Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Owen Write Interestingly Concerning the Obsequies of the Late King.

DESCRIBE GERMAN CUSTOMS

Royal Pomp and Splendor Endowed to the Citizens of this Republic Characterized the Ceremony.

DRESDEN, June 29, 1902.

We are not glad that King Albert is dead, but we are glad that we were in Dresden when he died, for there was much of interest for us to see, that it is not to be seen more than once in a lifetime.

The military parade from the station to the church was extremely interesting. One would think after passing a row of soldiers shoulder to shoulder all the way from the church to the station and back again until a mile—there would not be many left to be in the procession, but still we watched soldiers pass company after company for at least three-quarters of an hour.

Each company was from a different regiment, and each regiment here has a different uniform, it was a very brilliant procession to look at. All the soldiers here carry swords or sabres, and one company of cavalry carry long spears with a small Saxon flag (green and white) on them.

The queen and the princesses and ladies of the court left the train at Neustadt and were driven direct to the palace which is connected with the royal church by a private passage, so there were only men in the procession, and after the soldiers had passed every one was on foot.

The new king, prince, officers, etc., were all in uniform, a band of black around the left arm, and epaulettes covered in black wool. There were many servants in livery and then many pages with their white breeches, scarlet coats and powdered hair.

Each of the pages carried a large candle. About the only ornament as far as carriages were concerned was the funeral car which had the six horses drawing it. The horses wore black blankets, coverings, and the funeral car was covered completely with a green black cloth reaching nearly to the ground, and having a wide border of ermine all around.

The king's horse was led directly behind the funeral car and just back of that came the new king on foot. King Albert was 71 years old. King George is his brother, and is nearly 70 years old, so will probably not have more than a year to reign. King George died sometime ago, so there is no new king, and Queen Victoria will still be first in the hearts of the people.

The church was open a part of the day both Sunday and Monday so that the people might pass through and look at the dead king, but I do not suppose that one-half of those that wanted to go in could do so. We saw from the crowd on Sunday how difficult it was going to be, so I went to the church Monday morning at 10 o'clock, and when the doors were unlocked to let in a few Catholics, we were permitted to go in, and we remained to see the king for a long time, where as those who went through with the crowds were hurried so that one could not carry away a very good impression of the scene. I send a postcard which shows the king lying in state, but I hope you will see very little idea of the beauty of the scene.

The catalogue was covered with black, but over the center was thrown a large ring of royal purple edged with gold, and the coffin was also of purple and gold. Royal purple is not what we see at home call purple at all, but rather a rich shade of dark wine red. The king was dressed in field-marshal's uniform and looked very natural.

The light from the many candles made the scene very effective. When we were there early in the morning the watch consisted of only nine persons. Two servants in livery, two pages and two soldiers, (these six standing like statues), then there were two men wearing black and gold uniforms, one of the coffin, and a priest kneeling at one side. Later in the day the place on the steps between the altar and the coffin was filled with more soldiers, etc., so that there were some 18 or 20 in the watch. Of course they must have been relieved quite often, it is so difficult to stand perfectly still for any length of time. The wreath which lies at the foot of the coffin was from Queen Cecilia.

Not many flowers were displayed near the coffin, although a great many were sent. The king's crown, his hat and sword, scepter, etc., were on the lower steps in front of the catafalque tomorrow by Rev. W. T. Johnson of Detroit. Mining Journal.

Mr. Rogers Much Improved. Rev. J. M. Rogers, who has been under a long treatment at St. Luke's, is very much improved, but will be unable to conduct services at the Presbyterian church tomorrow. Mr. Rogers is suffering from blood poisoning, caused by a splinter or mosquito biting one of his arms, and was compelled to undergo an operation. The arm was very badly swollen, and at one time serious consequences were feared. The splinter at the church will be buried tomorrow by Rev. W. T. Johnson of Detroit. Mining Journal.

