Big Preparations are Being Made for the Celebration Tomorrow and the Grange Picnic Monday

STORES MAY CLOSE MONDAY

Everybody Should Attend Both Celebrations as Both Will Be Worth Attending

The committee in charge of the big Fourth of July celebration which is scheduled for tomorrow is sparing no effort or expense in making the event a pleasant one for all that will participate.

The big centennial parade in the morning promises to be the best thing ever staged in that direction here. The sports will be held on the streets during the afternoon and a good base ball game will complete the day's program.

The prizes for the various events are quite liberal and numerous entries are being made.

The program of events appeared in last week's issue, and may be found in the advertisement of the celebration in this issue.

Three bands, the Janssen, Manistique and the Harvey Stock Co's, will furnish excellent music all day. The two moving picture shows will be in operation during the day and evening, and the proprietors have secured excellent films for the occasion.

The members of Pemona Grange are making great preparations for the big picnic at Indian Lake next Monday. Prominent speakers from the state grange will be in attendance to deliver addresses, and a program of sports have been arranged by the local sports committee.

It is hoped that the farmers will attend the celebration Saturday, and it is also hoped and expected that every business man shall close his place of business Monday and attend the picnic.

The members of the Grange have issued a very cordial invitation for all to attend, and the commingling of the business men and farmers will certainly be of mutual benefit to all. Liberal prizes are offered for the centennial parade, also for industrial floats, and the best decorated automobiles and the most comical

MACCABEE MEMORIAL

The Services at the Hall, Cemetery and Church, Well Attended Sunday.

AN EXCELLENT SERMON

Delivered by Rev. E. H. Scott, in Which He Gave the Brief History of the Patriarch of Macabees.

The memorial and decoration day services of the K. O. T. M. M., L. O. T. M. M., held last Sunday afternoon were largely attended by the members of the order.

The memorial services at the hall were conducted by the ladies, and the ritualistic work which is very beautiful, was impressively rendered by them.

Rev. Hiram Ellis delivered an able address at the hall, and his remarks were very well received and appreciated by the membership.

At the conclusion of the exercises the members were formed in line and were escorted to the cemetery by the Janssen band. The procession was formed as to represent the sword of Judas Macabees, and the colors he was supposed to have worn—red, black and white, were much in evidence.

At the cemetery, squads and members accompanied with bugles, were sent to the four points of the compass to decorate the graves of the deceased members, and "mass" were conducted at each grave. After the ladies completed the decoration of the graves of the deceased members of the L. O. T. M. M. the procession was reformed, and marched to the hall where it was disbanded.

A large crowd witnessed the decoration services.

In the evening, Rev. E. H. Scott delivered an excellent sermon before the members of both societies. The sermon in question follows.

Every nation has its illustrious men—men whose fame survives long after their earthly career are ended and whose golden deeds are indelibly written on the never perishable tables of history. The names of Julius Caesar, Mark Antony, and Cicero are familiar to every school boy as the names of men who were counted great among the Romans. Greece also had her heroes among whom were Miltiades, Leonidas and Demosthenes. Germany has given to the world her share of illustrious men of whom we may men-

DAMAGED BY FIRE

The St. James Hotel Caught Fire Sunday Morning. New Part Badly Damaged

THE CAUSE UNKNOWN

Fire Department Did Good Work in Saving the Hotel.

Shortly after nine o'clock Sunday morning, an alarm of fire was sent in from the St. James hotel. The fire department made a good run but by the time it arrived flames were burning through the south wing and eating their way into the main portion of the building. Three streams were played on the building and the fire promptly extinguished, before great damage was done. It appeared that the blaze started in the baggage room over the bar room in the new wing of the building, and the cause of same is more conjecture. It is believed that crossed electrical wires, or mice caused it.

The loss is variously estimated from $600 to $3,000 and is fully covered with insurance carried by the owner in the Manistique bank.

Some damage was done to the furniture and furnishings owned by Gilbert Olson, who is conducting the hotel, and they were insured in the Ashford agency.

The south wing of the building is practically gutted, and the roof of the main building somewhat damaged. Very little damage was done to the fire in the main building, but several of the rooms are water soaked.

Chief McCullough and the department, deserve much praise for their effective work done Sunday morning and if anyone questions the ability of the local department they should be shown the St. James.

