MANISTIQUE HIGH AND CHEBOYGAN TO DEBATE MARCH 18

Locals Win Upper Peninsula Championship From Marinisco

Victory Next Week Would Get Team Close To Final Contests

Manistique high school's debate team, champions of the upper peninsula by virtue of their victory last Friday over the Marinisco high school debate team, will debate with Cheboygan high school in this city on Saturday night, March 18th, at the high school auditorium.

There are now 16 schools left to compete for the state debate honors. Cheboygan is considered one of the strongest teams of the northern part of the lower peninsula. If Manistique is fortunate in winning from Cheboygan it would have to compete with two more schools before reaching the finals.

The local debate team which has made an enviable record this season consists of Leon Willoughby, Clayton Burrell and Jack Mitchell, and is coached by Preston Tans. Mr. Tans and members of the team are being highly commended on the showing made this year and especially on their victory which attained the upper peninsula championship.

WHAT in addition to providing much of the asphalt that is used in building roads in North America, the pitch lakes of Trinidad, British West Indies, are also used as swimming pools by the natives? They don't dive into the asphalt, of course, but take a dip in the pool of water that forms in the hollows when the pitch is removed. The asphalt, like it is of volcanic origin.

A STRONG TICKET

The Republicans of Michigan very wisely decided to iron out the presentation differences at Grand Rapids, and as a result are presenting to the voters of the state one of the strongest Spring election tickets in the history of the party.

A NEW RACKET

Beware of the "Home Improvement" racket now being worked in various parts of the country. Under the stimulus of the "Provide a Job" movement many home owners are preparing to undertake home improvements this spring, most of which will be financed on borrowed capital.

NEWSPAPERS AND HEALTH

"The worst enemies of our present social order and of our political stability are not Republicans and Democrats, declared a foremost Michigan newspaperman recently, "but bugs and germs, and the people must be taught the facts about them."

to the public every sort of security for which there was a public demand, with the executives secretely taking 20 per cent of the excess profits he was a true follower of the American code.

If the funds left by depositors for safe-keeping were used to play the stock market in gigantic pool operations; with short selling of the bank's own stock, the confession of error is but an aftermath of discovery.

If, when the crash came, $2,400,000 of the bank's funds were loaned to bank officers without security, and largely without security, to protect their Wall Street speculations, and later were charged off or bailed out as a loss, it shocks nobody in Wall Street.

And if poor devils of bank clerks who contracted by bank stock on the installment plan are still being forced to pay $200 a year after the stock has lost 20 per cent of its market value, that too is part of the American picture.

Not Mr. Mitchell, nor the National City Bank alone, could practice this sort of finance on a scale sufficient to land the United States in the ditch, but in concert with others they have America by the Wall Street pyramid whose crash brought business down. That is the least they recognize no restraint except idleness. The real indictment is that force. If they were capable of regeneration from within, three such years as the nation has gone through would have taught them national travail it has offered the country nothing—absolutely nothing—toward recovery.

We talk of imitating the British or Canadian banking system, to the credit of bank failures, would bank branching do for this country with the National City Bank of New York at the head of the parade of the systems. It is not the British and Canadian bank systems, but British and Canadian banks in England and Canada. We need to remodel American banks and American banking, but far more than that we need to remodel American bankers and business men.

Capitalism, it is said every day and on every hand, is on trial for its life. It is being tried, in the last analysis, in a court of morals. If it is doomed to destruction, the doom is being pronounced from within. If it is to be saved, it can be saved only by recognizing that power is not a license to prey, but a call to responsibility.

Laws, and the white light of not be told from an expensive one made by a big concern. And again we say, why not a casket factory?

Leo J. Marlette, who has been working out of the Newberry headquarters of the conservative department in Manistique's new game warden. We welcome Mr. Marlette to the city. Mr. Marlette is a most efficient warden. He is conscientious and fearless. We want Mr. Marlette to know that we have had the world around him. They will co-operate with him in every respect. The feeling here is that we should have had a local man for warden and that feeling always will exist. But there is nothing personal in the feeling so far as Mr. Marlette is concerned. The whole fight is against the policy of the conservation department in sending in an outside man.

Dorothy Zerbach, winsome secretary of the Manistique club, and Mrs. H. H. Mrs. Zerbach would like to be a member of the club. I presume to offer you another thought. Get the number of people who own property and pay taxes and make a comparison to the total population of your county and state. This will give you a fair idea of the tax burden. So much for the sales tax question. Now for another thought and I am going to ask you to give this your consideration.