A Pleasant Party. A very pleasant party was given at the residence of Miss Emma Pattison, on Tuesday evening, July 22nd, in honor of Miss Pattison, of Saginaw. (Guessing games was the feature of the evening. Dairy refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Ethel and Grace Osborne, Blanche Dezing, Dezing, Wamie Olmstead, Ada Little, Pearl Davison, Maud Hamann and Pattison, Miss Josephine Kelle of St. Charles, and Mrs. Kelle, Messrs. Max Dilligant, Will MacCallie, Leroy Cummings, John Fuller, Herbert Little, Geo. Hagler, Otto Kelle, Thomas Patterson and Roy Pattison.

RAD WRECK ON THE SOO LINE.

Two Engineers and One Fireman Killed and a Passenger Badly Injured.

In a head end collision between two heavily loaded trains on the Soo line, about two miles west of Peabody, Charles Johnson and William Raymond, engineers, and J. A. Anderson, fireman, were killed, and Frank Thomas, bookman, was seriously injured. All of the men killed are well known to several of our citizens, and John Fowler while in the employ of the Soo line, died for both engineers.

The train due here at 7 a. m. Saturday was about five hours late. It is reported that a mistake in readjusting wheels on the part of the conductor of one of the trains was the cause of the accident. Forty-five cars in the two trains led the track and fourteen were totally destroyed in addition to ten very badly damaged locomotives. Engineer Raymond "went to slumber" and did not return to "take over his piece" until after seven o'clock. A passenger train, this being but his second trip on the line. A coroner's inquest was held on Monday.

Mammott Strawberries. Elias Eastman brought two boxes of the largest and handsomest strawberries, to this office, that it has been our good fortune to see and sample last Friday.

One of the berries measured 1 1/2 inches in circumference, and five in the two boxes measured less than five inches.

Supervisor A. E. Burdick has moved from the First ward to his new home in the Third ward this week.

ENCOUNTERED BEARS.

One of Them Struck John Wheeler on the Leg.

H. J. Neville and John Wheeler had quite an experience last Sunday afternoon while walking in the woods east of "Jonestown." They encountered two full grown bears and two cubs. The bears showed fight and started Wheeler, striking him on the leg below the knee and lacerating the skin. Neville shot at the bear several times with a small rifle and finally succeeded in sending a bullet into the bear's eye. After this the bear retreated. The cubs were not shot by Neville, who will mount him, while Wheeler will have a rag as a reminder of the affair.

First Communion and Confirmation. Over 70 children and adults will receive their first holy communion on the 1st Sunday of August. As the beautiful and affecting ceremony of confirmation to about 100 children and adults. Should there be any Catholic persons, already advanced in years, who have not yet been confirmed, we invite them to come and arrange with the pastor how they may prepare themselves to receive this sacrament. Blessing of the St. Francis de Sales' parochial school will take place on the same day in the afternoon. Special vocal and instrumental music for these occasions. All cordially invited.

Has Been Advanced. Joseph Hart of Chicago, who visited friends and relatives here during the past ten days, returns today. Joe has been in the employ of the Model Hat Co. during the past three years. He started as a clerk at $10 per week and has been promoted to the management of one of their stores at a lucrative salary. His Manistiquette friends will be pleased to learn of his good fortune to see and sample last Friday.

A CEMETERY ASSOCIATION

Is Being Organized. Idea Should be Encouraged.

An effort is being made to organize a cemetery association which will be incorporated for the purpose of acquiring title to, and improving the cemetery in this city. Benjamin Gero has the matter in charge, and is calling on the people of the city, soliciting subscriptions to the stock, which will be in amount $5000, in shares of ten dollars each, and the corporation will be called the Lake View Cemetery Association, offered by a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and a board of directors. The Chicago Lumbering Company will deed the property to the association for the sum of one dollar, and will also turn over their equities in all lot sold and not paid for.

