FINE COMPLIMENT GIVEN M. H. S. GRIER

High School Publication Is Splendid Example Small Newspaper

"Quill and Scroll, official magazine of the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, pays a fine compliment in a recent issue to the Manistique High School Critic. In discussing the status of high school publications in these days when quite a number have been suspended the magazine points out some of the important items among them is the Manistique High School Critic.

One paragraph of the article reads: "If your paper is threatened with suspension, there are two important steps may be taken to avoid such a catastrophe, for catastrophe it will be. The first step is to publish a long black package for suggestions for possible substitutes for your present type of publication. Two answers stand out prominently as satisfactory substitutes; the small sized newspaper and the mimeographed paper. Excellent examples of these are the Champaign Chronicle and the M. H. S. Critic."

This is a fine tribute to the work of the staff of the high school publication and to Miss Mary Robbins of the high school faculty, who directs the work.

Funeral For Mrs. Blosser Monday

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Mrs. Anna Blosser, 65, of Cooks, with burial at 2:30 p. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rose Lausten. The deceased had been ill for about a year.

Services were held at the Adventist church with Gunnarson and Kefauver in charge of the funeral. Mrs. Blosser is survived by two sons, Charles and Curtis, and a daughter, Mrs. Rose Lausten, all of Cooks. She was born at Cooks, Mich., August 19, 1867, and had been a resident of Cooks for many years.

Supervisor Ed. Fitzgerald returned on Tuesday from attending the funeral of his brother's daughter at Port Huron last week.

The following clipping is taken from the Detroit Times: Funeral services for Mrs. Ned S. Hubbard, 61, of 3224 Passaic street, Port Huron, Mich., were held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzgerald, in Port Huron, Friday, at 2:00 p. m. Given Mention In National Contest

Honorable mention was given to Paula Penrose, member of the staff of the M. H. S. Critic, in the most recent national feature story contest conducted by Quill and Scroll, official publication of the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. Miss Penrose was listed among the contestants from the east central territory. In the last previous contest she had won first prize for one article and honorable mention on another. Wallace Fagan also won honorable mention in that contest. All of which goes to show that there is some splendid writing in Manistique high school.

Adjutant George Isaacs of Fort Brady, Sault Ste. Marie, was a guest of John Kelly here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Buzzo spent the week end in Marquette visiting relatives.

Juniors Lead Class Tournament

(From The M. H. S. Critic) In reviewing the standings of the class basketball teams we find that the juniors have topped the seniors twice from their perch as "league leaders" and now have assumed that "role" themselves.

Coach Hally's squads have been doing some spectacular playing of late. After starting out the season with a series of defeats, they have come back and are still contenders for the "bummer." They took the juniors' freshmen into camp in succession and now they are in good place with the seniors.

The frosh have been on a down slide for some time. In their first game in which they put the skins on the soph class.

Following is the class team percentages:

| Team | W. | L. | Pts. |
|------------|----|----|------|
| Juniors | 5 | 2 | 711 |
| Seniors | 4 | 3 | 571 |
| Sophomores | 2 | 4 | 471 |
| Freshmen | 1 | 6 | 142 |

Coach Weingartner's crew took jumps on the Manistique team before the contest. The game had clasped had "snuck" two field goals. Manistique then took time out to bolster its defense. However, the visitors scored another field goal and a free throw by quarter time. Score, Rock 7, 'Stique 6.

SAYS STATE COULD BRING PROSPERITY

Aid To Reforestation And Agriculture In U. P. Would Be Great Help

Ann Arbor, March 2.—Bringing back to prosperity the millions of acres of non-agricultural lands in northern Michigan, where for 30 years led the nation in timber production, is a matter of first importance and secondarily of national importance.

Improvement which must be done by the joint efforts of land owners, agricultural conservationists and the state and federal governments. It is recognized that would help solve the unemployment problem, would put land now idle to work producing new values and is the sensible thing for the industrial and agricultural parts of the state to help do unless they are willing to permanently give aid to the unemployed.

When the frenzied logging days were over, high pressure promoters of the land for farming, but decades of effort have shown the timber buyers that the cut-over lands are rarely profitable to farm. Dean Dana states. Delinquent taxes have transferred more than 2,000,000 acres of land to the state which has been adding to its holdings at the rate of 250,000 more a year. Manistique, where the land is not used to advantage in school and other government costs in the impoverishment of the state.

