to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Fisheries and Oceans Canada. The Commission initiated chemical control of sea lampreys in 1958. Since that time the highly successful program has contributed significantly to the maintenance of the $7 billion Great Lakes sport and commercial fisheries.

The Commission is committed to delivering a sea lamprey control program that practices good environmental stewardship. To support the continued safe use of lampricides the Commission recently conducted a series of studies at a total cost of $6 million to assess the effects of the lampricides on human health and the environment. In addition to these studies the Commission has implemented a research program to develop alternative control techniques. The Commission also is developing a strategy to increase the number of barriers on lamprey-producing streams, and is conducting research into barrier design, traps, attractants, and biological controls.

Though raking leaves is popular, one of the easiest, and lawn-nourishing, ways to clean leaves is to use a leaf blower.

Handle fall leaves like a pro

Autumn is marked by colorful foliage and plummeting temperatures. Once those leaves reach peak color, they fall from the branches and collect on lawns, necessitating cleanup projects. For homeowners with big yards, such a project can be tiring and time-consuming. However, there are ways to make leaf cleanup easier.

One of the easiest ways to clean up leaves is to reach for a lawn mower rather than a rake. The mower will cut leaves down to smaller sizes, creating an effective mulch that can add nutrients back into the lawn. Davey, a lawn and landscape solutions service, says that mowed leaves also can be collected in a mower bag and added to garden beds or compost piles.

For those who prefer manual raking, select a rake with tines that will not skewer the leaves in the process. Big rakes also can make faster work of gathering leaves into piles.

The home improvement resource The Family Handyman advocates for the use of a lawn sweeper. This is a manual device that has a rotating sweeping brush that gathers up lawn debris and leaves into an attached hopper bag. Like mowed leaves, the bag can be emptied into a compost pile or distributed where needed.

Raking leaves onto a large tarp is another option. Once it's full, the tarp can be taken to the curb where many towns will collect the leaves seasonally. Otherwise, the tarp can be used as a funnel to put leaves into a gardening bag or another appropriate receptacle.

Leaf blowers remain a fast option for cleaning up yards, but they require electricity or gas and can be noisy. Still, they are a popular choice for large landscapes or when quick work needs to be made of leaf clean-up.

'Write Michigan' contest underway

GRAND RAPIDS — Kent District Library and Schuler Books announce the eighth annual Write Michigan Short Story Contest, which drew over 1,300 Michigan writers last year.

Writers of all ages are invited to enter, with separate categories for youth, teens and Spanish language. Winning entries will be published and receive cash prizes. "Write Michigan is an amazing opportunity for writers to get their stories into the hands of a large audience," said KDL Programming Manager Kip Odell. "Plus, this year we are excited to offer larger cash prizes than ever before!"

Winners are chosen by public vote for the Readers' Choice award and by a panel of judges for the Judges' Choice award.

Voters and judges choose winners from the top ten semi-finalists. The top honor in each category receives a $500 cash prize and a Judges' Choice runner-up in each category will receive a $250 cash prize. Winners will be honored during an awards ceremony in March and their story will be published in an anthology by Chappbook Press.

DNR to host public open house, compartment review at Wyman

MANISTIQUE - The Shingleton Management Unit will be holding its Public Open House Sept. 26, at the Wyman Nursery, 4800 Intake Park Rd., in Manistique, from 4 to 7 p.m. and Compartment Review Oct. 15, at 9 a.m. at the Shingleton Field Office, E12340 Highway M-28 West, in Shingleton.
The open house is an informal meeting at which the proposed treatments such as timber sales, plantings, prescribed burns and wildlife and fisheries habitat concerns are presented. This forum provides an informal setting where stakeholders have the opportunity to review these proposed management activities and provide input toward final decisions on those treatments.
The Compartment Review is the step in our decision-making process where all management activities, or treatments, are finalized and approved by all Department of Natural Resources divisions involved. All concerns and comments gathered at the Open House, and any other time throughout the planning process, will be considered prior to or at the Compartment Review.
All the compartment informational packets are available for viewing and downloading on the DNR web site. These packets include detailed maps of treatment areas as well as all pertinent stand information. If you plan to attend or would like to submit comments and/or concerns prior to the decision-making process, please take time to look over the packets. In addition, since the information is available on the web site, packets will not be mailed out as in the past. If you plan to attend the compartment review, you will need to download and print off any informational packets that you would like to have for the review. Please bring these to the review with you, as there will be a limited number of complete review packets available.
For residents who want to look at plans ahead of any meeting, go to Michigan.gov/ForestInp and use the interactive forest map.

