Two ladies, cousins of Mr. P. and Samuel Winkelman, passed through the city early in the week enroute from Australia to the Soo. They have lived in the Antipodes for the past 20 years and the first snow they have seen in all these years was seen in this vicinity. After visiting with Mrs. Barney Blumrosen for several weeks they will come here. Later they leave for England to participate in the settlement of an estate of which they are heirs.

Rents in the business portion of the city are too high. Our local merchants have been energetically combating with a period of business depression extending through the past two or three years. That Manistique has business men of rare ability is proven by the fact that there has not been a failure in business circles during this period. Yet all are feeling the depression. Rents are proportionate to the times and must be reduced. A merchant does not object to paying a good rent for a business location when times are good, but when he does not make the interest on money invested he is justified in making a vigorous kick for a reduction in the rental.

C. J. Thoenen of the Soo was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Benjamin Goro and Benjamin Jr. arrived in the city from Cheboygan last Saturday.

Rowland Starr of Toledo, O., who was the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. C. Kelso a few days last week, left for Grand Marais Saturday last.

E. N. Orr & Co. have received an elegant line of toilet soaps which they are selling at the remarkably low price of 25 cents for a box containing three cakes.

The supper given at Columbus Hall Tuesday evening was well attended and the ladies having the affair in hand deserve credit for furnishing the public with a good supper and entertainment.

We learn that Capt. Smith who had charge of the Salvation army work here last summer, has severed his connection with the work. We hope that he will engage in a lucrative business sufficiently large to pay us the $5.50 he owes us.

Commander, Gifford of the Salvation Army was unable to fill his engagement here last evening. The officers of the Ishpeming Corps appeared in his stead. Twelve recruits were sworn in, and all in all a very interesting meeting was held. The visitors were good speakers and singers and made a very favorable impression.

James White was sentenced to Marquette for a term of two years, by Judge Steere this week. White has figured quite prominently in local politics circles during the past two years, but made a mistake when he asked grand larceny to his category of crimes. Schoolcraft county is to be congratulated upon his riddance.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will give a musical shortly. An elaborate program is being prepared. The members of this society have also pledged themselves to earn a dollar during the coming month and relate their experiences in capturing the festive cart-wheel. Recently a Marquette society adopted a similar scheme. One lady at the experience meeting frankly said that she robbed her husband of $1.00 while he slept, in order to fulfill her promise.

Port McCauley while attempting to board Mr. Meroy's dray, yesterday morning fell in such a manner as to get his left leg in the rapidly revolving wheel. It was broken and nipped above the knee. Dr. Dubs was called to reduce the fracture. Peter's mishap should learn the average small boy a lesson. It is a dangerous move to mount a rapidly moving vehicle.

The crew of the Booth tug Valliant had an exciting experience Tuesday. The Central Relief society met at the editorial rooms of the Free Press-Tribune on last Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of considering the resignation of the president, Mr. W. C. Bronson. His resignation was accepted, and Thomas McCollough elected to succeed him.

There was an eviction in Manistique yesterday afternoon. Rev. Tomnessen has been without work for more than a year and almost daily during that time has spurred all offers of work. He decided early in the siege that God would take care of him and has refused all offers whereby he could earn money for himself and family. For months he has been living in one of Mr. Putnam's houses, and has not paid a penny of rent through his own exertions. Mr. Putnam had frequently offered him work but his invariable reply was that he was not a laboring man. Mr. Putnam, being a comparatively poor man, did not see fit to indefinitely provide the gentleman with a house and the eviction followed. The most charitable construction that can be placed upon Mr. Tomnessen's conduct is that he is insane. He should be compelled to earn a living for himself and family, or should be taken in charge by the authorities, and the family taken care of at public expense. When a man does all in his power to earn a livelihood for his family and fails, mankind is ever ready to lend assistance. But when the man positively refuses to do anything toward bettering his condition disgust applicants sympathize.

Entered at the postoffice at Manistique, Mich., as Second Class mail matter.

Well Profit By It.

War is a thing much to be regretted, yet should Europe become entangled in the intricate exhibition of temper now existing between Greece and Turkey, the result would be the stimulation of American industries to a remarkable degree.

