TRAIN DERIVED.

The Wood House Soo. Flyer was derailed near Gladstone last Saturday night. A curfew that had been washed out by a heavy rain was the cause of the derailed of the west bound Soo flyer last Saturday night. The accident occurred near Bustis, a small station twenty miles west of Gladstone. Every car, save the sleeper, left the track. The baggage men were seriously injured.

"DANGEROUS FOREST FIRE."

EMIL THOMPSON.

Kefauver and Weber, has been invited to furnish the music at the dedicatory services at the Gladstone Presbyterian church next Sunday. The members of the choir will leave tomorrow evening and will return Monday morning.

Affected by Lightning. During the storm last Tuesday afternoon a stroke of lightning started the door bell at the Shimer residence to ringing. Mr. Shimer was severely shocked while in the act of disconnecting the wire from the battery. The electric fluid damaged a gilt picture frame and the varnish on the sewing machine.

Finds Faultily. Sidney Chappelle, whose arrest, escape and re-arrest was mentioned last week, was arraigned before Justice Hill on the charge of forgery yesterday. He pleaded guilty and was held for the circuit court in the sum of $500.

WORKED THE SHORT CHANGE TRICK.

Herbert Chantler Molested of $1000 by Crooks last Tuesday.

Late Tuesday afternoon two fellows called at Chantler's drug store for the purpose of purchasing cigars to the amount of 25 cents. During the absence of Mr. Chantler, his son Herbert, attended them. They gave him a $20.00 bill to pay for the purchase. Herbert went to the safe and secured $19.75 in change. After they received the change they kicked on the small denomination of the money tendered them and one of the fellows fished up a quarter to pay for the cigars. They returned the change to Herbert and he gave them the $20.00 bill. In giving him the change they beat him out of $10.

As soon as Mr. Chantler returned he was long in ascertaining the facts and officers were placed on the track of the offenders.

It appears that there were four men in the party. Two remained outside of the store during the transaction.

Deputy Sheriff Miller Rose, armed with the proper warrant, left for the west on a late freight train. At Junction he found the four men and arrested the two directly implicated in the deal. He took them to Gladstone. Retaining he left Gladstone on the east bound flyer. When near Rapid River he shackled them for a few moments. In the interim one of the fellows jumped through the window of the boiler room while the train was going at a high rate of speed. Train men that noticed him slight say that he must have been seriously injured for he made no effort to arise as long as the train was in sight. The other prisoner was placed in the county jail. Wednesday morning word was received that one of the fellows was at Trout Lake. Sheriff Ekstrom led for that station at once and learned that one had gone in the direction of the Soo, and as he had a start of eight hours was undoubtedly in Canada. The other fellow had started for the lower peninsula. As they were not really essential in the case the pursuit was abandoned.

The man that jumped the train was the one that worked the "racket."

He once in a while produced the quarter, and was no doubt an accessory.

His effects consisted of several pocket books, a marked deck of cards and $3.10 in change. Judging from his note books he has been following Ringling Bros. circuit this season, and that he is a genuine crook is no mistake.

Recently merchants at the Soo were shortchanged for more than $100.00 of the shortchange racket, and the quartette that has been so completely disorganized by Schoolcraft county officials, are undoubtedly the manufacturers of found such a rich harvest in the Soo.

Deputy Sheriff Rose went as far west as Gladstone yesterday afternoon in search of the fellow that gave him the slip but was unable to find him.

Frank Heirumans the only one of the quartette captured was arraigned in Justice Hill's court Thursday morning on the charge of larceny. The case was adjourned to this morning and a further adjournment was taken to one o'clock this afternoon. He is being given a trial by jury.

Ready for Business.

The napkins launch on Indian Lake is now at the disposal of parties wishing to cross to the Big Spring or who wish to take a shorter ride. There for the round trip to the spring has been fixed at 50 cents. Parties wishing to spend the day there will be taken over to the spring in the morning and brought back in the evening without extra charge. Make your arrangements with Carl Ekstrom at the lake, or Sheriff Ekstrom.

A STEEL PLANT.

Well Known Rumors that Manistique Will Secure One.

