FARMER'S INSTITUTE

Will Be Held Saturday, January 25th. A Large Attendance Desired.

LEO M. GESMAR TO BE PRESENT

Magnus Nelson of Menominee and Hon. Geo. P. McCallum and Rev. Rollo Branch will be the other speakers.

The third annual Farmers' Institute for Schoolcraft county, will be held in this city on Saturday, January 25th.

The following speakers will participate in the two sessions:

Geo. M. Gesmar, superintendent of Chatham experiment station.
Magnus Nelson of Menominee.
Rev. Rollo Branch and Hon. Geo. P. McCallum of this city.

A very interesting program will be presented and every farmer of the county should make an especial effort to attend.

The program follows:

- FORENOON.
- 10:00—Main Office of Farmers Institute
  - 10:20—What the State of Michigan, does for the Farmer. Geo. P. McCallum
  - 11:00—Food and Care of Dairy. Magnus Nelson
  - 11:30—Question hour.
- AFTERNOON.
- 1:30—A Few Remedies for Insects and Fungi. Leo M. Gesmar
  - 2:00—Address by Rev. Rollo Branch.
  - 2:30—Care of Apple Orchards and Strawberry Culture. Magnus Nelson
  - 3:00—Change in Cattle Pasturing Methods and Hints on Pestic Culture. Geo. P. McCallum
  - 3:30—Question hour.
  - 3:45—Session of officers.

The officers of the institute upon the ladies to attend the sessions, and they expect every farmer in the county to be present.

Mr. Gesmar is the efficient and hustling superintendent of the upper peninsula experiment station, who has gotten such extraordinary results from the farm which less than three years ago was covered with a primeval forest. The samples of corn, wheat and other cereals which he has exhibited at lower peninsula fairs seemed so mammoth that many a farmer below the straits nearly ruined his eyesight endeavoring to find the places where Gesmar had glued stalks together in order to create the mammoth samples he had on exhibition. He is a very entertaining speaker, and has a practical knowledge of agriculture and horticulture.

Magnus Nelson was here last year and created a very favorable impression. He is an expert dairyman and fruit raiser.

THE BEST OF ALL.

The Legionists Defeated the Masons in a Score of 5 to 8, Last Tuesday Evening.

The last game of the tournament was played last Tuesday evening at the remarkably low score, 5 to 8, in favor of the Legionists at 8:30.

The Legionists played phenomenally good ball. S. Dean Crowe made his debut as pitcher for the Legionists and did exceedingly well, being able to fool the heaviest hitters of the opposing line. Bolt who played second base made several good plays—once a double play in the ninth inning.

The winning team was handicapped somewhat by the fact that they had but eight players, but the result shows that they didn't need a full nine to beat the Masons.

Johnston of the Masons made a home run that was cheered to the echo.

Surprised Them.

The trustees of the Presbyterian church and their wives gave Trustees R. B. Waddell, a surprise party last Wednesday evening. During the first part of the evening the trustees transacted routine business, after which the remainder of the evening was spent very pleasantly socially. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Branch, Messrs. and Mesdames Geo. Nicholson, C. G. Rogers, J. M. Sattler, C. E. Keiso, A. M. LeRoy, Geo. E. Holtheim, Misses Charanelle and Ellen Keiso, Grace Holtheim and Earl Sattler.

A Close Call.

A red hot stove pipe nearly caused a conflagration at the American House last Friday evening. The fire department was called out but the blaze was soon controlled by the chemical pumps. No water was thrown.

Remnants galore at Winkelman's inventory sale.

WAIVED EXAMINATION

Was Organized Last Evening. Many of the Best Players of the City in It.

SHORTAGE EXCEEDS $8,600.00

The bondsmen will quite likely be called upon for the money, as no efforts are being made to replace it.

The Chappel case came up for hearing in Justice Hill's court last Saturday. An adjournment was granted until Tuesday forenoon. Owing to the illness of Chappel's attorney, Mr. C. W. Dutton, the hearing was postponed to Wednesday morning.

At the preliminary hearing called for Wednesday morning, Mr. Chappel waived examination and he was placed under bonds for his appearance in the circuit court. Being unable to furnish same he was returned to jail. His case will quite likely be disposed of at the January term of the circuit court.

