GENSUS RETURNS

Manistique Has 4,722, a Gain of about 600 in Ten Years.

This office has received the complete statistics from the census bureau, and while the figures for the city of Manistique are a little disappointing, yet the city gained about 600 in population during the past decade. The county's population is 8,681 as compared to 7,889 ten years ago.

Being to the fact that there have been so many changes in the composition of the various townships of the county during the past ten years, and the fact that two townships, Mueller and Cusino, have been formed, it is practically impossible to make a correct comparison of the present figures and those of ten years ago in the various townships.

Sney has lost in population materially. Ten years ago it had 554 inhabitants, and now 126 are reported. Its present population is 753 as compared to 654 ten years previous.

Notwithstanding the fact that a portion of Gernafak township was in creating the township of Mueller, it shows a remarkable growth. Its present population is 594 as compared to 319 ten years ago.

Doyle township shows a loss, its present population being 521 as compared to 750 ten years ago. Manistique township is another township that shows a substantial growth as its present population is 439 as compared to 302 ten years ago.

Inwood township has materially decreased as its present population is 374 as compared to 678 ten years ago. This is in part accounted for by reason of the fact that the Cleveland Cliff Co., operated a large camp in that township ten years ago which at the present time is all but gone.

The detailed statement of the townships, and wards of the city follow:

- Cusino township—293
- Doyle township—524
- Gernafak township—604
- Hawatha township—668
- Inwood township—374
- First Ward 777
- Second Ward 1103
- Third Ward 1554
- Fourth Ward 1289
- Manistique township 499
- Mueller township 318
- Sney township—126
- Thompson township—753

The comparisons of the census of 1890, 1900 and 1910 show that the city and county had a substantial growth. In 1890 the county had 5,818; in 1900 it had 7,082 and in 1910 it had 8,681 inhabitants. The growth of the city has shown really a greater proportion of increase. The figures for the three decades being: 2,910; 4,125 and 4,722 respectively.

In citing the growth of the various townships the fact that Hawatha township shows the greatest percentage of increase was overlooked. Its present population is 563 as compared to 284 ten years ago. The operations conducted by the South Side Lumber Co. in that township assisted materially in swelling the increase.

Upon the whole the returns are fairly satisfactory, and shows steady growth.

WAS DROWNED

Hubert Olmstead of Sac Bay, Meets Death Monday.

Hubert Olmstead of Sac Bay was drowned in the vicinity of Fayette at a late hour last Monday night. It appears that the unfortunate man and a companion attended a dance at Fayette that night, coming on a launch which they anchored at the edge of the ice field that partially floated the bay. As they reached the boat, Olmstead broke through the ice and went down. It is believed that he came up under the ice, as he was a good swimmer, and could have saved himself had he been given an opportunity. The body was recovered Tuesday afternoon, and a funeral was held at Sac Bay this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The deceased was very popular in the Little Bay de Noquet town and his death is sincerely regretted.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCauley of this city, left Wednesday morning for Sac Bay to attend the funeral. Mrs. McCauley is a sister of the deceased.

Farm for Sale.

40 acres nearly half cleared the other half with timber, team of horses and outfit. Unequaled chance for new business. If interested come and see for yourself, only four miles out of town.

THE PRIZE PAPERS

Read Before Recent Session of Pomona Grange

Our aim has ever been to make our home the most enjoyable place for its members and with this in view, we should spare no pains or expense to achieve that end.

Speaking from experience, I can say that every hour and every dollar expended in making the home more attractive and comfortable is thus an money well spent.

How often we hear farmers remark that they would make such and such changes or repairs around the house if they only had the time, but it takes all their time to make a living and they can not see where these improvements would bring them in anything.

Stores of farmers are telling that from one week end to another they are to own more stock or more land, or to increase the bank account, while the home and surroundings are allowed to go unimproved.

The wife and mother must feel increasingly and deny herself every luxury and even many of the real necessities in order to save, or lay by for old age.

