Why Not Hustle For It.

Manistique has an Opportunity of becoming one of the Foremost Cities of the Upper Peninsula.

An Effort upon the Part of Our Citizens May Accomplish the Results Devoutly to be Hoped For.

There is little doubt but that the Soo railroad company could be induced to abandon Gladstone as a division point. For several years that company has been perfecting arrangements to gain ingress to Chicago via the lake. Car ferries have been constructed and thousands of carloads of merchandise are shipped during the open season from Gladstone and Green Bay ports to the Windy City. It has been demonstrated this winter that this method of shipment is practically a failure during the winter. The Green Bay and Gladstone harbors freeze over with the first breath of winter's frigid breath and the ice remains until gentle Annie sees fit to melt it in the early summer.

The Soo company has found winter navigation from these ports highly unsatisfactory and costly.

Manistique has a decided advantage over any other northern lake port in this respect. Our harbor is always free from ice and there has not been a day for years but that a schooner or a yawl boat could have entered the harbor without encountering ice of a formidable nature. Boats could ply between this port and Chicago every day in the year, and a system of car ferries would be an unbounded success at all seasons of the year.

Then, too, nine-tenths of all the freight received by our merchants and by the merchants along the line of road make their purchases in Chicago. Were the company to inaugurate this service above mentioned, it would derive the income from a long haul instead of a short haul as it is doing at the present time. This would mean an increased income. Freight could be received more promptly from that port than under the present system of transfer at Pembine.

Another reason why the Soo company would be partial to Manistique is the fact that it is midway between the Soo and Pennington divisions. Under the present arrangement the Gladstone-Soo division is extremely long and the Gladstone-Pennington division short.

If Manistique is on the alert and will impress the Soo people with the superiority of the open harbor over those of Gladstone and other cities, there is no question but that Manistique could be made one of the most important shipping points on the chain of lakes.

We would suggest that the defunct Business Mens' Association be rejuvenated and a committee appointed to confer with the railroad company, concerning the matter. Nothing of importance is ever gained by any individual, city or community unless an effort is made. We know that the Soo company is dissatisfied with Gladstone and Green Bay ports for winter shipping. We also know that Manistique can offer the company a harbor free of ice this year around. With the superior inducements we have to offer there is no reason why an arrangement could not be entered into whereby Manistique would be greatly benefited in a commercial way.

Manistique would double its population in five years were the plans above outlined carried into effect. Real estate would at least double in value, and all would derive great benefit financially therefrom.

The Pioneer-Tribune has always been a hearty advocate of any method or measure that would in any possible manner add to the prosperity of Manistique. We see in the plan or idea outlined in this article something that will rejuvenate Manistique wonderfully. We are in favor of the tonic. Are you?

"East Lynne" at Star opera house tonight. Ladies free.

Mr. Norval has returned from Seny where he spent the winter as sealer in a C. L. Co's camp.

Mrs. John Durso is nursing Mrs. Patrick King of South Manistique, who has been quite ill of late.

BREVITIES.

East Lynne tonight. Ladies free.

Mrs. August Miller has been quite ill the past week.

Ladies house wrappers all kinds, at the Boston store.

If you wish to wear an up to date silk skirt, call at the Hos on Store.

Chas. Robinson who has spent the past three weeks at Milwaukee, returned home this week.

Good servant girl wanted. Good wages paid. Apply to C. B. Merrett at Schoolcraft County Bank.

Rev. George Gibson of St. Ignace will hold services at St. Albus Chapel next Sunday morning and evening.

The great emotional play "East Lynne," at Star Opera House this evening. Admission 10, 20, and 30 cents. Ladies free.

Have you noticed that the telephone service has been very much improved lately? Mr. Kelso is untiring in his efforts to improve the service.

Rose Brothers' big store is away ahead of all the other stores in the system of lighting up evenings, and their spring stock of up to date clothing is likewise ahead of all others.

Victor Marin has completed his cedar contract near Hums Spur, and returned to the city last Saturday. He reports having gotten out about 40,000 pieces of cedar, $,000 of which were ties.

Rev. J. M. Shank met with the Salvation Army last evening and gave an interesting talk on temptations of Christ. One conversion. The officer in charge says: "May God bless him in his labors."

Rose Brothers have received this week the handsomest assortment of novelties in little boys' clothing, ever seen in the town. The styles are strictly new and up to date; mothers should make it a business to see these noble children's clothing.

The following persons have been taking the teachers examination at the court house this week—Hattie M. Elsworth, Mrs. Bertha Tuck, Lucy Clouse G. D. Renwick of Manistique; Mabel Richards and Livia Wright of Thompson; Maggie E. Burns of Germantown; and Martina Valentine of Little Harbor.

The annual meeting of the Church of the Redeemer will be held on Thursday, April 1st. Reports from the different organizations connected with the church will be read, officers elected, and other very important business to be transacted. All members of church and congregation should be present.

Chas. P. Hill, manager of the C. L. Store returned from the east Wednesday whither he had gone to purchase goods. His party last night with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Merrett at Higland Park, Ill. He says that he never saw Mr. Merrett looking as well, and reports that he is prosperous in his business venture.

J. H. Zimmerman, general agent for the National Protective Association, is meeting with great success in this vicinity. That company paid the following claims yesterday: Henry Mattson of this city, $96.34; Miran J. Garvin, Bovee, $10.70. The proceeds were sent to Bay City on March 22nd and on March 25th the checks in payment thereof were in the hands of the beneficiaries. This company has an established reputation for promptness.

