The news that Uncle Jimmy Byers had committed suicide Monday afternoon at two o'clock, reached this city via telephone a few hours later. Coroner Sattler was notified, but when he learned the circumstances attendant he did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest.

Mr. Byers had been more or less erratic for sometime, and since his return from his visit to Van Buren county friends two or three weeks ago has been very much demoralized. He frequently said that he would kill himself, but very little attention was paid to his threats. Only the day before he committed suicide, in taking Perry Temple, a neighbor who had called upon him, good bye, he said that this was the last time that he (Temple) would see him alive. That the deed was premeditated is an undisputed fact.

On the day in question a neighbor, Mr. Dyston, called at the Byers home to take Mrs. J. D. Keppler, one of Mr. Byers' daughters, to his home for a visit. As soon as Mr. Byerson and Mrs. Keppler left the house, Mr. Byers secured a rope and a short ladder, and starting for the barn, notifying his wife and her aged sister who were the sole occupants of the house, that he was going to hang himself. The aged and feeble women tried to restrain him but of no avail. He threatened personal violence if he was interfered with. About an hour later Mr. Temple, who was driving past the Byers home heard the screaming of the women, and stopped to learn the cause. They informed him of the old gentleman's intentions. Mr. Temple had no idea that he had carried out his threats but went to the barn to satisfy the curiosity of the women. When he opened the door he saw the body dangling from the end of a rope fastened to a rafter. He rushed up to the body and quickly untied the noose. From all appearances he had been dead for about an hour.

Mr. Byers was 72 years of age and had been a resident of Schoolcraft county for fourteen years. He lived in the vicinity of the once famed Co-operative village that now occupies a niche in the ancient history of this county, but resisted all efforts made to get him to enroll himself as a member for which he deserves commendation. During the war he was a soldier in a Michigan regiment. He served his country well, and was the recipient of a pension of $12 a month. He leaves a widow and three children: Mesdames J. D. Keppler and Andrew Cody, and Mr. J. D. Byers—all residents of this county.

Funeral services were held at the house on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Smith officiating.

GO TOWNSHIP.
John Cullahan, who pleaded guilty to the charge of forging the name of Geo. F. Ross, to several checks, and realizing on one of them, was sentenced to Marquette for a term of two years by Judge Steere yesterday. Sheriff Ekstrom took the prisoner to the branch prison this morning.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.
We are still furnishing subscribers with "outside" newspapers. The Chicago Inter Ocean or New York Tribune are sent free of charge for one year to all new subscribers of THE PIONEER-TRIBUNE paying $5.00 in advance. The Semi-Weekly Detroit Journal and THE PIONEER-TRIBUNE will cost you $1.75 a year. Present subscribers who pay up all arrears and one year in advance can avail themselves of our liberal offer.

A CARD.
To my many friends and the public at large.

Having resigned by position as manager of Blumrosen Bros' store, I have decided to embark in the business here for myself, having rented the vacant store in the Blumrosen Block, next to the Schoolcraft County Bank, where I will open up a new and complete line of dry goods, clothing, furnishing goods, shoes, and everything usually found in an up-to-date store.

I thank you all for the liberal favors extended me in the past, and hope to be the recipient of the same in the future if courteous treatment and the best of goods for the least money will merit it.

Yours respectfully

BLUMROSEN SKATE.

A grand mansuade skate, will be given at Ekstrom Bros' rink next Tuesday evening. Prizes will be offered to the best dressed lady, the gentleman wearing the most elegant costume, and also the best dressed gentleman.

THE BEVYAL MEETINGS.

The union revival meetings now being held at the Baptist church, in charge of Evangelist R. B. Moody, are increasing in interest and will continue through a portion, if not all of next week.

The program for Sunday follows: (Services will be held at the several churches at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.)

A union meeting, at which time Mr. Moody will speak on "A Key to Myself," will be held at the Star Opera House Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend. A large number of tickets have been distributed about town and if anyone has been sighted in the distribution they may secure tickets at all the prominent business houses.

To gain admittance it will be necessary to have a ticket. There will be special music for the occasion. A double male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Kefauver, Waters, Weber, Mason H. Quick, Holbein, Kelson, Strong and M. H. Quick, and the Swedish quartette, will sing. Union services will be held in the evening at the Baptist church.

The advent of electricity as a medium for illuminating the various stores, has been a good thing for the painters. Where lamps are used there is bound to be blackened ceilings. Such ceilings and electric lights are incompatible.

Howard, the photographer, has an established reputation for doing the very best work at the lowest prices. His work will compare very favorably with the work done by city artists. Now is the time to leave that order for photographs.

Rev. Broden of the Swedish Lutheran church preached at Gulliver and White Lake on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Next week he goes to Ishpeming to attend the regular monthly missionary meeting of the upper peninsula pastors.

O. Morsman, the telephone man did a big day's work Tuesday. He extended the telephone line from White Lake to McDonald lake, adding A. F. Underwood's name to the exchange. One can now hullo at McDonald Lake. Were the line continued to Corvonne, connection would be established between Eugandine and Manistiquine.