The United States is in a position to occupy an attitude of strict neutrality should the European "concert" sing to the accompaniment of shrieking shells and the rich full basso of booming canons. All nations are extravagant purchasers in time of war. European countries would draw upon us lavishly for our wheat, corn, meat, horses and munitions of war. Prices would go sky-ward. In this connection it may be proper to say that the law of supply and demand would govern prices, not the price of silver, as the Mexican holders tried to make us believe last autumn.

War has from all times proven the truthfulness of the adage that some profit by the misfortunes of others. While wars and their bloody accompaniments are always to be avoided if possible, yet it appears that the history of the advancement of civilization is necessarily punctuated with scenes of carnage.

If the recent declaration of war will have its sequel in the subjugation of the blood-thirsty Turk, the struggle, no matter how protracted or far-reaching, will be well worthy the finale.

It can secure its freedom if Turkey is annihilated, much will have been accomplished in the onward progress of the world in this nineteenth century.

The Resurrection.

When familiar voices are hushed forever, when loving eyes are closed in death and the tragedy of living is at an end, we pass from the one who sleeps, hoping, for all our sorrow, that we may meet again. Heartaches and tears are vain. Through the misty years of centuries human faith has found no safer anchor than the sublime and beautiful words Jesus spoke to Martha and Mary who mourned for the loss of a brother: "I am the Resurrection and the Life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he be alive."

All religious denominations that have their foundation upon the teachings of Christ are making much of Easter. It is more and more generally celebrated as the years roll by. This is as it should be. Christmastide with all its joyous accompaniments celebrates his event upon earth. His resurrection from the dead is more important than his natal day. His detronement of death is the essence of the religion of today; without the assurance of his superiority over death the followers of the meek and lowly Nazarene would be hanging their hopes for the future upon a dim uncertainty.

Faith and hope are the sentiments that make life bearable. Without them man would become a mere animal. It is refreshing to be able to peer through the rifts in the clouds of disappointment and worry that envelop us upon this mundane sphere, and see the manna that are prepared for the faithful. Were the few years mankind spends upon earth all that there is existence, life would certainly not be worth the living. Its cares and responsibilities far outnumber its joys.

Easter tide was appropriately observed by all the churches of this city last Sunday. Flowers were abundant and special programs were rendered. May it ever be thus. Sad indeed will be the time when mankind loses sight of the sacrifice that Jesus made when he came down from Heaven, to die the ignominious death upon the cross in order to pave the way for the salvation of mankind.

It was a clever idea for Bryan to try to identify himself with the proposal to make Monticello a national reservation. It is a long cry to 1900, and the man who is floating around on the free-silver raft has to burn some red fire now and then to show where he is.—New York Evening Sun (Dem.).

The apple blossom has been made the state flower. The state officials should send a consignment of the state flower for distribution among the people living in the upper peninsula so that they could pass an opinion as to the taste displayed by the solons. Arbutus should have been chosen.

We are not writing in the sand. The tide does not wash it out. We are not painting our pictures on the canvas, and with a brush so that we can erase the error of yesterday or overlay it with another color to-day. We are writing our lives with a chisel on the marble, and every time we strike a blow we leave a mark that is indelible.—Lyman Abbott, D. D.

No Escape For Favorites. If you are a favorite, remember that you will be knocked out. No favorite escapes.

A few months ago the papers were full of one W. J. Bryan. Thousands of people crowded around him, and led him to believe that he was a savior of the people. Who hears of him now? Jim Corbett called the referee of the Carson fight into the dressing room on March 17 and said he had a thousand friends around the ring who would not submit to his defeat. But when Corbett was knocked out in the 14th round his thousand friends yelled for Fitzsimmons.

People hate you if you are a failure; they hate you more cordially if you are a successor. And if you are a favorite, nothing will please them more than to see you knocked out.

When times comes for your knock-out blow, take it philosophically. Don't cry, as Corbett did. A knock-out blow is due you, and it cannot be avoided, if you are good for anything.—Acheson Globe.

Anent Pettitions.

"A Republican," takes the Prohibitionist to task for recently saying:

The Postmaster General has ruled that there will be great efficacy in petitions and that he will be governed by them in making his appointments. Anyone will see a petition whether they are citizens or not and the longest petition queue infrequently is secured by the least-deserving. The party workers deserve the spoils not the individuals who are successful in securing the position.

