MANISTIQUE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1901

$1.50 PER YEAR.

From the Philippines.

JOSEPH SCHNEIDER, A MANISTIQUE BOY, RETURNS FROM THE PHILIPPINES WHERE HE SAW DUTY.

GIVES AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF THE PRESENT SITUATION.

Joseph Schneider, a former resident of this city, who has seen service in the Philippines, arrived in the city last Saturday. He was a member of Co. I, 15th Regt., enlisting from this city. After the return of the company, he went to Grand Rapids and received orders for service in the Philippines. He was mustered in at Fort Sheridan, Chicago on Sept. 6th, 1899 as a member of Co. H 30th Infantry U. S. Volunteers and arrived in the Philippines on Oct. 25. His regiment saw service in southern Luzon. While there he participated in sixteen battles, the principal one being the battle of San Diego. Returning he left Manila on March 17th of this year and was mustered out at San Francisco on April 3rd. He accompanied his company to Grand Rapids where a monster reception was given the boys. Out of his regiment 203 men were killed and wounded.

Schneider tells very interestingly concerning his experiences in the tropics and rather enjoyed the two years spent there. He was in the hospital only three days during the whole time that he was absent and looks as rugged as the day when he worked in the camps headquarters before his enlistment.

He says that the Filipinos are an intelligent race, as a whole, but that the people living in the interior of the islands are ignorant and controlled by a few educated schemers.

These adventurers keep them in ignorance of passing events, and he says that many of the inhabitants have not yet learned that they are no longer controlled by Spain. The natives are short in stature--about five feet tall, slender and well muscled, and that the women as a whole are extremely handsome. The native soldier is a coward and will not fight in the open. They are pastmasters in ambushing but are poor marksmen.

He did not see Aguinaldo but saw his wife and child. He says that if Aguinaldo is released the natives would assassinate him for the cowardly murder of one of his staff officers, who was shot at Aguinaldo's command.

HER FATHER DIES.

Mrs. John Gayar's father died at Oshkosh, Wis., Monday evening upon receipt of a telegram announcing the illness of her father, William Carrick, who is 87 years of age.

Letters: When Mrs. Gayar arrived at Oshkosh Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, she ascertained that her father had died on Sunday morning. The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon.

The deceased was born in New Brunswick, Canada, and had resided in Oshkosh for the past thirty years. He leaves a widow and three children: Willard, and Geo. F. of Oshkosh, and Mrs. Gayar of this city. Mrs. Gayar has the sympathy of all in her affliction.

Holmson Awakened.

Theodore Holmson's shoe and gent's furnishings store in the Bestman block was closed Tuesday of this week, under a trust deed given to the Manistique Bank. It is estimated that the liabilities will be about $5,500 with assets from $2,000 to $2,500. Holmson is a good business man but the shoe business has been woefully overdone in Manistique in recent years.

A Satisfactory Test.

Chief Loose gave the Eastman nozzle a thorough test at the dock Tuesday afternoon and they proved superior in every respect to the ones at present in use. They are so constructed that they throw a solid stream of water instead of spray. The department has three of the new nozzle, 1 1/2, 1, and 3/4 inches.

A Valuable Find.

Mr. Miller of the American House, has in his possession a very valuable memento of bygone days. It is a copper knife or spear point, which was found on his Indian Lake farm at a depth of five feet from the surface. It may have been dropped there by the mound builders who made pilgrimages to the Lake Superior country in quest of copper. The fact that they secured copper from the upper peninsula is well authenticated by history, and the knife or spear point now in Mr. Miller's possession evidently is of very ancient origin.

Messrs. John Oldwell of Westford, and Kirby of Saginaw, deputy tax commissioners are in the county this week looking over the assessments.

Reports Golden Star All Right.

K. P. Chappell has returned from the Golden Star mine, and reports everything moving along nicely. A diamond drill is being used in prospecting on the property. A three foot vein of copper was struck at 56 feet. The ore assays 10 per cent. Recently in one drift, one vein encountered that assayed $400 per ton; in another drift the ore assayed $6.50. The stamp mill is now in operation.

Should Bid for Trenches Trade.

