Show your appreciation of a good thing by purchasing tickets for the concert to be given by the Torbett Concert Co. at the opera house Saturday evening of next week.

Julius Simon, a prominent young business man of Middletown, Ohio, was in the city this week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose. Mr. Simon is a brother of Mrs. Rose.

Geo. E. Holstein was elected as delegate to the annual session of the National Protective Legion, to be held in the state of New York this month, by Manistique Legion No. 168.

We are informed that a party, consisting of five Thompasons will leave for the Klondyke early next spring. Watt Richardson appears to be the leader, and was in town this week figuring on aluminum camp outfits.

Capt. Bandy has decided to remain over Sunday. He will hold services, weather permitting, at M. H. Quick's lot, corner of Oak and Cedar streets, next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The local ministers will assist the captain in the services.

The Pioneer-Tribune has been designated by Auditor General Dix as the newspaper in which to have published the order and petition including the list of lands to be surveyed for sale for taxes in the county of Schoolcraft at the ensuing general tax sale in May 1898.

It has been proven to the satisfaction of Gen. Passenger Agent Callaway, of the Soo railroad company, that "Mr. Rockwood" was not a member of the Presbyterian family, and has therefore resigned his office relative to the granting of reduced rates to the session of Lake Superior Presbytery to be held at Marquette next week.

A very enjoyable dancing party was given at the Gorman Costello hall Wednesday evening. Those present were: Misses Edna Tucker, Gertrude Orr, Myrtle Nicholson, Edith Brown, Fern Nicholson, Mrs. D. G. Carrico, Messrs. and Mesdames C. W. Dunton, and Will B. Thomas, and Messrs. Carl Ekstrom, M. W. Orr, Dr. Malgren, Pen Tucker, Ted McLeelan, Fred Bennett, H. P. Howell, J. W. Knowles, Will LeDuc, Will Putnam and W. L. Loranger.

The Telephone Co. is contemplating an innovation in the matter of telephone for household use. By the "kitchen telephone" one will be enabled to "call up" any one connected with the exchange. But on the other hand no one will be enabled to call up the owner of the kitchen phone. We understand that a rental of 50 cents a month will be charged for the use of the new phone. It will be an invaluable scheme for the lady of the house in ordering supplies etc. It will be a time saver, and every family should have one at the very low prices charged therefor.

High Hayden kill, and Geo. Mero is filling his place on the police force.

Communion services will be held at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning.

We are informed that the Methodists are unanimous for the return of Rev. J. M. Shank for another year, and that his re-appointment is practically certain.

Communion services will be held at the M. E. church next Sunday afternoon. There will be no evening services as Rev. Shank will preach at Thompson.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. John Fernes, a son, Tuesday of this week. John's many friends have been enjoying the luxury of Hartmans all the week in consequence.

Mrs. A. C. Hubbard of South Manistique, will entertain the ladies Whist club next Tuesday afternoon. The tag Kate will convey the ladies to So. Manistique and return.

Asa Parker returned to the city Wednesday evening after a three week's visit with old fire friends and schoolmates at Gaylord and the Soo. Asa enjoyed his visit hugely.

It is said that a Manistique citizen cleared $45,000 in wheat recently. He invested in 150,000 bushels of the kind raised "on change" in Chicago at 70 cents and sold at $1.50.

Mesdames C. P. Hill and John Mosher were the prime movers of a very successful picnic held at Indian Lake yesterday. Twenty-nine ladies and gentlemen participated. All attending report a very enjoyable time.

E. F. Lundin a student of the Rock Island, Ill., Scandinavian college, and who had charge of the Swedish Lutheran congregation during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Broden, left for the west this week. During his stay here he made many friends.

The promoters of the proposed bicycle races for next Monday afternoon met with so much apathy from those that should be interested in such matters that they have decided to drop the project. No one attended the meeting Tuesday evening called by Sheriff Ekstrom.