He wasted a column of valuable space in a contemporary last week in order to air his ideas. We still contend that the average petition is a delusion and a snare. Any one, no matter how unpopular and unhearing, can secure a formidable petition. We again reiterate the statement that the men who spend their time and money in insuring party success deserve recognition at the hands of the party if they are aspirants for an appointive office.

Congressman Sheldon takes the same view of the matter. He is not a believer in the efficacy of petitions signed by Jimmy Jones, et al, but says that a candidate for the appointment of postmaster must have the endorsements of the leading and active Republicans of the town or city in which he lives. Congressman Sheldon may be wrong in his deductions, and we may also be wrong, but this administration will recognize only such aspirants as have the stamp of approval of the party leaders in the localities in which they reside.

Manistique's next postmaster will be a man known for the assistance he has rendered the party in the past. His petition will not be the longest, but it contains the names of those who have been prominently allied with the party's interests. He lives in Manistique seven days of every week too.

Lake Superior Presbytery.

Presbytery of Lake Superior met at Ishpeming, Mich., on Tuesday, April 13th, at 7:30 P. M. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. T. J. MacMurray. Rev. Geo. C. Lamb of Menominee was elected Moderator, and Rev. C. P. Bates of Sault Ste. Marie, Temporary Clerk. The organization of the church of Manistique was reported, and it was ordered enrolled. Rev. Wm. Campbell Ph. D. was received from Presbytery of Saginaw; the call from the church of Munising for his pastoral services was placed in his hands, and after his acceptance was signed arrangements were made for his installation, on May 3rd.

Rev. Donald Morrison of Iron Mountain and Elder J. W. Bird of Menominee were elected Commissioners to the General Assembly and Rev. J. A. Greene of Negaunee and Elder D. W. Morgan of Escanaba were selected alternates.

The overflow of General Assembly in regard to examination of candidates for licensure in the English Bible was answered in the affirmative. The pastoral relation existing between T. J. MacMurray and the church of Gladstone was dissolved, and Mr. MacMurray was dismissed to the Presbytery of Houghton. Steps were taken looking to the organization of a church at Germfask by the Pastor at Largs, Rev. J. K. McGillivray.

That the Presbytery might properly guard and care for the property of our mission churches, Trustees were elected and authorized them to take the necessary legal steps for incorporation of Presbytery.

Reports of the committees disclosed the facts that the churches were generally prospering and benevolent work of the church had been well attended to.

The next meeting will be held at Marquette, on second Thursday in September.

Has Returned.

John Mosher returned from Portage, Ont., Wednesday evening. He is very favorably impressed with the outlook in that northern country, and has several nice specimens of gold ore. A boom always attracts men without resources, and as a result Portage and other cities in the Rainy Lake belt are overcrowded with men looking for work.

We publish in this connection a clipping from a Rat Portage paper concerning this.

The Clipping follows:

"While the large amount of building operations at the present time affords employment to a great number of men still the labor market is unmistakably glutted. There are hundreds of men to be seen on the streets every day, apparently destitute and unable to obtain work. The disappearance of the snow will enable many to go prospecting and the opening of navigation with the consequent increase of development work, prospecting and mining generally and also the usual summer works of the district will open many avenues of employment. However, these avenues it is to be feared will not be sufficiently broad to accommodate the numbers of men whom there is every reason to believe will pour into Rat Portage during the coming summer. The problem of the unemployed is one that has confronted the large cities of the east for years. It will be an unfortunate state of affairs if it comparatively new town like Rat Portage without any of the machinery or provisions for such exigencies of places like Toronto and Montreal will have to confront a difficulty which metropolitan centers have been unable to cope with.

It is necessary therefore for those who have the interests of the town at heart who believe in the ultimate prosperity of the district and its hidden wealth to realize the danger that menaces the town and district. Dozens of hungry men, complaining pessimistic letters of men vainly seeking work would not be a good advertisement of our prosperity nor would it have a tendency to attract those with means into the district. A legitimate new town like Rat Portage without the richness of our mineral wealth becoming known to the world is one thing, but the inducing of laborers to come to Rat Portage at the present stage of our mining industry would be a serious danger which would result in misery to the laborers and disaster to the district. We want men of means who intelligently believe in our mineral resources and are willing to develop them. The laborers will soon supply the demand."