The repairs will be made as soon as the loss is adjusted.

Farm Home Burned

The farm home of Chas. Jeneron in Manistique township, opposite the home of Henry Hrasel, was burned to the ground Wednesday morning, and the household effects were also a total loss.

The fire occurred at 5:30 o'clock, and was caused from a defective chimney.

The house and contents were insured in the agency of Ed. Ashford in the sum of $1,300.

The gentlemen comprising the committee were notified of their appointment by the proper person and did not know of their appointment until the appearance of the Pioneer-Oracle. It was then too late for the committee to formulate plans, and its members wisely decided not to act. As they are among the most enterprising citizens, and always make a success of anything in which they engage, they did not care to invite failure by doing the immense amount of work necessary in the limited time remaining. Had they been promptly notified they would have done all in their power to make that particular feature a decided success. They have never shirked, and are not shirking in this respect.

WHO CARRIES YOUR FIRE INSURANCE?

The Home Insurance Co. of New York is the largest and strongest American Company.

The Home was organized in 1853. It has always paid its losses dollar for dollar. It paid over two million dollars to San Francisco policy holders at the time of the big fire.

The Home had assets Dec. 31st, 1908, of $24,856,499.05, and surplus of $13,682,821.51. A $100.00 share of stock in the Home Insurance Co. sells for $36.00 per share.

A policy in the Home costs no more than one in a weak and inexperienced company.

Suppose all stoves cost $10.00, no more, no less, you would take a steel range sooner than a sheet iron stove wouldn't you? Why not use the same common sense in buying an insurance policy.

The Big Circus.

For many seasons now, Norris & Rowe have been noted for the excellence of their trained wild animals and when the show exhibits here this year, it will be found that they have not neglected this interesting feature with their new big shows. The novelties include a troupe of force Russian bears in such acts as boxing bouts, wrestling dancing playing acrobats and juggling globes while lying prone upon their backs. Two tiny cub lions go through various stunts in much the same manner as dogs.

The show carries a larger herd of trained elephants than last year and these big pachyderms are unusually intelligent. There is a magnificent troupe of well educated dogs and pure blood Shetland ponies that make the children sit up and take notice the congress of trained sea lions will show what can be accomplished by patience and kindness; the marbling Stallions is a very attractive feature. There are also riding acts contributed by bears, goats, sheep, apes and pigs, a group consisting of a tiger, lion, leopard and panther who are driven through loops of fire; llamas, camels and dromedaries who are driven to harness, and the always exciting hippos and crocodiles in which many animals contend for supremacy. The beautiful sleek intelligent equines belonging to the bare back riders have a high school education and go through so many intricate maneuvers that it is simply impossible to chronicle them all in the limits of one newspaper article. Aside from the trained wild animal feature, is a long array of bare back riders, gymnasts, acrobats, aerial bar performers, high wire artists and bicycle experts.

Norris & Rowe should find a hearty welcome when they exhibit at Manistique, July 10th.

and prosperity still in the onward march of Alexander the Great. Judas came under his favorable eye and he made it a part of his world wide empire. After the death of Alexander, the Jews were treated with respect and honor by the King of Egypt, but in the beginning of the 2nd century, B. C. their allegiance was transferred to Syria and then began the most trying times in the history of the Jewish nation.

Although they had been in a state of servitude for many years they had been allowed to rebuild their temple and to worship the true God. But the Syrian king was a believer in the Gods of Greece and Rome and he determined to rebuild the temple in Jerusalem and make the Jews to hold drunken feasts in their honor. Indeed, some of the Jews did forsake the faith of their fathers and joined in the sports, played games and in the public theaters, joined in riotous processions and offered incense to idols. Among these was the high priest, who failed to listen to the voice of the Lord and he allowed the Syrian king into the holy of holies and aided in the desecration of the place so dear and precious to the Jews. On the great altar he burned offerings, and altar to Jupiter was placed and the flesh and blood of a hog substituted for the regular sacrifice and the breath sprinkled everywhere in the holy place. All the precious vessels that had been dedicated to the worship of Jehovah were seized and carried away for the personal enrichment of the king and the walls of the temple were thrown down.

