A GROUP FROM CHICAGO 1933 WORLD'S FAIR WONDERS

Chicago, May 10.—This replica of Fort Dearborn, one of Chicago's most thrilling historical monuments, was constructed on the shore of Lake Michigan at Twenty-sixth street for the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition. Near here, a century ago, stood the original Fort Dearborn, and still nearer occurred in 1812 the massacre by Indians of the brave inhabitants of the fort. Photo shows, left to right, the officers' barracks, a corner of the blockhouse, the powder magazine, soldiers' barracks. The corners of two other barracks appear on either side of the picture.

MOVIES

George Arliss Stars in "A Successful Calamity" Saturday
 A new George Arliss picture is always an event of importance to the motion picture public and to the theatre-going public. His latest Warner Bros. triumph, opening Saturday at the town Theatre, promises to excel all of its predecessors in popularity.
 "A Successful Calamity" is adapted from a highly successful stage play of some seasons back, written by Clara Sumner, John Adolt, who directed George Arliss in "The Millionaire," "Alexander Hamilton" and "The Man Who Played God" is credited with the direction of this new Arliss picture.
 Mary Astor, one of the loveliest and most capable of the screen's "bad" women, is the part of the young and spiteful wife of the financier, Evelyn Knapp, who played with Arliss in "The Millionaire," is seen again as his the racketeering game in which a woman is the real ruler of the band—a picture in which the intense dramatic moments are relieved by plenty of humor and snappy dialogue.

 There is a strong supporting cast which includes Alton Jenkins, Claire Dodd, Earle Foxe, Joe Cawthorne, Mac Hush, Olin Howland and Toshia Ford. Earl Baldwin wrote the screen play while Ray Enright directed it.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Within the terms of the pending resolution war government would be asked to set itself up in rash and arrogant judgment upon the acts of other nations and on the merits of their conflicts with a view to give or permit military aid to one against another. There can be no question of the judgment of this proposal. Think what a field day it would be for the propaganda and internal agitators when a situation of the kind confronted the government!
 In conclusion, Mr. Moore points out that "if the real purpose back of the pending resolution is simply to prevent the United States from furnishing implements of war to those who are engaged in armed strife, this would be readily done by providing for a complete, non-partisan embargo on the shipment of arms to all countries engaged in armed strife, whether international or civil. Such an embargo would naturally be announced and imposed by presidential proclamation. Of this no foreign power could complain."
 But this latter suggestion would not set well with our international busy-bodies. The policy suggested by Mr. Moore would tend to keep us out of trouble. What the international propagandists want is a foreign policy which will plunge us into the center of every European squabble which breaks forth.
 George Kings of Wolfville, Me., is spending 30 days in jail because his automobile license plates were covered with mud; the tags were seized years ago by the rear number did not jibe with the rear.
 Continuing, Mr. Moore declares that the proposed policy is "opposed to the settled policy and the highest interests of the United States and also the provisions of our Federal Constitution." He adds that "if adopted it would enable the President first to make international engagements of the most far-reaching kind at his will, without the advice and consent of the Senate and second, to carry us into war without the prerequisite constitutional declaration of war by Congress."
 Mr. Moore points out to those who think such a resolution a "group" motion by interest or swayed consciously or unconsciously by propaganda will clamor at the White House and the Department of State for the unilateral application of the ban in favor of those whom they like and against those whom they dislike or disapprove. ***

Budgeting is Subject of Talk to Woman's Club

By Mrs. C. E. LEWIS of Manistique, Michigan

Manistique President, members and guests of Manistique Woman's Club, I am glad to be with you this afternoon. I have a special treat for you. It is a subject which is very close to your hearts. It is a subject which is very close to your hearts. It is a subject which is very close to your hearts.

First, because it is necessary to answer the very many questions which have been asked. What have we done for it? By using a budget plan it is very easy to look over the chart and in a very short time show just exactly what has happened to it.

Second, it provides for a systematic method of paying the bills. Third, it constantly reminds us of our financial limitations. Fourth, it enables us to look ahead financially and fifth, last but by no means least, if the budget is properly planned, it provides for the personal expense for both husband and wife for which one need make no account of the other's income.

This feature of the budget has many things to be commended. It provides for harmony and contentment in the home. The standard of a family's living depends in part upon the income but above a certain minimum income it is mainly dependent upon the choice of expenditures.