If you have any doubts about Manistique having an ideal summer climate, peruse Jesse Randall's weather report in this issue. Were a little money expended in having the appearance of the town, and in advertising its superior climate, Manistique would take front rank with the tourist towns of the upper peninsula. We hope that some day the citizens will become interested in public opinion to construct a boulevard, along the lake shore, also to plant trees.

Notice of Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Manistique & Northwestern Railway Company will be held at the office of the company in the City of Manistique, Michigan, on the first Wednesday in August, A. D. 1901, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors of said company, and such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Reduced rates on Soo Line. The Maccozbes have secured reduced rates of the Soo Line for all points, for the rally to be at Manistique on Aug. 15th. The rate rate is one and one-fifth of regular fare. Tickets will be sold on the 14th good to return on the 16th.

The School Election--How Held.

The next annual school meeting will be held on the first Tuesday in September.

Presenting Attorney Hixson states that under the new charter the election must be held in the same manner as the regular municipal elections. The polls will be open all day and blank tickets will undoubtedly be furnished upon which the voters will register their choice.

THE REMAINS IDENTIFIED.

Nels Mattison of Reston, was the name of the man killed last Thursday evening. In last week's issue of this paper we mentioned a gruesome find on the brake beam of the Soo Line lining car--a human arm.

Two Surprises.

While milking my cow three weeks ago I was kicked on the left side above the kidneys. The bruise instead of getting well in a few days, as is usually the case, became a good deal worse. It would seem as though somebody was cutting the flesh open from the hip to ankle, whenever I would step upon the left foot. I am sure a real knife cut could not have been more painful. The pain would start at the small of my back, and run down my entire side and limb. I could do a little light work, when seated at a table, but I could not sew on my sewing-machine, walk or milk my cows. If I started to walk, the pain would be so intense, I would have to give up and go to bed. I had stomach trouble, had no appetite, ate very little, even what I did eat distressed me terribly. I tried doctors' prescriptions, liniments, patent medicines, which gave me a little relief but not a cure. One day, my husband, engineer on tug Gifford heard of a "peculiar doctor" who was spending his vacation in Manistique. All he had heard was that he "punched the back" for ninety-nine out of every hundred diseases. Upon investigation he found that while the theory set forth was penurious and entirely opposite to anything he had heard of before, yet it was so practical in its application, that he decided as a last resort, to have him treat me.

It was the examination given by B. J. Palmer, that gave me my first surprise. He said, the shock that I received from the accident, was so severe, that it lacerated one of the bars vertebrae of the spine, and that that misplacement was cutting off the supply of those nerves that ran to that side, and limb. That those sensory nerves were partially dead for want of nerve force. And after two weeks treatment it proved that the philosophy of the science called "CHIROPRACTIC, WAS RIGHT!" although druggists may laugh at their theories they are well worth their investigations.

I give Chiropractor the credit for making me a well woman, which was my second and by far my greatest surprise. I would advise any one suffering with any acute or chronic troubles to investigate Chiropractic, while B. J. Palmer is here. Owing to the fact that this vacation will be short, it will be well to investigate at once. He is stopping at Mr. G. Keils on River St.

FACTS ABOUT LIGHTNING

The cause of the thunderstorm is really with us, and the annual cycle of lightning is before us.

From all points of the compass there falls one of a million parts being struck by the deadly bolt of the ruin and destruction which on a church, member of the man who is struck, and comes with the force of lightning.

These facts, that are not understood and well substantiated facts to read more deeply in human history, the four of thunderstorms, it may occur in deed, that the fear of thunder and lightning has not been fixed by heredity into an hereditary trait. From the very earliest times of recorded human history lightning has been the dread inspired by the heavenly electric deity.

Recent and ancient attempts to account for the fear of electric lightning can find no reasonable explanation of it. It is clearly proved that lightning is responsible for only a small fraction of 1 per cent of the world's desecrated. The unreasoning impulse to life seems natural and inherent on the basis of snakes. One explanation of the fear is that the terrific power of the lightning naturally arouses terror. But this scarcely explains when one considers that the majority of persons have never seen any one or anything struck by lightning. Years, however, are required to eradicate the memory from the minds of those who have seen something fearful and almost supernatural about the swiftness and force of the stroke that makes it a terror even to the lightning.

