McKinley-Roosevelt

Both Candidates Chosen Unanimously Amid the Greatest Enthusiasm.

Platform Endorses the Administration and Favors the Gold Standard.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—William McKinley has been unanimously re-nominated for president by the Republican national convention. Senator Spooner made the nominating speech and Governor Roosevelt of New York

Copyright, 1900, by Charles A. Gray, President McKinley.

Governor Mount of Indiana and others seconded the nomination. For vice president, Theodore Roosevelt of New York was named by acclamation. He promptly accepted, saying the nomination was so spontaneous he could not decline.

FIRST DAY'S PROCEEDINGS

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—Fully 15,000 people were present in the Exposition building when Chairman Hanna called the 12th Republican national convention to order. Previous to the falling of the gavel the feature of the gathering was the demonstration in honor of Governor Roosevelt on his arrival at the hall. Senators Platt and Dewey were with him but the crowd only had eyes for the hero of San Juan and hundreds of delegates swarmed about him to grasp his hand.

At 12:30 Senator Hanna called the convention to order and Rev. J. Gray Bishop of Philadelphia opened the proceedings with prayer. The secretary of the national committee then read the formal call and again Mr. Hanna was the center of attraction. He is the president-elect's table and occupying the front of the platform, surveyed the crowd of faces, and in a charge, he made his speech of welcome.

"In looking you welcome," he began, "it is a joy to congratulate you on the magnificent representation from the Republican party. There was no mistake in bringing the Republican party to Philadelphia. Here was the cradle of liberty, the birthplace of the republic. Here is the heart of the Republic. Here is the center of that great, thinking, idealistic provision of American citizenship," he said to the president.

Another wave of applause swept over the convention at this mention of the protection of the gold standard. Mr. Hanna proceeded: "We are on the eve of the greatest struggle. Already we are beginning to form a national party under the leadership of our great statesman—William McKinley."

That was the signal and for the first time the convention broke forth in a whirlwind of enthusiasm. Senator Hanna looked down in smiling satisfaction at the tremendous demonstration. Again Mr. Hanna evoked a demonstration when speaking of the approaching campaign he declared: "And with such a leader and such a cause, there is no such word as fail."

As Mr. Hanna closed his speech with a tribute to his colleagues on the national committee and a reference to the close of his chairmanship, he spoke of the sterling advice of the senator from Colorado, Mr. Wolcott, to his party and seconded him to the convention as temporary chairman.

Temporary Chairman Wolcott, Senator Fairbanks, from the first row of delegates, arose and moved that the selection of Senator Wolcott as temporary chairman be approved, and with unanimous vote the delegates so elected Senator Wolcott, who was on the platform, arose and came forward. The appearance of the Colorado center set the convention off like a rocket. With a pleasant air of acknowledgment to Senator Hanna, he turned and addressed the convention.

Senator Wolcott speaks with great rapidity and with, perhaps, somewhat spoiled the effect of his speech. When with outstretched arm he predicted the triumphant election of the Republican ticket in November the audience marveled and when he first mentioned President McKinley's name he could not proceed for a minute owing to the cheering. As he related the history of the four years of Republican administration, the property which had been lost, the victories it had won, the glorious outcome of the Spanish-American war, the campaign of misrepresentation in connection with the

A MOVE IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

A Republican club to be organized. A Preliminary Meeting Held Monday Evening.

A meeting was held at President Crane's office in the Pioneer-Tribune building last Monday evening for the purpose of taking the preliminary steps toward the organization of a county Republican club.

The meeting was largely attended by representative Republicans of the city. Dr. J. M. Sattler was chosen temporary chairman and Geo. E. Holbein temporary secretary.

Upon motion the chairman appointed a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. Crane, Kelso and Nelson to issue a call for a meeting at which time reorganization will be perfected.

"This is a step in the right direction. The party cannot hope to gain any success without concerted action. In no way can this action be secured than by a thorough organization."

MONSTER SHIPMENTS.

Twenty-Seven Thousand Tons of Iron Ore Dock in One Day.

The single day record for shipments of iron ore over one dock at this port was broken yesterday at the L. & E. dock in the upper harbor. In the twenty-four hours from 6 o'clock Thursday night to 6 o'clock last night almost 27,000 tons of ore was put aboard boats. This is much the best record which has ever been made here and it will probably trouble other ports to equal it.—Mining Journal.