Of course all of these things are good and proper to think of, but we should stop and consider that it is easy to over do the matter and that so doing, many of us are cheating or robbing out of the present blessings, which some little comforts and pleasures would bring into our lives.

Surely the giver of all good things intended us to enjoy life, there is no need in working so hard or ceaselessly, without rest or comfort, for the chances are that by so doing we shorten our days on earth, so that we may never live to see the beautiful old age which we have labored and hoped for.

Arrange your work so that you can have a half a day each week to call your own. Take time to get acquainted with your family and show that you have an interest in your children and their pleasures.

Besides all the comforts and pleasures to be derived from such a plan keeping the home in order will improve your place a more proper appearance and add dollars to its cash value in the estimation of prospective buyers in case you desire to sell, but best of all it renders home life on the farm more attractive. It keeps your children from straying into paths that are not good. There are hundreds of little inopportunities of adding to the attractiveness of the farm, even when you haven't the means for more elaborate improvements.

Mrs. Fred Graham.

Well, all of you farmers that have fruit trees on your farms, are you going to spray them this spring? If not, why? Is it because you do not believe in these new chemical notions, haven't time, or do you think they do just as well as they can?

Right now is the time to stop and consider, and if you wish to save your trees and have your apples free from scabs and worms, spray now.

Speaking from experience, I can say that every hour and every dollar expended in making the home more attractive and comfortable is thus an money well spent.

IT GROWS HAIR

Here are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Revell's "Hair Tonic" has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in most of these cases were the hair roots dead, but had the scalp taken on a glazed shiny appearance.

Revell's "Hair Tonic" acts sensitively, restores the pores which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not cause or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Revell's "Hair Tonic" and try it. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formally we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, A. S. Putnam & Co.

HAD A HISTORY

The Late LeRoy Payne Was Once a Millionaire Chicago Horseman.

Speaking of the late LeRoy Payne, whose death at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Mueller, of Blaney was chronicled in the Pioneer-Tribune of last week, the Chicago Record-Herald of Saturday, had the following to say:

LeRoy Payne will be buried today, and the dignified figure, the hatted silk hat and the frosted drizzle coat of "the only with a history" will be seen no more in the streets of the loop.

Horseman to the last, Payne, who once did the most extensive livestock business in the West and was reported a millionaire at the height of his prosperity died "in the harness." Little a fatal illness got its grip on the old man a week ago he made his livelihood on the box of the one that remained to him of the hundreds he once owned, hauling "furniture" that he once could have bought and sold. Payne's "stand" was near Orchestra Hall, in the city of which his stables the biggest in Chicago once stood.

Sensing the nearness of death after a hard winter in the open, Payne arranged to go to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frances E. Mueller, at Blaney, Mich. He lodged down his horse in the boarding stable, where for years he had made his headquarters, and published the ancient call for the last time. Then, with a farewell word to the men in the barn, many of whom had been in his employ, he turned away from the city where he had risen and fallen.

Weakened by disease and disconcerted and deprived of the stimulus of the daily battle of the streets, Payne faded rapidly. In the delirium that preceded his death he often forgot the losses that had crumpled his fortune and spoke in the voice of authority that was his when he was playing a losing part in the emergencies at the world's fair. And again more humbly, he would even the monotonously repeated words that were the key note of his last years: "Only, dirt! Only, dirt!"

Business depression after the world's fair resulted in Payne's loss of fortune. He had bought or leased large tracts of unimproved real estate, only to lose them during the panic.

In his last days he was a familiar figure on the boulevards and drove the finest equipages in the city. It was Payne who started the "fancy rig" craze that made Chicago avenues famous in the days when the automobile was still a dream. He was a personal friend of President Harrison and of many United States senators.

