Inspecting Sites For State Camp

Lansing, June 15.—Possible sites for the establishment of 43 Emergency Conservation Work camps in Michigan are now being inspected by ten U. S. army officers working under Colonel Wm. K. Moore, U. S. A., in charge of the selection of camp locations.

The 43 camps to be established were recently approved by the Director of Emergency Conservation Work and will be located in areas easily accessible to the public to be done on state forests, game refuges, parks and other projects of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

In selecting exact locations for the various camps, Colonel Moore is giving first consideration to sanitation and water conditions and to recreational advantages.

The first of the 43 camps has been established at the Recreation Guard camp site near Grayling. It is officially known as the "Higgins" camp. It is expected that similar camps will be established as rapidly as sites have been approved and workers have been "conditioned" at the new camps.

In the meantime L. R. Schoenmann, in charge of the Conservation Department's activities so far as it is connected in the camp compiling work projects submitted by the various Divisions of the Department, so that the camp superintendents may put their crews to work as soon as the camps have been established.

Charles Coles, pretended deaf and dumb beggar of Chicago, was arrested for curbing a man who who refused to give him money.

and considered by the Council. By Councilman Cayia, seconded by Councilman Carlson, RESOLVED, that the budget be adopted as submitted. Motion carried.

Upon motion of Councilman Cayia, seconded by Councilman Carlson, the Council adjourned. Harry Erikson, Mayor. Eleanor V. Lofgren, City Clerk

Many Homestead Lands Are Sold

Lansing, June 15.—Sale of tax-homestead lands held in May by the Lands Division of the Department of Conservation resulted in the disposal of 7,250 acres and 288 platted lots at a total sale price of $16,965. The Division reported today.

Practically all of the receipts from the sale will be returned to the county township and school district in which each description of land is located, the state retaining only its proportion of the total, averaging ten per cent.

The sales held in May were in the form of public auctions at Gladwin, Gaylord, Escanaba, Manistee and White Cloud and were of lands for which applications had been filed by various interested individuals.

Mrs. Leah Hiron of Chicago told the court that her husband's occupation was swearing and she got a divorce.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Manistique, Mich., June 12, 1933

STOP!
 CONSIDER the PRICES of things in 1929-1930 1931 and 1932
LOOK!
 at TODAY'S PRICES, then
BUY!!!

THAT "PRICES ARE RISING" is a fact backed by stock shortages all along the line from retailer to manufacturer. And there is a shortage of "supplies" in most homes as well. Operating on a limited budget, people have used the old things until they simply can't be used any more.

If the things you and your family use are giving out, if your reserve supplies are running low, NOW is the time to stock-up... NOW before the RISING MARKET catches you napping and you are forced to pay far more for things you simply must have!

And here is another tip: You'll find that the best way to obtain full advantage of today's prices is to watch carefully the ads that appear in The Pioneer-Tribune. BUY NOW before rising prices take from your dollar its present value and use THE PIONEER-TRIBUNE AS YOUR BUYING GUIDE!

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple:—a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different— he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

BLANEY PARK RESORT

Schoolcraft county residents may well feel proud of Blaney Park resort, one of the finest and most modern equipped resorts to be found anywhere in the north country. Here we have a summer and winter resort combined, and an attraction which Schoolcraft county residents probably don't appreciate nearly as much as they should. Changing an old lumbering village into modern playground has cost the Wisconsin Land & Lumber company a huge sum of money. G. Harold Earle, who has supervised this remarkable change, is to be complimented for the manner the work has been carried out. Mr. Earle was not content last year with having one of the finest resorts to be found anywhere, and as a result more improvements have been added, namely, the building of a fine new swimming pool, a wading pool and playground for children, and improvements on the golf course. Through his initiative and under his splendid supervision, Mr. Earle has built up one of the most modern and complete resorts in operation today. His activity has been responsible for bringing publicity to Schoolcraft county that would have cost thousands of dollars. Bob Becker, outdoor life editor for the Chicago Tribune, spends a lot of his time at Blaney and as a result the Tribune has carried many good stories that have their setting in Schoolcraft county. We appreciate most sincerely what Mr. Earle has done for Schoolcraft county and we urge Manistique residents to inspect the many new improvements that have been made at Blaney Park.