It is hoped and believed by those having the matter in charge that the citizens of this city generally, and those having relations and friends buried there particularly, will take an interest in the movement to improve and beautify the cemetery, and it is thought that at least one-half of the capital stock will be readily taken, and funds provided to proceed with the work this fall, as soon as the organization is effected. Among the first improvements to be undertaken will be the driving of a good well, and properly fencing the grounds, a plot of which was recently been completed by Vanshroke Tucker. We believe this is a worthy object and predict a hearty response to the appeals of Mr. Gero.

fatigue but do not show in the picture. Well, I thought it was too bad to let Lullie miss seeing it all, so I took her to the church about 7:30, thinking the people were already gathered, and we stood in the crowd until the church was opened at 11 o'clock, and were among the first to go in though we had to stand waiting three and one-half hours. At that time there were probably people in line to last up until the church was closed at four p. m. In the evening we stood awhile on Prager street hoping to see the Emperor and Empress of Germany, who were there, but they went to the station in closed carriages, so, though we were within a few feet of them we could not see their faces.

We also saw the carriage of Prince Henry of the Netherlands (Queen Wilhelmina's husband) but not long enough to tell which was he, as he left the carriage at the Hotel Europaean Hotel.

ANSA C. OWEN.
DRESDEN, GERMANY, 7 JUNE 29.

Thursday, June 19th, I went to the opera "Meister Singsang" at 8 p. m. Everything went as usual until just as the 3rd act began, when without warning the curtain went down very fast, and a man came out in front and made the announcement that the king was dead. The money for our tickets was paid back to us, and no music aside from regular church music was allowed in the city until after the Monday evening.

King Albert died at Stiblenberg (June 10) and was brought back to his home here in Dresden, Saturday evening, for interment in the Hofkirche, which is the mausoleum of the Saxons kings and queens.

Soon after 10 o'clock we went out and got our places and waited for the procession which was to pass soon after 9. The train bearing the king's remains and the new king, etc., was to arrive at the station at 9:10, and a procession was to march from there to the Royal Catholic church. On Newmarket were 10 pyramidal hills of wood about 8 feet high, covered with black cloth, and on top a large urn shaped iron grate in which about 800 candles were burning. There were also 10 large flag stands 30 or 40 feet high, with flags heavily draped in black cloth. On Newmarket there were half-mile, 100 yards, and 8 flag stands. The pyramidal hills and the flag stands, all around the two sides of the procession had to be passed, and the king was lying in state, a sort of box with the purple spread thrown over it and the candles all lit, and soldiers on guard. Down at the foot of the steps in among the candles stood three soldiers on each side, and up to the top of each of the four corners stood an officer. They stood stock still for 20 minutes, then I went down and changed with them 10 more and had liked their job.

The regular lunch mourning lasts until nearly the end of December in 3 or 4 grades of severity. Of course it is only obligatory in court circles, but every one else follows their example as far as possible who can afford it. It does not reach us though.

I saw the new king this morning. He came out of his villa in a carriage just as I was passing. I took off my hat to him and he touched his soldier cap in answer to my salute.

Yesterday I went out to Albert's place, a fine place of business for a prince, and he invited me to wait a few minutes and I could ride over to this part of the city in his automobile, an invitation which I gladly accepted, so today I had a very enjoyable ride and enjoyed it very much.

A school boy was recently compelled by his teacher to write an essay on the month, and this is what he wrote: "The month is the front door of the face; it is the aperture of the cold storage of our anatomy. The month is the hot-bed of toothache. The month is the crimson aisle to the liver; it is the fountain of patriotism; it is the tool chest for pig-wash and the monthly politician would be a wanderer on the face of the earth and go down to a dishonored grave. It is the grocer's friend, the orator's pride, the dentist's hope; it puts some men on the reform and others in jail. It is the home of that illustrious member, the tongue. Without it, married life would be a summer dream and the Duke would lose half his attractions."

Should I be successful in my canvass for the nomination for congress, I will have no enemies to punish within the republican party. H. O. Young.

It will be encouraging to the postmaster that he have opposed the same yesterday so vigorously, and who have lately been haunted with dreams of the decepting ax.—Menominee Democrat.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed one in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of your scrub.

This is not intended as a free puff of company, who do not advertise with us but to benefit little sufferers who may be within easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time.—Lanning House, Journal. For sale by A. S. Putnam & Co.

