EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The editor of this paper is under deep obligations to the newspaper fraternity of the upper peninsula and elsewhere for the uniformly kind and flattering notices of its appointment as deputy state inspector.

Hon. Gen. Smith of Marquette, aspires to succeed Chas. C. Hoagins as clerk of the supreme court. The Detroit papers say that he has practically landed the plum. Mr. Smith deserves anything that can be given him within the gift of the party of which he has been such an active worker.

The flamed mouthed anarchist, Mrs. Parsons of Chicago, has espoused Aguinola's cause, by stating that she will send her son to the Philippines to fight for the insurgent army. She is a fair sample of the unsexed, long haired men and women that have placed themselves on record as being against the government. The United States should have a "Devils Island" for the exclusive use of conspirators, copperheads and traitors.

Gen. Alger, who has been so persistently hounded by an element in the east during the past year, has resigned his position in McKinley's cabinet as secretary of war. No one is public life during the past decade has been the butt of as vicious and uncalled for onslaught as has Alger. Here in Michigan where he is so well and favorably known, his integrity of purpose and his faithfulness and efficiency as a cabinet officer will never be disputed. "Yellow" journalism has driven him to the step. The President would make thousands of friends were he to decline to accept his resignation.

The Stephenson organs are still at their old pranks. The Escanaba Journal is trying to make its readers believe that there is the hottest kind of a row being stirred up between Chas. Osborn and Congressmen Sheldon. The facts are there is nothing of the kind. Neither have decided positively to be in the race for the congressional nomination next year, and if Mr. Sheldon has ever promised Mr. Osborn that he will step aside as the latter decides to become a candidate, he is just the man that will do it. Carl Sheldon is a man of his word. We are very much mistaken.—Grand Marais Leader.

It is rumored about the district that Congressman Sheldon has repudiated his agreement to support Chas. S. Osborn for congress next year for the reason that he intends being a candidate again himself. If this be true it is a case of base ingratitude upon Sheldon's part for it is a well known fact that when Osborn nominated Sheldon at the Ironwood convention by swinging his nineteen delegates out of the considerations was to step down and support Mr. Osborn at the end of the second term. Mr. Sheldon of course never been congressman from this district had it not been for Osborn would he have won out in his contest for a re-nomination had Mr. Osborn not come to his assistance and it is but right that he should keep his promise.—Diamond Drill.

The trouble between the owners of the Pigree & Smith shoe factory at Detroit and their employees arose from the introduction of a new machine in the factory. Each machine did what five men did before and did it better, and several hundred of the employees struck out and "unionize" the shop. This the owners of the factory refused to do, so the men who went out will be replaced by others and will lose their jobs. No doubt it will lose jobs to workmen to find machinery displacing them, but their employers have frequently no option in the matter, as they must keep up with the times in making use of the very latest and best labor-saving machines or be driven out of business by their competitors. The invention of labor-saving machinery and appliances has done much to do away with the complications of the labor problem, and we see no way to adjust the difficulty save by shortening the hours of labor, a plan that cannot be easily adopted for various reasons.

The advance in wages of working men in various parts of the country goes merrily on, but the Democratic papers are so busy howling at expansion that they fail to notice it at all.—Cleveland (Ohio) "Leader."

It is useless to deny that the policy of protection to American labor and industry is more or less responsible for the existing deadlock on the wage question between the capitalists and manufacturers and their employees. Had there been no protection of our industry at the present time, and for the best of all reasons: There would now be no tin plate industry in this country, and the question of wages could not possibly have come up. It will be remembered that prior to the enactment of the McKinley law there were no tin plate mills and hence no labor troubles.

There has been a great deal of foolish talk as to the necessity for a protective tariff having passed, because in some articles of manufacture we are able to undersell the world, and hence our exports of these manufactured goods are increasing at a magnificent rate. This is a proof of the soundness of the protection doctrine that a protective tariff does not interfere with the development of our export trade. The Free-Traders have always declared that a large volume of manufactured exports is impossible under protection. We have, during the past two years, proved the utter falsity of this theory.

Don't go juggling with the tariff. Let well enough alone. The people of the country have lost, in the aggregate, many millions of dollars by the check to enterprise which has resulted from the agitation of the tariff question from 1884 to 1896. We are getting ample re-venue from the Dingley bill. It oppresses no one. Keep hands off, and let the country go on prospering.—Toledo Blade.