"The history of northern Michigan has proved that this section is primarily suited to producing a wide variety of wild life values, but also that on the denuded areas private owners, under present conditions, cannot or will not invest in the land for farming. The reconstruction measures necessary to make these possible values become realities," declares Dean Dana. "Yet from a public point of view no task is more essential of promises better results. Will the state and the people of Michigan continue to largely support the wild land counties, or will they adopt a more active program which will put the latter in their economic field? Timber, wild life, and recreational opportunities of nature are the assets of the state that can be produced on lands that are now a liability. One of the most important of these is the state's share in the increased prosperity of these counties, instead of their poverty."

GIVES ADVICE TO POULTRY RAISERS

County Agent Tells Flock Owners How They Can Increase Returns

See who philosopher has stated that "the early bird gets the worm." "Not only is this true," said the Stewart, county agricultural agent, "but it is the early bird or the early hatched pullet that properly reared, fed and housed makes the maximum profit for the owner." Records show that flocks that are in production during the months of October, November and December, when egg production is at the low point, such flocks make the best returns during the year for their owners.

While poultry profits during 1932 have not been great, figures show that the farmer who has started more per dollar invested than any other class of livestock. Returns may be enhanced, however, if they would ordinarily by the use of early hatched pullets. This was true last year, in years previous and is true again in the year in which we have just entered. So as to warrant the best returns possible from the laying flock, be sure that you get a "time" to come into production during the period when egg production is lowest.

Considerable of the success with poultry depends upon the source of the baby chicks. Breed and production chicks, given proper care and management, will more than return the amount which they originally cost the owner. Michigan has taken great strides in the past few years in the poultry breeding program. The poultryman or farmer who breeds his own chicks, the boundaries of the state in securing good baby chicks. A study of the 1932 catalog of accredited, certified and registered production breeders in Michigan, shows that they are offering this year better than ever before. A list of these breeders that have met the requirements of the Michigan Poultry Improvement association, together with the prices offered for sale and prices, are on file at the county agricultural agent's office.

Mrs. Shipman Measures Seniors

(From The M. H. S. Critic) Seniors were measured for their caps and gowns Tuesday and Wednesday last week. The number of seniors measured was eighty. It will probably be of some interest for the seniors to know that among those eighty Helen Larson was the tallest girl, measuring 5 ft. 10 inches, and Edmund Clish was the tallest boy having merely attained the height of 6 ft. 3 inches. The average height of each girl and boy in the senior class is 5 ft. 6 inches, and 5 ft. 8 inches respectively.

IN QUESTION OF LIGHT REDUCTION

City Council Defers Official Action Until All Members Are Present

Pending another meeting of the city council no official action has been taken on the light and power reduction requested by the council recently when a delegation of citizens appeared at a meeting and asked that some action be taken. Two sets of petitions were presented before the council at Monday night's meeting, one asking for a reduction and the other asking the council to make a thorough investigation before action is taken. Definite official action was postponed by the council for the reason that not all members of Councilman Frank E. Lied, was present.

Mayor Erikson Expects To Call Special Meeting In Near Future

Mayor Erikson is making a report for the special committee that was authorized to take the matter up with company officials, declared that there seemed to be no reason why the council should do and that was to make a survey to determine the feasibility of a municipally owned plant.

The petitions asking for a rate reduction were presented by Claude H. Smith and those requesting that the council not be hasty in taking action were presented by R. G. Hentschell. Both made brief remarks to the council.

Mayor Harry Erikson stated today that a special meeting of the council will be called as soon as all members will be able to attend.

The petitions presented to the council will contain approximately 900 signatures. The one presented by Mr. Smith read as follows: "The petitioners hereby attached are presented only in fairness to all of the residents of our community inasmuch as previous efforts to reduce the local light and power rates have been without success.

The petitioners feel that the reduction of 50 percent in the rate is entirely justified as we understand that the rates charged are fully 50 percent in excess of rates by cities in the eastern end of the upper peninsula of Michigan. The petitioners also feel that the City of Manistique is paying electrical charges for electrical service.

"The petitioners further request that the Manistique Light & Power company be not comply with a reduction in rates, it is the desire of a great majority of the petitioners to have the local light and power rates reduced to a level which will be a municipal lighting plant. We respectfully request speedy action in the handling of this matter."

