The Shingle Mill of the White Marble Lime Co., and Much of the Burrell Chemical Co.'s Plant Destroyed Wednesday.

WORST VISITATION IN CITY'S HISTORY

Both Plants Will Probably Be Rebuilt. The Chemical Company is Clearing Its Ground of Debris. The Mill Will Not Be Rebuilt on Old Site.

Manistique experienced the most disastrous fire in its history Wednesday afternoon when the mill of the White Marble Lime Co. and the greater portion of the mammoth plant of the Burrell Chemical Co. were reduced to ashes.

The fire, concerning the origin of which, there is much speculation, started on the north side of the shingle mill, under the tramway where ties and shingles are loaded. Some think that the fire was caused by sparks from the saw burner across the railroad track, quite a distance from the mill. Others think that a spark from a passing locomotive might have been the cause.

Engineer McDonald, who with several other employees, was at the mill during the noon hour, noticed a blaze in the vicinity above mentioned, and with his companions attempted to prevent its spread with the facilities which the mill is equipped. The flames spread so rapidly that they were unable to cope with them and an alarm was sounded by the blowing of whistles. The fire department made a quick run and every member turned out. In a few moments the shingle mill was doomed, and the billions of flames swept over the alcohol building of the chemical plant in which 20,000 gallons of refined wood alcohol was stored in twelve steel tanks. The fire department arrived about the time that the building caught fire and with three streams from the engine and seven from the pumps of the chemical plant, did all in their power to confine the flames to that building, but the combustion of the product secured inside made their efforts futile. The fire then reached the acetate

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Union Services Were Held at the M. E. Church Sunday Evening and Were Largely Attended.

G. A. R. ATTENDED IN A BODY

Rev. J. L. Osborne delivered the address, "Sound the Tocsin! Friends of Which We Reproduce Below." The Union Memorial services, held at the Methodist church last Sunday evening, were attended by nearly 100 people. Nearly all of the resident members of the Grand Army Post attended in a body and were given seats of honor in the front portion of the church. Rev. Branch offered prayer and Rev. Fox read the scripture lesson. The choir rendered two appropriate anthems, and several patriotic hymns, including America, were sung by the audience.

Rev. J. L. Osborne delivered the address and rarely has it been the good fortune of a Manistique audience to hear so impassioned, eloquent and patriotic a thesis as the one in question. He opened by calling attention to the fact that the magnificent address was presented, not especially to honor the speaker, but to pay tribute to the memory of the brave heroes living and dead.

The "salient points of the address" follow: Although this nation has ever been a peon loving nation, it has never been without its old soldiers. One army has trod upon the heels of another. This country has two national holidays: July 4th and Decoration day. The thought of the first is Freedom, Empire, soil government and equality; and it is celebrated in a joyous, noisy manner. The thought of the second is sacrifice, suffering and heroism. The one is connected with the one's victory, conquest; with the other is sadness. The expression of the one emotion is found in cheers, while its symbol is the flag; the expression of the other is found in tears, and its symbol is the dove. The martyred president, McKinley, years ago, defined Decoration day as All Saints day. When analyzed this appellation contains a wealth of truth and meaning. Some churches observe an All Saints day, thereby revering the memory of departed spirits who were a power for good while on earth. The man who fights for the perpetuity of his country is worthy of similar honor.

Occasions such as these are for the purpose of commemorating the heroic service of all who have contributed to the achievement of liberty and the purchase of peace.

The speaker divided the country's evolution into five stages:

- (1) Seed in the Mayflower.
- (2) Struggle against native and hostile Indians.
- (3) Founding Revolutionary war and war of 1812.
- (4) Preservation—war of 1818 and civil war.
- (5) Extension and Exposition—Spanish-American war.

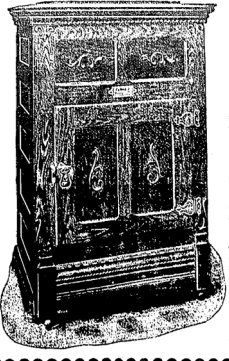

War is an instrument for good. All upward steps are made in blood. For instance the seizure of Napoleon resulted in the formation of the Empire of day with its powerful empires. The Revolution was a plow share and harrow for America, till and fructifying the soil for the country's present greatness.

