City seeks funds for emergency repair, addresses storm damage

MANISTIQUE – The city of Manistique will seek a combination of grant and loan funds to cover the cost of a more than $1 million emergency infrastructure repair. The repair, as well as planned repairs to the storm-damaged boardwalk and Manistique Lakeshore Campground, was discussed during Monday's meeting of Manistique City Council.

The emergency infrastructure repair was the result of a sewer pipe failure and subsequent sinkhole in U.S. Highway 2 near Trader's Point Drive Sept. 23 and 24. The city's Water/Wastewater Superintendent Corey Barr immediately contacted companies to assist his staff and Manistique Department of Public Works employees in correcting the issue.

Once crews were mobilized and on site, a bypass system for the sewer infrastructure, consisting of more than 4,000 feet of hose and pipe and multiple pumps, was put into place. Since that time, the failed sewer pipe has been abandoned and a new pipe installed.

Election continued on A7

Meet the candidates: Manistique City Council

Kenneth Blowers

I, Kenneth Blowers, am running for city council to give people a choice. We are being bombarded with ads telling us who to vote for.

With me, you know what you're getting as I've been a lifelong resident, including being born and raised in Manistique. I also graduated from MHS.

Everyone knows who I am and what I stand for. I've seen you or your children grow up over the years as I worked for the school system and later drove transit.

You all have seen me one time or another. Get out and vote. Don't let our city be picked apart by people that don't live here and are telling you how to vote.

My career experience whether it's city parks to water rates, it is the citizens of Manistique that should choose what is best for them, not outside entities that call themselves an alliance. We are all an alliance.

Joan Ecclesine

I'm Joan Ecclesine and at a point in my life and career when I can give back to my community in public service. I'm invested in Manistique. It's my hometown and my family lives, works and volunteers here.

My career experiences have given me the opportunity to be successful in leadership roles. I have gained collaboration skills where communication and openness result in win-win situations.

My goals include: a) concentrating on a safe, healthy environment with strong economic stability for all who call Manistique home by partnering with businesses which are striving for growth and increased job potential; b) expanding opportunities for our children, teenagers and young adults to learn, play, and respect their hometown; c) supporting the needs of our community's seniors, including the renovation of their local center.

I want to be involved in shaping Manistique's future, keeping the past in mind and delivering open and accountable service.

Martha Johnson

My name is Martha (Lyon) Johnson and I am a candidate for Manistique City Council. My family moved to Manistique in 1978. I graduated from MHS in 1983.

I received my degree from NMU and returned to Manistique. I worked substitute teaching, Teaching Family Homes, Head Start program, and taking jobs out of my field, such as driving tractor for a local farmer, Main Street Pizza, and the Family Resource Center.

I took a job with North Woods

Home Nursing, Thompson Veterinary Clinic, and finally at SMH, where I was introduced to the career of pharmacy technician. Working in a pharmacy, you learn to work with your patients.

I listen to people, problem solve, and make my decisions for action based on the best final outcome for the patient and my employer.

This diverse background matured these skills. I plan to bring these skills to my position on city council.

Kimberly Shiner

I, Kimberly Shiner, am running for re-election of my second term as a city council member. I was raised in Ontonagon, attended CMU and graduated with a BSBA in marketing. I served as an AmeriCorps volunteer and worked with the youth in the Ontonagon schools. I continued my education and graduated at the top of her nursing class.

As a council member and Rotarian, I believe in the value of volunteerism. My focus will continue to be on local issues and not partisan politics. As a council member, I will continue to work with city management on ensuring the health and safety of the residents and employees of the city. I will encourage building positive relationships with the stakeholders in the community.

I will strive to maintain the beautiful history and culture of the area while moving forward with expanding services. I encourage everyone to vote! Your vote is your voice!

I, Isaac Swisher, am running for city council because, as a resident, there are things we come to expect out of the people we elect. As of late, I or, for that matter, many in our community haven't seen much of anything except higher bills and more to worry about.

So, come election day, if elected, I intend to fight for all of our residents so that every time that gavel goes down, the money in our wallets goes up.

I'm a lifelong resident who built a handyman business and works for Wilcox Enterprises. I have experience as a county delegate and am currently a city delegate.

I also have certificates in economics, the Constitution, American heritage, statesmanship, and public policy.

