DINGMAN A PRIMITIVE JOKER.
He Remedy for Hairless Faithfully Tried and Found a Failure.

A great one is told of one of our citizens. The head of said citizen is extremely devoid of his hair. He had several months ago, the conductor of a syndicate to give him an unfailing receipt for propagating hair. He said, "great raw potatoes and apply the juice of same on the head three times daily for two months and if you don't have an awful head of hair, the same as E. S. D. Sutton's of the South, then I will make you a present of a $50 suit of clothes." The said citizen did not know Mr. Sutton, and systematically used the preparation for two months, without any appreciable result except a slight rise in the price of the tubers owing to the demand. Dingman was "stuck" for the clothes in the citizen's mind, and he was no point of informing Dingman of the failure of his remedy.

At a society function held in Manistique this week, a handsome but very bald headed stranger was present. Imagine said citizen's surprise and feelings when the bald headed stranger was presented to him as Mr. Sutton of the Soo.

GARDEN TOWNSHIP WELL SAVED.
It Truly Is the Garden Spot of the Upper Peninsula.

After making a hurried trip through Garden township Tuesday, the writer is sorry to a greater degree than ever that that township as well as other townships that clamored for annexation to this county last winter, were not allowed to do so. Garden is well named. It is truly a garden spot. The soil is fertile, and well tilled and the whole country has the appearance of permanency and stability. Mr. L. Van Winkle, the veteran lumberman of Van's Harbor, is perhaps, doing more than any one else to give the township in question that appearance. He is continually purchasing additional tracts of land, and improving them too. Helms's penchant for good barns and hog and cattle proof fences, and a horror for stump and stones.

We doubt if there is a equally productive township in the state. Everything that can be raised in the middle west thrives and matures there.

If the people of Schoolcraft county really comprehend the situation they would be of inestimable value to the merchants of Manistique. Although Manistique is nearer Garden than Escanaba, the farmers of that township are practically prohibited from visiting Manistique for purchases of bacon or account of the poor roads. The merchants would realize handsomely on the investment if they were to co-operate with the various townships through which the road passes, for its betterment, which annexation is realized or not.

GLADSTONE WON IT.

THE FOOT BALL GAME WAS OFFERED UP, BEING DISAPPOINTING TO MANISTIQUE.

THE SCORE STANDS 21 TO 0.

A Return Game Will Be Played at Gladstone on Thanksgiving Day.

The local ball game between the high school elevens of Manistique and Gladstone was played before 250 spectators last Saturday afternoon. It being the first game ever played in Manistique and in fact the first game some of the players ever saw. We feel that our high school boys acquitted themselves very creditably indeed. Many of the college teams, that have become very skillful, start out with no better prospects than those of the team that defeated Manistique's goal last Saturday.

The Gladstone team showed the results of practice for their team work was better than any individual work and really won them the game. Our team work was not good. Gladstone would discover a weak point in Manistique line and pound it hard for scores. They went right over Manistique's let tackle repeatedly and would gain from three to ten yards every time. This was not the fault of the left tackle altogether for he did not secure the support that he should have had. Harbeck, center, did not get into the game with enough force. He is one of the heaviest men in the team and should support the line more promptly. The Gladstone boys were able to make good gains because strongly supported by good interference. Here again Manistique's ends might have done some efficient work if they had been prompt to act as soon as the ball was snapped. The Gladstone team succeeded in making three good gains around heads by a double pass. During the last of the first half Manistique team played like old veterans. Scott of the Gladstone team, made a good run but in the next play Gladstone lost the ball on a fumble. Manistique got 10 yards for an off side play, but lost the ball in a fumble. Then the boys backed up and not only prevented Gladstone from gaining by rushes, but pushed them back 5 yards. Gladstone pushed and the Manistique team by hard snappy work had the ball on Gladstone's 5 yard line where time was called for the first half. The game then was as follows:

Manistique won the toss and chose the west goal. Gladstone kicked 25 yards so it was brought back 10 yards. Manistique lost the ball on three downs. Gladstone advanced the ball to the 25 yard line by the plays. And two good runs gave them a touch down. They failed on the goal.

Manistique kicked the ball 20 yards and Gladstone failed to receive. Scott made a good gain around Manistique left end. Manistique is advanced 10 yards for off side plays. The ball passed to Manistique on a fumble but it soon went back for the same reason. Gladstone lost the ball on an effort to go through center and lost 5 yards more on an end play. Long punts 20 yards to center. Manistique failed to make any gains through center but got 15 yards on a double pass. They made another good gain around Gladstone's left end and an advance 10 yards on an off side play. The ball was within 5 yards of Gladstone's goal. Score at end of first half—Gladstone 5; Manistique 0.

