H. P. Howell is quite a philosopher. Hence the effects of the hard times in the improved personnel of the deck hands of the Steamer Ludington, as compared to previous years. When times are good the "scum of humanity" is the only available timber for such unremunerative jobs. The hard times have driven a better class of men to accept such positions.

Out in Kansas where Prohibition flourishes and where the bibulous farmer drinks Lemon Extract, Harter's Iron Bitters, and Extract of Hogs in lieu of bourbon the airship is seen with greater frequency than anywhere else. The startling intelligence has been published in the daily newspapers this week of a Kansas farmer who saw an airship, night among a herd of cattle. A corn-fool steered his butchard and the carcass taken aboard. The hide was found in an adjoining county.

John Roberg of Gladstone, spent a few hours in Manistique Tuesday. He reports Martin Weing as prospering, and certainly looks himself as though Gladstone agreed with him.

Rev. J. M. Shank will preach the Memorial sermon this year. The meeting will undoubtedly be a union one and will very likely be held at the Presbyterian church or the opera house.

Most of the bicycle riders agree that the bicycle ordinance is the proper answer. There is also an ordinance against fast driving on the streets. The bicyclists will insist that that ordinance shall be enforced also.

The infant child of Mrs. Joseph Alexander, died Sunday last and was buried Monday afternoon. Rev. J. M. Rogers held short services at the house. Truly Mrs. Alexander has been sorely afflicted during the past year. Her husband and two children have died during that period of time.

Romeny, one of the greatest violinists of the century, will visit Manistique during the summer.

Miss Lora Purdy who recently arrived from Brighton for the purpose of teaching in the Dodge district, has been ill with the measles during the past two weeks.

A citizen says: "Now that the council has made a move in the right direction it is hoped that they will continue until cows and chickens are kept off the streets."

O. Morsman left for Beavers Thursday with authority from F. H. Peters, special administrator of the estate of Captain Eulene, to take possession of a schooner belonging to the said estate.

To many people owe everybody who will trust them. There are those we know who can indulge in every extravagance—buy all sorts of comfort and good things to eat—constantly live beyond their means and never see the debtor's bill. It's all wrong, folks, to live as you do. Pay something on your debts each week. Save a little money for sickness or accident. Pay cash. Don't spend more than you earn. You will never know hard times if you keep your hands out of some other man's pocket. Let's bury the credit system good and deep. Mark the prediction, all will be happier.

Mrs. Madam Nicholson and Holben monopolized the time of the evening service at the Presbyterian church last Sunday. Mrs. Holben read a complete report of the session of the Woman's Missionary society of Lake Superior Presbytery recently held at Ishpeming, while Mrs. Nicholson read her paper on Systematic Giving, which so favorably impressed those hearing it at Ishpeming. The paper was well written and many convincing arguments were presented in defence of systematic giving. Rev. Rogers closed the meeting with a few appropriate remarks. He explained that while the Manistique church was sixth in rank as to membership, that it was first in the matter of giving to many of the church boards among the churches of the upper peninsula.

TRIBUTE TO A HERO

DEDICATION OF THE TOMBS OF GEN. GRANT AT NEW YORK.

Our Own Great Men as Well as Representatives from Other Nations in Attendance - President McKinley and General Porter the Orators of the Day.

New York, April 28.-Never but once in the history of the world and never before in the history of the United States has such a tribute been paid to the noble dead as when, with wondrous pageantry by land and sea, the nation dedicated the tomb that now holds the body of the hero, Ulysses S. Grant.

It was an occasion more of triumphal eulogy and national pride than of a funeral rite, for in these 12 years since first the nation mourned for Grant, the keenness of grief was worn off and there lives in the hearts of men here the hero worship which has just found such tumultuous vent. The greatest of our citizens, our soldiers and our sailors stood side by side with men of fame of almost every nation of the earth, and paid, without regard to race or creed, or party prejudice, the last and long delayed honor of the living to the dead, while the greatest throng that ever filled the city of New York added its surging poan to the roar of belching guns and the tramp of marching soldiers.

