THANKSGIVING DAY

Union Services Held at the Presbyterian Church Largely Attended.

EXCELLENT SERMON BY M'CUINE

An Extended Synopsis of Same Given for Benefit of Those Not Present.

The annual Union Thanksgiving services were held at the Presbyterian church yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at which time Rev. McCuine of the Methodist church preached a very able and profitable sermon.

Rev. Torbet had charge of the opening exercises and a quartette consisting of Misses Lindgren and Barrell and Messrs.

Refner and Weber furnished excellent music.

There was a large attendance and the collection for charitable purposes amounted to $90.00. At the close of the services Rev. Johnson of the Second Baptist church dismissed the congregation with the benediction.

A synopsis of Rev. McCuine's sermon follows:

"He hath not dealt so with any nation." Psalm 147, 20 verse.

To every thoughtful student of history there is a lesson in the physical and moral world that cannot be clearly discerned or understood by reason alone. But when the book of revelation is opened the divine architect is revealed. Who is the ruler and governor of all world, then, manna which is the dutiful

A BEAUTIFUL HOME

Is the New Residence of Wm. B. Thomas, Now Nearing Completion.

MOST MODERN HOME IN CITY

Detailed Description of Its Interior Arrangement and Finishing.

Several very creditable buildings were erected in Manistique during the past year, and The Pioneer-Tribune, with its usual enterprise, has decided to publish a series of descriptions of same, with illustrations of the buildings. The residence erected by Wm. B. Thomas and which is now practically completed, has been selected for this issue. It ranks as one of the handsomest and most expensive homes in the city as yet.

The building is 24x44 feet, with a basement seven and one-half feet high under the entire building. It is of solid masonry with cement floors and divided into five compartments. The vegetable garden is in the southwest corner; the laundry, 14x15 feet and equipped with stationary wash tubs of soapstone, supplied with hot and cold water, is located in the southwest corner. North of this room is the entrance from the first floor, and of this a toilet room. In the north-east corner is located the tanks, pump and cistern. The water supply is taken from this cistern and from a well on the premises and is pumped to the heater by a small pump run by an electric motor, and from there to tanks from which water is forced to all portions of the building by air pressure, the pump by an automatic device, forcing air into the tanks with the water. The heating plant and fuel bin are located in north-west corner of the basement.

The first floor is reached from a commodious veranda eight and one-half feet wide and extending across the entire front. The roof of same is supported by four sets of double columns.

The entrance is through a massive oak door in which is heavy beveled plate glass, into a vestibule six and one-half feet square, which is finished in oak and has a tiled floor. From the vestibule, entrance is had through another heavy oak and glass door to the reception hall, 12 feet eight inches by 16 feet six inches. This a beautiful room and is finished in quarter-sawn English oak, paneled, with fluted columns on either side of all openings and doors. The ceiling is beamed and it is well as the magnificent front staircase which occupies the east side of the hall finished in the same manner.

On the right, as the reception hall is entered, is the parlor, 11 ft. 8 inches by 14 ft. 8 inches, finished in mahogany. Adjoining to the east, and connected with the parlor and hall by sliding doors, is the library, 14 ft. 11 inches by 19 ft. 8 inches, finished in birch, stained mahogany. With its communications window seat, extending the width of the bay window, the handsome mantel of mahogany, and heavy glass mirror surmounting the delicate fine life grates, it readily appears that this room will be the cozy corner of this splendid home.

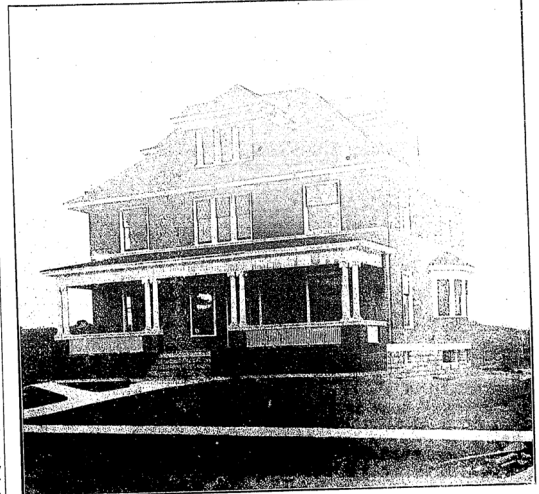

The dining room, 11 ft. 8 inches by 18 feet 9 inches, is located at the left of the entrance from the vestibule. It is finished in quarter-sawn English oak, and the walls are fitted with a bright yellow color which contrasts make it a very handsome room, with a delightful outlook through large windows, on Range street. This room and the reception hall have polished oak floors.