Manistique defends the east goal and Durick kicks off for 20 yards. Gladstone fails to make any return. Gladstone makes 10 yards by end plays but fail to make any gains through center. They steadily pass the ball towards Manistique goal making most of their gains through the left tackle and around the left end. They get 10 yards on an off side play. Nine yards are made in two plays through left guard. Another gain of three yards through Manistique's right guard strikes Long to carry the ball over for another touch down. Gladstone is successful in kicking the goal and the score is Gladstone, 11; Manistique, 0.

The ball goes to the Gladstone and Durick kicks well into the end but the ball is brought back 20 yards. By a series of three end plays and three rushes Long is again over the line for another touch down, but they fail on the goal making the score 10 to 0.

Manistique kicked 30 yards but Gladstone brings it back to center, and they make 25 yards on a double pass. A series of rushes gives them 12 yards more and Black punts the ball and makes a clean run across the field for another touch down. No goal, so the score is 21 to 0. This touch-down was made in four minutes from the time the ball was put in play at center. The ball moves back and forth for a few minutes and time is called with the ball within 25 yards of Manistique goal. Total score—Gladstone 21; Manistique 0.

The teams lined up as follows—

MANISTIQUE	GLADSTONE	MANISTIQUE
McShane	Right End	Black
Harbeck	Center	Harbeck
Shane	Tackle	Thompson
W. Van	Right Tackle	Thompson

A VERY SMOOTH SCHEME.
Fish Tugs Will Continue to Hit Sets During These Months as to Turnabout Spawning for the U. S. Fish Commission.

Much dissatisfaction is the result of a plan that will deter the small fishermen from following their avocation during the closed season, which began Wednesday, while a favored few possess capital and tugs will be permitted to fish. Licenses have been granted owners of tugs to fish during the season and an agent of government will accompany each tug to collect spawn for the hatches.

What disposition will be made of the fish is not stated, but you can rest assured that they will not be destroyed.

This scheme is unfair and will work a hardship to numerous small fishermen who own their own boats and nets but who are not allowed the privileges given the big fishers.

The small fry will be only too glad to collect spawn if permitted to do so.

Under the new ruling the expensive litigation that distinguished a useless season last year will be avoided.

The least amount of fishermen should make a united kick, against this rank partiality.

Mr. F. N. Clark, superintendent of the Northville fish hatchery, was in the city Tuesday evening and conferred with Messrs. Anderson, Coffey and Bouscher. The mind of the superintendent was evidently made up before he arrived as he immediately entered into an agreement with the Booth Company and Messrs. Anderson, Coffey and Bouscher. The mind of the superintendent was evidently made up before he arrived as he immediately entered into an agreement with the Booth Company and Messrs. Anderson, Coffey and Bouscher.

Mr. Bouscher has decided to continue fishing and will, it is asserted, make it a test case.

As fish are quite valuable now, there being a great demand for same in the markets, the ten days catch of the tugs privileged to fish will be quite valuable.

No jury in Schoolcraft county will accept the location of any club of the small fishermen under the circumstances.

Arranging the Program.

A meeting was held last Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of arranging a program for the farmers institute to be held in Manistique in December. Rev. Dr. Burdick, Rev. Casler and A. MacKachren will appear on the program. One or two ladies will also be invited to participate. While the program is exceedingly interesting one, two speakers from the lower peninsula will be present at the five sessions of the institute.

Indoor Base Ball Contest.
The Monarchs and the Wolverines will play a game of indoor base ball very shortly. Both nine are practicing quite regularly and the series of games to be played this winter will no doubt be quite interesting. Rev. Dr. Burdick and Mr. Leighton of the C. L. Co's store, two old time base ball players, will participate in the series.

The orchestra will be in attendance upon the first game.

A Halloween Party.
The members of the Norwegian Literary Society, and a few others were entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Sather last Thursday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent. Refreshments were served.

Commissioner J. A. Chisholm who has been visiting the schools in this portion of the county during the past two weeks, left for Seney this morning.

AUGUST DEMOUR FATALLY INJURED

While Felling a Tree at Camp 53 last Monday.

August Demour an employe of the C. L. Co. at Camp 53 received fatal injuries while at work last Monday afternoon. In felling a tree one of the limbs struck him on the head crushing his skull so badly that he died Tuesday morning.

