THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICES.

Were Held Last Evening at M. E. Church, and Rev. P. R. Leach of the First Baptist Church, Preached Excellent Sermon.

The annual union Thanksgiving services were held at the Methodist church last evening, and the attendance was large. Rev. P. R. Leach of the First Baptist church, delivered the sermon, and the other ministers of the city, participated in the opening exercises.

A synopsis of the sermon follows: Rev. Leach's theme was "What Makes a Nation Great?" The speaker said, the United States alone among the nations of the world has a Thanksgiving Day, when its people are requested by its Chief Executive to gather in the various places of public worship and give thanks unto God. The custom originated with the Pilgrim Fathers, and has been continued with interruptions from that day to this. Since the Civil war the day has been observed each year. There is special reason for the observance of this day the present, as we are at peace with all the nations of the world, while cruel and devastating war is blighting the nations across the waters. Our harvests have been abundant and general prosperity abounds.

On these occasions public speakers are given to emphasize the greatness of our nation, and as evidence point to material things. Our text tells us a nation is great which seeks God, does righteous acts and delights in serving God. That is not the standard we have generally used to determine greatness. We have been in the habit of calling a nation great, which has the largest crops; the longest bridges; the biggest mines of coal and iron; the largest number of railroads. We say the United States is the greatest nation because we lead all other nations in these things. Would a nation, I ask, be great without these things? If we possess them and had no character would we still be a great nation? If we were void of honor, national justice, great men and religion, would we have a right to call this the greatest of all nations? Is the individual great, who has material wealth, but does not use his fellowman; prints the poor and selfishly hoards his money? If he is not entitled to greatness, then why call a nation great, which does not show these higher traits? Russia has her immense field of grain and her huge standing army, but she would not be called a great nation. She is not great, because she does little for her people; scarcely little, if any freedom, of speech or worship. (Continued on Page Eight.)

WAS UNIQUE OBSERVANCE OF THANKSGIVING.

The Pupils of the Kindergarten Departments of Central and Lakeside Schools Celebrated.

The children of the Central annex kindergarten department were the guests of the Lakeside Kindergarten Wednesday afternoon. The Lakeside pupils were "Paritians," and were fitted out with suitable caps by the teacher, Miss Prigler, while Miss Short of the Central school busked her pupils as Indians. Some are in tersely describing the Puritians of old said, that as soon as they landed on the inhospitable shores of New England, they fell on their knees, and then fell on the Aborigines. This did not occur when the Puritians and Indians met Wednesday afternoon.

The children had the very best kind of a time, and some of the grown-ups were present to enjoy the fun also. The Lakeside children furnished suitable refreshments. Events such as these, are red-letter days in the school life of the children participating, and they weave a bond of friendship between school teachers and children that is wholesome and sincere.

LOST HUNTERS ARE FOUND.

Two Members of the Newton Hunting Party Found After Being Lost Three Days.

Messrs. Geo. Mellen and George Huntington, retired business men of Ann Arbor, who are members of Senator Newton's hunting party, located between Seney and Grand Marais, who were lost three days, were found Wednesday afternoon in an abandoned shack twelve miles from the Newton headquarters, and nine miles west of Grand Marais, by Joseph Carrigan and Neo. Ollia of Grand Marais, who will receive $500 each for finding the men.

Mellen and Huntington left the camp on Monday morning. When they did not return on Monday night in the driving storm that developed, the fears of their companions were aroused. A search was instituted by the club members and the work was kept up through Tuesday without avail. On Wednesday a reward of $1,000 for the finding of the lost men was offered by the club. Game wardens were summoned by State Game Warden Oates from all quarters of the peninsula. Citizens of Marquette, Manistique and the district about Seney joined in an organized search for the two men. Carrigan and Ollia were among the party of men to go out from Grand Marais early Wednesday afternoon they discovered the nearly famished men in an old shack nine miles west of Grand Marais. They had discovered the shack during the night of their first wandering in the woods and had remained there confident that a search would be instituted and they would be found. During the three days all the food the men had was a few sandwiches that were carried by them in their packs when they left camp. They were taken to Grand Marais and were driven to their camp.

Many of the party of which Mellen and Huntington were members came north several weeks ago. Mellen and another Ann Arbor man, W. W. Wadhams, arrived a week ago last Sunday. The party besides the former Senator hunting men, Senator Charles E. Townsend, Father Frank Kennedy of Ypsilanti; Dr. George Hull, Ypsilanti; W. W. Wadhams and Phil Munacher, Ann Arbor; John S. Gentry, brick manufacturer, of William Palmer, of Jackson and William Thurst, of Detroit.

The Newton camp is one of the most elaborated the upper peninsula. The cabin itself cost nearly $5,000 and it fitted out with all modern conveniences, even a telephone. A keep stays there the year around.

RED CROSS CHRISTIAN SEALS

Every Package Sent Out As Well As Letters, Should be Decorated With Them.

The Ladies present in the sale of Red Cross Christmas stamps will canvass the city in a few days for the sale of the stamps, and it is hoped that every pen will purchase and use them. They are sold in denominations of one cent, and therefore no one can refuse to make a purchase. The proceeds of the sale of stamps is used in combatting the dread disease, tuberculosis, and the money thus secured to be the means of saving life or allaying suffering.

This season of the year is a propitious time for selling these stamps. As Christmas approaches one feels surcharged with good cheer. The world seems lighter just now than at any other time, and the spirit that prompts one to kindly acts and to brighten the lives of others, surges through one's veins unless he is a "Scrooge."