Managing the family income is no trivial matter even under the best of conditions and under the present conditions I am sure we are all agreed that the most should be done to conserve the money budgeted in advance.

In preparing a budget, the expenses should be divided into two main heads, because if the heads are too few and general it does not give sufficient check. For instance, the head of "clothing" is sufficient to check up on the money which is being spent on clothing for each.

The budget sheet should be as simple as possible thereby providing the means for recording the money which is being spent and the amount paid for each.

It might be well to mention the difference between items that occasionally thrust themselves upon the family finance. Without doubt these items have been the source of more annoyance to the budgeter than any other item.

As for the unusual expense of Christmas is concerned I believe everyone is beginning to realize that this expense should be distributed throughout the year and I'm sure we can find no better plan than to make an allowance for this item in the budget and keep up a Christmas Club at the Manistique Savings Club.

And other things, some insist upon spending a great deal for entertainment. We all realize that a reasonable amount of money should be spent for the entertainment and physical welfare and that some provision should be made for the entertainment and physical welfare and that some provision should be made for the entertainment and physical welfare.

What sort of a party shall it be? Outdoors, of course, if possible. Plenty of flowers, if artificial, and a sweet little May Queen who is not artificial at all, are two of the essentials.

If the party is outdoors, Nature will provide the flowers and the grass and the trees and the shrubs and the bushes and the flowers and the grass and the trees and the shrubs and the bushes and the flowers.

But, stay! There's one more thing to be provided for a really successful May Day party. And that's food. Even Queens and courtiers must eat, in fact, they must have plenty to eat.

In the Merry Month of May

Pharmacy Taught At U. Of M. 65 Years

Ann Arbor, May 11.—Sixty-five years ago the first course in pharmacy was given in an American state university. It was instituted at the University of Michigan, meeting with such success that in eight years it became a full-fledged college within the institution. Since the opening of the College of Pharmacy, similar action has been taken by the tax-supported universities of the states.

In 1869, two years before the University opened its doors at its location in Ann Arbor, the Regents of the institution recognized the importance of the profession by including pharmacy in the title of Douglas Houghton, one of its professors. Professor Houghton never actually taught the subject, but the University continued the tradition by appointing the first pharmacist in the state to teach the subject.

A pharmacy department in connection with a large university has proved to have several advantages. It is further ordered that the department be given by publication a copy of this order, one each week for three successive weeks previous to said hearing, in the Manistique Pioneer Tribune, a newspaper printed and published in Manistique.

WHAT WE NEED IS A LION

By WALTER M. MOON

One of your club members stopped on the street the other day and asked me of inconsistency. He said, "I don't think you are very consistent, Mr. Moon, you are very much crowning an Evergreen tree, which everybody thinks is an excellent idea, and then you promptly start to plant spruce trees on Maple Avenue. The reason you started planting maple trees was because we wished to confine our efforts as far as possible to those parts of the town that our efforts was bound to see. For this reason we began at the end of the concrete, and we thought it was logical if we were going to plant maple trees any place in the city."

After I got through addressing the Rotary Club a few weeks ago, which article you probably read in the newspaper, one member said to me that some of my ideas were a little right, but that we were too visionary. I am firm believer in the old motto: "Hit it when you can get it." If you do not elevate your own level, you cannot expect to ever reach anything in this world that amounts to anything. The following was a beautiful poem by Harry Kemp that illustrated the "Man of Vision":

JOSE, THE BROTHER OF JESUS

By Harry Kemp

Jose, the brother of Jesus, pleaded from day to day, with never a vision within him to glorify his day;
Jose, the brother of Jesus, was one with the heavy load
But Christ was the soul of rapture, and soared like a lark with God;
Jose the brother of Jesus, was only a worker in wood,
And he never could see the glory that Jesus, his brother, would.

Jose stays in the workshop, he often used to complain:
"Sawing the Lebanon cedar, imitating to woods their strain;
Why must he thus go roaming, forsaking my father's trade,
While hammers are busily sounding, and there is a gain to be made?"

Thus ran the mind of Jose, apt with plummet and rule,
And dreaming whoever, surpassed him either a knave or a fool,
For he never walked with the prophets in God's great garden of bliss,
And of all the mistakes of the ages, the saddest, me thinks, was this:
To have such a brother as Jesus, to have such a brother as Jesus, to have such a brother as Jesus,
But never to catch the vision that glorified his day.

