MANISTIQUE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, AUGUST 9, 1901

$1.50 PER YEAR.

A DISASTROUS COLLISION.

TRAINS NO. 7 AND 14 OF THE M. & N. W. RY. MET AT STONY POINT NEAR THE HOME, WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

THE DAMAGE WILL EXCEED $10,000.

Two engines and twenty cars were crushed to a scrap heap by a head-on collision on the Manistique and Northwestern railroad near Stony Point, north of the Dump Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Train No. 7 which was an hour late leaving the dump started northward without orders, and encountered No. 14 at the point above mentioned.

The accident occurred near a curve and the crews barely had time to jump after shutting off steam. No. 7 consisted of 24 empty cars and was drawn by engine No. 5, while No. 14 drawn by engine No. 3, consisted of 20 cars loaded with logs.

The impact must have been terrific on twenty of the cars, the two engines and the logs with which ten of the cars were loaded, were piled into a heap about 150 feet long and from 20 to 30 feet high. The tender of No. 3 is resting on the top of the engine and the ten cars of logs are resting on top of tender. The tender of No. 5 was standing in the air at an angle of about 45 degrees and the trucks of the ten empty cars were wedged under it in a heap. Engine No. 5 appears to be damaged beyond repair while No. 5 may be placed in service again.

The conductor of the north bound train, John Larkin, is probably responsible for the mix up. His train was an hour late at the dump and had lost its rights on the road at that moment. Without receiving orders he gave Engineer Forthner "the highball" and the train started for Hiawatha, the regular meeting point of Nos. 7 and 14. Train No. 14 was on time and had orders to meet No. 7 at the dump.

When the train crews saw that a collision was imminent they reversed their engines and jumped. That they had but little time is proven by the fact that they barely got to the ground when the collision occurred. One of the brakemen was riding on the pilot of the engine and in jumping he happened to roll into a deep ditch which was filled with water, and had the logs rolled out he would have been pinned there.

Supt. Robinson and a crew of men set to work removing the wreckage and regular traffic will be resumed shortly as a temporary track is being constructed around the wreck. At present passengers are transferred there.

The loss is estimated at $10,000 and when everything is taken into consideration may reach $5,000 more. Engineer Pich who was in charge of engine No. 3 ought to congratulate himself that he jumped, for judging by the wreckage a mouse would not have survived had it been in the cab of his engine.

The scene of the wreck has been visited by hundreds of persons and many amateur scenic good pictures of same.

Frontier Visits.

Dr. Webb of Hoopston, Ill., and Prof. Harding of Central, Ill., are quarantined at John Looen's cottage on Indian Lake. They are enjoying the climate hugely and the Doctor whose health was shattered, reports that he is gaining weight rapidly. Both gentlemen are very prominent in their respective cities, and they think that there is no place that quite equals this vicinity for an outing. Those that have had the pleasure of meeting them here that they may visit the north regularly hereafter. The professor is a distant relative of Dr. Durk of this city. When he was mustered into the service in the early sixties in New York state, the embryo doctor and his six year old brother did the drumming while their father played the fife. He is at present major of an Illinois regiment.

Small Fox at Spaulding.

This week William White, an employe of Ross Bros. & Co., Spaulding, was taken sick with small pox. The boarding house was quarantined and inmates vaccinated. A general vaccination has been ordered in that town. Monday all the available carpenters in town were secured, a pest-house was built and the man isolated in the building inside of six hours--Menominee Democrat.

Special Notice.

R. J. Palmer, the Chiropractor, who is stopping at M. G. Keon on River St., desires of stating to those who wish to call and have examination, that he will be found at the above place from 2 to 8 p. m.

BURGLARS AT WORK.

They Entered Blumerson's Store and Took Several Articles of Clothing.

Burglars entered Blumerson Bros.' store early Friday morning and helped themselves to several suits of clothes, overcoats to match and a number of smaller articles of clothing. The loss is estimated at about $150. There is no clue.

The burglary was witnessed by one person, a young lady, but who was too frightened, however, to give the alarm. Miss Jessie Cook, whose room in the Cook residence on Court street commands a view of the rear of Blumerson's store, says she was awakened about 2 o'clock in the morning by voices beneath her window. She looked out and saw four men, two of whom were trying at one of the rear windows of the store, while the other two patrolled Court street. She watched the burglars enter the store and afterwards engage with their booty and then went back to bed and shiver and pray for morning. Her nervousness is not without an excuse as most young ladies would have done the same under similar circumstances.