Reports for the first half of this year show that there have been fewer strikes than for seventeen years and with smaller liabilities than any year since 1884. The iron and metal industries have surpassed all previous records. Wool is advancing slowly but surely. The volume of business has surpassed even the phenomenal year of 1897. Our foreign trade has grown wonderfully and railroad earnings have steadily increased. In these better conditions the workers have shared by receiving increased wages in many quarters and there is more work than workers in nearly all parts of the country.

These are facts and yet in the face of them a Democratic paper says that "the nineteenth century will close with the curse of McKinleyism." Some people never know when they are well off, but the great majority see nothing so very horrible about plenty of work and fair wages.

The "curse of McKinleyism" rests most heavily upon a certain stripe of people who less than three years ago were prophesying the absolute ruin of the country if William McKinley were elected.

Times are good and those who in 1896 said our conditions could never improve until we had free silver about the only faultfinders there are around here.

When a short time since, a New York City bank exported two lots of gold of $1,000,000 each, the transaction made one of the D. D. passenger steamers to the Island, not to lose. Steamers and parties received thirty days of privileges. Send two cent stamp for illustrated pamphlet. Address: A. A. SCHANTZ, O. R. D., Detroit, Mich.

The public had, as well they might, no confidence in the industrial situation. Conditions are of an exactly different character now. The indifference of mind curiosity with which these two shipments of gold were considered, after a striking illustration of the general confidence in the continuance of our present prosperity and of the stability of business conditions in these plighted times of prosperity and McKinleyism.

As an instance of how little attention Admiral Dewey paid to the interference with his work occasionally attempted by the navy department, General Keave tells a story which was current at Manila before he left that city. He did not, however, vouch for the truth of the incident. The admiral, it seems, had purchased somewhere a large quantity of coal, a much larger quantity, in fact, than the navy department officials thought he needed. He immediately cabled him demanding to know for what purpose the coal had been bought. The answer was terse and unambiguous: Dewey simply replied: "To burn."

There has been a great deal of foolish talk as to the necessity for a protective tariff having passed, because in some articles of manufacture we are able to undersell the world, and hence our exports of these manufactured goods are increasing at a magnificent rate. This is a proof of the soundness of the protection doctrine that a protective tariff does not interfere with the development of our export trade.

"It is a surprising fact," says Prof. Houghton, "that in my travels in all parts of the world, for the last ten years, I have met more people having used Gross's Anusor Plow than any other remedy for dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach troubles, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling odd positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Gross's Anusor Plow is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." SAVORY BOTTLES FINEST AT S. S. PUTNAM & Co.

IS IT RIGHT For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From St. Paul, Minn., August 10, 1899. It may be questioned whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

The Elder Got the Best One.

An account of the life of Judge James B. Bradwell of Chicago by his daughter tells a story of the deeply religious training of his childhood. He had the old fashioned faith in the efficacy of prayer before he was of sufficient age to understand the reasonable limits of such petitions.

Once, when James was only 8 years old, the wagon was sent to Chicago for provisions. Five days elapsed. The wagon was detained, and the Bradwell family was without food and without a man to provide it. Little James, as usual with even small boys of the time and place, was a good shot. His mother loaded the gun for him; and he started out to see what he could shoot to supply the table.

In due time he saw two prairie chickens not far away. He got his gun ready and then took long enough to pray thus:

"O Father, if you will just let me bring down those two chickens I'll give your minister the choice of the pair!"

The trigger was pulled and down came the two prairie chickens. James believed the shot to be a direct answer to his prayer. He took the two birds to Elder Snow, the minister, and told him of the circumstances.

The good elder took a long time to examine the two chickens, in order to be quite sure that he got the better of the two, because, he said, he thought it best that the boy's compact should be faithfully carried out.

A Lock of His Hair.

A venerable, white haired clergyman recently preached in the parish of a friend. He had hardly got back to the vicarage from the church when the doorbell rang and a charming girl of 18 asked to see him. He received her. They talked about the sermon and other things until finally she asked diffidently:

"Oh, won't you please give me a lock of your hair?"

"Certainly, my child," said the old gentleman, flattered at the request. "I'll send it to you tomorrow," and he did.