A school boy was recently compelled by his teacher to write an essay on the month, and this is what he wrote: "The month is the front door of the face; it is the aperture of the cold storage of our anatomy. The month is the hot-bed of toothache. The month is the crimson aisle to the liver; it is the fountain of patriotism; it is the tool chest for pig-wash and the monthly politician would be a wanderer on the face of the earth and go down to a dishonored grave. It is the grocer's friend, the orator's pride, the dentist's hope; it puts some men on the reform and others in jail. It is the home of that illustrious member, the tongue. Without it, married life would be a summer dream and the Duke would lose half his attractions."

Should I be successful in my canvass for the nomination for congress, I will have no enemies to punish within the republican party. H. O. Young.

DESERPTION OF A BRIDE

Groom "Feels Queer" and Skips to a Mineral Spring for a Brace-Up.

HOW HE WANTS TO BE FORGIVEN

Some Detroit City Notes—Lawrence Dargis Caught Between Sure Death and a Trucking.

Detroit, Mich., July 22.—Miss Alice Lott, formerly a school teacher of Detroit, has come here to marry Miss Smith, a bookkeeper. The guests had assembled at the hotel to greet her, and she was to have gone to bed in hysterics. Smith now explains that at the last minute he had such a "queer feeling" that he went to the mineral springs to get a brace. He says he still wants to marry the girl, and his mother is trying to effect a reconciliation. Smith has been in vain to see the girl.

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—In view of the fact that mosquitoes' eggs are hatched in standing water, the health department has served notice on a number of persons to drain puddles and ponds left in their premises by the heavy rains. Health Officer Kiefer reports that most of these nuisances have been observed, and he says that all the breeding places of the pest within the city limits are being secured in one instance or another. The main one on which the rain had gathered in a small pond between the station and the sanitary engineer that drainage was impossible. Petroleum was used in this pond.

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—A charge for somebody to get in a swimming, in view of the health department's ban on swimming in the city's ponds, is being brought against a young man who is being charged with getting into the water in the city's ponds. This is all the same as the district attorney John Maloney would give relative to the charging of two men in the Detroit river for swimming in the city's ponds.

Man Who Was Caught on a Bridge by a Train.

Bay City, Mich., July 22.—Lawrence Dargis, a man with one arm, was overthrown on the bridge over the Detroit river by the Alpen train. He stepped off the track between the perpendiculars of the bridge to allow the train to pass. He says: "I did not stand where I was, and so I swung out on the outside of the standing on the narrow ledge and holding on with my one hand. As the train began to pass I got dizzy and came near falling forward under the train."

"As I cannot swim I was afraid to jump into the river. I was afraid to fall into the river. I was afraid to fall into the river. I was afraid to fall into the river."

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 22.—T. J. Sullivan, alias Sullivan, burglar who has already served twenty years in prison, and is now awaiting trial here on the charge of burglary, is reported to have been arrested by the police of Grand Rapids. Sullivan has been arrested by the police of Grand Rapids.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 22.—It is officially announced that the Cleveland City Iron company has purchased the lease held by the Hayes Mining company on 300 acres of land in the Western part of the county. The consideration was $200,000 and 7 cents per acre. The deal was made on July 22.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.
 Talk less and listen more.

Do your work as well as you can and be kind. Men are only great as they are kind.

An uneducated man was offered 60 cents to do a piece of work, but he declined, saying he had done the same work before for 50 cents and that was his price.

The repeal of the war revenue bill became effective July 1. The country is now free from war tax, if we except the knackers who have found steady occupation since the war, and whose work is still a severe tax upon the patience of reasonable people.

Whenever there is a fight, or a disgraceful scene of any kind in congress, it is always the southern Democrat who is the aggressor. And in almost every instance it will be found that the man who makes the attack does it in a cowardly way, without giving the other man an opportunity to defend himself. There are thousands of gentlemen in the South; why do they send their cowardly and bullies to congress?

It pays to be decent in business and in religion and in family relations for exactly the same cause that it pays in politics; for the same rules governing people in politics govern people in other relations of life. Some times a man succeeds in business for a time who is tricky and unfair and selfish. Sometimes the fellow dies in his apparent success. But his name withers into a reproach like a blighted tree. Sooner or later destruction overtakes a man who cheats.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Judge Durand soon decided that he could not be a candidate for governor, after he learned that the Detroit Evening News proposed to support him.