During the past week the report that a steel plant would be located at Manistique has been generally circulated; the proposal plant to be constructed in conjunction with the furnace. There are several reasons why the report seems reasonable. The iron manufacturers here will be utilized in the manufacture of car wheels.

The wheels could be made here, saving the cost of re-rolling the pig iron while the freight charges on the finished product exceed the rate on the raw iron. As the furnace is owned by the International Car Wheel Trust the rumor has many reasons for its existence.

Such a plant would perhaps employ several hundred men. That it would be a valuable addition to Manistique's industries goes without saying.

Manistique is destined to become one of the very best cities in the peninsula. Its location, resources and shipping facilities commend it.

Dance at opera house next Tuesday evening.

ARE YOU GOING TO MARQUETTE?

The Excursion Tomorrow Promises to be Largely Patronized. A Rare Opportunity to see the City and Ringling Bros. Show.

Manistique Legion No. 108 has perfected arrangements for the excursion to Marquette. The train leaves the Manistique & Northwestern depot at 5 o'clock in the morning and ample provision has been made for all desiring to go.

In addition to the M. & N. W. coach, a coach will be provided by the D. S. S. & A., so that all are sure of having ample room.

The fare is extremely low being less than half fare for the round trip. And the fact that the excursionists will be enabled to return the same day insures a cheap trip.

The party will arrive at Marquette in time to witness the street parade of Ringling Bros.' circus. The parade is worth going miles to see. It is divided into thirty narrow sections, each of which is a complete parade and presents in its entirety a bewilderingly magnificent two-mile carnival of pageantry such as the world has never before seen. In this gorgeous display are shown over 100 beautiful dems and cages of wild animals 500 horses, 25 elephants and nearly a thousand people, and the costumes throughout are of the finest silks, satins, velvet and cloths of gold. The performance that follows is the most magnificent arena display ever presented by any circus in America.

The afternoon can be devoted to attending the circus, or in sight-seeing. Retaining the train leaves Marquette about 10 o'clock and arrives here about 10 o'clock.

It may be years before Manistique may have another opportunity to go to Marquette under similar auspicious conditions.

Plan to go.

INCONSISTENT CRITICS.

The anti-administration element and some of the sensational news papers appear to have no hesitancy in advertising their own shame. After more than a year of the most unflattering and unflattering criticism of Secretary of War, Wood, those harping on the "war" have been quick to set to work in their own papers to attack the administration of the President...

These are the people who, after branding themselves as patriots, as friends of American honor and manhood and who appeal to loyal Americans for support. For those who may differ from us as to the future policy of the country we concede the respect to which individual opinions are due. But it is to those whose political ends may possibly be served and who, through no other motive, are crying that we are on the road to destruction, that we accord no respect whatever. The man who is too narrow to stand by his country instead of by a political organization is the dangerous man. A good many men who could scarcely wait to have us go to war with Spain are now dodging this way and that to avoid the responsibilities which came to us as a result of that conflict. The right way—the American way—is to stand loyally by our government until the future disposition of these new possessions is decided upon.

Those who want to haul down "old glory" while it is being fired upon by rebels may find all the fault they please with the President and his cabinet, with our army and navy officers and with the men behind the guns, but to the average American their actions savor rather too strongly of something that used to be known as copperheadism.

Let the faultfinders do as they please, the national administration has done and will doubtless continue to do its sworn duty toward upholding the Constitution and the law.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

If that steel plant materializes Manistique will be a hammer sure enough.

Lots of people would give considerable to know where Robert Ingersoll, the infidel, has gone.

Michigan produced 7,346,846 long tons of iron ore last year, or more than one-third of the entire output of the entire country.

The annual school meeting will be held early next month. Thus far no candidates for members of the board have been discussed.

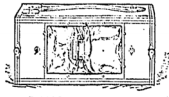

It's "refreshing" to hear street corner discussions on the Philippine subject by persons who really don't know where the islands are located or what they are talking about.

We heard a prominent politician give utterance to a palpable truth the other day. He said: "With the common people it is a question of principle and with the politician it is anything that gets there."

A Grand Marais correspondent telegraphs the Detroit Journal that the hay crop is a failure in Schoolcraft county. He's talking through his head-gear as the hay crop is the equal if not superior to any crop hitherto raised in this section.