APPOINTED STATE BANK EXAMINER.

Mr. H. W. Clark, Treasurer of the Important Position.

Mr. Harry W. Clark of the Manistique Bank, has been appointed state bank examiner to succeed Mr. Sherwood who has resigned. Mr. Clark's many Manistique friends were very pleasantly surprised as they were not aware of the fact that he was an aspirant. The office is one of responsibility and carries a lucrative salary.

The appointment of Mr. Clark gives much satisfaction here. However, he may move to the lower peninsula in the autumn, and this move would be regretted, for Mr. and Mrs. Clark have for many years been important factors in Manistique's social circles.

Mr. Clark has been connected with the Manistique bank for the past ten years and for several years occupied the responsible position of cashier. The success of the bank may in great part be attributed to his efforts.

His appointment is a deserved promotion and the work will be conducted in a careful, intelligent and satisfactory manner.

He will begin his official duties on July 1st.

To the Republican Electors of the State of Michigan... The State Convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Villa... on the 26th day of June, 1900, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of nominating candidates for state officers, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The delegates from the several counties in each congressional district are requested to meet at their respective places at 7 o'clock, on the day of the state convention to select a committee to advise the president, one assistant secretary, one member each of the committees on "Education," "Permanent Organization and Order of Business" and "Resolutions," to be transmitted to the other business as they may deem necessary.

In accordance with the resolution of 1900, each county will be entitled to one delegate for each 500 of the total vote cast for governor at the last election (November 1898), and one additional delegate for every fraction amounting to 300. Each organized county will be entitled to at least two delegates.

It will be recalled to a man who does not reside in the county he proposes to represent, the secretary of each county convention is hereby requested and urged to forward to the chairman of the state central committee, Holland, Mich., by earliest mail after the delegates to the state convention shall be chosen a certified list of such delegates as are entitled to seats in the state convention, from their respective counties.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Menominee county Republicans have elected Osborn and Sheldon delegates.

The way to show your friendship and belief in a newspaper is to advertise in it and subscribe for it.

No town can have too many good citizens; nearly every town has too many don't-care-a-centennial citizens.

Devey has decided to withdraw from politics. This is the wisest thing he has done since he reached American soil.

If Sheldon does not win out on the first ballot the congressional nomination may go to Smith of Marquette or Mead of Delta.

There never was a year in which conscientious Democrats had more difficulty in finding reasons for voting their party tickets.

The copper county papers say that Mead is counting on Schoolcraft county's two votes in the congressional convention.

Congressman Sheldon is looking after his political fences at present. With four or five candidates in the field his fences need close attention.

The Chinese "Boxers" is an organization opposed to progress. It differs from the Democratic party of this country in that it uses violence instead of chaparral.—Kansas City Journal.

The real test of a man's financial ability these days is the sort of potatoes he buys. If he is a plutocrat he is buying the new crop. If he is one of the "great plain people" last year's potatoes will satisfy him.

When a man says he is a Democrat, it is unfortunate that he is compelled to stop and explain what kind of a Democrat he is. There are so many kinds, the gold Democrats, free silver Democrats, Cleveland Democrats, Fusion Democrats, social democracy Democrats, Altgeld anarchist Democrats.

This thing of getting a livelihood may seem common, but really it is the most mysterious thing in life. There is no mystery about it if you will please inform us how a loafer manages to live as well and dress as the man who works? And how does the fellow who spends every cent he earns "retires" in the prime of life, and hasn't the shadow of means of support? How does the fellow with a calico dress shy his family in silk?

People agree that truth sounds pretty, that it is profitable to use and that it makes the user better and happier. People also agree that falsehood always loses in the end, and that it undermines happiness and destroys self-respect. Why do people persist in being liars when it is positively against their own interests? So many persons are too conservative to try a new departure. Do not be afraid of truth because you are not familiar with it. It may occur to you that it would be quite a plunge to adopt truth right at once, but try it anyway. Tell the truth, be just, be honest and you will not live in vain.

ANENT COMMENCEMENT DAY.

Commencement is the time when the beauties of nature are combining with the glory of youth to make a symphony. If a man has any kind of a heart in him he ought to be able to feel it beat at commencement time.

Thomson's words all over the land are coming forward upon a lofty platform to greet a sea of smiling faces and to feel that it is a great moment of their lives. What a splendid thing it is to have lived so little and to have so much of life's rich possibilities spreading in the future. The world loves youth. It greets it with ardent admiration. Youth is king. It rules the hearts of all the earth.