Lazarus Rosenthal, who has been connected with Blumrosen Bros' store for several years—the last year as manager has decided to engage in business for himself. For that purpose he has rented the vacant room in the Blumrosen block and will place therein a large stock of clothing, Dry Goods and Gents Furnishings. Lazarus is a hustler, has good taste as a buyer, and has a large number of friends in this county, who wish him success in his new venture.

The Blumrosen cottage, to be occupied by Lazarus Rosenthal, received its finishing touches last week at the hands of Contractor Ramsey. The house was planned by a Soo architect, and is well arranged. The lower floor contains a hall, parlor, sitting room, dining room, pantry and kitchen. The first three rooms are connected with generous arches. The second floor contains three bed rooms and closets. The house is an ornament to the street on which it is located, and Mr. Ramsey, its builder, certainly has reasons for feeling proud of his handiwork.

R. B. Waddell was on the sick list this week.

We are informed that Wesley Gilligan is willing to offer himself up as a sacrifice at the coming election in Hiawatha township. He would accept the nomination for supervisor if tendered him.

We hear the names of Chas. R. Orr, C. E. Kelso, Will B. Thomas and Walter Orr mentioned in connection with the nomination for the presidency subject to the decision of the Republican village caucus.

James Girvin connected with the Michigan Cedar Co. in the capacity of scaler for many years, leaves for Seattle next Sunday night. Mr. Girvin was a trusted employee and will not be long in securing a position in the far west.

Hon. Chase S. Osborn, Michigan's efficient game warden, was in the city yesterday looking into the merits of the two candidates for the position of deputy warden for Schoolcraft county. While here Mr. Osborn made this office a very pleasant call.

The Manistiquine Democrat speaks in glowing terms of Judge J. H. Steere. The eleventh judicial district is proud of its judge, and there is no doubt that Mr. Steere will be the unanimous choice of the citizens of the district irrespective of politics, for the position he now occupies, as long as he desires it.

Amos Platt, who has resided in this county for many years, and whose reputation for brilliancy is not the best, struck one of Joseph Dupries' sons with a club Wednesday. For this he was arrested and placed in the county jail for safe keeping. He will no doubt be sent to Newberry. Platt has a brother in the asylum at Newberry, and at one time he himself was a patient at Kalamazoo.

But in this case as in all others where there are two aspirants for the same office, one is successful and the other is not. The PIONEER-Tribune congratulates the Captain on his good fortune.

As is well known, the PIONEER-Tribune has a larger circulation than the combined circulations of all the other papers published in Schoolcraft county. Not content to rest on our laurels, we are making a systematic canvass of the county for new subscribers, and that THE PIONEER-Tribune is appreciated it is only necessary to say that twenty-six new names were added to the list last week.

Advertisers are invited to call and examine our subscription list at any time.

Four million tons of iron ore from the Lake Superior region have been purchased for export to England.

This indicates that the mines of England has reached their paying limit in competition with our own, and that henceforth Great Britain will endeavor to meet the growing competition of American iron manufactures by buying cheap raw material from our mines.

This will tend still further to stimulate the manufacture of iron in the Southern States for export. This single transaction involves a money transfer of over $20,000,000.

Congressman C. D. Sheldon is boomed for the governorship from certain sources. A mercenary motive is evidently behind it all, as the gubernatorial boom was hatched when Stephenson's candidature for the postmastership at Menominee was turned down. Had Sheldon failed to land his man at Menominee he would not have been a factor in the congressional fight of this coming autumn.

By diverting his attention with pointing out the gubernatorial will-of-the-wisp his enemies hope to gain the same end. While Sheldon is amply competent to fill the position of chief executive of the great state of Michigan, yet we are averse to supporting him for the position this year. He deserves a second term in congress. Then, perhaps, it will be ample time to discuss him as a gubernatorial possibility.

The fact that Europe and the United States are averse to the annexation of Hawaii is a convincing argument in favor of annexation.

McKisson, of Ohio, styles himself a Silver Republican and he is a beautiful specimen of humanity isn't he? He offered to stand on the Chicago platform for votes.

Most silver men leave the Republican party with as little as McKisson had for leaving. There is no such thing as a Silver Republican. The Silver men are all Democrats or Populists and they have simply decided to leave their old party—that is those who won't come back have so decided. It is their privilege to go where they like, but a Silver man ought to be frank enough to get in with one party or another and not hang on the Republican party unless he believes in all that it stands for. The Republican party isn't ever going to declare for silver. That's sure.

CARL SHELDON'S NERVE. The staff correspondent of the Detroit Evening News at Washington, writing under date of the 12th inst., furnishes that paper with this history of the play made in the Menominee case in his relation to the situation created in this district by the action of the Republicans in turning down Sam Stephenson in favor of Carlos D. Sheldon in 1890.

Which will be found full of interesting political information:

Michael H. Kern has been appointed postmaster by President McKinley for the city of Menominee, Mich., and thereby hangs a tale that sheds light upon the political situation in the upper peninsula of Michigan, so far as the Republican party is concerned.

It also brings to light a new public character in the person of Carl D. Sheldon, who was elected to congress from the Twelfth Michigan district last fall to succeed S. M. Stephenson, who had held the place for eight years.