Why not, to decorate your gift parcels with these stamps, and thereby prove to the recipient that you are willing and anxious to do your part toward making this old world of ours a happier and happier place in which to reside.

You can help the Anti-Tuberculosis Society without cost to yourself. See Winkelman's advertisement.

LEHIGH WRECKED ON PORTAGE REEF.

Was Laden With Iron Ore, and Was Enroute from Escanaba to Boyne City Accident Occurred Friday Night.

The steamer Lehigh, laden with 2,000 tons of iron ore, enroute from Escanaba to Boyne City, struck Portage Reef at midnight last Friday night, during a snowstorm and gale. The boat began to break up and for a time the crew, consisting of eighteen men, was in a precarious condition. The boat commenced to fill, and the cabin was smashed, and the two yawl boats were lost. The crew were taken off the wreck by the Patrick Chesoy, a fishing tug of Fairport Tuesday morning, and brought to this city.

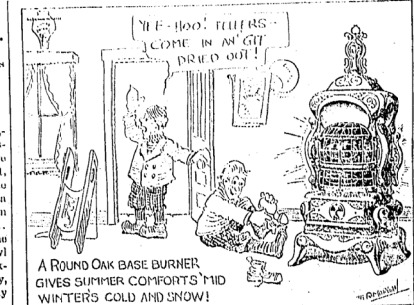

The Lehigh was an old boat, owned by Harry Morrison of Cleveland, and was in charge of Captain N. E. Hostwick. Mr. Hostwick is an experienced mariner, and the gale and blinding snowstorm that prevailed that night was wholly responsible for the disaster.

The wrecking tug Manistique of the Reid Wrecking company, with the representatives of the underwriters, went to the scene of the wreck Wednesday. It is believed that the boat and cargo is a total loss.

Again it is demonstrated that men sailing the Great Lakes in November, take their lives in their hands, for the wintry gales that sweep over them make navigation very uncertain. That Captain Hostwick and his crew were saved is a matter of congratulation.

BAZAAR AND BAKE SALE.

The Methodist ladies will hold a bazaar and bake sale in the K. of P. hall, Saturday, Dec. 5. They will have for sale, aprons, caps, slippers, handkerchiefs, bags, towels and many other articles which will make dainty Christmas gifts. A Japanese booth containing Japanese art goods will be a feature of the bazaar. You can also buy cake, pie bread, buns and many other good things to eat. Don't forget the date, Saturday, Dec. 5, 1914.

EVADING THE ARMY FORTY YEARS AGO.

Leo M. Geismar's Estate in Germany Held for Pirce—He May Get It Back.

The Marquette Mining Journal publishes the following interesting account of now Professor Leo M. Geismar, left Europe, which will be read with interest by his many friends in Schoolcraft county. It follows:

Leo M. Geismar, Houghton county farmer agent, has a claim against the German government. The claim is forty years old and Mr. Geismar does not really believe that it ever will be allowed. But he has a slight hope. The story of the claim and the events leading up to it is interesting.

Mr. Geismar is an Alsatian, a native of one of the provinces lost to France through the Franco-Prussian war, which was concluded in 1870 by the peace of Paris. Mr. Geismar was a youth when his native province became the captive of the bow and spear of Bismarck, but did not submit tamely to the Prussian yoke. Here is the way he lost his inheritance:

Citizens Given an Option. After the treaty of Paris, signed in March, 1870, which assigned Alsace and Lorraine to Germany, the German government issued a proclamation, giving the citizens of these provinces the option of remaining French citizens or becoming citizens of Germany. A large number of Alsatians refused to accept German citizenship, and when the six months' period of the option expired they were relieved to leave the provinces. Remaining would mean that they accepted German citizenship.

Mr. Geismar is an Alsatian, a main French, and they left for Paris. But they found that they could not dispose of their property, a home and farm at Colmar, and Mr. Geismar's mother, who had in the meantime become the head of the family, returned to Colmar to make her home there. Mr. Geismar remained in Paris for four years. He was then twenty-one years of age and a citizen of France and he decided to go back to Colmar to visit his mother.

Fearing that his French citizenship would not save him from the operation of the German compulsory military service law, Mr. Geismar went home at night, leaving the train at the border nine miles across the country. But he learned the first thing next morning that he was liable to be impressed into the German army, and he posted lookouts at the outskirts of the village. He soon learned that his visit was known to the German officers and that a squad was seeking him. He hid in a hay-stack all day and managed to get out of the country that night and he has not seen his native Alsace since.

His Estate Is Fined. The German government imposed a fine of Mr. Geismar's share of the family estate, one-third being his portion. As he would have to pay that fine if he ever returned to Colmar to claim his inheritance, he has permitted the claim to lie in abeyance, but he believes that there is a German law outlawing such fines after thirty years and he intends, after the close of the present war, to make a claim for his inheritance. During the years that he has passed the estate grew in value, but as there has been a battle or two near Colmar during the present war Mr. Geismar is not certain that the estate has retained that accrued value.

Appears to Be a German. Mr. Geismar is commonly looked upon as a German, because of his speech, but he is of French blood and his native tongue is French. He explains that the reason he has now a suspicion of the German in his speech is that he learned his English after coming to the United States in 1875 with a German family.

Mr. Geismar gained his technical agricultural education in the French government's agricultural school in his native town of Colmar. He has followed scientific agriculture ever since. Eight years after coming to the United States he homesteaded 160 acres in Ontonagon county and he operated this farm until 1899, when the state established the experiment station at Chatham in Alger county and put him at its head. He remained in that position till the Houghton County Farm bureau procured his services.

