COMMENCEMENT.

A Bright Class of Five Ended Its First Lesson Wednesday.

Prof. Pattengill's Address.

The sixth annual commencement of the Manistique high school was held this week, at which time one of the banner classes stepped beyond the threshold into the world, to engage in the strenuous battle of life.

The week opened with the baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. J. B. Fox at the First Baptist church last Sunday evening, and the large audience present were highly edified by what they heard. A brief synopsis of the sermon follows:

There is something in this occasion, said the speaker, which makes this text especially appropriate. To the members of the graduating class before us tonight life is its broadest and grandest meaning is yet before them. Life and its issues or attainments involves your ideals, your highest hopes, your fondest ambitions, you are justly proud of what you have already accomplished in laying good foundations upon which to rear a life structure and which tonight prophesy a life of noble and worthy issues, for you have shown strength of character and nobility of purpose that you have not yielded to self-indulgence or laziness but by persistence have gained that discipline and knowledge which will insure future power and success.

But from the past our text leads to the future and suggests to each one of us the question—What shall be the issue of my life? Life always necessitates the consideration of the present and the future. Present issues of life necessitate present conditions and necessities usually occupy the first place in time and effort. Our success or failure in business, the honor or dishonor which may attach to our names, the joys or the hates which other may cherish from us, the influence which we may have in society or in politics, all of these inspire noble souls with earnestness and high endeavor.

The future issues although more remote impress us with the intensity because of their vastness, their infinity. We are more than mortal and the problem of life and its issues is as vast as infinity, and as far reaching as eternity. We may restate our conception of the issue of life, making them more concrete.

The issues of life may include the leading lines in your experience. Great issues come before autisms in which right and wrong struggle for supremacy. You will meet these issues and before them you will be defeated or in the strength of your integrity and purity of purpose, wrong will be overthrown and right will be victorious.

The issues of life may include that which proceeds from your life in the form of influence upon your fellow man. Shall society and humanity suffer or rejoice because you have treated young men and women who have had the earnestness of purpose, the strength of character and capacity of intellect to successfully pass and out complete a high school course of study and discipline are destined to obtain a large influence in the community and society in which they may live. Your ideals and ambitions for the best attainments and for best results in personal influences are your best works. Have you that which will insure the realization of your best life ideas?

THOS. WILSON KILLED

Was Thrown out of a Wagon Tuesday Evening at the Jamestown Crossing.

Neck Broken by the Fall.

Accident the Result of a Fast Heavy Race Along a Narrow Road.

About six o'clock Tuesday evening, Thomas Wilson was thrown out of a wagon on the road east of the city with such force as to break his neck.

Wilson, Wilson's brother, his son-in-law Jim Sheridan and another gentleman, had been in the city the greater portion of the day and were more or less under the influence of liquor when they started for home.

When they reached a point near the Jamestown crossing, Sheridan who was driving, espied James Sawyer driving fast. Ghent's team ahead of him. He endeavored to go around the team, and in his efforts to do so he frightened the Ghent team which ran away.

In his efforts to get ahead his team ran into a ditch and one of the wheels struck a stump which struck force as to throw the quartet out of the wagon. Wilson struck on his face, breaking his neck. The others were not so severely injured. The wagon was partially wrecked and a kind of square including a keg of beer, were scattered along the road.

Geo. Bouchard who on his way to the city and seeing the Ghent team coming at full speed he was forced to go into the woods to get out of the way. A few minutes later he came upon the Wilson crowd and after ascertaining what had happened he hurried to the city to notify the coroner and Undertaker Johnson. Edward Jewell who was out hunting also reached the scene about the same time that Mr. Bouchard did.

Coroner Mix, upon investigation, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. Wilson was seventy-seven years of age and has been a resident of Schoolcraft county for twenty years. He lived on a farm in Doyle township, with his brother-in-law Sheridan. He was a soldier during his earlier life.

ORR-BURT.