Let him find us attentive and serious if he tells us that "Beyond the Alps lies Italy." Let us accept it as a solemn fact for the first time disclosed to mortal ears. It is geographically correct, at least.

When he says to us "Hope on, Hope Ever" let us grasp the advice and hug it to our warm hearts and pray again that we ever may have faith to hope on, and when he says his eager face and with the willingness of youth to scotch all counter-voices, fling at us that awful interrogatory, "Whither are we drifting," let us lend our ears again—we are always drifting, hence it is a lives subject. When he drops into the rosy optimism of his days and assures us that "Behind the Clouds the Sun is Shining," let us accord him credit for his discovery.

It is new with him and it is as important as any great truth of life. He will tell us that "Night Brings Out the Stars," and let us pray as we hear him, that if the night of adversity ever overtakes him his virtues and character will but shine the brighter for the dark days. Heaven bless the graduate. For the time of his life when he first learns to walk, there is no moment when he appeals to us as strongly as this when he takes his first confident and bounding step from the training school of his youth to the greater training school of the world.

The training school, through whose portals the graduates of Friday next will pass, is but the kindergarten of the world's school. The lessons taught and the knowledge acquired will be of great worth in the struggle that will follow, but character, singleness of purpose and intense application are the essentials.

Education alone will not solve life's problems. Let us all attend the commencement exercises and by our presence and attention encourage the young ladies and young gentlemen who have completed the course in our local schools, and who are now stepping into a field of battle, world wide in extent. They will need encouragement and assistance, for life's battle is a merciless and relentless one.

AMERICAN WIDENING HORIZON.

The wise and broad-minded Americanism which has ever characterized President James B. Angell of the University of Michigan is strikingly displayed in his address to the graduates of 1900. Dr. Angell is not only a great educational administrator, but he also has the training of a diplomat and the mind of a statesman.

While lesser men look backward and would have their country try to evade its duties, Dr. Angell looks fearlessly forward into America's widening horizon and summons the nation's young manhood to greater responsibilities and more strenuous endeavor.

Expansion is a great fact, whose far-reaching consequences neither Dr. Angell nor any other patriotic American wishes to avoid. The United States has entered upon a new and grander era of national life, and would not without dishonor and confession of national incompetence, even if it would, return to its old seclusion from world interests. The American people have attained a station in the world such as they never had before and which they will not abandon. As Dr. Angell well says:

"On all the seas our flag is treated with a respect that thrills our hearts with pride. We touch the whole world more closely than ever before. Every power takes into serious account our opinion, our wishes, our policy, upon all questions that concern them and us. The fact is patent to all that in many respects we have a closeness of relations with foreign powers heretofore unknown, and in their eyes we have an importance and prestige not recognized until now. The United States could not reverse the events which have brought it into its present commanding position even if it wished to do so. Should this nation immediately leave Cuba to herself and try to drop the Philippines it could not obliterate the deeds which gave those islands into our possession, and would still exert in both the East and West Indies an influence hitherto unknown. The deeds and the annexations of territory in which they have resulted have convinced both European and Asiatic nations that we must be reckoned with in the solution of the Chinese and other problems with which we were not supposed to be concerned. The position of the United States is clearly defined by Dr. Angell when he says:

"(We) indulge in empty rhetoric when we say that with or without the isthmian canal we must be a great Pacific power. Whatever land in Asia or America is washed by the waves of the great sea cannot be secluded from the commercial and naval power which fully 5,000 miles of Pacific coast line, without counting the Philippines or Hawaii."

Neither nations nor men can escape their environment. Recognizing this fact, and confronting the new duties before the American people, President Angell summons educated men to the leadership demanded by the problems of our new possessions. The nation needs, not never before, honest and capable men to guide aright its wards; and to convince them and other nations that it is equal to the tasks it has assumed. The call is an inspiring one, and American manhood will answer it. The United States will not fail, its widening horizon will not be contracted, but its people will go forward with their mission, and in a grander example of liberty regulated by law.

A LONESOME PAPER.

It has just been stated and widely published that the State of Kansas has but one inmate at the State poor farm. Poverty seems to be the one thing which doesn't thrive in Kansas this year.