Beyond that it explains why Carl Sheldon has suddenly leaped into a popularity in the upper peninsula that makes his nomination by the party an accepted fact among those Republicans of his district who do things Mr. Kern was not ex-Congressman Stephenson's choice for the place. Andy Stephenson was the man he backed, and by this appointment Congressman Sheldon has won out in about as unceremonious a fight as has been put up for a postoffice in Michigan.

When Sheldon beat Stephenson for the nomination for congress he did so with the aid of the younger Republicans of the upper peninsula, the older politicians having to a large extent stood by the old congressman. In consequence a line has been drawn through the party in many localities, between the old timers and the young huns.

The leading engendered has made itself apparent in many contests for postmastership, culminating in this one at Menominee, and has also appeared in the appointment of federal officers at Marquette. It was this which beat John Jones out of the place of collector of customs at Marquette and it is supposed to have been the same thing that interfered with Gad Smith of Marquette, in his effort to get a federal position. It is also probably to blame for the scant attention given Charles Chapman of the Soo, who was backed for collector by Chase S. Osborn, who helped Sheldon beat Stephenson.

In the postoffice Congressional Sheldon has stood by his own friends like a man—sometimes against enormous pressure—and he now has these offices from Menominee to the Soo in the hands of the younger men, the old Stephenson war horses not having got a smell.

In the matter of the federal office the fall of John Jones illustrates the case. For years ex-State Senator Griffey, John Quincy Adams and Geo. Tucker have been Stephenson's mainstay in Marquette county. Jones hasn't. Jones, however, had splendid line of backing for the Marquette collectorship, and his friends felt sure he would get it. Some of them even claim Senator Burrows told them Jones was the man.

About the time the appointment was due, however, Sam Stephenson is said to have quietly made his appearance in Washington. Senator Burrows was here and to the astonishment of nearly everybody in the upper peninsula the appointment went to Adams to the Marquette collectorship was announced.

Whether Stephenson's influence with Senator Burrows did it is of course not known, but Stephenson took a leading part in the election of Burrows to the senate and may be credited with some pull, at least, with the Columbian orator. In fact some of the young Republicans in upper Michigan indignantly state that after Burrows' election, Stephenson, in talking of his part in it, said he had "set out to skin a skunk and had skin two," which was taken to mean that he had put up some money in the new senator's behalf. About as soon as Adams went in he made Tucker his deputy, which fixed two of Stephenson's Marquette county friends.

Ex-Senator Griffey was a candidate for postmaster at Negaunee, and the Stephenson people brought immense pressure to bear upon Sheldon, from every conceivable quarter, to land Griffey. But the congressman was beginning to get his eyes opened pretty wide. Without consulting his ancient opponents, he took the bits between his teeth and slapped William Stevens, a young Cornish blacksmith, in to the Negaunee office, and he is not yet through receiving congratulations on having the nerve to turn down so important a cog in the old federal Stephenson machine as Griffey.

At Lehigh he also ignored the old crowd and made Charles T. Fairbairn postmaster, one of the keenest young business men there. At Marquette he "done the same thing, selecting Dr. Youngquist, a young Scandinavian, who they say is making the best postmaster the city ever had.

Thomas Wallace at Ontonagon, William Webster at the Soo, Fred Kewer at St. Ignace, Alfred Kraus at Von Mountain, Richard Simpson at Norway, Richard Bowden at Gogebic, William Hosking at Calumet, Charles M. Thacker at Escanaba, and lastly Michael H. Kern at Mr. Stephenson's own, are all postoffice appointees of the same stamp—all young, wide-awake, sharp and up-to-snuff and not one of them friendly to Stephenson and the old machine.

He hurried down to Youngstown, O., where Senator Burrows was speaking, to see what he knew him of, or kindly offered to help him out. He said he was going to Washington in a few days and would find out what Stephenson had done and would telegraph Sheldon fully as to the situation. When Senator Burrows reached Washington he wired Sheldon thus: "His written."

Sheldon thereupon took the first train to Washington. When he reached the postoffice department he was told it was charged that Kern was incompetent. He was only told his own, however. There wasn't time for more than that before Sheldon opened.

Postmaster General Gary probably never had a livelier half hour in his life than he did while Sheldon formed him of the offices of trust Kern had held, such as county treasurer and city treasurer of the high esteem Kern is held in by all who knew him, and of his spotless record, and he dared the postmaster general to tell who had made the charges. He produced splendid endorsements for Kern, including that of the Republican city and county committees, and swore if Gary would tell him who made the charge he would force the man to testify to Kern's fitness.

Some of his remarks could be heard a block away, and made such an impression that Mr. Gary says he will learn who helped Sheldon beat Stephenson. And the impression here is immediate. When Sheldon came into the department the next morning the fourth assistant postmaster general said:

"The postmaster general wants to see you."

When he entered Mr. Gary's room that official said: "I'm for your man, Mr. Sheldon. But the president wants to see you."

Sheldon then went to the White House and met McKinley's cordial hand-lap on the shoulder.

"Mr. Stephenson is an old friend of mine and I want to please him," said the president.

"That is all right, Mr. President," replied Sheldon, "but you have been a member of the house. Put yourself in my place. Would you want to be done by a man who had brought me to this?"