O. F. Nelson died at his home in Doyle recently last Sunday morning after a short illness, at the age of 48 years. Mr. Nelson came to this country from Sweden about fifteen years ago and settled in this country. He was an industrious and respected citizen and was frequently elected to fill township offices in our adjoining township. A widow, and four children; Mrs. Annie Nelson, and Willie, Bertie, and Freddy, are left to mourn the loss of a fond husband and father. Funeral services were held at the Swedish Lutheran church in this city Tuesday forenoon. A large number of the friends and neighbors attended the obsequies. Mrs. Nelson and family has requested us to voice their heartfelt thanks to the friends and neighbors who proffered their assistance and sympathy during the illness and death of husband and father.

A Seat Surprise.

Last Monday being John Quick's forty-first birthday, his wife planned a pleasant surprise for him which was a perfect success. The guests met at the residence of Mrs. Gunnerson and about 8:30 o'clock marched from there to his residence. The following were in attendance: Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Quick, Mr. and Mrs. H. Quick and family; Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Vaddell, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Burley, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barlick and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Quick and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Gayar, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Quick and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Owen, Misses Anna and Ella Gunnerson.

Mr. Quick was the recipient of a handsome rocker, a present of the Quick relatives. The evening passed pleasantly. Daily refreshments were served after which the guests took their departure wishing the host many happy returns.

The rich and craven slender suit, mentioned in which was made last week, has gotten into the courts again.

(Geo. Scott, one of the C. I. Company's popular foremen, has returned to Chequy after a highly successful winter's work in the woods.

The Lockhart boys, arrested for killing deer out of season, had their hearing before Justice Rosa, Monday afternoon. The jury acquitted them.

(Geo. P. McCallum was elected president of the University Republican club recently. His Schoolcraft county friends are pleased to learn of this, honor so worthily bestowed.

Mrs. Capt. Johnson was called to St. Joseph, Mich., early last week, to take care of her aged mother, who is very much depressed because of the serious illness of a daughter residing at Milwaukee.

Norman Fox, assistant superintendent of the lumber companies of this city, will visit Chicago shortly for the purpose of becoming acquainted with the dealers and incidentally to sound the praises of gang saw lumber.

Joseph Boncher returned from Green Bay a few days ago. Mr. Boncher contemplates making Green Bay his permanent home in the near future. A cousin of his will look after his interests in the blacksmith shop here of which he is half owner.

The last of the four benevolent offerings for the church year will be taken next Sunday at the Presbyterian church. Owing to an oversight in not announcing the date of the offering sooner, it is hoped by the pastor that the members of the church and congregation will see this notice and govern themselves accordingly.

A. C. Hubbell, vice president of the Saine River and Reiny Lake Mining Co., handed us several Duluth and Rat Portage newspapers this week. These papers speak in glowing terms of the northern Eldorado and predict that all the good things imaginable for that region. The samples of ore are very rich, and we are free in saying Mr. Hubbell has undoubtedly struck it rich.

The Prelude on the Curfew Bell.

Last Sunday evening's sermon at the M. E. church was preceded by a short prelude on the Curfew Bell for Manistique. Rev. Shank explained that only a part, or modification of that old custom long used in Europe was desired today. What he called attention to was the good to be obtained by having an ordinance that would take boys and girls off the streets after nightfall, unless accompanied by suitable guardians. He spoke of the temptations and opportunities to learn evil, of unguarded children which in many cases were known, or are not thought of, by parents until mischief was wrought, too great, and too late, to be ever fully removed. He also urged that while this should be provided for by police regulations, it was also equally necessary that the homes of boys and girls should be made attractive. By the many ways in which evenings could be spent so as to be enjoyed and ever remembered through after life's bright and beneficial. He also believed that small neighborhood gatherings, for the established evenings, under the supervision and presence of parents or guardians were desirable but that youngsters should be suitably accompanied on the streets to and from such occasions.

He thoroughly believed in providing for an innocent as well as happy childhood. He believes that the seeds of good or evil are sown very early in life, before youth is wise or strong enough to fully choose for itself. He said that a bill was now in our state legislature seeking to give our villages special authority to provide for this, and that under the national authority now granted to all village charters, a few villages had already undertaken this, and that in other states it was gaining introduction, and he expressed the hope that Manistique might be among villages who are in the lead in this wholesome system.

His remarks were well received and many have since spoken to him their approval.

The Sun has a new paper—the Times, a silver paper. It is issued tri-weekly.

Governor Pingree expresses himself as being opposed to Judge Long because the supreme court of which Long is a member, decided that Pingree could not act as mayor of Detroit while occupying the gubernatorial chair.

Straton, the Cripple-Creek millionaire, refuses to go into any money making scheme. "What I am trying to do," says he to promoters, "is to keep my income down within the limits of decency."

The remains of a 14-year-old girl were laid away in the earth at Lake Linden as tenderly as if she were as pure as the angels. It was the old old story of running the streets. Last Sunday she gave birth to a child, and died within four days afterwards.

Russia's purpose, as has been well said, is to get the "Sick Man" in her arms and gentle nurse him to death. This treatment may involve the slaughter of a few Greeks, but that will be but an incident in the fulfillment of the destiny of nations.—Later Ocean.

An Eastern Democratic paper, after stating that Mr. Cleveland leaves the treasury with $112,000,000 in it, asks how President McKinley will leave it. The answer which can be safely given is, that Mr. McKinley will not leave millions secured by bond sales if Congress will accept his advice.—Indianapolis Journal.

Local Democracy is dead beyond redemption. A few of the friends of the lost cause, knowing the hopelessness of their cause, hope to gain victory by nominating Republicans under the "citizens" ticket. That idea was tried at the recent village election and failed. The scheme will meet with failure should it be tried in township politics.

Governor Rogers, who was elected governor of the state of Washington last Autumn, by the Democrats and Populists, is in favor of retrenchment, as he has pared down the appropriation $1,653,569 lower than the amount spent by the administration preceding his. We receive a Washington newspaper each week, and from it learn that the governor is giving universal satisfaction.

