CASE IN THE AIR.

New Developments in the E. N. Orr Homestead Case.

THE ENTRY HAS BEEN SUSPENDED

Upon Recommendation of Special Agent Dwyer.

We glean the following from the Marquette Mining Journal... The Marquette land office has been informed from Washington that the homestead entry of Elmer S. Orr of Manistique on the east half of the northeast quarter of Section 23, Township 45 Range 18, eighty acres in Schoolcraft county, has an accordant with the report of Special Agent James Dwyer, was suspended.

The report of the special agent is to the effect that there is a house worth $150 on the tract; that some six or seven acres have been partially cleared and put under cultivation; that the standing timber is worth at least $8,000 and that several hundred dollars worth of timber has already been removed.

Mr. Dwyer further reports that Orr has not established a bona fide residence on the land.

There will be a hearing in the case here, to give Orr an opportunity to show why he should not lose the rights secured to him by his entry.

It is likely that the suspension will be made permanent, in which case Mr. Orr stands to lose a pretty penny through his neglect to comply with all the homesteading requirements.

Stole a Bicycle.

William Gold alias Jones was arrested early this week on the charge of stealing V. X. Lyons' bicycle. He took the bicycle from the front yard of the Lyons home and disposed of it to a Westsider for $12.75.

He had his hearing before Justice Hill Tuesday morning and was bound over to the circuit court for trial. Turnkey Laska was sent to Gold's boardinghouse for his clothing and there found a canvas belonging to the pump house at the court house, under Gold's bed. The wheel cost $100 a few months ago and the thief will no doubt spend a term in the penitentiary.

A number of the local teaching force will attend.

U. P. PIONEER SOCIETY.

Branch of the State Organization to Be Established.

A branch of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical society is to be organized in the upper peninsula with Hon. Peter White of Marquette, as chairman.

The first meeting of the branch will be held at Marquette, Jan. 13 and 14, and it is hoped that the organization will result in educating the work of preserving the history of that important section of the state.

The rooms occupied by the parent society in the state houses have recently been rehabilitated and materially enlarged. All the valuable relics owned by the society are now arranged that they may be inspected by visitors.

The work of the society is progressing favorably, many new members having been added to the rolls lately. Another volume of memoirs is about to go to the printer and will soon be ready for distribution.

Reward of $25.

The undersigned offers a reward of $25.00 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of one stealing a robe and 1000 feet of line, his property, at Indian Lake last April.

MAY SCHNEIDER.

ANOTHER ATTORNEY.

Mr. James C. Wood of Ishpeming, Decides to Locate Here.

Mr. James C. Wood, a bright young Republican attorney of Ishpeming, was in the city a short time this week looking over the field with a view of locating here.

Mr. Wood comes highly recommended, and should be decided to make Manistique his future home, would no doubt do well.

Since the other item was placed in type, Mr. Wood has decided to locate here and has rented a suite of office rooms in the Stewart block. It is his intention to be ready for business within two weeks.

Mr. Wood is a graduate of the Chicago College of Law being a member of the class of 1895. He also took a post graduate course at the same institution. He has had much experience as a practitioner and for some time was associated with the late George H. Hayden, at Ishpeming.

As Mr. Wood is brilliant, hard working, honest and manly, he will no doubt be successful here.

Change of Partnership.

August Olson has purchased Andrew Johnson's interest in the firm of Gust Anderson & Co., while Gust Anderson has purchased a half interest in Mr. Olson's stock. The two stocks will be combined on Nov. 1st, and the business continued by Messrs. Anderson and Olson under the name of Gust Anderson & Co.

The members of the firm are very well known and will no doubt be successful. They hope to merit a continuance of the liberal patronage accorded them in the past.

A. S. Putnam Elected President.

The board of directors of the First National Bank at a meeting held yesterday elected Martin H. Quick and J. H. Dewey as directors to succeed M. Blunroosen and Benj. Gero, resigned.

At the same meeting A. S. Putnam was elected president of the bank and W. B. Thomas vice president.

Cheap Rate to the Soo.

The Soo Line is quoting a $2.25 rate for the round trip to the Soo tomorrow. Tickets will be good for the return trip until evening. An opportunity of seeing the Soo's big celebration at a very low price is hereby afforded our citizens.

The rummage sale held by the ladies of the M. E. church this week was well patronized and highly successful in every respect.

AT SALT LAKE CITY.

Mr. Fred Nelson, Son of Supr. W. H. Nelson, Dies in the Far West.

Mr. Fred Nelson, son of Supr. W. H. Nelson, died in the Far West.

HE HAD A PROMISING FUTURE.

Was Superintendent of the Erecting of the Large Smelter in the West When Taken Ill.

Supr. W. H. Nelson of the Manistique Iron Co., received a telegram on Thursday last week announcing the death of his son, Fred Nelson, at Salt Lake City.

The deceased was born at L'Anson, N. T., twenty-eight years ago. He graduated from the Wisconsin state university at Madison, in 1897.

For a time thereafter he was associated with his father at Ishpeming. Later he went to Great Falls, Montana and engaged in the business of erecting smelters. He erected smelters in several mining cities of the west and at San Pedro, Mexico, and at the time he was fatally stricken was superintending the erection of an immense smelter at Salt Lake City, which he intended completing by Sept. 1st.

He became ill in May and since that time was unable to attend to his work. Being ambitious the doctor was unable to do the result of overwork.

No days prior to the receipt of the telegram Mr. Nelson received a letter announcing that he was thought to be improving. His illness was uncurable.