Miss Ollie Torbett plays with exceptional skill. She has perfect command of the bow and fairly won the audience by return. Shows repeatedly encored, and rendered a number of solos during the evening to the delight of her hearers.—San Francisco Examiner.

Will be at the Star opera house Saturday evening, Sept. 11th.

As will be noticed elsewhere, Norman McDonald, the hustling business man of Cooks, is advertising his store building for sale or rent. Mr. McDonald contemplates engaging in the grocery business at Manistique. He made a snug fortune while in business at Cooks, and what he has for sale should not wait long for a purchaser. By his removal Schoolcraft county loses a first class citizen.

The Torbett Concert Co., including the famous Lattmann Quintette will give one of its famed concerts at the Star opera house Saturday evening, Sept. 11th. Managers Gillman & McLean were compelled to guarantee a large sum for its appearance here, and every one should make a special effort to encourage them in their experiment of bringing attractions of a high order of merit to this city. The company is larger than ever and its prices are among the very lowest. Tickets will be on sale at E. N. Orr & Co. drug store next Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Secure your seats early as every one will be there. Prices, 50, 75 and $1.

M. P. Winkelman returned from Chicago and Detroit yesterday, where he purchased a large stock of goods for the Boston store. While in Detroit he attended the wedding of his brother, L. Winkelman of St. Ignace.

Attorney General Maynard has decided that township boards need not fully paid licenses from hawkers and peddlers. They cannot issue licenses pro rata for a day, week or month. The law thus interpreted was passed by the last legislature.

Dr. and Mrs. Rainie returned from their protracted eastern trip Wednesday evening. During their absence they visited points in Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. They did much of their traveling abroad. They are looking exceedingly well. Their many friends are pleased to see them. They will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy at Indian Lake for two weeks. The doctor is not decided as to his future movements.

A large audience assembled at the Newmarket last evening to hear the famous Lattmann Quintette, whose beautiful singing amply bore out all the commendation which has been received in other places in Europe and America. Given voices of unusual sweetness and power, such as seen the product of the land of Jennie Lind, cultivation and association has blended them so that they seem to respond to a thought.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Will be at the Star opera house Saturday evening, Sept. 11th.

Frank Nuzzi, an Italian laborer on the Orr, Tucker & Doan contract with the Manistique & Northwestern railroad company, was arrested several days ago, charged with stealing a sample case belonging to G. A. Lord, a traveling salesman. Nuzzi and nine of his countrymen came to this city from the Soo August 5th. When their baggage was transferred the sample case was also taken. The mistake was noticed at once by the members of the party and Nuzzi was instructed to return the case to the depot. This he failed to do, hence the arrest. The preliminary hearing will be held next Monday, at which time Lord will be present. The grip and contents are valued at $35.

Capt. Bandy of Glad Tidings fame, arrived in the city Monday evening on his schooner. The captain has been fishing on the coast along the shores of Lake Superior, of fish, and distributed many Bibles to fishermen and others. He will remain here until he gets a fair wind, and is not sorry that the elements are against him for he is very much in need of rest. While at Detroit he met his old friend, Rev. McCord, who is well known here. The captain is 70 years of age and if his appearance is not deceptive, he bids fair to live thirty years longer if Neptune does not swallow him and his little craft during a cruise along the shores of the treacherous lakes. The captain experienced very rough weather on his trip from Detroit to this city. He left Detroit Friday night in tow of a barge. At the straits he let go the line owing to stress of weather.

A Bad Fall.

A. A. House, the painter, met with an unfortunate accident yesterday afternoon while at work on the Hiawatha hotel. He fell from a sixteen foot ladder placed on the front porch of the hotel, and struck on his face and right hand. The force of the fall broke his wrist above the joint, and his face was badly cut. He also received internal injuries. Mr. House has no remembrance of the affair and it will probably never be known just how the affair happened. He fell nearly fifty feet. He was taken to Dr. Paterson's hospital where the fracture was reduced and his other injuries dressed. Mr. House does not remember his visit to the hospital and when he recovered his senses, was at work again wielding the brush with his left hand. The lot sun and the fumes of the paint evidently were the prime causes of his fall. The accident is extremely unfortunate as the present time is the painter's harvest.