The petition presented by Mr. Hentschell carried the following heading: "It has been brought to our attention that a certain petition has been circulated in the City of Manistique, which may have grave and far-reaching effects. We understand that this petition is going to be presented to your honorable body on Monday, February 27th and we believe that it is our duty to bring to your attention the fact that we respectfully request you not to take any action on this petition until a thorough investigation is made. "If it so happens that a signature appears on this petition request that you not only sign and declare the same void, as this signature was obtained without my consent, but also that you take such action as you may deem prudent and just."

TOWNSHIP MERGERS

From the department of state comes the information, that acting under an old law, saving the best of the territory, two townships in Gogebic county have been consolidated, thus eliminating one complete set of township officers.

Eventually other counties will follow the example set by Gogebic county. Slowly but surely it is becoming apparent that costs of local government must be drastically reduced.

ANOTHER HOLIDAY

Why wouldn't it be a fine plan to declare a "tax discussion" holiday for a few weeks? The present state administration is pledged to a removal of the state property tax.

MAKE EUROPE PAY!

A magazine having a national circulation shed bitter crocodile tears last week over the European debt situation. "Europe cannot pay," it moaned.

There you have a simple solution of our problems. Just forgive Europe her debts, factor this extra load to the backs of American taxpayers and overnight the warm sunshine of recovery and prosperity will be flooding our part of the Western world.

Europe can pay her debts if she so desires. The entire sum owing this country does not exceed one percent of their combined national budgets. If these Wall Street controlled propaganda sheets are so concerned over Europe's plight why don't they suggest that the international bankers also do a little forgiving and forgetting along with Uncle Sam and give us an Utopian paradise?

"A VISION OF TAXATION"

The following verse was sent to the Chicago Daily News by G. A. Haywood:

Each day you may see me out working on the farm. I have a little forty, a chicken coop and barn. I love to work upon the farm and keep it neat and clean. But when I'm in my bed at night, I have such awful dreams. I see taxes on the ceiling, I see taxes on the wall, I see taxes in the kitchen, I see taxes in the hall, I see taxes in the dining room, I see taxes on my plate, I believe I can taste taxes in everything I eat.

SEEN AND HEARD IN OUR TRAVELS

Here's one we clip from the Milwaukee Journal. A call from Manistique, Michigan, came to Frank H. Coleman, government meteorologist, at the federal weather bureau Monday. The voice said: "Will there be a snowstorm in the next few weeks?"

SCHOOL DAYS - By DWIG

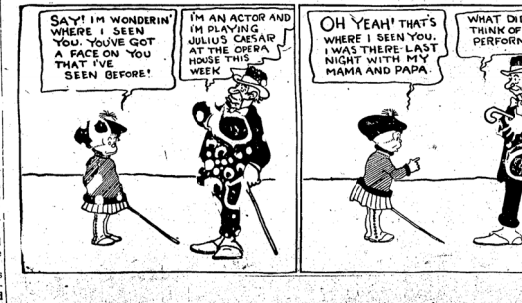

It reports also suggests several other changes in the law as to collecting the gasoline tax. The British should shoulder burdens calmly. Another factor takes the economic crisis Professor Slosson says. "Another factor that he must adjust himself to what has become a serious situation."

Gas Tax Diversion Urges 3 Cent Levy Lansing, Mich., March 2.—Because of a great increase in the number of motors using kerosene and distillates it is anticipated that Michigan highways, the gasoline tax law should be amended to collect the three-cent per gallon levy on all liquid motor fuel used on the highways.

Presently, the Michigan Department of Commerce has taken the matter up with the department in charge. We are not questioning our local officials for their action if the law provides that they should take steps in this manner. The sooner that laws are enacted to help small business which, in reality, is the backbone of the country, instead of diverting the major share of relief into so-called big business schemes, the better off the country will be.

CRITICAL PROBLEMS
OF STATE INCREASE

By ELTON R. FAISON
Lansing, Mich., March 2.—There is a bill on the way through the Michigan legislature which will increase the tax on automobiles. It is not only the rate of the tax but also the method of collecting it. The bill has been passed by the House of Representatives and is now in the Senate. It is expected that it will be passed by the end of the month.