"Suppose Mr. Stephenson asks you to endorse Lis man," persisted the president, "will you do it?"

"No, sir; I will not," said Sheldon sturdily. "I would if he had asked me in the first place, but I won't now. It has gone too far, and if you insist upon appointing his man, Mr. President, by the eternal, I will resign. And Sam Stephenson won't be my success, either."

"I shall not do that, Mr. Sheldon," replied the president. "You have rights in the case which I recognize. I have been informed of the merits of the controversy, and while I think it had politics for Michigan to such a division of opinion, I know your man is qualified, and as you insist, I will appoint him. I will not break the rule relative to members of congress and the postoffice."

In his conversation with both the president and the postmaster general, Mr. Sheldon also expressed some good old Zach Chandler opinions on duplicity and double dealing. He showed a manly contempt for that sort of thing in politics, and expressed it in language that surprised those who heard him, but would not surprise his upper peninsula friends, who know of the earnest and backbone that go with Sheldon's ordinary good nature and apparently easy-going disposition.

The postmaster general told Mr. Sheldon later that the papers would be submitted the same week. That was some months ago, but the president evidently thought it best to withhold the appointment.

In the mean time Senator Burrows came to Washington and Judge Jay A. Hubbell, of Houghton, who also came along about that time, told him he'd better not fool with Carl Sheldon. He warned that if he did it would not be particularly good for him. After that it is said that Senator Burrows called at the postoffice department and said Mr. Sheldon's man was all right.

Mr. Sheldon later on paid several more visits to the president, and the last one was on Friday, when the executive said, "It will make the Menominee appointment as you desire, if you still insist upon it."

"I have not changed my mind, Mr. President," replied Mr. Sheldon, "and I can say in addition that the appointment will not be a bad thing for the party in Michigan."

The president then signed the order for Kern's appointment and Sheldon himself placed it in the hands of the postmaster general.

It is conceded by politicians here that this practically winds up Stephenson's big political pull in the upper peninsula, and it is not believed that he will be able to be of any help to Senator Burrows or any other candidate for senator if the friends of Sheldon should decide to stop it. It is not likely, of course, that Sheldon's reelection will oppose Senator Burrows' reelection unless they should find that he had been working for Stephenson's man since Sheldon's trip down here in the fall. If they learned that, it is probable they would get after the senator and, in any event, it is probable that for an object lesson purposes an anti-Burrows member will be sent to the legislature from the Menominee district.

Of Hall Caino, author of "The Manxman" and several other popular novels, a great deal has been printed. His methods of literary work, his motives for the same, the kind of paper he uses and the prices he is paid per word and per letter have all been exploited in detail...

a very pretty and charming woman, with a good stock of intelligence and good natural refinement. She met Hall Caino in London while he was still the intimate friend of Rossetti, and they were married before he wrote "The Doanster," which brought both fame and fortune. So it happened that Mrs. Caino was first mistress of a much less desirable home than that of Grouse castle, over which she now presides. Mrs. Caino seems to thoroughly enjoy her island home. She is an enthusiastic devotee of the spinning wheel, and she does for she not only rides the loom, but manipulates the old-fashioned kind of spinning wheel, spinning the wool grown by the island flocks into thread, which is made up on a loom into the cloth from which Hall Caino has manufactured his homespun clothes.

Seamless Rubber Bags. Seamless rubber bags are made in Bozonia by dipping a core into a rubber solution, evaporating the solvent by agitation and pulling the rubber skin from the core.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS OF HAPPENINGS IN MICHIGAN.

Poms called out for the benefit of the...
Days Which Will Be of General Interest to Michigan People.

Lansing, Jan. 12.—The ground in the Michigan wheat-growing sections of Michigan was long of snow until about the 17th of December, and lightly covered from this date to the end of the month. The prevailing opinion among correspondents is that what was injured very little, if at all, during December. In answer to the question: "Has wheat during December suffered from any cause?" forty-seven correspondents in the state answered "Yes" and 65 "No," and in answer to the question: "Has the ground been covered with snow during December?" eighty-seven correspondents in the southern counties answered "Yes" and 24 "No." In the central counties forty-one answered "Yes" and 14 "No," and in the northern counties sixty answered "Yes" and twenty-three "No." The total number of bushels wheat planted in Michigan in December is 1,271,782, and in the months August-December, 5,613,513, which is 3,341,831 bushels more than reported marketed in the same months last year.

The average condition of live stock in the state is as follows: Horses, 90 per cent and thirty condition; Horses, 95 per cent, cattle, 90 per cent, sheep, 98 per cent, and swine, 97 per cent. The average price Jan. 1 of some of the principal products in the market where farmers usually market such products, were as follows: The average price of wheat was 93 cents per bushel; corn 23 cents, and of oats 21 cents, and the average price of hay was $3.14 per ton. The average price of fat cattle was 13.16 per cent, and of dressed pork, $4.12 per cwt.

FLOG WITH A RUBBER HOSE.

Management of Adrian Industrial School Charged with Cruelty. Detroit, Jan. 17.—Miss Radcliffe, teacher in the state industrial school for girls at Adrian, has filed serious charges against the board of managers. The charges are substantiated by Miss Minnie Corbett, an assistant manager. It is charged that one girl received fifty-two blows with a rubber hose and another girl received twenty blows with a rubber hose from school rooms several months at a time for trivial offenses, in violation of the state laws. Both employees have been discharged. The managers claim to be able to explain away the charges.