John Cameron, organizer of the American Federation of Labor at Munising, Mich., asks the New-Tribune to advise laborers and mechanics throughout the state not to be lured by advertisements into visiting that town in search of employment. There is already a large number of idle men, and some of the factories operative have been subjected to a reduction of wages which leaves them with less than enough to live upon. The advertisements, he says, are intended to still further increase the supply of idle men and bring about another cut in the wages.—Detroit News-Tribune.

The Sunday School convention held at the Baptist church, last Friday afternoon and evening was not largely attended but was of interest. The addresses of Mr. Mohr were invaluable to Sunday School workers. The meeting deserved a better attendance.

CASPER BROTHERS.

THE FALL OF DAMASKI

IMPORTANT TURKISH TOWN CAPTURED BY GREEKS AND BURNED.

Mail Received by a Desperate Battle Between the Contending Forces—Road to Milosna. New troops and the Greeks intend to push forward—Outlook for the immediate future is favorable to George's Men.

ATHENS, April 21.—News has just reached here that the Greeks, after a desperate battle, have captured and burned Damaski. Viglia is still possessing another division of the Greek troops. It is reported, however, that the Revelli has captured three hundred houses. This division has almost reached Damaski, where it will effect a union with the force that captured the town. The news has excited the general excitement displayed the greatest anxiety. Revelli has 12 miles north-west of Larissa. Edhem Pasha, with a force variously estimated at from 16,000 to 20,000 troops, led seven assaults against it, but all were repulsed by the Greeks. Crown Prince Constantine has telegraphed here that the Turks at that point were completely and finally repulsed.

An Advantage to the Greeks. In Athens greater attention has been paid to the operations in the neighborhood of Revelli than to those at Milosna pass. The theory all along has been that if the Greeks could establish themselves at Damaski their road would be open to Ellassos. The exact situation at Tyrnovo is somewhat in doubt. The news from that point is conflicting. But there is no confirmation of the rumor that the place has been captured by the Turks. What seems to have happened is that Tyrnovo was evacuated in order to send troops forward to Revelli and was then recaptured by troops returning from Milosna.

EXHILARATING NEWS. Capture of Damaski a Great Encouragement for the Greeks.

ATHENS, April 21.—The news of the capture of Damaski puts a new complexion upon the situation on the frontier, is a great encouragement to the government and is likely to have the most exhilarating effect upon the spirits of the Greeks, who had been greatly depressed by the reverses of their troops at Milosna pass. This success and the fact that the fall of Provras seems imminent virtually offsets the calamity at Milosna. If the Greek divisions occupy a salient at Damaski, as is expected, there is almost nothing in the way of their prompt advance to Ellassos. If Tyrnovo falls into the hands of Edhem Pasha and the Turkish troops swoop down upon the plain and advance to Larissa to meet the force concentrated there under the crown prince they will be between two great divisions of the Greek army. This seems to have been the object of Greek strategy.

By Howard Salomon. It is stated here in well informed circles that the Eastern squadron of the Greek fleet, which will shortly be reinforced by the ironclad Spetzias, was planning an important movement. This is probably directed against Salonica. If this is made with dispatch it is quite possible that the Greek ships could reach the Gulf and shell the town of Salonica before the Aegean squadron of the Turkish fleet could intervene. The object of such a bombardment would be to cut off the Aegean line of supplies to Edhem Pasha's camp at Ellassos. Should the Greek troops advance from Damaski to Ellassos the line of Turkish supplies could be cut at that point and the naval movement unnecessary. Taking a general survey of the field the fortunes of war thus far are pretty evenly divided, but the chances for the immediate future are decidedly in favor of the Greeks.

THE GREEK SIDE OF IT. Mistake in Orders That Caused the Defeat at Orizovito.