My hope, if elected, is to bring these experiences together to work with all levels of government officials to decrease worries over the rising cost of living and to represent the great people of Manistique.

Paul Walker

I, Paul Walker, am running for re-election to build on the many successes – safer and more walkable streets, protecting our seniors, and replacing our aging infrastructure. It's clear we have come a long way, but we still have much to accomplish.

Manistique is naturally beautiful and diverse with history, parks, character, and vibrancy. I love representing our citizens and my biggest hope is to continue serving, protecting and enhancing our quality of life.

If re-elected, I will continue to ensure our public safety has the resources they need to keep us safe, will invest in our children and families, and will help our businesses thrive.

My family roots trace back to the late 1800s. I am proud to say that I live here, and believe in our future.

I love giving back through volunteer work with our many local organizations.

I would be honored to have your vote on Nov 5.

Dear Editor, In the past two years, I have served as a city council person and see nothing less than extraordinary opportunities for our city.

I was born and raised in Ontonagon, Mich. and spent a large portion of my life in the Upper Peninsula. I am a Yooper, therefore I am local!

I understand and hold close to me the value of our cultures. I believe in preserving our histories and celebrating our past along with recognizing the value in moving our community forward into the future.

Successful community and city development happen with a team of citizens sharing ideas and listening to one another. The old saying "united we stand, divided we fall" rings true.

I will continue to lead the council by asking tough question and investigating the facts. I will continue to work with our city manager and the employees to protect the health, safety and environment of our citizens.

The council is a collective body, not individuals. Consistent action, a positive image, due process, and knowledge of city operations will continue to be my responsibility as a council member.

I hope to earn your vote this November and the privilege of working on your behalf.

Kimberly Shiner City council member/mayor pro tem

Letters to the Editor

Editor's Note: This letter was submitted prior to the deadline for election-elected letters, but was inadvertently overlooked, leading to its appearance in this week's edition.

Dear Editor,

I was looking thru the October 24 issue of the Pioneer Tribune, hoping to find some information on the upcoming election, which will take place Nov. 5.

The only information I found was in the "Letters to the Editor" section of your paper. There were also some information put forth by individuals hoping to attain positions on the City Council (at their own expense).

I would like to (also) know if there are any other issues to be voted on in this election, where the voting polls are, a list of the prospective candidates, and some information about these people.

I am assuming that this information will appear in your next issue, which will appear Oct. 31. I really feel that this information should have appeared in the past issue (Oct. 24) to give the citizens of the area time to give the information to be thought about and give due consideration.

Mary Prater Manistique

Dear Editor, Elijah Cummings said, in the future, we'd be judged on what we did in 2019; did we speak up or did we stay on the sideline and say nothing.

I'm writing this so I can prove to my grandkids that I did speak up; it's not much but I did say something.

Donald Trump would like his future decided by the election in 2020.

the election he has been trying to rig with the help of a foreign government.

The country can't wait that long. In another 16 months he could do untold damage that would affect us for years and endanger our security for generations.

When Russia puts the strong arm on countries such as Latvia and Estonia, and they will, do you think they'll say, "Up your, Putin, we have Trump?" We'll be right back to when the USSR existed, fear of a nuclear war.

Trump can't be trusted or believed. Do you believe his version of the take-down of al Baghdad? It's obviously not accurate but why would he lie for no reason is unclear; it seems he just can't help himself.

Good grief, how would we explain that to our kids as being American values?

All of that and not even mentioning what he is doing to the environment by not doing anything about climate change is astounding. And look at what the politicians are doing. A few months ago I told Bergman he had to speak up to save his reputation and his honor; he has said nothing, he stands on the sideline backing Trump to the end.

Hello to all! In this article, I would like to request that you have conversations with your children about getting to and from school safely. With the weather changing, students may be tempted to walk in the street rather than staying on the sidewalks to avoid walking in the snow. This can be extremely dangerous.

Although it may be easier to walk on a cleared street surface as opposed to a snow packed sidewalk, your child needs to be aware of the dangers of traffic or of themselves hitting a dangerous icy and slippery spot. You should make sure that your child dresses appropriately for the weather, including a warm comfortable pair of boots to walk in.

Here are a few guidelines to remember when students are driving themselves in winter weather conditions to school. These guidelines are helpful to remember at all times but are especially important when entering a school zone or school neighborhood area.