State of Gov. Austin Blaine.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 18.—John Patton, of this city, with General Wiltjohn, of Jackson, will this week visit Philadelphia to inspect and probably accept the statue of Governor Austin Blair ordered by the legislature for the capitol grounds at Lansing. They will also sign the contract for the pedestal. Edward Clark Potter, sculptor of the statue, wrote some time ago that it was ready for inspection. The statue of Michigan's war governor will be placed on the capitol grounds next May, probably on Decoration Day.

GRAND SILENCE After the Corporations.

Detroit, Jan. 12.—Governor Pingree and jointly all the chiefs of the state government held an all-night conference at the governor's residence in this city to discuss the advisability of prohibiting the legislature of Michigan from, in a special session, to meet the governor's friends and to fix railway fares and make the corporations pay taxes. Governor Pingree reserves to discuss the situation, but his officers announced emphatically that the legislature will be reconvened.

Postmaster at Menominee.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 12.—Telegrams announcing the appointment of Michael J. Conroy as postmaster at Menominee, were received here and there is great rejoicing among the friends of the successful candidate up on the satisfactory elimination of the long and hotly contested struggle for the office. Kern was induced by Congressman Sheldon. The other candidate for the place was A. C. Stephenson, who was championed by his uncle, ex-Congressman Stephenson.

Muskegon Concerns in Trouble.

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 13.—Against the assets of the Consolidated Steel Rail Road company this city attaches liens for some $4,000 have been levied by employees and merchants who hold the company's time orders. The trouble is attributed to Edward B. Jennings of Chicago, the moneyed man of the firm, severing his connection with the company. An effort is now being made to reorganize under the name of the Michigan Iron and Steel company.

Michigan Land Sale Settled.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 14.—The fifty-fifth annual report of the commissioner of the state land office shows that the total number of acres of land held by the state is 72,275,834. The total number of acres sold during the year was 9,183; number of acres of swamp land leased, 3,000; total, 12,183. The total of 72,275,834 acres subject to sale and homestead entry at the close of the year.

Coal Excitement in Michigan.

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 15.—Excitement over the coal mining prospects in this region is growing daily. Agents for big eastern concerns are here securing leases on all the land they can get hold of. Several thousand acres have been leased within a few days. Coal in five-foot veins is being found in all parts of Saginaw county daily.

Making Turb in Michigan.

Norway, Mich., Jan. 12.—The first known attempt to make tur in the northern part of Michigan has been successfully carried through by a Swedish homesteader of this vicinity, who has succeeded in getting a considerable quantity of tur of excellent grade from the roots of Norway pine trees.

Will Investigate Silver in Mexico.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 17.—The Michigan Republican Newspaper Publishers association has decided to send a representative to Mexico to investigate various aspects of the operation of the unlicensed coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

State Notes. The Chicago and West Michigan Railroad company has leased for ten years the Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and Southwestern, running from Grand Rapids, Mich., to Stratford, thirty-eight miles out.

The executive committee of the League of American Municipalities has decided to hold the next convention in Detroit on Aug. 1 to 4 inclusive.

John Bawte, a pioneer of Marquette, Mich., died after an illness of several years. For 44 years he was president of the Marquette Iron Works company. He died at his home, a magnificent place of near 100 acres, and was buried in the city of Marquette in the United States.

At a meeting of 50 per cent of St. Paul's parish at Lansing, Mich., the resignation of Rev. W. H. Osbourne was rejected.

Michigan populists are talking of nominating Governor Hagner.

Fire at Grand Rapids, Mich., Saturday night destroyed a four-story block corner of Louis and Canby streets. Loss, $2,500; insured.

The old Ellison homestead at Port Huron, Mich., was destroyed by fire. In the burning, the wife of the late Senator Thomas A. Ellison's father lived there for years.

There is general rejoicing among Michigan farmers because the supreme court has declared the law relating to lawning and peddling unnecessary.

J. L. Loomis, of Oskodoo, Oakland county, Mich., shipped two young cattle to Michigan last week that weighed nearly 600 pounds.

Wille Owen Bishop, John Bishop and Edward Davis were hunting rabbits this week near Deserettes, Mich., and came upon a family of white-tailed deer. The men shot three before they could escape.

AFTER CORBETT AND FITZ.

McCoys Paid $1,000 with a Challenge to Meet Either of the Fighters. New York, Jan. 18.—"KID" McCoy has jumped out of the middle-weight class and into the heavy-weight division. He feels that there are no more middle-weights to contend with, and therefore, throws his glove in the faces of the men at the top of the heavy-weight class—Corbett and Fitzsimmons. When McCoy's attention was called to "Walcott's" challenge and $5,000, he said: "I have never fought a negro, and never will. Potage put up a fight to meet John L. Sullivan, but the champion drew the color line. I will fight any white man that stands on two feet, but I will not go into the ring with a negro, no matter if he is a chick, the Walcott would be for me. The rule that a man must fight every man who money is posted has not held good for years. Corbett has money up to his eyes, but Fitz is taking his time. Meher has money up to fight Corbett, but Fitz refuses to meet the Irish champion. The Shackeray and Chynoweth can't back to meet any man, but they have little sense. If I have $1,000, I'm far up to meet either Fitz or Corbett, and I'll take any that I mean business."