The injured man was taken via wagon from camp to Steuben, a distance of nine miles, and from thence brought to Manistique on a special train. Dr. Patterson and his assistants after a careful examination pronounced his case a hopeless one and the fact that he was possessed of wonderful vitality accounts for his living as long as he did. Men of ordinary vitality would not have survived the shock a minute.

Demour was about 35 years of age and well liked by employers and associates.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Since the adoption of their platform the Democrats have on a whole been able to maintain a position by far more conservative than that of the centrist element of the party.

Admiral Dewey has been marked on the map by the Democrats, but he does not believe in stopping in the middle of a fight to discuss the ethics of the situation.

The announcement of Admiral Dewey's engagement to Mrs. W. B. Hazen of Washington, has been made. Mrs. Hazen is the widow of General Hazen, who died ten years ago.

"Gunpowder gospel" is what Mr. Bryan sneeringly calls the operation in the Philippines but everyone will concede that it is a vast improvement over "paralytic patriotism."

An exchange says that the wild shriek of the bag pipes is being heard in the land of the Boers. We are really sorry for the Boers for there is no invention more exquisite torturing than the bag pipe.

Pig iron, that homely and unpretentious metal, is an inflexible barometer of the financial condition of the country. When production decreases it is evident that hard times are approaching. When production begins to increase, prosperity returns. Prosperity began to increase with McKinley's election and it still continues.

The following terse reason for Thanksgivng was included in Governor Roosevelt's Thanksgiving proclamation: "It is right that the property that has come to the nation, and for the way in which this great people in the first flush of its mighty manhood is moving forward to meet its destiny, and to do without flinching every duty which that destiny brings it face to face."

It is not surprising that Judge Long, who holds a nine years job on the supreme bench at a salary of $7,000 per year, has declined to enter into the race for the governorship. From appearances Hon. Chase S. Osborn will have no formidable opposition for the nomination. Of course, the usual number of "old stand-bys" will be in the race but all indications point to Osborn's unanimous nomination, if he decides to enter the lists.

It is better to have McKinley times and a few Outspens than Cleveland times and no Outspens.

The way to make this town thoroughly alive is to become enthusiastic about it. Talk for it, work for it. Do something. Have a hand in everything that is going on. There is plenty to do. The business of a town is like one's private life in the respect that if it is neglected it will go to pieces. Every property owner and resident of this town should be interested in the town's progress and future and the way to progress and future is to be on the lookout for conditions that will make a town a better place to live in. What makes a town? The men and women who have an interest in its welfare. Nothing else.

It very largely depends on who is running the crank. When Grover Cleveland was taking a turn at the wheel he said that there was a gold dust chain that turned the gold out of the treasury faster than he could issue bonds and put it in. When McKinley got hold of the crank he turned it the other way and instead of running the gold out of the treasury it turned it in: so that to-day there is more gold in the government vaults than ever before while the banks are full of it, farmers are finding it in their cornfields, in their pig pens and in their cattle pastures, while farm hands, hay makers, farm renters and day laborers are picking up $50 gold pieces right along. Even the women folks are finding gold pieces right along in the hems, necks and poultry yards. Never in the history of the country was gold so plentiful, McKinley has been turning the crank for two and a half years. In that time all the gold that hid out while Cleveland was running the machine has gotten back into business, while 200 millions additional have been brought over from England and scattered over the land. So don't try to deceive yourself. You know this is true, every word of it. So, if the crank is turning to suit you, say so at the polls next November. If you are not pleased and if you would like a change, throw some gravel in the cogs of the machine by voting against the Republican ticket. You can vote just as hard as Cleveland or McKinley and your vote will be counted just as you cast it.

SUPPORTED BY FACT AND EXPERIENCE.

There are no signs of reaction from the general prosperity which pervades the country. Stocks have their ups and downs, and the purely speculative lines drop or rise in the current quotations according as circumstances may assist the manipulators in either direction. But the general prosperity of the people in all legitimate enterprises keeps right on, and the prophets of evil, who hope for political change are based altogether upon the chance of reaction toward hard times, find precious little encouragement in the existing situation and outlook. "Dun's Review" recently said:

It has been for months a wonder that the demand for products was sustained at rates exceeding past standing in any year, notwithstanding the general rise in prices. But the demand does not appear to abate, and the rise in prices continues. A partial explanation is that scarcely any class of products directly consumed by individuals has advanced so much as the wages and employment of labor. With now hands at work in homes, and at 40 to 50 per cent. higher wages, the gain in purchasing power has been quite beyond the rise of 4 per cent. in boots and shoe this year, or 8 per cent. in leather, 5 1/2 per cent. in wooden goods, or 10 1/2 per cent. in wool, and even beyond the rise of 17 per cent. in cotton. But products used in manufacturing and transporting have advanced much more, because of the enormous increase in volume of business done and in anticipated business for the future. Higher prices cause shrinking demand, other things being equal, but this year other things are not equal.