RAPS SOCIETY IN SCHOOLS.

Believes that "Society Functions" Are Menace to Progress in Public Schools.

Fred L. Keeler, superintendent of public instruction, is on the warpath after "society" affairs connected with high schools, and ones outside of schools that keep the boy and the girl up late at nights. In his latest bulletin for the newspapers, Mr. Keeler says his respects to the custom and in addition to his bulletin, in private conversation, intimates that all affairs of a "society" nature should be barred.

"Too Much Money Spent."

"Too much time and money are given to these so-called 'society' conditions in and about the high schools," says Mr. Keeler. "Tango parties, bridge parties and in fact parties of any kind are not conducive to good work on the part of either boys or girls. This statement, of course, does not apply to all, but unfortunately, the condition obtains to a remarkable degree. 'How can a boy or girl be up in his or her studies when the demands of the society affairs make midnight hours necessary?' The next day the brain is bound to be loggy; its thinking about those sweet nothings that were whispered the night before. Thoughts are not upon the day's work, but upon the gowns a rival wore the evening before."

Condition Is Serious. "In some of the smaller cities of Michigan the matter has assumed proportions that are startling. A boy takes a girl to a party and spends three or four dollars on flowers, candy, etc. He cannot afford it and he has to spend some of the time he should be devoting to school study in an effort to earn the money to meet the girls in some cases I have heard of really think it necessary to change their gowns twice a day in order to be correct! Who benefits? Certainly not the children who are in school to get an education. Certainly not the citizens of these provinces who turn out boys and girls who can make their own way in the world, and which does not expect them to take a degree in society and frivolity."

Some Society Necessary. "Under proper restrictions, there should be some society connected with the high schools. But the way these affairs are managed and the frequency with which they occur is by no means conducive to good school work and good citizenship."

LIME AND ITS USE IN AGRICULTURE.

The use of lime as a fertilizer dates from the inception of modern scientific farming. Agricultural chemists have shown that there are five or six different functions which lime may perform on the land, and they may be summarized briefly as follows:

1. It is an essential element of plant food.
2. It aids in the conversion of decaying organic matter into humus.
3. It forms compounds with the various acids which tend to prevent their being leached out of the soil and lost.
4. By producing proper sanitary conditions the growth of injurious bacteria is largely prevented, while the growth of silencing bacteria is encouraged. These nitrifying bacteria convert the nitrogen of the humus into such a form that it is available as a plant food.
5. Lime aids in the liberation of potash and phosphorus from inert compounds.
6. It tends to flocculate clay soils, rendering them granular and more porous.

Obviously, permanent results cannot be expected unless care is taken to insure the presence of some organic fertilizer at all times. Lime used alone may be temporarily beneficial but will eventually be harmful; when used with cowpea vines it becomes more efficient for other purposes than almost any other fertilizer. Of course, lime is not beneficial to all crops to the same extent, and not all soils need lime. Thus, some of the common plants which are stated by the Department of Agriculture to be benefited by lime are cotton, lettuce, beets, celery, onion, cucumber, tomato, asparagus, cabbage, peanut, radish, pea, pumpkin, bean, tobacco, alfalfa, clover, barley, wheat, oats, timothy, gooseberry, currant, orange, quince and cherry. Indian corn is only slightly benefited.

Plants which are said to be slightly injured by lime are cotton, tomato, corn, concord grape, peach, apple and pear, and those really injured are radish, flax, blackberry, black raspberry and cranberry.

Whether a soil will respond to liming or not depends on the amount of available calcium oxide which it already contains. Probably the best indication of the need of lime is the failure to obtain a good crop of clover.

The question whether lime should be applied to soil as quicklime, hydrated lime, air-slaked lime, or ground limestone is still the subject of a great deal of controversy. The advocates of ground limestone claim that the caustic properties of quicklime or hydrated lime burn up and destroy the organic matter in the soil, whereas ground limestone can be applied in large quantities at long intervals and will therefore produce a more or less permanent fertility. The advocates of lime claim that one of the main functions which lime has to perform is the destruction of the organic matter in the soil, and the liberation of the nitrogen in such a form that the plant can use it; that the frequent and judicious use of lime, together with some organic fertilizer, will bring immediate results. Of course the local conditions of each particular case must be considered before a final conclusion can be reached. Thus, it is rational to use quicklime on soils which are exceedingly rich in organic matter, such as peaty or swampy soils. Limestone is safer than quicklime when applied just before planting a crop which is little helped by liming, or when applied to a light sandy soil in hot, dry weather.

UPPER PENINSULA GRANGE SUGGESTS LEGISLATION.

Cleveland Grange Association Opposes Tonnage Tax, Wants Farm Bureau Initiative and a State Market Commission.

Prof. Leo M. Geismar, delegate from the Houghton county Grange to a meeting of the Cleveland Grange association at Escanaba, returned from that city yesterday noon. He reported that the association had passed resolutions favoring the following general subjects:

- Opposition to the tonnage tax on copper and iron.
- Creation of a state market commission.
- Initiative law to compel boards of supervisors to levy taxes in support of farm bureaus.
- Retention of the experimental character of the upper peninsula experimental station at Chatham.