We have an industrial system in this country which makes it the object of attack from all other countries. Our wages are much higher than in any other country, and the unit of all values here is the daily wage. It enters into and forms part of the value of all stored labor in the shape of products, buildings and other property. Diminish the daily wage and you immediately diminish the value of such stored labor, for new buildings can be erected and things produced at a much less cost. Cheapened transportation has a tendency to reduce to a dead level the wages of the entire world, for the products of the cheaper labor are thus brought into competition with the products of the dearer labor. Free-trade would inflict great injury upon this country than any other, because we have further to fall. A general reduction in wages would bring readjustment of values that would be destructive to the property owners, producers and debtors. We need, therefore, a tariff wall to protect us against the products of cheaper labor elsewhere.—Hon. F. G. Newlands, M. C. of Nevada.

The supreme court decided that Governor Pingree could not occupy the dual positions of mayor of Detroit, and governor. He has decided to relinquish his cinch on Detroit politics until the end of his term as governor.

This was an odd thing for President Cleveland to do, to strike out by the first train for the duck waters of North Carolina, and leave Mrs. Cleveland alone in the new home at Princeton, to put up the stovepipes, split the kindling, and do the marketing.—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

That british instincts demand more attention from the reading public that spiritual or intellectual culture was demonstrated last week. The daily papers were filled with graphic accounts of the pug mill at Carson City. The editors of these papers, knowing the desire of their readers were almost compelled to make the prize fight the leading item of news. We boast of our intellectuality and high civilization yet we as a people make it possible for trained muscle to sell higher through the press than cultured brains. Even the talented Ingalls prostituted his powers to report the sensational, the british. He, "the statesman out of a job" resorts to the prize ring for employment because the demand for an account of the british contest is worth more in the market than a discourse on science, political economy or the poet's inspiring song.

Bigots and fools are still on earth. Almost within sight of the State capitol of Michigan, Frank Malby, teacher of the school in District No. 5, Millets, put the school's flag at half mast and unspun down, March 4, to show his disrespect to the President of the United States who was inaugurated on that day. This was done with malice aforethought, for the teacher had boasted a week before of his intended insult. To the credit of the school girls, be it said, they put the flag in its proper position. The boys, however, put it back again as the schoolmaster desired it, and thus it remained all day. The spirits that would prompt such a deed has all the earmarks of the most pronounced rebel or flag-hater with none of the courage. How can youth be trained into law-abiding citizens by a teacher who would set such an example of lawlessness and bitterness? Candid and patriotic citizens of every party will condemn an act so bigoted and foolish. If such deeds were common, how long would a government by the people exist? The man chosen President, is President for all and not for any one party. One great glory of our Republic has been the ready and cheerful manner in which, even after bitter political campaigns, our people acquiesce in the will as expressed by the majorities, however small. The recent campaign was especially free from undignified personalities. It comes now with decidedly poor taste, to put it mildly, for a trainer of youth to set this example of rebellious bigotry and narrowness. A person with a spirit so small, prejudices so strong, judgment so poor, and patriotism so completely absent is certainly unfit to teach school in this country another day. Let him be drummed out of America and loaded on to Spain or Turkey where such a teacher may find congenial spirits. The school board of Millets will certainly be justified in cancelling the contract of such a teacher, and the examining board of the county should at once take measures to annul the certificate of the un-patriotic pedagogue.—Moderator.

The Aspirants.
A nomination at the hands of the Republican township caucus is equivalent to an election this spring, hence there is much interest manifested in the result of the caucus to be held tomorrow afternoon.

For the supervisors'hip we know of only one avowed candidate, Mr. M. H. Quick. He is so well, and favorably known to every voter of the township that commendation from us is unnecessary. He is amply qualified for the position and his election would follow his nomination.
R. C. McKesson, present township clerk, is a candidate for re-nomination. "Doc" has made an efficient official in the past, and has done much hard work for the party during previous campaigns. We know of no other candidate for that position.

John Falk is the only candidate thus far mentioned for treasurer. John's friends are legion, and his unanimous nomination will be one of the features of tomorrow's caucus.

W. L. Loranger will be a candidate for justice of the peace. Being an attorney he would fill the position in an able manner.

For highway commissioner, Carl Knuth, A. M. Anderson and Andrew McDonald are candidates. All are good men and it is for the caucus to decide who will be honored.

It is the duty of the Republican party to place in nomination the very best men for the various positions to be filled, and having done so to give the ticket their unqualified support.

SUPREMACY.
Large numbers of the woodmen that have usually made their headquarters at Manistique at the end of previous seasons, have made Manistique their trying place this season, and will wait there for the drive.

H. C. Rankin of Lapeer, is on his high-heeled shoes. He sings "Marching through Georgia" to a brass band new boy, which lately he reported for duty at the Rankin headquarters. The paternal ancestor right wheels, counter-marches and presents arms with his infantry reinforcements like a loyal citizen. It's 10 to 1 if the youngster doesn't hurrah for "Old Glory" before he has a tooth.—Moderator.

Ex-Senator David B. Hill says of President McKinley: "He is a strong man, of force and clear ideas. He is a strong partisan, and I see that some people have been criticizing him for that. That is foolish. He has always been aggressive, and no one can expect him to change now. He is a man of ripe experience, and his knowledge of men and affairs will stand him in good stead now."

A large number of the citizens in a neighboring city paid a big admission price to a church social for the purpose of seeing a swimming match between two of the most prominent young ladies of the town. They were highly mortified and made a vigorous kick for their money when they ascertained that the swimming match was a pine match floating in a basin of water placed on a table between the prominent ladies.