Patrons of Payne's "one cab service", remember him as a kindly, shabby old "caddy" who never complained and never overcharged.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Revall's "Orisettes" which are odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Revall's Orisettes are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience. Unlike other preparations for this purpose, they do not create a habit but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, enthralling and harsh pills, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c, and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, A. S. Putnam & Co.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Have you cleaned your back yard?
An old job dropped into this office this week and wanted to sell us a 10 cent book of poetry. We wouldn't give anything for a cord of poetry.

No faithful, honest and efficient public servant is getting too large a salary. But the salaries in some cases are too large for the kind of men holding the job.

In every town there is a fellow of whom the neighbor says: "He has sold that his so many times that he now believes it himself." For every town has its famous liar and some have two or three.

The great "emotionalist" Representative Straich is being mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination two years hence. If he should secure the nomination on the Republican ticket, a yellow dog on the Democratic ticket could defeat him.

Remember that Governor Osborn has fixed May 2nd as Arbor day. Every citizen of Manistique should plant at least one tree or shrub on the day in question, and he should also clean up his premises.

Before the county road commissioners get down to work they should make a trip to Menominee or some other nearby county that is building roads under county commissioner plan, and secure pointers on the work. A day spent with the commissioners of another county and its engineer, would be worth many times the cost to the county. Supervisor Nadeau's brother is one of the commissioners of Menominee county, and he went to Menominee to secure data from that source, which he will cheerfully impart to the commissioners of this county. While this information will materially assist the commissioners yet a personal meeting would be more desirable.

In this issue appears a detailed statement of the population of Schoolcraft county as shown by the recent census. While it shows a normal growth yet it hardly satisfies for Manistique should have exceeded the 5000 mark. The decadence of the lumber industry shows its effects on some of the townships to a great degree and it is considered that the county as a whole has taken an advanced step it is certainly gratifying. To show that the decadence of the lumber industry has its effects on population, it is unnecessary to mention the fact that Thompson had 981 inhabitants in 1880 as compared to 753 twenty years later. Inwood township also shows a loss of nearly 100 per cent. This shows that if Schoolcraft county did not increase in population during the next decade that agriculture must be fostered, for there will be a little doing in lumbering ten years hence. The formation of the Upper Peninsula Development association came at the opportune time. Hundreds of farmers will be added to the county's population as the direct result of the activities of the association. That the county is "on the job" is proven by the fact that $80,000.00 is to be expended in the improvement of the county roads. Schoolcraft county will take the greatest strides in its history during the next decade. Watch Manistique grow to be a city of 10,000 before 1920.

Jim Russell is to bring action against the Detroit Journal for libel, and it is stated that the amount is so large that if the warden secures what he is asking for he will own the paper. Here's hoping that he will place secure control of the Journal and that he will place in charge of it a man that is not likely to resort to damnable misrepresentation in order to strike at the governor over the shoulders of one of his friends. The owner of the Detroit Journal is a bitter foe of Governor Russell. It is an incident but is being used in the general plan to get at the governor.

The point politicians that are really behind the furor being raised to discredit Warden Russell, and to embarrass the governor, should be sentenced to 250 lashes each, and the famous paddle we have recently heard so much about should be used. The warden should supervise the work. It has been ascertained that Warden Russell found it necessary to paddle just nineteen men since he has been warden and when you take into consideration the fact that he has had thousands of hardened criminals to deal with in the case are that certain Detroit newspapers almost died of broken hearts when Chase S. Osborn was nominated for the governorship. They were persistently nagged him ever since. The prime motif behind the fight on Russell is an opportunity to embarrass the governor. Osborn is conversant with conditions at Marquette, is a personal friend of the warden, and has frankly stated his position in the matter. He will not remove Warden Russell or the board of control. Political chicanery and hysterical women cannot awe the governor from his determination to stand pat. When men serving time for cutting the throats of children, defy prison authorities and attempt to break the rules of the institution, they must be made to feel that the rules must be respected. Even if they should be padded in order to make that impression, lasting, who could justify critics prison authorities for considering them.