A few general rules are to increase your following distance and drive at a slower speed. Braking takes longer on slippery surfaces. Stay in one lane as much as possible. Changing lanes frequently or "dodging" in and out of traffic increases the likelihood of an accident. Remember to keep two hands on the wheel, two eyes focused on driving and what is happening in your surroundings. When nearing school property, please remember that ensuring no one gets hurt is a primary concern. Be on high alert for other students who may be distracted by the weather and its elements and are unaware of moving vehicles.

We would also ask that all drivers yield to school buses loading and unloading students in the parking lot. Give those bus drivers plenty of space and time to get those students on or off the bus safely and quickly.

New program allows vets to get benefit answers quickly

IRON MOUNTAIN – Veterans who have questions regarding their disability benefits have a new, more personal, and faster route to get them answered. VA Tele-benefits is a program that affords veterans the opportunity to talk to a knowledgeable specialist that can access their claims in real-time.

In the past, veterans were only able to work through their individual Veteran Service Officers, or other representatives, to understand the sometimes frustrating process. Today, veterans can chat with a representative from their respective support office via a video connection, much like that used in platforms like Skype or Facetime.

"Although we see Veterans, Beneficiaries, and VSOs in person in office and at Outreach events, this will allow us to connect with Veterans/Beneficiaries/VSOs from Iron Mountain VA Medical Center," said Gina L. Jones, public contact team supervisor, VBA Detroit Regional Office.

Some of the questions that are asked most frequently refer to the claim submission process, requests for status updates, service-connected compensation, nonservice-connected pension, survivor benefits, burial benefits, guaranteed VA home loans, life insurance, specially adapted housing and automobile grants, Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment, and education benefits.

Through this initiative, Veterans can expect to travel less and have immediate and efficient benefits assistance. No need to call, no need to drive to the VA Regional Office – VA Tele-benefits brings a Virtual Agent to you!

VA Tele-benefits is available every Friday from 8-4:30 Eastern at the main facility in Iron Mountain as well as the Michigan Community-based Outpatient Clinics in Hancock, Ironwood, Manistique, Marquette, Menominee, and Sault Ste. Marie. To make an appointment call (906) 774-3300, ext. 34800 or 34802.

News Brief

MDOT reminds drivers of safety in work zones following 2 recent deaths

LANSING – In the wake of two road worker deaths in the past month, State Transportation Director Paul C. Ajegeba is reminding drivers of the importance of work zone safety.

On Oct. 23, Kevin White, a maintenance worker in the Michigan Department of Transportation's Coloma garage, died from injuries sustained when a tire from a passing truck struck him while he was clearing large debris from the shoulder of I-94 in Berrien County. White, 48, is a nine-year MDOT employee, as well as the Benton Township supervisor. He leaves behind a wife and daughter and many other loved ones.

On Sept. 23, a worker for the road building firm C&D Hughes was hit by a car while working at night to repair concrete pavement on I-96 near Portland. Barry Hause was 54 and is mourned by a daughter and several other family members.

"MDOT employees across the state are grieving the loss of one of our own," Ajegeba said. "Coming in the wake of the death of another road worker, it is a stark reminder of the risk these men and women take to help all of us travel safely each day."

White's death is the first on-the-job work zone fatality of an MDOT employee since 2008.

For more information about work zone safety, go to www.Michigan.gov/WorkZoneSafety. Content includes stories about road workers who have had their lives impacted by crashes in work zones, facts about work zone injuries and fatalities, and work zone laws.

Former MHS graduate now aircrewman with Navy VP-46

OAK HARBOR, Wash. — Chief Petty Officer Travis Hughson, a native of Manistique, Mich., had a family history of military service, and wanted to pursue the opportunities that the Navy had.

Now, 19 years after joining the Navy, Hughson serves with the "Grey Knights" of Maritime Patrol and Reconnaissance Squadron (VP) 46, working with the Navy's cutting-edge maritime patrol and reconnaissance aircraft at Naval Air Station Whidbey Island, Washington.

"We have an amazing team," said Hughson. "From admin to aircrew, we always get the job done and I like that dynamic."

Hughson, a 2000 graduate of Manistique High School, is a naval aircrewman with VP-46, a high-tech maritime patrol and reconnaissance squadron tasked with monitoring the world's oceans in the state-of-the-art P-8A "Poseidon."