May Davenport, The original sister of Pannis, manages of one of the most successful companies on the road and is meeting with astounding success in backing the houses nightly, and is giving one of the most refined entertainments, nothing bordering on vulgarity, giving nothing but a high class program. Some of the very best artists included in her company. The remainder of the week promises phenomenal business for it is her management has done well, to secure this star and company—Buffalo Courier. At Star Opera House April 3rd.

Ex-President Harrison, whose articles in the Ladies' Home Journal are creating such widespread interest, will write about "The Social Life of the President," in the April issue of that magazine. The ex-President will tell of the dinner receptions, etc. that are given by the Chief Executive, and detail the great social demands made upon him. He also gives a peep into the White House dining-room and silver closet, and notes the beauty of the service used for State dinners, which was bought at second hand. It is said that he also pays heed to the self-repeated question, "How much of his salary can a President lay aside?"
Everybody has heard of Rev. Robert McIntyre, the famous Methodist divine, who is considered by many to be the greatest pulpit orator of the Methodist denomination. He has been a staunch friend and admirer of the Nashville Students for many years.
"To Whom it may concern—
This letter is to say that the Nashville Students (Julius Singers) gave a concert in our church on Saturday evening, and a grand concert on Sunday. Both were eminently successful. This troupe is unequalled in their behavior and talent having won a place in the esteem of the entire community, and we hope soon to meet them again. Comending them to the church everywhere."
ROBERT MCINTYRE, Pastor.
At Opera House, Tuesday, March 30. Tickets at Orr's Drug store, where seats may be reserved after Saturday noon. 35 and 25 cents.

"Well-fed men are seldom drunkards," a nice old lady one said. By that she did not mean that rich vendors in quantity kept men from being drunkards, but that plain wholesome food, well cooked, would satisfy the cravings of the stomach, and a man won't want to drink "spirits."

Capt. Wallace Bolene died suddenly at the American hotel, Manistique, last Friday morning. The deceased was formerly one of the best known captains on the lakes and was formerly quite well off, but lost his property by helping his friends, by endorsing and otherwise. He owned and sailed the schooner C. C. Trowbridge for several years and a greater portion of the time was engaged in carrying lumber from Chgoogan to Chicago. Of late years he has been running the little schooner Josephine and last winter he lived on her in this harbor.—Chgoogan Tribune.

The Washington party from Menominee headed by ex-congressman S. M. Stephenson, arrived home Saturday night, excepting Mr. Stephenson who remained in Chicago. He is not in very good health and leaves soon for Hot Springs to recuperate. After a few weeks there Mr. Stephenson will return to Menominee to attend to his lumber business. It is generally conceded that "Saw-Log" Sum was one of the most efficient congressmen the upper peninsula of Michigan ever sent to Washington. He will be missed in Congress and the people will surely miss that "pull" which it was generally conceded the brusque and blunt Michiganian had in the house and senate.—Marquette Eagle.

The issue in the municipal election at Escanaba this spring will be that raised by the proposal to have the city bond itself for the purchase of a water supply system there, which is now owned and operated by a private company under a franchise. On the item of hydrant rental alone Escanaba pays the company $6,000 annually, which would pay the interest on the investment, and the rates to private consumers there is higher than anywhere else in the upper peninsula. It would seem that the city could not afford not to take the plant under the showing made in favor of city ownership in other places, but there is a strong effort being made by the opponents of Mayor Gallup to defeat the bonding proposition, apparently for no better reason than that he favors it.—Mining Journal.

The funeral of the late Mrs. E. A. Bouchard took place from St. Charles' church, Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended, showing the esteem held for the deceased by the community at large. Radlock Post and W. R. C. G. A. R., turned out in honor of the memory of one who was beloved by the old veterans and associates in the relief corps, of which, since its organization she had been one of the most faithful and efficient members. Temple Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Daughters of Rebekah, were also represented. The pall bearers consisted of H. H. Cobb, Jonas Wheeler and M. DeGwin, for Temple lodge and Jacob Smith, Charles Duffan and David Bertrand from I. O. O. F. Post. Magnan paid a high tribute to her services in connection with the relief corps and as a consistent member and hearty co-worker in the church, she loved us much.—Chgoogan Tribune.

Here is what Geo. A. Foxcroft, manager of the Temple Star Course, says regarding the Nashvilleites:
MR. M. B. TURBIE,
Chicago, Ill.
DEAR SIR:
I wish to say that your Company of Students who appeared in the Star Course last Monday evening gave the most complete satisfaction to myself and to the entire audience of over 2500 people who were present in the church Sunday evening. I have no hesitation in adding that your company gave the best entertainment I ever listened to without any exception.
Yours Very Truly,

CAPTAIN CHARLES KING

(Copyright, 1914, by J. B. Lippincott Company.)

I. The conductor had eyed Lambert curiously as he punched his ticket...

"What do you want?" "Come back here, I say."

"You ain't got to get off at Tugalo this time of night?" "You ain't got to get off at Tugalo this time of night?"

"Little, olive young fellow in a trim suit of tweed had sprung from the sleeper before the incoming train had fairly stopped, and, halting the first man he saw, asked: 'Train for Tugalo gone yet?'

"Oh, that you stop? Ain't you got anybody for us? Thought the judge was coming to-night."

wallway. Lambert was on his dignity in a moment. He looked the railway man straight in the eye and replied, with all the calm and deliberation he could muster...

Two days later, when asked at Quitman what sort of a fellow the young lieutenant seemed to be, Mr. Scroggs, the conductor, himself a soldier of large experience and no little ability...

"Newt" Lambert, as he was known among his intimates, was far from being a fool. He had seen some little of the world, it is true, and until last December night, not to nothing of the sunny south, where at this particular period in our national history it was every man for himself...

"In the end, it was discovered that everyone had contributed to the evening's enjoyment with the exception of the medical gentleman who occupied the seat next to Lambert's."