Saturday afternoon Dennis Heffron, one of his bondsmen, asked for a release, and as he was unable to secure additional bonds, was placed in jail where he has been since that time.

A careful examination of his books reveals an additional shortage of $1300.00, making the total amount $8,600.00.

An Artistic Entertainment.

The Oelschlagel Concert Co. gave last night what proved to be one of the most pleasing and artistic entertainments ever heard in this city.

Prof. Oelschlagel met with ovation No musician has appeared in this city for years that met with such an enthusiastic reception. He is without question one of the great masters of the violin, and the audience at once recognized his genius and gave him honors of applause, requiring an encore with each appearance. He not only played with precision and consummate skill, but his bowing is full of the soul and fire so often lacking in other great artists.—LaPorte, Ind., Daily Herald, Feb. 20, 1901.

At Star opera house on Wednesday evening, January 22nd, under the auspices of the Lecture Association.

Mrs. Lewis, the milliner, is closing out her line of corsets, ladies and children's underwear, hosiery and vests. Call if you wish bargains.

THE MANISTIQUE INDOOR BASE BALL CLUB.

Was Organized Last Evening. Many of the Best Players of the City in It.

AN ELABORATE SOCIETY EVENT.

The Decorations Were Extremely Tasty and Handsome.

One of the prettiest receptions ever given in Manistique occurred at the Ossawanimac Hotel, Thursday afternoon last at which Mrs. Lewis Mallette was the hostess. The guests were met in the lower hall by Benjamin Tero Jr. and piloted up the stairway where a lady in waiting showed them to the dressing room. The guests were entertained in Mrs. Mallette's private rooms and in the large room formerly utilized as a parlor.

These rooms and the spacious hall were lavishly decorated in red and white carnations and potted plants.

For entertainment cards were given the ladies containing the transparent names of poets, and Mesdames Hornberger, Bruce, Sattler and Johnson were equally successful in spelling the words properly, and were forced to cut for first and second prizes.

Mesdames Hornberger and Sattler won, and received pretty booklets.

The collation was served down in the parlor, the ladies being seated around the room. In the center of the room stood a long table beautifully decorated with red and white carnations, roses of stamox and daintily set with cut glass, silver and candelabra with red shades. The ceiling was festooned in ropes of green and the electric lights shined in red.

Mesdames Alvin and Nibling assisted Mrs. Mallette in serving and Mrs. Tero poured chocolate from one end of the long table. The menu follows.

NO SUCH TROUBLE HERE.

Required Five Days for a Ferry to Make the Round Trip Between Frankfort and Tecumseh.

The Evening Wisconsin says: The Ann Arbor galleries are still making trips between Frankfort and Menominee via Death's Door. A trip made on Saturday was rendered very difficult through a movement of the Green Bay ice under pressure of heavy winds. These winds swept the ice to the vicinity of Death's Door and there piled it up in vast windrows, thus blocking the passage between the bay and Lake Michigan. The ferry en-counter took place at 6:30 a. m. and she did not reach Menominee until 4:30 p. m. Allowing two hours for the time consumed in coming through the open water leaves eight hours which it took the big craft to work her way through the great windrows. On one trip recently the ferry was five Manominee and Frankfort, and poles and picks had to be used to force the way through the ice. "It looked for a time," says the Menominee Herald, "as though the ferris would have to give up making this port quite early, but if the weather continues like it is at present they will be able to run several weeks more. This demonstrates the need of deepening the Sturgeon Bay canal so that winter navigation will be possible, and profitable."

BIG LAND SALE ENJOINED.

Lac LaPelle Company Ordered by Court to Hold Up Disposal of 100,000 Acres in Michigan.

A Laporte, Ind., dispatch says: Edward F. Michael, and William A. Martin of Laporte directors of Lac LaPelle company, have been enjoined by Judge Baker of the Federal Court from completing the sale of 100,000 acres of land near Munising in Alger County, Mich., for $212,000 to Harry Bros. of Detroit. The proceedings were instituted by Timothy Nester of Munising, who asks for an accounting, claiming there is due him about $30,000.

