DREAD DIPHTHERIA

Has Made Its Appearance in Manistique. Many Sick.

ONE DEATH REPORTED THUS FAR

Prompt Measures Have Been Taken to Prevent Its Spread.

That much to be feared disease, diphtheria, has appeared in Manistique during the past week, and as a result one death has occurred and a large number of children are ill. The first victim, Edward, the eight-year-old son of Capt. and Mrs. Eli Garret died Sunday noon after an illness of about twenty-four hours. On the following day prompt measures were taken by the health officer, the city council and the board of education. The Lakeside schools were closed Monday afternoon and the Central and Wesley schools the following day at noon.

The city council at a special meeting held Monday evening appointed two special officers to see that a strict quarantine was established over infected homes.

Up to this writing the following cases have been reported.

- The daughters of Capt. and Mrs. Eli Garret.
- Four children of Capt. and Mrs. Hugh Malloy of Ontonagon, who are visiting friends here.
- Oliver, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brown.
- Three children of Dr. Whitshield.
- Child of Mr. and Mrs. Nils Anderson.
- Child of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly.
- Child of Robert Arrowood.
- Son of Sol. P. Reil.
- Daughter of C. B. LeCrox of Hints Spur, at the post house.

The closing of the schools did not have the effect desired, as the children were allowed to congregate on the street, and Mayor Blamroson issued a proclamation Wednesday in which he urged the parents to cooperate with the officials in their endeavor to quickly and effectively quell the epidemic.

The proclamation follows: Owing to the fact that several cases of diphtheria have developed in the city during the past week, and one death has occurred, it has been deemed necessary to close the public schools, and to station special officers at quarantined homes.

The schools were closed for the purpose of minimizing the danger of infection, and all parents are hereby urged and ordered to keep their children off the streets and not allow them to leave the premises until all danger of infection is at an end.

McCann & Brasel's Rail Chair and Joint for Railroad Rails Now Patented.

ITS UTILITY APPARENT TO ALL

Will Add to Life of Rail and Facilitate a Continuous Rail Road.

Henri Brasel, Jr. of Shingleton, was in the city early this week, with a model of his improved rail chair and joint for railroad rails, upon which he and Mr. Patrick McCann received a patent Dec. 28th. As the inventors are residents of this county and are well known, a description of their invention may be of interest to our readers.

Among the objects of the invention are the following:

1. To provide a rail joint and chair whereby the ends of the chair may be

ABOUT KING STRANG

Interesting History of the Beaver Island Mormons and Their Routs.

WERE NOTED MARINE ROBBERS

Scattered Ships and Killed Crews in St. James Harbor.

We glean the following interesting account of Beaver Island Mormonism from a recent issue of the Sturgeon Bay Advertiser:

The Strang phase of Mormonism had its birth and came into prominence about the time of the Nauvoo settlement in the state of Illinois. Strang was a dissolute man; an unscrupulous and ambitious one as well. He was identified with the Young, Knibball, Smith and other factions which were powerful when the church was in its infancy, and was jealous of the strength which these men possessed through their supposed association with divine powers. This led him also to receive a "revelation" from above and set himself up as a leader under spiritual guidance. His revelation was consistent with Smith's in that it allowed a man more than one wife, and a few of the faithful enrolled themselves under the banner of the "Strangites." When Nauvoo was destroyed Strang gathered his people around him, refused to follow his former companions westward, and started for the north.

The Beaver group of islands, consisting of Big and Little Beaver, North and South Fox, Hull, Garden, Hat, Hog and Squaw, located at the mouth of the straits, were at this time, in 1846, populated by a shiftless lot of Indians and half-breeds, who gained a precarious living hunting, fishing and wrecking. These quiet settlers woke up one morning to find their kingdom invaded and the best part of Big Beaver occupied by Mormons. The forces of Strang, about 200 strong, had come in the night and "squatted." Most of them settled on the northern side of the island, on the shore of the bay, at the place now known as St. James, and there they remained for ten years. They built houses from the cedar with which the islands abound, and traded for or stole from the original settlers what game and fish they needed. Fishermen and farmers began to come in, their numbers steadily grew and the settlement was in a fair way to rival the one then springing up in Utah.