ATHENS, April 21.—There was some fighting between the Turks and Greeks in the Milosna Pass Monday. It was the most severe description but full details are not obtainable here. The fighting ceased at 9 o'clock in the evening. The total Greek loss in the various engagements in the Milosna Pass is estimated here at 1,000 killed and wounded. Over 200 wounded soldiers and officers of the Greek army have arrived at Larissa, Revelli and Volo. The loss of the Turkish army is declared to be much greater than those of the Greeks. Prince Constantine has returned to Larissa from Orizovito, where he witnessed some severe fighting. The Greek reverses at that place was due to the fact that General Moutoussis, who is in command of the Greek military, misunderstood Prince Constantine's orders and ordered a retreat of the Greek forces. The Turks thereupon advanced, and soon occupied Orizovito, pursuing the retreating Greeks, killing a few and wounding 200 of them.

General Moutoussis's brigade later rallied and made a stand. In the meantime Prince Constantine hurried reinforcements forward to the assistance of General Moutoussis, and Gen. Moutoussis, formerly Greek minister of war, succeeded in forcing the enemy back.

A BEAR STORY.

The Most Wonderful Escape of a Hunter Who Was by a Tree.

They were spinning yarns of the chase, and this was the contribution of the congressman: "After a pretty hard rampage I went, with a hunting party, to the upper peninsula, near the Leather Stomping or a Daniel Boone with a rifle, but I'm far from having to hit a bear. I'd brought down a bear and I'd lugged an amount of small game, but wanted a bear. One morning I had to travel a distance from camp and suddenly came upon three half grown cubs rolling and tumbling over each other in play. I shot one, and the other two, but a funny retreating. Setting my gun against a tree, I reached my cub while he was still kicking. "Hearing a noise, I whirled around to find the mother coming at me, her mouth wide open and her eyes glaring. There was no chance to reach the rifle. I'm no sprinter and took the only alternative by slipping up a tall pine tree. She stopped a minute to examine the victim of my shot and was captured enraged than ever as she came clanking after me. One in the tuffet of that party, I did some faster thinking than I ever did on any question of state. The bear was coming and losing time. Without a weapon of any kind, I looked as though I were dead.

"But a man in my predicament overlooks his chances. In my pocket I had a well filled match safe. In my pocket was a pint of brandy, minus one moderate nip. In my hunting jacket was a bunch of tow. I stammered that with brandy and an ash bar attached, I annoyed her with the remainder. Dividing the tow so as to have two loads, I lit the first half and dropped it on the bear. I didn't think of the half. There was a flash of light, as though a pan of powder had been ignited. The air was filled with the odor of burning hair. The bear approached, fell down because it was quicker. Then she left a fiery trail toward the horizon and made more noise than any ordinary thunderstorm." — Detroit Free Press.

RAISING GOLDFISH.

THE TWO LARGEST FARMS IN THE WORLD ARE IN INDIANA. Correcting Some Popular Errors About These Finny Beauties—The Major Has Great Difficulty in Fighting Off the Pest Word of Goldfish With Many Tales.

Goldfish are so extremely common nowadays that few people ever stop to wonder where they come from or how they are raised.

The largest goldfish farm in the world, if it may be called such, is located in Shelby county, Ind., about 30 miles from Indianapolis.

There are two farms, several miles apart, which are devoted to the different branches of the industry.

One of the forms spoken of are a large number of small ponds, some of them not much larger than ten feet square.

The breeding ponds, which are, of course, the most important, are protected from the wind and cold by high cambrumps around the edges.

Several times a year the fish are sorted in the different ponds and classified so that the largest and finest ones will be together, and those which will not bring such good prices will be thrown away.

First, they begin getting dark, sometimes becoming almost black. From the dark complexion they fling turning to the rosy red shade, and finally come out in all their glory.

The food has not, as many people suppose, the least thing to do with coloring in fish. All the fish are fed exactly the same thing, consisting of two or three times a week, and nothing else is given them for their subsistence.

The greatest difficulty with which the goldfish farmer has to contend is the pest word. Snakes, cats, coon, frogs and insects innumerable are all full destroyers of the goldfish, and the crowbar is by no means a second in the destruction which he can work when he gets in the neighborhood of the finny tribe.

There are two women. Lansing, Mich., April 17.—The following appointments have been made by Governor Pingree: Frederick B. Beland, chief clerk of the state board of health; Jacob Stahl, of Lansing, member of the board of control of the industrial board of inquiry.