Kansas is chiefly an agricultural State, and its people are now in a position to give strong testimony to the fact, which has been proved over and over again in the past, that when American industrial interests prosper, when American factories are running with a full complement of hands, as they have been running under the Dingley law, as they have always run when we have had Protective Tariff, the farm heaps along step for step with the factories in the onward prosperous movement. The factory workers have to be fed, and when they are prosperous the farmers who supply them with food are prosperous. Experience has justified reason in proving that the Protective Tariff is quite as much for the advantage of the farmer as for that of the manufacturer.—American Economist.

BENEFITS TO HUMBLE WORKERS.

There has been an increase of $407,600,000 in the savings bank deposits in the United States, and an increase of 400,000 in the number of savings bank depositors since 1894, the year when the Free-Trade in power presented us with the Wilson-Gorman Law. Savings bank depositors are not capitalists; they are not, as a rule, even among those who are classed as "well to do." They consist mostly of people who work for daily wages, or on small salaries. The figures gathered from the savings bank records, therefore, show that it is not the capitalists alone, as the Free-Traders would like to have us believe, who derive benefits from the Protective Tariff. It is made very plain that the benefits flowing from Protection are shared in by the humblest of those who are willing to work.—American Economist.

YOU BET THEY DO.

The republicans of Schoolcraft county know how to do things properly, as was demonstrated at their convention last week. They elected delegates to the state convention, instructed for Osborn for governor; to the congressional convention instructed for Sheldon and invited Hon. Geo. P. McCallum to select the delegates for the republican convention.—Grand Marais Leader.

Admiral Dewey told a Grand Rapids interviewer that Bryan will be nominated at Kansas City and will be "whipped to a finish." This is the opinion of an expert in finish fights, too, and effectually disposes of the proposed Bryan and Dewey ticket.

The latest cyclone story is about a cow that was picketed. The wind blew her off the earth and held her there at the end of the rope, the picket staying in the ground. When the wind ceased to blow the cow walked down the tight rope and resumed grazing.

Menominee county on Saturday fulfilled the expectations of Congressman Sheldon by electing a straight Sheldon delegation to the coming congressional convention in the Twelfth, the third county to instruct its delegates for the sitting congressman. Ontonagon also gladdened the heart of the man from Houghton by making an instructed delegation from that county a certainty next Wednesday, when its convention will be held.

The hand organ is starting and those who do not wish to get hurt should get on board now.—Mining Gazette.

Without a doubt, Hon. Geo. P. McCallum, of Manistique, will be recommended for representative in the state legislature from the Delta district, Schoolcraft, his home county, has elected delegates whom Mr. McCallum had the honor to name, and Alger county has elected delegates next week favorable to him. These two counties can nominate, even though Delta should oppose Mr. McCallum. But there is no reason why that county should oppose him, as he has had but one opponent according to republican usage, is entitled to another. He certainly made a good record in the '95 session of the legislature. His honesty and integrity are unclouded, and these qualities in connection with a character which is above reproach qualifies him, for and entitles him to another term.—Mining Republican.

We have our notion as to how certain things within the Republican fold of Schoolcraft county ought to be, but we have another notion. The other one is that our petty quarrels are as nothing when compared with the great good of the county. All America's interests are at stake in the coming election. The wages of the laborer, the prosperity of the farmer, the laborer, the welfare of all depend upon the reelection of President McKinley, on sending to Washington a congress to support him. Line up!

When the Republicans do nothing to suppress the trusts the Democrats accuse them of friendliness therefore. When they attempt some measure that would really accomplish something in the way of suppressing this evil the Democrats say they do it simply for political effect. The position of the Democratic party may be correctly summed up in these words. If the Republican party does anything, it is wrong, and we are against it because it is wrong. If it happens to do anything that is right, and we can't deny it then it was done for political effect, and we are against it anyway.

Representative George P. McCallum of Manistique, who is a candidate for re-nomination, appears to have no marked opposition. Mr. McCallum is a young man of recognized ability, energetic, self-reliant and possessor of good judgment. During the past two years he served his district ably, and is certainly entitled to another term. That Mr. McCallum does well anything he undertakes is shown by the record he has made as deputy collector of internal revenue, in which position he has won the distinction of being one of the hardest working and most successful deputies in his district he ever had. The interests of the Delta representative district will not be neglected at Lansing (if assigned to him for another term.—Escanaba Journal).