Stand on the Tonnage Tax. The association resolution on the tonnage tax is addressed to the state legislature and the other resolutions. It puts the upper peninsula granges on record as opposing the tonnage tax on iron and copper. The only man at the meeting who strongly favored the tax was F. L. Baldwin of Escanaba, secretary of the association and editor of the Escanaba Journal. He said that for the upper peninsula granges to attempt to dictate to the state legislature was like the tail trying to wag the dog. Prof. Geismar, leading the opposition, denied this. He said that the opposition is to the executive committee of the grange, which framed this sectional bill after it was instructed to frame a state wide bill, one that would put a tax on all the minerals in the state.

Farm Bureau Initiative. The resolution touching farm bureau's asks the state grange farm bill for the state legislature, which will provide that when 25 per cent of the people of the county ask it the board of supervisors must submit to the people the question of levying a tax for the support of a farm bureau.

Some boards of supervisors in the state have refused to extend support to farm bureaus in spite of the fact that the state law permits them to do so. The proposed bill if passed will put the question directly up to the people.

The state market commission resolution asks for a law that will create a commission having control of the methods of marketing farm produce in the state. It will be based on a similar law of New York, which has no standardized New York apples. For example, that they are not Michigan apples for higher prices than Michigan apples, though of no better quality, simply because buyers know that New York produce must be of the quality that is paid for.

Chatham Experimental Station. The association had received complaint from the farmers in all sections of the peninsula that the Upper Peninsula Experiment station at Chatham is not receiving the support for which it was established. Instead of being conducted as an experiment station it merely is a demonstration farm, something that is no better than a number of similar farms conducted by private interests. The conducted by private interests. The association therefore asks that the state grange association protest against this to the legislature to the end that the experiment station purpose of the farm may be continued.

THE OLD DOCTORS LOSS AROUSED HIS IRE WELCOME As signs of rain "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew to a man who wants the chew that comforts. Ripe, mellow, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough. Get a pouch—and learn for yourself how much better it satisfies. Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco—Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. The test is not how fast and evenly the real tobacco tests come, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few shavers you are to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. It is a ready chew, not too hard and short and so that you can keep it with your teeth. Chewing on ordinary tobacco makes you spit too much. The tests of pure tobacco will need to be covered up with quick and honest. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut." STRONG DRINK IS BANISHED BY CZAR'S DECREE.

Not a Drop of Alcoholic Beverages Obtainable in Huge Empire Covering One-Sixth of the Habitable Globe and Populated by 150,000,000 People.

There is prohibition in Russia to-day, prohibition which means that not a drop of vodka, whiskey, brandy, gin or any other strong liquor is obtainable from one end of the enormous territory populated by one hundred and fifty million people and covering one-sixth of the habitable globe.

The story of how strong drink has been utterly banished from the Russian empire was related today to the Associated Press by Michael Demitro- vitch Tchelitcheff, the man directly responsible for putting an end to Russia's green vice.

It should be said that the word prohibition in Russia must be taken literally. It means that a vast population that consumed one billion dollars' worth of vodka a year, a habit which when ordinary conditions themselves as ranging from a slight degree of stimulation upward, has now been elevated from a drunken inertia to sobriety.

The nation has been compelled virtually overnight to abstain from its enormous daily consumption of vodka, a liquor that is almost pure alcohol, and become abstinence to the extent of letting no liquor pass its lips.

On the day when the mobilization of the Russian army began, special policemen visited every public place, checked up the supply of the liquor and placed on the shops the imperial seal. Since the manufacture and sale of vodka is a government monopoly in Russia, it is not a difficult thing to enforce prohibition. From the day this step was taken, drunkenness vanished in Russia. The results are seen at work in the penitentiary; already they are beginning to look like a different race.

In Petrograd and Moscow, the effect of these improved conditions is fairly startling. On holidays in these two cities inebriates always filled the police stations, and often they lay about on the sidewalks and even in the streets. Things are so different today that unattended women may now pass at night through districts that were formerly where it was formerly dangerous even for men.

UPPER PENINSULA NOTES.

Frank O. Mayotte has been appointed deputy revenue collector for eleven counties in the upper peninsula, succeeding John R. MacDonald of Hubbell, incumbent for the last sixteen years. Mr. Mayotte resigns as claim agent of the Houghton County Traction company to assume the duties of the collectorship.

The Lake Angeline mine at Ishpeming, which has been exhausted, has paid its owners dividends aggregating twelve million dollars during the time it was in operation. It was opened in 1864, and has been operated continuously until the winter. A small force of miners is working part time at the present and all the ore will be raised before next spring when the mine will be abandoned. At one time it employed 700 men.

That a fight with a wounded deer ended in the death of David Gibson was revealed when the body of the hunter was found last Tuesday in Sawyer Lake, near Antigo. Gibson was out hunting with his brother on Monday and succeeded in wounding a large deer, which took to the lake. Although it was almost dark, Gibson plunged into the lake in an attempt to take the wounded animal. His brother heard him call for help, but before he was able to find him in the dark he had been killed in a struggle with the deer.

The office of the Posten, at Ishpeming, was gutted by fire last week. Oiled rags in a box caused the blaze. The loss is estimated at more than $4,000, with an insurance of one-half that amount.

Walker Angus, who evidently was given the "twilight treatment" at a Singleton saloon, laid down to sleep on the South Shore tracks east of that town last week, and was struck by a train. He was taken to the Munising hospital where he died. He is survived by a wife and four children.

John Huhta, who confessed last summer that he assisted in the killing of Thomas Duley and the Jane boys, at Painesville in the copper country, has been given a change of venue. He was found guilty Saturday. He not only confessed, but took the blame to a point near the boarding house where the three men were murdered. They slept and picked up a number of empty cartridges that fitted the gun. Notwithstanding his confession, he made a vigorous fight for acquittal, under the tutorage of Congressman MacDonald.