However, I did not intend this to be a sermon, what I really set out to do was to interest you ladies in getting behind some of these projects, because the force of united action of the Lions Club behind any of these projects would be sufficient to put them across.

Another lady I spoke to on the street the other day said when I asked her why she didn't get behind some of these projects, she got behind them, but I do not know of these projects, "I did some of these projects,"

THE LISTENER-IN

By BCL
Now that President Roosevelt will be present on the 27th of Fair in Chicago on May 27, the broadcast features of opening day offer a bigger thrill than before. All manner of broadcast equipment will be used to cover the event. Short wave transmitters, lap microphones and the usual standard type will be in use so that listeners unable to attend will be able to get at least a word picture of what is taking place. The occasion will mark the first time that the Chicago stations and their major networks will have used their 100 microphones on the grounds.

Some of those orchestras we promised for Wisconsin listeners this summer begin to arrive next week. Benny Meroff and his orchestra, heard with Eddie Cantor during the tour "Bang-eyes" made recently, will appear at the Schroeder Hotel for a limited engagement, with broadcasts over WMJ each noon, dinner and after their original "Nighthawks" from Kansas City will open the Metropolitan Ballroom at State Fair Park on May 14, playing opposite Bill Carlin's orchestra, just returned from a two-week tour of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. On the following Sunday, Ben Bernie and all the lads, including Frank Prince, nee Franklin Frinz of the University of Wisconsin, will play at the Modernist. Both Ben Bernie and Joe Sanders will be heard on the Sunday night broadcasts over WMJ.

U. of M. Students Plan Home Coming
Ann Arbor, May 11.—Open house throughout the University will prevail May 12 and 13 when students, faculty and alumni organizations will co-operate in welcoming visitors to the University of Michigan Spring Homecoming, according to plans announced by the committee in charge.

Jack Peard revealed that he would leave the air June 29 to make two pictures in Hollywood, one "The Hollywood Revue" and the other as yet unnamed. He will return to the air October 5 to resume his activities for the same season, again broadcasting on Thursday nights.

A great deal of discussion has arisen concerning radio's next big game. Up to the present time, there has been none for more than a year and it appears, by scanning the other horizon, that none is in sight. Radio has used up the entire roster of stage stars and, as a result, will either have to depend on brand new talent or start the decline. Since the officials will never permit the latter to happen, it is safe to say that there will be a big opportunity for new people with a desire to crash radio, in a very short time. With a little grooming on independent stations, there should be places for many people on the network.

Isaac Relates Story of Gangland in Case Against Pat. Burns

MacKlin and Mrs. Heath were introduced to a man by the name of Wilcox who purported to be a representative of the Ford Motor company. This man was supplied by Burns, according to Isaac. He said the plans of the motor before the afternoon and later explained the proposition to them in an attorney's office. MacKlin became suspicious and reported the matter to police authorities, Burns and Isaac were then arrested.

Isaac said that he believed the facts as they are, that a half hour before his arrest saved his life. He declares that Burns had told him that there were two men in a car outside of 800 Howard street who had some business they wanted to discuss with him. Just then the telephone rang and Mrs. Heath called for Isaac, asking him when she could see him. He told her that he would wait at the office until she arrived. In half an hour the police arrived and made the arrests. Isaac said that he believed the two men waiting in the car for him had intended to take him "for a ride" and he would then have been "put on the spot."

That is was just as much a part of The People to make a fair investigation of the facts as what for the defense, retorting his demand that Miss Harkness be produced. Prosecutor Sheehan declared that the prosecution was intent only upon proving a prima facie case upon which the defendant could be bound over to circuit court. Attorney Herbert's objections were placed upon the record and were overruled by Justice Stephens. Following the prosecutor's motion for the defendant to be tried at circuit court, Justice Stephens said he thought there was plenty of evidence to justify such action. Bail was continued in the amount of $20,000.

Defense counsel, Hixon & Herbert, argued strongly against the amount of bail fixed by the justice. They declared it to be exorbitant, excessive and unfair. Attorney R. Newman, of Detroit, set at the table with defense counsel.

An Isaac was relating his story of Burns activities, he often said and looked squarely at the defendant and on a number of occasions pointed his finger at the defendant and said "Mr. Burns never spoke to anyone during the examination, not even to his counsel. State police were always at hand during the hearing. Sergeant Keane, of the Newberry detachment, was present at the hearing.