"Long before he had finished his audience was weary. The unwilling singer had faithfully described his voice."

"You ain't got to get off at Tugalo this time of night?"

Lambert amazed them all when he asked for the infantry arm and took his commission that night.

"The duties about the coffee-stand gave a good deal of opportunity for Lambert's official humor. The conductor was evidently more popular than the station master. One of the trunk bearers came laughing in at the conductor's car, and Lambert yet confident, appealed to Lambert:

"You ain't got to get off at Tugalo this time of night?" "You ain't got to get off at Tugalo this time of night?"

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS. —Mrs. Homer—"Is your husband off on the road to-day?" Mrs. Traveler—"I shouldn't wonder if he is. He went on his bicycle this morning."

—Yes—"Do you believe that story about Samson losing his strength by having his hair cut?" Crimmon—"Certainly," the barbers have many a time made me feel tired talking to me."

—Her justification—"That why do you encourage him if you never intend to marry him?" "Mercy! I wouldn't be presumptuous as to tell him I can't marry him before he asks me."

—One day a malicious person said to Alexander Dumas, "Your father was a mulatto, was he not?" Dumas replied: "Yes, sir. My father was a mulatto, my grandfather a negro, and my great-grandfather a monkey. My generation begins where yours ends."

—The Requisite—"He is very nice," said the young man. "And he bears a resemblance to my father," said the girl. "Very!" He said I must be an idiot to think of such a thing!"

—An old Scottish woman had given a visit to her son, who was in town where an evening gun was fired. When the gun boomed forth the hour she was very much startled.

Spring Suits AND Light Weight Overcoats

GET OUT THE VOTE.

THE FIGHT FOR THE REPUBLICANS TO DO A LITTLE HUSTLING.

Neither indifference nor Over Confidence should Hazard the Result.

The vigilante men on the Republican ticket this spring will be the same as that of last fall, and a cut of it is here appended:

Under this vignette you will find the names of the candidates for whom it was a judicious net to cast a straight vote.

Our opponents are inclined to fight the present local campaign on national issues, and certainly the Republicans have no objection to even that kind of contest. We are ready to take it either way.

Wherever the campaign turns upon the personal character of one of the candidates, we point to men on our side like those whose natural qualifications and wide experience challenge comparison with the candidates upon any other ticket.

The spring campaign is usually a quiet one, and this is no exception to the rule. Our opponents are not making much noise, but it will not answer to assume that they are going to stay at home on election day. They want all the local offices they can get, and can be depended upon to make a still hunt for votes for the state ticket at the same time.

What the Republicans ought to do, the very best they should permit themselves to do, is to get out a correspondence large vote.

Don't let either indifference or an opposition leave us with a majority so small that it will be interpreted as an condition triumph.

A CONTRAST.

The Party of Obstruction and the Party of Action.

The difference between Democratic and Republican capacity for administration is pretty well shown by the course of the two parties in the issues that were prominent in the last two campaigns. The Democrats came into power four years ago with a president pledged to a revision of the tariff and with a clear majority in both houses of congress. The men there, not what they would do, but the management of business, and they had not been in power three months before the country was suffering from the panic. It had experienced 20 years. Some asserted this to the Sherman law, which the Democrats had passed, and themselves to repeat, and others charged it to tariff agitation. Whatever the cause the situation demanded immediate action, yet it was August before the Democratic president dared call the Democratic congress together, and three months after that before he could secure final vote on the repealing act. It was a year and five months after the Democratic administration came into power before a tariff bill was passed and then the bill was not satisfactory either to protectionists or to free traders.

Meantime business of every kind was suffering from the paralysis. The merchants were certainly scarce, no one being able to make plans for more than a month ahead.

Now mark the contrast. The newly-elected Republican president has already in session just 11 days after he is inaugurated, with a tariff bill introduced and ready for consideration. It receives speedy attention in the house, with every prospect that before he reaches his three or four weeks, if it does not become a law inside of three months it will be the fault of Congress, in which the Republicans have not a clear majority.

But this is only the old story over again. Ever since the day the Democracy has been the party of obstruction and the Republicans the party of action.

THE SAME OLD ISSUE.

Fusion on the Same Platform as It Was Last Fall.

Although the state officers to be elected in Michigan this spring will have nothing to do with the making of national laws, still the cause for which they are elected should not be deemed unimportant in respect to national issues. The Republican convention at Detroit reformed the St. Louis platform, and pronounced anew its allegiance to sound Republican principles. The congressional convention at Grand Rapids accepted the Chicago platform, with its alleged attachments, and its free trade declaration. The verdict of Michigan last fall was pronounced in favor of the former. The state cannot afford this spring to declare in favor of the latter.

A failure to return a good Republican majority at this time will be regarded as a weakening of the Republican forces and will be a discouragement to the majority in Congress in their effort to carry out the pledges made by themselves and in their behalf.

The fusion platform is just as offensive every way as was the Chicago declaration, which was repudiated by the people. Yet it is the chief excuse for which the present contest is made.

A vote for Yale and his associates on the ticket is equivalent to an endorsement of his platform, and will be so regarded by everyone when the returns come in.

About $75,000,000 is Mr. Dingley's estimate of the increased revenue from the new tariff bill for the first year. If kept up, will soon change the deficiency to a surplus.

SUGGESTIVE FIGURES.

THE RECORD OF TWO ADMINISTRATIONS CONTRASTED.

Great Falling Off in Revenue and Reports, and Large Increase in the Public Debt.