Klagstad-Ness.

Mr. August Klagstad of Marinette, and Miss Ottilia Ness, of this city, were married at the Norwegian Lutheran church last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A general invitation was extended to the public and it is needless to add that the church was filled to overflowing with the friends of the contracting parties.

The ceremony was performed under a massive cedar bell suspended from a rope of the same material, by the pastor, Rev. Fness. The maid of honor was Miss Jennie Larsen, and the best man was Mr. Magnus Klagstad. The attendants were Mr. Sophus Rood and Miss Antonio Drodahl, and the flower bearers were Misses Agnes and Helga Klagstad.

The wedding procession marched to the place where the ceremony was performed to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. Mrs. Rev. Fness presiding at the organ. The bridal bouquet was composed of sweet peas and carnations, and sweet peas entered very largely in the elaborate and beautiful decorations. The bride was the picture of loveliness, attired in white Albatross. The groom wore the conventional evening dress.

Mr. Noh Olson was chief usher and performed his duties in his usual efficient manner.

After the ceremony the wedding party and the relatives and personal friends of the newly wedded pair, to the number of 80, repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christian M. Brevahl where a reception was held. When the party arrived at the Drodahl home, as is the custom of the Norwegian people on such occasions, the pastor, Rev. Fness greeted the party at the door with a short address or toast. Super was served between the hours of six and seven o'clock. Later in the evening light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Klagstad left for Chicago early in the week. After a short sojourn there they will reside at Marinette where Mr. Klagstad is in business.

The best wishes of their numerous friends attend them.

The annual meeting of the school board, to be held Monday next is the chief topic of interest at the present time. The three retiring members are candidates for re-election. They are Messrs. Quick, Ramsey and Sattler. We have heard several other names mentioned in connection with the meeting: They are Messrs. Kolsa, Baxter, Norton and Thomas. What the outcome will be mere conjecture. Petty bickerings and personal dislike should not bias the actions of voters in such an important matter as the selection of a school board. The board disburse more than $10,000 yearly and it is highly necessary that conservatism, intelligence and frugality should enter largely into the personnel of the board. It is an utter impossibility for any man, or woman either, to please all people in the capacity of member of the board of education, and that the present members are not an exception to the rule is needless to add. The schools during the past two or three years have made wonderful progress. The standard is higher than ever before, and the conduct of the finances of the board has been frugal. The tax payers and those qualified to vote, should attend the meeting and special efforts should be made to bring all persons from participating in the election that are not eligible to cast a vote.

ONLY HALF A MILLION

TREASURE SHIP PORTLAND NOT HEAVILY LADEN WITH GOLD.

All Claims on the Klondike Already Taken and No New Finds Reported—Are the Richest Gold Fields in the World, but Danger of Famine Kinds.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 30.—The steamer Portland arrived here at 3 p. m. The vessel carried 133 miners, each of whom brought only a small part of his stake. The total amount of gold on the vessel is perhaps $75,000. The Portland was delayed by the failure of the P. B. Wagon to arrive at St. Michaels and by a storm on the North Pacific coast. Among the miners on board, with the total amount of their mining profits, part of which were brought with them, are the following: J. Ryan, $50,000; Jim Bell, $45,000; Joe Goldsmith, $35,000; H. W. Powers, $35,000; W. V. Caldwell, $35,000; W. Oler, $30,000; C. E. Zilly, $25,000; J. Cobb, $25,000; W. Zeln, $15,000; A. Buckley, $15,000; M. S. Lausing, $15,000; B. W. Furnham, $10,000.