Adjoining the dining room and between it and the kitchen, is a china cabinet 5 feet nine inches by 19 feet, amply provided with cupboards, and is finished in Georgia pine. It is entered from dining room and kitchen through swinging doors.

Adjoining this to the north-east, is the kitchen, 12 ft. 5 inches by 14 ft. 3 inches, and back of this is a large kitchen, and is finished in Georgia pine, it is equipped with a metal sink, with hot and cold water, and a large range with tank, and in every way is a model of convenience. Both apartments have maple floors.

Returning to the reception hall—a large cloak room is located in north-west corner of the stairway. Near by is an elegantly appointed toilet room, finished in oak and with oak floor.

On the other side of the stairway is a hallway to back entrance and basement to which access is also had from the kitchen.

The stairway is of quarter sawed English oak and is a striking feature. A broad landing is reached by an ascent of thirteen steps and from which the second floor is gained by two stairways of four steps. From this hall all the apartments except the alcove is reached from the hall. Back of the landing of the main stairway are three large, elegantly designed colored windows which furnish a softest and subdued light to the large hall.

The second floor contains three large sleeping apartments, servants' apartment, an alcove, and elegantly appointed bath room and numerous closets. This floor is finished in linden, enameled white.

The attic contains two rooms well lighted by dormer windows, and is now able to get about without the aid of crutches. Notwithstanding the fact of a so recent serious injury, Mr. Day started out on his annual hunt a few days ago and handed at the home of a homesteader where he found there twenty-three hunters stopping, but not discouraged, the next day after his arrival started out through the woods, and killed his quota of three that day. He was pleased at his success but felt that it was cutting the hunting season rather short.

mounted with a green roof. The exterior is very pleasing to the eye. The house will be lighted by electricity and heated by hot water. The lot has an area of 8x13 1/2 feet, and has been nicely graded, and cement walks have been laid.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas say well congratulate themselves that their plans for a thoroughly comfortable home have been so signally realized, and their many friends hope that they may live long to enjoy it.

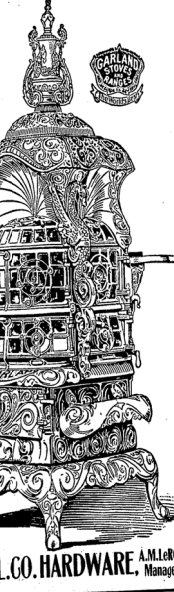

Got His Quota Quickly. A. D. Day of Engadine, was in the city Wednesday, and is now able to get about without the aid of crutches. Notwithstanding the fact of a so recent serious injury, Mr. Day started out on his annual hunt a few days ago and handed at the home of a homesteader where he found there twenty-three hunters stopping, but not discouraged, the next day after his arrival started out through the woods, and killed his quota of three that day. He was pleased at his success but felt that it was cutting the hunting season rather short.

Secured Fourteen Deer. Julius A. Langelin, Dr. P. A. Tucker, Judge E. S. Hough, L. Schumann, I. Tharner, Peter Schumann and Postmaster E. T. Slayton of Lapeer, and A. Bisher, John Kovey and George Stauff, of DeLair, arrived in the city Tuesday evening from their camp near Forest House, having secured fourteen deer. The party sets for their losses Wednesday morning. Mr. Slayton is quite well known here having been superintendent of the Delta Lumber Company's operations at Thompson several years ago, and is a cousin of J. A. Robinson, whose ghost he was while in the city Tuesday.

F. W. R. Perry of Detroit, was in the city Tuesday.

John A. Falk was on a hunting expedition in the vicinity of Camp 55 the week of November this far has been nobler than any November in eighteen years. Strange as it may seem very few people are objecting to it either.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Roosevelt was elected by such a well-nigh unanimous vote that he has a brotherly feeling for Democrats, and has offered a good position to Senator Cockrell of Missouri.

The official table showing the actual votes received by each candidate, as ascertained by the board of canvassers, appears in this issue and should be preserved for future reference.

Thanksgiving day was more generally observed here this year than at any time in the previous history of the town. Practically every business house was closed during the afternoon.