Newberry is to have a Chautauqua next summer, thanks to the public spirit of its business men.

Owing to the heavy snowfall a lumber on the L'Anse-au-Loup river, and will be compelled to abandon their camp equipment, and hike from twelve or eleven miles to reach the railroad.

Iron county will vote on local option next spring, as the "drys" have secured the requisite number of signatures to the petitions. No trouble was experienced in securing the names and two hundred more than were required. Perhaps the numerous names in Pat O'Brien's bill were responsible for the dry sentiment thereabouts.

Eight bodies were found today on the shores of Lake Superior, about thirty miles from Grand Marais. Two of the dead are women. It is thought they came from the lumber barge Anna M. Peterson which left Baraga on Wednesday afternoon in tow of the steamer C. F. Curtis, loaded with lumber for Tanawanda, N. Y.

The large logs that have been wrecked in the gale which swept Lake Superior yesterday and last night. The Anna M. Peterson was 120 feet long and her gross tonnage was 331. Both barge and steamer are owned by the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago. No details of the wreck have been reached here. The bodies have been sent to Grand Marais, Mich., for identification.

That alfalfa can be grown with success in the upper peninsula is demonstrated by the fact that a third crop has been obtained by Walter S. Prescott, proprietor of the Roycroft farm, at Sidway. The third crop is of as high grade as the first two crops.

After sustaining an injury to his arm while hunting in the woods near Carroll a week ago Sunday Carl Holmsen died from tetanus which followed the injury. The boy's elbow was torn to pieces by the discharge of his own gun. He was alone and walked several miles home unaided.

Patrick Kelleher the hunter who dropped dead at the door of his hunting camp near Laketon last week was one of a party of nine Detroiters who were hunting in this county. Death was due to organic heart disease.

D. N. McLeod the Garnet lumberman who was in town this week states he will operate a full crew of men in the woods this winter notwithstanding the depression in the lumber market. Mr. McLeod is confident that business conditions will improve greatly during the next few months and with the abundance of labor he will save a tidy sum by operating this winter.—Newberry News.

Vanadium, of paramount importance in the manufacture of the toughest and hardest steel, has been discovered on the Lake Superior shore, 35 miles northwest of L'Anse according to authentic reports. If this is true, the discovery will be of the greatest importance to the steel industry of the United States, especially if there is a large quantity of the metal. Practically all of the vanadium used in this country is imported from Sweden and a few other European countries.

John Hedlund, aged 21 years, of Metrolinton, sustained a broken neck in the woods near Metrolinton. A falling tree struck him. He was brought to the Swedish hospital of this city where he died in a short time.

Francis York Weldon, as his name was found in a Moose membership book in the city recently and began the disposition of a small quantity of jewelry, rings, pins, and spectacles. Francis forgot to take out a peddler's license from the city clerk previous to offering it for sale and is now in jail for 15 days.—Escanaba Morning Press.

Mrs. C. B. Saxby of Hancock, who is spending a few days in the Huron Mountain district, is the first copper country woman to kill a deer this season. Mrs. Saxby bagged a good sized doe. She is a sister of Mrs. C. W. Danton, of this city.

WAR STAMP TAX DEC. 1.

The government stamp tax which will go into effect Dec. 1, 1914, will affect nearly every important business transaction. The stamp tax measure recently passed by Congress. This part of the law requires that revenue stamps be affixed to almost every instrument in writing of any importance. Some instruments require more stamps than others. The following list shows the amounts ne-

- 17. The law further provides that no deed or other instrument in writing shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds until the proper revenue stamps are affixed to such deed or other instrument.

A PROCLAMATION.
By the Governor.

When often speak of inalienable rights among which are "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." Liberty and happiness will follow if we put the emphasis on life. For centuries man has sought happiness and ignored the essentials of life, attributing to Providence physical suffering and death. Why not attribute physical vigor and the joy of good health to Providence?

The ravages of the "White Plague" are appalling. Hardly a family in Michigan, hardly a family in the United States that has not suffered directly or indirectly from this plague.

Cleanliness in birth, cleanliness in person, cleanliness in the use of air, water, food, clothing, shelter, work, thought and purpose make for goodliness.

Teach and train all of the people to think less of physical sins; teach and train all of the people to think and know more of the laws of health. The industrial world is fast coming to appreciate the tremendous value of all sanitary agencies. The right of all sanitary agencies. The right of an industry to exist rests on the necessity of converting life, rest on the necessity of enriching life physically, mentally and morally. Physical righteousness exalteth a nation. Therefore, I Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor of the State of Michigan, urge the observance of Sunday, November, the 29th, as Tuberculosis Day. Given under my hand and the great seal of the State of Michigan, this eighteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the Commonwealth of the seventy-eighth WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS, Governor.

WITNESSED BATTLE BETWEEN THREE DEER.

J. L. Judson and Ell Ashland Saw Fight of a Kind But Few Persons Have Ever Seen.

One morning last week J. L. Judson of this city and Ell Ashland, one of Delta county's best known hunters, started out to cruise some land on the Beaver branch. Mr. Ashland carried his rifle, while Mr. Judson had a shot gun. About twenty minutes after they left camp they witnessed a battle royal between three big buck deer. Mr. Judson says he has seen many fights between different kinds of dumb animals, but that he never saw any of them fight so viciously as these deer did. After watching the battle for several minutes Mr. Ashland shot one of the deer through the head, he dropped in his tracks. The other deer were so interested in the fight that they did not hear the report of the rifle, but they thought it was their fighting that had made the dead one fall, and they began stamping about with their front feet. Mr. Ashland then shot a second one of them and he fell dead across the first one. Doing a careful hunter, and with a due regard for the law, Mr. Ashland did not try to shoot the third deer as he ran away after the second was shot to this city. They weighed, dressed, about 276 pounds each.—Escanaba Journal.