Here Strang was supreme—the great I am. He trilled his subjects with a rod of iron, and always to further his own ends.

ENTERTAINED CLASS OF 1904

On New Year's Eve. A Very Pleasant Time Was Had.

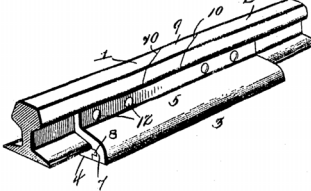

Miss Jennie Pattinson entertained the graduating class of '04 at her home on New Year's eve. The evening was spent in guessing contests and drinks. Hollis Harvann was awarded the prize.

At ten o'clock the guests repaired to the dining room, which was artistically decorated in chess colors, and where a sumptuous supper awaited them. Miss Olga Deering and Emma Pattinson served.

All reported a very pleasant evening and returned to their homes at the break of the new year.

Farrriage Licenses

The following marriage license was issued by County Clerk Ryden, Dec. 31: Einar Johnson and Miss Beba Oberg, both of Manistique.

and ends of the rail and which fills the space between the diagonally cut rails, and this forms practically a continuous rail which will prevent the hammering of the ends of the rails by the wheels of the train and thus add to the life of the rails which usually break down at the end, as well as add life to the wheels since it will prevent them becoming dented by the constant hammering in passing over separate joints. The chair is preferably composed of two pieces, 2 and 3, which have an insulating connection of 4 and 5, by forming one section with a groove and the other with an arm. The section made to snugly embrace the base and side of the rail and are secured in position by bolts 12.

The device has been shown to a number of practical railroad men and they all speak very highly of its utility. Patents have also been secured in Canada and arrangements are being made to secure patents in European countries. We hope the inventors will make a fortune with it.

HAVE ORGANIZED.

The Building Inspectors Have Commenced Work.

Messrs. J. J. Riley, John Looze and John Larson, the building inspectors appointed by the city council last Monday evening, promptly organized and have commenced work. J. J. Riley was chosen chairman and John Looze secretary.

They investigated the new opera house and ordered several changes, including large exits on both sides of the building. The stairway from the gallery is also to be remodelled and a fire escape and platform for safety of gallery patrons be provided.

The inspectors will investigate the churches and school buildings tomorrow and no doubt will order many alterations that will conserve to the safety of audiences.

They are authorized by the statutes to order changes made and a severe penalty for neglect upon the part of individuals, corporations and others, thus ordered, may be imposed.

The inspectors will make a thorough investigation.

This remedy is for sale by A. S. Putnam & Co.	Dan Guinan of Oshkosh, is in the city. Kenneth Nicholson observed the sixth anniversary of his birth last Monday by entertaining a number of his little friends. We are informed that owing to trouble with the employees and the management, the Thompsonville chemical plant of which Mr. VanTassel is manager, has been shut down. Michigan Shingles Superior. By actual trial it has been demonstrated that the yellow cedar (commonly known as the white cedar) of Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, and in fact, all states east of Colorado, is far superior to that produced in the western states. The process of kiln drying the lumber and shingles is so rapid there in order to get out quick returns, that it destroys the fibre and life of the wood. Shingles in particular come into the market, one-fourth to one-third in thickness, and when they are subjected to the blow of the hammer produce a hole that ruins the shingle. The product is brittle and causing it to be necessary in using it, for the loss is very material, sometimes 20 per cent. Real Estate Transfer. Arthur D. EDITORIAL COMMENT.
 Several ministers were killed in the Iroquois disaster last week.

There is twice as much snow in the Shingleton, Wetmore and Munising, belt than at Manistique. In fact the snow is so deep in some of the camps that work is being done at a disadvantage.

We are under obligations to Hon. O. B. Fuller for a copy of the proceedings of the senate and the house of representative in joint session Wednesday, April 2nd, 1903, at which time eulogies were pronounced in memory of Hon. James McMillan. The book also contains a sketch of Senator McMillan's life by Charles Moore.

The Southern Democratic senators are very much in favor of the Panama canal treaty, and the leader of the Democratic side of the senate, Gorman, is up against the real thing and cannot control his colleagues, who usually are against anything that the Republicans are for. In this case however; they have shattered party precedent by endorsing Republican legislation.