The Detroit Free Press says: Among the politicians that visited Detroit yesterday was State Salt Inspector J. B. Caswell, of Bay City: "The Grand Rapids convention is going to be the liveliest that Michigan has had in years," Mr. Caswell predicted. "Of the 34 delegates to the convention, more than 700 will be divided in support between Stearns, Ferry and Ellis. It really looks as if there is a mighty good chance for a dark horse. There is not the slightest chance of a nomination being made until several ballots have been cast, and if the pledged delegations stand pat the convention will be deadlocked. When the cooler heads size up the situation and perceive the possibility of a personal antagonism growing out of the contest that will injure the party when the convention is over, they will swing around to the support of some man who will be acceptable to all factions without a loss of dignity. I do not think that this dark horse would be other than some of those whose names have already been mentioned for the honor—Campbell, Caborn, or some one like that."

If there is no mystery about it you will please inform us how a loafer manages to live as well and dress as the man who works? And how does the fellow who spends every cent he earns "retire" in the prime of life, and hasn't the shadow of means to support? How does the fellow with a calico salary dress his family in silk?

People agree that truth sounds pretty, that it is profitable to use and that it makes the user better and happier. People also agree that falsehood always loses in the end, and that it undermines happiness and destroys self-respect. Why do people persist in being liars when it is positively against their own interests? So many persons are so conservative to try a new deuce, do not be afraid of truth because you are not familiar with it. It may occur to you that it would be quite a plunge to adopt truth right at once, but try it anyway. Tell the truth, be just, be honest, and you will not live in vain.

AMERICAN COMMENCEMENT DAY.
 Commencement is the time when the beauties of nature are combining with the glory of youth to make a symphony. If a man has any kind of a heart in him he ought to be able to feel it beat at commencement time. Thousands of youths all over the land are coming forward upon a flowery platform to greet a sea of smiling faces and to feel that it is a great moment of their lives.

What a splendid thing it is to have lived so little and to have so much of life's rich possibilities spreading in the future. The world loves youth. It greets it with adulation. Youth is king. It laughs not at the start of the graduate. It is hallowed because it is his commencement. He has come far to face with the world.

Let him find us attentive and serious if he tells us that "Beyond the Alps lies Italy." Let us accept it as a solemn fact for the first time disclosed to mortal ears. It is geographically correct, at least.

When he says to us "Hope on, Hope Ever" let us grasp the advice and hug it to our warm hearts and shout again that we ever may have faith to hope on, and when he raises his eager face and with the willingness of youth to settle all controversies, fling at us that awful interrogatory, "Whether are we Drifting," let us lend our ears again—we are always drifting, hence it is a live subject. When he drops into the rosy optimism of his days and assures us that "behind the Clouds the Sun is Shining," let us accord him credit for his discovery.

It is new with him and it is as important as any great truth of life. He will tell us that "Night brings Out the Stars," and let us pray as we hear him, that if the night of adversity ever overtakes him his virtues and character will but shine the brighter for the dark days. Heaven bless the graduate. For the time of his life when he first learns to walk, there is no moment when he appeals to us as strongly as this when he takes his first confident and bounding step from the training school of his youth to the greater training school of the world.

The training school, through whose portals the graduates of Friday next will pass, is but the kindergarten of the world's school. The lessons taught and the knowledge acquired will be of great worth in the struggle that will follow, but character, singleness of purpose and intense application are the essentials.

Education alone will not solve life's problems.

Let us all attend the commencement exercises and by our presence and attention encourage the young ladies and young gentlemen who have completed the course in our local schools, and who are now stepping into a field of battle, world wide in extent. They will need encouragement and assistance, for life's battle is a merciless and relentless one.

AMERICAN WIDENING HORIZON.
 (After Osborn.)
 The wise and broad-minded Americanism which has ever characterized President James B. Angell of the University of Michigan is strikingly displayed in his address to the graduates of 1900. Dr. Angell is not only a great educational administrator, but he also has the training of a diplomat and the mind of a statesman. While lesser men look backward and would have their country try to evade its duties, Dr. Angell looks fearlessly forward into America's widening horizon and summons the nation's young manhood to greater responsibilities and more strenuous endeavor.