The only thing the nocturnal visitors left in payment for what they had taken was an old pair of pants, evidently discarded by one of the thieves when he found others more to his liking. The police are investigating.

A FLAT WHEEL CAUSED IT.

A Flat Wheel on the Refrigerator Car Recently Caused the Wreck Near Gibraltar Last Week.

A tramp printer who was riding the trucks of the car in question "bounced" it at Cooks, as he was afraid to stay any longer. He caught a freight on Manistique an hour later. He mentioned the flat wheel episode in this office before the report of the wreck reached the town. When a wheel becomes so flat that a "bounced" will leave a train on account of it, the wheel must certainly be as flat as a pan cake.

M. E. Ehrenk Notes.

"The theme on Sunday morning will be, "The Call of Abram." In the evening the pastor will speak on "Temptation." Sunday school at noon; let all scholars be present to get assignments for the picnic.

The Prisoner Escaped.

A Mr. Taylor who has been in the county jail awaiting trial for stealing pulp wood in the vicinity of Sault Ste. Marie good has escaped Monday.

It is claimed that he had some business matters that needed attention at Whitefish when Under Sheriff Lathrop took him there.

He was engaged in doing some business with Geo. Russell, at the White Marble Lime Co's store, and when time for dinner arrived Lathrop invited him over to the hotel. He claimed that he was not feeling well and would not go in.

After LeDuc left, Mrs. Russell called Mr. Russell out of the store for a moment. This was Taylor's opportunity for making his escape and he took no time in taking advantage of it.

Some Green Apples.

Dagald McGregor will raise between 800 and 400 bushels of apples on his farm this year. He is already delivering perfect fruit to local dealers.

Northern Michigan is exceptionally well fitted for the raising of apples. With a little care the trees may be protected from the frosts prevalent in May. This done, there is question as to results.

The apples brought to town by Mr. McGregor are the best flavored and most perfect looking fruit ever offered for sale in Manistique.

New Milk Route.

Beginning with next Monday, Aug. 12, I will deliver pure milk to those desiring it, and will make two deliveries daily. The price per quart will be 5 cents. Cream also furnished to those desiring it.

LAMBERT BARNARD.

Another Wreck.

The wrecking car of the M. & N. W. railroad was derailed yesterday noon at the dump by the breaking of a flange.

WRECK SAVED.

An anonymous incident occurred at the recent Soo Line wreck near Gibraltar last week. The company's agent was promptly on hand and effected settlements with all that fell so though they deserved anything. One fellow was overlooked by the agent as he appeared to be in the best of condition. He approached the agent and hinted that he ought to be paid too. He was promptly offered a dollar but after kicking long and hard he was appeased with $2.00.

THE MACCABEE RALLY.

The Lord Test is Spurring us Pains to Make it a Banner Day.

The visit of Major Hoyton next Thursday promises to be a red letter day in Maccabee circles.

A parade will be held in the morning at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon the following events will be held at the driving park: bicycle races--One mile novice, 1/2 mile open, 1/2 mile race for boys under 15 years, 1 mile fat men's race, 1 mile bicycle race.

Horse races--1/2 mile free for all, 1/2 mile green race, 1/2 mile running race. There will also be a sack race and other sports for which liberal prizes are offered.

The committee request the business men to decorate their places of business in the colors of the order, which are white and red.

The Manistique band will furnish music during the whole day.

In the evening Major Hoyton will deliver an address at the opera house. Plan now to attend the rally.

Those desiring to enter in the various races should leave their names with J. W. Troyer not later than Wednesday, the day previous to the rally.

NEW FURNITURE FIRM.

W. P. Kefauver Purchases Mr. Anderson's Interest in the Firm of Anderson & Co. Furniture Dealers.

W. P. Kefauver has purchased H. Anderson's interest in the firm of Anderson & Co.; dealers in furniture. The firm will hereafter be known as Gunnerson & Kefauver.

These gentlemen are bright young business men, thoroughly conversant with every detail of the furniture and undertaking business. Both are practical upholsterers and general decorators and in every possible manner are equipped to conduct the business successfully.

Mr. Kefauver, the new member of the firm, was the senior partner of the firm of Kefauver & Johnson prior to January 1st of this year, when he sold his interests to Mr. Johnson. Since that time he has been in his employ. Mr. Anderson the retiring member has been in business here for many years, and as yet is undecided as to his future movements. The new firm is a very strong one and will do a large business.