Before the presidential party left the city to take part in the dedication ceremonies the flag-docked steamer took black with people. For six miles the line of march was an unbroken wall of humanity, who cheered vociferously as the party drove by.

The arrival of the official party of the procession at the tomb was the signal for a most stupendous outburst of patriotic cheering from the 50,000 people on the grandstands and lawns around the monument. The party at once proceeded to the monument stands and took the places assigned to them.

According to careful estimates there were between 80,000 and 90,000 men in line in the big parade. Of this aggregate United States regulars and guards were numbered 4,000, national guard of New York 18,000, and the national guard of other states 18,800. The G. A. R. veterans in line were computed at 10,000.

The warships which lay at anchor in the river in sight of the tomb claimed the attention of the crowd before the arrival of the dignitaries and the commencement of the service of dedication. The big ships made a magnificent showing in their gala attire, with main guns bunting from bow to stern.

The naval grand division was under the command of Rear Admiral Buxton. The boat set for them to start up the North river was 2 o'clock, but as early as soon they began to assemble at the rendezvous. The parade was started in splendid order and maintained excellent order throughout; the flotilla tugging the stobates, at anchor half a mile above the head of the wharves, in a double file, and then started on their mile until all fell in, in quadruple column, behind the monitors, and awaited the coming of the president of the Dolphin.

GRANDSON, Nov. 28.-A bloody riot occurred at Crawford, 30 miles from here, in which Arthur Morrison, city marshal of Crawford, was killed to the point of death and dozens others seriously injured.

STATE NEWS NOTES.

MICHIGAN ITEMS WHICH WILL BE OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Short Review of the Work of the State Board at Lansing-Other News of Interest from All Over the Great State Reported by Telegraph.

Lansing, Mich., April 23.-The house has agreed to the bill providing a reserve fund for the sale of cigarettes to persons under 21 years of age, or tobacco in any form to persons less than 21 years of age. This permitting the practice of osteopathy in Michigan and extending the charters of life insurance companies whose corporate existence about to expire were passed, while permitting Kent county to bond itself to encourage the manufacture of beet sugar was killed. A bill to prohibit the sale of liquor in the state was passed by the house.

Lansing, Mich., 24.-A bill was passed prohibiting schoolkeepers from receiving bonds from guaranty companies, and also immediately effect; also, a bill amending the garnishment law, by making exempted of 10 per cent, and 10 per cent additional for each member of the family above two. The senate passed the bill on the 24th inst. and the house carried it on the 25th inst. A senate caucus has decided that there shall be no increase in the present uniform license tax of $500. A bill was favorably reported providing that fire insurance companies may be required to pay local taxes of 2 per cent of their gross receipts for the support of the fire department.

Lansing, Mich., April 25.-The house liquor traffic committee has reported a bill providing a stamp tax of 64 cents upon barrels of beer, 25 cents upon barrels of wine, 10 cents upon quarts, and 10 cents upon pints of ale or porter manufactured or sold in the state. It is estimated that the bill will yield an additional revenue in excess of $400,000.

Lansing, Mich., April 24.-The present legislative session has been in progress nearly four months and until Saturday there was no hint of corruption. A session of the general body of the house will be sprung in the house this afternoon when a resolution will be introduced stating that a member of the house has made an affidavit to the effect that he was accosted by a prominent man who has been lobbying in the interest of a bill that is now before the public health committee, and would possibly putting on back the lobbyist if offered the member $25 if he would promise to support and vote for the bill.

Dodge May Succeeded Angell. Ann Arbor, Mich., April 24.-The general opinion at the university seems to be that Dean D'Ooge of the library department will be appointed acting president of the university during President Angell's absence as minister to Turkey. Professor J. E. Hutchins, dean of the law department, who, with Professor D'Ooge had been most prominently mentioned for the place, has refused to allow the consideration of his name for the position. President Angell will give leave of absence and an acting president chosen at the monthly meeting of the board of regents.

Michigan Gold Bonds. Lansing, Mich., April 24.-Returns received by the board of state canvassers indicate the sound money Democrats cast more than 20,000 votes at the April election. This is three times the vote cast for Palmer and Ducker in November. The plan for the new state chief justice will approximate $1,000. The complete canvass shows that the constitutional amendments increasing the attorney general's salary and providing a board of auditors for Kent county were both defeated the former by 10,835 and the latter by 5,592.