Hon. Perry Powers is being urged by his thousands of friends throughout the state, to enter the lists for the chairmanship of the Republican state central committee. No better selection could be made. Powers has always been a consistent Republican and through his newspaper the Cadillac Express, and on the platform has always stood for the best that Republicanism represents. His relations are friendly with the various gubernatorial aspirants. With that energetic and hustling stalwart directing the campaign the result at the polls would not be in doubt.

Gogebic county Republicans will present the name of John H. McLean of Ironwood to the congressional convention seeking his election as one of two delegates to represent the Twelfth district in the Republican national convention. Mr. McLean's name has been suggested for one of the four places as delegates at large. The Iron Mountain Press has presented forcible arguments why he should be the upper peninsula's candidate at large, but Mr. McLean believes that he is more entitled to the higher honor, and the plans formulated by his Gogebic friends, who are seeking his selection as a delegate.—Houghton Gazette.

HAS AROUSED MANISTIQUE TO ACTION.
 The terrible disaster at Chicago while the lesson was a drastic and much to be deplored one, has accomplished some good. That there will ever be a repetition of the heart sickening disaster in this country is scarcely probable for the citizens of the entire country are unanimous in their demands for architectural designs in public buildings that will in the future make wholesale murders impossible.

Even in Manistique, which has a number of public buildings unequipped with means of escape from a case of fire, the people are wrought up, and the mayor wisely called a special meeting of the council Monday evening of this week to take the proper steps to insure added safety for audiences in case of fire.

In consequence the new opera house will have three additional exits, one on either side of the building, and a fire escape from gallery. These will make the opera house safe. The C. L. Co's hardware building—the only three story building in the city would be a veritable trap in case of fire. It is constructed of wood and the two upper floors are reached by a narrow winding stairway and if fire should cut off egress from that source the people in the lodge rooms would be compelled to choose between death by fire, or death as the result of a fifty foot fall. The building no doubt will be fitted with fire escapes.

The council appointed three good, fearless men to see that everything that will conserve to the safety of public audiences will be done. The committee consists of J. J. Riley, John Larsen and John Loose.

Providence is charged up with some very mystifying tantrums. That horrors occur, such as the recent catastrophe at Chicago, cannot be charged to the wrath of Divine Providence but to the carelessness of the architect. Of course a fire will create a stampede and no matter how numerous the exits or the appliances for safety, some will be crushed, but with all due precautions exercised wholesale slaughter may be averted.

The mayor and council are to be commended for their prompt action in looking after the safety of the citizens and the property owners that will be compelled to make needed alterations for additional safety should do the same promptly and ungrudgingly. A man or body of men who by their carelessness, cause the death of any human being, are technically guilty of manslaughter. Therefore too much care cannot be exercised. Manistique have a number of fire traps and if the present action of the mayor and council will minimize the danger they certainly deserve much praise.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.
 "Well, I want to pay the reston my house," is the way a tax payer put it when he called to pay his taxes this week.

Mr. C. H. Kelsey has resigned his position as editor of the Houghton Gazette, which position he has held for several years, quite successfully.

The Mining Journal is laboring under the impression that Mackinac county is in the Thirtieth senatorial district. It is in the Twelfth.

FIGHT FOR FULLER'S PLACE.

Senator O. B. Fuller of the Thirtieth district has the well wishes of his copper country friends in his endeavors to secure a re-election from his district. Senator Fuller was one of the men in the upper house who stood out against the Colby bill in the face of the abuse heaped upon him and upon the greater number of men in the legislature from this section. In an interview published in the Escanaba Journal, his home paper, the senator says that he wants to be returned to vindicate his position on primary election question. "If I am not returned to the senate," said he, "it will look as though I had been turned down because of my action in not supporting the Colby primary bill in the last session, therefore I would like to go back. I will support any bill for primary election or anything else that the people of the Thirtieth district endorse, but I do not, or did not think that they endorsed the Colby bill."

The senator makes no excuses for his opposition to the Colby bill, and none are needed, for the action was creditable. Whatever his ideas on the question of primary election, the Colby bill was certainly not the embodiment of what the people wanted along that line. In his stand on the Colby bill, Senator Fuller had the backing of the upper peninsula representatives in the two houses, for the bill, had it become a law, would have worked to the great disadvantage of the upper peninsula people.