The advent of a new administration in one of the national government suggests a few comparisons which it may be profitable for the voters to ponder. In some respects issues have changed in the past eight years, and one of the main issues, and almost most important to the permanent prosperity of the country, was the same in the campaigns of 1888, 1892 and 1896 as that issue was whether the tariff should be established and administered on the free trade or the protective theory. In 1888 the latter view was adopted, and we had the McKinley act. In 1892 the free trade theory triumphed and we had the Wilson act. In 1896 protection again prevailed, and we had the adoption of another protective theory, and that very soon we may see the future by the past the experiences of the past eight years ought to aid in bringing about that result.

The fiscal year of the government is not the same as the presidential year, yet it furnishes the best basis of comparison that we can obtain, so far as the government statistics go. The election of 1888, by the aid of a public opinion and Republican majorities in both houses of congress, made a change of tariff revision, and protective lines, and the effect upon business was immediately beneficial. In 1892 the election of a Democratic president, with Democratic majorities in both houses of congress, threatened a revision of the tariff on free trade lines, and the effect upon business was immediately injurious. In some respects the apprehension of such a change was more potent than what they would be, was fully as harmful as the changes were when they were actually made.

Eight months of the fiscal year 1888 came after the election of McKinley was chosen president, and eight months of the fiscal year 1892 came after Cleveland was chosen the second time. These full years and the three succeeding years, in each case, are therefore taken as the basis of comparison.

Some free trade papers are fond of speaking of the McKinley tariff as a facile producer of revenue, yet mild denigrators of the success in the election of 1892. In fact, the McKinley tariff was not successful in its purpose, and therefore discouraged importation at the old rates the revenue was ample. The following shows the customs revenue for eight years as taken from the Statistical Abstract of the United States for 1896, page 27.

Year	Amount.
1889	$229,821,420
1890	220,098,541.97
1891	219,922,207.25
1892	177,924,084.15
1893	195,355,016.73
1894	131,818,590.02
1895	152,158,017.45
1896	162,188,074.47

Total four years of Harrison's administration, $824,476,402.61; average annual amount, $206,119,100.65. Total four years of Cleveland's administration, $677,333,976.47; average each year, $169,334,741.66. Average cost of collecting under Harrison, per cent, 3.26; average cost for collecting under Cleveland, per cent, 4.26.

The increase and decrease for the years named were as follows:

Fiscal Year	Amount.
1889	Decease, $87,063,144.51
1890	Decease, $5,155,379.00
1891	Decease, $3,871,018.75
1892	Decease, $10,969,288.13
1893	Decease, $2,650,087.85
1894	Increase, $63,433,904.80
1895	Increase, $2,230,810.10
1896	Increase, $5,024,250.90

This gives a total decrease of the public debt in four years, that were had by the Republican administration of $221,478,451.35; total increase in four years, that were mostly under the Democratic administration, $110,700.12; showing a difference of $210,777,751.23.

But this is only the old story over again. Ever since the day the Democracy has been the party of obstruction and the Republicans the party of action.

BUSINESS FAILURES.

Menace to the Record of the Past Four Years.

The business failures in this country, and the aggregate amount of liabilities for the calendar years named have been as follows:

No.	Liabilities.
1889	$140,700,000
1890	155,000,000
1891	125,300,000
1892	108,100,000
1893	152,000,000
1894	159,000,000
1895	158,000,000
1896	147,000,000

BRITAIN'S WANTING TRADE.

THE UNITED STATES HER COMPETITOR FOR COMMERCIAL SUPREMACY.

Interesting Comparisons of the Value of Exports—The Content Between Protection and Free Trade.

Free traders are fond of pointing to the commercial prosperity of England as a vindication of their theory of economic legislation. But an examination of the facts of trade do not bear out their contention, and the course of events in recent years has tended to shake the faith of some of them.

It is only last year that at the sentimental jubilee of the adoption of free trade in England, the presiding officer deplored the decline of England's commercial position. He declared that if the continued it would be in spite of the free trade principle, and not as a result of it. In this opinion Englishmen do not all agree with him, as the growth of protection seems here indicated.

But he was right in reference to the fact. English trade is certainly not declining as compared with either Germany or the United States, both of which conduct their business under protective tariff laws. The comparison with our own country is of chief interest to us.

In 1870 England had been long enough under free trade laws to experience all the benefits that could be derived from that policy in building up her commerce, and this country had, for the most part, recovered from the injury done by the war of the rebellion had inflicted upon its industries. That year furnished a good starting point for the comparison.

The following table shows the exports, exclusive of gold and silver, from Great Britain for the years named. The figures are taken from Whitaker's Almanac, a standard British publication, the pounds sterling being reduced to dollars at the uniform rate of $1.936 per pound.

Year	Exports.
1870	$1,487,030,087
1871	1,470,854,400
1880	1,432,022,300
1890	1,697,674,800
1891	1,601,147,350
1892	1,419,121,047
1893	1,418,554,325
1894	1,332,242,028
1895	1,609,850,462
1896	1,578,696,880

The exports from this country for the corresponding years, as shown by the Statistical Abstract of the United States, were as follows:

Year	Exports.
1870	$322,717,708
1871	442,850,175
1880	855,039,058
1890	857,898,943
1891	881,480,810
1892	1,070,278,149
1893	1,065,065,154
1894	892,107,672
1895	873,385,468
1896	1,027,797,600

It will be seen from these figures that in 1870 and 1871 the British exports were something more than three times as great as the exports from the United States. In 1880 they were considerably less than twice as great, and in 1892 they exceeded ours by less than 28 per cent. During this whole period England was under free trade laws, and the United States, from 1819, was under protection. In 1892 our trade reached high-water mark, after the benign influence of good crops, the McKinley tariff and the reciprocity treaties, and without the disturbing influence caused by the apprehension of the abandonment of that policy. In 1880, under the free trade policy of the Wilson law, our exports had reached a point lower than any reached before since 1889, and the exports from Great Britain were 72 per cent larger than ours.