EDITORIAL DIFFICULTIES

Keeping up with the editorial procession these days is about the hardest task the weekly newspaper scrivener has faced in 10, these many years!
In previous sessions of congress, a measure would be introduced in plenty of time to enable ye editor to form an intelligent idea of what it was all about and what it was aiming to do. He would then have several weeks in which to offer to congress his best advice as to what should be done with the measure looking toward the best interest of the republic. If his editorial advice was omitted one week, it would do just as well next. For congress would debate and deliberate a couple of months or more before taking any sort of final action.
But things have changed. Nowadays, under the new deal measures are shot through congress so fast even the daily scribes find it difficult to keep abreast of them. An editorial written one day may be as far out of date the next day as a last year's bird's nest. And the weekly editor—well, it's the worst feature of the trials and tribulations that befall this purveyor of information and advice when things are going at top speed at Washington!

INNOCENT VICTIMS

Too many people are back at the old game of speculation. They lost money when the market went to pieces. They think they will make it all back again when the market rises.
They will make some. But the market will break again. Then it will all be lost.
The stock market is the best thing in the world to let alone. The professionals always take the amateurs for a ride. That is part of the game. It is nearly as safe to bet on a horse race as to try to make money in the market.
The worst feature of speculation is that it takes the mind from the real affairs of business. When men make a little easy money, they dislike to make that which comes harder but lasts longer.
The trouble with the United States is that we had too much speculation and too much easy money a few years past. The victims were not only those who made the easy money but they were those people who worked hard and depended upon a sound financial and industrial system.

lars worth of Michigan farms, homes and industries will escape sale for taxes.
In its amended form the bill does not cancel taxes of 1927 and prior years, as first proposed, but does provide that all taxes of 1927 and prior years are to be payable over a 10-year period beginning on or before September 1, 1935.
All interest and penalties that have accrued or would be added to the taxes between now and September 1, 1935, are cancelled. The property owner will be required to pay interest on the unpaid balance of his 1931 and prior years taxes beginning in 1935.
The bill does not remit any of the penalties on the taxes of 1932, which must be paid by July 1, of this year if property owners wish to avoid penalties. The right to pay delinquent taxes of 1931 and prior years is not conditioned upon the payment of taxes of 1931. The installments must be paid when due, however, or the property will be sold the day following the September at which payment becomes delinquent.
On taxes of 1932, 1933 and succeeding years taxes must be paid, with interest and penalties, within the usual two-year period or properties will go on tax sale.
The bill carries a provision under which the taxes that are spread over the 10-year period are not to be considered due until they are paid under the installment plan. This will prevent the foreclosure of mortgages or land contracts on the ground of delinquency of taxes of 1931 and prior years.
Deeds can be recorded without proof of payment of the taxes of 1931 and prior years, but such deeds must show the amount of taxes that have been spread over the 10-year period and still remain unpaid.

Some of the appointments being passed out by the Democratic administration are most deserving and among them is the appointment of Robert A. Tobin, of Chicago, who has been named as inspector in this district for the liquor control commission. Mr. Tobin has never wavered in his Democratic politics and has carried the party banner in the slim years when a Democrat was supposed to be seen and not heard. He ran for sheriff on the Democratic ticket some years ago when there wasn't any more chance for reelection than a snowball in the summer time. He later served his county as a member of the county road commission. Mr. Tobin will make an able inspector and one who has earned the position through his many years of patriotism to his party.

of having the prettiest girls, unless someone from the outside told us so. But right now we're going to claim that distinction for the young women of Manistique who have been named as inspectors in this district for the liquor control commission. Mr. Tobin has never wavered in his Democratic politics and has carried the party banner in the slim years when a Democrat was supposed to be seen and not heard. He ran for sheriff on the Democratic ticket some years ago when there wasn't any more chance for reelection than a snowball in the summer time. ### THOMPSON