TOPPY HAS A MINE.

Owens a Mine Whose Waters Turn Iron Into Copper. Randburg, Cal., Jan. 12.—It is reported that a remarkable copper mine has been discovered near Granite Wells, about twenty-six miles east of here. The persistence of copper has been proved in some of the old horsehooves, which are on tires, or iron hoop bands, when cast into the water of the shaft, in a comparatively short time are virtually transformed into copper.

This is caused by precipitation, which takes place whenever iron comes in contact with liquid solution of copper. An ordinary brass pin suspended half-way into the water of the mine is exhibiting a perfect transformation, being half copper and half brass, the copper proportion being that part which was immersed in the water. A syndicate of capitalists is now negotiating for the purchase of the property, which is considered very rich. The mine is owned by "Topsy" Johnson, who is a well known character in mining camps throughout the west.

Death of the Millionaire Tramp.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Jan. 15.—James E. Berry, famous as the millionaire tramp, died at the New Richmond hotel. His death was caused by a broken leg, rheumatism and alcoholism. Berry was a most eccentric character, and gained the sobriquet of "Millionaire Tramp" from his peculiarities about the country and prodigal expenditures of money. The accident which resulted in his death was the climax of a drunken spree last week. He came down the river on a boat, scattered money among the deckhands very lavishly, piled them with champagne, and finally had a severe fall which resulted in his leg being broken.

Trouble Over at Havana.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The state department and Senator Duffie de Loma, the Spanish minister, both expressed the opinion that the trouble at Havana has blown over. No news has been received by either the department or the minister up to 11:20 o'clock. Senator Duffie has received a cable message at night, the first saying the day was quiet and the latter, apparently sent at a later hour, announced that calm had prevailed during which through the day.

CAMP LIFE IN MICHIGAN.

M. J. Rippe inspector for the Chicago & St. Paul Railroad at Parkin, recently wrote the following letter to the Sunday Visitor, Parkin, K. Y., descriptive of camp life. We reproduce it below.

In the course of a recent conversation I promised you that the next time I found myself among the "lumberjacks" of Upper Michigan I would send you some little accounts of the daily life of that genus. Fortune has favored me (or shall I say she persecuted me), and on the last day of the old year I stepped from the platform of a Soo line train and landed on a snow bank, under which is supposed to be concealed the station platform.

The station consisted of an 8x10 frame structure of rough pine boards, covered, both on the roof and sides, with cedar shingles, and resembling a section house that had been held by the vandals. Time while criminally assaulted by a cyclone. When the train opportunity to get a view of the camp in which I was destined to live, and in closing hours of the late afternoon of 1897, the prospect made me think of a remark I once heard made by a scientist. He advanced the idea that the earth was a mighty animal. After a hurried glance at my surroundings I felt very much inclined to agree with the scientist, and to add that the state of Wisconsin was the other.

My superior was one kind bird and the state of Wisconsin was the other. In company with a fellow sufferer, whose position in the department of a railroad requires him to pass the great swamps of the Wolverine state, westpepped across the track and took the trail through the woods for the camp proper. I had had nothing to eat since 6 a. m., and as it was now 11:30 p. m. I was complaining of a hiatus in my stomach. About forty rods back from the track we entered the enclosure of buildings which the guide assured me were the headquarters camp, and where, in our building, about 30x80, the headquarters crew of 150 men were being lodged. In another, known as the cook camp, the chief of the establishment, assisted by two "cookers" and a chore-boy (the "choy" is 55 years of age and a "harlowen" Irishman with the euphonious name of Jimmy Walsh) were busy preparing the evening meal. The midday meal is eaten at 11 o'clock, and all traces of it had been removed when we stepped in. My host introduced me to the cook and remarked that I would be glad to have a little something to eat. The cook held a woman's interview with one of the "cookers" and with the assurance that he would blow the horn when "rubberneck" before we proceeded to the dining room. I counted the tables and found that there were 121 tables. The tables are covered with oil cloth and all the dishes arranged in. When the horn blows for breakfast at 4 a. m., it is a sight to see the procession as it passes from the sleeping camp and in single file marches to its assigned place at the table. A rule of the camp which is strictly enforced in this conversation is to be indulged in at the table, and it would gladden the heart of my friend McNulty to watch these 120 hearty appetites in process of gratification. It is an excellent remedy for dyspepsia to sit between two of them and observe the relish with which they dispose of their course but substantial fare. With almost absolute silence (save on "the bang"), as the frog-eating Frenchman styles it, is carried forward with refreshing vigor, and in ten minutes after the first of the hour every man of the 120 is out of the room with his pod full of substantial fodder.

One of the delicacies without which no camp table would be considered complete is prune pie, and when I was in the kitchen the cook was putting the top crust on the thirty-ninth pie every day. A barrel of flour is consumed every day. The supplies are furnished from the company's store, known locally as the "van," and in the long run over this store myself and nine other "long haired" specimens have our lodgings. The hours of labor are very long, and the men in the camp says their night's rest consists of three turns—turn in, turn over and turn out. As they put it, "We eat twice in the night and once in the day."