Miss Bertrude Orr and William T. Burt were married Saturday Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt left the city on the 7 o'clock train and took the E. & C. line west at St. Ignace for Detroit, where they will be at home at 210 Vinewood Ave. after July 24th.

A large number of their young friends accompanied them to the depot and showered them with rice. Their trunks were also appropriately placarded.

Only a few of the intimate neighbors of the contracting parties were invited to the wedding. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Dan LaPranolo, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Orr, Mrs. G. F. Ross, Mrs. Harry Ross, Misses Eva Orr, Estella Baker, Georgia Rose and Kathleen Ousey; Messrs. Baker, Jewell, Paulsen, Gunn and LaDuc.

They were the recipients of very handsome presents in silver, cut glass and money.

Their many Manistique friends wish them happiness, long life and prosperity.

FELL FROM THE ROOF.

Nelson Burrell Falls Thirty-Five Feet and Lands in the River.

Nelson Burrell fell from the roof of the C. L. mill to the tramway, between them into the river, a distance of about thirty-five feet last Monday afternoon.

He was engaged in wetting down the roof of the mill with a hose. The hose caught him to lose his balance and he fell backwards to the tramway. Before he could regain a footing he fell into the river. He received a deep scalp wound and was fished out of the river in a semi-unconscious condition.

MANISTIQUE WILL DECIDE IT.

Young's Supporters are Very Sanguine as to the Results.

Thus far all of the townships of the county except Harrison have held their caucuses and the Young forces claim that they will have eight delegates to the convention from the outlying territory. This would leave the Sheldon forces seven.

The winners must have at least sixteen votes to control the convention and there is every reason to figure that if not all of the wards of the city in the Young column or a total of twenty-three out of the thirty in the county.

A Jolly Party.

Misses Ida Hanson, O'Pira Hill, Elana Knott, Mariel Richards, Mrs. Dr. Richter and Max Phippey leave for the Soo tomorrow morning. After spending a day there the party, save Miss Richards and Max Phippey, got to Mackinac Island where they will be with Miss Hogen's company.

The most closely contested caucus held in the county was held in Manistique township last Wednesday afternoon. Nelson Kingstead defeated Van, Cannon in a vote of 30 to 20. Karl Miss Knott to Cincinnati and Mrs. Richter to Saginaw.

Leave orders for horse made in Detroit at Mrs. Payne's tent.

THE SENIORS AND TEACHERS

Were Entertained Last Monday Evening by Prof. and Mrs. Hornberger.

The seniors and the high school teachers were entertained by Prof. and Mrs. J. J. Hornberger last Monday evening. Prof. Pattengill who happened to be in the city, was also present, and assisted materially in making the evening a pleasant one for all. Mrs. Hornberger clipped all the pictorial puzzles appearing in the Ladies Home Journal—sixty in number and they were used in a progressive guessing contest. Max Phippey won the first prize, a copy of Hawthorne's Anticraft of the Brunkfells, and Miss Hogen's prize for being the poorest guesser was a small map.

Dainty refreshments were served.

Good Delegates Selected.

The Inwood township Republicans held their caucus at Cooks Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and elected Frank Caron and J. E. Wright as delegates. The ward leaders from Manistique who understood that the caucus was to be held in the evening got there too late to get in their work for Sheldon.

It's all in the rubber. To obtain the proper elasticity for wringing clothes dry and the necessary strength to withstand the great strain of wringing must be well made and of good rubber, otherwise they are of little or no value. The American Wringer Co. makes the rolls used in their wringers; they select the best grades of rubber and exercise great care in compounding; therefore know what their rolls are made of and what service they will give.

We also have in stock the Aene and Yale Ball Bearing Lawn Mowers, both in 14 and 16 inch knives. They are the best in the market.

of his personal life. This heart is the organ of conscience and knowledge of the will and the intellect. It is the workshop for the appropriation of every spiritual influence and in it is determined the character, the moral and religious condition of man. Out of it are the issues of life. Hence God teaches us that we must guard the heart with all diligence.

