POLITICAL.

Blaine will arrive from Europe on the 27th and people will flock to New York to get a glimpse of America's greatest statesman.

Will Harrison be defeated? Spell the name backwards, making three syllables of it, and you have a short, truthful answer to the query.

The fight is on, the battle is between the republican party pledged to protection, and the democratic pledged to free trade and the advancement of European ideas.

Bartley Breen has been put up to take Apple's place as auditor general of Michigan, but he will not get there by at least 10,000 votes. Better have stayed at home Bartley, and suffered another congressional defeat this fall.

How can Cleveland patch up a peace with would-be Governor Burd of this state? The "old man's" ideas of political economy are not in accord with those of Hill, of New York; Gray, of Indiana, or the democratic nominee of Michigan. Truly Grover has a stumpy row to hoe.

The Mills bill passed the house of representatives on Saturday by a vote of 162 to 149. Two republicans, only, voted for the bill, and the same number of democrats against it. The Michigan delegation voted—Fisher, Ford and Tarsney, for it; Allen, Burrows, Brewer, Catechon, Seymour and O'Donnell, against it. That bill will never pass the senate.

When we remember that the prejudices which so long held parties together by the mere cohesiveness of a name are rapidly disappearing, and when we remember the extent of the progress made in the south in industrial development, it will be no amazing statement to assert that circumstances are combining to place several of the southern states in the list of extremely doubtful states—Nashville, Tenn., "Banner" (Dem.)

The democrats of Michigan, in their convention at Detroit last week, made a fusion arrangement with the Grand Rapids greenback convention and placed in the field the following ticket: For governor, W. R. Burd; lieutenant governor, W. B. Morin; for secretary of state, Thomas D. Havdy; treasurer, J. D. Norton; sup. of public instruction, S. McKibbin; and for member of board of education, Charles E. King; auditor general, Bartley Breen; attorney general, A. A. Ellis; commissioner of state land office, S. W. Fowler.

The Indianapolis "Journal" administers a big dose of chloroform to democratic organ grinders as follows: "To the Chinese editors of the democratic press we commend the fact that Harrison voted for the Morrow anti-Chinese bill as introduced by Senator Fair, and when the bill was sent to the house, Perry Belmont, democrat, throttled and killed the measure because, as he put it, it restricted Chinese immigration too radically. Put that in your opium pipes and smoke it when you pay your next visit to the 'joint' to talk politics with your Celestial cronies."

Secretary Bayard's frank declaration that General Harrison's vote on the Chinese question in the senate was intelligent and consistent and that the record can not hurt him now, is another rebuke to the democratic attempt to raise the Chinese issue against the republican candidate. There is no class of citizens from whom General Harrison's character and patriotism have won more flattering recognition than from those with whom he served in the senate, and this latest tribute from Secretary Bayard involving, as it does, a repudiation of the methods of his own party, is honorable alike to the man who pays and the man who receives it.—Philadelphia "Press."

LOCAL NOTES.

Another new house up and sheeted in Lakeside.

Manistique would be better if it had a good band.

Another building in contemplation on Lake street.

Steam barge Pringle and tow leaves for the east to-day.

Schooner Keweenaw arrived yesterday at "Inghit twelve."

Graham is running the W. L. single mill night and day now.

The Good Templars will elect new officers next Saturday night.

Thanks to Hon. H. W. Seymour for valuable congressional reports.

Proxer from this time until after the election in November for 50 cents.

Mr. Frink, of Detroit, was registered at the Ossawatimie this morning.

The tug Elmer presents a very handsome appearance in her new coat of paint.

Several parties went to the country to enjoy themselves in pic-nic yesterday Sunday.

We see by the papers that the Allegheny fleet goes with coal to Green Bay this trip.

A Eisk and Brooks steamer is now hung to the breeze at the Manistique boarding house.

The Canisteo and barges arrived from Milwaukee about eight o'clock Saturday evening.

The C. L. Co. store has had the chimney for its heating apparatus made higher by several feet.

We learn that the democrats intend to raise a pole at the corner of Maple and Oak streets to-day.

Mr. Reed will begin next week the work of putting an iron roof on the Bowen McKinley block.

Foresters meet in regular session this evening. It is important that every member should be present.

Stenmer Moore came in quite early Sunday morning and had started out before many of our people were up.

We learn that our former friend, Michael McLannan, is completing a large ditch on his farm this season.

Had Manistique plenty of hotel room its summer population would be several hundred greater than it is now.

A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood, it imparts new vigor to every function of the body.

Livery stables here appear to be doing a rushing business, especially on Sundays. Everybody seems to want to take a ride.

Lieut. Gov. Macdonald has not withdrawn from the contest for a re-election, and he will be the next lieutenant governor.

The Ladies' Home Missionary society of the Baptist church meets to-morrow afternoon at the residence of Mrs. M. H. Quick.