This is Protection's argument, that the gain in wages brings with it a gain in purchasing power that more than makes up for the increase of prices attendant upon exceptional prosperity. It is an argument which has never yet been controverted, and never will be, for it is supported by fact and experience.

STILL COMING.

The time when prosperity began in this country was stated by Senator Allison in a speech at Bloomfield, Iowa, October 20. Mr. Allison said prosperity commenced the day of McKinley's inauguration, and that all promises made by the Republican party had been fulfilled. The precise time of the turn toward prosperity was a little earlier than that mentioned by the Iowa Senator. It was when the count of the votes cast at the Presidential election of November, 1896, showed that Protection, sound money and everything else genuinely American and thoroughly safe and sensible were insured for at least four years to come. The moment that assurance was made clear by the count of the vote prosperity began to arrive. It came slowly at first, but it has kept coming in grand style ever since, and apparently is not yet done coming.

THE FRIEND OF TRUSTS.

The Democratic party hopes by its blatant anti-trust attacks to divert attention from its own disgraceful record. When was any party so subservient to trusts and monopolies as the Democratic party when it was framing its minority of a tariff law under Grover Cleveland? The scandals of the Wilson tariff law have not been forgotten and it was the Democratic majority which kept the business of the country in a state of uncertainty and stagnation while bargains were being made and unmade as to this schedule and to that.

The Democrats of Ohio were presented in this surrender to the monopolies, for their own Senator Hise was one of the leaders and German-anointed Democrat, who to the Wilson tariff law was made to serve the trusts of the monopolies.

The Democrats want no record framing it; tariff law, not according to proposed principles, but in the interests of certain people and corporations. The Democratic party has never yet demonstrated its capability of serving the people and having one so rendered to the trusts what assurance have we that it would not do so again.

The Republican party has stood and will stand by the people.

A Great Trick.

M. B. Peters of Newberry is evidently more of a success at raising potatoes than he is in politics. Last week's Newberry News says: "M. B. Peters can justify a claim to the title of champion potato raiser of the South. Last spring he planted 120,000 sets of potato tubers, and before nearly cultivated them during the summer months, indeed it was something very surprising that they put out more than 100,000, but the crop yielded 11 bushels from this little plot of ground. At this rate an acre of good soil would yield 11,000 bushels of potatoes. Mr. Peters claims that he will be at the head next year."

CONFESSIONS

XII.—Continued.

The words were cut short by the tread of a horse's dead hooves and in a further moment Margaret, her cheeks flushed with exercise, rode into the camp.

"Why, general?" she exclaimed, turning pale. "The general's look at her fairly without speaking."

"I got up early and rode to the house of some friends of mine—a union party."

"To borrow some articles of clothing for the weather is colder than when I left home, and to bring them back for breakfast." She held up a dressed chicken.

He suddenly pulled in his horse. But was unprepared, to Margaret that true to his duty. It bade her good-by, and as he raised his hat with the words: "My kind regards to your good mother," his eyes were fixed on her, and then he said: "I decline to investigate you, my dear sir, for her sake," though this may have been implied by over-pious conscience.

The Window in the Tent. An Old Soldier's Ingenious Way of Securing Ventilation When in the Field.

"I never pull down the window at the top to let in a little fresh air, without I look to the old soldier, who I know of how we used to make the window in the tents in the army in France. An tent, seven feet square at the bottom, and seven feet high, and a ridge pole seven feet above the ground, made comfortable enough quarters for four men if you could get the tent open, which was equivalent to leaving off the front of the house; but if it was cold or rainy, and the wind blew from the front of the tent so that you had to close it, why then you wanted ventilation somewhere, and you got it by making an opening in the back of the tent."

THE TEST THAT FAILED

IF CHANCED that a Youth of Paris, whose upbring had been walking along State street and meditating upon the prodigious size of the Edifices that met the eye, saw into a person whose frank and confident manner, no less than the fashion of his various garments proclaimed him one well vented to the Town.

Being thus fully Assailed, this person swore solemnly, "I perceive that you are the Youth, who was named Perival, that you are one whose Call-

"A YOUTH OF PARIS."
"I am entitled to predict this with the more Assurance as you have neglected to remove from your hair the Seed, fallen from the white wad of Hay that you picked. Is it not ungentle in you to cause the Eyes wherever I look to be blessed by you as you walk abroad? Consider, I beg, whether the Corns of your Fellow Being are not worthy of your regard and whether you do not merit Contemnt at my hands."