First Wife Contesting a Will. Detroit, April 24.-The will of Edward Henkel, a prominent and wealthy young wholesale grocery merchant, is being contested in the courts. Henkel was killed by being crushed between his steam yacht and a dock at Fort St. Vrain. His will bequeathed all his property to his second wife, Mrs. Anna Henkel, an employee of the Henkel & Sons establishment. The contestant is Henkel's first wife, from whom he was divorced on account of incompatibility, and by whom he had three children.

Killed by the Village Marshal. Ironwood, Mich., April 27.-One Tom Finlander, was shot and instantly killed by Village Marshal Gust Miller at Wadsworth, while resisting arrest for having stabbed a companion in a saloon row. A mob of Finlanders attacked Miller, but he was rescued by a posse led by Sheriff Kalereder and lodged in jail for safe keeping at Bessemer. It is generally considered that the marshal was justified in the shooting. The Finlanders are very angry and trouble is feared.

Devil is Even in the Women. Lansing, Mich., April 24.-At Williamston, Mich., fourteen miles east of this city, Mrs. Albert Hovey, aged 35 years, murdered her husband in-law with an axe, some time between 1 o'clock and noon yesterday. She severed the head of the body with a large butcher knife, and then poured oil on the lifeless body and set it on fire. The murdered woman was a widow and lived with her son's family in the southwest part of the village.

Soldier of a Murderer. Detroit, April 27.-The body of an unknown German who shot himself dead in Windsor Sunday was Monday fully identified as that of John A. Dittman, who was killed his mistress, Nellie Bergin, in Detroit and escaped before his crime was discovered. Dittman had been working in Windsor as a gardener.

Started Up Another Shaft. Ironwood, Mich., April 27.-The Metropolitan Iron and Land company has started up another shaft at the same mine, putting about eighty additional men to work. This is taken as evidence that the company has made sale of the mine, though nothing definite can be learned from the local officials.

Hillside Mexican War Veterans. Pans, Ill., April 27.-The committee of the Illinois Mexican War Veterans' association voted unanimously to hold their next annual convention camp fire in Pans, June 15 and 16. All arrangements will be completed next Friday, April 30.

A TAME LEOPARD.

Which Walked With Its Master About Streets of Berlin.

Of all the cat tribe, leopards are the easiest to tame and teach, if they are captured while young. When they are old, their savage habits have become fixed, and it is almost impossible then to tame them.

Thirty years ago a curious and well known sight on the streets of Berlin was Von der Madliern with his tame leopard. During the war, when a young man, was for several years German consul in Egypt. While there an Arab friend presented him with a young leopard. It was only a few days old, its eyes not open yet. The young baron determined to make a pet of the leopard and train and took it like a dog. The leopard was never confined in a cage, but was always allowed full liberty and was well fed and petted. He slept on a comfortable rug in his master's room, and if the night was cold crept upon his master's bed and shared it with him. Through the day, indoors and out, he followed Von der Madliern about like a faithful dog and displayed a dog's affection for his master.

He grew by and by into a handsome creature, one of the largest of his species and finely marked. When he was in Van der Madliern's possession about two years, the baron was recalled to Berlin and took the animal back with him. In Berlin the leopard displayed the same place in his master's house that he had done before and followed the baron about the streets in the same way.

At last the sight of the creature stalking solemnly along beside the man created quite a sensation in the city, and people crowded to see the pair. But it grew to be an everyday matter, which only attracted occasional notice from strangers or children. The animal lived to be about 15 years old and died much lamented by all who knew it. His story seems to prove that the wildness of such animals is only slightly inherited, and that their behavior may usually be brought out by proper treatment. -Our Animal Friends.

THE BARBARITY OF THE TURKS

was proven for the thousandth time a few days ago when they fired upon a military hospital floating the red cross flag.

