POLITICAL.
"There is a time when ignorance is and is not excusable. When a man assumes the role of a political speaker no excuse is or ought to be tolerated. If he speaks an untruth he becomes a political triest; nothing money, nothing less. The idea that a laboring man is as well off in England as in the U. S. is too absurd to discuss. Immigration itself refutes it." Every man in casting his vote exercises his judgment, and he ought to be able to give the reasons upon which his judgment is based. The question in this election is, is labor better paid under our present tariff system than it has ever been before in the history of our country; does protection protect? There is a statistical bureau under the control of the government, where facts and figures are collected and given to the public, of which no man having regard for his reputation will dispute. They are facts. In the statistical report for 1888 the wages are shown to have increased since 1865 as follows:
Skilled workmen.....108 3/4
Mechanics.....100
Factory operatives.....74
Common labor.....60 1/2
This increase is based upon facts in this country and is not compared with labor in other countries. Did Mr. Power give these figures to his audience Thursday night? Not much. That labor held its own in 1888, we have to thank the Republican senate. This senate for 3 1/2 years has refused to pass a bill inimical to labor. But look at the record of the Democratic house, headed by Grover Cleveland! Every man knows that all the commodities the people have to buy are becoming cheaper and cheaper; men getting more and more for their labor. Every man is supposed to work for his own interest, and in that work to exercise judgment and common honesty. Will the laboring classes throw away the present condition of affairs for English free trade? They are the head for one in the world? Would he apply the same logic and judgment to his business affairs? Could he continue himself or any body else with such logic, that he was capable of doing any kind of business? LABORER.
Let every voter who heard John Power in his free trade arguments look carefully read the following comparative table of wages paid in England and the United States; much truth John told:
ENGLAND. U. S.

$ 00 00 $160 00

George W. Brown, the man that wants a seat in the state senate, exhibits great indignation at the slight put upon Congressman Seymour this fall. Now George don't feel half as bad as he pretends. Seymour is not sore enough to require any of Brown's sympathy. Mr. S. is in line with the party and will do all in his power to elect the Republican candidate, Hon. Samuel M. Stephenson. George is playing the hypocrite.
Read your tickets carefully and see that the men you want to vote for are all there in proper shape.

HARRISON AND MORTON

UNIFORM CLUBS' ATTESTATION.
There will be a grand torch-light parade next Wednesday evening. Company A and C will meet at the Republican club room at seven o'clock, sharp. Company B (Hawathas) will meet at the Hawathas engine house at the same hour. Every man that has a uniform and torch is requested to "turn out," and every man that has no uniform, and torch will be supplied with one at the engine house.
Co. B will start at seven o'clock and will be met at the W. L. store by companies A and C.
The Manistiquet Cornet Band will lead the procession and will march through the principal streets and then to the rink, to listen to the Hon. Henry W. Seymour.
Let every enthusiastic Republican and the words are full of 'em, turn out and carry a torch or a transparency.
Hip! Hip! There is no 'crow' in the Republican dish this fall.
Election cigars are plenty now.
Sweet music at Chandler's drugstore.
Mrs. McGregor was in the village yesterday.
Miss Eckelwald is reported quite sick with quinine.
Joseph McCleese is quite sick in the Byer's neighborhood.
Kerosene got to be quite scarce here the fore part of the week.
Republicans of Seney will have a grand time this afternoon.
The Democrats held a meeting Wednesday night at Thompson.
"Tadly" Ashford, the "shanty boy," will certainly be the next county clerk.
One week more of hard, earnest work and victory will crown Republican efforts.
Democrats have made no converts by the speeches made here the past week.
Capts. Stevens and Larson made a very quick trip with their little sailing vessel.
E. L. Chapp, expecting soon to move to Detroit, will sell his household goods cheap.
E. F. Orr is having quite an addition built to his residence on Maple street.
Some of the shingle machinery in the upper mill was out of order yesterday morning.
Vote for Edmund Ashford, the "shanty boy," for county clerk. He deserves it.
We learn that Miss Sadie Witter is recovering from a severe spell of sickness—erysipelas.
Pass the word along the line and have every Republican in line next Wednesday night.
The great Democratic blowout at Thompson Wednesday night admits of several versions.
Chandler's drugstore is headquarters for all kinds of musical goods from a piano to a jawshrap.
Several men were down from the Byer's neighborhood this week proving up their homestead claims.
The new school house in the new district of the Byer's settlement is nearly completed, and there will be a school taught there this winter.

