WAS FOUND DEAD

Archie Smith a Well Known Resident of Houghton Township, Thought to Have Committed Suicide

WAS MISSING A WEEK

Body Found Near the Home Yesterday Evening by Two Hottelkeepers and Their Son

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Archie Smith, a prominent farmer of Houghton township, was solved last evening by the finding of his body near his home by Houch Haquist and Conrad Ohrg who were assisting in the search for him.

The remains were very much decomposed and he had evidently died the day of his disappearance, Friday of last week.

The body was found near a tree and one of his shoes had been placed loosely about his neck, and the string was tied to a strap which had been placed around the tree trunk. No firearms were found on the neck, and Dr. Sattler who carefully examined the remains testified at the inquest this morning that death was not caused by strangulation, and others are of the same opinion, owing to the frailty of the articles used and the fact that the loose lark on the tree trunk to which the strap was fastened had not been detached.

He was subject to liver disease and might have died suddenly while making preparations for committing suicide, or he may have been found dead with.

Smith had been drinking for some time and was more or less dependent. Shortly before leaving the home Friday morning he took a big drink of liquor. Owing to his absence Mrs. Smith became alarmed and came to the city the same morning to request the assistance of the officers to search for him.

The neighbors and the men employed at the Smith farm carried on the search for several days, and commencing with Monday the officers assisted. On Wednesday and Thursday a large body of men were impressed into service and on yesterday afternoon his body was found as stated above.

Coroner Johnson was notified, and after causing a jury, brought the body to Manistique. The inquest commenced this morning and several witnesses were examined. The following jury was selected by the coroner: H. F. Dwyer, John Wright, John Burton, Alex. Burns, Houghton and Grant Riley.

Mrs. Smith took a gun, razor and rope from him after a quarrel on the morning of his disappearance and was very much alarmed as he had repeatedly threatened to kill himself.

FARM BARN BURNED

Electric Stern Sunday Wrought Havoc With Building And Contents

SEASON'S CROP TOTAL LOSS

One Horse And Slightly Burned Horses Spoiled The Harvest.

During the thunder storm Sunday morning the farm barn of C. R. Miller of Manistique township, was struck by lightning, and together with most of its contents completely consumed. Mr. Miller was in the building when the bolt struck, engaged in grooming a horse but was not injured. The fire spread so rapidly, that only a horse and a self-binding reaper were saved of the contents of the building which consisted of 30 tons of hay, the grain from 15 acres of oats a quantity of barley, harness, and farm implements. The barn was nearly new having been erected last year, and a large addition had but recently been added.

Mr. Miller estimates the loss at $1500 with insurance of $500 through E. L. Ashford's agency.

NEW NATURALIZATION LAW

Those Wishing to Become Citizens Should Make Application at Once.

Clerks of courts having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens have received instructions from the department of immigration and labor, as to the construction of the new law which takes effect Sept. 27th. Some of the provisions are radically different from the present law, one of the most important being the requirement, that applicants shall be able to read and write the English language. Another important feature is contained in Sec. 25 of instructions and reads as follows: Clerks of courts shall not receive declarations of intention to become citizens from other aliens, than white persons and persons of African ancestry or of African descent. Any person who intends to declare his intention to become a citizen in this country may do so under the old law during the first three days of the September term, which begins next Monday, Sept. 24th.

SO, SIDE LUMBER CO

A New Enterprise For Schoolcraft County.

FIRM TO BUILD SAWMILL

Manistota Township Should be Greatly Benefitted.

The South Side Lumber Co. of Traverse City, recently purchased 800 acres of timber lands in townships 13-14 and 14, Range 16 and has options on 12000 acres more, and will at once begin the erection of a saw mill to manufacture the timber. The mill will have a capacity of between twelve and twenty thousand feet per day, this matter not having been indefinitely decided. Preliminary work has already begun. A spur track will be built to connect the mill with the M. & N. R. R. the work to be done this fall.