Best Claims All Taken. The common report among returning miners is that there is nothing in the country now worth having that has not been staked off, and that the owners will refuse fabulous prices for their claims. No new discoveries are reported from the upper countries. The hillsides abutting on the richest claims on Bonanza and Eldorado have been staked off and several quartz claims have been filed upon them in the same vicinity. The rock taken out of the claims is rich, but the hillsides claims are not showing up much.

It has been stated that the North American Trading and Transportation company brought $750,000 from their various scores on the Yukon, but this cannot be verified. It is generally understood that the company would not bring on its money until the next trip of the Portland, when she would be conveyed by a revenue cutter.

Frank Norris on Board.

O. Q. Ferriss and F. A. Novak, two of the passengers, are the most interesting men of the party. Ferriss is a detective. In February last he was given a photograph and told to find his criminal. Accompanying the photograph was an accurate description. Novak was the starting point of the trail and he chased his man to Baltimore, thence across the continent to Seattle and thence to Yukon. Here he learned that his quarry was bound for the Klondike with a party of nine by the name of Dyson and Chilcoat pass. Ferriss went to Ottawa, obtained extradition papers and, returning followed Novak, capturing him at Dawson City. The crime for which Novak is wanted is murder and arson committed at Waldorf, Ia. Ferriss spent $10,000 in the pursuit of his man.

GRAVE DANGER OF FAMINE.

Predicted that the Food Supply on the Klondike Will Be Short.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—W. A. Ryan, one of the special correspondents of the Associated Press, on route to the Yukon gold fields, writes from St. Michaels under date of Aug. 15 to the effect that there is grave danger of a famine on the Klondike this winter. According to all reports received from the upper country it will be impossible to land sufficient food at Dawson City to support the population already dependent upon that place for supplies. R. T. Lyng, the California agent of the Alaska Commercial company at St. Michaels, declares that there are over 5,000 idle men at Dawson, and new parties are arriving every day. Minors returning from the Klondike, who left there in July, report that food was running low then and it was expected as fast as discharged from the steamers. Old timers realize the situation and predict deaths as a result of the Klondike famine.

RICHER THAN KLONDIKE.

Fabulous Find of Gold on a Branch of the MacMillan River, Alaska. The total yield of wheat is placed at 575,760,000 metric hundredweight, while the present annual requirements are estimated at 655,150,000 metric hundredweight. It is calculated that for 1897 and 1898 there will be a shortage of 70,000,000 hundredweight. The reports state that many extensive countries, such as European Turkey, Egypt, Australia and Austro-Hungary, will be unable to export grain or be compelled to import, while others, including British India, Argentina and Chile, will have their wheat export considerably reduced.

THE WHEAT SHORTAGE.

World's Supply of Grain Far Less Than Demands Now Needed. BUDAPEST, Aug. 30.—The ministry of agriculture has issued its annual estimate, in which it describes the world's harvest as extraordinarily light. The total yield of wheat is placed at 575,760,000 metric hundredweight, while the present annual requirements are estimated at 655,150,000 metric hundredweight. It is calculated that for 1897 and 1898 there will be a shortage of 70,000,000 hundredweight. The reports state that many extensive countries, such as European Turkey, Egypt, Australia and Austro-Hungary, will be unable to export grain or be compelled to import, while others, including British India, Argentina and Chile, will have their wheat export considerably reduced.

Re-elected the Abbe Eyrard.

BRESE, Sept. 1.—The result of the parliamentary election in the Third district of Bresce is that the Abbe Eyrard, Christian Socialist and Republican, whose previous return was invalidated by the chamber on the ground of clerical influence, has been re-elected to the chamber of deputies by a large majority.

EDISON IS BEATEN.

Chicago Man Solves the Problem of Communicating With Moving Trains. CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The most important problem of railroad operation—how to communicate by telegraph with a moving train anywhere on the line, has been solved by a young Chicago inventor, Edison, who has been experimenting with induction currents, has been fairly beaten on his own chosen ground.