Another thought suggested by war were incidents, serious, patriotic and ludicrous—the last serving as a rebuke. The men at the front found war to be the severing of dearest ties; the weariness of march and lonely bivouac; the oblique of life in hospital or in field; the shock of shell and loss of limb; the empty sleeve, weary, cruel; agony—"Hell," as a noted warrior has aptly termed it.

Another thought is the providential blessing of God with our nation. He lifted the case of Massachusetts, the great Indian chief who stayed the hand of his brethren at a critical time in the history of the colonists, when they could easily have been obliterated. Among other cases he cited Jim Monitor which made its appearance and destroyed the enemy's fleet, which was starting on a mission of devastation, the objective points being our large coast cities, then unprotected.

The advance of christianity and civilization are wrought by sacrifice of the best.

"Whether on scaffold or in the battle's van is where the soldier finds his life is where he dies for man." Coligny and Lexington are alike. Christ died to save mankind; the lamb who bore patriotic colonists sacrificed their lives for home, and thereby revering the memory of

MANISTIQUE VALUATION $2,022,925.00

The Valuation of Enterprises Affected by the Fire, Materially Reduced.

The Board of Review of the city of Manistique adjourned yesterday noon after being in continuous session for ten days. The total valuation of the city was fixed at $2,022,925, being an increase of nearly $500,000 as compared to last year. The board did a commendable act by reducing the valuation of the Chemical Company, Marble Lime Co. was also reduced. These reductions were made on account of the loss sustained by these enterprises in the conflagration of Wednesday.

At the Tannery Site.

Work at the tannery is being pushed with vigor. All the men being employed that can be used to advantage, and many more will be employed as soon as their services can be utilized. The frame of the first building to be erected is being raised, the foundation being all in, and the excavation for the largest of all the buildings, the ten-yard, as it is called, is well along toward completion, the earth and stone removed being used to fill low places on other parts of the grounds.

It was thought by Mr. Bright, the superintendent in charge, that some difficulty might be encountered owing to the rock, but he now thinks they will have no trouble of this character and is very much pleased with the location.

About thirty men are employed at present, and a large amount of material has been accumulated for building purposes.

Owing to various causes, one of which the early issuance of the paper this week, several radical changes in the make-up of the paper were necessary. Much interesting local matter appears on inside pages in consequence.

"Diamonds and Hearts."

"The great comedy drama, 'Diamonds and Hearts,' which will be presented at the opera house on June 5th, under the direction of Charles Barrow, promises to be a genuine treat. This new play has bounded at once into wide popularity. The grand plot, the strong heart, in earnest, and the abundant comedy all combine to make a most excellent drama.

Miss Barrow has secured some of the most talented amateurs of the city to assist in its presentation. Those participating will be Mand Adams, Rita Reed, Edna May, Pearl Severn, Bonnie Wilkie, Cag Clement, William Smiley, C. H. Davis, Tony Bradley, and Ralph Stuart. A feature of the evening will be excellent specialties, rendered by some of the best singers and dancers in the city. Purchase your tickets early and avoid the rush.

The call for the Republican county convention will be published next week.

Rev. E. W. Behner, of Princeton, N. J., Presbyterian Sunday School missionary for the upper peninsula, will preach at the church of the Redeemer next Sunday morning and evening.

GENIUS MARY MACLANE

Life Story of Montana's Self Avowed Wonder.

VALUES HERSELF AT SIX CENTS

Butte's New Author, Who Is Twenty-one and Born in Canada, Says She Loves Devils and Admits She is a
 Liar—Was Educated in a High School.

Mary Elizabeth MacLane of Butte, Mont., author of "The Story of Mary MacLane," is a very ordinary young woman as far as her home life is concerned. She has a cold face, but she herself is authority for the statement that she has a warm heart. She lives with her mother on Excelsior avenue, on the west side of Butte, and is about twenty-one years of age.