What the University Costs the Citizen.

The University of Michigan is supported largely by a one-quarter mill tax on the assessed valuation in the state. A man whose property is assessed at five hundred dollars, pays for the support of the University twelve and one-half cents per year—a cent a month. If a citizen owns a farm assessed at two thousand dollars, he pays fifty cents per year to the University. This payment of fifty cents is all it costs him to have at his command for his and his neighbors' children, an education of the best. A man must own property valued by the assessor at four thousand dollars before he can say he pays one dollar per year, or eight and one-half cents per month, for the support of the University.—Moderator.

She was built for the passenger-carrying and freighting in the Straits of Mackinac and vicinity.

WILL DELIRIOUS WITH FEVER

Ev-Senator Hasen Wandered Away At Ann Arbor.

The following dispatch from Lansing may interest some of our readers, who are personally acquainted with Mr. Hasen:

Richard Hasen, ex-state senator from Gladstone, is missing. It has been his custom to spend his winters in Ann Arbor with his family. Last Friday he was taken ill with a fever and congestion of the brain and became delirious. Shortly after noon Tuesday he arose from his bed, put on his clothes unassisted, and went forth from the home. As soon as his absence was discovered, a search was instituted, but up to a late hour Tuesday night it had been fruitless. As a result of his sickness he is temporarily without his normal mind, and is now using every means to learn of his whereabouts. The ex-senator did not stay to put on a regulation shirt, but went out with his night robe tucked in his trousers. Otherwise he was dressed ordinarily. He may have had $40 or $50 with him when he started. He is a short man about 60 years of age, wears a short beard and is baldheaded.

Red Men Must Flee.

The Indians who have been squinting for many years at the foot of the St. Mary's rapids will have to move according to an order issued by the government. For years they have made a living piloting tourists through the rapids and by catching fish. They protest earnestly against the order, but the government is determined to make a beautiful park and the canal grounds, and the plot occupied by the aborigines is a portion of the land in general plan.

There are three institutions which every town must have and must aid if it wishes to be known to the world as progressive and up-to-date towns. They are the church, school and newspaper.—Iron River Reporter.

LIQUID AIR NOT A SALVE.

Minister Allows Professor to Apply It to a Bull.

A Huron, S. D., dispatch says: The Rev. A. R. Vandenberg, pastor of the Presbyterian church, had a small bull on his left wrist, which the professor froze with liquid air, assuring the minister that it would result beneficially. Instead of giving relief the trouble is said to have increased, and Mr. Vandenberg has suffered intensely, and for a time it was feared the trouble would result in the loss of his hand. He is now better, and it is said he intends to call on Messrs. Thearle & Handorf, anonymous: broken, to pay doctor's bills, or stand a suit in court.

Too Good for Him.

P. K. Small is serving a sentence of thirty days in the Mackinac county jail for breaking into a house at Hunts Spur.

In speaking of the affair, the St. Ignace Enterprise says:

"The notorious P. K. Small is the guest of Sheriff Ryerson for thirty days, sent here by Justice Healy of Gladstone. To consign this undesirable character to the comforts of the county jail is a treat for the lawbreaker. His offense—burglariously breaking into a place, we believe was no doubt a mere county jail imprisonment has any terrors for such offenders as a big rock pile, early fare and a hard bed. A mere county jail imprisonment is clover indeed for P. K. and his like, a much more severe punishment would be to keep them out in the cold and cheerless world. Officer James McNeil brought him down on Saturday."

CEDAR MEN MEET.

Northwestern Association Holding a Session in Menominee.

A Menominee dispatch says: The Northwestern Cedar Men's Association is in session here by a Mr. Davis. During the lecture a number of experiments with liquid air were given, and several persons went forward on the invitation of the lecturer and had small spots frozen on their hands. Mr. Davis stated that the freezing would remove warts, boils, etc. The Rev. A. R. ## Will Urge An Appropriation.