George V. Trout, a former telegraph operator, has devised a system which will shortly be put in operation on the Pennsylvania railroad, by which every train on the line is in constant communication with the station next ahead, and when desired, with the train dispatcher or any public telegraph station. Briefly, every train on a road equipped with lines on a "zig-zag" circuit extending to the next telegraph station ahead, and to send messages farther or receive them from other stations, the operator at the proper station would only have to "cut in" by means of a "jackspring" on the line.

SILVER AND BRYAN.

Pennsylvania Democratic Convention Denies Both. HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—The Democratic state convention to nominate candidates for auditor general and state treasurer met in the academy of music. The platform endorses the Chicago platform and praises Bryan, "the glorious champion of a righteous cause for his masterly leadership in support of these principles."

Record Breaking Grain Movement.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The grain movement into and out of Chicago the past 24 hours is record breaking. Each of 6,055 cars of all sorts were received, including 3,685 cars of corn. Shipments aggregated 2,400,000 bushels, all kinds of wheat, 1,100,000 bushels of wheat, 1,000,000 bushels of corn, and over 1,000,000 bushels of oats. The receipts in bushels were: Wheat, 175,000; corn, 1,140,000; oats, 853,000. The remainder was rye and barley.

Looking Over the Illinois Steel Plant.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The board of naval officers appointed by the secretary of the navy to examine facilities for the construction of a steel plant are investigating the plant of the Illinois Steel company, Chicago.

Wool Prices Advancing.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The wool market here is stronger than wool and prices are still advancing. The demand continues good and manufacturers are disposed to buy freely.

Encouraging Statistics. The Baltimore and Ohio officials are very much pleased with certain statistics that have recently been prepared of the performance of freight trains on the Second Division, which handles all the east and west-bound traffic between Baltimore and Cumberland. Before the new freight engines were purchased, and the improvements made in the train, the average number of cars to the train was 28.12. Now, with more powerful and modern motive power and a better track, the average is 40 cars per train, an increase of 41 per cent. The average east-bound movement per day for the first ten days of August was 1,125 loaded cars. The third division, which is in operation, where there are grades of 125 feet per mile, the engines used to haul 19.12 loads to the train. Now the average is 25.23 loads per train, an increase of 31 per cent. It would certainly appear that the most important improvements on the B. and O. is being amply justified, and that the cost of operation

A Great Leveler.
The American idea of the equality of citizens never had a finer illustration than was given in the demonstration at Buffalo on Wednesday. There is no recognition of rank in the Grand Army of the Republic. The major general, the brigadier general, the colonel, the major, the captain, the lieutenant, and the private are all comrades. In the procession on Wednesday the President of the United States, the Secretary of War, men who had served as major-generals, not only in the volunteer service, but in the regular army, officers of all ranks, and privates by the thousand, poor men and well-to-do men, and millions, all marched without any mark of distinction, elbow to elbow, side by side, as comrades and citizens.

There is no affection about this. Ex-President Hayes, when he marched with the Grand Army of the Republic, was Comrade Hayes. Ex-President Harrison, when he took his place in line in previous years, was Comrade Harrison. General Alger, Secretary of War, when he took his place with his post in the line at Buffalo on Wednesday, was Comrade Alger. If there is anything in the leveling influence of comradeship and citizenship, here is an illustration of it. President McKinley on Wednesday was treated as a guest, but in line he was simply Comrade McKinley. If the Grand Army of the Republic had done nothing else than adopting this leveling principle, this idea of unadorned Americanism, it would deserve to be remembered gratefully by all the struggling people of this country. It has clung to this idea with stubborn insistence upon its practical application, and in so doing has exercised a great influence in forwarding this American idea.