The timber will be all utilized from three inches diameter up. The company secured the lands now owned, and the options mentioned above through State surveyor J. F. Frut, and through his efforts they were induced to build a mill on the lands, rather than ship the logs to Traverse City to be manufactured as at first intended. This enterprise though not of large dimensions should be of mutual benefit to the section in which it is to locate, and incidentally to this city. It will furnish a ready market for settlers timber, as well as farmers produce, and furnish employment to from 50 to 75 men. The company expects to secure timber sufficient to supply the mill for several years.

Mayson Torbet has accepted a position at the First National bank.

A Pretty Race

A pretty race occurred Thursday morning between the Illinois and the Car Ferry, starting at the point of St. Louis Bay, and ending at Northport. The Illinois came in a few lengths ahead, but the Car Ferry was at a disadvantage as some of her machinery was out of commission. The boats looked like large bathships as they passed Omena, with great volumes of smoke pouring from their smoke stacks, throwing the water in large streams from their bows. It is the general opinion that the Car Ferry can beat the Illinois if Capt. Robertson would turn her loose.—Northport Leader.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.
Bishop McCabe says the policy holders will fail in their efforts to oust the present officers of the great life insurance companies. It will not be the bishop's fault if they don't.

The Manistique Pioneer association held its first annual picnic last week and it proved a most successful and enjoyable affair. A similar organization for Schoolcraft county should be arranged for, a picnic to be held next year.

Morbid curiosity, rather than a sense of decency, and orderly conduct befitting the occasion, seems to have controlled the mob in attendance at the unveiling of the monument to the last of our martyred presidents, William McKinley. Owing to ill health Mrs. McKinley was unable to be present, and she providentially saved from humiliation.

The gang of young hoodlums that have assaulted young women on the streets of Norway, such instances having occurred during the last three weeks. The identity of the gang is known but the parents of those assaulted refuse to prosecute on account of the notoriety, but editor Knight of the Current, warns them that there will be a job for the coroner and undertaker, and it would be serving them right.

Data obtained by State Highway commissioner, Horatio S. Earl, relative to utilizing convict labor in providing crushed stone for use on the roads of the state comes to our table this week, is in pamphlet form and contains copies of correspondence with transportation companies, detailed estimates of cost, and much other matter pertaining to the good roads movement, of which commissioner Earle is ardent advocate. His deductions should be carefully read by all interested in a better system of road building than has heretofore been in use; besides which Mr. Earle's plan would go a long way toward solving the question of how best to provide employment for convict labor, with the least competition with free labor.

Mr. Kimmerville, the democrat nominee for governor, has recently made some declarations respecting the state equalization, charging the board with having sought the agricultural counties for the benefit of the mining counties. Governor Warner challenged the statement in some remarks in Detroit, a day or two ago, pointing to the fact that any increase in the valuation of a county less than ten per cent was practically a decrease since the state as a whole is increased ten per cent, and any county that is increased in a less ratio will pay a less proportion of the state tax than before; and that this is true of nearly all of the agricultural counties having no rapidly growing cities. The governor's statement is supported by an examination of the equalized assessment rolls of the counties.

The Escanaba Journal says of the resignation of W. N. Mills: It is rather interesting to watch the different acts presented upon the political stage of Menominee county but it would be much more interesting if one could be behind the scenes and watch the wire pulling, etc., in getting ready to present the acts. The latest act is probably the most interesting of any yet presented; and that is the withdrawal of W. M. Mills, who was last week nominated by direct vote of the Republican electors for prosecuting attorney. In his letter of withdrawal Mr. Mills tells all about his "appreciation of the honors," but the question naturally arises, why did he make the hustle for the nomination if he didn't want it? F. J. Trudell, an able lawyer, has been selected by the Menominee county Republican committee to fill the vacancy on the ticket caused by Mr. Mills' withdrawal.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

As indicating the prosperous condition of the country it is to be noted that nearly all the fairs so far held have been unqualified successes.