Senator Fuller is one of the men who ought to stay in the state senate. More men of his caliber are needed. He has made a hard working, capable representative for his district, and the Thirtieth cannot afford to lose him. During the last session of the legislature he was president pro tem of the senate and presided most of the time, because of the illness of Lieutenant Governor Maitland.—Houghton Gazette.

SALIENT POINTS IN ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE.

Colombia's refusal to ratify treaty was a scheme to confiscate the property of the French Canal company and obtain $40,000,000 from the United States for that property.

The United States has taken the position that no other nation is to build the canal.

The one connected with this government had no part in preparing, inciting, or encouraging the late revolution on the isthmus of Panama.

There is nothing of greater or more pressing importance than the construction of an interoceanic canal. Reasons of convenience have been superceded by reason of necessity which do not admit of delay.

I am at a loss to comprehend the attitude of those who can discern in the recognition of the republic of Panama an approval of the general principle of revolution.

Let me repeat that the question before their government is not the recognition of Panama as a republic. The question, and the only question, is whether or not we shall build the Panama canal.

KEEP CHILDREN AT HOME.

The Board of Education lost no time in closing the schools last Tuesday, hoping thereby to prevent the spread of that dread disease diphtheria that has broken out in epidemic form here and has already caused one death. However, the mere closing of the schools will not have the desired effect if children are permitted to visit each others and allowed to roam upon the streets. Mayor Blumrosen issued a proclamation urging and ordering parents not to allow their children to leave their homes until all danger from infection has passed. Officers have been stationed to enforce a rigid quarantine at infected homes, and with the cooperation of the parents, the health officer and other city officials will no doubt be able to stamp out the disease promptly.

SCHOOL BOARD DID RIGHT.

The dread disease, diphtheria, has appeared in epidemic form in Manistique and one death has occurred thus far. The board of education promptly closed the Lakeside schools Monday evening and the remainder of the schools were closed Tuesday, as a matter of precaution. The city council at its special meeting Monday also appointed special policemen to guard quarantined houses. Every effort is being made to stamp out the disease that is really more to be feared than small-pox and which is equally contagious. Thus enforced vaccination will make a regrettable break in the work of the schools, but the protection and saving of human life is paramount. The school board deserves praise for its prompt action.

GUESS AGAIN.

A copy of the article published in the "Courier" relating to the endorsement of Mills by Senator Burrows, was sent to the headquarters of Mills by Senator Burrows, in Michigan and they promptly advised the sender that "there is absolutely nothing in the statement, and are surprised that you should place any credence in the story." The man who boasts that he carries a vest pocket edition of the voters of Schoolcraft county, has another guess coming. It was a cheap political trick and one that is not much of a credit to the author either.

ABOUT KING STRANG

He was a disolute and unscrupulous man, who at bottom had no respect for morality and religion, and who crossed his horns as he faced defeat, although somewhat successful in managing to cloak his real character under religion and professional diving sessions for his acts. But notwithstanding all his care, discontent took root after a few years and a faction rose against him.

"They were thieves and rascals of the worst kind," says Capt. Williams, "I know from my own experience. If we went into port there they would swarm over the vessel and we had to watch every Kib cable broke and dropped out of sight. St. James bay. As I had no time to fish it up then I marked the place and proceeded on my way. About three weeks afterward I returned and managed to recover the cable, but it was gone. One of those Morozons came on board and asked what I would give for the cable. I can see through the glasses and knew at once they had pulled up the chain and anchor and had them concealed somewhere. I hustled and swore and threatened, and they laughed. Finally I produced an old diary.

Among navigators 1867, the Beavers began to get a decidedly bad name. Three vessels during 1868, 1869 and 1871, that had cleared with the intention of stopping at the group, were heard of again. The reputation of the Morozons was multiplied threefold and became unassailable. Then came the case of the Willis. This Willis went to the bay for a cable, according to some reports, he would not get it until the next morning. When the sea was calm the vessel was empty, but as neither vessel nor crew ever returned in the night, the vessel was reported as having been wrecked. The supposition was raised, possible from the fact that many articles of furniture found in the possession of the Morozon settlement. This and similar depredations rendered mariners exceedingly wary of stopping at the group, and it is certain never took his boat to these unless absolutely compelled to do so by stress of weather.