Congressman Charles D. Sheldon was in the Soo late last week for a conference with business men and citizens generally relative to the new federal building for the Soo, for which a bill has already been introduced providing for an appropriation of $100,000. "I hope to secure an early audience before the committee to whom the bill has been referred," said Mr. Sheldon, "and I am here for the purpose of securing statistics and other data relating to the amount of business at the custom houses, the postoffice, with which to fortify myself in my argument to the committee. I shall push the bill just as rapidly as possible and hope for an early consideration of the figures I shall lay before the committee. There is no doubt that the Soo needs a substantial building. This is regarded as an important, safe port and I assure you that the future of your city is being closely watched all over the country, and I know of no place that is being more talked about. Since my last visit here I can see evidence of improvement and growth in all directions, and I firmly believe the Soo is destined to be a great city. These things will all be presented to congress, among whose members the Soo has many warm friends, and I have firm faith that the bill will go through. I shall certainly do my very best for it."

REMARKABLE CURE OF CROUP.

A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Good S. D., and when I got home with it the poor boy could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—Joel Demont, Iowa, Iowa. ## Dress goods less than cost at Winkelman's inventory sale.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she could not take two dresses a day." A. S. ## Thousands Sent Into Exile.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers who long have been racked with coughs are urged to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. Don't be an exile when Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption will cure you at home. It's the most infallible medicine for coughs, colds, and all throat and lung diseases on earth. Astonishing cures result from persistent use. Trial bottles free at S. N. Orr & Co's. Price 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure backache, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and dizzy spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Phoebe Cheney, of Petrosburg, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my household work. It overcomes constipation, improves the appetite, gives perfect health, only 50c at E. N. Orr & Co's drug store."

EDITORIAL COMMENT.
Manistique has their school keeps it that don't drink their water.
Senator McMillan has been appointed to the position of chief clerk of the Michigan State Board of Education.

The late Billy Bryan says that he is not a candidate for anything and couldn't name the next Democratic candidate for the presidency. It is gradually leaning upon the Nebraska statesman that he is dead.

An exchange says: The manufacturers of the oleomargarine are even accused of putting hairs in their product in order to stimulate the real article. This is one thing which oleomargarine people should look into without delay.

The St. Ignace Republican although it is not new in the Thirtieth district, has started a sensational box for S. N. Dutcher of Newberry. Mr. Dutcher possesses all the qualifications necessary for the office, and the district could go further for a candidate and face a great deal worse.—Lake Superior Journal.

A woman may vote as a stockholder upon a railroad from one end of the country to the other. But if she sells her stock, and buys a house with the money, she has no voice in the laying out of the road before her door, which her home is taxed to keep and for. Why, in the name of good sense if a responsible human being may vote upon specific industrial projects, may she not vote upon the industrial regulation of the State?—George William Curtis.

Senator Mark Hanna has won a substantial victory in Ohio by securing such recognition as to entitle him to rank as the Republican leader of the state. It is conceded that Senator Foraker will be re-elected without opposition, but he will be shorn of power to block Senator Hanna's re-election when his term comes. Hanna has demonstrated his ability to "keep his end up," even when deprived of the powerful co-operation of the late president.—Minneapolis Tribune.

It looks now as though Mr. Chappe's bondsmen "were up against it." It was anticipated that the amount of his shortage would be paid by relatives, but from all indications they are willing that he shall suffer and as a consequence in the course of time the county will be compelled to call upon his bondsmen for the amount claimed, which up to this time has reached $8,600. The interest on same will make the total amount nearly 100,000.00. Most if not all of the bondsmen can ill-afford to pay their proportion of the deficit.

For some reason or other there has been a heavy shrinkage in our exports of iron and steel manufacturers, which is all the more surprising because the United States Steel Corporation announced one of its purposes would be to stimulate foreign trade. Perhaps the explanation may be simply this—that it has been all that the mills could do and more to supply the immense demand of the home market. It is this home market after all which must ever be the main reliance of American manufacturers. But no American likes to see a falling off in any department of our overseas commerce.—Boston "Journal."

EDITORIAL COMMENT.
A Post-Huron judge sentenced a man to 30 days' imprisonment and fined him $75 for swearing. But Charles D. Thompson, who stole $75,000 from the Marjorers is still an honored citizen, because he is a "good fellow"—Detroit Today.