Expansion is a great fact, whose far-reaching consequences neither Dr. Angell nor any other patriotic American wishes to avoid. The United States has entered upon a new and grander era of national life, and could not without dishonor and confession of national incompetence, even if it would, return to its old seclusion from world interests. The American people have attained a station in the world such as they never had before and which they will not abandon. As Dr. Angell well says:

"On all thousand flags is treated with a respect that thrills our hearts with pride. We touch the world more closely than ever before. Every power takes interest in our opinion, our wishes, our policy, upon all questions that concern them and us. The fact is patent to all that in many respects we have a closeness of relations with foreign powers heretofore unknown, and in their eyes we have an importance and prestige not recognized until now. The United States could not reverse the events which have brought it into its present commanding position even if it wished to do so. Should the nation immediately leave Cuba to herself and try to obliterate the deeds which gave those islands into our possession, and would still court in both the East and West Indies an influence hitherto unknown. The deeds and the annexations of territory in which they have resulted have convinced both European and Asiatic nations that we must be reckoned with in the solution of the Chinese and other problems with which we were not supposed to be concerned. The position of the United States is clearly defined by Dr. Angell when he says:

"We challenge in no empty rhetoric when we say that with or without the Sulu canal we must be a great Pacific power. Whatever land in Asia or America is washed by the waves of the great sea cannot be isolated from the commercial and naval power which fully 5,000 miles of Pacific coast line, without counting the Philippines or Hawaii."

Neither nations nor men can escape their environment. Recognizing this fact and confronting the new duties before the American people, President Angell summons educated men to the leadership demanded by the problems of our new possessions. The nation needs, as never before, honest and capable men to guide aright its wars and to convince them and other nations that it is equal to the tasks it has assumed. The call is an inspiring one, and American manhood will answer it. The United States will not fail, its widening horizon will not be contracted, but its people will go forward with their mission, setting to all mankind an ever greater example of liberty regulated by law.

A LANSOME FACTER.
 It has just been stated and widely published that the State of Kansas has but one inmate at the State poor farm. Poverty seems to be the one thing which doesn't thrive in Kansas this year. Kansas is chiefly an agricultural State, and its people are now in a position to give strong testimony to the fact, which has been proved over and over again in the past, that when American industrial interests prosper, when American factories are running with a full complement of hands, as they have been running under the Dingley law, as they have always run when we have had Protective Tariff, the farm keeps along step with the factories in the onward prosperous movement. The factory workers have to be fed, and when they are prosperous the farmers who supply them with food are prosperous. Experience has justified reason in proving that the Protective Tariff is quite as much for the advantage of the farmer as for that of the manufacturer.—American Economist.

BENEFITS TO HUMBLE WORKERS.
 There has been an increase of $407,600,000 in the savings bank deposits in the United States, and an increase of 400,000 in the number of savings bank depositors since 1894, the year when the Free-Trade ers in power presented us with the Wilson-Gorman law. Savings bank depositors are not capitalists; they are not, as a rule, even among those who are classed as "well to do." They consist mostly of people who work for daily wages, or on small salaries. The figures gathered from the savings banks records, therefore, show that it is not the capitalists alone, as the Free-Trade law would like to have us believe, who derive benefits from the Protective Tariff. It is made very plain that the benefits flowing from Protection are shared in by the humblest of those who are willing to work.—American Economist.

YOU BET THEY DO.
 The Republicans of Schoolcraft county know how to do things properly, as was demonstrated at their convention last week. They elected delegates to the state convention, instructed for Osborn for governor; to the congressional convention instructed for Sheldon and invited Sen. Geo. F. McGowan to select the delegates for the republican convention.—Grand Marais Leader.

Admiral Dewey told a Grand Rapids interviewer that Bryan will be nominated at Kansas City and will be "whipped to a finish." This is the opinion of an expert in finish fights, too, and effectually disposes of the proposed Bryan and Dewey ticket.

The latest cyclone story is about a cow that was picketed. The wind blew off the earth and held her there at the end of the rope, the picket staying in the ground. When the wind ceased to blow the cow walked down the tight rope and resumed grazing.

Menominee county on Saturday fulfilled the expectations of Congressman Sheldon by electing a straight Sheldon delegation to the coming congressional convention in the Twelfth, the third county to instruct its delegates for the sitting congressman. Ontonagon also gladdened the heart of the man from Houghton by making an instructed delegation from that county certainly next Wednesday, when its convention will be held. The band wagon is starting and those who do not wish to get hurt should get on board now.—Mining Gazette.