The Misses Irma Stanley, Nona Mickelson, Elaine Hursh and Marie Roy Gustafson, Arnold Flodin, Fred Nelson and Sewal Desautels were confirmed at the Swedish Lutheran church on Sunday.
H. C. Hemmeyer, postal inspector of the Soo, was a business caller on Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. Max Wendland and son, Bert, Norbert Swartz and Frank Fiedler arrived from Detroit on Tuesday to spend the summer months at their cottage here.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker left for Escanaba on Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Parker's father, L. C. Van Slawbrook.
Ira Brown, of Kalamazoo is going to spend the summer with relatives here and also to recuperate from his recent illness.
Board of Review which included Ed. Fitzgerald, Henry Hursh and Ole Olson met at the town hall on Monday and Tuesday.
Lena Wagner, teacher at Grasse Pointe, Detroit, arrived home on Wednesday to spend her vacation at the family home here.
Chas. Pierce, who has been a patient at the Shaw Hospital the past month, is convalescing at the family home.
Mr. and Mrs. Delore Brusseau of the Soo, and Mrs. Myrtle Gould and sister, Rayday, of Escanaba, were guests the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sample.
Mr. and Mrs. James Herro and children of Escanaba, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Edvardson Monday and Tuesday.
Residents of this neck of the woods were treated to a sight which a great many will never see again, perhaps. The giant dirigible Macon of the U. S. Navy on her maiden trip, School was dismissed to view the spectacle, and a great many others watched the ship come up the lake and turn out in bay abreast of the local harbor and continue her way south.
Mrs. Margaret Brassard and daughter of Escanaba, visited the week end at the home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Moss Dechantel.

Here's one for the young ladies of Manistique. An outside visitor who was in the office this week, made one remark that should be mighty pleasing to the feminine class. "Where do you get all the pretty girls in this town?" was his query. And then he went on to elaborate by saying how many places he had visited and that Manistique had all other places backed off the map when it came to good looking girls. Another gentleman who happened to hear the remark's joined in with a like opinion. Like most everything else, we don't appreciate what we have at home and doubtless would never think of claiming the honor.

Notice To Taxpayers

All interest and penalties on taxes of 1932 and prior years have been cancelled by the Legislature up to July 1st, 1933. After that time, regular penalty of 4% and interest at the rate of 9% per year will be added from the time taxes were returned delinquent.

LAURA A. WILLIAMS,
County Treasurer.

MSC STAFF MEMBERS ACTIVE AT MEETING

East Lansing, June 15.—Faculty members of the home economics division of Michigan State College will take an active part in the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the American Home Economics association to be held at Milwaukee, Wis., June 26-30 inclusive.
Dr. Marie Dye, dean of home economics at the college, is secretary of the national association. Miss Julia Tear, of the textile and clothing department of the national group and will preside at the morning session, June 29.
Dr. Irma H. Gross, of the home management department, is a member of the national home management committee and assisted in arrangements for that division's portion of the convention.
Michigan State College will also be represented in the exhibits to be given by various schools and colleges throughout the country. Outstanding work of students in clothing selection, textiles, and merchandising will be taken to Milwaukee by Miss Ethel Wahl, head of the clothing department.
Miss Martha Summers and Miss Summerville, representatives of the student branch of the home economics association, Miss Summers is president of the Colicor branch.

Merle D. Byers, state club advisor and head of vocational education at the College, will present data on a broad economic outlook project which he has compiled by the Michigan Student Home Economics clubs during the past year. The Michigan student clubs were one of the state groups selected to plan a standardization project at last year's national meeting of the American Home Economics association at Atlanta, Ga.
The two-fold object of the project was to furnish valuable information on the standards, materials used by bakers and on the demands and requirements of housewives, as well as to train the members of the student clubs in the methods of collecting and using this type of information and help them to realize the importance of standardization in enabling the American housewife to be a better buyer.
The general theme of the convention is to be "Economic Economics in a Modern World."

Rocking Babies Is Approved By A Psychologist

Harassed parents, torn between a desire to rear their infant along scientific lines and an urge to keep the child contented, may welcome this.
Opposing that group which has held that under no circumstances should the infant be rocked, Dr. Beasley said actual experiments had proved it does not harm the child.
"Dr. Beasley even went further. He said that age-old habit fathers have of swinging their babies high in the air does no harm—provided, of course, the baby is not dropped. The psychologist said he has managed to accumulate records of babies rocked to sleep and records of babies tossed by their fathers, and is of the opinion the "don't" along this line are so much bunk."
He even gives the best technique for tossing the infant: Seat the baby on a pillow, hold firmly the whole armful and lower it, being careful not to let go.
Babies, said Dr. Beasley, may be safely trusted to their mothers, and to a lesser extent, to their fathers.