SIX YEAR OLD DAUGHTER. - One little six-year old daughter had a very sore throat, badly ulcerated, and coughed almost incessantly. Given the Little Wine of Tar-Syrup according to directions and she began to improve immediately and soon got well. Mrs. Groves and I have recommended it to others, and we consider it the very best medicine in use. - Rev. D. H. Gray, Pastor M. E. Church, Parkville, Mo.

Notice of Annual Meeting. - The stockholders of the Tribune Publishing Co., are hereby notified that the annual meeting of the company will be held on Monday, May 3, 1897, at the publication office. The meeting will begin at 7:30 P. M. W. B. THOMAS, Secy.

DANGER OF THE GRIP. - The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for a grippe, we have yet to hear of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dread disease. It will effect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by A. S. Putnam & Co.

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of board of Supervisors of the county of Schoolcraft will be held in the clerk's office in the court house, in the village of Manistique on Monday, May 3rd, at 10 a. m. for the purpose of organization and to transact such other business as may come before it. Ed. Ashford, Clerk.

ARBITRATION AND WAR.

brief but not undervaluing discourse by the Old Soldier.

"You know I can't get over the fact," said the old soldier, "that there's a heap more heroes in the world than there was, all due to the civil war. And you can't tell where you're going to meet 'em. The man you buy a loaf of bread from in the morning, you may have marched over narrow corduroy roads, through lofty forests with a gun over his shoulder and a knapsack on his back. "You see, you can't tell. The man in the pulpit may have been it, and so may the man that sweeps the streets. You can't tell about it. The folks don't stand round and holler about it, but they're heroes just the same—the salt of the earth in this continent—and the world is better for 'em, and so are they. They are self-reliant and self-respecting citizens, who help to keep the country sweet. And their children are proud of 'em. How proud! And they grow up all the stronger and better citizens of this inheritance. "Bill, I believe in arbitration—on principle—and I feel bound to say that I believe in it in practice too. War is a frightful waste of human life and of material. I can't now and I never could, see the sense of doing things and I think the most tremendously foolish thing going is taking people out of homes and home to keep good armies standing that are finally disbanded. "And still I can't keep thinking that a war like ours, about a real principle, is not without its compensations. It cuts off the atmosphere of the world, it uses backbone around among survivors and tends to the perpetuation and enlargement of freedom and the benefit of the human race." -New York Sun.

Tariff or Currency.

Quick action is good action in the matter of tariff. The subject has been discussed and re-discussed. There is not in the Senate, nor probably in the world, a man who can add might to the fund of general knowledge upon the principles that make the radical difference between protectionists and free-traders. A century of controversy has defined the limits of the great issue. Details are debatable, it is true. Several columns of the Congressional Record may be filled with words descriptive of the opinions of Senators This or Representative That upon the expediency of a 10 or an 11 cent duty on wool, or of the sentiments of some more or less distinguished person concerning the differential duties on sugar. But, Senators will believe us, the great public now is like the spiritual gentleman of whom it was said, "He careth for none of these things." The public has had its say, and has said it. It has said that it wants a return to protection, and wants it very quickly. The House has responded to the demand; the Senate will do wisely and well if it do as the House has done. Details can be changed at leisure; principles should be asserted at once: instantly, and without a moment of delay.

One of two things is certain. Either the present and recent stagnation of trade, from which millions of people suffer, and suffer cruelly, is due to the currency of the tariff issue. The majority of the people have decided that the cause of the evil is with the tariff. Reform the tariff at once; reform it as the people wish, to the protective line. If the result be well, all will be well. If it is not well, we shall have the currency question as the sole issue—later Ocean.

America's share in the Cuban Shame.

During the forty years that have since elapsed all the interested powers have recognized expressly or implicitly the position that was then publicly assumed by our government. So, however unpleasant it may be, we must admit that when the consular representatives of France and of England in Cuba say, as I have heard many of them say, in commenting upon the unparalleled horrors of the situation, that the government and people of our country are directly responsible for all the bloody crimes that are committed in the name of warfare, they are right. I believe that our share of responsibility for all this blood-guiltiness is a heavy one. We have announced our peculiar rights as to Cuba; we have said to other nations that they must keep their hands off; we block the way and stop all interference, and assist Spain in the work of our feet and the exertions of our federal officers.—From "The Real Condition of Cuba To-day," by SYRREN BONSAI, in May Review of Reviews.

