Senator Hale very cleverly smoked the democrats out and compelled Senator Harris of Tenn., who is in charge of the democratic side of the senate, to acknowledge that he and the rest of the democrats, except those who are diehards with the democratic "kickies," were ignorant of what concession had been made, but were prepared to go it blind on the reconstructed tariff bill, whether it agreed with their sentiments or not. Was not that a remarkable confession to be made by the whitest leader of the majority side of the senate? Commenting on the statement published that the democratic leaders were becoming more cheerful over the outlook, Mr. Hale said:

"Cheerful?—Mr. President, cheerful when bargaining and selling is going instead of honest tariff legislation. Cheerful when jockeyy and skullduggery take the place of open discussion; cheerful when it is the croupier of a dying man, when decomposition has already set in and numbed his faculties."

No description could possibly do justice to the present disgraceful attitude of the democratic senators. They have refused to grant hearings to honest working men and women who have come here to protest against the bread being taken from their mouths by vicious legislation, and they are today on their knees, not granting hearings, but taking and obeying absolutely without question the orders of the millionaire trusts, as to changes to be made in the tariff bill. Mr. Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are up to their necks in this filth, while those democratic senators who are always ready to obey theager of the party whip are being kept in ignorance of what is going on; they have only to be told that a bill is a party measure to support it, no matter what its nature may be. Surely the workingmen will have a long score to settle with the democratic party.

A warning to newspaper publishers against lending their names and influence to be used in a business of which they know nothing and which they cannot control, is contained in a bill filed in court by William J. Henrict, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner against Joe Wedderburn, manager of the "Press Claims Company," and the "Examiner Claims Bureau," of Washington, asking for the appointment of a receiver. Mr. Henrict says he was a partner of Wedderburn's in the "Examiner Claims Bureau," and that Wedderburn was under contract to furnish the capital and manage the business. He charges Wedderburn with organizing and maintaining the "Press Claims Company," with money belonging to the "Examiner Bureau," with other misappropriation of funds, including the proceeds of a note for $8,000 signed by the firm name, without authority, with creating a large indebtedness, with refusing to return money in accordance with contracts with certain subscribers of the St. Paul Pioneer Press and the Omaha Bee, with injuring the reputation of the San Francisco Examiner by general mismanagement and by advertising to give prizes for invasions.

Some democrat—doubtless an applicant for his office—started a story that Gen. James A. Dumont, who has for many years been chief government inspector of steamboats, was contemplating retirement because of feeble ness caused by old age. It was a cruel lie. Gen. Dumont is in declining age. "I am just as lively and energetic as I was twenty years ago." There is only one thing the writer with Gen. Dumont. He is a republi can.

Senator Quay's friends are uneasy about his condition. His health has not been good for a year or two, but it was not until recently that he began to show signs of a permanent break down. His absence just at this time brought before the court his very much felt by his re moval at 9 o'clock.

The public colleges in the state are now engaged in trying to find the cause of the disturbance, and he adds:

"What I thought, half-hoped, what I said was right. Please, repeat sit."

Thereupon Mr. Woodward resumed his discourse, and the session was adjourned.

The sugar cane and its uses have been known in India, but not so well as in the United States.

It is perhaps the earliest source from which sugar was produced, and all other modes of manufacture have been borrowed from it, based on it.

The early classical writers knew sugar-growing as it then obtained.

To the Greek world the sugar cane was the real which the starchy Indians delighted to chew, and from which they extracted a mysterious sweetmeat.

It was the Arabs—these great carriers between the East and West—who introduced the cane in the middle ages into Egypt, Sicily and the South of Spain, where it flourished abundantly until West Indian slaves drove it out of the field for a time, and sent the trade in sugar to Jamaica and Cuba. Naturally you can afford to indulge your neighbors when you decline to pay wages to your laborer. Egyptian sugar was carried to London in Plantagenet times by the Venetian fleet, where it was exchanged for wool, the staple product of medieval England.

Early in the sixteenth century the cane was taken from Sicily to Majorca and the Canaries. Then it found its way to Brazil and Mexico, to Jamaica and Hayti. Cane sugar was well known in Italy about the second century, and has been common in England since the Tudor period. The spacious days of great Elizabethan sugar for their sack and gruel was hot in the mouth, but we well remember Corinthian Magazine.

Sugars Brought a Blow.

Sean H. Hill, according to the Washington Times, has had his face slapped. The paper in its issue today tells the story this way:

"Sen. Hill had his face slapped. Senator McPherson did the slapping. The story has been scrupulously guarded, but in the world it has kept out of the public press for three weeks or more is a mystery.

The affair occurred in the room of the committee on immigration, of which both senators are members. I have been unable to learn the full particulars of the case, but it seems that the young leader of the New York Democracy undertook to chase the lengthy son from most kind and, in so doing employed the caustic criticism and biting sarcasm of which he is the master.

Cleveland virtually says: "The Democratic party is not big enough to hold me and the men who dare oppose me, and I will not be a second class man."

An editor at Grand Rivers, Ky., announces that he will print a special edition filled with spring poetry. The name of his paper is the Herald and poetry will not be second class man.

A hen who has lived all her life at Grindah, Kan., has hatched seventeen chicks from green eggs.

The ordinary multiple birth stories have paled on the Kansas front.

The Society to Encourage the Wearing of Clean Shirts," says an exchange, was inaugurated about 18 months ago by several philanthropic ladies and gentlemen of New York City. They were perplexed as to what particular location stood in the greatest need of education. After casting about several weeks and taking observations of shirt fronts and collars in several sections it was decided that the doctrine of cleanliness in linen could be preached with the best results on upper Third avenue, so they rented a room and put out a large sign. The announcement was first mistake for an offer to supply shirts without money and without price, and great was the rush. When the news got abroad that washing and drying would be supplied free of charge the wearers of soiled linen on the East Side declined both, and the society languished. Now it looks tame to see the sign: "Society to Encourage the Wearing of Clean Shirts," and underneath it a large letter: the word "Closed."

J. K. Wright received a telegram from his brother, Amos F. Wright, who is on the committee from Iron Mountain, now intervening the Governor, saying that the Chapin mine will be closed down for a week, with 150 to 100 men. Sept. McNaughton, who was also at Lansing with the committee, was told to hurry home to take charge of operations. It will be a great relief to the poverty-stricken city which has been in danger for sometime from half finished mines. What prompted the move or who was instrumental in getting the mine to resume operations is not known. The Chapin has been idle for six months past—Monteone Leader.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

For the first time ever Royal Baking Powder has been sold in the market. It is a very strong and effective article. It is now being used in many churches and schools throughout the country.

Mr. Parker, who purchased it from a local grocer, said that it is the best baking powder he has ever used.

It is now being used in many homes throughout the country.

With much regret we are informed that Thomas Clark is dangerously ill at the residence of A. W. Vincent. We hope he will recover.

The community will be pleased to hear of his recovery.

At a recent meeting of the trustees of the Hospital, it was voted to give a box to the hospital.

Geo. E. Holmgren, managing editor of the Weekly Tribune of Mansfield, dropped in on us last week and in the usual way made the moments pass by at a rapid rate. He claims our hamlet has the appearance of being a pleasant summer resort.