Without a doubt, Hon. Geo. P. McCallum of Manistique will be nominated for representative in the state legislature from the Delta district. Schoolcraft, his home county, has elected delegates whom Mr. McCallum had the honor to name, and Alger county will elect delegates next week favorable to him. These two counties can nominate, even though Delta should oppose Mr. McCallum. But there is no reason why that county should oppose him, as he has had but one term, and according to republican usage, is entitled to another. He certainly made a good record in his 99 session of the legislature. His honesty and integrity are undoubted, and these qualities in connection with a character which is above reproach qualifies him for, and entitles him to another term.—Mining Republican.

We have our notion as to how certain things within the Republican fold of Schoolcraft county ought to be, but we have another notion. The other one is that our petty quarrels are as nothing when compared with the great good of the country. All America's interests are at stake in the coming election. The wages of the laborer, the prosperity of the farmer, the laborer, the welfare of all depend upon the reelection of President McKinley, on sending to Washington a congress to support him. Live up!

When the Republicans do nothing to suppress the trusts the Democrats accuse them of friendliness therefore. When they attempt some measure that would really accomplish something in the way of suppressing this evil the Democrats say they do it simply for political effect. The position of the Democratic party may be correctly summed up in these words. If the Republican party does anything, it is wrong, and wears against it because it is wrong. If it happens to do anything that is right, and we can't deny it then it was done for political effect, and we are against it anyway.

Representative George P. McCallum of Manistique, who is a candidate for renomination, appears to have no marked oppositor. Mr. McCallum is a young man of recognized ability, energetic, self reliant and possessed of good judgment. During the past two years he served his district ably, and is certainly entitled to another term. That Mr. McCallum does well anything he undertakes is shown by the record he has made as deputy collector of internal revenue, in which position he has never the distinction of being one of the hardest working and most successful deputies in his district who ever had. The interests of the Delta representative district will not be neglected at Lansing if consigned to him for another term.—Escanaba Journal.

The Detroit Free Press says: Among the politicians* that visited Detroit yesterday was State Salt Inspector J. B. Caswell, of Bay City: "The Grand Rapids convention is going to be the liveliest that Michigan has had in years," Mr. Caswell predicted. "Of the 841 delegates to the convention, more than 700 will be divided in support between Stearns, Ferry and Bliss. It really looks as if there is a mighty good chance for a dark horse. There is not the slightest chance of a nomination being made until several ballots have been cast, and if the pledged delegations stand pat the convention will be deadlocked. When the cooler heads size up the situation and perceive the possibility of a personal antagonism growing out of the contest that will injure the party when the convention is over, they will swing around to the support of some man who will be acceptable to all factions without a loss of dignity. I do not think that this dark horse would be other than some of those whose names have already been mentioned for the honor.—Campbell, Osborn, or someone like that."

Philippines which its enemies had in augmented and which it had not, the convention repeatedly broke into applause.

Delegates from Roosevelt.
The call of the bill of states for the submission of members of the various committees then began. It proved a tedious process and the convention was virtually in recess as the names were handed in.

While the lists were being brought to the stage, Governor Roosevelt, holding a regular levee in the pit. Delegates swarmed toward him from all directions. In some cases the names were handed to him warmly. The New Mexico delegates with broad smiles climbed over seats in their eagerness to get to him and shake his hand. Chairman Payne and other big guns of the New York delegation were likewise.

After the reading of the committees was concluded, Rev. Edgar M. Levy, who believed the nomination of the first Republican convention in this city 41 years ago, delivered a benediction. The convention then adjourned until noon.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

Second Day's Session Devoted to Committee Reports.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—When Senator Wolcott called the second day's session of the Republican national convention to order at 12:30 the great hall was black with people. Rev. Charles M. Boswell opened the proceedings with prayer. Senator Wolcott then introduced the 12 members of the first Republican convention held at Pittsburgh 44 years ago and the audience rose in mass and cheered loudly and long.

When the storm of applause ceased the delegation read a resolution declaring their unwavering allegiance to the party they had helped to bring forth.

This incident over the chairman was recognized Congressman Payne of New York, chairman of committee on credentials, who mounted the platform and read the report of the committee. The report read Mr. Payne denounced the previous session called to order on behalf of New Jersey, and Mr. Martin, on behalf of Indiana, seconded the demand, which was ordered. Under the rules under which the convention was operating, 30 minutes on a side for debate, but no one demanded the floor and the report was just through with a whirl.