The company is operating five miles from the Lake Michigan shore. Most of the activities are Swedish, French and a very few Finlander. There are no accustomed to snow and cold weather that they would rather live here where they can wear ices in their wiskers six months in the year and where every gust of wind takes an inventory of every bone in their bodies than to live in Paducah where "every prospect pleases" and only the tax collector is wick. The overabundance of the pie is the abundance of excellent water, and in front of these we have a flowing well through which a stream of the purest water flows incessantly. An iron pump is inserted in the well, but the water forces itself, past the plunger and escapes through the spout. But of course, water, so much or how pure, has no charms for the fish grubbers through here. Along the lake shore there are a great many fishermen's huts, and one of those my fellow-inspector recently attended a dance. The fishermen's families live principally on the fish they catch, and while dancing with one of the daughters of the host my friend chanced to brush against her dad. He, (the dad) leaned over and remarked "fish." She can take h-l with her belly full of fish."

AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.

WE ARE ASSERTING IN THE COURTS OUR RIGHT TO THE EXCLUSIVE USE OF THE WORD "CASTORIA," AND "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," AS OUR TRADE MARK.

I, DR. SAMUEL PITCHER, of Hingham, Massachusetts, was the originator of "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," the same that has borne and does now on every bar the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, wrapper. This is the original "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," which has been used in the homes of the Mothers of America for over thirty years. LOOK CAREFULLY at the wrapper and see that it is the kind you have always bought on and has the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher wrapper. No one has authority from me to use my name except The Centaur Company of which Chas. H. Fletcher is President.

BREVITIES.
M. Blumrosen returned to the Soo Wednesday.
Mr. Ed Ashford was seriously ill a portion of the week.
Hon. E. C. Chapin of Lansing, was in the city this week.
For Rent—Three rooms, with or without board, centrally located. Enquire at this office.
D. E. Smith, who will be remembered for his unsavory reputation, while in charge of the Salvation Army work here a year ago, is in charge of Voluntary Post No. 1, at Minneapolis.
In some respects the year 1897 has been a remarkable one for Manistique. Just prior to the close of the year the car ferry route was inaugurated, as was also the system of electric lighting.
John Hughson is the new barber at Joe LaBelle's shop. Mr. Hughson is a good barber, and he and Joe make a good team. Mr. LaBelle recently purchased new fixtures and in other ways has improved the interior of his shop.
May Campbell, one of Manistique's scabbed women, who was serving a term at the Detroit house of correction, was pardoned by Governor Fingree recently. Her six year old daughter was dying at Duluth and she was pardoned in order to go to her bedside. J. J. Brown, F. H. Peters' law partner had the matter in hand.
Mr. E. C. Chapin of Lansing, who was in the city this week, is so favorably impressed with our winter climate that he may spend his winters here in the future. He says that rain, fog and an atmosphere that chills one to the marrow, has been the chief characteristic of the product the weather maker has been furnishing the lower peninsula thus far this winter.

Roller skating at the open house tomorrow evening.
M. W. Orr returned from New York state last Saturday.
W. L. Orr spent a few days of the current week in Minneapolis on business.
P. W. Robinson of Boyce, was a welcome visitor to this city and our office Wednesday morning.
The newly elected officers of the W. R. C. were installed by Mrs. W. E. Clarke, last Friday evening.
Rev. H. M. Morey, will know we here is conducting evangelistic meetings at the Presbyterian church, Esplanade.
Prof Smith, a former resident of this city, late of Green Bay, writes us to send his copy of the "The Pioneer Tribune" to Waukegan, Ill. hereafter.
John E. Jones of Menominee has been appointed deputy oil inspector of this district to succeed Lars Astrop, who recently resigned his position.
The Sons of Veterans meet at their hall tomorrow evening. At that time Mr. Gayar will install the newly elected officers. All members are urged to be present.

There is some talk of establishing an all night system of illumination in the city. Why not secure more street lights and place them all on the midnight schedule.
Palk & Anderson, the popular grocers, have joined our list of advertisers. This firm has an established reputation for handling the very best goods obtainable.
The rumor that the Munising railroad will be extended to a Lake Michigan port is again being revived. Why don't Manistique give the company some encouragement to come this way.
J. McCallough, representing Jewett & Sherman wholesale grocers, Milwaukee, was in the city Monday interviewing customers. He is a cousin of our fellow townsman P. McCallough of the Soo Lake agent.
Earl Hicks who represents the McKinney interest at McDonald Lake spent Sunday at the Ossawissaukee. Mr. Hicks forecasts the output of shingles as closely as his illustrations name-sake does the weather.
W. J. Crane, well known here, who has been traveling for the wholesale drug firm of Fuller & Fuller for the past four years, has engaged with Lord, Owen & Co. for the current year, the firm for whom he first traveled.