BARELY ESCAPED THE ROCKS.

The City of Louisville, Made History by a Hiram Reader, Duffet Showroom This Noon.

The City of Louisville, the new boat belonging to the Hart S. S. Co., had a very narrow escape this forenoon.

The boat, with Capt. Cliff Hart in charge, left port for Port Kentucky on Tuesday. When a mile or more out the rudder became disabled and the boat began to drift helplessly toward the west.

As a very heavy sea and wind was driving her in that direction her condition was critical. The tug "Giff" went out to her aid, but the lines would break as rapidly as they could be fastened. The tug then returned to port and secured a new tow line belonging to the Fulton. This stout strain until the river was reached.

The boat was in the trough of the sea most of the time and rolled so only a large, helpless boat is capable of doing.

The passengers were thoroughly frightened, and more than pleased to reach shore again.

Capt. Hart visibly smiled when he has been saved from the dock. The strain must have been severer during the hour or more that the fate of the vessel and the passengers trembled in the balance.

A RECITAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Kelso of the Kelso School of Music and Dramatic Arts, of Chicago, give their first recital Friday evening.

Mr. Hugh A. Kelso a musician and Mrs. May Donally Kelso a dramatic reciter and reader, both of national renown, will give a recital at the Presbyterian church next Friday evening, Aug. 10th, under the auspices of the C. S. Society.

The metropolitan papers everywhere speak very highly of their ability and our citizens are extremely fortunate to have the opportunity of hearing these clever artists.

The recital will no doubt be largely patronized.

Mr. J. L. Newberry of Penobscot, Me., was the guest of Mrs. M. Blumwood for a week, returned home for part of the week.

For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought.

BeWARE of cheap imitations. An Epidemic of Diarrhoea. Mr. A. Sanders, writing from Coconut Grove, Fla., says there has been quite an epidemic of diarrhoea there. He had a severe attack and was cured by four doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says he accompanied him to there and they are in the best medicine he ever used. CHAPTER XX—CONTINUED.

"It had arranged it for us," he said, a glad note in his voice. "I have found you just what you needed. I have found you just what you needed. I have found you just what you needed."

"What is it?" she asked, her face pale with fear. "Is it some kind of medicine?"

"No, it is not a medicine," he said, smiling. "It is a new kind of life. It is a new kind of life. It is a new kind of life."

"You mean you are going to give it to me?" she asked, her eyes wide with hope.

"Yes, I am," he said, his hands clasped in prayer. "I am going to give it to you. I am going to give it to you. I am going to give it to you."

"But how can you give it to me?" she asked, her voice trembling.

"I will give it to you," he said, his hands clasped in prayer. "I will give it to you. I will give it to you. I will give it to you."

"But how can you give it to me?" she asked, her voice trembling.

"I will give it to you," he said, his hands clasped in prayer. "I will give it to you. I will give it to you. I will give it to you."

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

There has been a decrease of nearly $3,000,000 in the public debt during July.

"Governor" Atwood is slated for railroad commissioner, to succeed Hon. Chase S. Osborn, so says the Detroit Tribune.

A prominent New Yorker estimates Rockefeller's wealth at $945,000,000 and gives the data to prove the assertion. He also states that his income is $30,000,000 yearly and has been such for the past ten years. We'd like to have his income for one day.

A young man asked a wealthy old doctor, says an exchange, how to get rich and the doctor said: "Get a situation, work all the time, spend no money for pleasure, hang on to every nickel, and by the time you are as old as I am you will be as rich as a king and as mean as a miser."

The only time that Bryan struck the right side of any question, was in the present Schley-Sampson controversy. He upholds Schley, but the friends of the gallant admiral are not slow to express their disgust on account of his public declaration for they think that Bryan's friendship will prejudice the case.

A little over a year ago Jerry Simpson stood up in a tent in Sioux Falls and harangued his fellow Populists on the downfall of the country through the encroachments of plutocracy. Now Jerry is about to take up his residence in Kansas City and enjoy life on $100,000 which he has made chiefly on operations in the stock market.

France ran behind $100,000,000 last year and there were deficits in Germany, England and most of the other European nations. In America we end the fiscal year with a surplus of $75,000,000, and instead of looking around for loans we are reducing the war taxes. The showing is one to be proud of.—Hornellville (N. Y.), "Times."