The funeral was held at Salt Lake at Saturday last under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity and the body was laid to rest in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mr. Nelson's many friends in Manistique and throughout the upper peninsula, deeply sympathize with him in his sore affliction.

The following is taken from the Ishpeming Record:

W. H. Nelson of Manistique, received a telegram yesterday containing the news of the death of his son, Fred, of typhoid fever at Salt Lake City, Thursday.

The young man was well known in this city as he resided with his parents for several years. He was a graduate of the engineering department of the University of Wisconsin and had been in the West for some time, connected with various mining companies. He had many friends in this city who will be deeply grieved to hear of his untimely end.

THE BELLES AND BUDS OF WASHINGTON

With the beginning of December, when congress convenes, society of the national capital will inaugurate what its signs foretell will be the gayest social season in many years. This is saying a great deal, for since the Roosevelt family have been in the White House the social affairs of Washington have been the most brilliant known in a generation.

The return of Mrs. Roosevelt to Washington has already raised the national capital from its slumber, and the members of the official set are hurrying back from summer wanderings ready and eager for the winter fray.

The improvements to the White House are made in the talk nowadays, and Mrs. Roosevelt's personal interest in all the finer points of domestic life in the selection of the interior furnishings is shown almost daily. With a practically new executive mansion of splendid beauty and the prospect of much hospitable entertaining there is promise for a delightful season.

Beautiful girls in massed numbers will adorn society at the national capital this winter, and the list of debutantes is said to be a long one.

The once popular, convenient and much abused debatable tea having lost fashionable popularity in Washington, as in most large cities, the majority of prudent mothers with girls on the threshold of society are looking about for some better way of announcing that interesting fact to their friends.

There will be some teas in December, of course, the custom not being entirely abandoned and by some mothers with comparatively small or inadequately large visiting lists is found the simplest way of introducing their daughters, but as a rule the large, expensive and not particularly exclusive afternoon reception, with its music and flowers, its collection, which in many cases might have served as a ball supper, and its levy of sister buds assisting, has been abandoned from the Washington circle, and the debutantes of 1922 are insured a more dignified entrance into society.

There is no question on the part of the debutante herself as to her "good time." She is not a loser in the change, which, according to the prevalent opinion of the most experienced hostesses, will lead to much candidate for social honors meeting a smaller but more interesting company as she emerges from the Friday evening dancing class to her first beholder circle.

Some fortunate mothers with private ballrooms will follow the example of Mrs. Roosevelt, who presented her already made their entrance into society. One of the most popular of the debutantes is Miss Elizabeth Wilson, daughter of the secretary of agriculture. She has just returned to Washington after a visit to her home in Canton, Ohio, with whom she has always been a great favorite and regarded almost as a daughter.

There are always a good many notable debutantes in Washington society, owing in part to a steady influx of wealth and partly also to the circumstance that numbers of debutantes from other parts of the country take their daughters there, the pick and flower of the nation's aristocracy to Washington to take their debutante usually, simply because there is no sort of business doing at the capital which is a holiday city, almost devoid of serious work to be done outside of the departments. For the same reason the young men of Washington who amount to much are apt to go away and seek their fortunes elsewhere, the consequence being that the available list are for the most part largely the daughters of young gentlemen employed in the departments, who possess neither means nor prospects. A few young officers of the army and navy and there are who help things out to some extent, but the necessary result is a lack of available masculine material.

From the conditions described it comes that the Washington set is the greatest hunting ground for heiresses in the United States. There are always a good many very rich girls in the society of the capital, and it is natural that in the absence of eligible young men, they should frequently fall in love with ineligible ones and marry them. Naval officers have made an extraordinary number of such "catches"

Some fortunate mothers with private ballrooms will follow the example of Mrs. Roosevelt, who presented her here, and it is notoriously a fact that most of the debutantes who render the national capital so beautiful as a city of residences were built with wives' money.

One of the most conspicuous of the Washington heiresses now available matrimonially is Miss Daisy Lovell, daughter of Lord & Taylor, who, although less classically beautiful than her sister, Lady Curzon, is perhaps equally notable in her own right.

It is considered, however, that there is not in Washington at the present time any more beautiful girl than Miss Anita T. Fox. She belongs to the young White House set, being an intimate friend of Alice Roosevelt. Her beauty is of that classic type, and she is very accomplished, having traveled much abroad. For the last two seasons she has been a great belle.

One of the most beautiful girls in Washington is Miss Lella McCreary, who made her debut two years ago. She is a tall blond, with much gray in her hair. Her good will is in striking contrast with that of Miss Beatrice Ashmun, who is a brunette of the ordinary type. Miss Ashmun, who is rather petite, with intensely black hair and big brown eyes, is a daughter of the William Cochrill of the Washington institution.

These and many others will help make the social season gay at Washington. It is said that the list of debutantes alone numbers forty. All these young women belong to the capital's most exclusive and fashionable circle.

Some of them are rich, others are not, and all are fashionable. In respect to beauty they compose a galaxy that will be hard to surpass in any other city of the world.

young stepdaughter in this fashion last season. Others, even though they consent to a ball later in the winter, will not make it the occasion of presenting their daughters, but rather as a return for the courtesies they may receive.

One of the handsomest buds of the senatorial circle will be Miss Anne Deane Cochrill, young daughter of Senator Cochrill of Missouri, who recently returned from three years' study in Paris, where she was a pupil of the Conservatoire de la Sacred Heart, in which institution her elder sister, Miss Marion Cochrill, was educated.

Miss Ann, who has exquisite features and particularly fine eyes, is likely to be as much admired in society as her sister Marion, who is a couple of years older. Miss Marion is considered one of the handsomest young women in the society of the capital.