Then followed one of the severest persecutions ever recorded. Any person who observed the Sabbath day or any other ordinance of the law of Moses was put to death in the most cruel manner; all the books of Scripture that could be found were either burned or defiled by having pictures of heathen Gods painted upon them; and the heathen priests went from place to place with a little brazen altar and images and a guard of soldiers, who were to kill every person who refused to burn incense before the idol. It was the very saddest time that the Jews had ever known, and they seemed to be no help near or far. There only hope was in the promise that God would never fail his people nor forsake his inheritance and his covenants that good would follow after them.

In going through the towns to enforce the idol worship, the officers of the king came to a little city called Modin, situated somewhere in the hills near the coast of the Mediterranean sea, not far from Joppa. There as usual they issued orders that all men of the town should meet them in the market place. Among those who assembled there were the officers of the king, the high priest, and the other inhabitants were sure to follow his example and do whatever might be demanded. The officers therefore were deceived by tempting promise to Modin this grey haired patriarch and his stalwart sons to relinquish their faith and embrace the heathen worship. But the fearless, instantly replied with loud and decisive voice: "Though all the nations that are determined to forsake their God, we will not fall away from the worship of the true God, yet I and my sons and my brothers will walk in the commandment of our fathers." As he thus spoke, an apostate Jew approached the heathen altar to offer a sacrifice thereon. This sight so inflamed the indignation of the brave old man and so aroused his patriotism and his zeal that he drew his sword and slew the faithless one. His brave sons then gathered around him and they attacked the Syrian soldiers, killed the king's commissioner and threw down the altar.

Knowing that this opposition would call forth against them a large force and that they could not hold out against the king's power, Mattathias and his sons fled with their families and they descended into some of the adjacent villages to urge upon their brethren obedience to the law of God and to promise them their help. Upon their return they made it their point to overthrow all idol altars which they found, and the enemy were never able to follow them into their secret haunts.

This wild mountain life, however, was upon the venerable Mattathias, and in a few months he one day called his sons around him to listen to his last words and from each he obtained the promise to be faithful to their righteous cause and to give their lives, if necessary for the covenant of the Lord with their fathers. Then he appointed his son, Judas, the strongest and bravest of them all to lead his brethren into battle in their year of independence. After his father's death, Judas in command of his little band, proved himself an able leader. He first met the enemy at the battle of Bethanien, where he and his brethren, trusting in God, fought against him. The troops were slain and he himself was slain and his body hallowed of Bethshan, the place where Joshua had defeated the Amorites, nearly 1300 years before. Again it was on the day so long before the right conquered and Judas gained another victory. Angry at the news of this defeat of his army the Syrian king dispatched a force of 30,000 to subdue Judas Maccabees and his little band. The followers of Judas were dismayed when they heard of this, they called their leader, courageously collected his men from all places where 1000 years before Samuel had collected the Israelites and sent them to fight against the Philistines. Great numbers of the Philistines were slain that day as they stood there and looked along the hillside to their own holy mountain and saw their brethren, they saw the huge Syrian camp towering over the hill and the days past had stood in grandeur their own golden temple, flashing and gleaming in the sunlight. And you see, they saw the huge Syrian camp towering over the hill and the days past had stood in grandeur their own golden temple, flashing and gleaming in the sunlight. And you see, they saw the huge Syrian camp towering over the hill and the days past had stood in grandeur their own golden temple, flashing and gleaming in the sunlight.

there were only 3000 warriors left to him and it was a poor result indeed. However Judas was not cut down. He reminded his little army of the help that had come to them in the past days, and he exhorted them to follow to trust in the promise of the Lord. His noble words inspired them with courage and riving them to the help of the Lord. They fought with word, sword, and spear, and with his brothers and made ready for battle.

By a masterly stratagem, Judas Maccabees, notwithstanding the superior force of his enemy, utterly defeated them and took a vast amount of arms and treasure. Following the victory, came a Sabbath day of joyous thanksgiving, when Judas and his compatriots gave praise and adoration to the Lord of Hosts. And the next day they parted the spoil, first putting aside a share for the widows and orphans and the wounded, then dividing the rest among themselves.