Memorial Day.

General orders No. 3, was issued from the headquarters of the Michigan Department of the C. A. R. Tuesday, by command of Department Commander Aaron T. Bliss. It reads as follows:

"Again the living approach the day most sacred to the Union Army veteran. Let it be the purpose of each survivor of that army to make Memorial Day of 1897, in its observance, most impressive.

"Call to your active co-operation on the occasion, that noble, self-sacrificing body of women, the Women's Relief corps. They are our right arm, and they always respond to our call. The Sons of Veterans, too, our own flesh and blood, will be ready to join in the duties of the day.

"To all citizens give most sincerely cordial invitation to participate in the memorial exercises, and to observe the day by laying aside all business cares.

"Especially invite the school children to be with you, that the lessons of the hour may impress their young hearts with the sacredness of the objects that call for the observance of the day. They are in the near future, perhaps to be the ones who shall scatter sweet blossom of springtime over our resting spots.

"Comrades, let us well keep in mind the sacred nature of Memorial Day, and use all proper measures to prevent its being made a season of frolic and sports.

"Let no spot where rests the remains of one of our nation's heroes, our soldier dead, be forgotten on this day, if within our power to prevent.

"The 30th day of May, 1897, falling on Sunday, it is provided by statutes law of our state that the following day be observed in business matters as a legal holiday. In view of this fact Monday, May 31, 1897, has been named Memorial Day in this department, and it is hoped that the observance of that day may occur in all localities where previously made arrangements do not prevent.

"A beautiful custom of our order is the attending of divine services at some church by posts in a body on the Sunday preceding Memorial Day, May 30. Let this custom be generally observed. Where no post is established see that the clergy are specially invited to hold memorial exercises either in union or separate service.

"The reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address on Memorial Day as a part of the Memorial Day exercises was recommended by the thirtieth national encampment. The posts of this department will see that this recommendation is observed. The address will be found on third page of General Orders No. 6, National Headquarters, which is sent out with these orders to each post."

The J. B. Newland, Chas. Reitz and John Marx, arrived at South Manistique yesterday.

The poetic muse who so eloquently described the freedom allowed bovines in Manistique, in Harper's Weekly some months ago, should find new inspiration in the fact that hereafter bicyclists will be compelled to keep off the sidewalks while the "birds" of freedom will continue to use the walks for promenading and for barnyard purposes.

The Oeswinamake Hotel is doing a big business at present. It taxes Mr. Polys's ingenuity to care for all of his guests.

Smoking in Germany.

Smoking in Germany is not a pastime; it is an art and an art that has grouped about it a respectable number of industries. Every smoker carries a cigar case, a cigar clipper, a matchbox and usually a little leather box for the cigar tips. The tips are collected by a society organized for the purpose in each province, and are sold to the manufacturer for the benefit of charitable institutions.

A BEAR STORY.

The Most Wonderful Escape of a Hunter Who Was Up a Tree.

They were spinning yarns of the chase, and this was the contribution of the congressman: "After a pretty hard campaign I went, with a hunting party, to the upper peninsula. I'm not a Leather Stocking or a Daniel Boone with a rifle, but I'm far from being to go into and close the doors in order to hit a bear. I'd brought down a deer and bagged my amount of small game, but wanted a bear. One morning I had tramped an unusual distance from camp and suddenly came upon three half-grown cubs ruffling and tumbling over each other in play. I shot one, and the other two beat a hasty retreat. So, my gun against a tree, I peached my cub while he was still looking for the mother coming at me, but she was open and her eyes glaring. There was no chance to reach the rifle. I'm no sprinter and took the only alternative by slipping up a tall pine tree. She stopped a minute to examine the victim of my shot and was none the wiser than the great as she came climbing after me. Once in the tufted top of that pine, I did some faster thinking, gentlemen, than I ever did on any previous state. The bear was coming and lunging no time. I was without a weapon of any kind. It looked as though I had had the drop.