"I'm a flight engineer for our aircraft, and I perform pre-flight and post-flight monitoring," said Hughson.

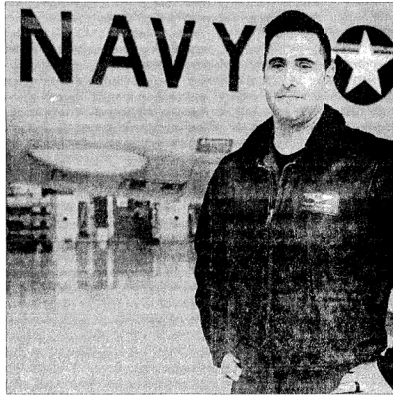

Hughson credits success in the Navy to many of the lessons learned in Manistique.

"Growing up in the Upper Peninsula, the freezing, frigid temperatures during winter never closed our town," said Hughson. "The resilience that we all had really stuck with me, and has carried me into the Navy. I'm up to any big task."

VP-46's primary mission is to conduct maritime patrol and reconnaissance as well as long-range anti-submarine warfare, anti-surface warfare and intelligence gathering missions. They deploy around the world to monitor the world's oceans wherever they are needed.

The P-8A Poseidon, the Navy's newest maritime, patrol and reconnaissance aircraft, is a replacement aircraft for the legacy P-3C "Orion." According to Navy officials, leveraging the experience and technology of the successful P-3C "Orion" with the needs of the fleet, the P-8A is designed to be combat-capable, and to improve an operator's ability to efficiently conduct anti-submarine warfare; anti-surface warfare; and intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance missions.

As the Navy transitions to the full capacity with the P-8A "Poseidon", the aircraft continues the work-horse tradition established by the P-3C "Orion". The P-8A has a planned state-of-the-art open architecture mission system and next-generation sensors. These capabilities give weightlifters added protection. The aircraft empowers the fleet with more combat capability, responsiveness, and interoperability with traditional manned forces and evolving unmanned sensors. The P-8A "Poseidon" has significant growth potential, with planned, phased-in technological improvements that extend global reach, payload capacity and higher-operating altitude.

"It's interesting how much Navy aircraft contribute to any mission," said Hughson. "The capabilities that our aircraft have are great, and always get the job done."

Serving in the Navy means Hughson is part of a world that is taking on new importance in America's focus on rebuilding military readiness, strengthening alliances and reforming business practices in support of the National Defense Strategy.

A key element of the Navy the nation needs is tied to the fact that America is a maritime nation, and that the nation's prosperity is tied to the ability to operate freely on the world's oceans. More than 70 percent of the Earth's surface is covered by water; 80 percent of the world's population lives close to a coast; and 90 percent of all global trade by volume travels by sea.

"Our priorities center on people, capabilities and processes, and will be achieved by our focus on speed, value, results and partnerships," said Secretary of the Navy Richard V. Spencer. "Readiness, lethality and modernization are the requirements driving these priorities."

Though there are many ways for sailors to earn distinction in their command, community, and career, Hughson is most proud of his involvement in Operation Iraqi Freedom, Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation New Dawn.

"It really felt like I was contributing to our team, flying with the aircraft, gathering information that helped commanders make important decisions for the battle groups," said Hughson.

As a member of one of the U.S. Navy's most relied upon assets, Hughson and other sailors know they are part of a legacy that will last beyond their lifetimes contributing to the Navy the nation needs.

"I take pride in serving in the Navy," said Hughson. "I take pride in doing something meaningful and being a part of something that is bigger than me."

FROM ORANGE TO WHITE

The pumpkins at the Musgrave residence on Fifth Street probably looked the way most of us felt Tuesday morning; a little bit of anger or silly delight with the first snowfall of the season. Fortunately it didn't stay around for long. Looking ahead in the forecast, the white stuff may be back again next Tuesday.

Located in a rural area? Follow these trick-or-treat tips for kids

Halloween is a day for ghouls and goblins, tricks and treats. Halloween is a child's dream, and some of the more indelible images associated with this beloved holiday feature neighborhood children ringing doors all across suburbia and urban centers. But country kids celebrate Halloween, too.