She was at work in her mother's kitchen when the correspondent of the New York World called on her the other day and asked her to talk about her book and the fame it promised her.

Miss MacLane is a most erratic young woman. For several years she has amused her friends in the neighborhood in which she lived by performances that have made some people call her "queer."

"Are you a gentleman?" she asked the correspondent. "I hate a gentleman," she added without waiting for a reply. "I once knew a newspaper man who was very nice externally, but back of his eyes was the devil. 'I love devils.'"

To a lady present she said, "Are the tails of your boa real?" Being assured that they were not the real thing, she said she was so glad, because she hated real things as she hated "perfect ladies."

"I am a genius," she said, "and besides I am delightfully original, charmingly refreshing and astonishingly vain."

Miss MacLane said she was a liar, a plunger, a philosopher and the most unhappy and contemptuous person living, because she was a genius and people could not understand her.

"What does your mother say about you?" the young authoress was asked during the conversation.

"Oh, she says, 'Mary, it is time to get the potatoes.'"

"As I have said, I want fame. I want to write such things as compel the admiring acclamation of the world at large, such things as are written but once in years, things subtle, but distinctly different from the books written every day. I can do this. Let me but make a beginning. Let me but strike the world in a vulnerable spot, and I can take it by storm. Let me but win my spurs, and then good people, you will see me, of swampland and young, valiantly astride a charger riding down the world, with fame following at the charger's heels and the multitudes agape.

"But, oh, more than this, I want to be happy! Fame is indeed beautiful and benign and gentle and satisfying, but happiness is something at once tender and brilliant beyond all things. I want fame more than I can tell, but more than I want fame I want happiness."

"How like a woman!" the listener exclaimed.

"What do I care for your opinion? You don't interest me in the least," says the genius, looking up, immovable as a sphinx, while the cool, decisive voice reiterates: "You don't interest me in the least. I don't like you either. You don't understand me at all. How can you, for I am a genius."

Miss MacLane said she had always valued herself at 3 cents, but now she ought to be worth at least 6 cents. Her favorite authors have been Marie Louise Pool, Victor Hugo, J. T. Trowbridge, Albert Ross and Carlyle.

"I value Ross at 2 cents and Hugo at $2.65," she said.

Eugene Field and Edgar Allan Poe are her favorite poets.

This is her own brief story of her life as she has set down in the portrayal:

"I was born in 1881 at Winnipeg, Manitoba, and whether Winnipeg will yet live to be proud of that fact is a matter of some conjecture. When I was three years old, I was taken with my family to a little town in western Minnesota, where I lived a more or less rapid and ordinary life until I was ten.

"We came then to Montana, where the aforesaid life was continued. I am purely of the MacLane blood, which is highland Scotch. These particular MacLanes whose blood is highland Scotch are just a little different from every family in Canada. The family contains and has contained fanatics of many minds, religious, social and what not, and I am a true MacLane.

"There are a great many MacLanes, but there usually is only one real MacLane in each generation. There is but one who feels again the passionate spirit of the clan, those barbaric dwellers of the bleak and well beloved highlands of Scotland. I am the real MacLane of my generation. The real MacLane in these later centuries is always a woman.

"I graduated from the Butte high school with these things—very good Latin, good French and Greek, some little geometry and other mathematics, a broad conception of history and literature, peripatetic philosophy that I acquired without any aid from the high school. Genius of a kind has always been with me, an empty heart that has taken on a certain wooden quality, an excellent, strong woman's body and a pitifully starved soul."

A British Triumph.

[One of our trade secrets has remained undiscovered by the Americans—viz. how to produce xylonite pingpong balls absolutely round.—English Daily Paper.]

While the Yankees are stealing our trade by degrees

And are boasting of swamping us out as they please

It's a comfort to hear

That in one little sphere

Our heightened old country is taking her own

By the help of a secret to others unknown.

They may capture our markets for iron and steel;

They may swallow our ships in a Morgue's deal;

They may show us how rotten

Our lead is in cotton,

May send us their linen, their hemp and their shoes,

And their writing machines they may force us to use;

They may keep us in maize and may flood us with wheat;

They may bent our poor farmers with fruit or with meat.