"But a man in my predicament overlooks no chances. In my vest pocket I had a well filled match safe. In my hip pocket was a pint of brandy, minus one moderate nip. In my hunting jacket was a bunch of tow. I saturated that with brandy, and, as the bear approached, I reached her with the remainder. Dividing the tow so as to have two aloes, I lit the first half and dropped it on the bear. I didn't need the other half. There was a flash of light, though a pan of powder had been ignited. The air was filled with the odor of burning hair. The bear let go and fell down because it was quicker. She also let a streaky target toward the horizon and made more noise than any ordinary thunderstorm."—Detroit Free Press.

KNOW HUMAN NATURE.

How Two Black Bascals Turned Their Knowledge to Good Account.

Near one of the gates at the Union station as the long train from Chicago rolled in stood an old colored man. He was bent under time's burden, and it was easy to imagine that he was one of those relics of the past, one of those picturesque characters of old plantation life, that now live only in the memory.

The great engine was puffing after its long run and amid the bustle and confusion of the station the old man seemed bewildered. Then as the passengers came through the gate they saw a little act of kindness that touched a tender chord of sympathy in more than one heart.

Another colored man, who looked as if he might be a porter, stopped up and slipped a quarter in the old man's hand. He quickly made his way off again, looking half ashamed at his action.

The old man stood looking at the quarter, with a smile on his wrinkled old face, and the next man placed an other silver piece in his hand. The other passengers followed suit, and the old hat had to come off to hold the shower of coin.

Just then the policeman on duty at the station saw the old fellow and started toward him, but with more agility than one would have given him credit for the old man ran in among the crowd and was lost.

Five minutes later two men were sitting in a saloon in Seventeenth street. They were counting over a pile of small coin.

"Fifty seventy-five, he, he! Golly, grand, didn't I tell yer 'it'd fetch em'! Peas lak all yer kind for du wuz ter kinder neck der white folks' shames lak, and dey jes' scarned out dem selves ter gov a pore old man money. Ho ho! No moah work for us, not if dey come lak us!"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Phosphorescent Diamonds.

The French investigator M. Mascart arranged a dark room, in which a collection of 169 diamonds was placed. On one side was an attenuating current lamp. The lens was covered with violet-tinted glass, so that only ultra-violet rays were thrown on the diamonds, among which were several old Indian, Brazilian and Capo stones, and some from the South Africa diggings. Of the entire collection only three diamonds were phosphorescent. A Brazilian stone of 1 1/2 carats and another of 3 carats, tinted this property in a moderate degree. They were perfectly white, with a bluish tint. The phosphorescence lasted for 15 minutes after exposure, gradually lessening in intensity. Pure white light was used, resulting in a less beautiful experiment, although phosphorescence was apparent. This test demonstrated that some diamonds, but not all, possess the power of absorbing light and emitting it in the dark.

RAISING GOLDFISH.

THE TWO LARGEST FARMS IN THE WORLD ARE IN INDIANA.

Correcting Some Popular Errors About These Finny Beauties—The Bigger The Great Difficulty In Fighting Off The Pest World—Goldfish With Many Tales.

Goldfish are so extremely common nowadays that few people ever stop to wonder where they come from or how they are raised. Comparatively little is generally known about the little old blushed vortices that swim about in the aquariums in so many homes. The pots require a careful and systematic raising that is scarcely appreciated by those who expect to get them for small prices of dealers in the city.

The largest goldfish farm in the world, if it may be called such, is located in Shelby county, Ind., but about 20 miles from Indianapolis. Here the original goldfish men of the country have their propagating institution.

There are two families, several miles apart, which are devoted to the different branches of the industry. In the north part of the county is one farm of about 100 acres. The other is a few miles farther south and is about half again as large as the first one.

Today there are in the various ponds of Spring Lake over 200,000 fish, from which specimens are constantly being sent to every state and territory of the Union. It is even said that some of the best fish in the royal aquariums of Europe were raised by Mr. Shoop and his partner at this farm.

On each of the farms special care is given to the raising of a few fine specimens, from which specimens are constantly being sent to every state and territory of the Union. It is even said that some of the best fish in the royal aquariums of Europe were raised by Mr. Shoop and his partner at this farm.