The Pringle left last evening, probably to pick up a vessel at some other port, and will stop here for the balance of her tow to-day.

A noted Manistique 3d party man now claims that Hiawatha will give 60 8d party votes this fall. If it does one-fourth that we shall miss our guess.

Hayes, the Seney shootist, at last account, was in Canada. One case at least where a man fears he would not be acquitted in a Schoolcraft county court.

Our marine reporter says that the Elmer and Gem had a little brush yesterday, and that the latter came out ahead some eighty rods. Try it again boys.

People take little or no interest in county political matters at this time, and if it will continue to be so far the next two months at least, it will be a grand thing.

Myers Ephraim, the prince of merchant tailors, came over from Escanaba Saturday, and will spend the week here, taking measures for his establishment.

Ackerman and Gummerson are spreading mortar on the walls of new buildings as rapidly as possible. The buildings are occupied fully as fast as they can be got ready.

The breaking of the lines on one of the four-horse bus teams Sunday came near causing a first-class runaway. The horses were stopped, however, before any damage was done.

Now is the time for ladies to buy fine shoes at MacLaurin Bros. For this week they will take off 50 cents on the regular price of every pair of fine shoes they sell. They also sell other goods as cheap as the cheapest.

That extension and widening of the east pier already shows the benefit that it will be to the harbor, in the way of deepening the channel. All along that pier, as far as completed, there is now 15 feet of water.

The subject for conversation to-day is the wedding that is to take place this evening. Both of the high contracting parties are well known and highly respected by our citizens. In Thursday's issue we will have more to say about it.

Quanter will soon move his druggery department to its new location in the block, corner of Dear street and Mackinaw avenue. The room is nearly completed and when finished will be a handsome one indeed. Mr. Schumacher will have charge of that branch of the business.

Several have asked us the name of the street that runs from Dear street north to W. L. mill No. two. We have never heard any name given to it. If it is yet without a name we hope the founders will attend to that matter at once, as a street so well lined with handsome residences as that one is, certainly deserves some kind of a title.

MacLaurin Bros. have one of the nicest boot and shoe stores now on the upper peninsula. Their new rooms on the west side afford them plenty of room in which to display their immense stock to the best advantage possible. Since their removal there has been a steady gain of customers of the new class and many of their old have followed them. That house is bound to do well no matter where located. Call and see them, corner of Dear street and Mackinaw avenue.

The new double-decked steam-barge, built under the direction of Capt. Dulac, is now at Detroit being fitted out, and will most likely load with wheat for Buffalo and then with coal to some western port and will most likely reach here about the 15th of August. Those who have seen her say that she is both handsome and substantial. She is 18 feet longer than the Canisteo and nearly two feet wider. Her passenger accommodations are said to be excellent. Just the brute for this line.

Dr. Walker is making arrangements to erect his new hospital building and completed ready for use as soon as possible. The plans we learn, are already in the hands of mechanics who are anxious to bid for the job. Should he set it on the lot now talked of it will be one of the finest locations in town. The front will face Lake Michigan. Dr. W. intends to make the building complete in all its details, for light, warmth and ventilation. Of course, we shall watch with no small degree of interest the progress of this building.

TEACHER'S EXAMINATION.
The regular examination of teachers for the county of Schoolcraft will be held at the school house in Manistique, on Thursday, Aug. 2nd, commencing at nine a. m.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET.
FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
OF Indiana.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON,
OF New York.

The bustle has been frowned upon by this administration. Mrs. Cleveland does not wear any now. And thus does the great cause of reform march on.

At the session of the national convention of the American school teachers' association, held in San Francisco, Prof. Burke Hinsdale, of the University of Michigan, read a paper on the "Business Side of the School System."

London is trying to make the most-ach unfashionable. It was never fashionable to begin with. The man with a bad looking mouth found he could hide it that way and he adopted the plan, and London and Paris may stand on their heads and he will not dispense with the bristles.

A Connecticut paper advises people to bring the family skeleton to the seashore and exhibit it in a bathing suit. It would, however, stand no show alongside of the average female. When she goes down to the water she must leave off pads, bustles, paint, powder, false hair and other deceptions, and a lover must have nerve not to turn away from the spectacle.

Commander-in-Chief Ben, of the G. A. R. mindful of his promises at the time of his election, has issued a general order calling attention to the nonpartisan character of the organization, and adding: "The continued prosperity and usefulness of our fraternity depends upon the avoidance of even a suspicion that it can be used by any person or in any locality for any partisan purpose whatever. The members of this organization, as citizens of their country, have all the rights and are subject to all the duties of citizens. They have, and should have, their political convictions and party affiliations, and their right to advocate and proclaim them and to differ in regard to them as they do, is in no wise questioned, but fidelity to the principles of the organization and a due regard for its efficiency and welfare urgently demand that any and every violation of the letter or spirit of the order's rule on this point should be studiously avoided and promptly condemned. Comrades are reminded that the uniform of the order should be worn at any political gathering, and they are admonished to discontinuance the use of all political badges or devices in any way calculated to associate the Grand Army of the Republic with any political party or candidate."