The Manistique newspaper offices never issued more readable papers than they do at this week. The cause for this is the fact that the editors were all out of the city for three days.

The rank and file of the Republican party will never have cause for regretting the nomination and election of Hon. H. O. Young for Congress. He was ranked with the ablest representatives from the state of Michigan.

Cates of the Escanaba from Fort was recently robbed of $25, and he was on the program this week for a paper on How I Managed to Amass that Amount at One Time. As he failed to attend the association meeting and did not send the paper in, his editorial brethren are still in the dark.

The railroads of this country have decided to plan to remedy the abuse of holding foreign cars. Hereafter all foreign cars will be charged up to the road on which they are located at so much per day, instead of for miles run as heretofore. It is expected that the plan will result in cars being returned to the owners much more expeditiously than formerly.

Shelden's antagonism to Roosevelt's Cuban policy was not the cause of his defeat for the nomination. Injudicious appointments had more to do with the slump of Shelden stock than anything else. "I want to appoint the best wire puller in your county" was the prime cause of Schoolcraft county's defection.

Charlie Thatcher seems to be a bigger man than he was when he cancelled stamps in the county town. A man learns a whole lot of things at the postoffice window and sometimes he remembers what he learns. It is not what we learn but what we salt away in the dome of thought, that makes us wise.—Gladstone Delta.

If The Mining Gazette were asked to state a cause for the result in this district it would unhesitatingly assert that the trouble arose from appointments to office; either there were not enough to go around or in selecting one man the congressman made bitter foes of all whom he had to turn down. Many a congressman has suffered defeat from the same cause in the past and many others will suffer likewise in time to come. Political patronage will probably continue to work trouble in the world over until the millennium puts in appearance.—Houghton Gazette.

Editorial comment on the result of this week's congressional convention will gratify the Republicans of the twelfth district. Without exception the press unites in a hearty endorsement of the nomination of H. O. Young of Ishpeming and pledges that gentlemen consistent and conscientious support. Both the Soo News-Record and the Menominee Daily Herald were strenuous supporters of Congressman Shelden during his campaign for renomination, but their editorial utterances, quoted in another column, show in what good spirit they acquiesce in the result. Mr. Young will have behind him at the polls next fall the solid Republican forces of the twelfth district. It is apparent that there are no hard feelings left in the wake of the convention, except in as far as they may exist in the case of individuals. The party is solid for Mr. Young. He was the popular choice for the nomination and he will be elected by a rousing majority.—Mining Journal.

YOUNG FOR CONGRESS.

In the nomination of H. O. Young of Marquette county, for congress, the Twelfth district honored herself as well as one of her most brilliant sons: With Young as the Twelfth district's representative on the floor of the house, the district will again be heard from. Her voice will be potent in the determination of affairs of national moment, her interests will be ably and painstakingly cared for and the Michigan delegation will have added to its roll a name which will speedily be classed with the names of William Alden Smith and E. L. Hamilton. Respectfully yours, A. S. Putnam & Co.

Twelfth district has been heard in the halls of the national legislature. This prolonged silence will be broken in no uncertain manner when Mr. Young assumes the duties of his office and his utterances will carry weight and influence with them. Particular gratification must be felt by every Republican in the district when they review the qualifications possessed by the party's candidate.

First of all, Young is possessed of an exceptionally calm, independent mind one who does not lend itself readily to bias, or prejudice. Cool, collected and dignified the next congress man combines the attributes which are certain to place him in a class with the guiding spirits of the house of representatives. No question will arise too distant, no problem too complicated, but Mr. Young will both comprehend and reach a decision wisely, speedily and well.

As a speaker, clear, concise, emphatic, he possesses few equals and no superiors in the district or state. When the next congressman from the Twelfth arises to address the house he will find an attentive ear. To a district so unique in many respects as in our own, this latter qualification becomes an almost paramount necessity.

In his personal intercourse with his friends and associates Mr. Young is singularly genial, companionable, approachable and without such hearty good fellow that the making and keeping of friends becomes no effort whatever. In this respect also is Mr. Young admirably equipped for his duties as our representative. In the committee rooms of future sessions, while he is the representative of the affairs affecting the interests of this great district, will be cared for.