USFS drones gather critical shoreline data

GLADSTONE - Nestled among three of the Great Lakes, Hiawatha National Forest contains 180 miles of coastline. Nearly all of Hiawatha's Great Lakes shoreline is in pristine condition and is considered an important resource to protect.
An ongoing partnership with Michigan Technological University's Forest Resources and Environmental Sciences Department is allowing the forest service to use high-tech drone equipment to collect detailed data about those important shoreline habitats.
A Michigan Tech team has just completed the second year of drone operations collecting high resolution imagery of existing natural communities and invasive plant populations. This project represents the first, official Unmanned Aerial Systems, or drone, operations on the Hiawatha National Forest.
In August 2019, flights were conducted in the eastern half of the Hiawatha National Forest including the Pointe Aux Chene Research Natural Area and the shoreline between the mouths of the Carp and Pine Rivers. One of the non-native species detected is a large, highly-invasive grass species known as Phragmites australis.
Phragmites creates tall, dense stands that crowd out native plants, degrade wildlife and fish habitat, block shoreline views, and reduce access for swimming, fishing, and hunting.
The dense, dry plant material also poses a fire hazard. Phragmites is the tallest wetland grass in Michigan, growing upwards of 14 feet. Once established on a site, Phragmites is difficult to eliminate.
"The detailed information provided by the drone flights will aid in efforts to control and manage these detrimental plants," said Jim Ozzenberger, program manager for Hiawatha National Forest's soils, water and landscape ecology programs.
Michigan Tech University is currently processing the data which will be provided to the Hiawatha National Forest.
The U.S. Forest Service is an active partner in several Upper Peninsula "cooperative invasive species management associations" working to minimize damage from invasive species on Hiawatha National Forest and surrounding lands.
"We found this to be a highly efficient and cost effective way to collect this type of information," said Ozzenberger. "Often, coastal areas of the Hiawatha are heavily vegetated, wet and difficult access challenges - unless of course, you are a drone."

We're working to protect Michigan's water.

The Great Lakes are important to Michigan, and we all want to protect the Straits of Mackinac.

That's why we've implemented enhanced safety measures to protect the environment, including increased monitoring and alerts to ships to prevent anchor strikes.

We're also replacing Line 5 at the St. Clair River with a new, state-of-the-art pipeline crossing far below the riverbed using horizontal directional drilling technology.

Line 5 is critical infrastructure that provides the energy Michigan residents and businesses use every day. It would be irresponsible to shut down a safe pipeline that's essential to Michigan and the region.

We are committed to doing what it takes to uphold our pledge to protect our Great Lakes while safely meeting Michigan's energy needs.

With a collection of Modelowners on his heels and Emerald fans on their feet screaming words of encouragement, senior Schler Andersen heads to the end zone to put Manistique on the scoreboard Friday night at A.F. Hall Stadium. Following the 50-yard touchdown run, Andersen added another 180 yards to finish the night with 230 yards on 30 carries.

Andersen has big night in home debut

MANISTIQUE — With the scoreboard reading 28-8, fans in the south end of AF Hall Stadium were on their feet counting down the final seconds in the Manistique Emeralds' home debut last Friday night. Behind a four-touchdown performance by Schlyer Andersen, Manistique defeated Gwinn to improve to 1-1, clearing the cloud that has hung over the Ron Rubick Field for the past seven years.

"It was a good win for the kids — they were excited; it's been a while," said Head Coach Todd Kangas. "While much has been said about the length of time it's been since an Emerald home victory — a 44-28 win over Westwood Oct. 12, 2012 — Manistique put together a solid outing on both sides of the ball. With Gwinn scoring 50 points in their season opener, the hard-hitting Emerald defense held Gwinn in check, allowing just one score which came midway through the third quarter.

Offensively, Manistique gained 346 yards on that side of the line in the win. The excitement got started early for the Emeralds, who jumped out to a lead when Andersen broke free for a 50-yard touchdown run in the opening period. The extra point attempt by Jude Way was good and Manistique led 7-0.

Trailing at the half, Gwinn took a short-lived lead off a pass midway through the third, but the Emeralds' offensive quickly responded, scoring off another long run by Andersen, this time from 30-yards out as time ran out in the quarter.

"We regrouped at halftime, got ourselves organized and I thought we came out and did a good job," Kangas said. "To be able to get the lead back on the next drive said a lot.

From there, we just kind of put the peddle down a little more and extended our lead in the fourth," he added.

The Emeralds' final score of the night came off a 35-yard run by Andersen, who finished the game with 230 yards rushing on 30 carries. In total, the Emeralds racked up 346 yards of offense in the win — 312 on the ground and 34 in the air. Tony Williams added 75, Jerry Jack seven.