GEN. HARRISON AS A LAWYER.

There was a lawyer once who undervalued Harrison, and that was his colleague when he was in the senate, Mr. Voorhees. That gentleman was called upon in one of the many trials of the most celebrated murder cases in Indiana the Young murder or as it is better known, the "Clem case." Harrison prosecuted and obtained three or four separate convictions about the first of which was the time when Mr. Voorhees first defended. In stating the case Harrison, with great explicitness and detail, defined the whole theory of the prosecution whereat Voorhees rejoiced with exceeding great joy. "Harrison is a very able lawyer," said Voorhees to a friend, "but he is overrated. He has laid himself open here; given his case away in the start."

"Don't be too sure" said his friend. "He knows what he is about."

"You will see" said Voorhees.

He did see. Harrison, in his closing argument, riddled Voorhees' argument with a bird-shot destructiveness that made a perfect sieve of it; in common parlance—"it wouldn't hold water."

And he did it by the exposition of notes he had took when Voorhees spoke and then, taking these points one after another, he ground them against the theory of the prosecution which he had so frankly stated in advance, as upper and nether mill-stone.

"His power to go through, a case beats any man's I ever saw," said one who spoke from knowledge of years of observation. "He will take the testimony of a case stretching over days, or weeks, and will sift every particle of it pertaining to the various heads to which it belongs, according to the points or plans of battle he has laid out, everything, pro and con, by every witness, is thus grouped, and the whole marshaled in order—as one might say, and all bearing down on the assault."

But Harrison has more than one plan. He is fertile in expedient to a striking degree, and can change his order of attack in the face of the enemy. A popular lawyer tells a story of him illustrative of this. It was in Harrison's early days here at the bar. He was opposed to a very formidable array of old and eminent lawyers. He was a smooth-faced, yellow-haired young man, and his eminent legal opponents kept him jumping at a lively rate. A keen old Irishman who was a spectator in the court room, was a witness of the contest. "Like that little Harrison," said he. "He has so many ways. When they bate him was way he turns around and bates them another way; and they can't catch him at all, at all!"

In management of witnesses, it is said by those who know, that few lawyers are his equal and fewer still his superior. "I have not often seen Harrison equalled as a cross-examiner," said a lawyer at the bar recently, and I have never seen but one instance in which I thought I saw him surpassed, and that was in Judge Fullerton's work during the Beecher-Tilton trial."—(Indianapolis News.)

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy gratis to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post office address. Respectfully,
A. A. BAGGUM, M. D., 111 Pearl St., New York.

Our brains are seventy-year clocks. The angel of life winds them up at once for all, then closes the cases, and gives the key into the hand of the angel of resurrection. "Fictac, fictac!" go the wheels of thought; our will cannot stop them; madness only makes them go faster. Death alone can break the case and, seizing the ever-swinging pendulum which we call the heart, silence at last the clicking of the terrible escapement we have carried so long beneath our aching foreheads.

Across the Russian Frontier.

George Kennan contributes to the Century a description of his trip across the Russian frontier, and the following extract shows what the author and the great found when they reached the great wall...

"At last the stern order 'Stoj!' (stand fast!) from the officer of the escort put an end to the leafy-bark, and at the word 'March!' the great-coated troops of exiles and conscripts crossed themselves hastily all together...

A Chinese Dinner.

It is a mistake to think the Chinese do not eat well. There are no better cooks and when a person learns their intricacies and flavorings the law for health virtuans grows upon him...

Lost the Half Loaf.

One of the girls in fashionable society in New York made up her mind to get married the other day, and after consulting her intention to her father she said: "What do you intend to do for me?"

You cross a rail road track and, casting a glance along the iron path, a woman, waving a white signal flag, catches your eye.

Distinctions in privileges between married and single women are so thoroughly established here by social day associations of the sexes. A native will readily discover whether the couple walking on the street in front of him are married or not...

Unmarried daughters in the country are chaperoned at all places of amusement. Even dancing parties are interspersed with singing, recitations, etc., for amusement of the elders of the family...

Things Worth Hearing.—The New York Sun gives a few don'ts which are well worth considering at the beginning of what promises to be a heated campaign. Let all citizens study them carefully.

On some parts of the coast of Sumatra and the neighboring islands the fishermen test the depth of the sea, and also the nature of the bottom, by the noises they hear on applying the ear to one end of an oar which the other end is plunged in the water.

WHAT AM I TO DO. The symptoms of Biliousness are un happily but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhoea or Constipation may be a severe symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acid or even loss of the stomach.

Salt Rheum

The agonies of those who suffer from severe salt rheum are indescribable. The cleaning, itching, purifying influence of Hood's Sarsaparilla are unequalled by any other medicine.