The San News Record announces the candidacy of Hon. Wm. E. Chandler for State Senator. An excellent man for the position. But the Record is not content with its endorsement of Chandler. It suggests that he be supported by the State Board of Education. The Record is right. Chandler is a man of high character and high ability. He is a man of high character and high ability. He is a man of high character and high ability.

Let us look at the good old party which has made us what we are, as well as what we are, that first consideration is the party, the well being and the protection of American Labor. They demand the endorsement by legitimate means of the best sugar industry in this country, and they demand still more emphatically the repulse of continental assents upon it, directly and indirectly, by the sugar trust and those to whom its interests are paramount.—Seattle "Post-Intelligencer."

Railroad Commissioner Osborn has issued the finest railroad map of the state ever gotten out from the railroad commissioner's office. It shows not only every railroad of the state but every electric road constructed, which is an entirely new feature of the map. The principal railway systems are indicated by different colors, the Pere Marquette being represented by red lines, the Michigan Central by blue lines, the Lake Shore by purple, and the Grand Trunk by green. The map is also very complete in other respects.—Soo Express.

Kansas City Journal: Cuba starts into self-government with the comforting knowledge that there is a safe place to fall if the experiment proves unsatisfactory.

Minneapolis Times: Speaking of the Monroe doctrine, some day our South American neighbors will be big enough, cool enough and united enough to assist materially in its enforcement.

Washington Post: Elder Dowie paid $63,000 for his lace factory plant and then issued a stock in it to the extent of $1,103,000. Why they continue to assume that religion is Dowie's long suit.

St. Paul Dispatch: Mr. Austin's new poem is a "get together" Anglo-Saxon effusion, in which he advises us that we "both lip" in the English tongue. This is apparently a Briticism, and America denies the charge.
Louisville Courier-Journal: It is calculated that a baby boy's chance of being president of the United States is one in 30,000,000. And it may be added that in most cases the chance grows beautifully less the older the baby gets.
Philadelphia Record: There have been two rumors about Senator Quay recently. One is that he intends to resign his seat in the senate, and the other is that he intends to write and publish his autobiography. If the latter be true, the former must be too.

ROOSEVELT AND LINCOLN.
Roosevelt is the first president of the United States since Abraham Lincoln who has expressed himself publicly in favor of woman suffrage before attaining the presidency. Cleveland proved himself favorable to it by actions rather than words, as he signed bills giving women partial suffrage in New York when he was governor of that state. Hayes favored it in his quiet way, and helped to get a woman's right vote constitution through the National Republican Convention of 1872. Garfield too recognized its growing importance. He said "I wish as we may put it aside as a just it will keep a seat out of Congress of political campaign, still the woman question is pressing on our horizon larger than the case of a man's hand, and some solution, ere long, that question must find."

Mrs. McKinley presented a hand some doll to the National Savings Bank, and Ohio strategists, their resolutions of respect for President McKinley's death, spoke of him as a sympathizer with the cause. Some other presidents were believed to be more or less friendly to it, but Roosevelt and Lincoln have been the only ones to put themselves conspicuously on record.

Roosevelt voted for woman suffrage in the New York Legislature, and recommended it in his inaugural message after he became governor. But Lincoln was the pioneer suffragist among the prominent public men of the United States. In a letter to the electors of the Sangamon County, dated June 11, 1836, and printed in a Sangamon County Journal, published at New Salem, Ill., Lincoln wrote: "I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in bearing its burdens; consequently I go for admitting all whites to the right of suffrage who pay taxes or bear arms by no means excluding females."—Progress.

CONTENTED PORTO RICO.
We were slow in doing our plain duty to Porto Rico, but we did it and for several months the island has been American territory, enjoying the advantages of our fiscal and economic systems. According to the report of Governor Hunt, results are most encouraging.

When Congress passed the tariff bill early in 1900 there was a great discontent in Porto Rico, but when the revenues of the island increased to a point that justified the suspension of the tariff act there was a better feeling.