To the question, "What is lightning?" the ordinary person will reply that it is an electric discharge from the clouds. Asked to explain further its origin, development, etc., and the answers become very nonsensical and finally a flash of lightning. The usual scientific explanation, that is possibly correct and sufficiently accurate for every man, is that lightning is a discharge of superfluous atmospheric electricity. The earth becomes charged in hot weather, smothered with electricity, which takes the form of currents. The earth's envelope of atmosphere is also necessarily charged. Evaporation carries a minute charge of electricity upward with each tiny globe of moisture, and the charged electricity rises into the cooler strata of upper air will no longer support them. Down comes the rain cloud, charged with the positive electricity that has been given off by the earth. The latter has retained a negative charge. When the "clouds" meet, the lightning flashes. In cases of rough or rough give the little one or two Minutes Gough Cure. Then rest easy and have no fear. The child will be all right in a little while. It never fails. Pleasant to take, always safe, sure and almost instantaneous in effect. A. S. Putnam.

The firm of Barber & Starr, Toledo, Ohio, sustained a loss of $10,000 to $15,000 last Monday by fire. The fire started in a portion of their store, which was destroyed by lightning. The loss is fully covered by insurance. Mr. Starr is a brother of Mrs. C. B. Kelo and is well known here.

It is still uncertain whether the electric discharge passes from the cloud to the earth or vice versa. It may be that it passes from both and finally to the air. Instances have certainly been known of upward strokes of lightning from the ground when the sky was clear. Such strokes have killed cattle. Lightning certainly passes from one cloud to another, for that is a matter of common observation. It has been estimated that such clouds may discharge into each other at a distance of five miles. The weather articles on lightning, yet produced by man's a few feet in length, demonstrating the immense superiority of the power of nature.

Fear of lightning, though usually unreasoning, is by no means without any foundation. In 1890, according to the statistics collected by the weather bureau, 600 persons in the United States were killed or fatally injured by lightning, and $20 were insured more or less severely. The Chronicle-Phe Times records the number of persons killed by lightning in the United States in the same year, the property loss occasioned, thereby being $30,000,000. This weather bureau is also collecting statistics of loss to farm property, including live stock in the fields, by lightning, so as to determine the frequency of lightning strokes and the amount of property destroyed annually by that agency. It is also estimated that no doubt result from the investigation.

STEEL MEN'S CHIEF

PERSONALITY OF PRESIDENT SHAFER

From Hollings Hall to Methodist and Draft and Work, his Public Record is the Steel Men's Chief to Allegheny.

Theodore J. Shafer, the chief of the most steel cities and president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, is a man of interesting personality. He is not well known to those outside of his own branch of industry, for until recently he has been more into the public eye. President Shafer has been a leader of his fellow workmen since 1885, and in his relations with their employers in the intervening time has served to bring him prominently before the public.

The career of President Shafer has been one marked by strange contrasts. He has been successively a coal miner, a steel mill worker in a steel mill, a student in a university and in a theological seminary, preacher, coach, editor, and a labor leader and head of a great strike. Although his looks and speech are those of a man of the world, he is in reality the son of a Pennsylvania Dutch extraction. He is now about 50 years of age, but he looks like a man of 45.

At the age of 15 or thereabout Mr. Shafer began work in a rolling mill and went through the grades. His employers were higher, however, and his wages high, both at the mill and at home. It is said that he gained his rudimentary Latin when he was 17.

His Latin was good. Mary Connor, who was worked last February to Lieutenant Richard Hoover.

Miss Connor's family suddenly met that it is a case of her first sight. Gratitude may have something to do with it, for the women of the class were most happy to see the soldiers marching to their rescue. Later, however, when Miss Connor and Lieutenant Hoover had an opportunity to get out together on a horseback trip, they found that their regard for the soldier was not so strong. Both the lieutenant and his future bride are passionately devoted to equestrianism. He is an officer in the Third Cavalry and a native of Kansas.