The demonstration at Buffalo was a magnificent one in its picturesque sentiment, and personal feature. It is gratifying that thirty-two years after the close of the war so many survivors of the Union army should be able to make such a march as was made at Buffalo. It is gratifying to know that they cling so tenaciously to their old associations; that they are so proud of their achievement, and so tenderly solicitous as of the principle for which they fought that they come together in spirit of sacrifice and comradeship to this yearly muster of the legions of the Union. It is more gratifying to know that they stand as they stood, supremely devoted to one idea. Differing on a score of question, competing with each other in business, it may be, antagonizing each other in other policies, possibly, they are on the one side of nationality as a unit. At the camp fire and on the march they are comrades in sacred ranks, standing as they always have stood, for the Union—one and inseparable.—Inter Ocean.

Home Catechism Which Hurts.
A good many hundreds and even thousands of long-suffering husbands can bear sorrowful testimony to the fact that this is the sort of catechism the wives of their bosoms subject them to every time they put on their hats to go out in the evening:
"Where are you going?"
"Oh, I'm going out for a few minutes."
"Where?"
"Oh, nowhere in particular."
"What for?"
"Oh, nothing."
"Why do you go then?"
"Well, I want to go; that's why."
"Do you have to go?"
"I don't know that I do."
"Why do you go, then?"
"Because."
"Because what?"
"Well, simply because."
"Going to be gone long?"
"No."
"How long?"
"I don't know."
"Anybody come with you?"
"No."
"Well, it's strange that you can't be content to stay at home a few minutes. Don't be gone long, will you?"
"No."
"Now see that you don't"

A Lansing dispatch says: Rev. Lewis F. Esselstyn, together with his wife and three children, will leave Lansing Sept. 8, on the return to Peshawar, Persia, where Mr. Esselstyn will resume his duties as a missionary. Since he came home on a vacation last summer, after nine years of constant work in that field, Mr. Esselstyn has traveled over 11,000 miles, and delivered 213 public addresses in this and other states. The family will sail Sept. 11 on the City of Rome for Glasgow, whence they will journey by rail to London, thence to Brighton, where they will embark for France. At Marseilles they will re-embark for a trip across the Mediterranean, thence through the Sea of Marmora, Bosphorus, and across the Black sea.

They will cross the Caucasus district on a Russian railway, and at Baku, on the Caspian sea, they will embark for a 300-mile voyage on that body of water, landing at Resht in Persia. The last 10 days of their long journey will be the hardest of all, as they will spend it on muleback, finally landing at Peshawar, 30 days after embarking at New York. Mr. and Mrs. Esselstyn expect to remain at their distant post of duty for eight years, when, according to the rules of the protestant board of foreign missions, they will be entitled to another vacation of one year. Their three children, two sons and a daughter, were born in Persia.

Miss Ansel Buchanan returned last Saturday from a visit with friends at Manistowic and the Soo.—Ghat-Steinbohn.

Mining Strike.

The slow progress of the mining strike towards termination—or, the fact, rather, that it is making no progress whatever in that direction—is the most serious obstacle now apparent to the advent of that general prosperity which almost everybody regards as on its way. So far as can be judged from the outcome of the latest attempt at conciliation the movement is at a standstill and the only peaceable termination possible is the resumption of work by the miners when they shall have been driven to that course by sheer desperation and starvation. Some of the mine owners—though we are glad to believe not all—would be satisfied to have the strike terminate in that way; but it would not sink the general public which sympathizes most heartily with the strikers. The wages the latter have been receiving are about as near starvation wages as can well be imagined especially when their nominal value has been diminished as it has been in so many cases by their being compelled to take their pay in store orders at exorbitant rates. It would be no exceeding lame and impotent conclusion of the strike to secure relief from such a condition if the miners were compelled by sheer pangs of hunger to submit and resume their ghastly slavery.