It was made clear to the Porto Ricans that they were to be treated as residents of American territory, that the investment of capital was to be encouraged, and that public moneys were to be spent for the improvement of conditions on the island. Civil government was successful from the start the sugar industry took on new life when the tariff was suspended, and general agriculture became profitable. The treasurer in a recent report stated that the financial condition of the island territory would compare favorably with that of any state in the Union, there being no funded or floating indebtedness and no heavy taxes.

The Governor, in his message of Jan. 2, reports that people show increasing interest in the government, that there is increased attendance at the 875 public schools, the pupils enrolled now numbering 45,000, and that there is a balance in the treasury of $2,000,000. Roads have been constructed, giving employment to the workers, and commerce has been developed to the advantage of all classes.

As a result of tolerance of difference is becoming more common, the people are becoming attached to American ideas, and Porto Rico promises to become one of the most prosperous islands in American waters, with a people as contented and loyal as those of Oklahoma or Arizona.
If the Philippines are treated as Porto Rico has been treated in the last six months; there will be contentment and prosperity there, and a ready adoption of American methods. But we insist on regarding the Filipinos as beyond the pale of the American system. We cannot blame them if they in turn regard us as interlopers and enemies.
Indianapolis News: Certain travelers have returned from China recently are pessimistic about the future of that country, as China seems to be importing firearms and getting ready for a great conflict. The civilized nations may yet regret the day that they taught the Chinese the art of war.

EULOGY OF ROGERS.
Splendid Tribute Paid to the Late Governor of Washington.
The Daily Ledger of Tacoma, Wash., in its issue of Friday, Dec. 27, published in a double headed editorial column of the late Governor Rogers, who died at Olympia the night before after a brief illness. The tribute paid to the dead executive was more remarkable when it is considered that the Ledger is a strong Republican paper, while the governor had been elected on a fusion platform. That Mr. Rogers was very popular, however, is shown by the fact that of the entire town to which he was the only successful nominee, and besides that some fifteen thousand votes ahead of the Republican candidates who were selected to fill the various other state offices.

The governor had two brothers in this section of the country. Rev. J. M. Rogers, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, and Geo. C. Rogers, treasurer of Schuette county, with headquarters at Mendocino. For that reason the eulogy published in the Tacoma paper will be of unusual interest, and is reproduced as follows:
"The people of Washington will be shocked and pained that Gov. Rogers lies dead at the capital where has been the scene of his greatest public activity.

"Only a few days ago, in health apparently good, and with the full promise of rounding out the allotted term of years, the governor greeted his friends and business interests with his usual tasks. The first reports of his illness were not of a character to be alarming. Twenty-four hours before the final slumber had fallen upon him there had been made public no reason for apprehension. The struggle for life was short; let us hope it was painless, and that the end was sweet to the sleeper.

"Few men have had from their fellows so great a compliment as that conferred upon John Rankin Rogers, when for a second time he was elected to the highest office of the commonwealth. He was a representative of political forces that were losing everywhere in some states these were fairly swept from existence. The men on the ticket with him went down to defeat, but he triumphed over all opposition. It was a victory which meant the fullest expression of confidence, and the man to achieve it had a right to feel pride, even to exultation, but that Governor Rogers was carried away by any such emotion there was never sign.

"There does not befall the duty of an analysis of the character of the dead executive. The people of state had seen his manifestation in office of responsibility and they had been satisfied to renew the trust. Governor Rogers was strong man. The individual who forces himself from humble station to the exalted seat of a governor must possess more than ordinary qualifications. Much may depend upon circumstances, but more depends upon the individual.

"Governor Rogers had changed greatly in the years of his later maturity. He had the purely human trait of taking color from his environment. In time past when in Kansas, during a period when there was depression and suffering, and the future looked dark and forbidding, he wrote and talked in a pessimistic strain, then natural, but wholly out of consonance with the splendid achievement in the world of industry and growth. In his utterances as executive there was no trace of the somber aspect of life that had once presented itself to him. His perceptions had expanded, his mind broadened, and he saw with a new vision.

"Of every man who enters politics, bitter words are spoken. The making of enemies is inevitable. But the governor is dead. There are no more bitter words. There are no more words in sympathy that they will not be a enemy. His enemies there were, the hand of death has erased them. If bitterness there has been, it is submerged in a wave of sorrow.

