LARGELY ATTENDED

Mrs. Linnor Calkins Delivers Impassioned Address Before Large Audience Last Sunday Evening.

Mrs. Linnor Calkins, state president of the W. C. T. U., delivered an eloquent address before an audience that taxed the capacity of the Swedish Baptist church, the largest church edifice in the city, last Sunday evening. Rev. E. H. Scott, president, Dr. Schoemaker offered prayer, and Dr. Mitchell eloquently introduced the speaker of the evening. Mrs. Calkins devoted her remarks to the local option phase of the temperance question, and related strong arguments in its favor. She stressed that from a moral and financial standpoint, the liquor traffic was a detriment to any community, and that there was no such thing as a neutral option. She called attention to the fact that more than one-half of the total area of the United States was now "dry" territory and that in this area was constantly expanding. She expounded the idea that local option would materially increase the tax rate of any community and proved from the narratives of business men in "dry" communities that they enjoyed a material increase of business after the saloons were banished, and that each for the necessities and luxuries of life was more plentiful.

She interpreted her address with pathetic incidents that have come to her notice during her long and active experience as a reformer. At the conclusion of the service, a local branch of the W. C. T. U. was organized by the selection of Mrs. John Little as temporary president, and Miss Edith Fuller as temporary secretary.

Features of the service were the singing of the Swedish Baptist choir and the solo by Miss Lindgren.

Some of the telling points she made follow:

"She took as her text the famous saying of ex-President Roosevelt: 'All I ask is a square deal from every man.'"

"The saloon business is bad and the saloon keeper himself admits it is bad," said Mrs. Calkins. "Throughout the state you will find the large majority of the liquor men willing to get out of the business, provided they could find another business equally lucrative, it is giving the public a square deal to foster a business which is universally recognized as intrinsically bad."

"The license system has proved a failure as a solution of the temperance question, as an orderly saloon, conducted strictly within the law, cannot thrive. This was proven by the failure of Joseph Pater's saloon in New York, which was closed after a year, it being found that its disorderly element and the partly inebriated customers, were the source of profit in the business."

"The right of personal liberty, which is argued by the liquor forces, is not mentioned in the constitution of the United States through every citizen is guaranteed religious and civil liberty. Personal liberty is subject to the general good."

"The argument that the abolition of saloons raises taxes and ruins business is not borne out by the facts. In Kalamazoo county, it has been proven that it cost more to produce society from the product of the saloons than was realized from the license money. In the city of Hattie Creek, which is the largest dry town in the state, the total license in 1900 since May 1, when the saloons went out of business, and there is an indication that it will be necessary to raise the tax rate. One grocerman told me that he had voted to retain the saloons, but that he now realized his mistake, as his profits had increased $500 in the two months following their banishment from the city. You will find the residents of the city well satisfied with the results of local option, and the same is true of every other place where it has been given a fair chance."

DOES GREAT SHOOTING

Capt. Percy Patterson Wins Three Places at Camp Perry.

The week closed at Camp Perry with two days' practice by the team under the auspices of the regular army in preparation for the big national team match which opened Monday August 27.

During the past week the average scores made at all ranges was far above anything ever known in the country and the men representing the Wolverine state have shown more improvement than any others on the map at the longer ranges. Five of the Michigan team came in for prize money. Captain Patterson, the Six won three places and Captain Howard, Lieutenant Conboy, Sergeant Lucas and Private Miller one each.

Captain Percy Patterson was seen in the department of the lakes individual championship with a score of 315 out of 350. But for an error he would have won the match. At 1,000 yards he fired his shot for record on the wrong target, making a bullseye, but being credited with a miss. The next nine shots were bullseyes, making 5 out of 50 at the longest range with this miss. The match was won by Major Benedict of Ohio, who was a member of the team of 1900, and who won the year and won the world's championship.