It is to be hoped that the Cuban government will have the other end of the so-called negotiated when Secretary Tait Lands, on his way to Cuba.

Alger County is to hold a fair this month, and it is expected a better one than that held last year. When will Schoolcraft county make a state in that direction?

The reception around Dan Patch and Crossens, at the state fair in Manistique, was so great that even Wm. L. Bryan in New York is due to the fact that Dan and Crossens run faster.

Discussion of the primary reform laws of Wisconsin are still an absorbing topic and as in Michigan, much stress is laid on the expense feature of the law. The following from the Manistique Eagle speaks particularly on the matter of expense to candidates.

Attorney General Bird is after relatives of many patients who have been accepted by counties as indigent, when as a matter of fact this was not the case, and the attorney General proposes to see to it that the state shall not in the future support that class of cases, or if cared for by the state, that it shall be reimbursed.

Senator Forsaker won out in the contest in the Ohio State convention last week, and in his speech to the convention declared himself independent of the president, and even his constituents, but neglected to state whether he was independent of the railroads, and other corporations and special interests, and this neglect is significant.

With record breaking crops, factories running at full capacity and still unable to fill orders promptly, railroads unable to supply transportation for freight offered for shipment, new lines building, and old ones being extended to open up territory not yet supplied with transportation facilities, what argument are the democratic self binders to use in the campaign now on, when reason can they allege for changing control of National and State affairs. Ten years of almost uninterrupted prosperity under republican control is a pretty fair guarantee of future prosperity, and the disastrous failures of the last period of democratic control are not yet sufficiently remote, to be forgotten by the voters of this country, and the campaign of education planned by the leaders of democracy, in preparation for the struggle of 1908, will prove an up hill task.

Bills will be presented to the next session of the legislature to limit the amounts which can be spent by candidates in the nomination campaigns.

All the candidates who have run in the present primary election are unanimous that something must be done along this line and say that the expense for running for office under the present primary law is so great that soon the situation will exist that none but rich men will think they can run for office in Wisconsin.

Not only is this complaint coming from La Crosse county, but from all parts of the state. The primary election nomination campaign means practically the same thing as a campaign for election, only instead of the campaign expenses being borne from a fund to which candidates generally and citizens are subscribers, the expense of the primary election campaign has to be borne individually by a candidate. Instead of being a move for reform in this particular, it is claimed that the cost of the primary election is almost an invitation to a candidate to graft for the reason that public office salaries are eaten up to such an extent by the cost of the campaign that public officials will be tempted, if nominated and elected, to resort to illegal methods to reimburse themselves for the enormous cost of the campaign.

One of the bills proposed to be presented to the legislature is a measure to limit the amount which a candidate may spend in an effort to secure a nomination to 10 per cent of the salary of the office to which the candidate aspires.

This would cut out some of the ridiculous methods which have been adopted by the various candidates to get their names before the public in the hope of thus catching votes.

Some idea of the enormous cost of the primary election campaign to candidates can be judged when it is said that there are a large number of candidates for county nominations in Milwaukee county who spent over $2,500 a piece in their efforts to secure the nominations and in at least two or three instances it is said that the amount spent will figure up over $5,000. Some La Crosse county candidates spent over $500.

When it is figured out that there is no county office which pays a salary of over $5,000 it can be easily said that even the successful candidates for the nominations have spent nearly a year's salary in trying to land the nominations.

Over the state the fight has been the same. In one legislative district alone for the office of assessor, a bylaw which pays only $500 a year, two candidates for the nomination are credited with having spent over $1,000 in the fight.

Such reports as these are coming from all parts of Wisconsin and it is likely that never before in the history of the state has so much money been paid out for political purposes as has been expended in the present primary election campaign.

Another amendment to the primary election law which will undoubtedly be proposed when the legislature convenes will be a feature going away with the circulation of nomination papers and allowing any one to run for a nomination who desires to do so.