The Atlanta Constitution administers a scathing rebuke to the Democratic papers and politicians of the South who are attacking Gen. Wheeler, and demanding his re-entrance from congress, because he has gone to the Philippines to fight for the stars and stripes.

The enthusiastic reception given General Alger by the state of Michigan Wednesday should make him feel proud. No man in the state is as universally esteemed as he.

When Alger ceased his official duties at Washington he took the first train for Michigan. How unlike McMillan, who made a bee line for his home on the sea.

Strikes are more prolific in good times than at any other time. When times are hard the wage earner will hang to his job, even if the wages are low. But when everything is booming and the demand for labor exceeds the supply then strikes are likely to happen.

It is estimated by the treasury department that the per capita circulation of the United States is $25.38. The increase of all kinds of money in circulation now over 1896 is $475,000,000, of which $247,000,000 is in gold coin. This is a condition of affairs which ought to satisfy men of all shades of political opinion and to convert every member of every party to the belief that the one vital principle which ought to be upheld is against every other doctrine and under all circumstances is protection to American industries. Those who wanted more money have it to the tune of $475,000,000, through protection. Those who wanted our financial system left un-molested have what they wanted and have unprecedented prosperity besides. The man who would, under such circumstances, rail at protection is such a man as would, in slang phrase, "kick at pie."

BEST IN THE WORLD. The Dingley bill is beginning to justify the expectations and predictions of the men who framed it. It is proving not only a wholesome tariff measure, but what is as important, it is also becoming an adequate revenue-getter. It is now bringing more money into the Treasury even than the estimate made by its author when he was asking for support for it in Congress. This is an almost unprecedented condition. The receipts of the Government for May were better between $41,000,000 and $43,000,000, nearly three millions more than the expenses which are, of course, very heavy. The great receipts are attributable to the healthy condition of business in all parts of the country. The fiscal year, which will include the largest part of the war, will show a deficit of about $7,000,000,000 but the Treasury contains cash to the amount of $269,000,000, of which all but $40,000,000 is in gold. In spite of the war and the supposed need of "currency reform," our financial condition is declared by experts to be the best in the world.—Burlington "Hawk-Eye."

THE SCHOOLS OF SPAIN IN PORTO RICO. The children are clamoring for education, not for play or time to waste, but to learn to grow great and grand like the Americans. There are now no proper schools for them, there are practically no school-houses, but a room where the so-called teacher boards is utilized for the purpose. There is absolutely no discipline. Children come and go as they please. They sit on a long bench or on the floor. Dirt abounds, and but one book is used for study from which they are supposed to learn to read. As a fact, however, they do not learn anything. A curiosity and a farce is the present system of schools. Can we face this situation silently? Could you glance once at the bright-faced youngsters as they come out from the school of but a single hour in the morning, you would never forget the intelligent, bright look which meets yours, and you would be convinced that something ought to be done for them. There are some few exceptions in the larger towns, but not by any means enough to offset lack of a system of education.—From "Porto Rico" from a Woman's Point of View, by Mrs. Guy V. Henry, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for August.

A FUNERAL WITHOUT FAITH. The peculiarly heavy trial imposed upon the devoted family by the hopelessness of their afflictive experience must impress the believers in a future state as the most distressing feature of the week of mourning in the chamber of death at Dobbs' Ferry. So essential was the strong and large-hearted man to those he loved and so sweet and precious their relations, his sudden passing out of their lives left them impressively desolate and inconsolable. It is seldom that the tragedy of death has been presented with more heartrending force than in the case of Col. Ingersoll's dissolution, leaving wife and daughters completely overwhelmed by the crushing weight of affliction and without heart to consider the details or to even contemplate the ordeal of having the loved form taken from their sight forever.

Firm in their desire to be true to the belief of their revered avuncle, and champion, co-mediator and protector, the family of Col. Ingersoll were led unconsciously by the genuineness and inconspicuousness of their grief to the admission that the mystery and the mourning of the house of death, call for something more than the cramped philosophy that the grave is the end of all. Loyal as the loved ones of the brilliant assailant of spiritual beliefs sought to be, in their greatest trial they found all earth-bound creeds, and religions, and all doctrines of doubt and denial, hollow and unavailing.