One of the strongest guards we have is a mind filled with the truth of God revealed in nature. As you have studied the sciences and literature your minds have been filled with that which is pure and true and noble. You now have a possession which you have gained in study which will protect you from the thoughts and meditations of the ignorant and vile, and will lead you on to know more of the mysteries of God in nature which delight the intellect and purify the soul and fortify the heart. The heart which guarded also by habits of purity in thought, in speech and in conduct, kept intelligently pure, kept morally pure, get out of the heart and keep out of the heart every error, every noble thing that you see in the heart of the liears is surely destined to work its self into life, and will certainly determine the character and value of the issues of your life, both present and future.

Our text recognizes the personal responsibility of the individual in this defense of the heart and in determining the issues of life.

This same problem is beautifully taught in Homer's Odyssey. When Odysseus, by the advice of Circe, stopped the ears of his sailors with wax and had himself securely lashed to the mast in order that the sweet music of the Sirens might not lure him on to certain death. Odysseus escaped and rejoiced in his deliverance. The charms of his maid baidler you but if you will yield yourself to God's word, take refuge in His council and strength the fountain of your life will be kept pure and the issues of your heart will be true and noble in the present; and in eternity you shall share in God's glory.

The class day exercises were held at the Baptist church Wednesday morning at which time the orations were read by the class were delivered before a large audience. All did exceedingly well and the productions were far above the average in merit. Good delivery, and sound logic characterized every oration. A brief summary of the orations follows:

IDEALS OF CHIVALRY.

Miss Maude Kern, the salutatorian of the class, selected a very pleasing subject and handled it very capably. She is being highly complimented by those hearing her for her enunciation and delivery of her production as well as its logic. She began by saying: "Man is naturally endowed with certain qualities of love, honor and duty. The spirit of patriotism and generosity dwells naturally in his heart and cannot be denied. When we look back to the earliest stages of Greek society, to that heroic age of which Homer's poems are the faithful reflection, we find two prominent characters, Achilles and Ulysses, who represent the true ideals of the ancients. The one indicative of noble action, the other of wise counsel."

"The Greeks admired a wise mind in beautiful and symmetric body. They all admired quick intelligence but cared little whether it was honest. There was nothing in their souls superior to their every day action."

She referred to the dark ages following the time of Charlemagne and the characteristics that distinguished yet out of the blackness emerged one of our grandest and noblest geniuses—our souls toward the ideal of Christian virtue and soldierly honor—the knight-errand of chivalry. She described the knight and his many qualities of mind and body that characterized them. Lofely and pure as were the ideals of chivalry, yet only faintly were they reflected in men's lives.

"Chivalry in the 20th century is not a soaring of the imagination toward some lofty yet unattainable ideal, but it is a general realization of noble ideals in action. The modern knight is all that the ideal of the middle ages was, with an added attribute—he must be educated."

"The educational man of today is judged from his ability for independent thought and action—the power to do. The development of the intellect has for some time been the principal aim of our public schools but today, hand-in-hand with the development of the intellect is the training of the character."

She spoke briefly of the public school system and its benefits and closed: "It is becoming that at such a time as the end of our career in the public high school of the state, we should extend to you a most cordial welcome. To you who have watched our career until now we have reached the summit, which before seemed far beyond us, and especially do we welcome our parents who have zealously guided our footsteps into true manhood and womanhood."

"Upon the board of education we have a solemn obligation and tender them our sincere thanks for the many kindnesses they have shown us."

"To our superintendent and teachers we extend a loyal greeting. Loyal because we are in bold relief agents which cannot be repaid, we wish to thank them with heartfelt sincerity for their patience and forbearance, and for the strenuous efforts they have put forth in understanding his build and refine our minds and character.

"Four years of work, of associations, of memories are behind us, before us the trial of our strength. We are at the beginning of our real life, the life in which our merits and abilities are to be tested in which we are to learn what we can accomplish and overcome. We know that there will be great obstacles in our path but we do not seek to be spared from these but for strength and courage to meet them."