"Save the Nation out of Debt" How can this be accomplished? There are approximately 21 billion dollars in outstanding U. S. bonds which pay no taxation and an approximate average draw of 2 1/2 per cent interest which is paid from taxation and amounts to approximately 735 million dollars per year or 2 million per day or approximately 16 2/3 cents per capita per day. Think of that. It costs you, me, we, us, and company, 16 2/3 cents per day average.

We're mighty proud of our high school debate team which last week won the upper peninsula championship. A debate is scheduled with Cheboygan high school here on March 18th. Cheboygan is the winner of the championship in the western peninsula. Manistique residents should fill the auditorium on this occasion. We owe it to Leon Whelan, Clayton Barrill and Jack McIntosh who have won high honors for Manistique. And last but not least we ought to show our gratitude for the excellent coaching of Preston Tavis. Let's show the coach and his team that we are appreciative of their record.

Probably there is nothing that brings as much sorrow as the passing of a young man, especially the passing of a young man of high ideals, character and personality, and one who has endeavored himself to all his acquaintances. Such a young man was Paul Falk, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Falk, who passed away in Chicago this week. Paul was getting along fine with the problems of life because he was industrious. He had a kindly disposition and was the type of young man who is needed in the world of today. It is to be sincerely regretted that he had to be taken at the age of 27. Born and raised in this community, he comes of a highly respected family and the sympathy of all goes out to those who are grief stricken.

To the Editor of The Pioneer Tribune, Manistique, Michigan

Dear Sir: Strange things carry us on and on. It is things that small country politicians way down here in Arkansas should be quoted in Collier's and then one of your local writers, Mr. Wm. S. to pay some invitation somewhere. Look at this. Say I hold a $100 U. S. bond to be retired in January, 1940. The U. S. Treasury prints and dates the $100 in a 10 cent currency (local tender). The money I will use in the same old way as today's money, and on January 1st 1940 when the bond matures and the money will be paid out, it will appear in any bank account, that bank would present this money to the U. S. Treasury and the money would be counted of the same as that now in circulation. Now what is out of the transaction of the bond? Nothing. Only Mr. Banker who does not want it. This may or may not be sound business but it will save the United States out of debt. It will save the government from the proof of indebtedness and will exempt money into the regular marts of trade which will have to pay some tax somewhere along the transaction.

Now if get anywhere and out of the mine, we will have to do a lot of things. We will have to load and publish such things in bold type, on the front page of our paper. I do not say our bank are crooks or thieves, it is only enough to say they are wrong and today's conditions stand as self-evident fact and proof of the statement.

I am a civil engineer by profession and quit about six years ago. I own farm lands, more and more, and make a living from my holdings. I got mad and got into politics and served in the House and Senate as a legislator then I got mad again and quit.

Now I am forming an organization and I am going to the farmers and the man who works. My efforts are to secure a price over the cost of production for the farmer of the nation and to try to see that the man who works for a fair play along with his fellow man.

I am hoping that you will enlist with me in my efforts along this line. Thanking you in advance for anything you may say or do along the publicity line to save the nation out of debt and later help my peoples' movement, I beg to remain,

Your truly, John M. Quarler, 1801 So. St. Little Rock, Ark.

Warning Don't be misled by false statements. Calomel, salts, mineral waters, etc., have no effect whatever on the liver or its production of bile. The truth of this statement can be proved by consulting the authoritative medical textbooks published during the past five years.

There are only two known substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargol, Soft Mils Pills contain both of these substances, and so offer a real advantage to the American market. Why does combine them.—(adv.)

TEA CUP TOPICS
You'll like the new use for old strips. Instead of turning and twisting the material to make the stripes run like you want them, there is forthcoming a new material with the stripes already woven into it. It's the way you want them to go. And in the grandest assortment of colors!

Snowball lamps for spring are just being made. They are large to be placed on a lawn. And the power of suggestion is so strong that the cooling effects of these new lamps are amazing. Nothing could be simpler, however, for all they consist of is a huge white frosted ball, which is held in place by a group of children are rolling up hill. Another version is a skier getting to jump over the round white surface.

Rhinestone-studded silk back cape gives covered shoulders to a classic white tulle crepe evening gown of slenderly moulded silhouette.