Other battles followed from time to time and victory came again and again to the son of Mattathias. But the saddest and at the same time the greatest day of Judas' life came when he ventured to go back into the holy city and take possession of the Temple again. Although the strongly fortified tower of Asmoneus, which the enemy stood on a ridge of Mount Moriah, overlooking the temple, Judas dared to lead his warriors up to the summit of the day on which he had, but here, instead of the glorious temple flashing with gold and wreathed with the smoke of the holy sacrifice, they found the gates broken, the walls in ruins, and the altar overgrown with grass and weeds and the altar of Jupiter upon the altar Jehovah. These warriors who had turned away after army after fight, could not bear the sight and as one man, they fell upon their faces and wept aloud. Only for a little time however did this thus give way to their grief. The bravest of them were made to keep watch against the Syrians in the tower which Judas chose out the most faithful priests to cleanse and renew the temple. New vessels of gold and silver were made from the spoils taken in battle. The work went on slowly but at last it was completed and the day on which the sons of Mattathias listened with hearts full of thanksgiving to the hymns and songs of redemption. They had their father's charge and once more the Jews worshipped the true God at Jerusalem.

Troubles however came again in after years and one day the Maccabees themselves were to be slain by an army of 20,000. As they entered the conflict Judas shouted, "For our time has come let us die manfully without brethren and let us not stain our honor." But, indeed was the battle, as hot as that waged by the 300 at Thermopylae, and the end was the same. Judas and his brave band were slain in the field, but when the fury of battle had passed, they all lay dead upon their work, however was done. Their lives were so dearly won, their spirit of freedom for their nation. Their brave exploits served the whole people to do or die in defense of the holy faith of their fathers.

To the undying zeal and persistent effort of Judas Maccabees, the Jews are indebted for the preservation of their power and religious liberty during the dark ages, in which they lived and had his brave and heroic deeds been done in any other nation God's own name, his history would have placed Judas Maccabees in the foremost rank of the heroes and martyrs of patriotism and freedom.

So the Modern Maccabees have well chosen name and legend and may they prove themselves by their devotion to God and home and country to be true worthy followers of one who is revered for his virtues as much as for his heroism.

In conclusion let me say, though it may mean much to be a Maccabee, a follower of the brave and noble Maccabees; let me say, as a minister of Jesus Christ, remind you, that it means infinitely more to be a Christian, a follower of the kind and gentle Jesus. At the name of Judas Maccabees, of whom it was said "And his memorial is blessed forever," let all right hearted be given for the service of his nation and of humanity, but at the name of Him, for whose coming the early Maccabees longed and labored to prepare the time—at the name of Jesus, the name that is above every name, let every knee bow of things in heaven and things on earth and things under the earth and let all people add the power of the name of Jesus, from whose love comes the inspiration and grace of love in human hearts for all the world; yes.

"Let every kindred every tribe On His terrestrial ball, To Him all hearts sincerely adore."
—Charm H. Lord of All."

Artemus Ward on His Own Connection With the Art.

On the occasion of Artemus Ward's professional visit to London, which occurred long before his death, J. B. Westcott, Manager of the "Punch" office, "Papers From an Adventurous Life," contains a list of the American humorist's adventures, a follow of "how" and "why" of many of the funny surprises as he lectures themselves. One that tickled the general audience was the following:

Artemus Ward Delivered Lectures before All the Crowned Heads of Europe Ever Known and Delivered the following:

"I am an expert from his lecture on 'Drawing' is quoted by Mr. Woodcock on a particularly delightful bit of wit up in art. I have an uncle who takes photographs in his name moments, and I have a servant who takes everything he can by his hands on at any moment."

"At a very tender age I could draw on wood. When I was five years old I drew a small cart load of raw turpentine over a wooden bridge. It was a raw morning and the bridge was so full of turpentine that it was very sticky. I was a raw turpentine drawing. That shows how faithfully I had drawn my uncle's boots, their attention to it, so you see I was a lot of drawing in it."

"I had a flogger, with the wonderful discernment peculiar to village boys, said I had a future before me. As I was drawing backward when I made my drawing I realized that I thought that my future must be behind me."

Hannibal in Italy.

Hannibal entered northern Italy to the year 218 B. C. and gained during the First Punic war the victories of Tremitum and Trebia, both in Cisalpine Gaul. The next year he advanced farther south and defeated the Romans at Tarentum. The year following he had having proceeded still farther south, he inflicted upon them the terrible defeat at Cannae, at which time his army of 25,000 men, of whom he himself remained for thirteen years longer, and gained no more decisive victories. He was finally driven by the authorities at Carthage, who had never given him anything like a decent support.—New York American.