Logic for Permanent Chairman.
General Governor of Ohio, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, made the report of the committee selecting Senator Henry O'Connell of Massachusetts for permanent chairman. It was adopted unanimously and Mr. Lodge was elected to the platform and began his address.

Mr. Lodge's voice showed splendid carrying power and his intense earnestness, the beauty of diction and the frequent tributes to the achievements of the party appealed to his audience and

THEODORE ROOSEVELT brought constant and long continued applause.

His reference to Havari and the presence of representatives of that now a question brought the delegates to their feet in greeting to the Hawaiians. When he referred to Henry Clay of Kentucky, the delegates from that state voted their approval and other states added a sympathetic demonstration. Mr. Lodge's references to the policy of the government toward Cuba and the Philippines brought out frequent manifestations of approval. His brilliant tributes to the American soldiers fighting in the tropics cheered with the well-rounded sentence, "They are our soldiers and we will sustain them."

Senator Lodge concluded at 1:17. He had spoken 50 minutes.

The adoption of the report of the committee on rules caused considerable delay but was finally disposed of.

The Platform Proposed.
With this out of the way Senator Fairbanks, chairman of the committee on resolutions, was recognized to present the platform to the convention.

The Indiana senator received a warm reception as he mounted the stage but when he began to read scores of delegates and alternates got up and began filing out of the hall. The confusion became so great that Senator Fairbanks was unable to proceed and Senator Lodge was compelled to come forward and appeal for order.

Senator Fairbanks concluded the reading of the platform at 2:30. He moved that the platform be adopted and on that motion demanded the previous question. The demand was seconded by Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota and Senator Sewall of New Jersey. The demand was agreed to, and the motion then was declared by Chairman Lodge to be unanimously adopted.

Naming of Committees.
The announcement of the adoption of the platform was received with enthusiastic cheers. Chairman Lodge then called for announcements from the various delegations of members of the committee on resolutions. The call was then taken and each of the well known and prominent men, as their names were announced, were greeted with applause.

nounced as the choice of the Pennsylvania delegation for member of the national committee half of the delegates and hundreds of spectators were on their feet in an instant, cheering as if mad.

At the conclusion of the reading of the late Senator Foner made a motion to adjourn until 10 a. m. The motion prevailed without dissent and at 8:15 p. m. the convention adjourned.

MAKING THE NOMINATIONS

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The third and greatest day of the Republican national convention was called to order by Chairman Lodge at 10:38 in the presence of the largest and loudest audience yet in attendance. The weather was unacceptably warm and the temperature of the room was decidedly oppressive. As on the two previous days Governor Roosevelt was the main attraction and received the greatest ovation on his arrival at the hall.

At 10:38 Chairman Lodge glanced at his watch and then he raised his historic hat and the hall was filled with the sound of the national anthem. Senator Hanna being the first to rise and the entire audience following as the singing strains reverberated through the building. As the anthem closed the chairman announced the opening invocation by Archbishop Ryan.

Objectable Amendment Withdrawn.
The chair then laid the amendment to the rules offered by Mr. Quay as the unfinished business before the convention. As the chair laid away at the mention of Quay's name the short and sturdy figure of the Pennsylvania delegate stepped to the front of the platform. Mr. Quay announced the withdrawal of the amendment and a change in the rules and 11 referring to representation in national conventions. This was the closest attention by the vast audience in fact very much more attention than given by any other speaker. When he departed the cheering and applause were in fact very much more attention than given by any other speaker. When he departed the cheering and applause were of the United States in the far-off islands and presenting in a sentence the claim of this country upon the archipelago, the governor demanded loud and hearty applause. "Is America a weakling that she should shrink from the work of a great world power. The giant of the west, like the gladiator of old, looks into the future with pride and expectancy, which the love of his institutions have made dear to us."

When the convention settled down the chairman recognized Senator Thurston of Nebraska for a speech seconding the nomination of the president.

Convention Getting Hotted.
Disregarding the call for vote Chairman Lodge recognized George Knight, who seconded the nomination of McKinley. It was a glowing eulogium to the statesman-soldier president. It was apparent that the convention was eager for definite results and a growing line rolled through the hall as Governor Mont of Indiana, who in behalf of the state, seconded the nomination of McKinley.