Two tones of gray rabbit's hair are allied in the suit from Sliaparelli that indorses the padded shoulder and the ribbing. The triple clips are repeated on the skirt, as are the scalloped details; the blouse is of hazyhynth rough crepe.

Necklaces are now made of silver and gold ribbons or of satin silk to match the dress—just a clip shaped to the throat and covered with material.

Ribbon caps for evening wear are in vogue. The ribbon used being five or six inches in width. The cap is cut to the shoulders with a ruche or frill about the edges. Long evening wraps may vary in length and there is even a belted model, distinguished from a day coat by wide sleeves and rounded front.

Many kinds of cape sleeves go with spring coats, some short and made entirely of fur. The new striped dresses and skirts have plain coats.

A new treatment of lizard skin is produced in neutral colors with lumpy raised scales at the tail end of the skin. This new material is used for the toe of the shoe trimmed with antelope and antelope trimmed with kid are other 1-1 features for spring shoe.

Helpful Hints
Bacon fat, if properly cooked, is good to use for frying food, but for seasoning and for adding flavor to soups and stews. When cooking bacon pour off the fat as soon as it melts.

To avoid sticking in your clothes-line try this: Wind the clothes down, wind it on your reel, letting the rope run through your right hand until it begins to kink and then change the hand. The kink will be on the hand. It always works and it will save your time and patience as well as your line.

Red cabbage when cooked fades to an unattractive dark purple. Bring back the color by adding a little white vinegar or lemon juice just before serving.

Requested Recipes
Rice Cake
Two cups cold leftover rice, one tablespoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half cup water, one-half cup egg, stale bread or cake crumbs, butter. Add the cinnamon and sugar to the rice with half of the egg. Form into little balls or flat cakes, coat with the remaining beaten egg, roll in bread or cake crumbs and bake in a little butter. Serve with hard sauce or jelly.

Softening
One and one-half cups light brown sugar, one-half cup cold water, one teaspoon vinegar, one-half cup unsifted flour, chopped nuts and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Put sugar, water and vinegar in saucepan, bring to boiling point and cook for 10 minutes. Add flour and nuts and when it will hold its shape, drop in rough lump of cold butter or turn into a buttered pan, and when firm cut in squares.

Sour Cream Cookies
One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, one egg, one-half cup soda, one-half level teaspoon baking powder and one cup of one teaspoon nutmeg, flour enough to roll. Cream butter and sugar well. Then add beaten egg. If vanilla is used, add it. If not, sift soda, baking powder and nutmeg with one-half cup flour and add. Add sour cream and enough flour to make a dough that is very soft and yet will not stick to fingers when lightly touched. Roll on a floured board cut into fancy shapes and bake on a buttered cookie sheet in a quick oven.

Six to eight sticks rhubarb, one cup sugar, powdered

THE LISTENER-IN
By RCL
Radio is just beginning to feel the depression. An economic depression which affected all industries as early as 1929 now has reached its first effects on broadcast radio. At first glance this statement may sound unusual, but it really is not. With the depression, radio came into its own as an actual power for the first time. People began to remain at home because they did not have the purchasing power to buy other forms of entertainment and consequently they turned to their radios.

Naturally the advertiser was in the glory in that situation. With the powerful "word-of-mouth" advertising he was able to reach a larger number of people with less expense than ever before. And since 1930 radio has gloried in a Roman carnival of tremendous incomes, stupendous salaries and "super" programs. Now, at last, the depression has reached the air. Advertisers do not feel that they will drop all other forms of advertising for radio and therefore are trying to make their money reach all around the various advertising media.

Experiments Determine Poultry Raising Costs

The results of a series of experiments conducted by the Michigan State College in the field of poultry raising costs are being made available to the public in a new booklet, "The Cost of Raising Poultry," which will be distributed free to all who request it.

The booklet is the result of a series of experiments conducted by the Michigan State College in the field of poultry raising costs. It is a practical guide for the poultry raiser, showing the cost of raising a flock of poultry from the time the eggs are laid to the time the birds are ready for market.

The experiments were conducted on a 100-acre farm near Manistique, Michigan, during the winter and spring months of 1933 and 1934. The results show that the cost of raising a flock of poultry can be reduced by as much as 25 per cent by following the methods described in the booklet.