On his return to his own home he had five more requests of the same kind, and he proudly boasted to his wife that he was glad to see that he had not yet lost his power to please. All went well until his wife received this note:

"Dear Mrs. —, won't you please ask your husband to send me just a little lock of his hair? We have all been learning lessons in making hair flowers. Many of the other girls asked him—he sent it to them—that I thought I'd rather ask you to get it for me. Will you please do this for me? It is said to get white hair for lilies of the valley."

It was a terrible blow, and the less said about locks of hair in that old gentleman's presence the better.

Well Answered.

In the early part of this century there lived in Nantucket a young Quakeress whose wit caused many a ripple in the demure circle of the Friends.

When this pretty Martha attended yearly meeting in Newport at the age of 18, her youthful spirits brought her occasional grave looks from the elders, although her real goodness of heart was never questioned.

One evening, during the session of yearly meeting, Martha was the center of a group of young people gathered near the windows of the parlor in the boarding house where some of the Friends lodged for the time. The young people were playing the simple and amusing game of "humorous definitions." Martha's wit caused such frequent laughter that a solemn faced person rose from his seat at the other end of the room and asked, in a loud, stern voice:

"Martha, can thee give me the definition of gravity?"

The pretty Quakeress colored at this public and unnecessary rebuke, but after scarcely perceptible hesitation, she answered demurely:

"I am not able to give thee a definition of my own, Friend Brown, but perhaps that of De la Rochefoucauld will suit thee. He says that 'gravity is a mysterious carriage of the body, invented to cover the defect of the mind.'"—Youth's Companion.

"Going Out to See a Man."

"Going out to see a man" was the invention of Artemus Ward. One night in the winter of 1865, when the humorist was about half through his lecture, he paralyzed his audience with the announcement that they would have to take a recess of 15 minutes so as to enable him to go across the street to "see a man." H. R. Tracey, the editor of the Washington Republican, was in the audience, and, seeing an opportunity to improve upon the joke, penciled these lines and sent them to the platform:

"Dear Artemus—If you will place yourself under my guidance, I'll take you to 'see a man' without crossing the street."

Artemus accepted the invitation, and while the great audience impatiently but with much amusement awaited the reappearance of the humorist the latter was making the acquaintance of Aman, a well known restaurant keeper at that time, and luxuriating at a well laden refreshment board. Of course everybody "caught on to" the phrase, and men became fond of getting up between the acts and "going out to see Aman." The restaurateur's business from that time forward boomed. Men who would ordinarily sit quietly through an entertainment, and behave themselves allowed themselves to be influenced by the contagion.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Those Mostest Japanese!

Here is a matrimonial advertisement that is hard to take seriously. A lady who calls herself Hosujioshi seeks a husband in the Kanazawa Shimbun, a Japanese paper. She describes herself thus:

"I am a beautiful woman, with cloudlike hair, flowery face, willowlike waist, and crescent eyebrows. I have enough property to walk through life hand in hand gazing at flowers in the day and the moon at night. If there is a gentleman who is clever, learned, handsome and of good taste, I will join with him for life and share the pleasure of being buried in the same grave."

To this an answer comes from a gentleman who signs himself Ariwara Mitsunji, whose advertisement runs as follows:

"I am the greatest genius of the present time, and people regard me as the handsomest man in Kanazawa. If the lady sees me but once, she will be unable to restrain her love for me. I will fix any place and time for our meeting."

Brusque Brahms.

A young Hungarian violinist, who was continually talking about his wonderful skill and great fame, had his flatteries addressed to Brahms cut short with the brusque remark, "More finger exercise and fewer phrases, young man!"

A young woman who played the pianoforte asked the composer as to the advisability of giving a concert in Vienna.

"Are you all ready?" inquired Brahms.

"Certainly, dear master! May I play something for you?"

"Oh, no, no! I meant only have you a new gown and gloves?"

"Yes, sir."

"Pity; otherwise I should have advised you not to give the concert."

Neither Could Bend.

The late Mrs. Keeley, the actress, used to tell an anecdote of Queen Victoria on the occasion when she had the honor of being received by her majesty. On being presented she excused herself from making a low courtesy by saying, "Your majesty, I have rheumatism in my knees, and I cannot courtesy."

"Mrs. Keeley," replied the queen, "I can't, either." And the veteran actress was put at her ease by the homeliness of the remark and its common touch of nature which made the two women kin.