Manistique is proud of the new Wm. B. Thomas residence, at present nearing completion, and the description of same appearing in this issue will do nothing to interest reading to many of our readers.

Those who from force of circumstances were unable to attend the Thanksgiving services yesterday morning should read the extended synopsis of Rev. McCane's excellent sermon which appears on another page.

The game laws should be amended so that the closed season should extend through a period of several years, and the bounty on wolf scalps raised to $25. If the deer are to be preserved, the wolves, their relentless foes, must be destroyed.

The idea of Mr. Bryan offering to cure the ills of the people when they were never before so healthy and well, stamp him as a fakir and humbug. Bryan is said to be sincere when he wants to doctor people who don't need medicine or treatment.

Packer, the deputy oil inspector which visits Manistique frequently, went out for sheep in the recent election in Menominee county by a majority of 48. He carried but one of the seven wards of Menominee. His opponent, Erdlitz, is not satisfied with the result and has asked for a recount.

An illustrated pamphlet on Manistique, its resources and development is being distributed by the Record Publishing Co. The book consists of forty-seven pages and has numerous illustrations of Manistique residences, business houses and portraits of business men. Its compilation shows much painstaking work upon the part of its editor, and the composition and printing which was done in Chicago, is very good.

Clubs are formed on any pretext. A woman wants to study history, so instead of going off by herself to master it, she gets up a club. There are clubs to play cards, clubs for literary purposes, dancing clubs, eating clubs, etc., and if the club business is not overdone, we suggest another one: A Winter club. Those suffer most in winter who remain indoors most. Those catch the worst cold who hug the fire longest. The best health is for those who get out on the coldest days, who let no storm outside keep them in. Therefore, the Winter club. The members will get out every day and walk. They will look for beauties that exist in a blizzard, and they are not hard to find, if the system is turned up right.

The first business of the Republican legislature should be to pass absolute, impartial election laws. This act properly a party question. It applies equally to citizenship and bill forms of free government. Every person legally entitled to vote should have the assurance that his untrammeled ballot shall be counted and counted precisely as he hands it in direct on a candidate or cause. Under present conditions here, people irrespective of party attend and participate in Republican caucuses—many of whom are not voters at all, and too often Democrats and non voters decide the personal of the Republican ticket. "A law must be passed regulating caucuses and if the law makers decide to include direct nominations in the bill no material damage would be done. Whether or not nominations so made would be satisfactory is debatable, but the fact nevertheless remains that in city, township and county politics the idea would work. Make it a felony for any man to attempt to vote who is not qualified to vote as a voter, or for one to attend two caucuses.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

To be able and willing to do some useful thing well should be the highest aim of every young man. It beats being a society ornament, or even the ability to wear good clothes in the best form.

It doesn't pay from a financial standpoint, to be a reformer. An Omaha citizen who fought the liquor interests had his home wrecked by an exploit of dynamite as a reward for his activity.

Hicks in his forecast for November said the astrometric outlook for the month assures such fine atmospheric weather up to the entrance of the Venus disturbances on the 24th. He guessed it right.

Now Southerners are bracing the idea of having the solid South cast its electoral vote for Roosevelt when the college meets as proof that the South hasn't it in for Roosevelt to the extent that the north imagines it has.

R. M. Andrews, editor of the Menominee Herald, is an applicant for appointment as municipal clerk in the city of Tom Hama, the present incumbent, Mr. Andrews will be a formidable candidate, and if successful, would no doubt fill the office acceptably.

This newspaper has for months advocated the construction of sewerage and water systems for Manistique and from indications this week, the idea will be endorsed by the other newspapers published here. After all, the success or failure of the idea lies in the hands of the voter.

The school children were asked by their teachers to donate articles of food for the Thanksgiving dinner of the poor people, and they responded heartily and liberally. It is a commendable idea to early inculcate a spirit of charity and benevolence toward those less favored.

The Christmas edition of THE PIONEER-TRIBUNE last year, was highly complimented by all for the excellence of the subject matter and its pleasing typographical appearance. We will issue an edition, this year and the profrugality with which our local business men have contributed for space insures the success of the edition.

Russia is reaching a crucial period in its history as the people are demanding an opportunity to be represented in the conduct of national affairs through a legislative body. That country will never take its proper place among the representative nations of the world until absolutism in that country is modified or abolished.

HAS A LESSON FOR ALL.