In every respect and on all accounts Mr. Young measures up to the standard demanded in the high office for which he has been placed in nomination. Strong, clean, fearless, impatient of wrong, dignified, the Hon. H. O. Young of Ishpeming will reflect honor and credit upon the office and the Twelfth district in choosing him as their standard bearer, has entered upon another era of harmony and good feeling which has been conspicuously absent for the past few years.—Soo Journal.

NO CAUSE FOR REGRET.

THE PIONEER-TRIBUNE certainly has no cause for regretting Young's nomination. Shelden was ably supported by this paper during two previous campaigns but when he deliberately turned his back to his loyal friends in Schoolcraft county last spring by appointing a man to the postmastership who had always fought him in previous campaigns and who two years ago hustled for and voted the Democratic county ticket, then the writer, in common with scores of others, deemed it high time to resent the insult. This resentment took form in the endorsement of Young of Ishpeming, who is admirably fitted in every respect to represent the most important district of the state in the lower House.

The bitterest campaign ever known in the political history of the county resulted and the Sheldens who resorted to all kinds of crookedness—the product of local and imported talent—were signally defeated at the caucuses—twenty-five of the thirty delegates being for Young. Common sense and decency should have prompted the Sheldens to "lay down" after their high unanimous defeat, but they did not, and the result was a rump convention and sets of contesting delegates to the various conventions.

Although the credentials committee of three consisted of two anti-Young members yet the work of the contestants from Schoolcraft county was so coarse that the committee decided unanimously to give the Young delegates a seat in the convention held last week. This ruling will no doubt be the criterion in the Senatorial and Representative conventions yet to be held. The seating of the regular delegates, and the nomination of Young, therefore, are more than pleasing features of the campaign just closed, and the finale is endorsed nineteen of the Republicans of Schoolcraft county.

A Conscientious Minister.

DEAR SIR:—Having tried your White Wine of Tar Syrup, I believe it to be an excellent medicine, and am conscientiously recommending it to others. Respectfully yours, Kingsville, Mo. Rev. WM. STEVENSON, A. S. Putnam & Co.

WERE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED.

What impressed the editors that attended the mid-summer session of the Lake Superior Press Association held at Marquette and Manistique this week, was the painstaking and highly successful manner in which the committees entertained the visitors. Some of Marquette's prominent business men were on the committee and they threw aside the cares of business, perhaps at a pecuniary loss to themselves, in the performance of their duties. We have especially to thank Messrs Van Asselt, Vanhamboult and Everett. Van Asselt conducts the largest store in Marquette yet he devoted his entire time in the interests of the boys, and all that attended the session will ever hold him in great fond remembrance. What we have said concerning Mr. Van Asselt's endeavors also applies to the other members of the committee.

Mr. Baldwin of Manistique, the secretary of the association, who planned in great part, the program for the meeting, also deserves praise for his planned well.

The Booth Co. gave the party an opportunity of seeing the Pictures Rocks and this courtesy was highly appreciated by all as was the elaborate dinner served the guests by the citizens of Manistique at the Rustel House. The Marquette & South Eastern and the Manistique Railroad Companies, conveyed the party from Marquette to Manistique and return via special train and this too, was highly appreciated.

On the return trip the party visited a veritable oasis in the wilderness—the experiment farm at Chatham. While there Supt. Geismar of the farm treated the guests with strawberries, ice cream and cake.

Many visited the prison Wednesday morning and all are under obligations to Warden Freeman, Deputy Warden Catlin and the guards for their courtesy. In the afternoon the party were entertained at Presque Isle. A dinner was served at the pavilion, and all were given an opportunity of carriage and launch rides.

AN EX-EDITOR'S IDEAS.