It is still Christianity's mightiest bulwark that its teaching and its consolations satisfy the yearning and sanctify the afflictions of the human heart.—Detroit Free Press.

During the civil war, as well as in our late war with Spain, diarrhoea was one of the most troublesome diseases the army had to contend with. In many instances it became chronic and the old soldiers still suffer from it. Mr. David Taylor of Wad Ridge, Greene Co., Pa., is one of these. He uses Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and says he never found anything that would give such quick relief. Is for sale by A. S. Putnam & Co. druggists.

A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life. I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her any good. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent for one bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety in my little daughter's suffering.—Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty, R. I. For sale by A. S. Putnam & Co., druggists.

FIGHTING OUR PRODUCTS.

Efforts of the German Agitators Greater Than Ever.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Agents of the agricultural department who are in Germany report increased activity on the part of agitators who are exerting their influence to curtail to the minimum the importation of American food products into that country. While these reports are not made public it is known they represent that greater effort than ever before will be made to secure from the next meeting of the reichstag a statute providing for an inspection by agents of the German government of all American products, which shall be so strict as to entirely ignore the certificates of American inspection. The agitation is conducted principally by the Agrarians, and it is stated that the press is being used to quite an unwarranted extent to create public sentiment adverse to all American food articles. Especial attention is given to our beef and liberal use is made of the testimony taken before the war investigating committee and the beef coat of inquiry. This agitation in itself has had the effect of reducing German consumption of our meat products, but the officials here are not especially apprehensive of legislation.

The Browsers' Troubles

The Grocer's Boy Leaves a Card Which Creates a Rumpus.

By M. QUAD. (Copyright, 1935)

Mr. Bower was unusually grieved as he came home the other evening, and through the dinner was a little off, owing to a change of rooks. He missed everything but criticized nothing. Mrs. Bower was gratified, but yet at the same time a little distrustful. The husband who is too good is a dangerous man. She was wondering whether he was going to propose a visit to a roof-garden or getting ready to find fault with the gas bill, when they finished dinner, and as they went upstairs he picked up a blue card from the floor and sat down to read the words printed thereon. It was a nonpareil advertisement. In order to quickly introduce it to the kitchen of the public the mother had selected six non-spelled words and offered a bar of soap to all who would correct them and hand in the card to the nearest grocer. "What won't they get up next?" laughed Mr. Bower, as his interest in the card increased. "You don't seem to have corrected any," he said to the mother. "The grocer's boy left it, and I never pay any attention to those things," replied Mrs. Bower, but at the same time feeling a slight uneasiness. Mr. Bower was just as sure to go to orthography as the night was to fall, and she would have a card with a penny for a month if he had not seen the card.

"Twenty-eight, misspelled words, eh?" he mused as he felt for his pencil. "Let your five dollars be one that I correct them all in ten minutes." "It's only for children, my honey. It's such a nice, cool evening that I hoped you might want to go out somewhere." "Yes, we'll go, but let me dash these words first. It's rather a cute idea to interest the children in soap."

"Why not leave that for to-morrow evening?" suggested Mrs. Bower, as she reached for the card. "No, we've got lots of time. Say it's a fair affair after all. He has spelled the word 'separately' right. It's his misspelled words. It's a shame to avoid innocent children this way, and he ought to be exposed. Let's see if you would have caught on. How do you spell separately?"

"I don't feel like spelling to-night. Let's go out and get the nice breeze." "That's a swindle on innocent childhood, Mrs. Bower, and it is your duty to assist in exposing it. Spell the word."

"Why not?"

"Then you are a party to the swindle! I have lived in this world for forty years, and it has always been spelled with an 'e' by honest people. It is your authority you put an 'e' in it!"

"I presume I was wrong," she answered, hoping to dodge the question. "Oh, my dear! Well, it's something to own up. Let's see what Webster says. P. Q. R. S.—here it is. By George, but he's got an 'e' in it. Say, now, but want to understand this matter? Do you spell separately with an 'e'?"