"Today the people of Washington are not thinking of what is to come, of plans that have disarranged. They are mourning their dead governor. They have tears for the quiet, kindly man in whom they believed."—Mining Journal.
The fellows who have time to fix up jobs on one another seldom win out. The loafer in politics is no more account than he is elsewhere.

A Brief History of the Coming Secretary of the Treasury.
He is an earnest Methodist.

He never drank liquor nor tasted it.
He belongs to no secret societies.
He is democratic and, it is said treats his servants as his equals.
He is both banker and lawyer.
He leaped from obscurity into a public prominence by replying to a free silver speech by W. J. Bryan.
He is fifty four very hale and vigorous.
He was born in a log cabin in Vermont, and spent his boyhood on a Vermont farm.
He earned with his own labor the money that put him through college.
He says his success in life is due to hard work.
He always got to his law office at 7 a. m. and stayed there until 10 p. m.
He was superintendent of two Sunday schools for twenty years.
He has a high forehead, thin gray hair, a heavy mustache and gray, close-cropped side-whiskers.
He looks, in dress, like a Methodist minister.
He announced at a Methodist conference in Chicago last year: "I am an organization politician. A machine politician is not as great a nuisance as a fool reformer."—Detroit Journal.

WHEELER THINKS RIGHT.
(New Orleans.)
General Joe Wheeler once did a good deal of hard fighting for the South, without asking whether she was right or wrong. He has done some good fighting for the Union because he believed the nation was right. He supported the expansion policy because he not only believed it was right, but saw in it a great opportunity for the South.

The General is still standing by his guns. He has not been silenced by threats to read him out of the Democratic party. He still contends that the retention of the Philippines, of Guam and Hawaii is absolutely essential to our commercial development. He said in Louisville on Wednesday: "My contention is that the possession of the Philippines gives the United an indispensable advantage in the struggle for commercial power in the East," and he admits that commercial supremacy in the East means as much to the South as to the North.

This is good Republican doctrine. It is better than that. It is good American doctrine.

In discussing the Cuban question General Wheeler speaks as did the Southern statesman of fifty years ago—as did the Democrats who made the Democratic party strong in the South. They held then that the destiny of Cuba was to be part of the United States.

General Wheeler declares now with the frankness of those who framed the Ostend manifesto: "Cuba will be part of us." He means that this will be not solely because the Cubans will it, nor because they both will it in accordance with the historic forces that have been willing it ever since the map of the hemisphere was made.

COMPARE THE HOME MERCHANT WITH THE CATALOGUE HOUSE.
Who sympathized with you when your little girl was sick? Was it your home merchant or was it Sears, Roebuck & Co.? Who carried you last winter when you were out of a job and had no money? Was it Montgomery Ward & Co., or was it your home merchant? When you want to raise money for the churches or some needy person in town, do you write to the Fair store in Chicago, or do you go to your home merchant? How much do Siegel, Cooper & Co. give towards keeping up the sidewalks of the town or paying the minister's salary? When you are sick, how many nights did Charles A. Stevens & Co. sit up with you? When your loved one was buried was it your home merchant that nothing else could induce him to do. Debt due to extravagance, to failure, to keep on going with income, to buying things when the cash is not in the pocket, to pay for them, in the end undermines ambition, industry and character. There is no better resolution than "pay as you go."

NEW...
 DIPLOMATS
 WASHINGTON

Each succeeding year brings changes in the diplomatic corps at Washington, and interest always surrounds the newcomers who are to make their first bows to society in the national capital. This season presents many strange faces, for there have been numerous changes among the representatives of foreign governments.

Since the inauguration of the new President, who has installed the United States in the position of a world power the diplomatic corps has been growing larger year by year until now representatives of nearly every land and clime are to be found in the foreign colony.

Diplomats are the bright particular stars of the diplomatic firmament, not only enjoying higher rank than politicians, but are considered to represent more directly their sovereign or government.

There are only a few occasions each year, however, when the general public may feast its eyes upon this show of gilt and feathers, the diplomatic reception and the diplomatic dinner being the special occasions on which the foreign contingent don its showiest court costumes and gold-laden uniforms. These gorgeous habiliments are in marked contrast to the simple costume worn by Uncle Sam's envoys at the courts of Europe. Our diplomats are restricted to the dress of an American citizen.