Brimley Cheese Carries Off Honors at The Detroit Fair

PRODUCT ALMOST PERFECT

And Secured More Points Than Any Show, Including Those From Governor Warner's Pastories.

The Superior Cheese company of Brimley has brought high honors to Chippewa county and covered itself with glory by winning a large installment of the first prize offered at the state fair recently held in Detroit.

Lawrence W. Snell of Highland Park, Mich., the noted cheese maker and dairyman, was superintendent of the dairying and domestic products at the state fair. Fifty dollars was offered as a prize for the best cheese exhibited. This unusually liberal offer was competed for by the state and among the many cheeses exhibited were a large number of the selectos from different cheese factories of Governor Warner.

The Brimley people were urged to make an exhibit and finally yielded to the persuasion with the result above stated. The condition of the exhibit was that no cheese should be entitled to a premium unless it should score 90 points and to entitle one to share in the first prize it must score 95 points—100 points being perfect. Under the system of scoring it was conceded that one which should reach the first division of 95 points would be very highly honored, but Brimley fairly astonished the competitors by scoring 92 points which is about as near perfection as is ever reached. The official scoring was conducted by the well known expert E. S. Brundage and the score cards officially signed by the judge and counterchecked by G. H. Dear, the official clerk are now in possession of Mr. Jaques Thompson, the president of the Superior Cheese company at Brimley.

All of Chippewa rejoices and all share in the honors and the reputation which the Brimley cheese has given to this locality. Every Souther who is fortunate enough to obtain some of the Brimley first prize cheese to his own table should certainly be a happy man.

This Brimley factory started on the small scale the present year. Another started also at Brimley and still another at Pickford. Whether the two last named accepted the invitation to send some of their product to the state fair is not known. It is to be hoped that they did not neglect the opportunity to get an official test from the highest authority in the state of the quality and marketable value of their products.

Chippewa county has before now won first prize at the state fair in various products but just now when our farmers are seeking to get into the dairy business and competing with the thousands of tons of hay which are shipped away at a usual price, it is especially gratifying to receive such an encouragement in that particular line for it establishes the fact that it is the right line for our farmers. And what Brimley has done others here may do by in the same time let's all dot our hats and cheer for the Brimley cheese.—See Time.

GAS FROM NEWLY CUT HAY

Cause of Destruction of so Many Barns.

J. C. Nelson, a prominent farmer of Orion township, advances a new explanation for the destruction of so many barns in this county by lightning.

Recently W. E. Carpenter, secretary of the Monitor Insurance Co., made the statement that steel hay tracks in the roofs of the barns attract the lightning and cause destruction.

Mr. Nelson points out that newly cut hay or grain gives off dampness until the hay or grain is thoroughly cured. The hay or grain is piled in the barns and allowed to cure there. The dampness rises to the roof and, as it dries out, becomes a gas. Until the hay is thoroughly cured this gas continues to generate and escape.

During a storm the gas is escaping from the barn. The air is heavily charged with electricity, which comes in contact with the gas, and the most instant the gas inside the barn is exploded, the lightning following that course. Mr. Nelson points out a number of instances where barns were suddenly found a mass of flames all through the interior, during an electrical storm.

DOWNING WILL RESIGN

Present Deputy Game Warden Plans to Remove to Bovey, Minn.

Case Downing of Independence, the late surviving deputy game warden in Marquette county, plans to remove to Bovey, Minn., where he will accept a responsible position with the Oliver Iron Mining company, and will presently resign his office. For the past few months Mr. Downing has had the responsibility of protecting the game in the entire county, and as he has been allowed no expense account this has meant a lack of any protection for the greater part of the county. The past few weeks he has had a leave of absence during which time William Harrington, a former deputy, has been looking after his duties. Mr. Harrington was a candidate for Mr. Downing's position having filed his application for any vacancy that might occur a number of weeks ago. There will be other candidates, no doubt. The state game warden has the appointment, but as the county board has the power to fix the salary it can practically dictate who shall be named.