THE WHEAT HARVEST IN SCHOOL-CRAFT COUNTY. The acreage this year exceeds by four times the average of last year, and the yield will be exceptionally good. This county is capable of raising as good wheat as any section of the United States and when farmers will farm instead of dabbling in cedar jobs, Schoolcraft county will rapidly take front rank with the agricultural counties of the state.

Rev. Sheldon exhibits such a rare spirit that some deserve mention. He has at many times refused salaries from churches of other cities, five times larger than the one he is in receipt of at Topeka, which is $1,800 per annum. The Lord usually "calls" when the salary offered is larger. Still ministers cannot be blamed for accepting calls at increased salaries. They and their families must live. No minister should receive less than $100 a year.

It is estimated that the American people will spend $100,000,000 for vacations this year. At least 10,000,000 persons take some sort of a vacation and an average expense of $10, a very moderate estimate would get the above total. This leads a writer to ask whether it would be worth while to refrain from taking vacations for one year and put all the money saved to a more useful purpose. It is safe to say that the overwhelming majority of answers would be in the negative. Money and time spent in vacations are not wasted. An outing means that the man or woman will do more and better work the rest of the year. Every person working steadily deserves a vacation and the world will be the better for it.

Some people who receive a bill for subscription from the management of a newspaper appear to resent it and think that the management is doing a very mean thing. How many bills do you mean they would receive from your grocer and meat dealer if you failed to pay your bill for one, two, three or more years? Long before that time he would have you hauled into a court of justice and secure a judgment against you. Indebtedness for a newspaper which you have read for years is just as valid as that for groceries or meat.

The business man receives regular statements from the wholesaler and if he does not remit when the account is due, up he goes! The patrons of the Tribune Pub. Co. owe it $30,000 in round numbers and we will continue to send out statements as long as we can raise the money to pay post-

THE JEW AND CIVILIZATION.

It will be conceded that Christendom owes a great deal to the Jew and that civilization is the better for his presence. Modern politics has recognized his merits and most of the disabilities under which he lived for centuries have been removed. There is nothing in England or the United States that debars the Jew from the highest position. Disraeli, the most brilliant prime minister that England produced in the nineteenth century, was of the race of Israel, and was first favorite with the late queen.

The United States has not yet seen a Jewish president. However when we consider the prominence of the Jew in high finance and other walks of life that demand the finest qualities of mind and will, we cannot doubt his success in politics if he chooses to enter. In Europe, anti-Semitism still lingers, a savage, unreasonable passion of the ignorant against a race, which is superior in intelligence, thrift and acumen, and which lays its hands on money knowing that it can always be translated into power.

In large cities he may be hated by canaille who are jealous of his progress and his rising esteem among the community, but the Jew, however humble his position, can always feel assured that the best elements of civilization commend and follow the very virtues in which he excels.

What are the qualities of the Jew which makes him a successful business man and a worthy citizen? Industry, perseverance, alertness, ingenuity, politeness—these make for the health of his soul and body.

He has ingrained respect for the law of whatever land he may be in. He is supremely adaptable. His success is always legitimate and in conformity with the conditions which he finds around him. It is this appreciation of conditions, this suppleness to laws and constitutions, that has made the Jew all powerful in Europe, after being ground for ages under the heel. He has in his hands the real sources of power. He is the banker, the money lender of great nations, the financier of gigantic undertakings. The czar of Russia probably defers more to the Baron Rothschild than he does to M. De Witte.

Through long suffering and outrage the Jewish race has kept steadily on and has at last reached the goal of general esteem and a place equal to its merits. That there should be envy and malice against a race which has so notably triumphed is only to be expected. But it is safe to say that that envy would largely disappear if the Jew could mingle more freely with the gentile in the way of marriage.

In America there may be some feeling against the Jew for his racial exclusiveness but that does not derogate from his qualities as a citizen. The average American being been in a bargain himself, can admire the man who has the strongest, oldest and most practiced value-sense in the world.

Moreover, America does not forget the Jew that civilization owes the debt in art, music, literature, and the drama. How many of our stage favorites who are of that race? The list is too long to name over. Who it was that gave us Mendelssohn, Rossini, Rachel, Bernhardt? The Semites, whether it operates in business, philosophy or athletics, is of noble mold and achieves the highest results. It has been a leaven to civilization.

Israel Zangwill, one of the great novelists of the age, is taken with the idea of bringing the lost tribes back to Palestine and setting up Jerusalem as the capital of a new Israelitish nation. If that feverish Christendom will help the loss of so much wealth, genius and morality, but it will have a model nation to gaze upon.