Did you know that, according to the U.S. Census Bureau, urban areas make up just 3 percent of the land area of the United States? Twenty percent of the population calls the countryside home. The numbers are quite similar in Canada, where Statistics Canada indicates roughly 18 percent of the population resides in rural areas.

Children who live in rural areas can still experience the magic of Halloween. They just may need to be a little more creative in their pursuit of candy.

Designate a driver

Many children in rural areas find the distances between two houses are simply too great to walk. As a result, youngsters need the help of a parent or older sibling to helm the wheel and take them around to various homes in the area. The process can be made even more festive by listening to spooky songs along the way and decorating the vehicle with some Halloween imagery.

Head to town

Another work-around to rural Halloween celebrations is to move the trick-or-treating to an area where homes are closer together. It's not uncommon for children to trick-or-treat in their friends' or relatives' neighborhoods — even if they live in urban or suburban areas. Rural kids can make plans with friends from school and traverse new neighborhoods for their candy.

Gather at shopping centers Shopping malls, strip malls, supermarkets, and other retailers often have candy on hand for trick-or-treaters who like the safety of being in highly trafficked areas.

Repair funds

manager and managing principal at Coleman Engineering, was on hand Monday to explain the cost of the emergency repair.

"Corey and his staff and the DPW (Manistique Department of Public Works) have been doing a fantastic job dealing with an emergency situation," he said. "After things kind of calmed down, you start thinking, 'Okay, where are we going to get the money for this?'"

Sjoquist explained that they began looking around to see if there were any programs that could assist with the cost of the project. When in a meeting with USDA Rural Development to discuss another Manistique project — the Combined Sewer Overflow elimination project — Sjoquist said USDA RD expressed interest in assisting the city with their cost for repairing the sinkhole and its underlying cause.

"They said they might have some funds, though there's no guarantee as we sit here tonight, but things look pretty good," he said. "They would like us to get an application for funding put together very quickly — we're working on that. One of the first things, because there will be a bond involved... this is a resolution that the bond attorney put together."

Sjoquist noted that the bond resolution would need to be approved by council and then a notice published in the newspaper. Meanwhile, he explained, Coleman Engineering will be working on completing the various application materials.

"It says that the bonds will not exceed $1 million," Sjoquist said. "That $1 million, as we were talking last Friday, was the approximate estimate of the whole project. We fully expect that there will be grant money involved and that will not be a bond for $1 million — the bond would be for the loan amount."

I cannot guarantee anything, but historically on your sewer projects, with the USDA Rural Development they have been offering 75 percent grant," he continued. "What we expect to see, with no guarantees, would be a grant amount in the area of $750,000 and a loan amount in the area of $250,000. That's a very, very good offer as to looking at these bills that you've already incurred at full face value."

Sjoquist added that the city is still receiving invoices and bills related to the emergency repair. "Already, just from my trip from Iron Mountain to here, it went up to $1.1 million... we don't have a final number amount," he said. "It's very important that this opportunity doesn't pass us by."

The final bills, Sjoquist pointed out, are expected to arrive by the end of this week.

"We could make a better estimate," he said. "That wouldn't affect this (the bond resolution) because we expect that you're going to get grant money with this. I wouldn't expect that the loan amount would be anywhere close to this."

"Council members unanimously approved the resolution authorizing the publication of the notice of intent to issue the bond."

Following the vote, Councilperson Paul Walker noted that the city had originally estimated the infrastructure repair to cost approximately $300,000.

"It's shocking how costly an emergency mobilization is," said City Manager Sheila Aldrich.

In other business, council members were also updated by Aldrich regarding the damage caused to the boardwalk and Manistique Lakeshore Campground by recent high winds and rain.

"We had already put between $22,000 and $30,000 into rock at the boardwalk (after previous storm damage) — thankfully it helped," she said. "Coleman will be coming up with a plan for the spots you see where the asphalt has just collapsed."

Aldrich noted that they are considering placing rock in front of those areas, as well as moving the boardwalk back instead of rebuilding over where it collapsed. She explained they would make whatever repairs possible while searching for grant funding to assist with the rest.

"We'll look for subsequent funding, like coastal management, but everyone and their uncle are looking for those funds," Aldrich said. "There's also talk that those funds are federal and they'll be throwing more money into that pot because all of us are asking for it."

As for the campground, Aldrich explained that the berm between the lake and the lakeside camper pads is now mostly gone.