There is a lesson in the birth, the unfavorable environment of youth and the subsequent elevation of Mr. Johnson to the governorship of the great state of Minnesota, for every young man in the United States. His parents were poor immigrants and his father's insatiable desire for strong drink compelled young Johnson to go to work as a day laborer at anything he could find to do in order to assist his mother who was by dire straits compelled to take in washing for a living. When he was nineteen years of age he secured employment in a printing office and in a few years became the owner and editor of a paper at St. Peter, Minn.

During the campaign that followed his nomination for governor the facts of his lowly birth and strenuous struggle for existence was used by his political antagonists in an effort to defeat him. He admitted that all they said about him was true, and the argument acted as a bumerang and his election,—one of the marvels of the recent campaign was the result. It was marvelous when it is taken into consideration that Roosevelt carried Minnesota by a large majority and that Johnson was the successful candidate on the Democratic ticket.

The world likes a man who proves himself worthy no matter how adverse his environment is. The strong characters—the men that have made American history were nearly all men of the Johnson stamp. Education, honesty, industry and ambition are the requisites for success, and the young man possessing these will in time be amply rewarded. Wealth is not a requisite but rather a hindrance to a young man. What one secures in the matter of advancement if won by effort and sacrifice, counts for more.

Any young man, no matter how lowly his present conditions are may reach success, and the degree of all depends upon the effort put forth.

PRIMARY TEACHERS SHOULD BE THE BEST

The whole spirit of reform in public school education is expressed in the demand of the state high school board that better teachers should be employed in the primary grades. The resolution in which this demand is conveyed is preliminary and tentative. It requests that schools under supervision of the state board should employ no primary teachers hereafter who have not had normal or training school preparation. It is understood to be the purpose, after the schools have had time to bring all their primary teachers under this rule to deify state aid to those that disregard it.

We think that the state board might well have gone farther and put its demand in more preceptory form. We believe that the very best teachers should be employed in the primary grades, and that they should be paid in proportion. The quality of an education is largely determined by the foundation laid in the earliest years. Children have to be taught to study before they can be taught to learn by studying. The teaching of young children is most difficult as well as most important. It requires special natural endowment and the highest training. If we must have inferior and underpaid teachers, let them go to the advanced classes which are able to do most for themselves, and make themselves useful in weaving Indian baskets and touching up faked drawings.

The pitance paid to primary teachers tempts only raw high school graduates with more zeal and industry than skill or training. Better qualified teachers who take these places do not in high and self sacrificing devotion to their calling. The school funds are dissipated in paying high salaries to officers and fat mongers, teachers of political combings and politicians and highly branched. The highest work of education is really carried on in the lowest grades.—Minneapolis Tribune.

KILLED IN COLD BLOOD

YOUNG BOY IS SLAIN BY MASKED ROBBERS IN A SALOON NEAR MINNEAPOLIS.

THE BARTENDER FATALLY WOUNDED

Minneapolis, Nov. 24.—A 20-year-old Freddie King was killed and Edward J. Mingo probably fatally shot by masked men who held up the saloon at Columbia Heights, just outside the limits of Minneapolis and in Anoka county during the night.

The slaying occurred about 9 o'clock and at about the body of the little boy lay on a table awaiting the arrival of the owner of Anoka county. Mingo by a lucky rifle, which was being held at the saloon, killed a crowd of men and boys as well as King's place. The mangled man in the front door three men, who headed their way through the crowd bounding revolvers and commencing "Hania up." As usual, many of those present believed a job was being perpetrated by some of the fellows, but a few decisive shots into the ceiling furnished proof that the men meant business.

Bartender Mingo was a little slow in obeying the commands, and was arrested for the first time. A shot rang out and Mingo pitched forward with a groan.

Hands were now high in the air and the drunken men were moving about with rapid steps, while firing their guns recklessly.

Shot Edward Boy's Grievor.

Edward Mingo, the proprietor, was in the rear of the saloon. A short distance back from the bar, Freddie King, whose face was swollen with fear, he began to cry aloud and fearful lest the men might give assistance, one of the men fired a gun point blank at the boy, who clapped his hand to his breast and started to run for the side door, which closed upon him. He had taken but a few steps when he fell dead across the threshold.

The other people in the saloon were backed, hands in the air, against the wall, and the highest shout uttered to relieve them of their money, emphasizing their demand with an occasional menacing gesture. This work finished the three men started for the door, moving backwards, wearing their clothes not to follow on penalty of death. The robbers obtained only about $25.