AMERICA'S INFLUENCE ABROAD.

One of the chief reasons for the reduction in the Bank of England's discount rate is the abundance of gold in the United States, which is at the service of any borrower, in England or anywhere else, who offers the requisite security. The United States Treasury has almost $100,000,000 of gold in addition to its regular $150,000,000 redemption fund. The banks of the United States are well supplied with the metal. Somewhere in the neighborhood of $70,000,000 from the gold mines of the United States will go to the mints in 1901, after making allowance for the gold that is used in the arts. Every one of the best of the world, knows all these things. America, in fact, has been furnishing gold to England, Germany, Russia and several other countries in large amounts in the past twelve months.

America is the great supply center for the world's needs in cash at this time. The fact that this country has more gold on hand than it can make profitable use of is understood in London, Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg and the rest of the great capitals. Whence these other countries want money which they are either unable or unwilling to obtain at home, they know they can get it here. The fact has a steadying effect on the world's money markets.

It is a fact which has much potency. Here is one of the reasons why the Bank of England's discount rate has been so reduced, when the general expectation in England was that it would be advanced.—St. Louis "Globe-Democrat."

HOW NORWAY MANAGES LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Norway offers a fine field for reformers to study the effect of regulation upon the vice of drunkenness. Within the limits of the kingdom are all grades of restriction, from prohibition to liberal license. There are no pretensions about the Norwegians; there is no affectation about their morals and no leniency in the administration of their laws. The police and the magistrates are merciless and incorrupt, and crime is punished more severely perhaps than in any other country. At the same time the people distinguish an important difference between temperance and total abstinence. They give their children beer in unlimited quantities, but absolutely prohibit the sale of whiskey, and send drunk men to prison with burglars and assassins. Norwegian reformers hold that beer is the great promoter of temperance, and encourage its use as a beverage, although every saloon in the kingdom is closed on Sundays, holidays and Saturday forenoon when the regular pay day for the working classes. There are practical regulations, devised for the purpose of restraining those who are not capable of controlling their own appetites and encouraging thrift and economy. While the saloons are closed on pay day the savings banks keep open till midnight.

SETS A GOOD EXAMPLE.

Incidents such as these while they do not come to public notice very often, they prove that there are sons of wealthy parents that know enough to start at the bottom. The clipping follows:

Henry Chisholm, who graduated from Yale last June, is now working nine hours a day, six days in the week, as an inspector at the Champion Rivet works for $1.75 a day. Young Chisholm would not have to work for a living. His father, William B. Chisholm, is a millionaire. He is president of the Champion Rivet company, and a heavy shareholder in the United States steel corporation.

Young Chisholm says he wants to learn the business of rivet making throughly, and that is why he went to the factory. He says there is more money in the manufacturing business than a profession.

If every young man, favored by the same environments should determine to master the business conducted by his father there would be less poetry and prose written concerning fleeting wealth.

Announced the Editor.
 Editor S. A. Brown, of Bonnettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It is a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for constipation. For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only $2.00 at E.  Albert G. Benson.
 The minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

The object of this meeting the question of building a sewer from Main St. to the River, was taken into consideration. After a general discussion, it was moved by Wickelie and supported by Parker that we put in a 12-inch sewer from Main Street down Maple Ave. to the river in conjunction with the county to pay one-half of the cost of said sewer from place where sewer leaves sewer line main sewer. The following is the vote:
 Yeas - McNeil, Shilton, Parker, Wickelie and Coffey.
 Nays - Schuster and Burrell.
 Moved and supported and carried that the chair appoint a committee to confer with the county building committee in regard to building of the sewer and report to the council meeting, and that the Mayor be in charge of the committee.
 The following committee was appointed:
 Messrs. Schuster and McNeil.
 Having no further business the council on motion adjourned.

BUSY DAYS IN DIXIE

This is a time of waiting, hoping and watching in a large part of Dixie. Upon the weather of the next few weeks depends the future cotton crop, the great staple of the south. The tender cotton plant is just beginning to come into bloom, and southern farmers, from the man with a "two horse farm" to the owner of a vast plantation, are hoping that the weather conditions will prove favorable and that later no early frost will kill the crop. Cotton growing is by no means a matter of joyous watching the beautiful product grow and then picking it, with negro song and laughter, as many people imagine.