"Again we welcome you to our parting triumph."

ANATIONAL TRAGEDY.

Miss Winifred Omsted's theme was slavery. She deserves credit for the masterly manner in which she developed her subject. Extracts from her oration follow:

"Between the Atlantic and the Pacific lies a great continent with freedom and were, written upon it. Sung by bird and bee, by lake and rippling stream, through rugged hills and fertile plains, has resounded through countless ages our grand, ungodly, god-like song—the song of freedom for every living thing. Echoed by forest and mountain, through fertile valley and plain the swelling harmony of their new song has reached across the seas, inviting to those shores the oppressed of every land. They came—those hardy Pilgrim sires, those sturdy Dutch peasants, those privileged swallows, and those redeemed debtors of Georgia."

Continuing, she showed that the oppressed came here, to secure relief, yet the oppressor came also. She spoke of the advent of slavery in 1619, and how the oppressed were quick to inflict or less fortunate folk beings, all the creatures of a degrading servitude. She gave an outline history of the slavery question and legislation affecting it from its inception to the war of the Rebellion—until the conscience of the nation was fully aroused on the important part that Lincoln took in the final solution of the question.

THE MISSION OF THE PURITANS.

Was the subject of Miss Josephine Ross's oration. Patriotic Americans never tire of hearing the praise of the sainted and heroic sires of their country. The subject was very cleverly handled and the speaker held the undivided attention of the large audience while she unfolded her theme. She said in part:

"When we look back upon a long interval of years, we may survey the distant events and persons as points in a distant landscape. Then we discern the meaning of it all. How some points are but dimly seen, shrouded by the others which stand in bold relief against them, yet they all stand together and make up the vision of the world's great history and we find that the things have happened in past ages with which our present work is not in one way or another concerned."

She cited the sailing of the Pilgrims and the causes that filled them with a desire to seek a new home, as an exemplification of her argument. "Peace on earth, good will to men," the minds and hearts of men have fallen more and more captive to the enchantment of the art divine.

Music then, is a heavenly messenger as it were, which through all the long and sorrowful ages, has been bringing messages of hope and love to earth's many children, and the whole world has gradually fallen under the influence of its magic sway until at the present time we are nearer to having a proper conception of its uses and possibilities than ever before in the world's history for music is the queen of arts."

It is the language of the soul and such follows through all the various changes of life from the cradle to the grave.

Its highest and best influence is of a elevating character and yet it has been said by some that music has no power of elevating mankind or of promoting their welfare. Think for a moment how gloomy the world would be without it. Take all the music out of the world if possible, of the home, the church, the public festivals and places of amusement. Drive it out of the heart of man and what dreariness of soul would remain. There have been states, sorrow soaked, courage aroused and religion deepened by music often, but there never was and never can be a strain of music written to produce envy, hatred or revenge, who then will not say that music is not one of the most influential factors for the uplifting of mankind."

STATIONERS OF THE UPPER PENINSULA.

Miss Dippney, the valedictorian of the class, selected a subject of more than passing interest to the residents of the upper peninsula. Her oration showed faithful study and research and was exceptionally well delivered.

He commemorated by giving Benjamin Franklin's keen foresight credit for making the upper peninsula a portion of the United States. It was the vague report of mineral wealth which caused him to make that little deflection in the map which gave the American nation this valuable region.

"Although Franklin did many things for his country, to the people of Michigan this little act long since forgotten, and never adequately comprehended, means more to us now than it did to him."

The speaker referred to how the peninsular became a portion of Michigan and related to the fact that in 1771 mining operations were commenced by Outaougion river but that for nearly a century no effort was made to develop the mineral resources.

"We owe much to the promoters who

KLUMPP HAS A CLUE
Or Think He Has the Solution of the Foul Murder of His Wife.
GOT BUSY AS SOON AS HE WAS FREE.