Andersen was three-of-eight for 34 yards in the air; Gould caught one pass for 30 yards.

With the win, Manistique improves to 1-1, Gwinn falls to 0-2. The Emeralds will travel to Iron River to take on West Iron County (2-0) Friday.

There was no junior varsity contest as Gwinn does not have a JV team this season.

With Lucas Gould (80) at his side helping to clear the way, Tony Williams (7) attempts to cover as much turf as possible. Williams finished the night with 75 offensive yards. Additional game photos can be viewed at www.mstqioneertribune.smugmug.com.

MHS moves forward with baseball program, Bintner named coach

MANISTIQUE — Manistique High School has named Jon Bintner as head coach for the newly-formed Manistique High School Baseball Program. The 2019-20 school year will include the first-ever baseball season for Manistique High School.

John Bintner

Bintner, who is currently a third grade teacher at St. Francis de Sales School, is no stranger to coaching. He has been coaching baseball at the neighboring Escanaba Cubs American Legion Baseball Club since 2002 and became their club manager in 2017.

He is also the junior varsity boys' basketball coach at Manistique High School. Bintner is a sports enthusiast who played college baseball for four years at Lakeland College and was a member of their only World Series team in 2001-02.

He was a two-time honorable mention, all conference infielder.

The newly-approved high school baseball program at Manistique Schools will be completely self-funded and will rely entirely on financial support from the community. Efforts are currently underway by a volunteer group of students and parents to raise those funds.

If any business, group, or individuals would like to learn more about how to donate to Manistique High School Baseball, contact Bintner at (906) 399-0578 or Jason McEvers, baseball development group member, at (734) 306-3243.

DNR makes 40th cougar confirmation in Michigan since 2008

LANSING - Biologists from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' cougar team confirmed this week the 40th cougar report in Michigan since 2008.

"This latest cougar confirmation came from a trail camera set up on public land in Delta County," said Cody Norton, large-carnivore specialist with the DNR's bear and wolf program.

Norton visited the area and, with the help of members of the cougar team, substantiated the report.

The confirmation comes from an area about 170 miles from where a cougar trail camera image was snapped July 7 in Gogebic County and verified by the DNR.

That cat was photographed by a private landowner July 7 in daylight hours northwest of Ironwood, in the far western portion of the Upper Peninsula.

Since 2008, the DNR has now confirmed 40 cougar reports, with all but one of those occurring in the Upper Peninsula. In some cases, these reports may include multiple sightings of the same cougar, not necessarily 40 individual animals.

So far, there remains no conclusive evidence of a Michigan breeding population of mountain lions. Cougars are an endangered species in Michigan protected by law.

Michigan cougar confirmations have been derived from trail camera video, photographs, tracks, scat or, in the case of two male cats, poached carcasses.

Previous genetic testing on tissue samples from those two cougars poached in the U.P. showed the two animals likely came from a population found generally in South Dakota, Wyoming, and northwest Nebraska.

This research matched a hypothesis held by DNR wildlife biologists that mountain lions documented in this region were males looking to establish territories, dispersing from a population west of Michigan, east of the Rocky Mountains.

Researchers investigated the potential population of origin for the two cougars using a database which included samples from cougar populations in South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Texas, Oregon and Idaho.

According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, cougars were once the most widely distributed land animal in the Western Hemisphere. At one time, cougars lived in every eastern state in a variety of habitats, including coastal marshes, mountains and forests. They were native to Michigan but were trapped and hunted from the state around the turn of the 20th century.

To learn more about cougars in Michigan, visit Michigan.gov/Cougars.

Hiawatha National Forest welcomes local hunters

GLADSTONE - The Hiawatha National Forest is open to hunting in the pursuit of fowl and game according to the current season schedule set by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. In addition to making sure, residents have hunting licenses from the MI-DNR, there are a few things to remember when hunting on National Forest System lands to make the trip more enjoyable:

Maps: Don't forget to download a current Motor Vehicle Use Map before you go. (Did you know that, as long as you download the MVUM before you head to camp, with the Avenza app you can navigate in the field without cell coverage?) On all National Forests, motor vehicles can only be used on roads, trails or areas that are designated as open for that particular vehicle. This includes all motorized wheeled vehicles from ATVs to street-legal vehicles. To make sure you know where you are and where you are going, stop at any Forest Service office and get the map for the area you where you will be hunting. Maps are also available online at www.fs.usda.gov/main/hiawatha/maps-pubs (scroll to MVUM section).

Off-road vehicles: It is illegal to operate an ORV on National Forest lands except on designated trails. All cross-country ORV travel is prohibited on the Hiawatha. It is illegal to drive an ORV cross country to blinds or to retrieve game.