TIMELY TOPICS

It is said that Irvin S. Cobb considers his 6-year-old granddaughter his most capable child, and he tries out his radio humor on her before serving it on an unsuspecting public. While it may be true that "out of the mouths of babes and sucklings" there has come the student branch of the home economics association, Miss Sum-how ancient some modern humors are.

Edwin Markham, author of "The Man With the Hoe" declared on his 81st birthday recently that "poetry consists of one or two excellently good lines and many other lines not so good." And it would take a person with a vivid imagination to find even one of the two good lines in a lot of it.

The Ice Patrol
It sometimes takes a great disaster to awaken a community or a nation to the fact that a known menace to life and property can be removed through legislative action. Such was the lesson taught to the world by the collision of the Titanic with an iceberg in the North Atlantic during the early summer of 1912, with the loss of 1,517 lives. This shocking tragedy of the sea aroused a feeling of international sympathy, resulting in the formation of the international ice patrol which has since that time has patrolled the northern coast of icebergs in the North Atlantic during each year, which was held at the late spring and early summer. Ten nations joined in bearing the expense of the patrol duty being performed by the United States Coast Guard cutters. This patrol has been maintained each year since the Titanic disaster, with the exception of two years during the war. Two cutters are employed each year, using Halifax as a base, and they send out information of icebergs sighted, this information being transmitted by radio to all vessels in the danger zone. Captains of vessels of all nations cooperate by reporting to the ice patrol any icebergs sighted by them; this data is also being broadcast by radio twice a daily, once in the afternoon and once in the morning. In 1921 an ice patrol was established not a single life has been lost nor a single ship damaged through collision with icebergs. Truly a fine record.

If anyone feels the urge to go to a rip-roaring dance, let him go. He doesn't for moral and other reasons. But if he persists, we advise that he wear a coat of safety. The ice patrol was established not a single life has been lost nor a single ship damaged through collision with icebergs. Truly a fine record.

Hold up by bandits, John Clark of Boston offered to take them home with him, and get them some money.

The Ice Patrol
It sometimes takes a great disaster to awaken a community or a nation to the fact that a known menace to life and property can be removed through legislative action. Such was the lesson taught to the world by the collision of the Titanic with an iceberg in the North Atlantic during the early summer of 1912, with the loss of 1,517 lives. This shocking tragedy of the sea aroused a feeling of international sympathy, resulting in the formation of the international ice patrol which has since that time has patrolled the northern coast of icebergs in the North Atlantic during each year, which was held at the late spring and early summer. Ten nations joined in bearing the expense of the patrol duty being performed by the United States Coast Guard cutters. This patrol has been maintained each year since the Titanic disaster, with the exception of two years during the war. Two cutters are employed each year, using Halifax as a base, and they send out information of icebergs sighted, this information being transmitted by radio to all vessels in the danger zone. Captains of vessels of all nations cooperate by reporting to the ice patrol any icebergs sighted by them; this data is also being broadcast by radio twice a daily, once in the afternoon and once in the morning. In 1921 an ice patrol was established not a single life has been lost nor a single ship damaged through collision with icebergs. Truly a fine record.

If anyone feels the urge to go to a rip-roaring dance, let him go. He doesn't for moral and other reasons. But if he persists, we advise that he wear a coat of safety. The ice patrol was established not a single life has been lost nor a single ship damaged through collision with icebergs. Truly a fine record.

Hold up by bandits, John Clark of Boston offered to take them home with him, and get them some money.

overboard saw a mermaid and, calling up some of the company to see her, one more came up and by that time she was come close to the ship's side, looking after a seal on the men. A little after, a sea came up and overturned her; from the waist upwards, her back and breasts were like a woman's, her body being as big as one of our best ships was very white, and her skin had a greenish tint, and she was having down behind being of colour black; in her going down, she saw her taylor, which was like the tail of a porpoise and speckled like a marlin. They names that saw her were Thomas Butler and Robert Rayner.

This Week Will See End of Longest Session Michigan Legislature

By Elton R. Eaton Lansing, Mich., June 14.—The more week probably Saturday June 17—and the members of the Michigan legislature will go home to tend the folks that voted for them what they have done for the people of Michigan during the longest legislative session in the history of the state.