Violent death of a young man who killed his mother—Miscellaneous News.
Lorely, Mich., June 18.—When a headline proffered, sent from this town, and similar to the one that caused the death of Mrs. Ada Klumpp last March, nearly caused the death of a person in a nearby town, the first who was struck to what is believed by some interested people to be the solution of the mystery of the Lorely woman's death. Several days ago, however, he brought to light the fact that William Klumpp, husband of the poison victim here, had been busy, and when the arrest of a man who will claim the credit of solving the Lorely case, the man who will be charged with the cause of the death of his young wife.

Story of Klumpp's young wife.
Mrs. Ada Klumpp, the young wife of William E. Klumpp, of Lorely, died Sunday night last, from a mysterious cause of her death was a headache powder sent through the mails at the same address as the address of the firm of manufacturing chemicals of Lawrence, N. Y. The powder was received by Mrs. Miller, a neighbor of the Klumpp family.

When the powder was to Mrs. Klumpp was obtained at the postoffice by Klumpp, who turned it to his wife Sunday morning she had a headache and took the powder, and soon after found by her that she had taken it from the suble, lying on the floor in a carabina. During the day convulsions continued, and at midnight she died in agony. An analysis of the case was made by the physician who claimed that the headache powder contained enough strychnine to kill two persons. Klumpp was arrested, charged with the crime, and jailed, but finally discharged, as an innocent man.

Has One Her Sister.
Upon his release he had but one purpose, and that was to find his wife's murderer. He had searched for his brother's nest market here, and spent his spare time running down the clues which have so numerous in this strange case. A package of headache powder sent out from this town about the time that the cure created by the death of Mrs. Klumpp began to be taken. This powder, it is believed, has been traced to an origin.

HAT END HIS MOTHER'S LIFE.
Shocking Death of a Young Man Who Was Killed by the Street Cars.
Bay City, Mich., June 18.—The shocking death of Floyd B. Fuller, the young business man, who was crushed by a street car Saturday, had a crushing effect upon his widowed mother, with whom he lived. The street car so severely shocked her from the shock of her daughter's death when the tragedy of Saturday happened that she died a few days after she was informed of the death of her daughter.

When he did not come back to supper time it dinned upon her that the terrible news of the morning was real and that it would never return to her son. When the news for the fact that his remains were brought into the home she weeps and could not be comforted. She has two other sons, one an engineer on the lakes, and they have been tried to come home. Mrs. Fullin has a weak heart.

Butcher Suddenly Disappeared.
Hullabushon, Mich., June 18.—J. Hoggerman, a butcher, disappeared from this place last Thursday and his last seen here was on a horse which he had been riding in the woods. None of his family knows anything of his whereabouts at present, or the reason of his disappearance. He left a note of meat in the "cool" and all of his meat market here.

and all of his meat market here.
Kalamazoo, Mich., June 18.—Kate Whalows, aged 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whalows, had returned from a school of the Children's day Saturday morning and they and county police officials have been unable to locate her. Her father scolded her Saturday morning for getting into a mischief and he thinks she has run away.

Charged with Attempted Assault.

He found they were making a meal of the salt pork he intended to cook for himself. Adams leaped an attack, and now in a sorry state he has to let the bear enjoy his meal unmolested.

He also denied that he had any part in the murder. Heywood's statements that she had been in the lake with a party were never any occasion for my driving him to the beach.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.
Congress will adjourn July 1st.

Six or eight local politicians bled themselves to Cocks Monday afternoon to fix the caucus which they understood was called for the evening. The caucus had been called for two o'clock and the delegates were elected before the Manistique crowd got there.

Alger county Republicans have instructed their delegates to the congressional convention to vote for Hon. H. O. Young. The delegates are Charles Shaffer, Wm. Leighton, and Major Sullivan of Manistique. The delegates to the representative convention are pledged to Wm. Leighton.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Former supporters of the Sheldon crowd are deserting from the leadership of Patsy with the same haste that characterizes rats when they detect a sinking ship.

Shelden has landed thirteen votes and Young twelve in the convention held thus far. Schoolcraft county will increase Young's number to fifteen tomorrow afternoon.