The present arrangement is by no means satisfactory to the sportsmen in this end of the county who want to see the game protected. They think there is need for a vigorous warden to operate in the great area of country out from Marquette, and believe that one game warden can't do the work in the whole county. However, they are agreed that unless live, effective officials can be secured the less money squandered on alleged game protection the better.—Mining Journal.

Flowing Well Districts in The Northern Peninsula of Michigan.

An extensive study of the flowing well districts of Michigan has been made by the Hydrographic Branch of the United States Geological Survey and those in the eastern part of the northern peninsula are discussed in Water-Supply and Irrigation Paper No. 160, recently issued. In the area discussed flowing wells are obtained from the soft surface deposits as well as from the harder and deeper rocks. In this paper, which may be obtained on application to the Director of the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., the areas in which water rises to the surface are discussed in detail and all available information is given regarding the wells reported. Not only are the outlines of the present flowing well districts given, but an attempt is made to indicate possible extensions of the areas in which water will rise to the surface. In two other reports that are to be published later in the year will be discussed the flowing well areas in the southern peninsula.

O. H. Reed of Lansing, has commenced proceedings against Auditor General Drayton to test the constitutionality of Act 219 of the laws of 1897 requiring six months notice to give the principal owner of the land by the tax title purchaser. He contends that the state's title to delinquent tax lands is absolute and that it is unlawful to issue conditional deeds.

MEET LEADERS OF BOTH FACTIONS

AMERICANS ASSERT THEY HAVE NO POLICY EXCEPT TO RESTORE PEACE.

Havana, Sept. 20.—President Roosevelt's representatives arrived here today to continue their day and night work of solving the Cuban problem.

The business of finding a solution to the difficulty will be proceeded with directly and persistently to its conclusion.

Predictions are already being made that the Cuban problem will be solved within a week, but on what basis is still a matter of conjecture.

A thousand militiamen arrived here from Matanzas during the day and have been quartered in the Cuban forts.

There are insistent rumors that the uprising in Santiago province has been quelled. The cable service with Cienfuegos and Santiago has been restored.

Later Messrs. Taft and Bacon made a call on President Palma.

Havana, Sept. 20.—The American courier José Molina, with Secretary of State Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon on board, arrived here at 7:30 a. m. Messrs. Taft and Bacon received Senator O'Farrell, the Cuban secretary of state, on board.

More New Trains on the Ann Arbor Railroad.

Now that the summer tourist season is over, it naturally follows that the night trains on the Ann Arbor R. R. must be discontinued until the summer of 1907. The travel which they have put on to accommodate has ceased. Beautiful Crystal Lake is slowly but surely losing its summer population and the big Royal Frontage hotel at Frankfort is making liberal closed doors after a most successful season. The management of the Ann Arbor R. R. hopes the time is not far distant when the thorough travel over its line will justify the operation of night trains the year around and the public may rest assured that when the demand for them manifests itself, the company will not be slow in responding.

Believing that there are many people along its line who are greatly inconvenienced through lack of Sunday passenger service, and desiring always to cater to the wishes of the public, the company has decided to try the experiment of operating Sundays, as well as week days, it through trains Nos. 1 and 4, between Toledo and Frankfort. It will change time Sunday, Sept. 23rd, after which date the above trains will run daily, and will be continued on Sunday unless the company is satisfied after a reasonable trial that there is no demand for them.

Flooding Well Districts in the Northern Peninsula of Michigan.

An extensive study of the flowing districts of Michigan has been made by the Hydrographic Branch of the United States Geological Survey and those in the eastern part of the northern peninsula are discussed in Water Supply and Irrigation Paper No. 160, recently issued. In the area discussed flowing wells are obtained from the soft surface deposits as well as from the harder and deeper rocks. In this paper, which may be obtained on application to the Director of the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., the areas in which water rises to the surface are discussed in detail and all available information is given regarding the wells reported. Not only are the outlines of the present flowing well districts given, but an attempt is made to indicate possible extensions of the areas in which water will rise to the surface. In two other reports that are to be published later in the year will be discussed the flowing well areas in the southern peninsula.