People allow sentimentality to overshadow their better judgment in matters of this kind. Men that cut throats of women and children and are guilty of unmentionable crimes, are not the sort of men that comprise Sunday School classes. In fact they are the very worst of the criminal classes. When a prisoner arrives at Marquette, he is given a talk by the warden who acquaints him with the rules of the institution and informs him that it is up to the prisoner himself as to what sort of treatment he shall receive. If he obeys the rules of the institution, and disobeys the admonitions of the authorities, then drastic measures are taken. Politicians at Marquette and Detroit are responsible for the racket, and it can be said that every member of the legislature from the upper peninsula voted for the majority report of the investigating committee except Jensen of Escanaba. Jensen's attitude has created a furor in Delta county, and his action is being severely criticized by the newspapers of that county.

The present legislature will go down in Michigan history as having done less for the people than any other legislature in the history of the state. During the campaign many promises were made. The Republican party in its platform urged many reforms. Notwithstanding all this, the legislature, while it was strongly Republican in its make up, deliberately refused to deliver the goods in very many cases. It is up to the people of Michigan to elect Governor Osborn, and to the members of the legislature that will do their duty as lawmakers. No one has had the temerity to accuse Osborn of idleness. He frankly and freely expressed himself during the two campaigns he made, and immediately after taking the oath of office, recommended and urged the passage of measures to bring about the reforms favored. The legislature lamely failed to support the Governor, and ignored the platform pledges. Osborn must have a second term, for the people legislature will have scores of new faces, for the next election. In this connection we desire to add that the members of the senate and house from the upper peninsula, did all in their power to assist Governor Osborn.

DIAGNOSING A JOKE.

It Seemed Easy at First, but the Gass Prevailed in the End.

The name of the author of the following story is better known for wit than prose. However, here is what C. E. Kiser perpetrated at a convention of American humorists:

Paw and maw were sitting in the sitting room of one evening, and pretty soon paw began to talk.

"What's wrong?" maw ut.

"This is one of the best jokes I ever saw," paw says.

"Lissen and I'll read it to you: 'Over is the mistake of a doctor no as bid as that of a dentist?' Do you know?" paw ut.

"No," maw told him.

"Heed," paw says, "one fills his ear and the other fills his ar."

"How do they do that?" maw ut.

"Heed they made a mistake," paw answered.

"Which does?" maw says.

"Both of them," paw told her.

"That's why the mistake of a doctor is more frequent than that of a dentist?" maw ut.

"Why not?" says maw.

"A dentist only fills his fist," paw told her, "and the dentist fills his ar."

"I don't understand about the feat," maw ut.

"Why does he fill his fist with them and What does he fill them with?" Paw began to look kind of glossy out of his eyes, and he told the joke again to himself so he would be sure he didn't make any mistake.

Then he says:

"Why, you see, if a doctor would make a mistake it will be fatal, and so he would fill his fist with earth, so he would fill the mistake of a doctor about six feet tall, you see."

"I don't see much to laugh at about such a joke," maw told him.

"It will be a man at all, or he will be a fool," maw ut.

"Oh, well," paw says, "just pretend He would be a six footer so as to make it come in with the ar."

"Why do they want to do that?" maw ut.

"That's the joke," paw says.

"Which is?" maw told him.

"The ar," paw ut.

"Where are they any joke about that?" maw ut.

"The dentist fills his fist with earth, but he didn't seem to be very sorry about it," maw ut.

"Yes," maw says, "but you red that be made a mistake."

"Don't you know what an ar is?" paw ut.

"A tooth that you fill in an ar, and they have arns of ground."

"But where does the mistake come in?" maw ut.

"Why, he fills the ar with earth," maw ut.

"Why, he fills the ar with earth and looking around like he is trying to see if the arns are all cut off."

"Well, then, how would he fill his ar?" maw ut.

"If the arns are all cut off he is the rone one and dumber ar?" maw ut.