"Sam—sometimes." "Don't fool with me, Mrs. Bower. There is a soap maker who deliberately puts out a swindle on childhood, and our family grocer is in partnership with him. So is old Noah Webster, and so are you. I say that 'separately' is spelled with an 'e'! I once took the prize at a spelling school on that word, and I've written it with an 'e' in law, insurance and real estate papers a million times. By what right do you and old Webster spell it with an 'e'?"

"Because that's the correct way, and you'll find it so in every dictionary in the land," replied Mrs. Bower.

"Oh, I will! That is to say I have been wrong all these years, have I? Now you see that I've concluded to go out tonight. I'll find the word and prove it right a hundred times over!"

After hunting for a minute Mr. Bower came across the word. It was spelled according to Webster and Mrs. Bower. He was puzzled for a moment, but after a few minutes he started at her and swallowed a lump in his throat, and his voice was hardly above a whisper as he faced the wife. "I'll walk into this contemptible swindle to a further degree to-morrow, and if I don't have some one on my side Saturday night you'll have a big catch. Meanwhile, here is another catch. How do you spell the word 'unrivalled'?"

"What is the use of fussing with an old soap advertisement when we might go out and enjoy a pleasant evening with Mrs. Bower, as she rose up."

"The use is of this soap maker, as stated by hundreds of grocers, has been putting out a swindle on the people, and it is my duty and your duty to help expose him. How do you spell the word 'one'?"

"Then you are also in the swindle and ought to be sent to prison. You and every other person on the face of this globe spells it with two 'n's." I was looking up Mrs. Bower's name for only a week now. How many bars of soap were you getting for a prize in this swindle?"

Playing a Game On a Bull

By M. QUAD. Copyright, 1935

"Speakin' about folks that's mighty smart things," said the farmer man as he layed the box of his hat, making me remember a little adventure I had about 15 years ago. I was standin' at the gate of my farmhouse one day when a heavy wagon drove along on its way over to the village. Just beyond my house there was a bull and a man of the legs was bound to a bollard in the street. He didn't stop, and I got the bull and rolled in to the gate. Nobody came for the bull, and a month later when a big bull, which was owned by a farmer five miles away, came belerlin' along the road. He came belerlin' along the road, and he'd have gone on about his business but for me. It struck me all of a sudden to stop him, but he'd been so long tied to the bollard that he was tickled to death at the thought of makin' the error, and while he was pawin' up the dirt, I got the bull out and knocked the lead in. Then I left the gate open, and of course the bull came in as he came along. It was a hot day, with no water around, and he went for that leg, and he kept up the fight. He kept stippin' away, and by and by he was pawin' up the dirt, and I got the bull out and knocked the lead in. "I made him hoazy, did I?" was asked.

"That bull was regularly drunk, sir. His head began to swim, and as he went on he fell for me. I was a hot day, with no water around, and he went for that leg, and he kept up the fight. He kept stippin' away, and by and by he was pawin' up the dirt, and I got the bull out and knocked the lead in. "I made him hoazy, did I?" was asked.

ABOUT SCADBY SHEEP.

Why the Ordinary Farmer Cannot Afford to Buy Them Even at a Great Discount.

The states of the west are now well stocked with sheep, and the ordinary farmer, may perhaps not, but in almost every county, and in many counties, there are flocks of sheep that have either been brought in from the west or have been raised in the west and have been bred to the west that are affected with the scab. The ordinary farmer cannot afford to take a scabby sheep as a gift. He will sell it for a few dollars, and he will sell it for a few dollars, and he will sell it for a few dollars.

Seventy thieves stole six Belgian hares from V. L. Henson's yard last Sunday night. Four rabbits were also stolen from Julius Petersen, and Mrs. LeFoyle reports the loss of two chickens the same night. Wednesday night Henson's rabbits were returned. He is now considering whether he was the victim of a practical joke or whether they were really stolen.

State deputies Herbert and Herman O'Connor, of the K. O. T. M., are twins and their resemblance is so great that very few persons have been able to distinguish one from the other. Joe LaBelle shared one of the twins Monday and a half hour later he was the other twin. He was greatly surprised to see a two days' growth of beard on the man that he had shaved only a few minutes before.