Or take another basis of comparison. From 1870 to 1892 our export trade increased almost threefold, while Great Britain's export trade increased only 11 per cent. At that rate it would require many years for us to overtake her. This rate, of course, cannot be maintained, for the world's markets would long absorb our products at such a rate of increase, but our gain upon England's trade can be kept up until we reach the prominence to which our natural resources, our inventive genius and our geographical position entitle us. But the experience of the past shows in connection with the figures given above that it is not free trade that will accomplish this.

In this connection our direct trade with Great Britain is of special significance. A theory of the free trader is that protection raises prices here so high a figure that we cannot sell our goods abroad. Our exports to Great Britain in 1880 amounted to $82,793,074. In 1890 the McKinley tariff increased the average rate of duty. Yet under it, in 1892, our exports to the same country amounted to $410,329. The Wilson tariff reduced duties again, and yet with it in force, our exports to Great Britain fell to $37,262,268. Our exports from the same country in 1889 were $177,897,795. In 1892, under the McKinley tariff, they fell to $160,000,881. In 1890, under the lower duties of the Wilson tariff, they had risen again, to $180,963,434. In other words, under the protective tariff, we not only exported more products than we did under the lower rates of duty, but we manufactured a larger proportion of the goods which we consumed at home.

The currents of trade in both directions are a vindication of the American against the English system.

The rapid increase of Mr. Layton's vote for the re-nomination in the state convention makes a good showing for the appreciation of his merits by those who were once present. The following was the vote on the three ballots, the last ballot showing the total on the roll-call before any clauses were made:

This office was awarded the job of printing the state and county tickets to be used at the coming election.

The members of Mrs. Artant Owen's music class gave her a very pleasant surprise party Wednesday afternoon. They brought well-filled lunch-baskets. The affair was highly successful.

Mr. Alverson, former for the Hall & Bell Co., South Manistique, has been assisting County Treasurer Chappell the past week. Mr. Chappell says that he will send the list of delinquent taxes to the Auditor General this week.

John Quick was 11 years old Monday last, and his relatives in this city gave him a party in honor of the event that evening. A very pleasant evening was spent and John was presented with an elegant chair as a reminder of the occasion.

We hear it rumored that J. H. McCullum will be a candidate for the nomination for supervisor of Thompson township subject to the Republican caucus. Mr. McCullum was a valued member of the board of supervisors for several years. The county need, men such as he to administer its affairs in a business like manner.

The Postmaster General has ruled that there will be great effort in petitions and that he will be governed by them in making his appointments. Any one will sign a petition whether they are citizens or not and the longer petition quite infrequently is secured by the least deserving. The party workers deserve the spots not the individuals who are successful in securing the largest petition.

A large and enthusiastic crowd last night witnessed the May Day dance at Burtlesque Co., at the Assembly. The applause told the story, the show was enjoyed highly by the audience and will pack the houses the remainder of the week. The company is good. A great many new features; the girls were very pretty, their forms were fascinating. Boston Times—At Star Opera House April 3rd.

Hawathwa Township Census.

The Republicans of Hawathwa township will hold a caucus at the room over Orr Bros. & Co.'s west side meat market, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, for the purpose of placing in nomination their ticket to be voted upon at the April election.

List of jurors.

The following persons have been drawn as jurors for the April term of the circuit court:

W. S. Arrowsmith, Manistique; William H. Clous, Harrison; W. W. Owen, Hawathwa; Emil Johnson, Thompson; John F. Black, Inwood; John Johnson, Doyle; Wyndham Burns, Germansk; Henry Storms, Seney; A. W. Ladouce, Manistique; John Becklund, Harrison; W. W. Cutler, Hawathwa; Alfred Beecher, Thompson; Thomas Clark, Inwood; E. D. Beeson, Doyle; James Burns, Germansk; George Logan, Seney; John McCanna, Manistique; Andrew Norton, Harrison; A. J. McLaughlin, Hawathwa; Fritz Luensberg, Thompson; Milton Williams, Inwood; August Swanson, Doyle; Jas. Conley, Germansk; Charles Duval, Seney.

In the Field.

A citizens caucus was held in Doyle township one day this week. The following nominations were made for the various offices:

Judge Sweet, Supervisor; E. D. Beeson, Clerk; Erick Anderson, Treasurer; Dougald McGregor, Highway Commissioner.

Wm. Reed and John Anderson, school inspectors.

Maxim Lindback, Justice of the Peace.

Andrew Johnson, Geo. Ghent, Chas. McIntyre and Chas. Blomquist; Frank Brown, George Sörter, Alvin Wood, Peter Peterson, and Tom Nelson, for overseers of highways.

Victor Anderson, member of the board of review.

Chas. Blomquist, Julia Svent and Peter Peterson were chosen as the township committee.

DANGERS OF THE GRIP.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is that resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the thousands of citizens who have used this remedy for La Grippe, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dread disease. It will effect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by A. S. Tutnam & Co.

OUR SIX YEAR OLD DAUGHTER.

Our little six-year old daughter had a very sore throat, badly ulcerated, and coughed almost incessantly. Gave her White Wine of Peppermint according to directions and she began to improve immediately and soon got well. Mrs. Knowles and I have recommended it to others, and we consider it the very best medicine in use. Rev. D. H. Groves, Pastor M. E. Church, Clarksville, Mo.

BREVITIES.

The Republicans of Germfask hold their caucus tomorrow.

Horn, to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hornberger's son, Friday test.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson died yesterday.

A. Robinson and family of White dals were in the city this week.

The government has granted a pension to the late Judge Bowen.

WASTON.—A servant-girl. Apply to H. W. Clarke, at Manistique Park.