Dismissal of the case of The People versus Patrick Burns, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, with John McLellan as complainant, was ordered by Justice W. G. Stephens Wednesday morning upon the request of Prosecuting Attorney William J. Sheehan. Examination of the case was started at 9:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in a capacity audience. At the conclusion of the afternoon hearing, adjournment was taken until Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock when defense counsel had indicated that witnesses would be produced for the defense.

Just prior to the resumption of the examination and dismissal of the case, another warrant was served upon Burns, alleging the same offense as contained in the other warrants. The complainant in this case was John Carlson who claims to have invested $348 in the fictitious motor. Examination in the case is set for Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock. Bail for Burns was fixed at $10,000.

Arguments waxed warm between Attorney J. J. Herbert, Burns' counsel, and Prosecutor Sheehan over the time for examination of the latest case. Defense counsel insisted that the examination be set immediately but the prosecutor declared that he would not be ready to take the case up to have Saturday morning.

"Are we to have no privilege of examination in this court?" asked Attorney Herbert. "This defendant has been held since last Friday on a charge that is dismissed this morning. Then other charges is brought against him. It is the intent and purpose of the law to give a man an examination forthwith. It is purely a matter of right and no one of convenience on the part of the prosecution and the magistrate. It is becoming quite an outrage."

Prosecutor Sheehan jumped to his feet at the conclusion of Mr. Herbert's remarks and declared that it was no fault of the prosecution if Burns had committed more than one felony in Schoolcraft county.

Attorney Herbert again protested the $10,000 bail and had his remarks inserted in the record. Examination in the second case brought against Burns was held on the McLellan warrant, brought out virtually the same facts as in the previous case. Mr. Carlson stood as the first witness to take the stand. He related of his purchase of stock from Isaac, the latter selling practically the same story he had told to Harvey Goudreau. McLellan did say, however, that he was influenced somewhat by the appearance of the various witnesses given by a report he had been given by Ed. LaPorte who said that John Goudreau had told him that he had seen the engine work and that it worked fine. With the money that he had loaned Isaac and that he had received in stock, McLellan said he had invested $342.55. For this amount he was to get ten percent of the sale of the engine of $15,000. He said, however, that he had never figured on getting this large a sum, that if he had received $1,000 he would have been satisfied. McLellan declared that he had always found Isaac's word very good until last fall.

"You wouldn't take his word now, would you?" asked Attorney Herbert. "No, I don't believe his word," said McLellan.

On the cross examination McLellan said that he signed the check against Burns but that he did not swear to the complaint. "You didn't swear then that Pat Burns defrauded you?" asked Attorney Herbert. "No," answered the witness. "So far as you know then that isn't true?" and McLellan again answered "no."

Isaac's testimony brought out a few new points in addition to those he had covered in the Goudreau case. He again related Burns' part in the motor racket, the appearance of the various "Mr. Wilcox" who assisted him at various times in the promotion work. He told of evening with Isaac and later of going to Detroit with Mrs. Heath and Mrs. Alex MacKlin. The investigation brought by Mr. MacKlin resulted in his arrest and also the arrest of Isaac. Isaac was asked by defense counsel if he had made a confession and he replied that he had made one in Detroit.

Where the confession was, Isaac replied that the prosecutor had told him that he had made a confession and he replied that he had made one in Detroit. Mr. Sheehan was then asked to declare that the confession was not a confession and he replied that the prosecutor's office were not public.

As he sat in the witness chair, Justice Sheehan turned toward Justice Stephens and said, "Does his Honor realize that this confession contains substantial material pertinent to this particular case?" The court changed the ruling and declared that the confession need not be produced.

Upper Peninsula Loyal To Michigan

"This talk of secession" by the Upper Peninsula from the state of Michigan is all talk," said State Senator Wm. F. Doyle of Menominee Tuesday night. "Lansing this week. This bill introduced jointly by the three upper peninsula senators on May 3 for an upper peninsula commission is in line with economy, good government, and the trend of the times," continued the senator. "The position of the handling of the present functions of the conservation department, the public utilities commission, the better co-operation of the industrial accident, bonus tax commission, streams control commission, securities commission, and public administration, all of which pertain to the upper peninsula, by a 3-man board. The people of the upper peninsula haven't the slightest idea of secession from Michigan. They are proud to belong to the Wolverine state. The move for an upper peninsula commission will, if carried out, tie us up closer to Michigan than ever. It aims for the better co-operation of state activities in the north country and a very considerable reduction of administration costs."