The cost of raising a flock of poultry is determined by a number of factors, including the cost of the birds, the cost of the feed, the cost of the labor, and the cost of the housing. The booklet shows how each of these factors can be reduced, and how the total cost can be kept down.

For example, the cost of the birds can be reduced by buying them at the lowest possible price, and by raising them in a way that will produce the largest number of birds per hen. The cost of the feed can be reduced by using a mixture of feedstuffs that is both nutritious and economical.

The cost of the labor can be reduced by using a system of rotation, so that the birds are always fresh and healthy. The cost of the housing can be reduced by using a simple, well-ventilated structure that is easy to clean and maintain.

The booklet also shows how the cost of raising a flock of poultry can be increased by following the methods described in the booklet. This is done by showing the results of experiments that were conducted in a way that was not as economical as the methods described in the booklet.

For example, the cost of the birds can be increased by buying them at a high price, and by raising them in a way that will produce a small number of birds per hen. The cost of the feed can be increased by using a mixture of feedstuffs that is both un nutritious and uneconomical.

The cost of the labor can be increased by using a system of rotation that is not as efficient as the system described in the booklet. The cost of the housing can be increased by using a simple, well-ventilated structure that is difficult to clean and maintain.

The average figures of these ten farms give a composite picture of the entire group. There were 207 hens to start with on November 1, but 19 per cent died during the year and 28 per cent were culled out, so the average number for the year was 229 birds. Seventy per cent of the flock was sold. Each hen received an average of 84 pounds of feed during the year, and 43 per cent of this was mash. The feed bought cost 75 cents per hen and 25 cents worth of home feeds were fed.

It took an average of 1.93 hours labor in a year to care for a hen, or a chick, or a pullet, for every cent per hour. The difference between (1) the value of the flock at the beginning of the year, and (2) the value of the flock at the end of the year, gave a decrease of 63 cents per hen. The charge for labor, feed, buildings and equipment was 20 cents per hen, and other costs were 31 cents a hen, making a total cost of $2.47 per hen per year. The credits for eggs and manure produced was $2.38 per hen.

The cash costs and depreciation per hen amounted to $1.71, which leaves 67 cents of the $2.38 income to pay for labor, feed, buildings and equipment and other non-cash items. A production of 116 eggs per hen at present receiving prices for eggs was necessary to meet cash costs and flock depreciation; while 161 eggs per hen was necessary to meet total costs.

The average cost per dozen eggs, with the production secured by the poultrymen in this study, was 18.4 cents. Feed constituted 41 per cent of the total cost, flock depreciation 26 per cent, labor 12 per cent, cost of buildings and equipment 8 per cent, overhead 6 per cent, interest 2 per cent, and other costs 6 per cent. Total of these items of the total cost varied only slightly from farm to farm. There was a big variation was slightly over 1 cent greater than the other flocks.

The results of these experiments show that the cost of raising a flock of poultry can be reduced by as much as 25 per cent by following the methods described in the booklet. This is done by showing the results of experiments that were conducted in a way that was not as economical as the methods described in the booklet.

For example, the cost of the birds can be reduced by buying them at the lowest possible price, and by raising them in a way that will produce the largest number of birds per hen. The cost of the feed can be reduced by using a mixture of feedstuffs that is both nutritious and economical.

The cost of the labor can be reduced by using a system of rotation, so that the birds are always fresh and healthy. The cost of the housing can be reduced by using a simple, well-ventilated structure that is easy to clean and maintain.

As a final test, to discover the measure of efficiency, (1) an average of the entire group were graded on the following measures of efficiency: (1) an average production of over 100 eggs per hen, (2) over 40 per cent of the production November, December and January, (3) feed cost less than 7 cents a dozen, (4) less than 10 per cent mortality, and (5) a labor income of five more profitable per hen than the others. The average hatchling rate of the pullets was 81 per cent of April, they were well matured birds, and gave a production of 47 per cent during the months of May and June. There were more pullets sold than could be culled and still have a large enough number to occupy all the buildings available. Good feeding management was followed to a large extent in that the majority of the hens in the group were fed green feed. Four of the five fed the College ration and used electric lights on the birds.

A film picturing the activities of Robinson Crusoe has been banned in Karamanga. It's too rough for the natives. The first installment of the serial showed Crusoe in a sword fight. Result: the natives made a riotous demonstration and hurt each other in the skirmishes.

Canned tomatoes, or fresh ones if possible, should be provided two to four times a week. They may take the place of fruit in the diet.