They will go home to answer questions about legislative inquiries, grand jury investigations, rumors and charges of graft and a score and one other interrogations that really should be directed to only a scattering few. Possibly the few might not be entitled to the suspicion that now seems to hang over a fairly large group.

In these closing days of a legislative session that should have been written into Michigan history one of its most interesting chapters, it seems that members of both the house and senate are leaving their greater portion of their time either denouncing some of their ugly rumors or trying to find out the truth about them.

Michigan should not misunderstand—there are many senators and many representatives who are sincerely trying to find out the facts about these rumors. They are trying to find out if money has really been used in any legislative votes. It is difficult for old time legislative observers to believe that there is a man in Michigan who would permit himself to be sold for a mess of pottage. There are many, many high type men in the legislature, men that the districts that elected them can be proud of.

But in a legislature that was so completely overturned by the voters as was done last fall, it is true that possibly some came into the legislature not schooled in the high ethics that have and should prevail in that body. Some point out that possibly they did not have the real conception of the responsibility the voters had placed upon them.

That is true in some cases, with out question. A member of the legislature sat at his desk the other day reading letters and telegrams that had come in. One happened to be from a high official of one of the great municipalities of the state. It pertained to important legislation. He barely scanned it before dropping it into his waste basket. To a friend reading for him he commented that he didn't care to take time to read letters about pending bills.

There are many senators and many representatives who have really and sincerely tried to do something for the good of Michigan—but seemingly no one seems impossible for them to get anywhere.

A sales tax bill, the one method left by the state to raise revenue that the state must have, seems satisfactory to no one.

The Governor Constock has let it be known that he is utterly opposed to the action of the senate in having made a part of the sales tax bill the measure that sets aside $15,000,000 for the education of the boys and girls of Michigan. Originally it was a house bill that provided funds to take place of the primary school fund. The senate thought it best to amend it in the revenue producing bill. But the Governor thinks welfare is a much more important matter than the education of the state and that the setting aside of so much money for education might not leave as much as he thinks necessary for welfare.

Representative Vernon J. Brown the other day was considering the time when it was considering the

Some Women Seek Game Warden Jobs

Lansing, June 15.—Although many women have sought positions as conservation officers and fire tower watchmen these jobs still remain the exclusive prerogatives of the men.

When women applicants for these jobs leave what the duties really are they never show up for the competitive examinations according to the Conservation Department.

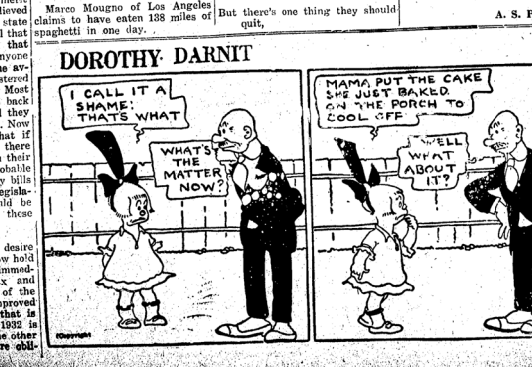

Especially during the past year many women inquired about the possibilities of jobs from the Conservation Department, and practically, all of these have been as conservation officers and as tower watchmen.

While the Conservation Department has never officially ruled against women for its field positions, when the real nature of the jobs are explained, invariably their untidy consciences are soiled.

A conservation officer's job, the reply letters say, is not merely wearing a uniform and riding around looking for game law violators but it frequently means sitting all night in a damp swamp watching for deer shiners and such similar tasks. The fire towerman, too, not only sits in his perch watching for smoke, but in wet weather when there is no danger from fire, he must sit in fangs fire prevention work by building fire lines and posting signs.

By HCL The Chicago Tribune now in progress in the World, threatens to make that city the radio capital of the country in place of New York. It could be happened before except that Chicago has always been very provincial. However, at this time it is quite apparent that with all activity in Chicago for the summer at least, New York broadcaster and agencies need have no real fear of the Windy City as the new head. The struggle between New York and Chicago will be well worth watching.

Another of those congressional investigations threatens radio. This time the major networks are the target. A resolution proposed by Rep. Kelly, Democrat of Mississippi, asks to determine the extent of the two large chain networks have been favored by Federal Radio Commission.