In the official plianage of the foreign diplomats, on the other hand, there is displayed nearly every color and hue. Diplomatic court dress embraces everything from splendid uniforms of gleaming crimson to snowy white, glowing green, and purple. In appearance they are well preserved and dignified, many of more than fifty years, wide awake, full of business energy and very correct. He is not a man for one of the handsome residences in the exclusive quarter of the north-west.

By the way, he has been elected $100,000 a year, and he has a house in Boston, Massachusetts, avenue and Seventeenth street. Mentioning his name is tantamount to a declaration of war, and it is not probable that his prospective purchaser will be made in the name of the United States and that Italy will maintain its over-ambitious home rule at the capital.

Baron Lodovico Mancini, the new Italian minister, came to Washington from Mexico and succeeds Count Lodi. He was born in Brussels and

TYPE OF THE BOWERY

Chuck Connors, Quant Charachter of New York's Slums.

Social Leader in Chinese District of the Great City.

The annual ball of the Chuck Connors association has come and gone and nothing is left of it but a memory. And such a memory! The title of society of New York's "Chinatown" and "Bowery" districts in the history of one of our cities is the story of Mr. Connors' latest contribution to the city of New York.

For several weeks prior to the great event huge posters decorated the walls of Chinese restaurants and Bowery saloons announcing the date of the event and bearing the admonition, "Bring your wads with you." And bring them they did, and spend them they did.

But all this was to be expected and was in the proper spirit, for when the association ball was held at the residence of the redoubtable Chuck gives a ball the lads are let down, and everything goes, and goes to the limit, which is the limit. So much for Chuck Connors' ball.

"Chuck Connors, by the way, is not a flaccid character, as some may suppose, but a living, breathing entity, very much in evidence in the evening of the party in the district of New York in which he is to be found the first and foremost of all the world, including China.

In a rather dingy Chinatown saloon Chuck Connors holds court. It is only a few doors away from the famous Bowery, in Pell street, the principal street of Chinatown. And here Chuck Connors, for he is the unquestioned boss of his district, presides over the proceedings. Chuck's public career began as a newsboy and bootblack. He used to ply his trade at the New York City, the Broadway bridge and along Park row. As he accumulated years and muscle he became a prizefighter and later developed into an actor. These employments of earlier days have now been relegated to the past, and it is as a salubrious and active member of the people that he is seen at his best.

Among newspaper men Chuck Connors is a great favorite, and his queer conceits and original humor have long been a source of amusement to his associates.

More than usual interest is manifested in the new Persian minister, who succeeds General Kiam, one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps. On his arrival in Washington he was entertained at a large dinner given in his honor by the Italian ambassador and Countess Ostini, thus receiving his first official welcome. He is under the most happy auspices.

Phya Akhbari, the Siamese envoy, comes from the land where the white elephant is a sacred creature, housed in a golden palace, fed and attended by swarthy domestics and served on heaped silver. Nevertheless he plays all the outward signs of civilization. His diplomatic uniform is, according to the international fashion of the corps, a splendiferous, richly embroidered with fern leaves and bunches and laid on heavy bullion. He wears the regulation cocked hat of a bestman general and the white trousers of a buzzard.

It is a young man to have attained his diplomatic rank, a native of the capital of his country, Bangkok, and a descendant of the ancient nobility. After completing his home education he was sent to Oxford, where he took both graduate and postgraduate degrees. He is a very worthy man, both in his own right and in his expected inheritance. His previous official experience is limited.

Chuck's ball takes its name from the fact that he is the unquestioned boss of his district. Chuck's public career began as a newsboy and bootblack. He used to ply his trade at the New York City, the Broadway bridge and along Park row. As he accumulated years and muscle he became a prizefighter and later developed into an actor. These employments of earlier days have now been relegated to the past, and it is as a salubrious and active member of the people that he is seen at his best.

Among newspaper men Chuck Connors is a great favorite, and his queer conceits and original humor have long been a source of amusement to his associates.