Warning

Don't be misled by false statements. Calomel, salts, mineral water, or any other pills and drugs have no effect whatever on the liver or its production of bile. The truth can be proved by consulting the authoritative medical textbooks published during the last year.

There are only two known substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. These are John Ruskin's Little Liver Pills and John Ruskin's Little Liver Tonic. Both of these substances, and no other advertising medicine on the American market, to-day does contain them.—(167)

5,000 Employees Work In Forest Work

About 5,000 people have been helped by the program of unemployment work in the National Forests of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin in slash burning, snag felling, road and telephone line clearing and general fire hazard removal, according to Regional Forester E. W. Tinker.

Payrolls averaged about 1,000 men a month, over half of whom had families and the crews were rotated in order to divide the work among a larger number. Wages were fifteen dollars per month and board at the camps and thirty dollars per month for those who lived at home. Personnel cooks and a few others received slightly higher wages.

"Twenty-two winter relief camps were established in the National Forests and twenty-three crews were hauled mainly in county and government trucks from the nearby towns and communities back and forth to the work," Tinker, the camps accommodated about 400 men, nearly all single and these crews were changed sometimes as often as every two weeks to spread the work around. Six hundred was the average number of "commuters," as the men living away from the camps were called, and their periods of employment averaged somewhat over a month. In accordance with the law making the money available, laborers work not to exceed thirty hours a week or five days with yourself.

of five hours and one, generally Saturday, of four.

"No men were hired on or by the Manistique office," said Mr. Tinker, "for the employees." "Although the work has been cleared locally, near the shore of the St. Ignace and there were about three feet and many more applicants than jobs, the projects since February 1933 most were given some men did not consider cheerful and happy to be employed because their wages were the same as those here, but they were not sure the county would pay for their winter relief from practically no assistance from providing list of applicants to be sent to the State Department, blankets, etc.

"From previous reports of accomplishments, it is expected that the $300,000 allotted to the winter relief work will include the burning of slash and other debris, about 1,000 miles of winter breaks, and fire lines; Sunday, in The American Weekly, one-fifth along 525 miles of the magazine distributed with this clearing on 250 miles of new Detroit Sunday Times.

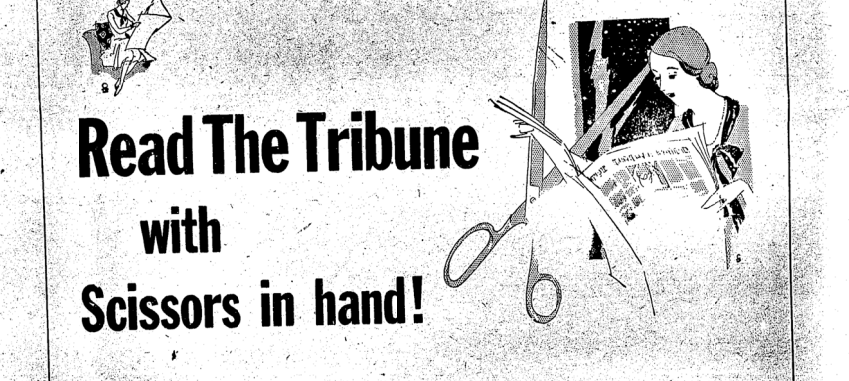

Wake Up Your Liver Bile Without Calomel

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suitably sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds flowing freely and make you feel "topnotch." They contain wonderful, harmless, pain-voiding extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

Don't ask for Liver Pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills for the name. Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Home substitutes, 25c at all stores. ©1931, C.M.C.O.

HOW OTHER PLACES ARE USING SCRIP

Many upper peninsula communities are considering the use of scrip in some form as the currency contraction persists... What valid security can be used to back scrip? How is the scrip put into circulation and how will it be redeemed later, when the crisis is over?

Various kinds of scrip are now in use in dowstate communities. The Mount Clemens school board is paying its teachers 50 per cent and ten per cent dollar trade certificates. The local board of commerce has suggested that the amount of trade certificates be increased to 20 or 25 per cent on further payrolls.

Using Mill Scrip With the bank in Eaton Rapids closed as a result of the Michigan moratorium, Horton Evans, president, paid its employees in scrip based on the firm's bank deposits. At first merchants hesitated about accepting the scrip, they did not question its responsibility but feared it would depreciate their cash reserves.