From the time of putting the seed into the ground, until the middle of April, until the picking is completed in October or early November, the cotton planter must be continually on his guard against the enemies of his downy product. He knows that an excess of wind or wet, or a flood or continued drought, means the failure of the leaves and bolls and consequently no crop. He knows that the insect enemies of the cotton plant, numerous in kind, are like the worms in early rising and like the burrhead in destructiveness. Not until the fluffy cotton, with the valuable seeds hidden within the equally precious that, is safely housed does the planter know whether his crop is a safe investment.

Predictions as to this year's crop are of course futile when one considers that a short spell of hot weather at any time between now and September may ruin the sensitive plants. Again, in early October Gae Frost may decide to make an untimely and unwelcome visit to the cotton districts of the south, and the hopes of the planter may be blown away as lightly as the wisps of his own product on the autumn breeze. But with all these drawbacks it pays to grow cotton when one has land fitted for it. Cotton prices are high now compared with those of the years since the seventies. Last year saw the realization of the hope of 40 cent cotton, a figure that means prosperity to the south as "dollar wheat" does to the north and west. It is hoped that this year's crops will equal or exceed that of last year, which ranked fourth or five of some of its charm, for then the white of the lint contrasts well with the brown of the material plant and the green of the tender young shoots that are too late to be of any use as lint. As cotton remains beautiful until it is baled, for no few weeks the planter is needed to see it in the great heaped-up masses of the starchy product waiting for the gin.

"Picking time" is a full time on a southern plantation, for it is the busiest season of the year. As soon as the cotton bolls are fully opened the lint must be taken out by hand. Various machines to supplant the hand picker have been tried, but they have failed. The only good cotton picker yet tried is the negro, and the best picker, according to many, is the negro woman. In answer to the question, "Which picks the better, man or woman?" an old darky replies: "Yimam, sir. They's out an out de best pickers. I can't say my mind on nary a extra good picker what I ever knowed as was a man."

Although "picking time" means a time of excitement of insects, of all sorts of hardships, it is by no means all yielding, as some folks believe. Cotton picking is not easy work. To pick 150 or more pounds of cotton in one day requires strength, agility and a knowledge of the art of picking. The negroes pick very much more efficiently and rapidly. Much money changes hands, for the pickers receive from 30 to 45 cents per hundred pounds. For many years the price ranged between 40 and 50 cents, but the negro cotton pickers are sharing in the prosperity of the south. It cost the planters of the south the very best sum of $88,547,000 to have the crop of 1889-1900 picked.

From the weighing baskets and the storerooms the omnipresent southern man hauls the cotton to the gin, which is to separate the seeds from the lint. Ginning cotton is an interesting occupation, although it has remained practically unchanged since 1811. Whitney invented the useful machine. The word "gin" is believed to be an abbreviation of the name of the inventor, "Samuel Slater," or "Sam Slater," cotton from its seed. "Short staple" cotton forms by far the greater part of the cotton crop of the United States, only about 100,000 bales of the other being grown. The "short staple" cotton is freed from its seed by the ordinary gin. This separates the fiber by tearing it from the seed by means of a series of circular saws with fine teeth. The "sea island" cotton, which is finer and more valuable, is separated by the roller gin, which pulls rather than tears the cotton from the more thickly sown seed.

THE HOUSE SPIDER'S WEB.
The web of the house spider differs from that of the garden variety in two points: its web is much finer and it is composed of one kind of silk only. The flies which find their way into it are detained by the entanglement of their claws in the fine meshes. The house spider, as a rule, makes its snare in the corner of the room. Its first operation is to spin a gateway against the wall, thus securing the threads in a particular spot; then it goes to the opposite side and fastens the other end of the thread. This primary line is strengthened by two or three others being run along beside it. Threads are drawn from it in various directions, and the later stages are filled by the spider running backward and forward, always leaving a line behind it. In one corner of the completed web a tube is made, in which the spider conceals itself and waits for the appearance of unwary flies.

A COCKER SPIDER.
At many plantations after planting comes the "condensing," as rolling the loose, fluffy cotton into this, gauzy fabric is called. Compression and rolling are done, and the cotton is then ready for shipment to the mills, where the "dyeing" is done. The German call it, "to be spun into thread and woven into cloth."

SENSE'S VERMONT.
Stand what the bug twitter or slink, and she is understood by them when she answers.
Miss Wright is 16 years old. When she first went to the woods and imitated the birds, they looked about her and chattered, without showing fear. When she sang they were silent, and when she ceased they made the woods ring. After careful comparison and study she now holds that bird speech is clear to her.