When you get all the bosses, beetles, and crooked politicians in one lot it is a good plan to scuffle it. If the Republicans turn out tonight and do their duty the ship will be scuttled.

Postmasters who violate the laws of the civil service commission are liable to be summarily dismissed if they hesitate at night and before caucuses. Do you know any cases that come under the ban?

The coal strike is costing the miners and operators more than $1,000,000 a day, and the cost thus far exceeds $50,000,000. As usual the public will foot the bill when the strike is ended.

Patsy has promised Moody a re-nomination for sheriff as compensation for assisting him to "carry" Schoolcraft county for Shelden. Patsy will also name the turkey if the scheme works.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Osborn, in Schoolcraft county, deeply sympathetic with them in the terrible bereavement that has recently befallen them in the tragic death of their bright little daughter Miriam.

We are under obligations to Mr. M. H. Quick for a recent copy of the Kalamazoo Evening Telegram. J. J. Fox delivered an address at the dedication of Bowen hall. The address, a very excellent one by the way, was reproduced in full.

Postmasters are supposed to take no active part in politics, as the rules of the department disallowances such work, yet Shelden is urging his postmasters in Schoolcraft county to get out and hustle for him. The only postmaster that is doing any work in the county is one in Manistique. He and Patsy McNamara have taken the contract to deliver Schoolcraft county to Shelden, and they are finding it up hill work to deliver the goods.

The Sheldon contingent are making their campaign in Schoolcraft county and whiskey. If the Republicans of Manistique are alive to their interests they will turn out tonight and annihilate the coterie of boozers—Republicans and Democrats—that have taken the contract to deliver the county to the Houghton county nomenity. It is up to the voters now whether they will crown Patrick McNamara king of Schoolcraft county Republicanism.

The renegades will attempt to control the convention tomorrow and are spending money with a lavish hand. If they succeed they will make a desperate effort to name the next Republican county ticket. If they fail to control the Republican organization then they will use the Democratic party as a vehicle. Make them use the Democrat wagon. If the voters do their duty tonight a long and effective step will be taken in purifying the political atmosphere of Schoolcraft county.

The Republican has received a letter from Mr. C. E. Alsworth, of Saak Ste. Marie, manager for A. Booth & Co's Steamer Hunter, stating that his company had tendered the steamer to the Lake Superior Press Association for a complimentary excursion to the Pictured Rocks and Grand Island on the 22nd of July, the date when the association will visit Munising. The members of the association will fully appreciate the kindness and courtesy of the company.—Munising Republican.

Shelden's aid was solicited last winter by our citizens to have the Manistique harbor improved by the government, or rather to have a preliminary survey made. He promised to see that the matter would be attended to but evidently forgot all about it or did not consider it "important" in Washington to secure a small appropriation for the work. Hon. H. O. Young who does not do all in his power to secure an appropriation, in case of his nomination. Vote for Young delegates if you have the interests of Manistique at heart.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Patsy has promised every job from president of the United States to postmaster to his constituents in the First Ward hoping thereby to control the caucus tonight. He's not in position to deliver anything and never will.

Hon. Peter White of Marquette, participated in the program incident to the laying of the corner stone of the Alger county court house last Saturday, and was introduced to the throng as the man who came to the upper peninsula with Fr. Marquette.

POSTMASTERS NOT SUPPOSED TO HUSTLE.
Secretary Doyle, of the United States civil service, was at the Soo this week investigating the postmasters of Chippewa county who are taking an active part in the congressional fight.

During his visit he was interviewed by the Soo Journal, excerpts of which follow:
In conversation Mr. Doyle gave expression to some strong sentiments on the subject, quoting the president as being especially hostile to any effort on the part of federal office holders to influence nominations of any sort. No fault is found with an official of the convention if held and the nominees selected getting out and helping elect the ticket.

