Extensive frosts laid the Atlantic seaboard and led to the danger of a visit from cholera, yellow fever or any epidemic this year. Had it been a matter of choice the country would have preferred the frosts to the epidemics, but the victims of the torrid will kick just the same.

Since writers on hygiene have convinced the intelligent readers of this country that nuts have a much higher value when their nutritive qualities are considered than have the apple, peach and pear, and the attention of agricultural authorities has been drawn to the subject, it has been found that American demand for nuts is large supplies by foreign growers, that imported when nearly every variety could be grown with profit by the American farmer.

As a step toward preventing the fall of women, the "Society of Women Only," with the object of making their servants retire no later than 10 p.m. While the movement is a good one and timely, it will only be a question of the propriety on the side of the lady of the house or queen of the kitchen. In some households and in some cities, the servant girl is a threat, and as the proposed law will only be treated with scorn.

Those who study only any other, cold winter, filled with blustering storms, island. The goose bone is nearly all white, and now, they will lie on the ground from early in December until April or later. Corn husks are more than usually thick. The maize has put on an extra overcoat to protect itself from the zero temperature to come. Woodchucks are already fat enough to kill, and their fur is dense and fine and soft. They too predict cold weather and will seek winter quarters early.

The class of '97 of the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, have decided to use the metric system in writing their prescriptions when they are graduated. "This action," says "The Philadelphia Inquirer," "will no doubt be handed down from class to class as it is the first step made in this country by a medical college. It is contended that at the present time all kinds of weights and measures are used by the druggists and pharmacists, thus leading to confusion between the doctor and the druggist. The United States Pharmacopoeia of 1890, pronounced in favor of the metric system, yet it is only by concerted action on the part of the doctors and the pharmacists that it will be brought into general use. The colleges of pharmacy have adopted the metric system and it is thought that, as it has been brought up in one medical college, other will speedily follow."

Chinese Boats Have "Eyes." Chinese junk and boats have eyes cut or painted on the bows, which are usually supposed to be a more fanciful form of ornamentation. But they had a real meaning, as a recent traveler found. In going up one of the rivers from Ningpo he was startled by seeing a boatman seize his broad hat and clip it over one of the "eyes" of the boat, while other boats were similarly blind. Looking about for an explanation he saw a dead body floating past and he was told by the boatman that if the boat had been allowed to "see" it, some disaster would surely have happened either to passengers or crew before the voyage ended.

The Young Man's Opportunity. It may seem usual to the young man just from his studies, filled with grand aspirations and a desire to make the most possible of himself, it may seem usual to confine himself within the limit of a country weekly's province, but in this there is no restriction. He is small, but he is not so small as to be unimportant. It is true that the young man is like an independent citizen, but he is not so independent as to be unimportant. He is not so independent as to be unimportant. He is not so independent as to be unimportant.

An Extraordinary Romance. A romance of more than ordinary interest, dating back to the opening of the Civil War, was recently seen at an Arkansas City (Kan.) special.

When the great war was made for the land of the strip, John Bell, from Bloomington, Ill., came to this city and made the race, signing a check for the purchase of a horse. He was a man of the name of Sarah Bell had filed ahead of him. He returned to the city and found no one in possession of the horse, and he was in possession of the horse, and he was in possession of the horse.

Further correspondence followed, but Mrs. Bell came here, brought a horse and had a house built on her claim. She was fixed for the contest, but was postponed from time to time. She was finally to have been at Perryville last week.

The two contestants boarded the train for that place at Newark, but before they reached their destination they were both sitting in the same seat. Mrs. Bell had her hand on the seat, and she was sitting on the seat.

Texas Jack Rewarded Royalty For Helping Him out of a Difficulty. The following story is given in the records of social circles in Copenhagen: The crown prince, who loves to take long walks, was once engaged to walk along the Strandway when he came across one of the tollkeepers. After paying his tax he began a conversation with the good man, sitting on the bench.

On the following day the crown prince was in the city. Among the company was Texas Jack. A few minutes before he was to show the bill of lading, he called on the king. He had almost dropped his reins when, looking up, he saw the man to whom he had given the bill on the preceding day occupying the place reserved for the crown prince. His royal highness greeted him cheerfully, and Texas Jack was growing angry when his royal highness spoke forward and announced in English that men of the way had to pay 10 cents to the crown prince.

The Cup of Gullhorn's Four Hundred Blugs a Few Changes. I suppose society will laugh more freely now that it is assured that its so-called leader's name is not to be dragged through the courts.

Mrs. Robert Albee, who was Mrs. Constance Palmer before she married the clever young physician who is now her husband, and her daughter, Miss Eva Palmer, are going on a visit to Georgia Vanderbilt at Asheville, N. C.

London's Latest Tragedy. All London has taken much interest in last week's tragedy at the zoo. A contractor 9 feet long inadvertently swallowed his mate, 8 feet long. A pig was also found to have eaten its mate. As the teeth of both were recently fixed in the place there was nothing for it but that one should smother the other, and the smaller one suffered. The appearance of the survivor is sufficient proof of his guilt. He is small, but he is not so small as to be unimportant.

THE NEW WORLD METROPOLIS.

Chicago Boasting For New York's Crown as Queen of the West. This significant editorial appears in that venerable New York paper, 'The World'.

Consolidation must take place upon the map as the queen of the continent. The agreement of consolidation takes place and will surely be smaller, and Chicago will attain a tremendous rank.

The usual statistical estimate of manhood voters is one to five of the entire population. Deducting the majority by women, which is comparatively insignificant, the population of the city of Chicago must be today more than 1,000,000, not remembering the rate per cent of increase in past decades.

It is true, as the New York newspaper says, 'the advantage of being the first city in population cannot be over-estimated. It is an advertisement all over the world. It attracts capital and a thousand other benefits.'

A CAT'S PAIL. French Scientist Gravelly Invents Why Two Always Larks on the Street. The French Academy of Sciences spent almost an entire day last week profusely discussing the question.

There was a great deal of learned discussion as to the cause of the phenomenon. M. May's thought the system had been triumphantly solved by him in the first three of the descent.