Another Question.

"Pa, what sort of a house is this?"
"That, my son, is the blind eye."
"Blind people live in there."

"They can't see, can they?"

"No, my boy."

"Then what has the house got down for if they can't see?"

SIGHT
VS.
BLINDNESS

SIGHT IS PRICELESS

Its proper preservation is a matter for the most earnest consideration of every person of ordinary common sense.

The abuse of the eyes has led to the growth and consequent discovery of defects entirely unknown to science twenty years ago, the correction of which necessitates the use of lenses especially ground for the occasion. This is the result of being fitted not only by persons entirely incompetent but with lenses inaccurately ground and badly centered which in a short time seriously impairs the accommodation. Examine well the antecedents and qualifications of the man to whom you entrust your eyes. Looking up several traveling opticians who advertised themselves as Doctors and Professors, we found that but a short time previous one had been a barber in Grand Forks, another a fake auctioneer in Minneapolis, still another a tinsmith. These people have never received the necessary instruction to become qualified. We are TUDOR & CO.'S Sole Agents here and handle their goods exclusively. Parties purchasing spectacles and eyeglasses from us can if they wish have their eyes carefully examined by Mr. G. D. Bruce Tudor, M. A. O., a New York refractician of ten years experience who will visit our store regularly for the purpose of making any corrections and examining and refracting all complicated eye troubles. A great deal of incurable eye trouble comes from measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, &c., and an opportunity is thus presented whereby an expert opinion can be had without any expense.

When you are near sighted, or myopic, your eye ball is too long, as appears in cut, and rays of light are brought to a focus before reaching the retina. The proper correction of this will be a concave lens of sufficient strength to disperse the rays, allowing them to focus farther back on the retinal spot.

When you are far-sighted, or hypermetropic, your eye ball is too short, and the proper correction will be a convex lens of sufficient strength to converge the rays upon the retina on which the brain photograph is received.

Extracts from Letters from Eminent Physicians and Surgeons.

From Dr. Pomeroy, Waverly, Iowa:

"For years I have suffered from defective vision (compound myopic astigmatism.) Nothing I could get was satisfactory until I met you, and your examination inspired me at once with confidence in your ability. I now have no trouble in reading the finest type by day or night."

From Dr. Donald McRae, Mayor of Council Bluffs, Iowa:

"Those glasses of yours are simply magnificent."

From Dr. L. M. de Jesi, the great Zacatecas surgeon:

"Having examined the methods and appliances of Mr. Tudor, I cordially recommend him to any of my patients needing his services."

From Prof. Shurtleff, of the College, Mitchell, S. D.:

"I can now read comfortably with both eyes; whereas before I could only use one, having to keep the other covered."

From Mr. Marin, Ex-Governor of Aguas Calientes, Mexico:

"The glasses fitted to Madam Marin and myself could not be improved upon."

From the Governor of Aguas Calientes:

"The glasses fitted to my daughter, Mademoiselle Marie, and myself, are all that they should be."

If your eyes itch, burn or smart, if the type blurs or you suffer from headache, or dizziness consult him. No charge made for thorough examination. Messrs. Tudor & Co. respectfully refer to any of the Fifty Thousand people in Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota now wearing glasses fitted by their Mr. G. D. Bruce Tudor.

FRIDAY, JULY 21, 1909.

BREVITIES.

Mr. Kiefer, the drayman, has a very handsome new car.

A mile of barbed wire is utilized in the telephone line to the Briggs' dairy farm.

Mr. Joseph Scott, who has been seriously ill during the past week is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Lamer and daughter, Jennie, are visiting relatives in Marquette and Negaunee this week.

The next regular meeting of the National Protective Legion will be held next Wednesday evening.

The White Marble Co. and the Chicago Lumbering Co. squared their payroll last Saturday evening.

Lakeside Lodge No. 371, P. & A. M., will hold a meeting next Monday evening. Work in third degree.

As a farmer puts it, the rains this week are just the thing for strawberries, but hard on newly sown hay.

The McKesson-Orr contest case before the receiver of the coal office at Marquette was postponed last Tuesday to August 15th.

The man who said that three removes are equal to a fire knew what he was talking about. Fire however, would be preferable.

Judging from appearances, the new addition to the Central school building will be ready for occupancy at the opening of school.