In 1888, when affairs had arrived at the legitimate settlement combined with vessel owners in a petition to the government to investigate and remedy the constantly growing evil. No success was given until the spring of 1884, when the revenue cutter Michigan, put in an appearance at St. James, carrying with her instructions to look into the matter, and the officials did it. The vessel was reported by King and Strang and his followers with open arms, and to use a current expression, "nothing was too good for them." Officers and crew were left a run of everything. When they were not eating, dancing or flirting with the Morozon females they were filling up with the liquor which they were most liberally supplied by their hosts. The Michigan force passed two weeks peacefully with the residents of that group, and then departed. That Big Rover found nothing to complain of is shown from the fact that the government did nothing more in the matter.

But the Strang dynasty was drawing to a close. Becoming convinced that no relief was to be expected from the high or official power, the settlers took the course of affairs into their own hands. They secretly organized and armed themselves, and the night of July 11, 1890, made a descent upon the Big Rover town. The Morozons were totally unprepared for such an attack. They were in the middle of the night to find their dry cedar houses burning like tin. They were not only surprised, but they were driving everything before them through the smoke and flying timber. A slight attempt at resistance was made, but it was fruitless. Half the men in the settlement were killed and the remainder were burned out of their homes. Strang himself was burned to death with his wife. In company with one of his wives he managed to reach another island, and in a day or two was taken off by a vessel and carried to the Wisconsin shore. Soon afterwards he died near Milwaukee from the effects of wounds he had received in the attack. The captured Morozons were given choice of two things. They could take their turn at being "strung up" or they could "get some of the boys" and they were absorbed by the farming community of Wisconsin or Michigan, or made their way to Salt Lake City, has never been known.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Don't say cheap cough medicine. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. What a record it has in sixty years of Cherry Pectoral. COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Manistique, Mich., Jan. 4th 1901. At a special meeting of the City Council, held according to law, Monday January 4th 1901 at 8:30 o'clock P. M. The following members were present at roll call: Mayor Blumrosen, Clerk Jno. J. Jennings, Ald.-McNamar, Schuster, Durno, Rose, Parker and McKesson. Absent: Ald.-McNeil and Wickwire.

Mayor Blumrosen having explained the purpose of the meeting, the minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The notice which had been served on the managers of the Opera House was then read for the benefit of the Aldermen. It was then moved by Ald. Rose, supported by Ald. McKesson, that the Mayor appoint a committee of five to act as a board of Building Inspectors.—Motion carried.

The Mayor appointed as members of said Board of Building Inspectors, John Riley, John Larsen and John Loone, who were confirmed by a unanimous ye a vote. Diphtheria being reported, it was thought advisable to take immediate action in suppressing the disease. The Mayor therefore appointed Wm. Smith and Fred Gagnon as Special Police to act as quarantine officers. The appointments were confirmed by a unanimous ye a vote. A communication from James Kinney Jr. was then read, acknowledging the receipt of payment for the drilling of wells. A communication from E. W. Miller and Oren Quick in reference to taxes was read and upon motion of Ald. McNamara, supported by Ald. Schuster, laid on table. Health Officer Dr. Cole, being called, was questioned in reference to the Diphtheria cases and instructed to use every precaution to stop the spread of disease and also to instruct the special policemen appointed as to their duties. It was moved by Ald. Schuster, that the Health Officer close all Schools until in his opinion it was safe to again open same.—Carried unanimously.

ROMANCER OF THE SEA.