P. J. Back of Thompson, made this office a very pleasant call Saturday.

Mrs. Maria Niles who spent the winter in Milwaukee, has returned to the city.

Mrs. Frank Crittenden returned from Marquette, Wednesday, where she was called to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law.

Prof. J. A. Chisholm of Seney, is in the city this week visiting the schools and attending the county teachers examination which began yesterday.

Miss Fern Nicholson who is attending Alma college, will spend the spring vacation of two weeks in this city. She is expected to arrive tomorrow.

While engaged in splitting kindling Saturday afternoon Mrs. Jack McWilliams had the misfortune to completely sever the fore finger of her left hand.

Mrs. J. Yousburg of Chicago, is Lewis & Mills' trimmer this season. She comes highly recommended and will no doubt sustain the reputation of this millinery establishment.

Since writing an article relative to the caucus candidates who will be presented for the consideration of the Republican caucus to be held tomorrow afternoon, we forgot to mention the fact that John Larson was an aspirant for the supervisory nomination. If nominated, Mr. Larson would undoubtedly be elected.

The state ballot to be voted next month is an odd shaped affair. There are seven tickets in the field. They appear on the ballot in the following order. Republican, Democratic, Peoples Union Silver, Prohibition, Democratic, Peoples, Liberty Socialist-Labor. Below these tickets comes the county ticket consisting of but one candidate for school commissioner, and lastly come the amendments. Republicans should look no farther than the first column. They should also not forget to vote for the amendment increasing the attorney general's salary. The township tickets will appear separately and we wish to notify the various township committees that we are in position to furnish tickets promptly, and cheaper than any one.

The French Shy

The brilliant play with all the wealth of gorgeous costumes, bright and catchy music, special scenery and oriental splendor, will be produced at the Star Opera house on Wednesday evening April 7th, with Emily Greener Rowland in the title role and under her direction. The piece has as many music cues as an ordinary opera and will be capably handled by Prof. Olson's excellent orchestra. The ladies and gentlemen who will take part in the production are delighted with the parts that have been assigned them and the evening of April 7th will doubtless mark the dramatic event of the season.

Emily-Greener Rowland, who has the presentation in charge is the versatile leading lady of the Frank Tucker Theatre Co. She possesses great histrionic ability and will no doubt please the public.

Camp 44 closed operations for the season this week.

Miss Bessie Carr of St. Ignace, was in the city this week.

Rev. J. K. MacGillivray of Sahnaw, was in the city this week.

J. M. Valentine of Little Harbor, was in the city yesterday.

Geo. H. Orr and Supt. Robinson of the M. & N. W. railroad were in Laington this week on business.

Miss Maud Mack of Toledo, Ohio, has accepted the position of stenographer at the Chicago Lumbering Co. office. She arrived this week.

The ladies of the Norwegian Danish Lutheran church will give a social at the home of Rev. Frossen on Wednesday evening March 31st. A program will be rendered.

The afternoon west bound passenger train will hereafter pass this city at 3:20 o'clock instead of at 4 o'clock as heretofore. The change went into effect yesterday.

Guinan & McLeod, agents for the famous White Flyer bicycle will receive a sample wheel next week. Those contemplating purchasing a wheel should call at the opera house to inspect same.

Casper Bros. have 300 different patterns of wall paper in stock. You can make an intelligent selection by seeing the paper in the original roll rather than by sample. Prices the lowest.

The Hall & Buell Co. will begin fitting up their mill at South Manistique on April 1st. The saws will be started a week later. Two months' sawing will clean up all the timber of the company in this region.

D. W. Thompson will be a candidate for justice of the peace, subject to the Republican caucus tomorrow afternoon. D. W. has many friends, and will no doubt have a great many votes when they are counted.

A Pleasant Event.

When Mrs. Arthur Owen returned Wednesday from her afternoon lessons she found the house locked and shades down as she had left them, but upon entering, she found and was greeted with a chorus of laughter from fifteen of her young music pupils, all seated in a group upon the floor.

The table was spread with a bountiful supper, and they had also brought a photo of the group, all in remembrance of her birthday anniversary. Those present were:

Emma Pattinson, Olga Strandell, Florence Irish, May Fox, Edith Brown, Mildred Quick, Georgia Ross, Bessie Hill, Beola Olson, Nancy Youngberg, Genevieve Todd, Anna Benson, Harold Nicholson, May Kingham, Vera Butley.

A Good Company.

Frank Tucker's theatrical company has been filling a week's engagement at the opera house this week. The company has been playing to very poor business, yet wears free insaying that Manistique has seldom been visited by a better company or with more painstaking actors. Nearly every member of the company is a star in his or her particular line. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland and Mr. Tucker appear to be the favorites. These persons as well as every other member of the company deserve commendation.

As "Jerry" in the "Noble Outcast," presented Wednesday evening, Mr. Tucker proved himself to be an actor of rare ability.

Emily Greener-Rowland is an actress of great versatility and has few equals in emotional lines.

Popular prices prevail. This evening, "East Lynne" will be presented. Ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by a person holding one 30 cent ticket.

Tomorrow afternoon a matinee will be given at 2:30 o'clock. The good, but popular creation, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," will be presented on that occasion.

The engagement will conclude with "A Wife's Honor," on tomorrow evening.

Do You Expect to Win in this Fight?

I mean the fight between poor and health. If you have "that tired, discouraged feeling" poor health is getting the best of you. I would advise, in such a case, that you put yourself under an efficient trainer, such as Ayers or some other good Sarsaparilla or good blood and nerve tonic and now is the time to begin. Don't wait until you are ordered to the hospital. Several good and tried trainers make my store their headquarters.

Alarm the House.

It's time to get up. I have the kind of alarm you can depend upon to get you on time, but keep good time, and I warrant them for a year's time, and only ask you a dollar this time.