"There's another school of thought that we should be doing something to protect that campground," she said. "Coleman will be putting together, if we want them to, a bid spec that we can put out there to do filter cloth and rock."

"We think that time is of the essence," she continued. "If we had another one (storm) like this last one, we'd start losing campsites." Council members unanimously approved allowing Coleman Engineering to compile a bid specifications package for the Manistique Lakeshore Campground.

Election

Broilure, appointed in May to fill a vacancy created when then-councilperson Rick Hollister resigned, opted out of seeking election to her seat.

Polling places include: Precinct 1 voters cast ballots at Manistique City Hall; Precinct 2 and 3 voters will cast ballots at the Manistique Community Center (located adjacent to Manistique Central Park). Polls will be open on Election Day from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Citizens may register to vote up until 8 p.m. on Election Day. If a voter is not registered, or if they need to update their address, they may do so by appearing in person at their city or township clerk's office and providing proof of residency in the form of a driver's license or personal ID card, utility bill, bank statement, paycheck, government check, or other government document. The document must have a current address and it can be in electronic form.

To register to vote, applicants must be at least 18 years old by Election Day and U.S. citizens. Applicants also must be residents of Michigan and of the city or township in which they wish to register for at least 30 days before Election Day.

All eligible and registered voters in Michigan may request an absentee ballot without providing a reason and vote early. Drop off the ballot application in person at the township or city clerk's office no later than 4 p.m. Nov. 4. Residents will be given an absentee ballot that they can vote in the office. If a resident is registering or updating their address on Election Day at the clerk's office, they can get an absentee ballot to vote at the office at the same time.

Residents may also mail the ballot application. Requests to have a ballot mailed to must be received by the clerk no later than 5 p.m. Nov. 1. If a resident receives an absentee ballot by mail, they can return it by mail or in person, but it must be received by their city or township clerk by 8 p.m. Nov. 5, to count. The United States Postal Service's mail delivery standards indicate most mail can take up to a week to arrive — so delivering ballot requests and voted ballots is best done in person at this point.

Obtain an absentee ballot application at Michigan.gov/Vote.

City and township clerks' offices will be open the weekend before Election Day to assist voters with registering to vote and voting absentee early. Office hours vary by community, so check information for the city or township clerk online at Michigan.gov/Vote or contact the local clerk's office directly.

A tunnel for Line 5 is the right solution — and we're committed to building it.

Protecting Michigan's waters is critically important, as is providing the energy that fuels Michigan's way of life and drives Michigan's economy. That's why we're committed to building a tunnel for Line 5, deep under the Straits of Mackinac.

This underground concrete tunnel provides multiple layers of protection and ensures virtually no chance of a leak into the Great Lakes. It eliminates the possibility of an anchor strike and provides the uninterrupted energy supply Michigan needs.

Our Line 5 pipeline has operated safely and reliably in the Straits of Mackinac for more than 65 years. We remain committed to safety in the Straits. That's why we're replacing energy infrastructure and strengthening safety where it matters most.

GLADSTONE – The Emeralds' volleyball team cinched the 2019 Mid-Penninsula Conference Championship in Gladstone last Thursday when they swept the Braves 3-0 (25-10, 25-12, 25-17).

This was the Emeralds' third title. They also won in 2015 and 2018.

The Emeralds took control of each set and continued through each set. "We jumped out to an early lead in all three sets and didn't let Gladstone back in it," said Head Coach Amy Nixon. "Our defense gave our offense opportunities to

Emeralds finish season with a loss on the road

LAKE LINDEN – The Manistique Emeralds finished off the season with a 54-21 loss to Lake Linden Saturday afternoon in a contest where turnovers proved to be more than they could overcome. They started with a fumble on the opening kickoff that led to a score when Carter Crouch crossed the goal line on a 10-yard run.

Shaking off the early miscue, Manistique quickly responded, scoring off a short run to the endzone by Schyler Andersen and a two-point conversion to tie the game at eight points.

Following a Lakes' score and trailing by eight points, Andersen again reached the goal line, this time from 70 yards out. With the failed conversion, the Emeralds kept it close before Lake Linden opened things to control a 32-14 lead into the break.

"I thought we had a really solid offensive game plan going in," said Head Coach Todd Kangas. "I don't think they really stopped us, but the turnovers were costly today." Coping off the break, Lake Linden put three touchdowns on the board to put the game out of reach and sealing their trip to the post season.