As the men disappeared there was a rush towards the prostrate form of Freddie King, now cold in death. The body was stretched on the lunch counter over which he had bent his agonized father, who gave way to headstrong grief.

The boy had accompanied his father to the rifle and the latter had stood holding and seen his manly son die before his eyes. All might he kept a ceaseless vigil by the side of the lad.

Bartender Badly Wounded.

While the men were eating in Le Pio Pierco was striving hard to save the life of Edward Mingo upstairs.

The man in which Mingo entered the left check, fractured the upper jaw and lacerated the skin of the teeth in the jaw and lodging in the back of the neck. Later in the night he was removed to Mary's hospital, where he lies in a precarious condition.

It is believed that the three men engaged in the holdup came to Mingo's office in a motor car, and were accompanied by a woman.

A search of the roadway nearby revealed a gray sweater and a red handkerchief, which were identified as the property of the man who was killed. Further down the road, in a field near Thirty-seventh street and Central avenue, were found a black cap, covered with horse hair, a dark hunting coat, a muffler and a pair of gloves. They were thrown aside by the robbers in their hurry to get away. The marks of the horse's hoofs were clearly leading into the field, where the articles were found. It appeared as if the trio had been coming towards Mingo and then turned and headed in the direction of Anoka.

Although the authorities of the Twin Cities have been active since the murder, they have as yet located any person suspected of the crime.

CORONERS ARE IN THE WIBLE

Must Answer to Charge of Claiming Pay from the State Where Is Fee Were Due.

Detroit, Nov. 22.—County Coroner John T. Hoffman, who was elected shortly after the recent election, has been arraigned in police court and will be examined Nov. 29 on the charge of receiving money under false pretenses from the state of Michigan. He was released under $2,000 bond.

Coroner Hoffman is also under bond for appearance before Judge J. W. Donovan, in the circuit court, to show why he should not be punished for contempt. The other coroner, Dr. Otto T. Toepel, will also appear in Judge Donovan's court in similar contempt proceedings. The cases against the two coroners have resulted from an investigation of their offices.

The coroners are paid a fixed salary by the county, and receive from the state extra money for each coronation of Wayne county whose deaths they are called upon to investigate. It is alleged that the state has been charged for investigations in connection with the deaths of persons who were not residents of the county, and has also been made to pay mileage and post-mortem expenses which were never incurred. The contempt proceedings were instituted to investigate the charge that the signature of Judge Donovan had been secured for coronations held against the state through misrepresentation.

SOUND ADVICE GIVEN

By Crystal Falls Diamond Drill to Republican Legislature.

MUST REMEDY THE CAUSES

For Manistiquian, its suffer the consequences two years hence.

As Editor Majority of the Crystal Falls Drill is a member of the state senate. His views on the question that caused the slump on the Republican vote for governor are of importance. He articulates follows:

The republican vote failed soon out somewhat in a state of surprise. But while we are sitting here over our success let us stop a while and consider the existence of the condition that we have to exist in such large proportions from the vote of the democratic candidate for the governorship. Mr Warner was elected by a majority greatly reduced from that given Roosevelt. What was the reason? Mr Warner's personality is fully as attractive as is Mr. Peric. His record as a public official is superior to that given Roosevelt. Why? Simply because there is dissatisfaction in the republican ranks over the present condition of affairs. Mr. Warner's reduced majority is no personal slight to the handwriting on the ballot but pointing to certain republican defects unless the wishes of the people are given ear to. If the republican party of Michigan is wise it will heed this warning. It will take up one by one the different causes for dissatisfaction and apply a remedy as far as lies in its power.

One of the chief sources of dissatisfaction is the present census system. We never have been and are not now in favor of a direct vote primary law, believing that such a law would not be prejudicial to the interest of the sparsely settled districts and farming communities and to the interest of the big cities. But, we do believe that every man should have the opportunity to vote directly for the person or persons that go to conventions to select candidates for him. Every county that wants direct vote for county officers should have the privilege of having one and vice versa. That the counties which do not want direct vote should not have that system forced upon them. A secret ballot primary law with local option direct vote system and a direct vote for all delegates will be a big step in advance and will show the people that the republican party is sincere in its promise to give them good and progressive laws.