There has been some clashing in respect to the right of the strikers in the matter of intimidating or compelling workers to refrain from accepting the wages they have refused; but there has been less of this than was to be expected when once considered that the miners are not learned in the law and that they are laboring under strong excitement. Under all the circumstances they have been remarkably peaceable and law-abiding and are to be highly commended therefore. There seems moreover, to have been a responsibility conciliatory spirit on the part of their representatives in respect to arbitration. Their offer to start the mines at a wage rate of 69 cents a ton and to accept a reduction from that rate if the arbitrators shall declare it too high was apparently a fair proposition; and the condition attached that a call should be issued for a conference of operators and miners in the entire competitive area does not strike us as unjust. The proposition was based on the assumption of the miners that they could convince arbitrators that the rate suggested was as low as they can afford to mine coal and live which does not seem to be a very violent assumption on their part. At any rate they showed their good faith by the proposition and the mine owners did not strengthen their case with the general public by rejecting it. Their counter proposition, that they would pay as a starting rate whatever a fair board of arbitration should determine within thirty days would be just fair provided it were not limited to the Pittsburgh district. There may be nothing sinister in this condition; but the representatives of the miners suspected it of being an intention to leave their co-workers in other districts in the lurch and acting on this suspicion declined to accept it. For the present, therefore, all negotiations are off with the prospect for resumption exceedingly indefinite. A possible basis for a resumption of coal mining is furnished by the threat of the operators to employ men other than the strikers; and it is quite likely that in the demand for work they may—for a time—succeed in this if they attempt it, though the new employees will unquestionably find that their lines have fallen in very far from pleasant places.

It is a brave fight that the striking miners have made and it really is a wonder that there has been so little lawlessness on their part. It is all the more wonderful when we consider the kind of advice and advisers they have had. If they were to believe Eugene Debs, for instance, they would have a great and substantial grievance against the government and the president and would be quite justified in marching upon Washington for prompt redress of their wrongs. In his recent manifesto Debs told them: "The president of the United States can act. Let him issue a proclamation calling upon the operators to meet and allow the miners living wages within forty-eight hours, under penalty of having their mines seized by the government and operated in the interest of the people. That would settle the matter in an instant."

Now it can hardly be necessary to say to anybody but those crazed by Debs doctrine that the president of the United States can do nothing of the kind. If he were to issue such a proclamation as Debs suggests the mine owners would pay no heed to it and he would very likely find himself impeached as soon as Congress convened. It may be a great mistake that our constitution and laws have made no provision for any such arbitrary procedure on the part of the president—though we confess that the investment: even of the president with such enormous powers does not strike us as a good thing under any conceivable circumstances. But the simple fact is that no such proceeding as Debs speaks of is known to the laws of this country; and he merely deludes the miners and their friends when he talks of it. He is a bad adviser and they will do well to give him and his kind a wide berth.—Free Press.

Wages in Mexico.

The reports from Mexico which indicate that it takes nearly 2½ Mexican dollars to buy what one American dollar will purchase, shows something of the distressed conditions to which the laboring classes of that country are reduced, under a free silver currency. A report by a special commission sent to Mexico by the Trade and Labor Assembly at Chicago, last fall, shows that teamsters get $1 per day in Mexican money in the City of Mexico, while those in the City of Chicago get $1.75 per day in American dollars, which, as indicated, are worth nearly 2½ times as much as the Mexican dollar. Street car drivers get 75 cents per day in the City of Mexico in depreciated and in the city of Chicago $2.25 per day in good money. Painters in Mexico $1.25 per day, in Chicago $3. Pressmen in Mexico $1.30, in Chicago $3.50. Shoemakers in Mexico $1.25, in Chicago $2.50. Carpenters in Mexico $1.25 per day, in Chicago $2.80. Bricklayers in Mexico $1.25, in Chicago $4 per day. Laborers in Mexico 37½ cents per day, in Chicago $1.25. When it is remembered that these wages quoted in Mexico are paid in alleged dollars which are worth but about 43 cents as compared with our dollars, which are worth 100 cents, the contrast in earning capacity is something appalling and is not a recommendation for the free coinage proposition which the democrats of a few states still have the hardihood to urge.