THE GORDON BLEU.

At First an Order For Women Cooks Established by Louis XV.

When you hear a man speak of a "Gordon Bleu" you know he is a great cook, but few people have any idea of how and when the expression originated. The Gordon Bleu was at first an order for women cooks. It was established by a king—whichever it was a real and a legend. Louis XV. once asserted to Mme. du Barry that only men could cook really well. The famous beauty challenged the assertion, but the king insisted that it was right—that women might be all right for holding positions and performing the ordinary duties of a kitchen, but that when it came to a work of art it took a man.

Some time after the arrangement of the royal favorite invited the king to dinner. He prepared every dish; he even expressed his august approval of the menu as a whole. Then his hostess triumphantly announced to him that the entire dinner had been prepared by women. From the arrangement of the menu and the selection of the dishes to the preparation of the sauces and the cooking of the food, she named several points. Accordingly she claimed the foundation of an order of merit for women, the order of the Gordon Bleu, and the order was named after the name of the king's favorite. The order was named after the name of the king's favorite. The order was named after the name of the king's favorite.

Is it or is it not smallpox? This is the question that is causing considerable discussion at the present time. The majority of people think that there must be fatalities if the genuine article is making the rounds. There are people in the city that have had the disease who claim that the disease so designated by the local physicians, is the genuine stuff. As long as they and the physicians are agreed, it is well to heed them.

Cure Your Dandruff
Why? Because it is annoying, untidy. And mostly, because it almost invariably leads to baldness. Cure it, and save your hair. Get more, too, at the same time. All easily done with Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula. Stop this formation of dandruff!

Ayer's
Do not change the color of the hair.
Formed with each bottle.
Shine it to your hair.
Ask him about it.
This is the way to do it.
The new Ayer's Hair Vigor will certainly do this work, because, first of all, it destroys the germ which are the original cause of dandruff. Having given this aid, nature completes the cure. The scalp is restored to a perfectly healthy condition.

Mr. P. A. Larin, representing the Western Freight Traffic Association, with headquarters at Oshkosh, was in the city this week, interviewing our large shippers. This particular company file a long felt want, and by its system is in a position to save its patrons many dollars annually. By use of its service, shippers are enabled to secure the very lowest rates on consignments or invoices of freight. In addition to this feature the company also collects overcharges made in the past. All of the large shippers in Wisconsin, as well as in this section of the upper peninsula are satisfied clients of the company.

Mr. Larin, who is secretary of the company, is an attorney, and looks after the legal branch of the business, while his associates in business are experienced railroad men, and men of high standing. The average tariff sheet of a railroad, in Chicago to the busy man, and too little attention has been paid to freight rates by business men. This company attends to that matter for the shipper, and for a very moderate compensation, makes it possible for the large shipper to save very many times the cost of their service.

Health Officer's Notice.

In this state there are a number of deaths resulting from infection as the result of toy pistols and ricochet explosives. In order to give proper notice of the very great danger of such wounds and that all may be acquainted with the statutes of our own state, the act is herewith printed in full:

An act to prove it the sale and use of toy pistols. (Compiled Laws of 1897. Section 11539 11542, P. A. No. 138 of 1893.)

Section 1. That no person shall sell, give or furnish to any child under the age of thirteen years, any cartridge of any form or material, any pistol, gun, or other mechanical contrivance, especially arranged or designated for the explosion of the same.

Section 2. Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than fifty dollars, and costs of prosecution, or imprisonment in the county jail, not less than ten days nor more than ninety days, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Section 3. It shall be unlawful for any person under the age of thirteen years, to have in possession, or use any of the articles named in section one of this act.

Blank cartridge wounds offer the most ideal conditions for the development of tetanus (lock jaw) and other fatal infections. The rusty nail cannot compare for a moment with the marvellous toy pistol as a source of death.

All such wounds no matter how trivial should be thoroughly disinfected and often times cauterized, and by one who thoroughly appreciates the great dangers lurking in such unfortunates accidents. Do not depend on a little turpentine or salt pork to relieve all danger when such accidents occur.

Doctors criminally violating the provisions of the law should stand ready to co-operate in this matter by forbidding and preventing the use of toy pistols in and about their homes.