RUMMAGE SALE.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society to Profit Through Generosity of Mose Winkelman.

In this issue Mose Winkelman is advertising a sale for tomorrow, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, whereby the local anti-tuberculosis society shall profit. The society in question will receive a percentage of sales made on the days in question, and members of the society shall be in attendance.

It is hoped that through the generosity and thoughtfulness of Mr. Winkelman, that the society shall secure a snug sum. The cause is a worthy one, and Mr. Winkelman deserves praise for showing a desire to assist the worthy cause. Read 's advertisement for full particulars.

EMPLOYEES RECEIVED TURKEYS.

Manager Bowers of the Northwestern Lumber Co., as has been his custom for years, presented every one of his married employes with a turkey for Thanksgiving, and every single man received a dollar. The company in question has been singularly free from labor troubles since Mr. Bowers has been manager, and few if any employers of labor enjoy the esteem of their employes to the same extent as Mr. Bowers does. This is remarkable for his employes are in great part made up with men that are not even conversant with the English language.

BREVITIES.

Miss Helen Arnold of Escanaba, was the guest of Manistique friends Wednesday, Thursday and today.

Hattie Murray of the Northern Life Insurance Co., was in the city this week on business.

Mrs. E. P. Chamberlain and son, left Monday for Chicago, where they will remain for an indefinite period.

Mrs. Fred Griffin left for Kansas Wednesday having received a telegram announcing the critical illness of her father.

Miss McKenroe of the teaching force, left Wednesday evening for Ishpeming, where she will spend the Thanksgiving holiday.

Yesterday was an ideal Thanksgiving day. Sunshine prevailed all day, the air was balmy, and the ground free of snow. It remained one of a May day.

Hulha, the self confessed assassin, hailing from the copper country, and who was tried at Marquette, has been given a life sentence by Judge Phelan.

Schoolcraft county has been given a clean bill of health by the state authorities as far as the foot and mouth disease is concerned, for which the average resident is duly thankful.

Mr. Leon Winkelman left for Wausau, Wis., Wednesday evening where he will visit his uncle during the Thanksgiving vacation. Enroute home he will also visit Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weisman at Rhineland.

The canvassing board of this senatorial district, which is comprised of the various clerks of the counties in the district, will convene at Monmouth next Monday to canvass the vote. County Clerk Forsnar will attend the meeting.

The St. Ignace Enterprise celebrated its twenty-first birthday this week. Under the management of Clyde Hooc it is more of a factor than ever, and as it is the only Democratic newspaper in the peninsula, it and its editor are enjoying abnormal prosperity during these Democratic times.

Miss Rosella Thatcher of Escanaba and Mr. George Owen Bloomer of Louisville, Ky., were married at Escanaba yesterday afternoon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Thatcher. Mr. Thatcher is well known in local Masonic circles, as it is a conceded fact that the "couple's" work seems incomplete and tame without his presence.

BREVITIES.

Gottfred Johnson returned from St. Paul Monday.

Wm. Justin of Blaney, was in the city Monday.

W. A. LeDuc called upon the lead today Tuesday.

H. C. Hudson of Escanaba, was in the city Sunday.

F. J. Johnson of Blaney, was in the city Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. LaCroix of Hunts Spar, were in the city Sunday.

Gludstone is to have free delivery service commencing with March 1, 1915.

Lloyd McGregor of Newberry, attended the Stanley McGregor funeral Wednesday.

Next Sunday is Tuberculosis Sunday, and will no doubt appropriately be observed.

Miss Evelyn Ross who is teaching at Ironwood, is spending the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross.

The Kitchikippi club held a dance at Castello hall Wednesday evening. It was a delightful affair, and all report a good time.

Assistant Postmaster Renell returned from his two weeks vacation Saturday. He spent the time at Ann Arbor and Detroit.

Bill DeHut was one of the few local hunters that secured a deer. He and County Clerk Forsnar appear to be the lucky ones.

The Daily Mirror of Escanaba is to have improved service. It will hereafter have a news service equal to that of the Marquette Mining Journal or Houghton Mining Gazette. This will place the Mirror in the front rank of upper peninsula journalism, and should materially increase its Manistique circulation.

Government Inspector Nathl Examined Suspected Cases Reported, and Gives Clean Bill of Health.

Dr. C. A. Smith, connected with the government, was in the city Wednesday and examined the cattle reported to be suffering from a foot disease, and promptly reported that the cattle were not suffering from the dreaded foot and mouth disease. He stated that Dr. McPhail's diagnosis of the disease was correct, and congratulates the county on being free from the disease that is certainly such havoc in portions of the lower peninsula.

Last week the Pioneer-Tribune received a communication relative to the diseased cattle in question. The letter was promptly forwarded to the proper authorities, and the investigation by Dr. Smith followed. The foot and mouth disease, therefore, has not secured a foothold in the upper peninsula thus far, and all indications point to the fact that it will remain free, owing to the drastic precautions being taken by the state and federal authorities to prevent its spread.