Owing to repairs being made on the interior of the M. E. church, there will be no services of any nature at this church next Sunday.

Mr. A. Bestman is prolonging his visit in Holland. He will probably return to the United States during the early portion of next month.

The editor of this paper is under obligations to Alvin Wood, for a box of the largest strawberries he ever saw. One of the berries was five inches in circumference.

A few of our citizens, chartered by Attorney Hixon, made a bicycle trip to Saint Clair Light house Tuesday, last the wind was of the westerly trade and had path the whole way.

You could get Ed. Brown to make another trip on a steel boat and all compartments, unless he would be permitted. He took a steam pump and several live preservers with him.

Theodore Holmbom, the shoe dealer, has two desirable residence properties for sale. The houses are located in Riverside and the price is low. For particulars call on him at his store.

Boneless ham, cheese, lard, butter, eggs, sausage, salmon, home made bread and choice cuts of beef are included in Gustafson & Larson's stock. Everything neat and clean and the prices extremely low.

Rev. Dr. Reynaert writes Rev. F. Kanes, from Florida, that grasshopper and crocodiles have destroyed his crops this season. The many Manistique friends of Rev. Reynaert are sorry to hear of his ill fortune.

An appeal meeting of the Eastern Star Lodge will be held on Thursday evening July 29th. Worthington Grand Master, Joslyn will be present at this meeting. Work and refreshments are on the program. All members and visitors are urged to be present at 7 o'clock.

The Barrell Chemical Co. is drilling a well at their plant. The river water is too warm at this season of the year for use in the condensers, and the well is being drilled with the aim to secure an unlimited quantity of water of low temperature. Charles Barks is doing the work and the drill has reached a depth of about 250 feet.

The Chicago Tribune has printed the correspondence gathered from its correspondents throughout the country showing a loss of 141 lives resulting from last Fourth of July celebrations. Some of these died July Fourth and others from injuries received then. Lockjaw caused the death of eighty-three out of the one hundred and forty-one.

A Carol.

To the citizens of Manistique and vicinity:

As will be seen by a notice appearing elsewhere in this issue, I have purchased the interests of Messrs. Miller and Remel in the business heretofore conducted under the firm name of Miller, Falk & Remel. I promise to continue the business at the same place and in the same manner as heretofore. I sincerely thank all those who have seen fit to give me their patronage in the past; and trust that I shall be accorded a continuance of the patronage of the old firm and assure you that it will be my aim to merit this favor.

I invite you to kindly call and see me.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN A. FALK.

Disolution Notice.

To all whom it may concern: The co-partnership heretofore existing between E. W. Miller, John A. Falk and John Remel, as Miller, Falk & Remel is this day dissolved by mutual consent. E. W. Miller and John Remel retiring from said business and John A. Falk continuing the same. All accounts and debts owing to said co-partnership are payable to John A. Falk and all debts owing by said co-partnership will be paid by said John A. Falk.

E. W. MILLER,
JOHN A. FALK,
JOHN REMEL.

We Offer No Bait

....At Our Store,

When the price of an article is reduced it is reduced for good. We don't quote a low price one day and ask a high one the next on the same article.

Perhaps we are mistaken, but we believe the public likes our method of doing business. We have won popularity and expect to hold it by treating people right all the time; giving them desirable and reliable goods at small profits; this is the style of our store.

Announcement.

Mrs. C. P. Hegerman wishes to announce to our readers that she has been receiving instruction from one of the finest Modistes in Detroit (formerly from Paris) and that she is prepared to furnish the latest styles for ladies and children, dress dresses; a perfect fit, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed. Mrs. Hegerman also wishes to say that she is prepared to give lessons in short-hand and writing to all who may desire same. Mrs. Hegerman comes to us very highly recommended from the Detroit Business University as a close student and very accurate writer and any who may desire to enter upon a course in same, we feel sure can do so under no better instruction. Should Mrs. Hegerman be successful she will open a school here and devote her entire time to instruction in this art which will add one more useful branch to Manistique educational advancement. It may not be generally known that few young men or women can today obtain positions in the mercantile world without understanding short hand and type writing art. It will be well for those contemplating leaving Manistique for a broader field to gain a knowledge of short-hand here, in preference to obtaining this knowledge by added expense hereafter.