Again, the right of the people in connection with transportation companies should be safeguarded. Not to the prejudice of the transportation companies but to the conservative equalization of the burdens of taxation and fair remuneration for the carrying labor performed and a fair return on the actual capital. The maintenance of a four-cent rate in the upper peninsula is a vulnerable point for the adversaries of both the railroads and the republican party. Its abolition would not decrease the earnings of the roads to any appreciable extent and it would remove an argument that the radical groups effectively in working up the prejudices of the people towards railroads.

The republican party should read the handwriting, read it correctly and take time by the forelock.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

APPRECIATED THEIR SERVICES

The Republican Editors of Michigan thanked for Services During Campaign by Secretary Award.

In behalf of Chairman Diokonan and the State Central Committee I desire to express to you sincere thanks for, and hearty appreciation of the great services which you rendered the Committee and the Republican party, in the campaign just closed. There never was a time when the Republican newspaper press in Michigan did more effectively for its party work.

We thank you for a large share of credit for the glorious victory achieved. We entered upon the campaign greatly handicapped by the fact that the metro-politan, English printed dailies of Detroit, with but one exception, were lined up solidly against our candidates on the state ticket.

The campaign waged against Mr. Warner and his supporters by those newspapers and their allies throughout the state, was unfair and cruel. Their tirades of abuse were extended to the Republican press whose publications were treated "tax hit tax suckers" and other things not complimentary. This caused the more vigorous action on your part and we are certain that today your satisfaction is as great as ours.

Mr. Warner's plurality will exceed 65,000. When the official count is made, we believe it will show he has not more than 10,000 behind the state ticket, which is remarkable inasmuch as he has been the target for nearly all the assault of the opposition.

With the entire state ticket elected, the majority for President Roosevelt was unprecedented, the legislature solidly Republican and with a possible half dozen exceptions every county officer elected a Republican, the victory is complete. This could not have been accomplished without the staunch, loyal support of the Republican press of the state, and we wish you to know that we at headquarters fully appreciate the services you rendered. Very truly yours,

D. R. ALWARD, Secretary.

SHOT THROUGH THE HIPS

Was Mistaken for a Deer and Probably Fatally Wounded.

A "persistent report," comes from Trout Lake that a hunter was shot through the hips at 8 p.m. by a man whose name who failed to go to the relief of his victim. The shooting is said to have been done on Tuesday last. Sheriff Bone of the So. has so far failed in his efforts to investigate. He could not even locate the whereabouts of the wounded man, though he believes the shooting actually occurred. He thinks the wounded man one of a party of strangers who are slaying the man who fired the shot. Sheriff Bone's informants say the man was fatally wounded in their judgment.—St. Ignace News.

Killed a Wolf.

John D. Byers brought a wolf's head to the County Clerk's office Saturday. He killed the animal in the north part of the county, and fired several shots at its mate but did not succeed in capturing it. The one killed evidently had had a very hearty breakfast of fresh venison.

PHOTOGRAPHED A WILD DEER

Frank Hutt Secured a Very Interesting Picture of a Wild Deer, Exhausted by the Chase.

Frank Hutt, an amateur photographer of Haverhill township, secured a picture last winter that is very interesting—a snap shot of a wild deer exhausted by a long chase through the deep snow. The deer, the prominent feature of the picture, is very stunted and the snow and the background of big forest trees combine to make it a remarkably interesting study. The deer was captured, and in time became very tame and during last spring it hit the settlement for good. We are under obligations to Mr. Hutt for a copy of picture.

WRIGHT DEFEATED AFTER ALL

The Board of Canvassers of Presque Isle County, Find that Bob Wright Was Not Elected County Clerk.

Judging from the following dispatch from Rogers City Robert H. Wright whose election as county clerk of Presque Isle County was heralded last week, failed to win out:

"Robert Wright, one of the few Democratic county candidates, reported elected in the state last month, counted out after all. Chas. Pinz, candidate on the Republican ticket for county clerk of Presque Isle County, who was defeated by eight votes, had a recount of four townships and was declared elected by the board of canvassers with a majority of 50. The ballot boxes of the Third ward of Oshtemo were without look and key. It is expected Wright will carry the matter to court.

Manistiqu Not Largely Represented.

Only two of Manistiqu's corps of teachers attending the annual session of the Upper Peninsula association being held at Ishpeming. The cost of going, the short time, and the close proximity to holiday vacation, were the deterrent causes for the small attendance from here. Mrs. Bowen and Miss Stuart are in attendance.