MRS. LA BAROUSSE DESIRE DE BAROUSSE (MRS. FRANK LESLIE).
One of her titles by the east-west Mrs. Frank Leslie is interesting. To begin with, the Baroness Leslie of Barousse is of Louisiana creole descent and a native of New Orleans. Her ancestors, Frenchmen of noble blood, left France because of the Huguenot persecutions and settled in Louisiana. One of them brought with him the title of Baron de Barousse, which descended through the centuries to Mrs. Leslie's aunt. The latter died recently, and the auntress now has assumed the title as sole heiress. The Baroness recently went to France to establish her claim and was received with open arms by her French relatives. She has just returned to America, bringing with her an imposing parchment that sets forth fully her rights in the matter.

HOLDS SPEECH WITH BIRDS.
The Extraordinary Gift of a Young Lady of Pond du Lac, Wis.
Miss Helen V. Wright of Pond du Lac, Wis., can prove to her credit that she can talk with birds, she will take rank with Garner and Kipling. The former of these gentlemen understands many birds, and the latter, if the stories told of him are true, is able to communicate with elephants. Miss Wright's claim is that after six years of study she is able to understand the "speech" of birds and of some animals. She has learned to imitate the notes of the feathered songsters. She can understand

AMERICAN TEA PICKERS AT WORK.
The leaves to be picked are ingeniously fastened to machinery, but the picking must be done by hand. A happy solution of the difficulty seems to have been discovered. On a number of tea estates in the south the labor of negro children is now utilized. The work is neither difficult nor severe, and the opportunities made good by picking. They pick the tea before and after school hours and earn about 40 cents a day.
It has been proved that a good grade of American tea can be grown and put on the market in bulk at a cost not exceeding 15 cents a pound. Under fair conditions an acre will yield 400 pounds of leaves. The cost of growing would then be less than 10 cents. The plant should sell in bulk for at least 30 cents, having a profit of 100 per cent. Allowance must be made, however, for other expenses, such as the salary of a superintendent and the interest of the money invested.
The agricultural department and planters are confident that they can supply this country with high grade tea. It seems fairly certain, however, that they will not compete with Assam tea the poorer and cheaper kinds are imported. The tea plant, unfortunately, grows best under climatic and soil conditions that are rare in the health of European and American lands. The very conditions that make the best growth create the worst sanitary disorders among people from temperate climates. "Fever and tea" together is an old saying.

HOME TEA GROWERS.

Southern Planters are Succeeding With the Crop.
The Overcoming of Former Misadventures May Result in the American Farmer to Supply the Home Market—The Cost of Production.

Can the United States of America grow the tea that is consumed here and must we rely forever upon China, Japan and Ceylon for "the cups that cheer, but not inebriate"? That is the question that is just now interesting the agricultural department as well as a number of American capitalists. The former recently expressed its official opinion that in the south is the best place for producing tea under certain conditions. The latter are willing to spend many thousands of dollars in either proving or disproving the department's contention. The American tea market is a plain worth trying for, since about 50,000,000 pounds of the leaves are consumed annually in the United States.

For about half a century interest has been shown by the American grower. Picking a pound of tea has cost him from five to eight cents in the past. The American tea raiser has been the lack of favorable climatic and soil conditions. The tea plant needs alternating gentle showers and warm sunshine to grow perfectly by the tender leaves. The climate of our southern states is too capricious to insure these essentials. Now, however, the advance in agricultural science has supplied what may be called artificial conditions to the plants in the form of irrigation, high muzzing and careful shading.

The question of labor is one that has proved most serious to the American tea grower. Picking a pound of tea has cost him from five to eight cents in the past. THE BOND PROPOSITION CARRIED.

Alger County Voters, by About Twenty Majority, Decided to Build a Jail and Court House.
Some months ago a proposition designating Manning as the county seat of Alger county was carried by a small majority, and on Thursday of last week the question of bonding the county in the sum of $25,000 was favorably decided by a majority of about twenty. Grand Jurors cast a very large vote against the proposition and came very near defeating it. That they cast a larger vote than Manning.

They ran out of ballots at Grand Marais and 75 men from one of the camps were not brought down because there were no ballots for them to vote.

SIBERIAN MINERALS.

Great and Growing Fields of Great Wealth Await Development.

Clipping stories are reaching London as to the mineral wealth of Eastern Siberia. Americans are working with considerable energy in the district of Sakhalin, where a future profitable output is practically guaranteed.