W. Clark Russell gained his Nautical Knowledge. Mr. Clark Russell, the famous nautical romancer, whose stories of the sea have entertained countless readers, especially the boys, is now an almost helpless invalid in his home at Bath, England, although the vigor and brilliancy of his mind are yet unimpaired. Mr. Russell was born in New York City in 1844, and his parents were English. His father was Henry Russell, a musical composer and song writer, and his mother was Miss Lloyd, a connection of the poet Wordsworth. His mother is now more universally accepted than the fact that the peach is an improved variety of the almond. The almond has a thin shell around the stone, which splits open and shows the stone when mature. This juice which has simply become fleshy in the peach, so that it is all that gives it its specific character. It seems now clear from investigation in the history of ancient Babylon that in their garden, nearly 4,000 years ago, the peach was cultivated then as it is now. It must have been many years before this that the peach was improved from the great antiquity of the fruit. The subject "Jan" was equally inspiring. "Jan" is to be found in almost every language, wrote some one, "and some people eat it at every meal. Some Jan are sticky." Another subject that provoked the same simple direction was "Crisp." More eloquent than the eloquence of a whole Gaelic language was the delightful sentence, "The Irish were conquered by the British in days of old and have been assayed at their steel."

Under a New Title. The Washington Post credits a clever haired mistress of that city with a clever amended job. She was listening in company with a young man from the state department to the music of a plant. The selections were all new to the young man till the "Wedding March" of Mendelssohn began. "That's familiar," said he. "I'm not strong on music, but I know I've heard that before. What is it?" "That's familiar," said he, "is the 'Maiden's Prayer.'"

MANISTIQUE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, DEC. 30, 1904. $1.50 PER YEAR.

W. CASE DEAD

Was One of Upper Peninsula's Most Prominent Business Men.

DIED LAST FRIDAY EVENING

At Chicago, and was Buried at Marquette Last Monday.

Clarence W. Case, one of the upper peninsula's foremost business men is dead. The deceased was well known by the politicians and business men of Marquette, who recall his untimely demise.

The Marquette Mining Journal has the following to say concerning him: The death of Clarence W. Case occurred at Chicago at 11:20 o'clock Friday night...

It is nevertheless true that the general sorrow, as many of his friends were saying, against hope that there might be some turn for the better.

The funeral was held from the residence, 425 Ohio street, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and a large assemblage of friends at the home, as well as the large cortege, gave testimony to the general regard and respect in which the deceased was held.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. M. Rogers, who was assisted by Rev. Henry T. Shier of Marquette and Rev. Amos Maywood.

The services were held in a holy and a party of twenty-five or more Marquette men came upon a special train from Marquette to Marquette, and the choir rendered the old favorite hymns.

Mr. Case had been a resident of Marquette since October, 1903, but previous to that time he was a frequent visitor to this city and was well known among the leading business and professional men.

He came here to accept the vice presidency of the First National bank after Peter White had disposed of practically all his holdings of the stock and had been associated in the bank's management with L. G. Kaufman. Mr. Case was a careful and enterprising banker and the business with which he was connected never failed to profit by his discretion and shrewd ability.

The earliest important business connection formed by Mr. Case was with the firm of Newberry & McMillan, whose employ he entered in 1886. In 1890 he took up his residence at Newberry, where he was to be a leading citizen for a number of years, as manager of the

PRaise THE EDITION

A Number of Upper Peninsula Exchanges Speaks in High Terms of Christmas Edition.

MANISTIQUE EXTENSIVELY ADVERTISED

As an Entertaining City by Editorialists of Business Men.

We glean the following favorable comments on the recent Christmas edition of the Post-Tribune from several of our upper peninsula exchanges:

THE POST-Tribune's Christmas number of twenty-four pages full of both gay and rollicking matter was certainly an edition to be proud of.

The Marquette Post-Tribune issued a splendid holiday number last week, which is a credit to the paper and the bustling city in which it is located.

The publishers of the Marquette Post-Tribune issued a highly creditable Christmas number of twenty-four pages, printed on calculated paper and containing a large line of holiday advertising and much special matter timely for the Christmas season.

The Marquette Post-Tribune put out an elegant 24 page holiday number, Dec. 26. It had six full pages and eight pages of display advertising from one-half cent to half price—14 pages in all. It's an issue to be proud of.

The Marquette Post-Tribune issued a 24 page holiday edition last week. It was filled with the local happenings of that and surrounding places, Christmas reading and contained broad-angled announcements of the business places. It was a model of typographical neatness and would be a credit to a city office.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of Marquette, Michigan, county of Schoolcraft, will be held at the office in the city of Marquette, on Tuesday the 10th of January, 1905, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.