NEW FOOTBALL RULES

Provide For Much Safer Game Than Has Heretofore Been Played.

Now that high school has once more resumed its sessions and the summer vacation, the straw hat and the "chocolate" Sunday have been relegated to the attic of time, the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of football. It is expected that the high school will have a strong team this season, and if the above rules be "made good" it will not be because of a lack of interest.

Football is not going to be so "brutal" this season, as in former years. As a result of the agitation last fall for football reform, with a view of eliminating the so-called dangerous features of the game, several radical changes have been made in the rules for 1906. They were revised under the supervision of a committee of experts representing the leading colleges and universities, and among the principal rules are the following:

The officials of the game shall be a referee, two umpires and a linesman. The two halves shall be thirty minutes in length. The snapper must place the ball flat on the ground, with its long axis at right angles to the line of scrimmage.

A player to bow the line of scrimmage must have both hands or feet up to or within one foot of the ball. A player attempting to make a fair catch must signify his intention by raising his hand clearly above his head while advancing towards the ball.

Tripping and hurdling are forbidden. Regarding the taking of time, it is provided that either captain may ask for time three times during a half without a penalty.

The necessary distance to be gotten in three downs has been doubled; that is, the side in possession of the ball must gain ten yards in three downs instead of five yards, as formerly.

The kicker in trying to get a place kick from a touch-down may touch or adjust the ball in the hands of the holder, so long as the ball does not touch the ground.

A player on defense is forbidden to strike in the face with the head or hand an opponent who is carrying the ball. Not only will the offending player be disqualified, but also the offending team will be penalized half the distance to its own goal.

Tripping and latching the runner, when clearly out of bounds, piling up on a player after the referee has declared the ball dead, handling and other practices of unnecessary roughness are punishable by a fifteen-yard penalty. Tackling below the knee is punishable by a five-yard penalty.

Relating Sugar Cane.

The Marinette Engle-Star says that the machinery has arrived at Harmony for Sandy Butler's new sugar cane plant and when equipped it will be the largest cane sugar factory in the state. Only about twenty acres of sugar cane was raised this year, some of the farmers who began the experiment, giving up early, but those who continued have a fine crop which averages ten to twelve feet in height, and which, it is expected, will yield 150 to 200 tons to the acre. The plant will be ready to receive the cane September 25th. Stray pulp will be made this year, but as the industry grows, machinery to make the sugar will be put in. This is a new industry for this portion of the state and much interest is taken in this result.

Why not try the experiment in Schoolcraft county?

Ice Battle This Winter.

Another contest attempt will be made this winter to keep Great Bay open for navigation from Menominee to Lake Michigan. The Ann Arbor railway will use two steel car ferries, one now reaching completion, will endeavor to reach this part all winter. The Rockefeller built several years ago for the Ann Arbor railroad and now running between Menominee and Frankfort, will be supplemented by the No. 4, a boat still in the skidway. The No. 4 will be ready for sailing about November 1st and will immediately be put on the run to Menominee. The new boat will have a capacity of twenty-six cars, will be of steel construction throughout, and will be slightly larger than the No. 3.

These two steamers of nearly 3,000 gross tons a piece will once more make the attempt to break down the ice in the bay. The trip to Menominee will be made each day during the winter. The company believes that should the boats be able in some manner to evade the huge piles of ice, which by the wind are driven to a depth of twenty feet or more, the boats will be able to make trips with ease. The last attempt to keep navigation open with the assistance of the steamer Algonquin failed, leaving the Algonquin stuck for the winter in the middle of the bay. The increase of business has led the Ann Arbor to make another trial. In addition to the new boat just being built, the Ann Arbor has acquired another ferry. The Pere Marquette No. 16 has been purchased by the road and will be used on the run from Frankfort to Manitowish—Herault-Lander.