Services at all of the churches this morning.
Cambsco and barges arrived yesterday morning with lots of freight.
The steam large hull arrived Thursday last and is loading with lumber.
Vote for Edmund Ashford, the laboring man's candidate for county clerk.
Steamer Cyclone of Petoskey, was in port yesterday with a full cargo of potatoes and fruit.
Rev. S. Polk, pastor, preaches in the M. E. church to-morrow evening. No preaching in the evening.
The H. & L. Company give a grand ball on the 6th. Let everybody make arrangements to attend.
Highway Commissioner Snow has been having some work done on the Lakeside streets this week.
Rev. S. Polk, pastor, will preach in the village of Thompson to-morrow afternoon at the usual hour for services.
Candidates and their friends are invited to attend the Hook and Ladder Company ball on the night of the election.
The 14th mills are doing a lively piece of business these days. Well, the time is short and the men must make the most of it.
The Pioneer presses have been running election tickets for several days, and have filled all orders made upon them promptly.
There will be no more skating at the rink until after election; and then it will be opened for the winter, probably one night in each week.
Republicans prepare for a grand time next Wednesday night. Hon. Henry W. Seymour, our member of Congress, will be here and speak to us.
Next Saturday every Republican should know that his name is on the registration roll in the township where he expects to vote the Tuesday following.
The people from the country will come to town next Wednesday night to witness the grandest parade of the campaign, should the weather prove suitable.
"One of those carriages is for the ladies to ride in," said one Democrat to another Thursday night. "But where in—are the ladies?" retorted the other.
George Washington Brown, John Power and Richard Trévelick, setting themselves up as the earnest friends of the poor laboring man is the best joke of the season.
"It cost $5 each time the crowd was treated at Thompson Wednesday night," said a man to us yesterday. That was the outcome of Brown's "prohibition" speech.
But very few people in this county have met the Hon. Henry W. Seymour, notwithstanding they have often voted for him. That gentleman will be here next Wednesday night.
Thompson Republicans and Democrats are invited to come to town Wednesday night and hear a Republican that has been in the halls of Congress and is well posted in regard to tariff matters.
George Chantler makes a specialty of musical instruments, and has the finest assortment of Accordions, Conchettos, Flutes, Drums, Violas, Clarinets, Mouth "organs," etc.; ever opened in this place.
There were fifty-five torches in the Democratic procession Thursday night; and no more. We made the count as they marched by our office. Two others counted and one gave the number at 51 while the other reported 53.
John Power said that he "had an appreciative audience even if the mills didn't shut down." We can say to John that if his party gets into power and the free trade policy assumes shape many of the mills and factories will be compelled to shut down permanently.

Hon. Henry W. Seymour will speak at the Rink next Wednesday night.
For Sale—One Piano and Stool; one Large Heating Stove, Pipe, Drum, etc.; one Cook Stove and Furniture; lot of Chairs, etc., etc. Must be sold before next week Wednesday, as I am going away.
Ed. L. Clapp.
Manistique, October 20th.
Plenty of new goods in town now. Pure groceries at CHANTLER'S. Nations of all kinds at CHANTLER'S. No services to-morrow evening in the M. E. Church.
Dr. Brewster returned the fore part of the week from his trip south. He reports his sister, who was quite sick as rapidly recovering.
The Democrats are favoring a man for Governor who never voted a Democratic ticket in his life. W. R. Bart is a renegade Republican.
Grand Manisquage one week from next Tuesday. Then election will be over and it will be a good time to shake hands and renew pledges of friendship.
Compare closely the two county tickets and then we believe that your decision will favor the election of the straight Republican. That is just what we think about it.
The plowing mill will soon be running full handed. The new machinery already started works splendidly; the men pronouncing it even better than that used in the first mill.
The people of Schoolcraft will make no mistake in casting their votes for Edmund Ashford. He has always been a laboring man and will stand by that class of men, every time.
Election one week from next Tuesday. Then the great agony will be at an end; and on the 4th of March next a Republican administration will take charge of the affairs of this nation.
John Powers expressed great sympathy for the laboring man. Well, John has been a "laboring" man all his life, but the only implement he ever learned the use of was that glib tongue of his.
The Democratic party has been obliged to give up slavery, but it still stands for the saloon and free trade. If the American workman has any worse enemies than these they have not yet been discovered.
Thursday we were called upon by Will. J. P. McFal, of the "Chicago Daily News." He was here in the interest of that lively paper, and appeared to be highly pleased with Manistique and its prospects.
After the election the Pioneer will contain a great variety of matter pertaining to the home, the workshop and the manufactory. For months we have given much space to political matters, because we felt it to be our duty to do so.
Personally we have not a word to utter against Mr. Chambers, the Democratic nominee for Representative; but he acts with a party this year that seeks to down the man who have to earn a living by hard work. All know that Elmer N. Orr is just the man to represent this district.
No school teachers were examined this week, as was expected, simply because the regular questions from the state superintendent did not reach here in time. This is not the first time our teachers have met with just that kind of a disappointment; and we cannot see why the questions cannot be sent in proper time to reach here.
In Tuesday's paper we will give a complete review of the speech made by John Power Thursday night. It will be from the pen of A. C. Carpenter, who is one of the best political writers in this part of the country. We have quite a number of reports of that speech, but shall be content with what our friend C. will say about it.

EARLY REMINISCENCES.

CONNECTED WITH THE SETTLEMENT OF THIS COUNTY.

BY SAMUEL HAYNES.

(The following is one of many letters that we hope to receive from Mr. Haynes, who was a resident of this place from October, 1822, to October, 1852.)

SOME OF THE PEOPLE.