Automobile owners of Michigan during the state's last fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, paid into the state treasury $18,702,429.75. This is a record for the state. The bill now before the legislature will increase this amount by $1,000,000.00.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the annual report of Auditor General Fuller made to Governor Chase Osborn for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, showed the entire tax on automobiles from all sources to be $14,100,488.67.

From these figures it is seen that Michigan automobile owners last year paid the state over $4,600,000 more for their license plates than the state government collected from all sources in 1932.

It is known that certain groups interested in road building and contracting are exceedingly anxious to maintain the present license fee as well as the three cent gas tax.

The old timers who were re-elected knew something of what was in the air. They knew of the fast dividing of tax payers into the constantly increasing inability of people to pay taxes, licenses and fees. Many of the newer members knew too. They had been told by farmers, grocers and by the hordes of unemployed that the time had come for a legislature in Michigan to give some consideration to the plight of those who support the government, the army of job holders, institutions and other public subsidized agencies.

The grave faces of senators and house members, the utter lack of frivolity about legislative chambers and the eagerness to do something that will bring about some sort of relief to the state indicates pretty well the change since January 4th. Then the demand among the newly elected legislators was for jobs—jobs for friends back home who wanted to get on the public payroll.

Not much talk about jobs these days. But there is plenty of talk about banking, taxes and economy.

All members of Our Club are invited to the meeting on March 10th at 8:00 P.M. at the Club House.

Occupying professorial chairs endowed by American businessmen they propose methods for destroying American business, and for placing the welfare of Europe over that of their own country—a system of bilting the hand which feeds it, which could hardly be improved on for its efficiency and ingratuity.

That this statement is not exaggerated is evidenced by the fact that most of this political professorial group has during the past decade advocated every doctrinal doctrine calculated to benefit Europe at the expense of America, and every socialistic scheme calculated to undermine American business stability and individual initiative and enterprise.

To go back to Mr. Prince. Asked about our war debts he said: "Never mind about Europe. If we take care of our own back yard he, she'll take care of hers. We aren't so poor and we aren't so miserable that we can't take care of our own back yard. It is a big measure of energy to check out the professors; declare a moratorium on farm and general business debts, and forget about Europe. That will lead us nowhere."

Here is some excellent advice for the professorial group which Mr. Prince criticizes so severely. If they adopt it the benefit will accrue not only to America at large but to the so-called higher educational institutions of the United States as well.

Claims License Fees Too High
A MODERN ENOUGH ARDEN

Ann Arbor, March 2.—The motor vehicle is paying more annual maintenance and license fees than it should be charged therefor, and the truck especially pays more than its share, when compared with other vehicles in 1934, it is estimated by the Michigan Highway Commission. The commission is now holding hearings on the subject of license fees. The commission is now holding hearings on the subject of license fees. The commission is now holding hearings on the subject of license fees.

When Martin Rawson died, 365 old and new neckties were found in his room. The federal one cent seven mill will not between six and seven million dollars annually in Michigan. Professor Worley estimates that the average just yearly per capita cost from 1918 to 1931, of the method laid down by the Interstate Commerce Commission for developing a one cent of fuel oil was $12,227,001. The difference, he said, might be considered as equivalent to a personal property tax on the automobile, while these taxes were laid on the theory that the motor vehicle was to pay only for the creation and upkeep of the highways. Public utilities, many of which make use of or benefit from roads and right of way, paid only $10,046,923 in taxes, he estimated.

Commercial cars are 12.4 percent of licensed motor vehicles, but pay 22.8 of the weight tax, stated Professor Worley. Contrary to general opinion, the heavy trucks added at most 1.4 percent to the thickness of concrete roads, since climate, weather and general utility require that such roads be built almost to heavy duty thickness. Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! To Go
If this bile is not flowing freely, you don't digest. It just drops in the large intestine up your stomach. You have thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Often breaks out in blemishes. You are often and you feel down and out. Your eyes are pained.

It takes these good old GARDNER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two conditions flowing freely and make you feel young again. They contain wonderful, harmless, vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't look for liver pills. Ask for Gardner's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name on the Little Liver Pills on the red label. Buy 25-cent bottles. Do not buy 5-cent bottles.

Make your shopping list from the ads... then go out and buy. Show the salesmen in the stores the items that interested you in their advertisements... they are anxious to show you the things you want. And they appreciate that they are wise shoppers and good customers who organize their buying through the advertisements.