John Glason, well known in this vicinity, who looks after the upper peninsula lands of the Detroit, Mackinac and Marquette R. R. Co., has gone to Detroit on business with the head office of the company he represents.
The Barnes Hotel is represented in our advertising columns. It is the only brick hotel in the city, is located in the central portion of the town, and the rates for transient or regular boarders are exceedingly low. The cuisine is excellent.
Manager McLeod of the open house, is perfecting arrangements for the appearance of Clay Clement and his first class company, in the play, "A Southern Gentleman." The metropolitan press says that Clement is the peer of Sol Smith Russell. It is to be hoped that Mr. McLeod may be successful in securing this first class attraction.
A. C. Hubbell writes us that he returned from the Randolph mine last Friday, and that the quartz is indeed very fine. He also says that he found a large business going on in the Rainy Lake country in the way of mining. A number of new shafts are being opened. He was well pleased with what he saw in the country.

A letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. G. Rogers Wednesday of this week announces the death of Clarence Egbert, at Big Rapids last Monday. Mr. Egbert was 22 years of age and was highly respected by all who knew him. He spent the greater portion of the past summer in this city with the family of Rev. J. M. Rogers. While here he made many friends who are pained to learn of his demise.
A Mr. Johnson enroute from the Soo to the Klondike passed through the city this week with a dog team. The sled with which Mr. Johnson is making the trip is eight feet long, 3 feet wide, and has three inch runners. He carries 650 pounds of baggage, and with his four dogs will average fifty miles a day. He is "breaking in" the dogs now, and is on the trade whenever he sees a dog superior to the ones he has in the team. He will test his team for a hundred miles and then will take the train for St. Paul where he will join a party. From thence he will go via rail and boat to Alaska and from thence to the land of gold via dog train. On his present trip Mr. Johnson follows the Soo line. The road between the rails make an ideal path.

There is some talk of establishing an all night system of illumination in the city. Why not secure more street lights and place them all on the midnight schedule.
Palk & Anderson, the popular grocers, have joined our list of advertisers. This firm has an established reputation for handling the very best goods obtainable.
The rumor that the Munising railroad will be extended to a Lake Michigan port is again being revived. Why don't Manistique give the company some encouragement to come this way.
J. McCallough, representing Jewett & Sherman wholesale grocers, Milwaukee, was in the city Monday interviewing customers. He is a cousin of our fellow townsman P. McCallough of the Soo Lake agent.
Earl Hicks who represents the McKinney interest at McDonald Lake spent Sunday at the Ossawissaukee. Mr. Hicks forecasts the output of shingles as closely as his illustrations name-sake does the weather.
W. J. Crane, well known here, who has been traveling for the wholesale drug firm of Fuller & Fuller for the past four years, has engaged with Lord, Owen & Co. for the current year, the firm for whom he first traveled.

Great Remnant Sale at Rose Brothers.

We have just finished our Annual Inventory, and find a great many Remnants in all of our Departments, such as Woolen Dress Goods, Silks, Percales, Outing Flannels, Prints, Ginghams and Sheetings, which we must close out before our Spring Goods arrive. It will pay you to investigate.

E. E. Sheppard has gone to Ypsilanti, where he will take a six months' course in Cleary's business college.
Mrs. Martin Wood, who has been visiting relatives in this vicinity for some time returned to her home, Gladwin, Monday morning.
The cannery has opened up a new territory for shingle manufacturers along the Soo Line. Large quantities of shingles are being shipped eastward via Frankfort.
Joe Willard, the "masher," who figured extensively in an elopement at Marquette last summer, is a member of Knox Gavlin's troupe now touring the upper peninsula.

The many friends of J. D. Marsseau will be pleased to learn that his electric light business at Highland Park, Ill., is exceeding his most sanguine expectations. He deserves his good fortune.
Manager McLeod is negotiating with the E.H. Perkins' manager for the appearance of the noted humorist in this city shortly. Hope that the humorist may include Manistique in his itinerary.

A special meeting of Lake Superior Presbytery will be held at the Church of the Redeemer of this city February 10th, for the purpose of admitting Rev. J. F. Horton to the Presbytery; also for the purpose of installing him as pastor of the church.
Samuel Winkelman, one of Manistique's successful young business men, was in the city Tuesday of this week, as the guest of his brother, M. P. Winkelman. Sam's many Manistique friends will be pleased to learn that he is doing nicely. We acknowledge a pleasant call.
Schoolcraft county needs a flouring mill. As the years roll by the county is becoming more agricultural in its character. It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of all, that wheat can be successfully raised here. Only last week two German farmers drove 75 miles to Garden City, where 75 bushels of wheat for the purpose of converting it into flour.

Probate Notice.
STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Schoolcraft, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the Probate office in the Village of Manistique on the 20th day of January in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety eight.
Present, Charles R. Norstrom, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of George A. Brooks deceased, the hearing and filing of the petition, duly verified, of Elias Brooks, widow of said deceased, claiming that administration of said estate may be granted to Miss Brooks or some other suitable person for reasons therein stated.
It is ordered, that the said petition, filed 14th day of February next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be read at the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, or any of them, or any person interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of the Village of Manistique, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the hearing of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by filing a copy of this order, and of the petition, with the Registrar of the Manistique Probate Court, a notice, copy retained and closed to the Court three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
C. R. NORSTROM,
Judge of Probate.