Minister Conner and his wife consider their eldest daughter's impetuousness somewhat in the light of a compensation for a just sorrow. At an early age Miss Connor was married to a man who proved utterly unworthy of her. The unhappy affair was terminated several years ago when Miss Connor obtained a divorce and the right to her former maiden name. Her former husband ended in a southern hospital.

Lieutenant Hoover's bride is now 29 years old and is a handsome and accomplished woman. She has traveled widely and is a good linguist. Miss Connor has been from childhood a good mathematician and was, in fact, considered quite a prodigy in that line. For several years she held the responsible position of head bookkeeper in the office of the state treasurer of Iowa. She has been the confident and constant companion of her father. During Minister Conner's residence in Brazil as United States minister to that country his eldest daughter was with him. Naturally, she has seen much of the world.

Minister Conner is a native of Pennsylvania, and his father, Dr. Hoover, was the latter the birthplace of James G. Blaine. It may be that that of the men in the union now under Mr. Shafer's hand will present the general. Unless most reports are incorrect, Mr. Shafer was an eloquent and forceful preacher. His physical well-being being hampered labor, however, and he had to go back to the rolling mills. The physician advised that he should give up his life or resign, to give up intellectual occupations and again take up manual labor. Mr. Shafer's constitution constituted energetic temperament but demands only in physical exertion. Even now the doctors say that he will not be able to continue his long life and maintain his intellect. He left the pulpit in 1888, returning to the Lehigh steel mill. He is said to be an expert workman and one of the most skillful steel rollers in the trade.

ROMANCE OF PEKING SIEGE.

Minister Conner's daughter and one of her resources to live.

And the fame and heroic action of the siege of the Peking fortifications in Peking last year was a party romance that is now to reach its happy ending. The woman who is to be married to the minister is Miss Laura Conner, the daughter of United States Minister Conner. Her father, Lieutenant Frederick B. Hoover, was one of the officers of the American force who helped to relieve the beleaguered Peking. Miss Conner is the second young American woman who entered the siege of the Peking city to be married to an army officer. The first was Miss...

None, as the greatest cause of the spreading of war and conflict in this city, has been chosen, will be met and out of some household to either call a physician, or notify the health officer, and thereby not free of quarantining. I shall positively on the next occurrence of the same, whether city or port, report the sanitary authority and present to the full force of the law.

TO HUNT FOR PEARY

THIRD RELIEF EXPEDITION OFF TO THE ARCTICS.

Explorer in One Party, Wife and Child in Another—No Word From Them Since Last Year—Confidence That He Has Returned to the Pole.

Whereas Lieutenant Robert E. Peary, Mrs. Peary and Little Miss Peary, who are the Windward, the ship of the gallant Arctic explorer? Has the American finally succeeded in reaching the north pole or is he stuck in the ice waiting for relief? Has Mrs. Peary succeeded in joining her husband or are they still hunting for each other in the frozen regions?

Such are the questions that are being asked by all interested in Arctic exploration. To answer them and many related to them is the purpose of the relief expedition that has just been sent to find Peary. The ship Erik has sailed for the north, and when she returns, probably in September, she will bring news of the Pearys or of their whereabouts.

Lieutenant Peary is now engaged in his fifth polar expedition. He sailed on July 2, 1898, from New York, and since March 21, 1900, he was in the Windward, as Mrs. Peary's ship, the Windward, was a present in him from Alfred Harnsworth, the English publisher. The Peary Arctic club, an association of Americans who believe that Peary will find the pole, is financially interested in the expedition. During the winter of 1898-9 the Windward was frozen in on the western coast of Greenland, and in September, 1899, she returned to Newfoundland, leaving Peary in the north. Since then the Peary Arctic club has sent three relief or communicating expeditions to him. The first in 1899, on the Diana met the explorer; the second, in 1900, on the Erik, last year, on the Windward met him; and the third, on the Erik, last year, on the Windward met him.