Boyd and Whitney were the jobbers for my uncle James Haynes. They cut the logs, sawed the lumber and delivered it in board vessels for transportation to Chicago, where it was delivered to the firm of Throop, Learned & Co., lumber merchants. (Mr. Throop was son-in-law of uncle James.) David Boyd was an old time lumberman from the St. Johns river, in Maine. He was at that time about 40 years of age; an energetic, hardy and muscular man, who would take no back talk from any one, who attempted to his own business and made every other person do the same. He was an expert ox teamster (all his hauling was done by oxen) and log driver, and the way he could handle a batteau almost made some of us young fellows turn gray with envy. Mr. Boyd had been married about a year. His wife, formerly Miss Sarah Brown, (whose parents were from Massachusetts and then lived at Big Bay DeNoquet) was in delicate health, and in the spring of 1853 Mr. Boyd sent her to Mackinac in a fishing vessel for medical treatment. A child had been born to them in the winter, and Mrs. Brown (Mrs. Boyd's mother) was brought from Bay DeNoe on a dog sled, through the Indian trail. This was in January I think, and the snow was about four feet deep. Boyd never saw his wife after we gently helped her on board the schooner bound for Mackinac. She died about a month after leaving Mainistique. As Boyd liquidated the letter announcing her death, big tears stood in his eyes and the lump in his throat would only let him say "Sarah's dead." Daniel Whitney, a bachelor of about 35, was also from the St. Johns. He was a very fair mill-wright and an excellent hand at keeping machinery and saws in order.

I notice that your candidate for Congress, Mr. Stephenson was also one of the numerous men from the St. Johns and other rivers of Maine, who abounded in Michigan at the time of which I am writing. One of our crew, Tom Champion, an Englishman, had worked for Mr. Sinclair before he came to Mainistique. Louis Trombly was a Frenchman, or said he was. He talked French as fluently as English, but the east of his countenance would seem to indicate to a physiognomist that he was a blood relation of people in Cork and Kerry. He was a great brag, a good story teller; had sailed the lakes enough, to know every place from Chicago to Buffalo; and if you would believe him, he knows almost every man in or about the lakes. He had worked for old Michael Dousman, at Mackinac; Sandy McCloud at Cheboygan; told great yarns of his own time, but I shall have more to say of Louis hereafter. Some of the other men that I remember were Ike and Bill Bates and Jack Harris, from Trenton, Mich.; Aleck McDonald, a young Scotchman, from Canada; Dutch Jake, the blacksmith; Tom Ewais, a Welshman of five feet two, who went by the name of Tom Pepper on account of an apparent lack of truthfulness; Champagne and Giron, two smart, active young half-breeds, who worked on the fishing ground at Seul Choix in the summer for John Wagley (who was one of the most prominent fishermen at that place), and in the woods in the winter; besides some more whose names have passed from my mind. Yes, we had a fellow by the name of Henston in the fall of '52, a young man about 25 years of age, well educated but powerful lazy. He could, and did, recite Shakespeare, Byron, Milton, and other poets by the hour, and the masterpieces of Webster, Calhoun and Clay were at his tongue's end. But Boyd concluded that he was a failure as a woodsman and the best thing he could do was to strike for civilization before navigation was suspended. He started on foot for Seul Choix to get a vessel for Mackinaw. You will understand that the beach of the lake was the only road. We never heard of his arrival at any place, but old Kenosha met him about five miles from Mainistique, plodding along and alive. We asked the old Indian if he had seen Henston. He answered, "an-uh-ke-march in we way," imitating Henston's slouching gait and manner, which was comical in the extreme as performed by old Kenosha, who dearly loved his joke and despised a lazy man, White or Indian. I hope that Henston arrived safely at his destination and has achieved fame and riches in some other direction. I will give you, next week, an account of my trip with Louis Trombly up the lake in a fog.

Boulanger is rising on the flowing tide of popularity again, and seems to have more than regained all that he lost by that little affair with Floquet. His ability to recover himself stamps him as a man of greater capabilities than he was given credit for possessing by anybody, and proves him to be a more dangerous man now, as the civil and diplomatic member of the chamber of deputies, than when he was supposed to have no other side to his nature than a love of military pomp and show.

President Angell wrote to President Cleveland offering the government the services of Drs. Gibbes and Huber in the yellow fever districts. Dan Lamont answers to the effect that if the government tries to do anything in the way of inquiry into the source of the fever and how to stamp it out, he will think over the offer. Dr. Gibbes is quoted as saying that "the reply is as good as he expected."

The place-holders have never been deceived by President Cleveland's orders against obtrusive partisanship. They know he didn't mean them to be obeyed and have not paid any attention to them. Why should not the independent voter be able to see through their hypocrisies as well as to men to whom they were addressed?

Let us have one or more Republican rallies before the election. To this end we hope the central committee will make arrangements for meetings next week, and that those in command of torchlight companies will see that their men are in line, and show our opponents that Republicans mean business, every time.

Those London policemen are smart fellows. They have been unable to secure any clue to the identity of the Whitechapel murderer, and as a last resort procured bloodhounds in order to scent him out. Now they have lost the dogs.