Andersen, who accounted for all Emerald touchdowns, scored as time ran out in the contest. The 54 points scored by the Lakes were the most points the Emeralds gave up all season.

"Defensively we didn't do a real good job at all," Kangas said. "We have been pretty good throughout the year of identifying things that the other teams do and taking them away. In all of our games, other than Westwood, I thought we did a really good job with that, but we just did not do a very good job Saturday. We went toe-to-toe with them and I think we could have scored but turnovers put us behind. To their credit our kids battled, we turnovers put us behind. To their credit our kids battled, we fought through some adversity, we had kids hurt and sick but others stepped up. But it just was not the ideal way to end the season.

Kangas went on to say he was proud of the way the team competed throughout the year. He indicated there were a lot of positives to take from the season as the team moves forward and builds towards next year.
"We will have a lot of guys back who will have experience, unlike this season where we came in unexperienced, with an offensive and defensive system that they will be familiar with," Kangas added.
Looking forward, Kangas will have to game plan (without the services of the West Pac All-Conference Offensive Player of the Year, senior Schlyer Anderson, who also earned honors in recent voting as a running back and punter (see related story). With the loss the Emeralds finish 3-6. Lake Linden 6-3.

Well, when people looked out the window this morning they may have thought of crawling back into bed. One good thing about the U.P. getting hit with snow this time of year is that it usually does not stick around for long. In all my years of working I can recall only once where we had a good snow fall before Oct. 20 and it stuck around for the rest of the winter so percentage wise we should be safe for a little while yet.
I say all of the above about the snow but remember it's only adding to how wet it is out in the woods. There are places where I have always been able to get back to where this year there is no use in even trying to get back to some areas. When it is as wet in the woods as it is this year, even the deer are changing their habits and using different runways because where they normally travel is under water. In other words it may be better to plan to hunt the top of the ridges rather than down in the marsh at the bottom of the ridge.
Speaking of places where I used to travel I have to say it is totally amazing how many hunting camps are boarded up now or areas where I always saw a tent camp or an old converted school bus camp there is no activity at all the last few years. It was further brought to life this fall when a party from down state was up to do a little fishing and who always came up to do a little hunting to tell me, "John, I think this will be my last trip up north, life is catching up to me and the wife feels I don't get around like I used to, so I guess I am calling it quits." So chalk up another one of those faithful outdoor lovers who always really enjoyed being up north riding into the sunset.

Make sure you remember the time change this weekend where if I was a hermit and lived out at camp closed off from the real world I would just forget about the time change and I would almost bet life would still go on, the sun would still come up in the east and go down in the west. The deer would still come into the feeder at the same time not realizing they actually came in at a different time. Oh for life to be as simple again as it was growing up.
As you well know from my articles I have always valued time spent at camp with family and friends. This past weekend was proof of that when 12 of us were up to camp to celebrate our grandson David's birthday. I have always told you to build memories that you will never forget and that can be passed on through those great camp tales through the years to the next generation and this weekend was no different.
Our little great-granddaughter made her first forward crawl at camp when great-granddad threw a hat down on the floor in front of her and she got up on her hands and knees and crawled up to the hat. Then it was instant replay time to make a video of this great moment in life that will only happen once.
Then we all got a great laugh when the birthday boy managed to get out - shot by his girlfriend who had come up with him. And to make it even more interesting from what I hear it not only happened once, but twice. It is amazing how those girlfriends can bring you back down to earth.

Then there were the amazing evening campfires where they had a blazing inferno going just so they could roast a few marshmallows. There is nothing like the time spent around a campfire with family and friends telling stories and ribbing each other as only family can get away with.
For example: are Chevys better than Fords, who is a better hunter and shot in the crowd, who could walk 10 feet into the woods from camp and get lost and not be able to find their way back to camp, and on and on. You would have to have a camp and a Yooper mind to understand just what I am talking about.
I guess as the years fly by and the older you get you just come to realize how time flies and the light at the end of the tunnel gets closer with each passing year so you realize you had best enjoy every opportunity you get with family. The Lord is good and Wife and I have sure been blessed with family and friends so much so that we just don't want to take things for granted so we try and enjoy each special moment of life that comes our way.
