In discussing the dastardly action of the board of poor commissioners we did not wage a war on the doctors. They all submitted sealed bids, and that the highest bidder secured the job cannot be attributed them, but to the board of poor commissioners, who established a dangerous precedent by ignoring lower bids made by reputable physicians.

We are not, by our exposure of the crooked work done by the board of poor commissioners, championing, the cause of any of the unsue-cessful physicians, but are doing

The friends of these "confidence men," are resorting to underhanded means to "get ever" since we have done our duty in exposing their rascality.

However, we will wager Stoo against a penny that no physician is a stockholder in Tribune Publishing Co., and we will also wager that amount that it is an undispland and would be enlightened on the sincered of the board of poor commissioners.

The state of the contract with the president MAN State some nection of the contract of the contract for cloing the county doctoring, and that, his bid was $757.00 higher than the lowest responsible hidder.

We are indebted to Hon. Wash-lighted States of the contract for the contract of the contract for some present and the contract for the contr mile of road constructed by it, and further endowed the company with five sections of land for every mile of road constructed by it. Liberal as were these aids the company pro tested that they were insufficient and two years later the government increased its donation to ten sections per mile, and consented that its lien of $16,000 per mile should be guaranteed by a second mortgage, instead of a first mortgage, as by instead of a list integree as the original agreement. Bonds to an equal amount with the government loan were then taken up by public, under protection of a first mortgage, and in due time the road was completed.

The interest upon the government loan was paid irregularly, and the Congressional committee of investigation reported, Dec. 30, 1887, that the debt of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific roads to the government amounted to $107,402, 402,418, principal and interest. Even had the road made total default of this sum the government still would have been a gainer by their construction; for the increase of trade and commerce resulting from enlarged facilities of trave and freightage was immense. But by the sale of yesterday the govern-ment is recouped of all advances made to the Union Pacific, and still is left in possession of the in-calculable benefits of quick and cheap transportotion between the two oceans.—Inter Ocean.