On each of the farms special care is given to the raising of a few fine specimens, from which specimens are constantly being sent to every state and territory of the Union. It is even said that some of the best fish in the royal aquariums of Europe were raised by Mr. Shoop and his partner at this farm.

The breeding ponds, which are, of course, the most important, are protected from the wind and cold by earthen banks around the edges. This is all the protection that is necessary for the fish, even in the winter time, so it is seen that, although the fish are undoubtedly delicate, they are much more hardy than is generally supposed.

Several times a year the fish are sorted in the different ponds and classified so that the largest and finest ones will be together, and those which will not bring much good prices will be by themselves. Many people suppose when the goldfish is first hatched from the egg it has the peculiar pretty markings on its scales which make it so beautiful and valuable.

This is not the case. In its youth in reality the fish is just the same as any ordinary every day fish, and looks like it for all that. Even an expert could scarcely tell it from the little minnows which are found in any stream. They are of a whitish, silvery color, and have not the least evidence of the beautiful hues which they will later assume.

Sometimes, however, the goldfish grows is really distinguished in finding that his fish tail to acquire the golden that for which he has so long been looking in vain. He has been many instances that and again in which the fish never did change to the rough color, but grew to be several years old, retaining their white, silvery, youthful complexion. Ordinarily, however, the fish develop the golden shade in less than a year.

First, they begin getting dark, some times becoming almost black. Over the dark complexion they begin turning to the reddish shade, and finally come out in all their glory, full fledged goldfish.

The food has not many people suppose, the least thing to do with coloring the fish. All the fish are fed exactly the same thing, tinned beef or three times a week, and nothing else is given them for their subsistence. The man seems to be the necessary agent and the only one to complete the scheme of nature, and even this sometimes does not work successfully.

The greatest difficulty with which the goldfish raiser has to contend is the pest world. Snakes, cats, crabs, frogs and insects innumerable are all full destroyers of the goldfish, and the grower is by no means a second in the destruction which he can work when he gets to the neighborhood of the finny tribe. Some one must be kept constantly on watch at the moment of the year when these insects and little animals abound to see that they do not get into the water of the pond where the fish are.

The sting of some insects will kill a fish in almost every instance. Snake feeders and some other well known insects fly close to the surface of the water in the summer time and with the greatest care to touch any little fish swimming near the surface of the pond. An egg is laid on the fish or a stinger inserted, and either will inevitably prove fatal.

The freaks and unusual developments in the fish are the varieties which will always bring the best prices in the market. Old and rare colors and spots upon the scales are the marks which are preferred by fanciers. Unusual shapes in the fishes are generally popular with collectors in color, and will cause a fish to bring as good a price as if it had crabs or purple scales.

In physical developments the great varieties are in respect to the tail. One never finds two headed fish, but those with more than one tail are plentiful. Two, three, four and five tails are quite often found on the fish and sometimes even six, but the latter is very rare. Of course a fish with six tails would bring a handsome price any day.

Goldfish are often killed by over-attention, but sometimes by lack of attention. The two things which above all should be avoided are overfeeding them and failure to keep fresh water in the aquarium. An even, moderate temperature should be maintained, and they should be kept in the dark at night.—Chicago Tribune.

Shall We Assist in Its Celebration.

In a few weeks Decoration day with many hallowed memories in its train will be upon us, and plans for its celebration are in order.

The members of the G. A. R. Post will as their custom, march to the cemetery upon that day and strew garlands of flowers upon the graves of their departed comrades. It is highly fitting that we as citizens should cooperate with them in the celebration of the dead, and the local veterans will be only too glad to have such cooperation. A public meeting should be called at once. The various societies of the city should make preparations to participate in the procession. The schools should also march. A brief program should be arranged consisting of short speeches by our local authors, and patriotic songs.

In a very few years the veterans will be but a reminiscence, and it is fitting that young America should be educated to the importance of revering the memory of the men who fought, bled and died for the perpetuation of our national liberty bought at so dear a price by our forefathers.

Messrs. Gayne, Hill and Crittenden were appointed as a committee on arrangements for the local Post, and these gentlemen would be pleased to have the cooperation of their fellow citizens in formulating an appropriate program.