Dear Reader: Are you one of those easy marks who get stung for one of those photo enlargements that cost you from seven to fourteen dollars? This story has come to me from many different people during the last month, who gave their photo to some smooth duck, who made them believe that they might get a photo enlargement for nothing, by drawing a coupon, and the man that delivered the enlargement forced you to pay an unreasonable price or his attorney would collect for same. This picture is made oval, so that you are led to believe that it can't be framed in town.

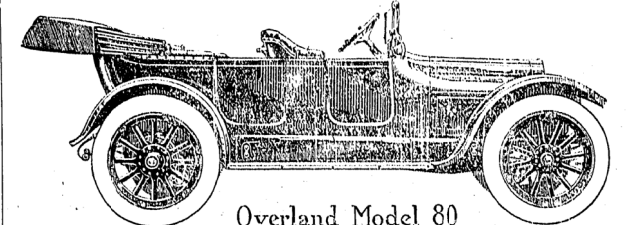

Dear people, why do you give these agents your work when I can do it for about one-half the price you pay outside man and I assure you of a No. 1 work or you don't need to take the enlargement. The next time an agent comes to you, tell him "No," that you intend to patronize your home photographer, when you are ready to have your photo enlarged.

The home photographer buys heavy taxes, and helps to build up the community. Patronize home trade.

FORMER MANISTIQUEAN TO MANUFACTURE MOVING PICTURE MACHINE.

Another new invention in LaComer is a new improved moving picture machine, which Mr. W. A. King, proprietor of the Acme Motion Picture Theater, has evolved in his fertile brain. If his efforts are successful, it will practically revolutionize the moving picture business and make a fortune for Mr. King and his partner Mr. Clemons.

The object of the new machine is to present the picture optically, not mechanically; also to absolutely eliminate the flickering so common in all moving pictures generally throughout the world.

Mr. King first conceived the idea about five years ago, but did no experimental work until about 2 years ago.

A Mail reporter dropped into the Keystone Machine Works Tuesday afternoon where the model is, and in the course of an interview Mr. King said:

"The object of all moving picture men; also of all people frequenting a moving picture show is to see a clear picture absolutely without flickering possibly. This is what this machine is designed for and will do when perfected. They depend on their similarity of motion for their efficiency on persistency of vision. That is to say, the scene in one part of the film is completely shut off from view while it is changed from one scene to another.

FORMER MANISTIQUEAN TO MANUFACTURE MOVING PICTURE MACHINE.

The pictures may be taken of machinery in swift motion or anything else that is revolving rapidly in space, and they can be placed on this machine and slowed down so that every movement or operation can be thoroughly analyzed. That would be in the way of educational work or along educational lines. The regular pictures are taken at the rate of 16 a second, but in military maneuvers, such as gun practice, etc., is worked up to a speed of 1,000 a second or as fast as the camera and sensitized film will work. On this machine those pictures taken at high speed can be slowed down so as to show a projectile from one of the big guns which had been taken at the rate of 1,000 exposures a second, to 3 exposures a second, which would give it the appearance of a snail crawling along and give a person ample time to see the pictures in all its various details."

"This alternate dark and light periods is what causes the flickering in all machines. That main feature is what we propose to absolutely eliminate with this new machine.

"The new machine, through the medium of reflection, will project pictures from a constantly moving film at a rate of from 3 to 60 scenes or pictures a second, absolutely without a flicker. The mechanism is so arranged, to bring about a condition whereby eye view is thrown on a screen and the next or succeeding one is descriptive right into the preceding one in exact proportion as one diminishes the other brightens, and there is no shutter employed whatever, and consequently there could be no flicker, for the light is constant all the time.

"The advantages of this machine outside of this particular feature just alluded to, would be too numerous to shows no great sense of love or justice. On the other hand we call Switzerland a great nation, yet she is small, but she does much for her people and can boast of a fine educational system. No nation can be called great, which does not care for her people. China for the above reasons is not entitled to be called a great nation. We all agree that Scotland is a great nation, because she has given great men to the world.

A nation is great not because of her railroads, her wheat fields, her army and navy, but because she cares for her people; sees that every citizen has economic justice and an opportunity to work for all living wage. The question is have we a just social order; are we building the right sort of character; have we a healthy, happy society; are we producing the highest type of manhood, that fears nothing but baseness and wrong doing; dares to face great issues and solve them; thinks for self; is vigorous and clean in heart and practices justice. The United States has a chance to do these very things, and so become truly a great nation.

A nation is great that teaches the world some great truth. No one would call Turkey a great nation, even though she might have many miles of railroads; but little Greece has been crowned herself with glory, though she has no great mines or wealth. We will be entitled to be called great, when we give the world great and important truths. The idea of brotherhood is a principle worth more to the world than its mere wealth from its fields and mines. To have felt the power of this idea would have saved Europe the present war.