The continued absence of the Windward is not especially alarming, leaving out the possibility of accident. It was Mrs. Peary's intention to keep the Windward in the north if the situation demanded it, and the ship is fully provisioned with that end in view. She may have reached the explorer, and the two may be awaiting relief or transportation together. The third relief party is that on the Erik. Two or three messages have come from Peary, the latest dated March 31, 1902. The party was then far up in Grinnell Land and in good condition. With the intrapole explorer, who is crippled through the loss of seven feet of his legs, was his faithful colored servant, Matthew Henson, and Dr. Dietrich, his surgeon, besides some Eskimos.

The present whereabouts of the Peary party is purely a matter of conjecture. They may have reached the pole and returned, or he may be somewhere between Grinnell Land and his goal.

An unusual incident is the recent gift tendering of a $1,000 fund by several Protestant citizens of Toledo to pay the expenses of a trip to Europe for the health of the Rev. Father Finnman, an overworked Catholic priest. Father Finnman declined the proffer but has accepted the money for the purchase of pressing parlors.

It is rumored that the Rev. Father Finnman has accepted the money for the purchase of pressing parlors.

THE WHIRL OF FASHION.

Side-plaited boucles, straight or curly in form, appear on many of the skirts of both day and evening gown.

Fancy lacing decorates many of the new bodices and corsages fastened at the back, and the lacing also shows on circular skirts.

Tailor made gowns of pink, white and blue plaid, bolina, linen, duche, green cloth and chamois are the most novel and stylish fad of the summer season.

Embroidered blouses, India muslin and white muslins are worn in great variety this summer, and black and white combinations are notably in evidence among these gowns.

White straw Galushow and Deville outfits laden with many phrases are the very latest expression of Parisian style and elegance. Chances and dimers of the richest lace are added, but flowers of any description are eschewed.

Stylish of all description are seen every sort of summer gown, from the simply draped and plain to the elaborate and richly ornamented. There has never been any closer relation than mentioned above.

The Great Camp was organized and incorporated in 1881. The Supreme Tent was organized in 1883, two years later, as a voluntary association, and in 1885 was incorporated under the General Laws of the state.

The only action taken by the Supreme Tent which might effect the change was in amending the articles of association so that it could do business in Michigan, in competition with the Great Camp. Heretofore and now the articles of incorporation of the Great Camp limited its jurisdiction to the State of Michigan, while the Supreme Tent extended to all other parts of the country outside of this state. As the Supreme Tent assessment rates are about double that of the Great Camp, I do not apprehend, should they attempt to do business in this state, it would injure the Great Camp in the least.

THE TROTTING CIRCUIT.

Early Roper, 2:00 1/2, was a fast steeple chaser.

The fast New England pacer Watson, a green trotter by Patton, has shown 2:14 1/2.

Indiana, 2:04 1/2, pacing, has shown a mile in 2:07 1/2.

It is intended to give Nazette, brother to Akote, 2:04 1/2, a fast record this year.

The green pacer mare Chantrelle Maid by Hal Dillard, bred by Ailie Wilkes, is credited with a trial in 2:14.

Before leaving Chicago Miller up for all trot at a Pittsburgh meeting, pulling a wagon in 2:14 1/2 and 2:15 1/2.

The captured mare Geo Geo has been entered the list with a record of 2:35 1/2, but honor of honors, the reports say, the animal is a gelding.

Before leaving Chicago Miller up for all trot the Roper Miller drove the 3-year-old trotter a mile in 2:15 1/2. He was raced in the fall.

My Dudd, by horse, by Gay Wilkes, out of Hannah Price, dam of Less Wilkes, 2:30, was one of the 1,000 Hannah Price is one of the great trotting brood mares of the country.

PAINTERS AND WRITERS.

Benjamin Constant, the artist, is to sit for the portrait of Pope Leo, the slittings to begin early in the fall.

Duffaud's "English in Ireland, 1798," which caused such a sensation, is now said to have been painted at the suggestion of Mand Goussier, the Irish agitator.

Philip James Batley, the author of "Festus," published in 1830, is still alive and recently attained his eighty-fifth year. Among the books that he has had read "Festus" is perhaps the most famous.

William Quiller Orchardson, the English painter, has been elected a Foreign Honorary Member of the French Academy of Fine Arts as successor to M. Brosselin.

There has been a correspondent of the academy since 1850.