The Popular Conclusion.

Events could hardly have suited Republican interests more perfectly than they have during the last few years. It is not yet quite a month since the new Republican tariff was passed and signed by the President. All Free Traders will of course assert that the rapid change in the condition of business has had nothing to do with the tariff. So they likewise assert that the beginning of commercial disaster within two weeks after the election in 1892 was in no way caused or hastened by the result of the election. The world does not readily ascribe several such coincidences to accident. The plain people note the beginning of bad times in November, 1892, within a fortnight of Mr. Cleveland's election, and the era of good times in August, 1897, within a fortnight after the enactment of a Republican tariff, and forty years of agonized special pleading will not alter the conclusion which most men form.

It is obvious that the partial failure of European crops has much to do with American industrial prosperity. So the banking panic in Europe late in 1890 was not a result of Democratic votes. How serious the influence of foreign disasters would have been in this country had no revolution in National politics been foreshadowed may not be definitely stated. But everybody can understand that the effects in this country would have been much less serious if there had not been such a state of things produced here in 1892-'93 as to promote heavy sales of American securities on foreign account and large exports of gold from this country. No doubt the large crops and the foreign demand have helped the country this year and will yet help it, but no such effects as are now seen could have been produced if there had not been steady preparation for months in every branch of industry for the revival expected after the enactment of a tariff. Without ignoring the contribution and influence of foreign disasters in 1892 or of foreign demand in 1897, it may be claimed with reason that the rough judgment is not in error. Great disasters came in 1892-'93, and it is not probable that such disasters would have appeared had not a revolution in the policy of the Government been threatened. Great improvement comes in 1897, but such improvement, probably, would not have come if a return to the wise Republican policy had not favored it to the utmost.

It is the habit of political opponents to treat such suggestions with derision. The tariff enacted in July, they say, could not have caused the large crops in this country or the short crops abroad. But the suggestion is essentially deceptive. If Government reports are of any value, we had a larger crop of wheat in 1892 than may be expected this year. It is not at all certain as yet that the country will have a larger foreign demand for wheat than it had five years ago, when exports were not far from 200,000,000 bushels. The course of the stock market must not be overlooked. Europe has been trying to cover its grain requirements by selling securities for some weeks past, but American confidence in the future has been so strong that prices have steadily advanced in spite of European selling, and the net result has been large buying by new investors in England and Germany. The situation was quite different five years ago. The selling then met no defeating confidence in the future of American stocks.

The key of the whole business is strong and prevailing faith of foreigners in the recuperation of this country. We know they are right now, as we knew they were right when they looked for a bad setback five years ago. It was not a dream or a guess at that time, and to-day the country is rapidly rising to the level of business done in 1892, after lagging for five years from 90 to 40 per cent behind that level. If every voter in the country draws from such facts the conclusion that the Republican policy means National prosperity, he will not be seriously in error.—N. Y. Tribune.

Kansas Blooms As The Rose.

Kansas has furnished more chapters in the story of calamity than has any other member of the sisterhood. She supplied the field in which the border ruffians exploited themselves. Her broad plains have been swept by the irresistible cyclone and the less active but equally destructive grasshoppers. She has been duped by the wiles of the demagogue and has sat sympathetically at the feet of false teachers. Kansas has had all kinds of trouble and has never shown conservatism in regard to publishing the fact abroad. Now she is the land of plenty. She is richer by millions than the Kowdike and far better off than if submerged or stuck up with milk and honey. The golden beams of the harvest moon take on a new meaning and the cry for help gives away to the hallooings of rejoicing.

Just contemplate it. Millions of bushels of wheat and wheat at a dollar. Millions more of oats now being garnered. Millions of tons of hay and corn so plentiful that freight trains groan when they get into that fruitful section. With one smile of nature Kansas has found