"Then paw got up and tore the arns out of his ar and threw them in the wast basket and sed:

"They are in use trying to bring any sunshine into this family. Let's get out the arns. The arns are the joke was a fool and the one that printed it was a rone one. I'm not going to rone either one of them by unjust suspicions. Nobody didn't try to tell it to a woman."

Slipper Day in Holland.

There is a curious festival called Slipper day in the Netherlands in the early in the year in which a Dutch woman claims superiority over her husband. On that day she rises him to her heart's content and finally slily chaps good humorously enough that, unless she is one of those that are not unknown in Holland or in any other country who desire to complete rule over their unhappy partners throughout the year.

The officers of the U. P. Development Bureau are progressive business men. They work without pay and are devoting their best efforts towards making our great upper peninsula a garden spot and a great manufacturing center, to do this they must have the cooperation of all. If the movement is to be successful, ask every citizen in Schoolcraft county to help the good work along.

BREVITIES

The Masquarico Sisters which are closing the week at the Princess Theatre, are pleasing the patrons of that popular institution. They are first class singers and dancers, and have a personality that pleases. A full house greeted them last evening, and S. R. O. sign will be evident during the remainder of their stay.

The grocery stores of this city sell on an average of from $100 to $500 of flour and grain, each, every month and out a pound of this raised in Schoolcraft county. A shame isn't it? The U. P. Development proposes to remedy this by bringing in farmers who can supply us with hay and grain.

Its up to you. Have you the welfare of the city and county enough at heart to become a member of the U. P. Development Bureau? It costs but one dollar and this dollar is spent for advertising what we have to offer to new citizens, not for salaries officers as some are paid.

Have you become a member of the U. P. Development Bureau? Possibly Messrs. People, Novilla, or Ashford have not called on you as yet, if not do not wait but look them up and join. The dollar you pay in may be the one that pays for the advertising that will bring some big industry to Manistique. Take the chance.

The executive committee of the Upper Peninsula Development Association will hold a meeting at Marquette on April 27th. Schoolcraft county has thus far made but little progress in securing the $1000 apportioned to the county. At least 500 men in the county should be willing to pay $1 which entitles him to membership. The matter will be closed June 1st and it is hoped that on that date the county will not be found behind in its apportionment.

IT'S NEW GOWN.

It Was Comfortable Even if It Didn't Hang Just Right.

Mrs. Amanda Jones, who possesses the artistry of a very high dress, is as cautious as a fly of the hold as to her attire. She has seen, being worn from head to toe, from the watchful eyes of her family, who selected and purchased an evening gown for her and wore it on several occasions with great comfort and satisfaction. Shortly after her return to her home she was invited to a reception and decided that it would be a good opportunity to wear her self-selected gown. Accordingly she put it on and presented herself complacently for family inspection.

"What is the matter with your dress?" asked her sister, who has been critically. "It hangs up in the most singular way in the back and seems to be too long in the front."

"I've always thought it looked very nice," said Miss Jones, with an air of emphasis.

"Well it doesn't fit," exclaimed the sister, still examining the garment attentively. "Is that the way you're always worn?" was the next question, uttered in a despairing tone.

"Yes, of course. How else could I wear it?" was the response. "And it is so comfortable, with plenty of room in the back for my slender shapely ankles, and I like a gown to lasten in front. Why, what's the matter?" she her sister covered her face with her hands and sat down abruptly. "Do you see anything wrong with it?"

"No, no, no," said her sister, shaking her head. "Only, you know, you've been wearing it hind part before."—New York Press.

Who Owns the Falkland Islands?

Few people are aware to this day that the Falkland Islands are marked in all maps and newspapers as "unlawfully retained by Great Britain."

The origin of the dispute was that England after abandoning the islands in 1774 resumed possession in 1820. The Argentine government protested, and as A. Stuart Tomblin points out in his book on the country, it is even today "careful to do nothing which could even apparently recognize the rights of the present possessor." It was for that reason that it decided a proposal a few years ago to run a line of Argentine ships to the islands.