This address the Citizen delivered with every mark of the liveliest pleasure, but he appeared incapable of prosecuting his implied threat of Penitence; as he was compelled to stand on one foot, while bearing in his hands the Other upon which Perival had stepped.

"Sir," said Perival, "I pray you believe it was with no malicious purpose that I trod upon your Toe, and I give you out of measure that I should have caused you Pain. Being newly come from an Inconceivable Hamlet, I was in truth amazed at the tallness of the structures which adorn this Thorowfare and looked rather at their nineteenth Stories than upon my path, not considering those whom I might inadvertently Encounter."

"I am persuaded that you intended no Injuriety," said the Citizen, "but he spoke the Recitment expressive in his countenance. And now that I look more closely at you I seem to recognize the features of one for whom I entertained a feeling of Great Regard. Can it be that you are the son of my worthy old Friend and Benefactor?"

"It is indeed the son of Joseph Beanhill, of Duverlie," the ingenious youth replied.

At this disclosure the Citizen, who said that he was called Samuel Stockhead, confessed that he was transported with Pleasure and informed Perival that during his sojourn in the Town it must afford him uncommon gratification to be served.

"I am," he said, "a man of Substance and my Wealth exceeds most Unusually. I have banked against some deserving person upon whom I could bestow my riches, reserving only a modest competence, with which I might supply the necessities of my declining Years. I am assured that you are Temperate, Frugal, Grateful and Contented; for these virtues my old Friend Beanhill possessed most nobly. It was struck with you as the best."

"My dear Sir," said Perival, "I was pure modest, as I have said."

"It meant," explained Master Stockhead, "that your Demonstrations were more than I should receive a Blessing."

Yes, no sooner did Perival begin the sidewalk than the nature of his character by his Disposition (which had been dashed by the Intemperate Conduct of Samuel Stockhead) asserted itself. He thrust his Hands into his Breasted Pockets and his Tongue into his Cheek and hummed Meditatively as he walked away.—Chicago Daily Record.

Recollectiveness of the Henckes.
Jean de Rezzio is the only one of the grand opera singers who it is impossible to hear for private music. He will sing at a grand concert, and he will stand as a fellow-artist, but becomes positively angry when singing in private houses. One night he visited the house of the rich, and he delighted his host by singing a number of songs. The Baron, who had invited him to sing at a private concert, was so pleased, that he ordered a number of times, but was never succeeded, now resolved to reward the singer in what he considered the proper way. At the close of the evening he presented De Rezzio with a bank check for a signed, saying that he did it up for any amount he wished. De Rezzio took the check, and, as he tore it to pieces, said: "My friend, I am very thankful. But I took your check for a piece of paper to be kicked from your door. I sing only for my pleasure."—Chicago Daily Record.

MAN WHO DEFENDED GUTEAU

A Heroic, Unapproachable Hermit Living Alone in a Secluded Spot.

A party of Indiana fishermen just returned from a trip among the remote and unfrequented lakes of northern Indiana, ran across a little cabin occupied by Attorney Sewell, the lawyer who defended the assassin of President Garfield in the trial for the assassination of President Garfield. Sewell was found in a little cabin on the bank of a lake here, where he lives the life of the most rigid recluse, after seeing his belongings. His simple surroundings were simple, and the nearest town, he puts in his time, nobody knows how, as his unknown and remote life is seldom seen outside the walls of the little log cottage, half hidden by the growth of twining vines and underbrush.

From an able, affable and influential lawyer, Sewell has given himself up to a life of solitude. He is said to be a miser, morose, unapproachable hermit, desiring no communication with the world.

A QUAKER WEDDING.

Quaint Episcopal Ceremony Witnessed by a Chicaquean Visiting in the East.

A recent Chicago visitor to the east writes thus descriptively of a Quaker wedding ceremony he had the privilege of attending:

"At a Quaker wedding last week, where there were no display, decorations, music or groomsmen, the affair seemed charged with joy. After a silver of several minutes the guest-arrived, and the bridegroom, taking the hand of the bride, said: 'In the Divine presence and before this assembly take Fatherless—be to my wife and professione husband until death separate us.' The bride replied: 'I take thee, John J. — to be my husband, promising to be a faithful and affectionate husband until death separate us.' The bride replied: 'I take thee, John J. — to be my husband, promising to be a faithful and affectionate husband until death separate us.' A prayer was made, the bridegroom kissed the bride, and after conferring with the officiating minister, the party retired to the dining-room, where the breakfast was served. The table was