"That the president," continued Mr. Doyle, "will not stand for any interference or dictation by federal appointees before the conventions are held."
Mr. Doyle then pointed out that if it could be shown that any postmaster or other federal office holder had solicited or received or contributed to any nominees' campaign fund or assisted in the distribution or collection of any such fund his commission would be revoked by the civil service commission itself without reference to the president, as such action is in direct violation of the civil service rules which it is the duty of the commission to enforce.

There are some postmasters outside of Chippewa county who are trading on dangerous ground.
Ramsay & Barr Sell.
(Soo Journal.)
The doors of Ramsay & Barr's grocery store at the corner of Ashmun and Spruce streets were closed this morning as a result of the stock having been sold last night to J. E. Whalen. Mr. Whalen bought the stock in order to get possession of the stand, which has been leased to the Victor E. Metzger Insurance Agency, when, especially as one who has not been named to the stand, he should not be surprised, so they set to work planning for the occasion which will long be remembered by the members. In the first place the subscriptions were detailed to keep one of the nearby twins from leaving the city, and the means she brought to bear were numerous indeed but more effectual. Imagine the dismay of the ladies, if you can, when on arriving at the place of interest, the second twin to be surprised, had gone out for the evening, so amount of persuading could keep her at home. A telephone message however brought her home in a hurry, and the amazed look upon her face plainly showed she had been surprised completely. Con- gratulations and kind wishes were extended, after which a game of progressive patto was enjoyed. Then each of the honored ladies were presented with a Haviland china plate, and were called upon for a speech. In responding one lady said she had never had so completely surprised nor never had so good a time, for the reason, "when my sentiments too."

Miss Bertha Swift, who has been at Sturgeon River, has returned to her home near Uno.

Farmers are complaining of the recent cold, weather, and report that the crops are not doing very well.
Levi Danney, and brother Gus are working the farm which was formerly owned and worked by Mr. W. F. Card now of Wetmore.

Messdames Barlow and Lona of Nabma are spending a few days with friends at Uno. They spent "Wednesday" at Dickison's summer resort, angling for the wary black bass, with very good success.

Cupid is on the alert in Uno and has aimed one of his golden arrows and sent it straight in the heart of the most popular young lady of the north side, and she is now making preparations to enter the holy bonds of matrimony with the object of her affection.

One Evening of Surprises.
The ladies of the Manistique Whist Club learning that two of their members' birthday came near each other that one celebration would do for both, conceived the idea of surprising them, especially as one of them had many times to say she could not be surprised, so they set to work planning for the occasion which will long be remembered by the members. In the first place the subscriptions were detailed to keep one of the nearby twins from leaving the city, and the means she brought to bear were numerous indeed but more effectual. Imagine the dismay of the ladies, if you can, when on arriving at the place of interest, the second twin to be surprised, had gone out for the evening, so amount of persuading could keep her at home. A telephone message however brought her home in a hurry, and the amazed look upon her face plainly showed she had been surprised completely. Con- gratulations and kind wishes were extended, after which a game of progressive patto was enjoyed. Then each of the honored ladies were presented with a Haviland china plate, and were called upon for a speech. In responding one lady said she had never had so completely surprised nor never had so good a time, for the reason, "when my sentiments too."

The dining room was beautifully decorated with lilacs and pansies. The chief object of interest, was the large birthday cake, which ornamented the center of the table, and consisted of numerous articles such as dolls, tin whistles, balloons, birds, etc. The top was covered with 147 candles, which when lighted presented a beautiful appearance. The two honored ladies were wearing the white dress they represented one or the united ages.

After enjoying the birthday feast, they gathered around the piano, sang "Auld Lang Syne, and the Home, Sweet Home."
The party then dispersed. On the way home one lady was so impressed with the twin party, and living in a twin house, made a mistake and tried to get into her neighbor's, which occasioned surprise her companions, who were wondering what she was trying to do.

Steady Girl Wanted.
Several young men complain that they have no steady girl. It seems that they no sooner get fairly started with a girl, probably have the theatre tickets all bought, when their "cantor" goes because she has "one headache." Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin cures all forms of stomach trouble and sick headaches.