Miss Mary Johnson, who wrote "Blossoms of Heaven," is now known as "Hild," is not very tall, and her eyes are blue and bright. Her eyes are large and brown, with little blue spots. Her tastes are those of a charming woman, who, although uneducated, respects every property. She has traveled extensively in this country and abroad.

EDUCATORS.

C. W. Marx, professor of mechanical engineering in the University of Missouri, has declined the appointment to the chair of engineering in the University of Cincinnati.

The favorite recreation of President Grant of Harvard University is reading and in this he indulges nearly every day, being a first-rate reader and handling a book with no little skill.

Professor James Gordon MacGregor of Halifax, N. S., professor of physics at the University of Liverpool, died in 1900, has left a large collection of natural philosophy at Edinburgh university.

Dr. Richard Cole Higgins, the new president of Ripon College, is one of the youngest educators in America to occupy the high post of a college president. He was born in 1846 in 1861 and is descended from six generations of Welsh Presbyterians clergy men.

gand. Those in command of the present relief expedition are confident that if Peary has not reached the pole he will at any rate be near the Italian Duke of the Abruzzi's "earliest north" record. His expedition was splendidly successful.

Herbert J. Bridgman is in command of the present Peary relief expedition, which he prescribes to be sent out by the Peary Arctic club. Mr. Bridgman is secretary of the association, which is anxious to see Peary's little desire to have an American find the pole. Mr. Bridgman is a newspaper editor and goes out with the expedition and commended the Diana relief expedition of Peary. Mr. Bridgman says of the Erik's plans:

"This expedition is purely for business. There will be no scientific work. We want to find Peary, learn what he has done and bring him home if he wants to come. Peary, however, may change our plans. If we should be able to find him, we will have letters and samples for him at different points, and send with the natives, who know him as Chaneey M. Dwyer. He knows on Broadway. Then we will come home and go out with the next year. My belief is, however, that we will find the discoverer of the north pole."

MEN AS THEY PASS.

St. Helen Maxims says that years before the safety bicycle was invented he had made one for himself and ridden all over Illinois on it.

George E. Egan's motto of work is "Never watch the clock." He frequently works 30 hours at a stretch and endures the heat of the sun.

The late Philip D. Armour once said: "If I am no taller, I am no fortune for learning to keep my mouth shut. When the teeth are shut, the tongue is at home."

The death of his seventy-sixth year George Egan, the founder of Great man journalism in Australia, is announced from Adelaide. Egan's paper, The Australasian Zeitung, is still published.

Francis Wilson is one of the few prominent theatrical stars who have credited the fact of being a shrewd business man as well as keen lovers of sports and old and odd collections of books and bric-a-brac.

William Waldorf Astor's business office is in his rich apartments in London, who usually transfer their business in offices rather than in their homes.

Te Hilsen, one of the largest shareholders in the Japan railway, enjoys the privilege from his holdings of riding free in a first class car. He always makes use of this, but always sends a third class coach the members of his family, whose fares he has paid.

Although nearly everybody who knows or understands Mr. Bert Hilsen. He is keen, cuts, polished and accomplished in any and every line of his business, but also of his hobbies.

Eduard Barton, who organized the first federal government of the United States, is a native of Austria, 51 years old and for many years one of the ablest lawyers in New York. He was conspicuous among the men who early advocated the federation of the colonies and in a sense is the father of the Republic.

Congressman Eddy of Minnesota claims to be the honestest man in the house, but for that he is every body who knows or understands Mr. Bert Hilsen. He is keen, cuts, polished and accomplished in any and every line of his business, but also of his hobbies.

In a recent talk at St. Charles seminary, in Philadelphia, Cardinal Manning said, in speaking of the Irish language, that he had been taught by a County Galway school in Rome.

An unusual incident is the recent gift tendering of a $1,000 fund by several Protestant citizens of Toledo to pay the expenses of a trip to Europe for the health of the Rev. Father Finnman, an overworked Catholic priest. Father Finnman declined the proffer but has accepted the money for the purchase of pressing parlors.

It is rumored that the Rev. Father Finnman has accepted the money for the purchase of pressing parlors.