American experts working in the gold fields of Siberia and Mongolia declare that both countries contain dearth of wonderful richness not being within their own borders, where the transportation is difficult. Americans are also beginning to take an interest in developing the Siberian copper mines, which are believed to be the most extensive in the world.

R. M. Galloway, president of the Merchants' Bank of New York, who has traveled widely in Russia and Siberia, says that the mineral wealth of the latter country is enormous and has as yet been developed only in the smallest degree. The lack of railroads, he says, alone prevents Russia from becoming the most serious competitor of the United States.

The most valuable mineral fields are not capable of development until transportation has been provided.

"Of the Russians," says Mr. Galloway, "had half the energy and enterprise of the Americans the latter country would speedily be homogeneous with the former. The mass of the people is practically ignorant and poor, the agriculturist are unskilled and the artisans are wasting an opportunity unequal in any country in the world."

Siberia possesses a vast country, 1,200 miles long and 500 miles broad, all virgin soil, black loam ten feet deep, similar to that of the Dakotas, and capable of growing the finest wheat. Given exportation facilities these lands would produce crops that would completely change the aspect of the existing international grain markets.

Too Many Papers Taken.

(From the Forum.)

A great many people in every town take all the local papers published therein. They are wasting their money. One local paper is enough for any family. One daily newspaper, a church paper, the best local paper and a magazine are plenty for most homes. Any more than that is extravagance. A great many merchants do not seem to know that when they advertise in all the local papers of their town they are duplicating for it. It is a fact that many people take all the local newspapers and when the merchant's advertisement is in the paper with the biggest circulation it practically reaches all the people in the merchants' territory. To place an advertisement in more than one paper is of doubtful advantage and is certainly much greater than in any one. Any town of 5,000 people or less with more than one paper is overburdened in a newspaper way. Every article should have one paper and that paper should be distributed independently of political or other should run political department for all parties. To read a lot of local papers for no other purpose than to secure the more or less scanty copies of the local papers is a waste of money. No man ought to support more than one newspaper and his choice of that paper is naturally the best one. The rule of the survival of the fittest is working more effectively than in any newspaper.

BRITAIN MEN TO MEET

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE.

Annual Session to be held in Denver—Every Branch Covered by Mass of Attended Societies—President Charles B. Dreyer, 21st of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, one of the most important of our technical societies, will hold its annual meeting in Denver, the Colorado city is fortunate in securing this convention. It will be a notable gathering.

Charles B. Dreyer, who has been president of the convention, is a native of the world. He is a Massachusetts man, 41 years old, and is professor of physiology and human anatomy in the Harvard medical school. Dr. Dreyer was educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at the universities of Leipzig, Paris, Wurzburg and Harvard. He has been connected with the last named university since 1887. Dr. Dreyer has made considerable research, particularly of the physiology of respiration of the muscles and of the phenomena of growth, death and age in their biological aspects. He has contributed a large number of papers to scientific journals and has also published the results of his investigations in books that have won international fame. He is a member of many scientific societies and was general secretary of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1887. In 1891 Dr. Dreyer was elected to the office of president, and last year he was the high honor of an election to the presidency.

D'ANNUNZIO COMING.

Italy's Greatest Writer Soon to Appear in America.

Giuseppe D'Annunzio, the brilliant poet, dramatist and novelist of Italy, is soon, according to recent announcements, to visit America. He will come in the company of Blomquist Dues, Italy's leading author, who is one of the greatest of the world's plays. Dues is to act the leading roles in D'Annunzio's plays, and the latter is to expand between the acts the philosophy of the conception. They are to appear in a few of the largest cities of the United States.

Although only 37 years of age, D'Annunzio has already made for himself a name in the world's literature. He is hailed in Italy and elsewhere as a poet fitted to rank with the celebrated "Four Poets of Italy"—Dante, Petrarch, Ariosto and Tasso. As a dramatist he has produced many plays, some of which are in the hands of the most famous actors of his style, however, his subject matter is repulsive to most Anglo-Saxons. He is a Roman Catholic, but he is not a devotee of the Roman religion. He is a man of the delights of science and passion to be normally clean.

D'Annunzio has other interests to his literary work. He is a painter.

A Wife Says:

"I have three children. With the first three I suffered almost unbearable pains from 12 to 14 hours, and had to be placed under the influence of chloroform. I used three bottles of Mother's Friend before our last child came. It is a strong, fat and healthy boy, doing my housework up to the age of three years. I feel that I owe my recovery to Mother's Friend."
