SAID FAREWELL

Large Audience Attended Union Meeting at First Baptist Church Sunday Evening.

Last Sunday evening, a union meeting of the various churches of the city was held at the First Baptist church to hear the farewell remarks of Dr. Schoemaker of the church in question, and Rev. Jacob Peterson of the Swedish Baptist church, who has resigned their charges here and during the current week, have gone to their respective new fields of labor. The capacity of the commodious church was tested by the large and representative audience present.

While Dr. Schoemaker took a text, yet his remarks were more in the nature of an address than a sermon. He spoke eloquently as to his usual custom, and for that reason only a resume of what he said can be given, and that follows:

The theme chosen was "Laborers together with God," based on the text I Cor. 3:9.

In his introduction Dr. Schoemaker emphasized the fact that every Christian is daily preaching, and that the sermon which finds their expression in life are stronger and more effective than those preached by words. Men and women, boys and girls, as well as the pastor may be, and are, "living epistles" daily ministering the word of life to those among whom they live.

These fundamental principles included in the text were emphasized by the preacher. Every Christian needs to be a laborer with Christ. This is not merely a duty but a great privilege. This need and opportunity for life is essential and independent of whether the place of the laborer is one of prominence or apparently humble and insignificant.

Christian work is essential to Christian growth, and brings with it a blessing by transforming the Christian life into the likeness of Christ. As well as respect to God, it is essential with-out food and exercise as to be strong spiritual. Christian work of some kind is essential to the Christian.

A CERTAINTY

That Manistique will Add Another Industry to Its List Practically Assured.

The sentiment from the lower peninsula, that is contemplating erecting a maple drying mill in Manistique, made the city another visit Tuesday, for the purpose of conferring with a representative of the Soo Line freight department relative to freight rates on finished and raw material. The conference was fairly satisfactory, and while little differences may have to be ironed out, yet it is certain that the matter of rates will not hold up the deal.

The gentleman in question is more than pleased with local conditions and was desirous of taking a thirty day option on a site that suited him. His factory will give employment to at least sixty men.

There is plenty of the timber the concern wishes in the territory contiguous to the city, and shipping facilities are unexcelled.

The activity of the Commercial club is bearing fruit, and that a second and third factory can be secured more easily than the initial one is a conceded fact.

Watch Manistique grow.

TO MOVE HOTEL

The St. James Hotel to be Moved Opposite Falk's Store.

Tuesday of this week, P. J. McNamara purchased an additional tract of land from the Consolidated Lumber Co. next to where the Majestic saloon is located, and it is his intention to move the St. James hotel to the site in question before spring. A Milwaukee concern has been employed to move the building.

The new site will be a desirable one for the hotel. It is at present located remote from the trend of traffic, and during the past year or two has not been a lucrative venture for the owner.

For rent the second story of the house occupied by Jack Nelson on Oak street. Five large rooms. Good location and house in good repair. For particulars inquire at residence of Patrick Quinlan corner Oak and Lake streets.

For Sale.

Two milk cows and one calf, are cow freshened Dec. 6th. For further particulars call at this office 2t.

Cut Flowers.

Narcissus, 75 cents per dozen. Carnations, 85 cents per dozen. Fred Greenwood, 2t.

Narrow Escape.

Olo Hough had a narrow escape Saturday night when a lamp in his bed room fell to the floor and ignited the furnishings of his bedroom. His son returned from work at midnight and found the bedroom his father was occupying in flames. He assisted his father in smothering the blaze, and the father received severe burns about the hands as a result.

THE RECEPTION

Large Numbers Attended the Reception Given Dr. and Mrs. Schcemaker and Rev. Peterson

Large numbers attended the reception held at the First Baptist church last Friday evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Schoemaker and Rev. Peterson.

In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Schoemaker, Rev. Jacob Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Quick and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Owen, the latter gentlemen being deacons of the congregation.

During the evening Mr. Quick presided in behalf of the membership and attendees, a liberal purse to Mr. Schoemaker, and Mrs. Schoemaker was given a pearl brooch.

The evening was informally spent, and refreshments were served.

TUBERCULIN TEST

Was Made by White Marble Lime Co. on Herd of Holsteins, With Satisfactory Result.

Dr. Sailer and Mr. French, the latter a M. A. C. man, who is in charge of the Marblehead farm for the White Marble Lime Co., made a tuberculin test upon the twenty nine cows comprising the herd, and found but one cow affected with tuberculosis. The cow was at once segregated, and the state authorities notified. They will order her disposition, and will pay the company a sum not exceeding $37.50. In this connection it may be interesting to our readers to learn that the cow in question was purchased in this county, while the remainder of the herd, which is pronounced in the best of health, was shipped into the county. It also shows that for the safety of the community that persons owning dairies should comply with the law and have their cows examined also. There is no question but that milk from tubercular cows is being sold in Manistique, for many herds are not given the admirable care that the Marblehead farm herd is given.

The White Marble Lime Co. have decided to test their herd semi-annually, and some move should be made to compel all owners of cattle, supplying the public with milk, to follow the example set by this company.

'CASTE'
A remarkable adaptation of the world-famous comedy. Our fathers & grandfathers loved this story of the aristocracy's intolerance for those of lowly birth. A beautiful example of mother love is one of the gripping elements of this picture.

Gathered round the kitchen fire after the day's work is done, these peasants, fresh from their rough labor in the fields and vineyards, sit with each other in reciting poetry and telling stories. Generally both are extemporaneous, and often they have a good deal of poetic grace and imagination. The gift of reciting improvised poetry is not, however, confined to the peasants in Tuscarora. I know of an instance that occurred in my own neighborhood not so very long ago that certainly could not have occurred anywhere but in Tuscarora. A local doctor was driving to catch a train at a station a few miles from me, and on his way he was accosted by a colleague who happened to be looking about his garden wall. The colleague shouted a line of improvised verse to him, upon which the other instantly pulled up his horse and cupped the line with another. Doctor No 2 responded, and for three hours the poetic contest was continued without cessation. In the mean time the whole of the village had turned out to listen and to make wagers on which would be the first to lack an inspiration. It was only as dusk came on that doctor No 1 remembered that he was on his way to catch a train! Whether a patient was expecting him I know not, but I feel convinced that such a detail would not have been allowed to interfere with this war of verses. It is interesting to see that even the illiterate peasants delight at once the slightest departure from the form in which the original lines are set and consider the offender to have lost the match.	Skill. Son in golf enthusiast—You must acknowledge father, that it requires a great deal of skill to drive a ball a hundred yards. Old Farmer Shuckel it don't require half as much skill as it does to drive a pig fifty feet. Bos ton Transcript. Very Proper. Hewitt—He always stings at his work Jewett. What is his business? Hewitt—He is in a grand open company. New York Times. The Oyster. The oyster is a very ancient institution and a most honorable one. From the immemorial poets have sung of him and orators have dwelt upon his charms. Juvenal, the most illustrious of all satirists, collyered the literary chorus of the relics of Trojan and Haurian with his comments on the oyster, and the comments were not without effect, but warmly commended story. The oyster, the true cosmopolitan is found pretty nearly everywhere and was the delight of the world for ages upon ages before the man from Gessen found the shores of America—New York American. Where the Poets Worked. The sixth grade of a certain school in a foreign settlement in one of our cities was learning the use of possessives. The book required the pupils to correct and expand into a complete sentence the following expression: "Milton and Shakespeare's works." Joseph Shelden, in this sentence—"Milton and Shakespeare work in a coal mine."