A nation is great that dares trust in justice rather than in force. A nation has been called great in proportion as it has had a large army and could beat other nations in force and be able to say, "touch me if you dare." There are two ways of defending a nation. One is by armies and guns, the other way is to be just in all ones dealings; to exercise such righteousness and good will that no nation will want to attack such a people. The latter is the coming way; it is the burden of the gospel. No lasting kingdom can be built on mere force. The unseen things, good will and justice, are eternal. Force and power can be overcome by force and power. The nation that rests on the sword will perish by the sword. There are signs that the nations of the world are sick unto death of the old way. The burden was becoming unbearable. Great Britain orders two battle ships, and that stirs Germany to build four; whereupon Great Britain builds six, and such tries to outbid the other. This is the program of all the nations. It is a suicidal and unchristian way of doing things. The resources which should go to build a nation; which should be used to fight vice, disease and poverty go into battle ships. Nor does it bring the security the nations seek. It breeds ill will and hatred. The world has tried force for three thousand years and it has failed. Can we not believe that nations will dare to trust to justice for security rather than force? Secretary Bryan at a Peace Conference well said, "If this nation announced to the world that it would not spend its money in getting ready for wars that ought never to come; that it would rather try to prevent the coming of war; that, as it did not intend to go out as a burglar it would not equip itself with burglar tools; that it had faith in the good intent of other people, and that it expected other people to have faith in its good intentions, do you think our nation would suffer for that?" Our influence has not depended in the past upon power, but just principles. In China's troubles she put her faith in our country. In the two Hague Conferences it was admitted that the United States exercised the greatest influence and that when she spoke the nations listened and respected her. Our greatness has not consisted in our great guns, and the time is drawing near when all the nations will see what really constitutes greatness.

Once more as some one has justly said a nation is great when it practices the new patriotism. Patriotism has always been associated with war and momentary great lives for his country. Shall we as a nation be the first to learn this? That nation which leads other nations into this new order will be called great. The new order is in the air. The burden of our nation is too great.
As a nation we are stunted so we can well lead in this new order. When we do other nations will follow our lead. The time is ripe for the leading of our swords into plowshares. Special privilege must give way to democracy. No nation can longer be called great that kills, destroys and conquers.
There are indications that we are becoming a great nation. This above all else should lead us as a nation to be thankful, not to boastful. Our mission is to serve not only self but humanity as well and want. It is our duty to give to the world not only our flour and clothing, but show them justice, mercy, love and truth. If the present world conditions shall teach us to do this then this Thanksgiving we will be called our best Thanksgiving.

MCGREGOR FUNERAL HELD WEDNESDAY.

The Remains of Stanley McGregor Were Laid to Rest Wednesday Afternoon.

The Stanley McGregor funeral was held from the home of his mother, Mrs. Edwin Cookson Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Mitchell of the Presbyterian church officiating. The services were largely attended.

The remains arrived in the city from the Philippine Islands on Monday morning, and were in such a condition as to preclude viewing. Their condition proved that the government authorities in the Philippines are certainly very careful in the care of bodies prepared for shipment, that the matter should be taken up with either the president or the war department.

It will be remembered that Stanley, who was in the hospital service of the government at the Philippines, lost his life in September while bathing in the bay. The remains were buried by his comrades, and later disinterred at the request of his mother, and shipped to the United States, arriving here as stated above.

WHY CAPT. COFFEY IS SO POPULAR WITH HIS MEN

Courtesy and Kindly Treatment Makes Captain of Fishing Fleet Liked.

Captain Coffey, of Manistique, who has fished extensively out of Manistique for years, has made himself very popular with his men through his honesty, kindly and considerate treatment of them. As an example the following story is related:
About two weeks ago the Osceola and Tuxbury went ashore at Epoufette. Both boats were heavily loaded with lumber. When the Osceola and Tuxbury arrived at the dock load of lumber removed from the Tuxbury to the steamer Robert Holland.
Removing the lumber caused the Tuxbury to come off the beach and the Holland then started for Manistique with the Tuxbury in tow. Shortly after getting started a heavy snow came up and the Tuxbury broke away from the Holland. The Holland finally lost sight of the Tuxbury and was unable to get track of her.
In the meantime two of Captain Coffey's small fishing tugs came along and picked up the Tuxbury and towed her to Manistique. The insurance adjuster realizing that Captain Coffey could hold the Tuxbury for salvage, offered him $1,000 cash if he would release the Tuxbury of all claims. Captain Coffey agreed. He accepted $1,000 and immediately divided it share and share alike with the members of the crews of his two tugs—Cheboygan Tribune.

LOCAL MEN RECEIVED CONTRACT

Messrs. Danielson and Eriksen Will Erect Peoples Store Building.

Messrs. Fridolf Danielson and Harry Eriksen received the contract for erecting the mammoth Peoples store building, last Monday morning, at which time the bids for the work were opened. Five bids had been filed by local contractors, and contractors from the Soo and Houghton.
The foundation, which was set separately, is completed, and Messrs. Danielson and Eriksen will at once commence the work of erection.
The building when completed will cost between $35,000 and $40,000, and

Why It is Best to Buy Your Jewelry at Home

BECAUSE in buying jewelry your only safeguard is the knowledge and reputation of the seller. The mail order man knows nothing of the goods; the jeweler knows all about them. The mail order man wants to make a sale; the jeweler wants to make a customer.
BECAUSE in this store you can see the goods before buying, compare styles and prices, ask questions and buy intelligently. All this is denied you in long distance purchasing.
BECAUSE a watch, for instance, sent by mail or express always needs regulating, and sometimes repairing. The risk and expense are all yours. A watch bought from us will be in perfect condition and regulated free of charge; a ring bought from us will have the setting examined free of charge and its security touched for.
BECAUSE if your purchase should prove unsatisfactory there is here to make good; when the mail-order gift is unsatisfactory there is no time to have the article replaced or exchanged.
BECAUSE we can send quite as cheaply as the mail-order house, all things considered. Come in and we will convince you.
BECAUSE it is patriotic AND TO YOUR INTEREST to deal with your local merchants, keeping the money in circulation right here, making a better home market, and aiding those who aid the community. Money sent to a mail-order house is like money paid to a circus—it is lost to our town for ever.