G. M. Livingston, M. D. Health Officer.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!
DANGER!!

You have heard of people getting killed on the R. R. tracks. We hear of it almost daily. It usually happens to those who are unfortunately deaf, blind or sometimes it happens to people who are perfect in every respect but they pay no attention to the signal signs and you may know the results.

The same danger signal applies to the mercantile business. The poor hard working men and women, they toil mightily hard in order to provide their families with bread to eat and a little clothes to wear. Sometimes they have to get along with less in order to exist, and still those very ones will go to the different stores and grab for the first thing they see, simply because it was marked BARGAIN. But as far as bargain is concerned it would be a big long price to take it home for nothing, because the very moment they arrive home they find out they have got nothing.

When it comes to QUALITY you will find Mose Winkelman's the proper place to buy. Mose Winkelman is now conducting one of the greatest and cleanest sales on Men's and Boys' Suits that you ever heard of. Space does not permit us to mention the qualities or quote prices, we simply advise you all good hardworking people not to waste your valuable earnings but come right down to Mose Winkelman's store and ask the clothing clerk to show you those hand tailored Suits, Pants and Shirts which the whole town is raving so much over.

Do not forget that Mose Winkelman is a person who believes in good merchandise only. Just imagine all the high grade Suits, Pants and Shirts will be sold so cheap that the word BARGAIN or SACRIFICE is no COMPARISON. Look out for the so-called BARGAIN Signals for it means DANGER. QUALITY is what you must look for and we've got it.

LEVECK-MCKERRING

The Owosso Newspapers Speak lightly of them.

The marriage of Miss Anna LeVeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. LeVeck, to Harry T. McKerring, took place at the St. Paul's Catholic church, Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Fr. P. J. Sane officiated. The wedding ceremony which was beautiful by its simplicity was attended by a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The ring service was used.

The bride looked handsome in a gown of white silk with a large picture hat and carried a white prayer book. The young couple was attended by Miss Annabel Shaban of Mt. Pleasant, who was prettily gowned in a princess. Wladimir Czepa, De Cienega with a large picture hat and carried a white prayer book, and Mr. John Downey of this city. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion. Post Main street and an elaborate four course breakfast was served to forty of the immediate relatives.

The house was handsomely and cleverly decorated with similes, roses, carnations and ribbons, the color scheme being white. From the chandeliers, in the dining room, silken was festooned and fastened to the corners of each table with a bunch of large, beautiful roses.

The bride is a charming young lady and has hosts of friends and acquaintances in this city, whom she has won by her sweet and cordial manner. She graduated from the Owosso Business College in 1905 and for the past two years has acted as bookkeeper in F. W. Pearce's store. She has lived in this city practically all of her life and is a member of the St. Paul's church.

The groom is also well known in this city and vicinity on account of his musical talent which has brought him before the public frequently. He came to this city five years ago from Durand and while a resident of this city was employed by the Ann Arbor Railroad Co., as fireman, where he showed himself a conscientious and trustworthy employee. One year ago he left this city and went to Manistique, where he is now proprietor of the Princess Theatre in that place, which has an immense Navy and Tomhawk. He is a member of the St. Paul's Catholic church, a member of the 32nd lodge of this city and of the Owosso Council Knights of Columbus.

The wedding gifts embraced a wide range of useful and beautiful articles in cut glass, silver and china, which showed the high regard in which the couple are held.

Mr. and Mrs. McKerring left Thursday for a short stay at Milwaukee, Norway and Tennessee, after which they will go to Indian Lake to spend the summer. They will keep home at their home in Manistique during the winter.

For wishes for future happiness will follow them from many friends in this city.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wierzbicki, of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Boylan, Miss Margaret LeVeck and B. E. Newell, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. T. Hyman and D. Smith, Saginaw; Fred Randolph, East Tawas and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Briggman, Flint.—Owosso Press American.

An Alteration Sale.

L. Rosenthal, who conducts a successful department store at Manistique, Mich., advertised an alteration sale in a way that should have brought July returns. Black lawn type was used to bring out the price prominently, and while the dresses were devoid of cuts, yet the arrangements were such that the dresses were attractive. The copy certainly made a strong appeal for business, and the process were reduced to figures which should have attracted the crowds.