There is a strange fascination about the newspaper business to those who don't know anything about it. Men without experience, money or ability can be induced to start newspapers that give no promise whatever of success, financial or political. It is easier to start a newspaper that is not needed and nobody wants and promises nothing but starvation and a shallow pretense of success, than it is to establish a little work shop that is really needed in a community, and in which some one, by good honest work, might make a comfortable living. Men would rather starve and beat their way through the world as editors than to honestly earn their living and pay their way as mechanics or business men. And the funny features of the sorry business is that the busted editor will never admit defeat, even when it is plainly apparent to every one else. Men who run stores, insurance offices and machine shops will readily quit and go elsewhere or try something else when they can no longer make a profit, but not so the hardup editor. He may owe every printer in the shop, not have a dollar in his pocket, send back every cent made on him by the paper holder, and be "standing off" the local merchant, coat dealer and "leg man"—in fact be actually "flat broke"—still as long as he has a dollar's worth of credit in the town and can get his patent sheets out of the express office, he will continue to get out his paper and make a bold bluff by insisting that he has the biggest circulation and is doing the best business in town; and his paper is about the hottest thing that comes down the pipe. Why this is true is one of the deep mysteries of human nature, but true it is.

And for all the enemies he has created and the dirt he has resorted to Willis N. Mills, of Menominee has done a noble thing. It will probably take a deal of figuring for the printers to demonstrate wherein he has profited.—Diamond Drill.

The Same Old Story. J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which had happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was completely relieved much quicker than attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, Ky. For sale by A. S. Putnam & Co.

able for the unfortunate engaged in it. No newspaper should be started unless its establishment is a sane business proposition; until there is a legitimate demand for it; until its income can be made sufficient to pay all legitimate expenses in cash and yield fair pay to the men who do the work in publishing it; until it can be conducted in a dignified, proper and business-like way, paying all bills with reasonable promptness and yielding a decent income for the proprietors. Papers that can't do that ought to die and stay dead.

Hitchings by Rev. Chas. M. Shelton. A short story can teach a long way.

It was Christmas to rest as it to work. The things we want are not always the things we need. No one is ever deceived by the batteries spoken at a funeral.

The best thing about goodness is its ability to whip evil in the long run. Public opinion can be manufactured but the home made article is the best. Every man's epitaph is written before he dies; not on his tombstone but on his deeds.

The man who runs his neighbor down hill gets to the bottom of it about the same time. Death is the smallest trouble in this world compared with sin, which is the greatest. Custom and tradition are responsible for some of the most pitiful failures in the pulpit.

One of the signs of littleness in a man is pride, one of the signs of greatness is humility. No man has reached the height of his manhood until he learns to say, "What is my duty?" before he says, "What is my right?"

"Thank God if you are one of the plain people but don't bore others by showing it to no effect." The men who offend the church the most would not want to live in a town where there wasn't any. The man who "gets even" with his enemies always "takes something off" of his own character to do it.

Things are not necessarily good because they are old or bad because they are new; for example—eggs. If the Bible was read as regularly as the daily paper the preachers could all have better congregations.

The over-sensitive people are a constant worry to themselves and a burden to their relatives and friends. Abuse is not argument. Calling names does not make converts. Being noisy does not influence your opponent.

Culture and learning cannot save men from sin; a college degree has no power to change the will of a dissipated life. The things that are worth the most to the people do not make money; the home, the church, the school.

He took off his hat at a funeral and caught a cold that made him sick for a week. Would he have shown any less reverence for the dead if he had kept his hat on and avoided taking cold? The men and women who do the dirty, disagreeable work of civilization, like sewer digging, are entitled to large respect. If all the toilers in hard disagreeable places should suddenly cease to toil, civilization would lapse into barbarism. Let us learn to take off our hats to drudgery.

"Where are you going?" said the angel to the young man who seemed to be in a great hurry. "I am going to have a good time," answered the young man as he went into a joint and a gambling resort. "Curious vocabulary some of these human beings use!" said the angel as he went thoughtfully along. "If he had said a bad time, I could understand him."

Good Advice. The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects: such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual constipation, indigestion of the heart, heart-burn, water-brash, gawking and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth. Use of food after eating, low spirits, etc. Go to your druggist, and get a bottle of Anger's Pile-er for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

And for all the enemies he has created and the dirt he has resorted to Willis N. Mills, of Menominee has done a noble thing. It will probably take a deal of figuring for the printers to demonstrate wherein he has profited.—Diamond Drill.