For, indeed, it's tremendous

What treasures they send us,

And yet we have benten them clean out of time

In a way I extol in this jubilant rhyme.

Let our principal industries totter and fall,

For the world is well lost for a celluloid ball,

And our flag it shall wave

O'er the free and the brave

Just as long as we guard as a secret profound!

How it is we can turn table tennis balls round!

Man Who Escapes His Mind Paralysis for One Day—Doctors Scold.

Woman Not an Acting Manager

Man Who Escapes His Mind Paralysis for One Day—Doctors Scold.

Detroit, Mich., May 27.—The 1,200 girls who quit work at the Brown branch of the American Cigar company in this city because of affliction for H. B. Brown, the manager, are still determined to remain until unless Brown resumes the management of the concern. Second Vice President Cobb is going to the city to see what he could do to settle the matter, but the girls paid no more attention to him than if he were the company's messenger boy.

They Four for Their Wives.—The girls want their manager reinstated, and they insist on it. Brown has told his best to convince the employees that he resigned of his own accord, telling them he had money enough to be idle the remainder of his life, but the young women with the other eye at him and still claim it would be impossible for him to be out of business unless he had a more forceful hand out of it. It is said it would begin to cut the wages of the employees.

Not an Acting Manager.—Brown, not an acting manager, said Brown to a reporter. "I do not know who is in here acting in a more friendly way, and to serve the interests of both sides is my business. At least I can, I cannot tell how long I shall stay here. No, I cannot tell whether Mr. Brown is going to stay or he has left the city. I know that Mr. Cobb has gone."

SAYS HE HAS CURED HIMSELF.—Man Who Escapes His Mind Paralysis for One Day—Doctors Scold.

Owosso, Mich., May 27.—Since the first Church of Christ in Owosso was organized in this city in January, 1898, considerable interest has been shown in the cult but more especially since the latter, Marco J. Lepper, was stricken with paralysis and miraculously recovered. While Lepper was engaged in his work at the office one day he was suddenly stricken with what he says was complete paralysis. He was unable to walk, to see or hear, but on the second day began to show great improvement, and, indeed, was able to walk. From that day on he managed to walk more or less around the house and on the street.

Lepper says that his only demonstration and those of his wife, who is now a "healer" and who has a number of patients in this city, was sufficient to raise him from a mere gipsy fortune teller to the position of a religious leader. The only indication the public had of Lepper's condition was the fact that he was in the hospital for a couple of weeks. In reply to the question how in a Christian sense he happened to suffer from paralysis, he gave this answer: "It was not a result of absent work, but of a weakened mentality." Doctors scold at Lepper's story.

Swindle Scoundrel Trios to Their Only Property

Nearly that last Subway has a valuable "Plant" hidden—State News Notes.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 26.—Horace B. Carey, a well-known resident of Galesburg, Mich., says he has been swindled out of a farm of 87½ acres by a smooth confidence man. Last January, at the time the yard races at Galesburg, a man using the name of W. H. Edwards, and his home as Lansing, Pa., appeared at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carey. He said he wanted to buy land to hold in trust for the purpose of holding a stock company of 100,000 shares.

Sold Their Farm for Pranks.—The persuaded the Careys that they were entering into a partnership with him and put them in charge of Wood's Little Springs, at Whiting, W. Va., which had been bought and sold for $100,000. They were not aware of the fact that the man was a swindler, and that he had sold the farm for $100,000. The accident was not witnessed by other members of the crew, but it is supposed the man slipped on the deck and went over the side. The Pahlow was bound from Thompson, Mich., to Chicago with a cargo of lumber.—Sturgeon Bay Advocate.

This is to be another shirt waist season. Fashion has no secrets; sometimes fashion prescribes very absurd and ridiculous things—Queen Elizabeth ruff for instance or the hoopskirts our mothers used to wear—but in inventing the shirt waist fashion has made amends for many past failings. June is the shirt waist selling month, and June opens and finds stock of shirt waists we have ever shown. We have enough and to spare for all the women within shopping distance of our store at lowest prices ever known. BUSINESS BROS.