The Removal of a Good Citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Blumrosen departed for their new home—the Soo, Wednesday. Manistique loses one of its most prominent business men by Mr. Blumrosen's removal. He came here about fifteen years ago for the purpose of engaging in the mercantile business. His principal stock in trade was pluck and energy. From a humble beginning he was not long in taking front rank among Manistique's business men. His business prospered from the very beginning and although he suffered great loss by fire upon two different occasions, yet he has during his stay here made a fortune. He was a public spirited citizen, and backed his faith in Manistique's future by erecting the largest brick business block in the city.

For the past two or three years Mr. Blumrosen feeling a desire to locate in a larger city, canvassed the merits of various neighboring cities from a business standpoint. The Soo was chosen and his removal Wednesday is the sequel.

No business man in this city had a wider circle of acquaintances than he, and "Moss," as he is called by every one, certainly has many reasons for being proud of the section in which he is held by our citizens generally.

In Mr. Blumrosen the Soo acquires a highly honorable, public-spirited business man.

His many friends wish him a continuation of the success that distinguished his residence here.

The house of Geo. W. Miller, in the Wilhour district burned to the ground Wednesday afternoon. No one was about the house at the time and it is conjectured that the kitchen stove is responsible for the conflagration. The contents were also destroyed. The loss falls quite heavily upon Mr. Miller who is a poor man. Several of his neighbors were in the city yesterday soliciting funds for the unfortunate man.

Want a Stone Crusher.

The farmers of Manistique met with the township board at the Brass school building last Saturday for the purpose of taking action on the question of purchasing a stone crusher. Carl Knuth was called to the chair and R. C. McKesson made secretary. Motion prevailed that the chair appoint two tellers. Chas. Witter and Nels Kingstad were appointed.

Motion prevailed that it was the sense of the meeting that a stone crusher should be purchased. Twenty three votes were cast. viz: Ayes 10. Nays 7.

The following petition was presented to the township board at the meeting held Monday afternoon:

"We, the tax payers and farmers of the township of Manistique, do respectfully request the township of Manistique to authorize the commissioner of highways to purchase a stone crusher for the township of Manistique out of the general highway fund to be spread upon the tax roll for the present year."

The resolution was signed by eighteen farmers and tax payers.

The township board tabled the resolution.

A stone crusher is a very necessary convenience yet we doubt the advisability of purchasing one this year. The township has been greatly in debt for several years but if the board does as well this year as it did during the past year the indebtedness will be canceled.

Proper business sense would dictate the advisability of getting out of debt instead of spending $600 or $800 for something that can be dispensed with for the present.

The township should first cancel its indebtedness. Perhaps the idea of purchasing a stone crusher may become practicable.

Drowned in McDonald lake.

Fred McCallum, lost his life last Wednesday while crossing McDonald Lake, near Whiteland. He was employed on a cedar contract for the Pennington Lumber Co. and had crossed the lake in the morning, from his home near the mill to the vicinity of Mr. Ross' headquarters camp for a load of supplies. Several hours after he started on the return trip his hat and some of the supplies were found floating along the shore near his home. A Mr. Walker espied an empty boat in mid lake and going out to it found it anchored. It is conjectured that the boat was capsized by the heavy sea.

McCallum was about 44 years old and leaves a wife and one son to mourn his loss.

The body has not yet been recovered.

A Good Company.

Of the Jas. H. Browne Co., which is announced to appear at the opera house Monday night, in the "Pay Train," the Daily Mining Journal has this to say of their excellence:

"Realistic melodrama, as represented by the 'Pay Train' held the boards at the opera house, last evening. It was a very creditable production, being in much better hands than the company Mr. Brown brought here last season. When the pay train rolled across the stage and Foxy pulled the pin and let the engine go without the car thus foling the robber who sought to escape in it, there was loud applause, and when the villain who was riding in the skip up out of the Berkeley mine, was caught in an explosion and killed; the din of the catastrophe was drowned by the applause."

The engagement is for two nights, it has been decided to make the price of admission, 10, 20 and 30 cents. An entire change of play and specialties will be given Tuesday evening.