PROF. DANIEL PUTNAM

The Nestor of Michigan's Educators.

The Motorist published an excellent portrait of Prof. Daniel Putnam, the Nestor of Michigan's educators, last week. The following sketch accompanied the picture:

For nearly 50 years he has been actively identified with the schools of our State. Modest or recluses recently have been enjoying the complimentary suggestion of history of our State Association prepared by his skillful hand. His "Psychology" and "Pedagogy" are thorough and scholarly text-books, while his "Primer of Pedagogy" is yet unexcelled as a comprehensive and practical manual of sensible school methods. His "History of the State Normal School" was but recently issued, while his contributions to magazines and essays on various subjects are many and valuable.

Prof. Putnam's English is as pure, sweet as that of Addison or Irving, his mind is logical and analytic, and his thought searching.

For over 40 years Prof. Putnam's beautiful life has been an inspiration to hundreds of students, and now in the full vigor of his mental powers, he is growing old gracefully and serenely. Dr. Putnam is of Puritan blood and was born in Lynn, Mass., in 1824. His early education was obtained in the district schools, and on the farm. He was left home to work in a mill one year, and thus earned enough to pay for a term in an academy. He next attended district school, and worked his way through Dartmouth, graduating in 1851. For two years he taught Latin in New Hampton, N. H., and in 1854 came to Michigan, teaching Latin for four years in Kalamazoo. In 1858 he became a principal and superintendent of the city schools of Kalamazoo. Following this he was for another four years a professor in Kalamazoo College, and acting president of the same for one year. In 1867 he returned to his native town, teaching in the schools for Kalamazoo county and served nearly two years, resigning to accept the position of Superintendent of Schools for Mental and Moral Science and Theory and Art of Teaching in the State Normal School at Ypsilanti, a position he has creditably filled ever since.

A Mistake in the Dark.
Mistaking the virtue of a hold up for the thief and chasing him into town was Oliver Magnus Kingstaul's experience last Sunday night. A fellow working on the street and many of the Soo railroad was robbed of his pocket book last Sunday, and came to town to get an officer. Kingstaul, accompanied by the victim, went out to the side track where the banding cars were located. The victim refused to go through the cars with the officer as he was afraid the men would lynch him for "sequealing." Kingstaul passed through one of the cars and was informed that the fellow had left the cars early in the morning and had not returned. He noticed a man in the woods some distance from the cars, and thinking perhaps that he might be the person wanted started in his direction. The fellow started to run through the woods and led the officer a merry chase. When he got to the jail he found the man at whose instigation he made the trip, standing with coat and vest on his arm, and smiling like a deer caught in the trap. Explanations were made, when it was ascertained that the officer had chased the victim to town and that the fellow thought that the gang was after him instead of the officer. It was about eight o'clock when the chase commenced.

Read It in His Newspaper.
George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pain had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by A. S. Putnam & Co.

There is more talk in this section of the country than of other diseases just together, and it is the only one that is so common. For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable and present-day remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Now, however, a certain medicine has been discovered, and this is a constitutional disease, and therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Chamberlain & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only medicine on the market. It is taken internally in cases from five drops to a teaspoon. It acts directly on the blood and secures cures of the system. They are unnumbered either for any form of disease, but for catarrhs and localities. Address, Dr. J. C. Chamberlain & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Family Pills are the best.

ROITING AT PATERSON.

Striking Silk Dyers and Sympathizers Cause Serious Disturbances.

Paterson, N. J., June 19.—The city was in the hands of a mob all day as a result of the riots a number of persons were hurt and two at least killed. The police did their work well. They were so few in number that they could make little headway against the mob. Mills were wrecked with stones and bullets by the striking silk dyers' helpers or roughs acting for them.

There seems to be every indication that the riot was the result of a prearranged plan to involve the wealthy mercantile element in the affair from the start. Among the leaders of the mob was a man named McQueen and another named Gallatin, the former an Englishman and the latter an Italian.

Winlow seems only the letter.