Camping: Our "Developed Campgrounds generally close for the season in October (for specific dates, visit Recreation.gov). On the West Zone, we also offer Dispersed Campgrounds, which remain open until the snow doesn't allow you to drive in and which require reservations (Recreation.gov). Leaving camping equipment unattended for more than 24 hours is prohibited, and such equipment will be removed. Lastly, primitive camping is also allowed forestwide anywhere that isn't posted "No Camping". You do not need a permit to primitive camp, however you may not camp for more than 16 consecutive days at any one location. Permanent camping structures and damaging trees by placing nails or anchors into the tree is prohibited.

Parking: When camping, or stopping somewhere to hunt for a few hours, vehicles may be parked no more than 25 feet off the road.

Firewood: Please purchase or gather firewood locally to reduce the spread of invasive species such as emerald ash borer and gypsy moth. Campfires or warming fires must be attended at all times. You do not need a firewood permit to gather wood for a 'campfire' or cooking fire.

Food Plots - It is illegal to create food plots on National Forest System lands.

Blinds: Hunters may not erect permanent blinds on National Forest lands, and all blinds, shelters and other personal property must be removed at the conclusion of this season. Blinds must meet the Michigan DNR's requirements as described in the Michigan Hunting and Trapping Guide.

No trespassing: It is illegal to post areas of the National Forest as private property in order to discourage other hunters. Also, National Forest System lands are interspersed with private land; make sure you are on National Forest during your hunting trip. Remember to download a motor vehicle use map. For more information on the Hiawatha National Forest visit www.fs.usda.gov/hiawatha.

Well, I hate to say it but unless the weather changes we could be in for a way to early fall weather season. I love the fall season but not when it turns cold as it has the first of September. Of course you have to remember that when you read this week's article the 2019 hunting season will be open with the start of bear season so I guess as my one son always says, "Ready or not dad here it comes". I say this because almost every morning I sit at my desk facing the east from 6:30 - 7:30 a.m. and it sure is dark a whole lot longer in the mornings now. I also think of the saying, "pink sky in the morning sailors take warning, and pink sky at night sailor's delight". Thinking on this we sure have had some bright pink skies the last few mornings.

In all my backwoods travel I really do not see any pats at all! There is a good number of turkey around and still some youngsters moving around on the edge of the road. I have also seen a nice number of twin fawns this year which is good. There have also been a number of bird feeder attacks by bear around the area. One would never think a bear would find a way to drink out of a hummingbird feeder but they do. If you are a waterfowl hunter here too things look good for any hunting you may want to do this fall. Things look good for hunters in some areas while in others success may be slow.

The one thing that seems to have been lost in so many ways in today's world is the fact that it is so important to remember that the true way to judge success when it comes to hunting is not only on being successful but enjoy the hunt itself. Just think back to those days when you were a kid at camp with dad, grandpa, and the crew, yes, you do remember when ever someone got something but the time at camp was the greatest part of all. How often do you sit at camp (and my brothers and I were just talking about this) wishing that dad was still around to see all the changes and just be there with you.

I say this because this past Saturday I went up to Ontonagon to where our hunting camp use to be to the burial service for my brother Tim under the big oak tree at camp next to my mom and dad's graves the way it was always planned. Most of you that read my article know about mom, dad, and Tim so you know how we all felt about dad and our hunting camp. You would have to have lived the life a youth back in the "fifties" with the bigges thing in a boy's life was the hunting seasons and time spent at camp to help raise a boy to have values, to be patriotic, and respect our country and flag.

I have always said in my articles it was totally amazing how many lessons about life and how to deal with things were taught to a boy spending time with dad and the crew at hunting camp or while taking a walk through the woods. Needless to say when a youth spends 99 percent of his time wearing out his thumbs on a cell phone these lessons on life will never be passed on to the next generation. Remember you as an adult and the senior citizen up there at hunting camp only get a short period of time to influence the youth coming up behind you to why the things you value are so important. Maybe the classic below says it best.

Fish Report

Ret. Sgt. John Walker

An old man going a lone highway. Came, at the evening cold and gray.

To a chasin vast and deep and wide.

Through which was flowing a sullen tide

The old man crossed in the twilight dim,

The sullen stream had no fear for him.

But he turned when safe on the other side

And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,

"You are wasting your strength with building here;

Your journey will end with the ending day,

You never again will pass this way;

You've crossed the chasm, deep and wide,

Why build this bridge at evening tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head;

"Good friend, in the path I have come,"

"There followed after me to-day

A youth whose feet must pass this way.

This chasm that has been as naught to me

To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;

He, too, must cross in the twilight dim;

Good friend, I am building this bridge for him!"

This says it better than I could ever say it.
